THE RAC BABY HUNG HIGH.

A Caper of Which Some Young Men Will Probably Repent.

The Greatest Spring Tonic.

At this season of the year almost every one experiences a sensation of general lassitude and debility, which, if neglected, results in a low, vitiated condition of the vital forces, that follows the sufferer throughout the summer, and usually terminates in some form of malarial or typhoid fever. If, however, the patient has the wisdom to take some reliable remedy that gently acts on the sluggish liver, enabling it to speedily carry off all impurities, while at the same time the system is vitalized and invigorated, and the blood enriched, the result is a condition of vigorous health. This result is invariably brought about by

IN MEMORY OF DEPARTED HEROES.

Northern and Southern Cities Unite in Giving Token,

That their Valiant Dead are Not Forgotten.

Southern Troops Among the Escort at General Grant's Tomb.

NEW YORK, May 30.—At 9 o'clock, President Cleveland was escorted from Secretary Whitney's residence where he spent the night by Chairman Limbeck, of the Grand Army memorial committee and driven to the head of the procession on Fifth Avenue. Following in other carriages were Secretary Endicott, ex-Mayor Grace, Secretary Fairchild, Secretary Whitney and Private Secretary Lamont. The citizens' committee, under the command of General Curtis, and the Old Guard, commanded by Major McLean, acted as escort to the President and his party. At 9.20 the procession started down Fifth Avenue and the Presidential party alighted opposite the reviewing stand on Madison Square and took the places reserved for them. As the President appeared on the stand he was greeted by cheers from the throngs of people that filled the square. The President removed his hat and remained standing with uncovered head during the passage of the procession. The Richmond Grays accompanied the Ninth Regiment. As they passed the President every man saluted and their colors were dipped. The President bowed several times in response, and the crowd of spectators cheered the Southerners. There were fifteen divisions of Grand Army posts and all of them saluted the President.

Accompanying naval post 516, G. A. R., was a wagon on which was mounted a miniature man-of-war. As it passed the President, three salutes were fired. The floral division was last in the procession. There were forty large wagons and trucks filled with flowers to be placed on the soldiers' graves in the neighboring cemeteries. In this division were also several wagons filled with school children. Preceding the floral division was the American flag legion. Each man in it carried an American flag. Another feature was a mounted band of 100 of Buffalo Bill's Indians.

Among those on the reviewing stand, besides the President and those who accompanied him, were General Sherman, General H. C. King; Commissioner of Pensions, General John C. Black; Colonel Quinbas, of the Mexican Army; Congressmen Bryce and Campbell, and ex-Mayor Cooper. The procession, passing the reviewing stand, marched down Broadway to Union Square and after passing around the monuments of Washington, Lincoln and Lafayette, dispersed. The Grand Army posts then proceeded to the cemeteries surrounding the city to decorate their comrades' graves. The President and Secretaries Endicott, Whitney and Fairchild drove to Brooklyn after the procession passed the reviewing stand.

There were 15,000 men in line in the Brooklyn parade. It was 11 o'clock before the President reached the reviewing stand on Cumberland street. The procession at once started and marched down Cumberland street through Hanson Place to Flatbush Avenue, where Husbands and the Grand Army posts proceeded to the different cemeteries with flowers to decorate the graves of their comrades. The principal ceremony was at Greenwood Cemetery, where an oration was delivered by General Black.

President Cleveland, Secretaries Whitney and Fairchild and the rest of the Presidential party left for Washington, via the Pennsylvania Central road, at 3.20 p. m.

The Metropolitan Opera House was filled at the Memorial service this evening. Chauncey M. Depew presided, and Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll delivered an eloquent oration.

William B. Hill, aged 60, fell dead while marching with the Brooklyn procession today.

For Arlington's Unknown Dead.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—The ceremonies at Arlington today were unusually impressive. On each grave the committee placed a little flag, and the monuments over the graves of Gen. Hazen, Gen. Lyford, Gen. Myers, Capt. Bradley, Gen. Paul, Mrs. Meigs and the unknown dead were profusely decorated. At 12 o'clock a national salute was fired by artillery. The procession formed in front of the Arlington mansion, headed by the Marine band. The orators of the day, the Union Veterans Corps, Grand Army posts, Ladies' Relief corps and many visitors fell into line. The procession marched first to the tomb of the unknown, where a halt was made. Every head was uncovered, and, as the band played a dirge, the ladies marching by the tomb had thrown flowers upon it. Then the line moved through the cemetery among the graves, the ladies scattering flowers as they went. After the decoration of the graves, the members of the Grand Army and visitors repaired to the vine-covered amphitheatre, where the service of the day was held. Senator Palmer of Michigan was the first orator, and paid an eloquent and touching tribute to the dead. He pleaded for liberal pensions for the soldiers' widows and other dependents and disabled veterans. He was followed by Senator Manderson of Nebraska.

The statues of prominent men in the city were quite generally decorated. President Lincoln was not forgotten. Heroes of the revolution, as well as of the late war, were impartially honored. Special memorial services were held at the tomb of Gen. Logan in Rock Creek Cemetery. Representative Mason of Illinois delivered the oration at the Soldiers' Home Cemetery. Cavalry from Fort Meyer and the Third United States Artillery joined with the regular army veterans in decorating the graves of comrades. Gen. Brownie delivered an eloquent address. Impressive ceremonies were held at the Congressional Cemetery. Representative McKinney of New Hampshire delivered a short address.

Wherever public ceremonies were held today a prayer was offered for General Sheridan.

Gettysburg's Heroes.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., May 30.—In the morning, the colored school children decorated the graves of the colored soldiers. In the afternoon, a procession moved to the National cemetery, where the ceremonies of the Grand Army were observed. Public school children decorated with flowers the graves, and at the rostrum Col. W. Ryan of Rochester, N. Y., recited Lincoln's famous address delivered at the dedication of the soldier's monument, November 19, 1863. Hon. T. E. Tarsney of Michigan, delivered the oration. Col. Dewitt C. Sprague of Washington, read a poem, the subject being: "The dead at Gettysburg."

Observed in Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, May 30—Decoration Day was observed appropriately by the G. A. R. posts and Ladies' Relief Corps and other patriotic organizations, by a procession and ceremonies at Spring Grove Cemetery. The exercises at the cemetery were different from those in vogue in years past. Instead of orations by distinguished speakers, three poems were recited by local elocutionists.

At General Grant's Tomb.

NEW YORK, May 30.—The exercise at Gen. Grant's tomb this afternoon at about 3 o'clock, attracted many people. Many elaborate floral pieces stood before the door of the vault. The arch bore an inscription in flowers, and the casket within was nearly hidden with blossoms. The organized military bodies in attendance were the Richmond Grays, U. S. Grant Post, of Brooklyn, W. S. Hancock Post, and Co. E, of the 9th Regiment. The Methodist Conference was represented by nearly all the bishops. U. S. Grant, Jr., Col. F. D. Grant, his wife and daughter Julia, were the only members of the Grant family present. Chopin's funeral march, played three years ago, when Gen. Grant's body was being placed in the tomb, was rendered. The Grand Army ritual for Decoration Day was then said, and Gen. Stewart L. Woodford followed with an oration.

Baltimore's Observance.

BALTIMORE, May 30.—Memorial day was more generally observed here than for several years. At 2 p. m., the several posts of the Grand Army, under the escort of the Howard Zouaves, marched to the Union station and took a special train for the National cemetery at London Park. From 8000 to 10,000 people were present. Department Commander T. F. Lang made an address, and on behalf of the ladies presented a beautiful memorial of the late Gen. John A. Logan, and a handsome floral pillow from the ladies of Dusbane Post. The graves were profusely decorated, after which services were held at the stand. Capt. H. P. Goddard delivered the oration. The Union veterans also visited London Park cemetery and decorated the graves of the Confederate dead. Earlier in the day committees appointed for the purpose visited all the cemeteries in and around the city.

Business Suspended in Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 30.—Decoration day was observed in Chicago in the customary manner. Business was very generally suspended. The principal feature was the parades of military civic organizations in the afternoon, concluding with a presentation of two medals for bravery to officer Solomon C. Steel, of the police department and Capt. Cowan of the fire department.

The Blue and the Gray.

RICHMOND, May 30.—Decoration Day ceremonies were observed today to a greater extent than usual. Business in the city was generally suspended. R. E. Lee veterans, and Phil Kearney Post veterans visited the Seven Pines battlefield with a large crowd and listened to an eloquent oration by Colonel Bean. In the afternoon there was an imposing military and civic procession in the city that marched to Valley Wood Cemetery and listened to addresses by Rev. Mr. Hage and State Senator Gordon.

Remembered in the South.

WINCHESTER, Va., May 30.—Decoration services at the National Cemetery were held today under the aupices of Mulligan Post, G. A. R., and were largely attended. The floral tributes, given by the ladies of Winchester, were profuse and beautiful. Mayor Graceler, Mayor-elect Atkinson and Judge S. C. Mills, of Washington, delivered addresses. The procession was composed of the Winchester Light Infantry, a post of ex-Confederate soldiers, city officials and citizens.

MEMORIAL DAY IN MAINE.

How Fryeburg's Gallant Soldiers Were Remembered.

[Special to the Press.]

FRYEBURG, May 30.—Memorial Day was appropriately observed at Fryeburg by the Grover Post, No. 126, Department of Maine, G. A. R., by decorating all the graves in this vicinity with flowers in the morning, and by exercises at Martha's Grove Camp Ground in the afternoon. The programme rendered was as follows:

Music	America
Congregational
Prayer	Rev. B. N. Stone
Musical Response	Gloria
Address	Rev. W. F. Livingston
Music	Sleep, Sleep
Sunday School Children.
Address	Rev. B. N. Stone
Music	Give Thanks

Address	Rev. J. M. Woodbury
Music	Our Hero Soldiers
Female Choir.
Music	Battle Hymn of the Republic
Choir of Children and Audience.
Benediction	Rev. W. F. Livingston

Rev. Mr. Livingston spoke upon the subject, "Our Nation's Dead." He said that these words have for us each year a deeper and wider significance as time reveals more and more the principles for which they laid down their lives. The soldier in his life accomplishes the virtues of self denial, positiveness and energy. All honor then to the "Nation's dead. May we ever be ready to "strike for God and our Native land."

Rev. Mr. Stone spoke upon "Our Debt to the Living." He said while we honor our fallen heroes we ought not to forget the debt to the surviving comrades. Death was not an evil, and blessed are those soldiers who have done well and who have died for their country. Yet for the living there had been hospital sufferings, the toilsome march, the many lost and crippled limbs and the hard camp life; death was far less than these.

Rev. Mr. Woodbury spoke of the loyal boys in Blue and of the principles for which they fought. He honored them for their devotion to the old flag.

Hon. Albert M. Heath said: "Mr. Blaine's letter is not unexpected. His most sincere friends in this city have felt that his reasons were such that nothing could induce him to accept the nomination. It is a grievous disappointment to the Republicans of Maine. I have no doubt Mr. Blaine will vigorously support the nominee."

Hon. J. Manchester Haynes, of Augusta, member of the Republican National Committee, is a strong supporter of Mr. Depew.

STILL THE LEADER.

The Party Friendly to Mr. Blaine and His Policies.

NEW YORK, May 30.—J. S. Clarkson, the Iowa member of the Republican National Committee and delegate to the Chicago convention, said today that while Mr. Blaine's letter puts the Maine statesman out of the presidential race, he is still the party's leader, and the new situation can give no gratification to his enemies.

"The great mass of the party and an overwhelming majority of the national convention are not only friendly to the policies and ideas in public affairs he stands for, but are friendly to him. It is safe to say that the nominee will be one friendly to him, and not his enemy, a man loyal in 1884, and sound on protection, the great issue on which the campaign is to be fought. Mr. Clarkson added that he thought in the new situation the drift of the party will be toward Allison.

A Word from New York.

W. Jarkell, editor and proprietor of Judge, said to a reporter today in reference to Mr. Blaine's last letter insisting that he is not a presidential candidate: "The letter is final and it endangers the success of the party unless as strong a protectionist as Mr. Blaine heads the ticket. We know Chauncey Depew, and he is worty to step in Blaine's shoes. I will say this: Unless a strong protectionist is nominated, I assure you the Judge will be independent during the coming campaign."

The Lincoln Club Wants Depew.

The Lincoln Club of the XVIth Assembly District had a housewarming in its new clubhouse at Third avenue and Nineteenth street last night. A. P. Whitney, the delegate to the National convention from the XVIth District, was the principal speaker. He said he deemed it time that he made known his views as to the candidate who should receive his support at Chicago, so that if they did not agree with the men who sent him there they could tell him so. After speaking of the rumor that he had heard in political circles in the fall of Republican Babylon, had concluded not to be crushed, he concluded with a reference to the lack of sectionalism in the Prohibition party and asked that the convention do such work as will cause future generations to rise up and call it blessed. A memorial was presented from the National W. C. T. U., asking that the platform include a plank declaring against Sunday labor of any kind as far as the National Congress can so legislate.

Bishop Turner of the M. E. church was invited to a seat on the platform and gave his reasons for leaving the Republican party.

At 5.55, the convention adjourned until 9 a. m., tomorrow. In the representation reported by the credentials committee, New England stands as follows: Connecticut, 12; Maine, 16; Massachusetts, 41; New Hampshire, 12; Rhode Island, 10; Vermont, 10.

It is clear from the talk of the delegates that Gen. Clinton B. Fisk of New Jersey will be nominated by acclamation for President. There is no concentration yet upon a candidate for Vice President. The men named for the position are Green Clay Smith and Geo. W. Bain of Kentucky, John A. Brooks of Kansas City, John T. Tanner of Alabama, Judge Crandall of Texas, E. S. Debovey of Texas, and Joshua Levering of Baltimore. The large number of Southern candidates shows that there is a general sentiment to put a Southern man on the ticket.

The division between the Southern and the Northern delegates to the present Convention in regard to woman suffrage leads many of the delegates to fear that the union of Northern and Southern Prohibitionists may be shattered at the very moment of its accomplishment.

A Colored Republican Nominated.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 30.—G. M. Mahone, colored, was nominated for Congress in the Second North Carolina district by the Republicans today.

The Senator from Louisiana.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 30.—The Legislature today elected Judge E. D. White United States Senator for the term beginning March 4, 1891.

Florida Democats.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., May 30.—The Democratic State convention today appointed delegates to the St. Louis convention, and balloting for a nominee for governor was begun, the candidates being Frank P. Fleming of Jacksonville, Gen. Robert Bullock of Ocala, Robert W. Davis of Palatka and J. G. Speer of Oakland. Votes at the 12th ballot tonight are about equally divided.

MAINE.

Designed by Burgess.

BATH, May 30.—Schooner yacht Monhegan, about 40 tons, built from designs by Edward Burgess, for A. S. Rice of Rockland, was launched this afternoon from the yard of Charles B. Harrington.

St. Michael's Church.

DOVER, May 30.—This afternoon Rt. Rev. Bishop Healy of Portland, assisted by the Catholic clergy of this diocese, dedicated St. Michael's Catholic church at South Berwick, Me. Rev. Fr. Linehan of Portland, celebrated mass.

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW THE FAVORITE

Maine Republicans Reluctantly Accept Mr. Blaine's Decision.

The Delegates to Chicago Probably Favorable to Mr. Depew.

Mr. Blaine Declared to be Still the Party's Leader.

[Special to the Press.]

AUGUSTA, May 30.—Present indications are that the Maine delegates to Chicago will nearly all favor Chauncey Mr. Depew, of New York. The majority of them are known to be in favor of him, as he was their second choice while they believed that Mr. Blaine might yet be nominated. One or two of the alternates favor Sherman, and one of them likes Alger, but the sentiment is generally for Depew.

Hon. Orville D. Baker for Depew.

[Special to the Press.]

AUGUSTA, May 30.—Hon. Orville D. Baker, who is one of Mr. Blaine's nearest friends in Augusta, was seen to-day, and spoke as follows of Mr. Blaine's letter:

"The letter is a surprise to me. While I had no doubt that Mr. Blaine was sincerely averse to being a candidate this year, and had fully determined not to be. I still hoped that if the convention unanimously turned to him as their only choice, he could be prevailed on not to decline a nomination so significantly insisted on. But I think his letter is final, and withdraws him as a possible choice in any contingency whatever.

"My personal choice would be strongly for Depew. He is a man of recognized brilliant abilities, a national leader, of irreproachable life, and immensely popular with his party. Above all his personal popularity and his business position will give a vote in the great pivotal State of New York, which few and perhaps no other Republican candidate could command. He will be a hard, if not impossible man to beat in New York."

In Mr. Blaine's Home.

[Special to the Press.]

AUGUSTA, May 30.—Mr. Blaine's letter to Whitelaw Reid, reiterating his declination of the Republican candidacy, as expressed in his first letter, was received here this morning with feelings of regret and sorrow by both his personal friends and the party in general. They had hoped after the first letter was written that he would accept the nomination if thrust upon him, and the indications of late have been that the Blaine delegates would be very strong in the convention. The letter published to-day has put an end to all hopes of this kind and his friends reluctantly yield to the inevitable.

Mr. Howard Owen, however, has not given up all hope as will appear from the following: "I think the letter is received with profound sorrow, but it only reiterates what his friends knew he meant by his first letter, which was sincere in every respect. But I still believe that if after there should be a failure to concentrate upon any of the favorite sons the convention should turn as one man to Mr. Blaine it would be difficult for him to decline such a call."

Hon. Albert M. Heath said: "Mr. Blaine's letter is not unexpected. His most sincere friends in this city have felt that his reasons were such that nothing could induce him to accept the nomination. It is a grievous disappointment to the Republicans of Maine. I have no doubt Mr. Blaine will vigorously support the nominee."

Hon. J. Manchester Haynes, of Augusta, member of the Republican National Committee, is a strong supporter of Mr. Depew.

THE PROHIBITIONISTS.

Meet a Stumbling Block in Woman's Suffrage Resolutions.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 30.—The National Prohibition Convention met here today. H. C. Delano. of Connecticut, was chosen temporary chairman. The remainder of the temporary organization is as follows:

Temporary Secretary—J. B. Cranfield of Texas.
First Assistant Secretary—Mrs. W. M. Brown of Cincinnati.
Second Assistant Secretary—G. F. Wells of Minnesota.

A memorial from the National W. C. T. U. was read this afternoon asking the convention to place in the platform a plank demanding that the Bible be placed in the public schools; that personalities be avoided in the coming campaign; that sectionalism be completely buried and, lastly, that the position of the party in 1884 on the woman suffrage question be reaffirmed. The memorial was referred to the committee on resolutions. A resolution offered by Judge Gyles of New York, reaffirming the woman suffrage plank of 1884, with a proviso that the issue be not made the test of party fealty, was also referred.

The committee on credentials then reported that delegates had been selected by every State except Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina. The Territories also were representatives except Wyoming. The committee then stated that it had decided to permit the delegations present to cast the full vote of their States and also that provisional delegates be given full power to vote in the convention. This gives a total vote of 1030. The committee on permanent organization reported as follows:

Permanent Chairman—John P. St. John, of Kansas.
Secretary—Rev. Sam Small, of Georgia.
First Assistant Secretary—J. B. Cranfield, of Texas.
Second Assistant Secretary—Mrs. W. M. Brown, of Cincinnati.

The action of the committee was unanimously concurred in and Mr. St. John was introduced and responded happily. The old parties he said were giving way. Our leaders from the fall of Republican Babylon, had concluded not to be crushed. He concluded with a reference to the lack of sectionalism in the Prohibition party and asked that the convention do such work as will cause future generations to rise up and call it blessed. A memorial was presented from the National W. C. T. U., asking that the platform include a plank declaring against Sunday labor of any kind as far as the National Congress can so legislate.

Bishop Turner of the M. E. church was invited to a seat on the platform and gave his reasons for leaving the Republican party.

At 5.55, the convention adjourned until 9 a. m., tomorrow. In the representation reported by the credentials committee, New England stands as follows: Connecticut, 12; Maine, 16; Massachusetts, 41; New Hampshire, 12; Rhode Island, 10; Vermont, 10.

STILL THE LEADER.

The Party Friendly to Mr. Blaine and His Policies.

NEW YORK, May 30.—J. S. Clarkson, the Iowa member of the Republican National Committee and delegate to the Chicago convention, said today that while Mr. Blaine's letter puts the Maine statesman out of the presidential race, he is still the party's leader, and the new situation can give no gratification to his enemies.

"The great mass of the party and an overwhelming majority of the national convention are not only friendly to the policies and ideas in public affairs he stands for, but are friendly to him. It is safe to say that the nominee will be one friendly to him, and not his enemy, a man loyal in 1884, and sound on protection, the great issue on which the campaign is to be fought. Mr. Clarkson added that he thought in the new situation the drift of the party will be toward Allison.

A Word from New York.

W. Jarkell, editor and proprietor of Judge, said to a reporter today in reference to Mr. Blaine's last letter insisting that he is not a presidential candidate: "The letter is final and it endangers the success of the party unless as strong a protectionist as Mr. Blaine heads the ticket. We know Chauncey Depew, and he is worty to step in Blaine's shoes. I will say this: Unless a strong protectionist is nominated, I assure you the Judge will be independent during the coming campaign."

The Lincoln Club Wants Depew.

The Lincoln Club of the XVIth Assembly District had a housewarming in its new clubhouse at Third avenue and Nineteenth street last night. A. P. Whitney, the delegate to the National convention from the XVIth District, was the principal speaker. He said he deemed it time that he made known his views as to the candidate who should receive his support at Chicago, so that if they did not agree with the men who sent him there they could tell him so. After speaking of the rumor that he had heard in political circles in the fall of Republican Babylon, had concluded not to be crushed, he concluded with a reference to the lack of sectionalism in the Prohibition party and asked that the convention do such work as will cause future generations to rise up and call it blessed. A memorial was presented from the National W. C. T. U., asking that the platform include a plank declaring against Sunday labor of any kind as far as the National Congress can so legislate.

Bishop Turner of the M. E. church was invited to a seat on the platform and gave his reasons for leaving the Republican party.

At 5.55, the convention adjourned until 9 a. m., tomorrow. In the representation reported by the credentials committee, New England stands as follows: Connecticut, 12; Maine, 16; Massachusetts, 41; New Hampshire, 12; Rhode Island, 10; Vermont, 10.

It is clear from the talk of the delegates that Gen. Clinton B. Fisk of New Jersey will be nominated by acclamation for President. There is no concentration yet upon a candidate for Vice President. The men named for the position are Green Clay Smith and Geo. W. Bain of Kentucky, John A. Brooks of Kansas City, John T. Tanner of Alabama, Judge Crandall of Texas, E. S. Debovey of Texas, and Joshua Levering of Baltimore. The large number of Southern candidates shows that there is a general sentiment to put a Southern man on the ticket.

The division between the Southern and the Northern delegates to the present Convention in regard to woman suffrage leads many of the delegates to fear that the union of Northern and Southern Prohibitionists may be shattered at the very moment of its accomplishment.

A Colored Republican Nominated.

RALEIGH, N. C., May 30.—G. M. Mahone, colored, was nominated for Congress in the Second North Carolina district by the Republicans today.

The Senator from Louisiana.

BATON ROUGE, La., May 30.—The Legislature today elected Judge E. D. White United States Senator for the term beginning March 4, 1891.

Florida Democats.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., May 30.—The Democratic State convention today appointed delegates to the St. Louis convention, and balloting for a nominee for governor was begun, the candidates being Frank P. Fleming of Jacksonville, Gen. Robert Bullock of Ocala, Robert W. Davis of Palatka and J. G. Speer of Oakland. Votes at the 12th ballot tonight are about equally divided.

MAINE.

Designed by Burgess.

BATH, May 30.—Schooner yacht Monhegan, about 40 tons, built from designs by Edward Burgess, for A. S. Rice of Rockland, was launched this afternoon from the yard of Charles B. Harrington.

St. Michael's Church.

DOVER, May 30.—This afternoon Rt. Rev. Bishop Healy of Portland, assisted by the Catholic clergy of this diocese, dedicated St. Michael's Catholic church at South Berwick, Me. Rev. Fr. Linehan of Portland, celebrated mass.

and after some debate, almost unanimously adopted.

St. Louis was selected as the headquarters of a new board, to be known as the board of conference claimants. Omaha was selected as the place for the next general conference. That city offered to provide a place of meeting and care for delegates free of cost.

TINKERING THE TARIFF BILL.

Some Samples of the Changes Demanded in the Caucus.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—"Boss" Scott, of Erie in the Democratic caucus Monday night just before its adjournment, undertook to override the indivual sentiments of members just as if they were in convention at Harrisburg instead of in the halls of Congress. Raising his screechy voice to a pitch which made it plainly audible in the corridors, he denounced members for giving away the secrets of the caucus action to the press. He said he had seen at least twenty newspaper men hanging around the caucus and getting points about the proceedings. Not one of them ought to have been admitted into the building. Mr. Scott's objection to publicity to Democratic caucus action on the "Dark Lantern" bill is, from his point of view, well grounded. The more the tariff tinkering is examined, the more crude and unjustifiable it appears. It is hardly necessary longer to refer to the Mills bill. That has passed out of existence, so far as caucus action can control the majority (which from present indications is not very far.)

In point of fact there are three courses of action open to the House—to adopt the caucus bill, to swallow the Mills bill unamended or to maintain existing law. The Randall bill has been buried in committee and is therefore left out of consideration. How wide the points of difference are between the measures can be discerned by taking, almost at random, a few of the items passed upon in caucus and placing them in parallel columns, thus:

	Caucus Bill	Mills Bill.
Steel slabs and billets	$17 per ton.	$11 per ton.
Rough Marble in bl'ks.	45c. pr. c. ft.	Free.
Type metal	17 per cent.	15 per cent
	ad valorem.
Licorice paste	5c per ℔	4 cts.
Glue	20 per cent.	Free.
	ad valorem.
Galatine	30 per cent.	Free.
	ad valorem.
Isinglass	25 per cent	Free.
	ad valorem.
Plaster of Paris	20 per cent	Free.
	ad valorem.

and so on through forty or fifty other items.

It is scarcely to be wondered at in view of these wide divergencies that manufacturers from all the close Democratic districts are deluging members with complaints and asking how they can adjust their business to a condition of things which changes with every day's caucus.

At tonight's Democratic caucus, Mr. Springer, after an exciting debate secured the passage of a resolution binding the Democrats to support such amendments to the tariff bill as are endorsed by the majority of the ways and means committee or in caucus.

Teemer Beats Gaudaur.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A Republican State Convention will be held in

CITY HALL,

Portland, Tuesday, June 12, 1888,

At 11 o'clock, A. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor, to be supported at the September election, and transacting any other business that may properly come before it.

The basis of representation will be as follows: Each city, town and plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and for each seventy-five votes cast for the Republican candidate for governor in 1884 an additional delegate, and for a fraction of forty votes in excess of seventy-five votes, a further additional delegate. Vacancies in the delegation of any city, town or plantation, can only be filled by residents of the county in which the vacancy exists.

The State committee will be in session in the reception room of the hall at 9 o'clock on the morning of the convention, for the purpose of receiving the credentials of delegates.

All electors of Maine, without regard to past political differences, who believe in protecting the industries of this State and its agricultural products; who believe in protecting the laborer and the wage-earner in every right; who believe "in choosing a policy which inspires labor with hope and crowns it with dignity, which gives safety to capital and protects its increase, which secures political power to every citizen, comfort and culture to every home" giving free popular education to the people; in favor of free suffrage and an honest counting of ballots; who approve the prohibition of the liquor traffic and the promotion of the cause of temperance; in an economical, just and efficient administration of public affairs; a faithfully administered civil service; and who uphold all judicious measures for the encouragement of American ship building, are cordially invited to unite with the Republicans in the selection of delegates to this convention.

Per order Republican State Committee.

J. H. MANLEY, Chairman.

WILLIS H. WING, Secretary.

A rumor that a statue of Andrew Jackson is to be removed from the square in front of the White House to make room for an effigy of Lafayette, rouses an indignant protest from the New York Sun, which says: "It may not be a very beautiful Andrew Jackson that is to be displaced, but this is not a good year to remove any sort of an Andrew Jackson from in front of the White House." But there is a fellow who is aping Andrew Jackson, who may be removed from the White House itself.

The Legislature of Massachusetts has adjourned, after the shortest session since 1882. The most important result of the session is the enactment of the ballot reform act, by which the Australian system of voting is established in Massachusetts. The advocates of this system claim that it does away with the intimidation of voters and the buying of votes, at the same time discouraging and taking away the occupation of political "heelers." Trial in Massachusetts will demonstrate whether the act will do all that is claimed for it. If that trial is satisfactory other States will undoubtedly follow Massachusetts' example.

If the statements which a correspondent of the Boston Herald makes regarding the proceedings at the Lewiston caucus to select delegates to the Republican State convention be correct the delegates owe their selection largely to Democratic repeaters. Republicans are prepared to cheerfully submit to the decision of the convention provided it be free from any taint of unfairness or fraud. But they are not likely to relish a nomination due in any degree to the services of Democratic repeaters. Concerning the facts of the Lewiston caucus we have no information except that which appears in the Herald. If that be correct then the Republicans of that city should hold another caucus, and take pains to guard it against invasion by Democrats.

Who is Maine's second choice? That becomes an important question now that there is no longer any hope that Mr. Blaine will accept a nomination on any condition. The question has been so little canvassed that it is difficult to speak with certainty, but if the opinion of the Republican masses is fairly reflected by the delegates to the Chicago convention the majority are for Depew. All the delegates are said to prefer him to any other man yet prominently mentioned. But they go to the convention unpledged, and if it should appear to them that some other candidate would meet the conditions of success better than Mr. Depew, they are at liberty to change their views. Maine Republicans will give a loyal support to the nominee of the Republican convention whoever he may be, notwithstanding their keen disappointment because they cannot have the candidate who was their first choice and the first choice of the country.

Much has been said about the damaging effect which the prohibition of the sale of liquor is imagined to have upon the "business interests" of the places affected. Plenty of rum, as it was argued in Atlanta, meant plenty of business, for men of course, as well as for the devil. In Maine this interesting financial doctrine is not extensively preached; but there are some who hold it, especially in reference to some of the watering places that are springing up so plentifully along our coast. The guests that are gathered there, it is argued, need something else besides water to make their stay delightful, and if the Maine watering places are to be well patronized they must furnish it if they would hold their own with rivals in other States. No better answer could be made to this argument than is furnished by the present condition of the famous resort at Long Branch. Only a few years ago Long Branch was a celebrated watering place for the better class of people. Persons of refinement sought it as a pleasant retreat, where they and their families could spend the summer months. Many large and costly improvements were made, and a locality already bountifully blessed by nature gave fair promise of soon becoming the leading summer resort of America. Suddenly its prosperity waned and its reputation diminished. Seventy of the leading citizens have, in a formal statement, laid the blame for this state of things upon the free sale of liquor with its attendant disorders. The rum may have made business of a certain sort at Long Branch, but it is ruining it as a resort for the respectable people who, in the end, must be relied upon to support any summer resort.

Mr. Blaine's Letter.

Whatever room there may have been for doubt as to Mr. Blaine's intentions regarding the Presidential nomination before his letter to Mr. Whitelaw Reid, none is left now. Mr. Blaine says in that letter clearly and explicitly, that he cannot accept the nomination if tendered. When Mr. Blaine's Florence letter appeared it was generally accepted as withdrawing him finally from the canvass. But latterly there has grown up a feeling, encouraged by his enemies because they believed it would discredit him, and by some of his warmest friends who believed that he was the strongest candidate the Republicans could nominate, that in spite of his letter he would still accept if the nomination was tendered with substantial unanimity. But Mr. Blaine sees more clearly than many of his friends. He sees that if he should now be nominated, after seeming at least to have encouraged a considerable number of distinguished Republicans, some of them his warmest admirers, to contest for the Republican nomination with the understanding that he was not in the field, that bad feeling would inevitably result, which would jeopardize the success of the party in the coming election. It would have been impossible under the circumstances which existed after the publication of the Florence letter to nominate Mr. Blaine without creating bitterness which would have lasted through the campaign. Mr. Sherman's friends, Mr. Gresham's friends and the friends of all the other candidates, to a greater or less degree would have felt that they had been ill-used, whether with good reason or not we do not say, but they would have felt that way, and the consequence would have been sulking in tents, which could but have had a very bad effect upon Republican prospects in the campaign. That Mr. Blaine was the substantially unanimous choice of the Republicans before he wrote his Florence letter there is little doubt. Had he not written that letter he would have been nominated probably by acclamation. He must have known that, and the best reply to his enemies who have questioned the sincerity of that letter is the letter itself, which could not have been written by a man of Mr. Blaine's sagacity unless he meant just what he said. His second letter was not needed to convince the public of the sincerity of his first letter, but it was needed to stop a programme which his over zealous friends were advocating, namely, the thrusting of a nomination upon him in spite of his withdrawal.

CURRENT COMMENT.

WHAT AMERICA OWES TO JOHN BRIGHT.

[Providence Journal.]

The news of John Bright's illness brings freshly to the hearts of the people of the United States the memory of his brave words of encouragement and sympathy during their contest for national existence, when he stood almost alone among the statesmen of England in appreciation of the nature of the struggle and of the fraternity of the Anglo-Saxon race.

THE IMPERIAL BOSS.

[Washington Post.]

It behooves every Democratic pilgrim who turns his face towards St. Louis to learn how to sing. The national convention of 1884 concluded its exercises by singing "Auld Lang Syne," a most significant choice as events have fallen out. But the last act of the St. Louis convocation will be different. The delegates may sing what they please during the early stages of the reunion, but when their work is done they will be restricted to "Coronation:"

Let every kindred, every tribe
In this Convention Hall
To Cleveland majesty ascribe,
And crown him—lord of all.

Mr. Cleveland may not demand this earthly crown, but he will probably accept it upon the singing of this one verse. Our imperial President, though old in wisdom, is yet young in monarchical ways, and he has not that repose which marked the caste of Julius Cæsar.

How to Make a Speech.

[John D. Long, in March Writer.]

Few men make speeches without carefully preparing them beforehand. It is rather amusing that so many speakers try to produce the impression that they speak without having made ready. Sometimes it is by beginning with the conventional statement that the call upon them is unexpected, or that they have been absorbed with other demands upon their time. Sometimes in the opening or close, which has been so carefully fixed in the memory that the speaker is secure of it, he injects a word or reference caught from the pending occasion, thus giving the impression that the whole thing is a present inspiration. Then, too, not to put too fine a point on the matter, there are some who on this subject do, with the unconscionable abandonment, verify the Scripture, that all men are liars. I remember a most distinguished man telling me that a long speech of his at a public meeting was extemporaneous, when I read it the evening before set up in cold type for the forthcoming morning paper.

Some of the best stump speakers very wisely repeat the same speech almost in totidem verbis as they go from place to place, as you will learn when you go with them. Some of these frankly acknowledge this method; others will so emphatically assure you that they never speak twice alike that you are bound to credit them with an honest delusion. You rarely listen to an after-dinner speech, however glibly it rolls, that has not been wrought ad unguem.

I should say, therefore, do not hesitate to make the most thorough preparation, or to let it be known, if need be, that you do so. It is a good thing, too, to mix in something of humor, never coarse, but of a fine sort, giving flavor as a mite of red pepper flavors a salad. Helpful also is a touch of pathos or sentiment, of which, in a reasonable degree, do not be afraid. Without humor or sentiment no speech goes very close to the heart of an audience. I have often found that some little incident, scene, reminiscence, or bit of landscape has given a source from which to derive a speech. Sitting down to write it the theme expands, not forward, but in a circle. Some leading thought controls, and around that argument, illustration, application group themselves. The very process of writing, especially a second copying, will develop new trains of thought and illustration or reference. A word as you write it becomes a suggestion, and your pen creates almost as if it were independent of your mind. A vocabulary is, of course, a vital resource for a speaker, though some seem to have been born to a full one. The great aid to this is reading, and also committing good authors, a discipline doubly valuable because it furnishes a stock of facts and a stock of words.

I think the great thing in a speech is earnestness of purpose, and especially of delivery. I would not advise the slightest attention to gesticulation, for that will take care of itself with an earnest speaker, and some of the most earnest and effective seem to dispense with it altogether. This manner is everything in public speaking. You may hear two speakers, one stirring you to the depths, the other drowned in your own yawning; and yet had you read them in your evening newspaper they would have been equally as good, or equally as commonplace.

A good speech consists of a sound, wholesome array of facts, thought or argument, relieved in the treatment by a picture, a touch of humor, or a play of fancy or sentiment, not afraid of the embellishment of a reasonable fringe of rhetorical flourish, clearly enunciated in the speaking, and delivered with all the force, feeling, earnestness and approval that you would put into a struggle for your life.

A Famous Doctor

Once said that the secret of good health consisted in keeping the head cool, the feet warm, and the bowels open. Had this eminent physician lived in our day, and known the merits of Ayer's Pills as an aperient, he would certainly have recommended them, as so many of his distinguished successors are doing.

The celebrated Dr. Farnsworth, of Norwich, Conn., recommends Ayer's Pills as the best of all remedies for "Intermittent Fevers."

Dr. I. E. Fowler, of Bridgeport, Conn., says: "Ayer's Pills are highly and universally spoken of by the people about here. I make daily use of them in my practice."

Dr. Mayhew, of New Bedford, Mass., says: "Having prescribed many thousands of Ayer's Pills, in my practice, I can unhesitatingly pronounce them the best cathartic in use."

The Massachusetts State Assayer, Dr. A. A. Hayes, certifies: "I have made a careful analysis of Ayer's Pills. They contain the active principles of well-known drugs, isolated from inert matter, which has, chemically speaking, no value. Their superiority consists in their usefulness. It insures activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. Ayer's Pills contain no metallic or mineral substance, but the virtues of vegetable remedies in skillful combination."

TO THE HOLDERS OF

United States 4 1-2 Per Cent Bonds,

DUE 1891.

We beg to call your attention to the fact that the above mentioned United States Bonds at the present price yield only

Two and One-quarter Per Cent

(2 1-4) interest, and that as they approach maturity the price will decline until the whole premium will be wiped out.

We therefore advise the holders of these Bonds to sell or exchange them for other securities. We have on hand a desirable list of City, County, Railroad and Water Bonds, suitable for Trust Funds, and would be pleased to have the holders of the above mentioned Bonds communicate with us.

in order to obtain the present high premium which must gradually and surely become less as they approach maturity. We are offering some excellent securities which we can recommend to holders of above bonds, or in exchange for any other securities soon to mature, and we shall be happy to communicate or confer with them regarding such exchange.

WIT AND WISDOM.

Mrs. B.—Are you going to celebrate your wooden wedding?

Mrs. C.—No, my first wedding was a wooden one.

Mrs. B.—Oh, it could not be, you know.

Mrs. C.—It was. I married a blockhead.

A Faithful Servant.

A good memory is the servant of the mind. We retain our impressions of people and things and recall them by a good memory; a poor memory is compromising us continually. Prof. Richard A. Proctor, Astronomer, Hon. W. W. Astor, late U. S. Minister to Italy, Hon. Judah P. Benjamin, Q. C., Jurist and Statesman, Judge Gibson, Jurist, Prof. E. H. Cook, Educator—these all unqualifiedly indorse the Loisettian System of Memory. Write to Prof. A. Loisette, 237 5th Av., N. Y.

"Mother writes that she will be here to-morrow for a short visit."

"Very well," he replied, and as he left the house he patted his little boy on the head kindly, and said:

"Bobby, didn't you ask me to buy you a whistle and a drum the other day?"

"Yes, pa."

"Well, I'll bring them to you to-night."

No one knows better than those who have used Carter's Little Liver Pills what relief they have given when taken for dyspepsia, dizziness, pain in the side, constipation and disordered stomach.

Polite Caller—I didn't know you were such an accomplished linguist, Miss Highnote?

Amateur Soprano—Linguist?

Caller—Yes. What language were you singing in just now?

Soprano—I was singing in English, sir.

Unmindful of the future.

Mrs. Carrol—Have you named the little cherub yet?

Mrs. N.—Yes; we're going to call her Gertie.

Mrs. C.—But that is a diminutive, isn't it?

Mrs. N.—I know; but baby is too.

Their gentle action and good effect on the system really make them a perfect little pill. They please those who use them. Carter's Little Liver Pills may well be termed "Perfection."

Albert (aged eleven)—Pa, give me a nickel.

Father—Don't you think you are most too old to beg for a nickel?

Albert—Well, that's so. Give me a dime.

I was troubled with catarrh for thirty years. Have suffered a great deal. My eyes, ears and throat were greatly affected. Mr. Kinney, the druggist, induced me to try Ely's Cream Balm and for the past two years have had very little trouble. I have lived in Newton, Mass., and Rockville, Conn. Very respectfully, J. W. Pratt, Monson, Mass.

I have improved greatly since using Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh. I feel like a new man. It is a blessing to humanity.—John D. Farrell, Hartford, Conn.

Father (to would-be son-in-law)—Young man, will you be able to take care of my daughter in the style to which she has always been accustomed?

Young Man—I'll guarantee it, sir, or return the girl.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The Moxie Secret.

It is three years since Lieut. Moxie first sent the rich South American nerve food plant called Moxie to Dr. Thompson, in Lowell, Mass. Since, over 3,000,000 bottles have been sold, and to-day it is undoubtedly the most popular beverage and nerve support in the world. It has become the ordinary drink of hundreds of thousands of people all over the world. This business has grown like a mushroom. When it was discovered to be a rich nerve food, there was a struggle to possess it. The contest before the United States Courts has developed the fact that it has actually recovered a very large number of old cases of helpless paralysis, old drunkards, nervous wrecks, and invalid women suffering from nerve exhaustion. It has the same effect of other rich foods. The secret lies in the mode of artificial digestion, by which no action of the digestive organs is necessary to make it fit for immediate absorption by the nervous system. This was discovered by Dr. Thompson. The process will dissolve an albuminoid so finely that it can be evaporated like water. It has to be as fine as this to enter the nerve circulation. The women are crazy after it, and the druggists say the sale is just immense.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

REVIEW OF PORTLAND WHOLESALE MARKET

FOR THE WEEK ENDING MAY 30.

For the week under review very little change has taken place in the wholesale market. All places of business was closed in Portland to-day, consequently we are unable to make the usual market report. Wheat and Corn have been unsteady throughout the week, closing on Tuesday at lower prices, while Flour is firmly held at the recent advance, and Oats strong at full figures, but there has been a drop of about $1 on Sacked Bran and Middlings and a rise on base lots of cotton Seed. Provisions are unchanged with a steady demand; prices firm with a good export inquiry. The Butter market is weak and prices are barely maintained. Eggs a trifle firmer. Cheese easy. Sugar is in fair demand refined is stronger but not higher; the stock in the four ports at latest dates was 127,592 tons against 123,814 tons in 1887 and 128,133 tons in 1886. Molasses—stock in the four ports at latest dates was 4712 hogsheads against 5054 hogsheads in 1887 and 29,964 hogsheads in 1886. Coffee—The following statement gives the total visible supply of Rio Coffee up to latest dates:

Total stock in United States ports	137,162
Purchased at Rio (and Santos 121,000) for the United States from Apr. 1 to May 21	230,000
Total visible supply	367,162
" " " May 27, 1887	606,862
" " " May 28, 1886	626,336

Market for Cotton goods is said to be in a good position, and the outlook is for a firm maintenance of prices, even if values do not go higher.

All of the more popular mills are fully under contract up to July, and some special lines in cottons are sold up to October. The Dry Goods reporter of New York says: "The event of the week has been the announcement of the large reduction sales of flannels for this week. These sales have been long expected by the trade, and it has but little provided itself for future wants in the goods which will be offered, and supplies for the next season will undoubtedly be made in the auction rooms and also by private purchases from the other prominent stocks of flannels offered by Messrs. Deering, Milliken & Co., Wm. L. Strong & Co. and W. S. Badger & Co., who will of course feel compelled to meet the market in prices. Otherwise than the notice of these sales no important change has appeared in the market."

DINSMORE'S

Do you know all liquid sarsaparillas and blood purifiers are unsafe to use? They contain a large proportion of alcohol which not only neutralizes to a considerable extent their medicinal qualities but is liable to create a craving for alcoholic stimulants. To the young they are particularly dangerous, and parents cannot be too careful to avoid them. The danger of arousing any latent tendency to alcoholism cannot be overestimated.

G. E. Lane, M. D., a prominent Boston Physician, says: "In my opinion liquid sarsaparilla and other blood purifiers are unsafe to be given to children as they contain a large percentage of alcohol. Cases have come under my observation in which there is no doubt the appetite for stimulants was acquired by using medicines of this class. Therefore it gives me great pleasure to use and recommend a strictly non-alcoholic sarsaparilla, Dinsmores Sarsaparilla Wafers. I regard them as the best and most convenient blood purifier in use."

G. W. Galvin, M. D., United States Hotel Boston, says: "I have always disapproved of liquid sarsaparillas, and consider them especially injurious to invalids and children because of their large percentage of alcohol."

Dinsmore's Sarsaparilla Wafers are compounded of pure Spanish Sarsaparilla, combined with the best vegetable remedies known to medical science for purifying the blood, eradicating disease and strengthening and building up the tired and languid system. Prepared only by DINSMORE & CO., Boston, Mass. Price 50 cents per box. Sold by Druggists, or mailed on receipt of price.

AN EXPLANATION.

What is this "nervous trouble" with which so many seem now to be afflicted? If you will remember a few years ago the word Malaria was comparatively unknown,—to-day it is as common as any word in the English language, yet this word covers only the meaning of another word used by our forefathers in time past. So it is with nervous diseases, as they and Malaria are intended to cover what our grandfathers called Billousness, and all are caused by troubles that arise from a diseased condition of the Li ver which in performing its functions finding it cannot dispose of the bile through the ordinary channel is compelled to pass it off through the system, causing nervous troubles, Malaria, Bilious Fever, etc. You who are suffering can well appreciate a cure. We recommend Green's August Flower. Its cures are marvelous nov1 d1yeTu

BRIEF JOTTINGS.

Fine day yesterday, though the wind was rather chilly.

Marshal Hawkes arrested two men for fighting on Federal street yesterday.

The open horse cars were out on the Congress street line yesterday.

Evergreen Cemetery looked lovely in its fresh green robes yesterday.

A small boy, whose name we failed to get, was run over by a team on Park street yesterday afternoon and badly hurt.

The giant tow boat Morse arrived in the harbor yesterday with the coal barge Washington with coal for Randall & McAllister.

The Latin School Cadets received much praise yesterday for their soldierly appearance and fine marching.

Mr. Augustus F. Moulton will deliver the first lecture in the Westbrook Seminary course this evening, at the church.

The swan velocipede boat has arrived at Deering's Oaks. It will accommodate several children and be a source of great amusement for them.

The steamer Greenwood has had incandescent lights put in. The plant is operated by a two horse engine and contains some eight or ten lights.

The wheel of the Portland Cadets at the head of Chestnut street yesterday, is described by "a looker on" as something of remarkable merit.

Why cannot carriages and horse cars be kept off the route of a military procession? The peoples lives are endangered by skittish horses, and the fine effect of a moving body of soldiers seriously injured.

Portland Society of Art.

A more brilliant party than that which was assembled at the Portland Society of Art rooms last night has not been seen in this city for some time. The evening was warm and from 8 o'clock until 10 the rooms were thronged with visitors. The occasion was a reception given to the exhibitors of pictures and interested friends. The visitors were received by the ladies in charge of the China and decorative department and the evening was spent in discussing matters pertaining to art and in the examination of the paintings on exhibition. The exhibition will close Saturday evening and those who have not visited it should avail themselves of the opportunity afforded. The handsome illustrated catalogue that contains the names of every person who has ever been a member of the society are going fast and during the week the remainder will probably be disposed of.

Street Standard Pipes.

The street committee decided, on Tuesday afternoon, that the petition of the Street Sprinkling Co. to erect standpipes be granted provided the pipes can be swung so as not to interfere with travel, and that the company be responsible for damages in case of accident.

The Mock Convention of the Young Men's Club.

The Mock National Convention of the Young Men's Republican Club will be held in Mechanics' Hall this evening at 8 o'clock. The members of the Club have been preparing for this event for some time, and no pains have been spared to make it both interesting and entertaining. Seth L. Larrabee, Esq., will preside, and the members of the club will sit as delegates from the various States and Territories. The names of the Republican candidates for the Presidency will be presented and balloted for, each member of the club voting according to his individual preference. A platform will also be introduced, debated and voted upon. Original campaign songs, written for the occasion, will be sung.

Invitations have been extended to members of the Portland and Veteran Republican clubs to be present, and members of the Young Men's Club will invite their friends. Members of the Club will sit as delegates in the centre of the hall, while guests will be seated on the sides. Placards will indicate the delegations of the different States. Any members of the Young Men's Club who may not have received assignments to any State will be assigned on application to the committee on organization.

Next Tuesday, the World's Congress of Anthropologists meets at Columbia College, New York, for a session of four days. Foreign scientists are represented by papers, and some attend in person, as well as members of the Smithsonian Institution and other prominent American scholars. Professors Huxley, Maudsley, Galton and Drummond, Virchow, Prince Roland Bonaparte and others have accepted the post of vice presidents, Dr. O. W. Holmes, Bishop Potter, Dr. R. S. Storrs and several Supreme Court judges. Topics of psychology, sociology and archæology occupy the week, and the published papers will form a unique volume. Mr. J. P. Baxter will deliver the closing address on the "Early History of America."

Breaks.

Some time during Thursday night the seed store of W. C. Sawyer, on Preble street, was broken into from the rear by breaking a pane of glass and lifting the bolt in the door. An attempt was made to blow open the safe, without success. Nothing of value was missing.

Yesterday afternoon burglars entered the house of Geo. W. Morris, No. 64 Cedar street, and stole three gold bangle bracelets, a gold chain and ring and a number of silver forks, knives and spoons. The matter is in the hands of the police.

Flagg-Allingham.

A very quiet wedding took place at the residence of Rev. Marion Crosley on Wilmot street Tuesday afternoon. Miss Alice Maud, youngest daughter of John F. Allingham, was married to Mr. James W. Flagg, both of Portland. After the ceremony the happy couple left for Boston, where they will remain about a week. The presents were numerous and beautiful.

Portland Gun Club.

The Portland Gun Club spent the day in shooting yesterday at their grounds in Deering. Between 15 and 20 members were present and the club shot for sweepstakes.

ON GLITTERING WHEELS.

The Meeting of the Maine Division Division, L. A. W.

Over Eighty Wheelmen Make the Occasion a Success.

Ta ra, Ta ra, sounded the bugle call yesterday morning and, under the lead of Captain Frank Pierce, about 80 wheelmen swung themselves lightly into the saddles and the long column of bicycles moved away from the house of the Portland Club and over the route as already published. First came the Portland boys, in their new uniform of handsome gray cloth, with gray caps and stockings to match, making a costume which, judging from the remarks of the bystanders, found as much favor in their eyes as the riders who wore the suits. York county was next in number, and the riders from Biddeford and Saco helped to add splendor to the occasion. And there were in addition, representatives from all parts of the State scattered through the long line. Portlanders have never seen so many different kinds of wheels together, and they found the parade interesting and novel as well as a pretty spectacle. There were brightly nickeled bicycles, contrasted with the neat black of the enameled machines. And among the ordinary crank machines, were the Stars, with the little wheel in front, the new Springfield roadster, which works something like the Stars, but has the little wheel modestly following the big one, and then came the strange little saptiles, which held their own successfully in competition with the big fellows.

At the big hill on Clark street, a halt was called and Worden, of Boston, pushed a Springfield roadster to the top. But Maine was not to be outdone in the contest and R. T. Patten, of Skowhegan and George Barnes, of this city, climbed the steep ascent, Barnes, who never forgets his manners, finding time to take off his hat to a lady when half way up to the top. The average grade of the hill is one foot in ten and at the steepest part the incline is one in seven and one-half. Patten and Barnes rode crank machines. But the stop here was a short one and in a few minutes the line was moving over the bridges and through Knightville, en route to the Ocean House, where dinner was to be served. The column was now broken and in twos and threes the bicyclists wheeled over the pleasant shore road, many of the visitors enjoying for the first time a ride which cannot be excelled in the State. The roads were hard and smooth, notwithstanding the recent rains, and the fresh air straight from the ocean gave a zest to the exercise of the riders.

At the Ocean House a vigorously contested ball game showed that the wheelmen had not forgotten the national game. Then Mr. Gay took their pictures and then the meal call from the bugle brought a happy and hungry crowd to the big tables in the dining room. The dinner was a hearty one, the grace and rapidity showed by several Portland riders in the capacity of waiters adding largely to the success of the occasion.

At the tables were the following members of the York County wheelmen:

W. L. Ayer,	George Leavitt,
J. V. Dennett,	R. W. E. Milliken,
R. A. Fairfield,	W. T. Bowers,
J. E. Etchells,	H. W. Ayer,

From other parts of the State were the following:

These are the Portland wheelmen who were among the diners:

F. A. Elwell,	F. G. Fassett,
J. Goody,	G. B. Morrill,
C. B. Mitchell,	Geo. Thompson,

Frank McDowall,	Will Sparrow,
H. P. Cloyes,	E. G. McGowan,
Wm. Gay,	C. L. Seavey,
Lew Smith,	W. E. Aldrich.

The run back to the city was equally enjoyable with the morning trip, and at five o'clock the bicyclists were all gathered in Mechanics Hall to see Maiby, the trick bicycle rider, who gave one of the best exhibitions of the kind ever seen here, doing many daring and difficult feats and concluding with a comical representation of the dude's first ride.

At six o'clock, the division held a business meeting in the rooms of the Portland Wheel Club, and A. L. T. Cummings, of Biddeford, was re-elected secretary-treasurer. An amendment to the by-laws was proposed providing that the date of the annual meeting be changed from the third Thursday of May to the 30th of that month. The amendment comes up for action at the next meeting. It was found to be the sense of the division that the fall meeting be held in Lewiston during State fair week. After passing a vote of thanks to Chief Consul Elwell for his services in making the event a success, the meeting adjourned. A tempting array of good things of which the Portland club had invited the visitors to partake, was spread on the floor above and received full justice. The banquet was enlivened by songs by members of the Portland club and during the evening reception, the Alabama Quartette, which will be remembered in connection with the first minstrel performance given by the club, sang several times and there was music contributed by various members, the party finally dispersing at a late hour well pleased with the second annual meet of the Maine division.

Mr. Hosack was a native of Portland, went to Boston about 30 years ago, and, with the exception of a few years in the employ of W. H. Kinsman & Co., has worked in the various capacities in the printing offices in Boston—the last 12 years or more as proof-reader and compositor at Rockwell & Churchill's, city printers.

RAILWAY MATTERS.

NOTES.

An official of the Boston and Maine Road says: "All the plans for a union with the Eastern Road that have thus far been talked are simply suggestions from outsiders. No official action has been taken, and none will be until the committees shall have a conference. This may be next week, but even if it is held then, it will take some little time to arrange all the details.

The Boston & Maine road has made arrangements with all fast freight lines, except the National Dispatch, to make Portland a billing station.

Our War Mayor Honored.

A suggestion made in the daily papers by a friend of the late ex-Mayor McLellan, that his grave be decorated by the G. A. R., was carried out at Evergreen by a detail of about twenty members of the Grand Army, each one of whom had some special reason to remember him as the soldier's friend.

In addition to the flag and G. A. R. wreath, a splendid floral anchor was placed upon the grave as the comrades stood with uncovered heads.

The following invocation was pronounced by the comrade having charge of the service:

"In the name of the Grand Army of the Republic, we place these emblems on the grave of him who was our friend, and the friend and helper of our helpless ones, and we here pledge ourselves that once in each year at this season we will visit his resting place, and leave our memorials of him who is not lost, but gone before."

Died in the Cars.

Yesterday as the noon train arrived from Boston, Flora S. McDougall, aged 18 years, who was on her way from Peabody, Mass., to Dorchester, N. B., died in the cars from consumption. She was accompanied by several friends. Coroner Gould was called and as soon as he learned the circumstances considered an inquest unnecessary.

MEMORIAL DAY.

The roses of England, the lilies of France, the thistle of Scotland, and the shamrock of Ireland have been used as national emblems. We have, and can have, no national flower. With the tronical magnolia and the trailing arbutus we intertwine all the floral gifts of spring, to symbolize and voice the nation's gratitude toward those to whose memory this day has been publicly devoted and consecrated.

Memorial Day is an institution of the Grand Army of the Republic. It originated, I believe, in May, 1868, in a general order of its illustrious commander-in-chief, John A. Logan. Two years later it was permanently established as a day annually to be observed in commemoration of their fallen comrades. It has now become a sacred holiday—the Easter day of the republic. Its observance is prompted by fraternity, charity and loyalty; it is cherished by patriotism and enjoined by statesmanship. It will continue while the nation lives. Let it be perpetual.

The recurrence of this day, forever hereafter, with its touching and beautiful ceremonies of strewing flowers upon the soldier's grave, will serve to pay "honor to whom honor is due," and will teach forever by a symbolism that touches all hearts, the lesson of patriotism.

Soldiers and sailors of Maine; better than monuments of enduring marble and bronze erected in your honor, these Memorial days, and the history, of which you were yourselves a part, will keep you in remembrance. To you and your dead comrades, the highest honors and the deepest gratitude are due. But to mention the scenes of your brave deeds is to tell the story of battles as heroic as Thermopylæ and Bunker Hill, as brilliant as Marathon and Austerlitz, and, happily, as decisive as Waterlooo or Yorktown.

Those of you who fought on the great days of Gettysburg need no other memorial. To have been there is fame; but I deem most happy, I envy most of all, those men of Maine "whose eyes beheld the glory" of the closing scenes of Appomattox. This was the end of the wager of battle. The supreme arbitrator gave decision for the right; and universal freedom, purer patriotism and a more perfect union were the divine decrees.

At the close of the address Shaw's Quartette composed of Mr. F. W. Shaw, Samuel Thurston, F. A. Bowdoin and John L. Shaw sang with great taste the following requiem ode dedicated to the Grand Army by John L. Shaw:

Sun of the bright spring day,
Far in you vaulted deep,
Shine as we chant our lay,
O'er them that sleep.
They lowly sleep,—sleep

Moon of the sweet spring-time,
Calmly your vigils keep,
Mingle with curfew chime.
Our dear ones sleep—
They peaceful sleep,—sleep.

Stars of the glad spring tide,
Look down and twinkling peep,
Through cloud rift as they glide,
O'er them that sleep.
They calmly sleep,—sleep.

Wind of the still spring hour,
Breathe low and sighing weep,
Fanning the bud and flower,
Hush,—as they sleep,
They quiet sleep,—sleep.

Rain of the lone spring night,
With dews in tear drops weep,
Melting snow's mantle white,
O'er them that sleep.
In death they sleep,—sleep,—sleep,—sleep.

Hon. John J. Perry then delivered the following address:

GEN. PERRY'S ADDRESS.

Mr. President, veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic and Fellow citizens:

The occasion which calls us together is one of intense interest to every patriotic citizen. It wakes up the memories of by-gone years. White visions of the past, upon times great panorama again pass before our eyes.

It reminds us of the terrible realities of war, of the shock of battle and the crash of arms, of the field of conflict and the dead and dying. It carries us back in our thoughts to the stormy days of the rebellion, with its lighted shades, its gloomy defeats and joyous victories. It tells us of the painful partings and tearful farewells, of homes darkened by the absence of husbands, brothers and sons, and rendered still more dreary by startling telegrams that the absent loved ones would no more return to bless these homes with their personal presence. Memorial Day, not only brings back these sacred memories, but with a significance that cannot be mistaken—it points to the gallant heroes who gave their lives a sacrifice to their country and died that it might live.—Too many honors cannot be paid these gallant defenders of the right. These graves should forever be kept green; and when their surviving comrades have bedecked them with the choicest flowers of spring, as you have done today, you have only performed a mournful duty which but faintly illustrates the deep and profound respect, which you, in common with your fellow citizens entertain for these fallen heroes.

Many of them fell when making the fearful charge; many of this number were shot down when bravely defending their guns and batteries; others died from wounds received in the fire and smoke of battle, while others, worn out and exhausted by long and weary marches were carried away to hospitals and then laid to sleep the last long sleep which knows no waking.

Upon every Memorial Day there comes wafted to us upon Southern breezes the story of "Andersonville," "Libby" and other rebel prisons, where our gallant braves were encircled by "dead lines," and shot down without warning for crossing them, where by the direct orders of rebel commanders approved and acquiesced in by Jeff Davis, they were kept without shelter from the cold and the storms, without clothing, without food or water, until they literally starved and perished, and were then hustled away into trenches and buried like dogs.

Today and upon every Memorial Day, so long as we have a country and a flag the blood of these murdered heroes "cries to us from the ground" never forget these infamous rebel prisons, which under the light of the nineteenth century, as Col. Ingersoll once said of American slavery would "disgrace hell in its palmiest days."

It may be said that at the present day we are living under a higher civilization; that the dark and bloody chasm which divided the North from the South during the rebellion, has been bridged over; that now it is unity and fraternity, no North, no South, no East, no West; that under the Stars and Stripes the "blue" and the "gray" are marching, shoulder to shoulder, together, keeping step to the music of the Union; that slavery, with its barbarous atrocities and abominations, by the fiat of the immortal Lincoln—backed by the Union armies in the field—has been abolished, and no longer disgraces the American name; that we are now one nation, one people, one brotherhood.

Well, I thank God; that the light of better days is dawning upon us; that the different sections of this great and glorious country are coming to a better understanding as to what constitutes a nation; that Southern traitors, after having the heresy of secession whipped out of them by Union soldiers, in submission to the inevitable, have hauled down the "bars" and put up the Stars and Stripes. I am glad that the boys in "grey" many of whom were Union men, and were forced into the rebel service against their will, are coming to shake hands with the boys in blue; that many of the leaders in the great rebellion have, professedly at least, renewed their allegiance to the general government. Many of the rebel brigadiers and leaders who did the most to "fire the Southern heart," are dead, and the land of the Jeff Davis Confederacy is fast being filled with Northern blood and Northern enterprise; and, slowly but surely, we are marching on to the day when we shall have a reconstructed South, not merely in name, but fact.

I repeat, that I rejoice in all this. But there are some things connected with the war of the rebellion that should never be blotted out—and never can be. When the rebels trampled under their feet all rules of honorable warfare recognized among civilized nations, and to replete our armies resorted to the infernal atrocities practiced by them upon our boys in rebel prisons, they committed the unpardonable sin against God and humanity, and placed themselves beneath the most barbarous nation that ever disgraced the heathen world. This atrocious villainy no loyal man will ever forget, much less forgive. No! Never! Never! If it be asked, could not the war of the rebellion have been avoided by reasonable concessions from the North? I answer, no! The declarations of Mr. Lincoln, Mr. Seward and other eminent statesmen of that day, that there was an "irrepressible conflict" between freedom and slavery, contained a great prophetic truth which has passed into history. The two systems of free labor and slave labor were as antagonistic as light and darkness, as wide apart as the east is from the west. The defeat of the late Senator Douglass at the Charleston convention meant war. The rebels for want of a better excuse made the election of Abraham Lincoln a plea for secession. From the moment they found his election a certainty, they commenced to lay their plans under which they naugurated the rebellion.

The doings of what was known as the "Peace Convention" which assembled in Washington, February 4th, 1861, of which I had the honor to be a member, cannot fail to convince every one who read it that the ultimatum of the Southern leaders was war, if their attempts at secession and the establishment of a Southern Confederacy were resisted.

An amendment to the constitution virtually establishing slavery, in all that part of the territories of the United States, south of 36° 30' was offered by the North, but declared by Southern fire eaters not satisfactory. Another constitutional amendment forever legalizing slavery, wherever it then existed, was declared unsatisfactory, and Mr. Leddon, an ex-member of Congress, and member of the convention from Virginia, went so far as to insist on an amendment to the constitution, distinctly recognizing the right of secession on the part of the States. While the members from the border States were more conservative, yet their demands upon the North, as to terms of peace were such as the people living in that part of the Union, never would ratify. During the entire session of the 36th Congress, commencing in December, 1860, and ending March 4th, 1861, the Southern members, while they would appear in their seats, and talk Southern chivalry, and Southern brag in day time, yet when night threw its dark curtain over the Capital, these same men would assemble in secret conclave, to perfect and mature their plans and schemes for secession and war. Peace was upon their tongues, but war was in their hearts. The only alternative of success was war, and war came.

The issue raised was country or no country the most momentous and weighty of all issues ever settled by contending armies. With what chivalric bravery, and courage, the armies of the Union fought out this issue, the whole civilized world can bear witness.

Veteran soldiers, of the Grand Army of the Republic, in common with thousands of other posts, all over this great country, you have this day performed a deed worthy of you, and worthy of the departed heroes, whose graves you have bedecked with flowers.

Your departed comrades have been finally mustered out, with an honorable discharge, and while you will no more sit down with them, around your council fires, to rehearse the thrilling scenes and incidents of the field and camp, you can recount their heroic deeds, extol their unselfish patriotism, cherish their sacred memories, and adorn their last camping grounds with the choicest blossoms of spring and while you have carefully guarded the peaceful graves of your departed comrades, and marked their last resting places with monumental shafts and head-stones, you have not been unmindful of the living, whose homes have been darkened by the fates of war, whose inmates long years ago, looked in vain for the return of husbands, fathers and sons, whose bones now lie buried in Southern fields.

After the rebel armies laid down their arms at the feet of the victorious legions of the North, and the toils and hardships of a four years' war were ended, what a splendid conception was the organization of the "Grand Army of the Republic," the banding together of the loyal veterans of the war, whose heroism and bravery had conquered a peace and saved to us and posterity a country.

Your organization not only binds you together in the mystic ties of a common brotherhood, but your kindly acts of charity, your systematic benevolence, your tender and watchful care for each other, and the widows and orphans of your fellow comrades, has lighted the pathway of many sorrowing hearts, and brought sunshine and gladness to many darkened homes.

Veterans, The Grand Army you represent is today the great bulwark in the defence of the Republic. Your camp fires upon a thousand hill tops, like so many sentinels, stand guard against the first encroachment upon the rights and liberties of the people.

Having "fought a good fight," you have again returned to the avocations of peace, where every man quietly "sits under his own vine and fig tree." You are now cultivating the arts of peace, and not of war.

But should any foreign foe hereafter invade our shores with hostile armies to destroy our commerce, sack our cities or ravage our fields, should the old flag, which for long years you followed through the fire and smoke of battle, again be fired upon and insulted by its enemies from at home or abroad, "like weird spirits from the vasty deep," will rise up the Grand Army of the Republic from every hill and valley—their rallying cry: To arms! to arms! their watchword, one flag, one country, one destiny, independence now and independence forever.

The Weber Club then sang "Our Native Land" and were followed by a beautiful memorial ode by George C. Burgess, Esq. After the recitation of the ode Shaw's Quartette sang the memorial hymn, "Only Flowers," the audience sang "America," and then slowly dispersed.

The Afternoon Parade.

In the afternoon the escort formed in Market Square and marched down Center street, up Free street to Congress square where the Grand Army posts having formed in front of their respective halls, with Merriman's Band at their head, were drawn up in line. As the escort wheeled down Congress street the posts fell in the rear and marched in the following order down Congress street to Franklin street, to Kennebec street, where the train was taken for Deering:

Platoon of Police, Captain J. F. A. Norton.
Chief Marshal C. N. Lang and Aides.
Drum Major C. W. Bean.
Band, T. Patten's Band, 25 pieces.
Col. J. J. Lynch and Adjt. E. E. Philbrook.
Co. A—Light Infantry, Captain B. A. Norton, 32 men.
Co. E—Montgomery Guards, Capt. T. E. Hartnett, 34 men.
Latin School Cadets, Captain Strout, 32 men.
Portland Cadets, Captain G. C. Barrows, 32 men.

Thatcher Post, Commander Hadlock, 56 men.
Sons of Veterans, Captain Whitcomb, 60 men.
Soldiers' Evergreen Monument in Carriage.
Disabled Veterans in Carriages.

The companies marched well and as they passed through the streets that were thronged with spectators, they made a fine appearance. Chandler's Band played with its usual excellence and Merriman's Band performed finely. The uniforms of the companies were neat looking and new. That of the Guards was particularly attractive, the green plumes to the hats being an especial feature.

The floral offerings carried by the veterans were many of them very beautiful particularly the special emblems. It is needless for us to give a list of these as it would be almost a repetition of that of last year. The wreath at the base of the soldiers' evergreen monument, presented by the Sons of Veterans, was especially fine and appropriately inscribed. At Evergreen Cemetery there was a great concourse of people who viewed the exercises with great satisfaction.

Cape Elizabeth.

In connection with the Grand Army the citizens of Cape Elizabeth decorated nine graves at Brown's Hill cemetery, two at Spurwink, two at Bowery Beach, fifty-one at Mt. Pleasant, six at Bay View and one at Town House Corner.

Libby, commanding, escorting Post W. L. Haskell. The route of march was to lower cemetery and thence to Riverside. The graves were decorated, and appropriate ceremonies held in each cemetery. At Masonic Hall, dinner was served to all participating in the exercises. Line was reformed at 1.30 p. m. In addition to the above named organizations, the Sabbath school children, the Good Templars and citizens joined in the procession, which moved up Main street to the Baptist Cemetery, and from thence to Central church. At the church an excellent oration was delivered by Rev. Theodore Gerrish of Portland, late of the Twentieth Maine Volunteer Infantry. The day was more generally observed than for years and the decorations and flags displayed were elaborate.

Freeport.

The Freeport Post with Davis' Band marched to the Village and Bass cemeteries and decorated the soldiers' graves as well as the graves of those lying in other cemeteries. The Freeport Ladies' Relief Corps furnished an excellent dinner and at 2.30 p. m., all listened to an admirable discourse at the Congregationalist church, delivered by Rev. P. B. Wing of Hopkinton, Mass.

Gorham.

Decoration day was observed in Gorham with interest as usual. At 6 a. m. detachments from John R. Adams Post proceeded to the cemetery where 140 graves were decorated. At 2 p. m. line was formed on Main street in the following order:

At 7.30 a large audience assembled at the Methodist church where the following exercises were held, ex-Gov. Robie presiding:

Singing of America by audience.
Benediction by Rev. Joseph Colby.

The address of Rev. Mr. Crosley was very fine and listened to with marked attention. Appropriate remarks were made at G. A. R. Hall in the afternoon by Gov. Robie and Judge Waterman, also a unanimous vote of thanks was given to Wade Camp, S. of V.

Gray.

George F. Shepley Post and the Ladies Relief Corps, headed by the Gray Cornet Band, marched to the cemetery and decorated the comrades graves with the services of the Grand Army. Department Commander Burbank of Saco, delivered an eloquent address at the Congregational church, the band furnishing music.

Biliousness

is more general at this season than any other. The bitter taste, offensive breath, coated tongue, sick headache, drowsiness, dizziness, and loss of appetite make the victim miserable, and disagreeable to others. Hood's Sarsaparilla combines the best anti-bilious remedies of the vegetable kingdom, in such proportion as to derive their best medicinal effects with the least disturbance to the whole system. This preparation is so well balanced in its actions upon the alimentary canal, the liver, the kidneys, the stomach, the bowels and the excretion of the blood, that it brings about a healthy action of the entire human organism, restores the appetite, and overcomes that tired feeling. Try it this season.

"I have taken not quite a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and must say it is one of the best medicines for giving an appetite and regulating the digestive organs, that I ever heard of. It did me a great deal of good." MRS. N. A. STANLEY, Canastota, N. Y.

After trying several remedies, he took Dr. Greene's Nervura Nerve Tonic, and I can truly say that it made him a new boy. The fits have left him, his whole system is built up anew, and he is enjoying perfect health. It is the best medicine I ever used, and after trying others I find it has no equal. Mr. W. SCHUM.
