MORLEY ATTACKS THE CRIMES ACT

And the Government Appoints a Day for Discussion.

Stanley's Dream of a New State on the Upper Nile.

Why the Thunderer Thinks that Democracy is a Failure.

LONDON, June 22.—In the Commons this afternoon the chairman announced the imprisonment of John Dillon for violating the crimes act.

John Morley gave notice that he would introduce a resolution declaring the operation and administration of the crimes act would undermine the respect for law and estrange the minds of the people of Ireland and deeply injure the common interests of the United Kingdom.

Mr. Gladstone gave notice on Monday that he would ask the government to appoint a day for the discussion of Morley's resolution. Mr. Smith said the government had discussed with the greatest attention to Mr. Morley's notice, feeling it was a challenge of the government's conduct in every respect and would forthwith place Monday at Mr. Morley's disposal. [Loud opposition cheers.]

The Times on the Convention.

Long reports of the proceedings of the Chicago convention have appeared in the leading news columns of "The Times" in the last two days, but the other papers have nothing of consequence. "The Times" moralizes this morning on this subject through another column, and invites its readers to regard political conventions in America as so many proofs that American democracy is not the political panacea it was once supposed to be. The appeal to public opinion seems to be conducted by a childish display of colors, badges and typical insignia. Such is its judgment upon the convention now sitting. Protection is caricatured in the usual vein, and the Times disingenuous enough to let its readers understand that Mr. Thurston's speech is an authorized delaration of the party.

What They Say of Stanley.

Anxiety about Mr. Stanley has been rapidly increasing without much reason. Those who know the facts are not anxious. There feems to be no doubt that Mr. Stanley had other objects than relieving Emin Pacha. He is supposed to meditate founding a new State on the Upper Nile, after the pattern of the Congo Free State. He longs to lay the axe at the root of the slave trade in the Bahr Gazelle country. He is an explorer, and would gladly open up a district of Equatorial Africa never yet travelled by a European. He is, moreover, surrounded by difficulties in the shape of swamps; Emin Pacha himself described them as almost impassable. All these things are more than sufficient to account for the delay in hearing from Mr. Stanley. Dr. Junker and other experts say that there is no cause for alarm.

ITALIAN STONE CUTTERS

Who are Creating Trouble in Maine Granite Quarries.

[Special to the Press.]

AUGUSTA, June 22.—The Maine labor bureau have a new feature of the labor question to handle which has lately developed. It is the outcome of the employment of what are called Italian soft stone cutters by the granite companies. Numerous complaints have been received from workingmen in various sections of the state concerning the matter. It is alleged that contracts are made with the "padrones" to furnish a certain number of men at a stated price; that the Italians are brought into the State and taught the trade of stone cutting at which they became very skillful; that they accept very low wages thus crowding out the native American workmen. At one quarry as many as a hundred of these foreigners are employed. It is the outcome, so it is represented, of the great competition among contractors. They are obliged to figure very close and consequently hire Italian labor so that they may keep their bids down to the lowest possible point. The American granite cutters are much excited and strikes are talked of. There is a possibility that the contracts with the Italians are made in Italy before sailing and, if so, it is an infringement of a United States law and the difficulty can be disposed of. But it is probable that the Italians are contracted for in New York and the men not amenable to the law. Deputy Commissioner Campbell has been giving his attention to the matter and next week Commissioner Matthews will visit several of the quarries along the coast on an investigating tour. The labor officials, cannot, of course, take any legal action in the case as there is no law under which they can proceed.

IN THE CONVENTION.

How the Delegates Passed the Time Last Night.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 22.—The convention was called to order at 7.12 p. m., by Chairman Estee, who had recovered his voice to a certain degree. The band struck up inspiring National airs amongst them "Dixie," which, however, did not create the enthusiasm which its every rendition excited at the recent St. Louis convention. "My Country 'Tis of Thee," was more popular and was greeted with applause as was also "Marching Through Georgia." As the music ceased Mr. Depew ascended the platform and received an enthusiastic ovation from the delegates and audience. He said

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Convention:

I am here as a delegate at large from the State of New York, neither expecting nor desiring to appear in the convention or before it in any other capacity. After my arrival, the representatives of New York, by a unanimous vote, presented my name to this convention. It was done for State reasons, in the belief that, because it was the only time since the organization of the Republican party that all divisions had been healed and all interests united in the Empire State, it would secure in that commonwealth the triumph of the ticket. [Applause.] Under these conditions, personal consideration and opinion could have no possible weight. Since then, discussion has arisen which has convinced me that my vocation will raise questions in hitherto certain Republican States which might enable the enemy to obscure the great issue of the future industrial prosperity of this country. [Applause], which, unless obscured in some way, will surely win us success this fall. [Applause.] The delegates had voted to continue in my support as long as ballots were to be taken, but, under the circumstances, after most earnest and prayerful consideration, I came to the conclusion that no personal consideration, no State reasons, could stand for a moment in the way of the general success of the party all over this country, or could be permitted to threaten the integrity of the party in any commonwealth hitherto Republican.

In our State, by wise laws and wiser submission to them by the railroad companies, the railway problem has been so completely settled that it has disappeared from our politics. [Applause.] But I believe that there are communities where it is still so active that there may be danger in having it presented directly or indirectly. Under these circumstances, and after your vote this morning, I called on the delegation from my own State and requested them to release me from further service in that capacity. They have consented and my only reason in appearing here is to give an excuse for their action and for the appearance of my name and to express my heartfelt thanks to the gentlemen from the States and Territories who have honored me with their suffrages. The causes which have led to this action on the part of the State of New York, now that their judgment has been arrived at, I leave no heartburnings among the people of that State. The delegation will go home to its constituency, which was unanimous, to find it unanimous in support of whoever may be the nominee of this convention. [Applause.]

John S. Wise, of Virginia, arose and, on behalf of the Virginia delegation, said the delegation had elected the following officers.

Chairman—John S. Wise.
Member of the National Committee—Morgan Treat.
Member of the Committee to Inform the Nominees—Harry Libbey.

General Hastings of Pennsylvania, said he arose in the interest of harmony and caution for what he believed to be the best interest of the party. He believed those interest dearest to the convention would be best served by an adjournment until tomorrow morning to give the convention time to have a more thorough understanding and to prevent hasty and unconsidered action. He therefore moved to adjourn until 10 tomorrow morning and demanded the roll call of States. Messrs. Filley of Missouri, Henderson of Iowa, Fuller of North Carolina and King of Maryland, seconded the motion. The roll call was proceeded with without incident until New York was reached, when the poll of the delegation was demanded. The call disclosed the fact that New York was 10 in favor of Gen. Hastings's motion 61 against it. Depew voted no amid applause. The result was: yes, 535; no, 282, as follows:

Alabama, yes 19, no 1; Arkansas, yes 14; California, yes 16; Colorado, yes 6; Connecticut, yes 8; Delaware, no 6; Florida, yes 3, no 4; Georgia, yes 21, no 1; Illinois, yes 30, no 12; Indiana, no 30; Iowa, yes 36; Kansas, yes 18; Kentucky, yes 13, no 10; Louisiana, yes 16; Maine, yes 12; Maryland, yes 8, no 8; Massachusetts, yes 21, no 27; Michigan, yes 25, no 1; Minnesota, yes 10, no 4; Mississippi, yes 18; Missouri, yes 21; Nebraska, yes 10; Nevada, yes 10; New Hampshire, no 8; New Jersey, yes 7, no 11; New York, yes 10, no 61; North Carolina, yes 19, no 3; Ohio, yes 46; Oregon, yes 3, no 3; Pennsylvania, yes 50, no 10; Rhode Island, yes 8; South Carolina, yes 12, no 6; Tennessee, yes 15, no 7; Texas, yes 11, no 17; Vermont, no 8; Virginia, yes 10, no 15; West Virginia, yes 7, no 5; Wisconsin, no 22; Arizona, yes 2; Dakota, no 10; District of Columbia, yes 2; Idaho, yes 2; Montana, yes 2; New Mexico, No. 2; Utah, yes 2; Washington Territory, yes 3, no 3; Wyoming, yes 2.

The chair then declared the convention adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow.

Immediately after adjournment the audience set up a wild yell for Bob Ingersoll, in which a majority of the delegates joined. After witnstanding considerable urging, Col. Ingersoll stepped out from behind the desk where he had been sitting and was received with enthusiastic cheers. He addressed the meeting as follows:

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am a Republican. I belong to the greatest and grandest party ever organized by the human race. [Applause.] I belong to that great party that is in favor of giving to every human being equal rights with every other, and the mission of the Republican party is not to end until this great republic shall be civilized. [Cheers.] The mission of that party is not ended until every man beneath her flag not only has the right to cast his vote in peace, but have it counted honestly and in peace. [Cheers.] I am a Republican because that party is pledged to the protection of American labor. [Cheers.] The country that raises raw material and sells it as such will always be ignorant and poor. [Cheers.] Labor only to raise raw material, is ignorant labor, but the moment raw material is worked into fabrics and fashioned into beautiful shapes, that requires intelligence, and consequently the greater number of industries we have in the United States the more intelligent her population will be. [Cheers.] Another reason that ordinary labor is always cheap is that labor commands a price in proportion that mind is mixed with muscle, in proportion that thought is mingled with the effort. [Cheers.] The people who want us to raise raw material for England to manufacture, simply vote for poverty and ignorance in America [Cheers] and wealth and intelligence in Great Britain. [Cheers.] And I am in favor of protection to American industries because it will develop the American brain; because under that system we can raise the most beautiful things beneath the stars—great men and great women. [Tumultuous applause.] Where men pursue but one industry, they become stupid. Where industries are diversified every part of the brain is developed. We have a use for every aptitude for every latent power, for every kind of genius. I am in favor of American protection because, under that policy, we have become the richest nation of the globe. [Cheers.] I am in favor of that policy, because we are the most ingenious people who ever lived; because, on an average we have more sense than any people I ever happened to meet. [Applause.] I am in favor of that policy because, here in the United States we have, on the average, better homes, better clothes, better food and better schools than any other nation. [Applause.] I believe the hearthstone is the foundation of America. [Applause.] I believe the fireside is the altar of the Republic. [Applause.] I am in favor of that policy that will put a roof over the head of every mechanic. [Applause.]

I am not only in favor of the Republican party because it is in favor of protecting industries at home but I am in favor of that party because it believes in protecting the rights of American citizens everywhere. I am for that party because it took the last stain from the American flag. [Applause]. I am for that party because it gave freedom, not only to four millions of people, but to thousands of millions yet unborn. [Applause.] I am in favor of it because you can be a man and belong to it. [Great applause.] Having said this little —[cries of "go on,"] I regard the success of the Republican party as the most important thing for the Republic.

In the next place, no single man, whatever his services may be; no gentleman, whatever his achievements may have been; no single man, whatever his capacity is, is of the slightest importance compared with the success of the Republican party. [Great and continued applause and cheers.] Consequently the next question is, who is the most available man, other things being equal. [Cries for Gresham, Blaine, and other candidates.] I do not care who you are for, or who I am for; the question is, and that question must be settled at the polls, not in the whirlwind of excitement, but after months of discussion, when the hurrah is out of your lungs and sense is in your brain. [Applause and laughter.] That question must be settled by the most intelligent men under the flag. When you can do a thing easily, there is no need of straining yourselves. [Laughter.] I would like to see this convention rise to the dignity and splendor of the occasion and I believe you will. I would like to see you put upon the next ticket two soldiers who helped save our country. [Great applause.] I would like to see two heroes pitted against two Democrats. [Great applause.] I want two patriots against two copperheads. [Great applause.] Then let the American people make their choice. Let them say who they will have. My idea is this: That a man who did not want to go to Richmond during the war should not be sent to Washington. [Applause.] The great thing I want is success, not simply for the party but for my country, not simply for my country, but from principle, because I believe that human liberty is more important than any country on the globe. [Great applause.] Now being a Republican, being for the Republican party, being for protection, wishing and hoping for success, I am in favor of the nomination of Walter Q. Gresham. [Great applause, cheering and waving of flags, the Illinois delegation standing on top of their chairs and cheering loudly.]

The cheers, however, were lost in the uproar and confusion that came from all sides. Ingersoll withstood it for some time, but finally took his hat and was lost in the crowd. After the excitement had run about eight minutes, Secretary Clisbee, with the gavel, endeavored to bring the meeting to order. While this was going on Fred Douglass had taken the chair, but in a moment or two left it. Mr. Fitch, of California, sat in it however. There were repeated cries for Douglass, and Seargent-at-Arms Fitzsimmons waved a mace, calling for order. Douglass, taking the chair, introduced to the excited assemblage Charles R. Pope, the veteran actor of St. Louis, who recited "Sheridan's Ride," which received enthusiastic applause. Upon its conclusion Mr. Douglass said: "Republicans, there is an old motto and an old sentiment to which every American is expected to subscribe. It is that error may be safely tolerated while truth is left free to combat it. The right to canvass the policy of public men and public measures, and to eulogize or condemn it as the judgment of an American citizen shall determine, cannot be gainsaid. I have the honor to have been requested to introduce to you Hon. Thomas Fitch, of California, who will speak to you on 'Republicanism.'" [Cheers.]

Mr. Fitch began to speak but after listening to a sentence or two, the audience again became restless and disorderly and the speaker could not be heard beyond the platform. Mr. Fitch said: "I think I'll quit," and sat down amid loud laughter and applause. The chief clerk announced that those who wished to retire could do so and there was greater applause. He then said the seageant-at-arms wished to have the house cleared and asked the people to leave. The lamps were at once put out and the audience dispersed.

The Situation.

The convention was adjourned by a combination of delegates who feared the nomination of Harrison. The New York men, on the withdrawal of Depew, at his request, decided to support Harrison. Sixty-five of their votes will probably be thrown for him tomorrow. The success of the Harrison movement depends largely upon the position Senator Quay takes, and ability to carry the votes from Pennsylvania with him. Most of the Pennsylvania delegates are Blaine men. The distinctively Blaine States have, for the first time, in voting for adjournment this evening, shown their hands boldly in opposition to the Harrison combination. The conviction is current that Harrison cannot be nominated. The Ohio delegates had a meeting tonight and decided to stand for Sherman until some of the members of the delegation demand a poll. This means that while the State is now a unit for Sherman, individual preferences may be exercised at any time. Doubtless votes will be cast for both Foraker and McKinley tomorrow, with a much better chance of attracting attention to the latter, who is singularly popular, and much talked about tonight as a dark horse.

The summing up of the situation is to the effect that Harrison has about an even chance with Blaine if Pennsylvania does not come to his assistance, and the Sherman strength of the South holds aloof, he will be defeated in a few ballots. Then Allison is to be taken up, and if he cannot win, the nomination of Blaine may be expected after a conference with representatives of the candidates as to renewed rumors of authoritative expressions from Blaine of his willingness to accept. Unless Harrison be nominated tomorrow morning, the convention will probably sit till Monday. Every delay increases the probability of Blaine's nomination. Quite a number of delegates from New York, Pennsylvania and Connecticut and some from other States held an informal conference tonight, to agree, if possible, on a basis of action for a combination upon McKinley for President should a favorable moment arrive. Nothing definite was decided upon as far as learned, but the idea of the project was undoubtedly received wit no little enthusiasm.

THE FIRST TRIALS.

How the Battle of the Ballots was Begun.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 22.—At a few minutes past 11 o'clock the convention was called to order by Chairman Estee, who, having completely lost his voice, called Senator Hiscock to the chair to preside over the session, which was formally opened with prayer by Rev. J. H. Worcester, of Chicago.

The rule relating to ballots was then read, and the call of States for votes on presidential candidates was begun.

The first ballot was completed at 12.35, and resulted as follows:

Depew	99	Rusk	25
Alger	84	Fitler	24
Harrison	79	Hawley	13
Allison	72	Lincoln	3
Blaine	35	McKinley	2

There was a very enthusiastic outbreak when California, on the first ballot, voted solidly for Blaine, but finally, having found that these demonstrations were delaying the announcement of the result of the balloting, curiosity overcame enthusiasm, and the confusion was considerably abated and the call proceeded in good order.

During the poll of the Virginia delegation, Senator Riddleberger, notwithstanding the sharp raps of the chairman's gavel, arose and said that he would have voted for Blaine if he had been nominated, but as his name had not been presented he voted for Allison. This violation of the rules of the convention was allowed to go in the senator's case without a rebuke.

The result of the first ballot was received with no sign from the convention as to what impression had been made.

Before the second ballot was taken, Mr. Smith, of Pennsylvania, who yesterday nominated Mayor Fitler, withdrew his name. This episode made no stir whatever.

The Second Ballot.

The second ballot was then proceeded with. When the roll call was completed the second ballot stood as follows:

Alabama—Harrison 1, Sherman 10, Alger 7, Depew 1.

Allison	74	Lincoln	1

Arkansas changed its 10 votes for Ingalls to Sherman, Gresham and Harrison. Indiana changed one from Harrison to Gresham. Wisconsin changed one from Rusk to Gresham.

During the announcement of the voters the convention was more sedate than it has been at any time during its session. Spectators and delegates were too much interested in noticing the changes from the previous ballot to make a noise or to indulge in any demonstration.

Senator Quay had evidently done good work among the Pennsylvania delegates last night. Sherman gained 24 votes from that State, most of them being votes which on the first ballot had been cast for Fitler. This was the most important event of the second ballot and considerably elated the Sherman men who had been disappointed at the vote for their favorite on the first ballot.

The result of the second ballot was a disappoint to the Sherman people who had hoped to increase the vote for him up to nearly 320, but in other places the anti-Sherman combination began to claim that the Ohio Senator's vote would go to pieces in a few ballots.

The Third Ballot.

A third ballot was then taken and the result was as follows:

Alabama—Sherman 10, Alger 7, Depew 1, Harrison 2.
Arkansas—Alger 14.
California—Blaine 16.
Colorado—Gresham 5, Allison 1.
Connecticut—Gresham 6, Alger 1, Allison 5.
Delaware—Harrison 5, Gresham 1.
District of Columbia—Blaine 2.
Florida—Harrison 1,

California was deaf to entreaties. She had but one choice and that was Blaine.

The Maine men on the first ballot were very impartial in their favors. Almost every candidate was given a boost.

Leonard Swett's speech at Chicago was an admirable effort, worthy of the old State of Maine which sent him forth; and it is not his fault that the votes do not always go with the oratory.

Fitler was so soon done for that the wonder is what he was begun for. He broke the unity of the Pennsylvania delegation for one ballot and then disappeared. It would have been fitter for Fitler never to have made his appearance.

Johann Hermann Zukertort, until 1886 the champion chess player of the world, died Wednesday in London. It was in this country in 1886 that Steinitz finally defeated him in a series of games that attracted widespread attention among those who make a study of the game. But as chess is not so popular as some other sports, neither in his wonderful intellectual feats nor in his death has Zukertort attracted an infinitesimal fraction of the public attentions showered upon a successful prize fighter or base ball player.

The objections which the Atlanta Constitution, Augusta Chronicle, and a few other level headed Democratic papers in the South, made to Cleveland's tariff message have now quieted down under the soothing flapping of the red bandanna. But the condition of things that caused it yet remains, and will continue to exist after the glamour of the present campaign shall have disappeared and left Southern Democrats who are inclined to protection opportunity to review calmly the position of the South and its hopeful prospects under a protective tariff. In a collection of despatches relating to industrial matters the Boston Advertiser printed yesterday a despatch from Augusta, Georgia, the great centre of cotton manufacturing in the South, which showed the condition of cotton manufacturing in that region at the present time. At first, through poor management and unskilled labor, the Southern mills were not very profitable to their stockholders. But they have now come through these tribulations, and in the last few years have been getting into excellent shape. They now not only send their goods into our home markets to take their chances with the goods from the excellently managed mills of the Northern States; but also send their cottons to the Asiatic and South American markets, where they compete with the goods of the English and German factories.

The Chinese question in Australia is causing an unusual stir, not only in the colonies of the South Sea continent, but in England. The Australians are as determined that the Chinese shall be prohibited from landing on their shores, as are the people of the Pacific Coast in our own country. Tired of waiting the action of the Imperial Government they have taken the matter into their own hands, and, quite contrary to the terms of the treaties now subsisting between Great Britain and China, have passed regulations shutting out the Chinese. In justification of their actions the Australians present a strong case. Australia is near to China; and once started the millions of the Flowery Kingdom might pour in in sufficient numbers to substantially possess themselves of the continent. Australia is a continent as large as Europe, with a present population not exceeding that of Portugal. This population is Anglo-Saxon, in its traditions, habits, institutions, language and aspirations; and it stoutly and resentfully resists any condition of affairs which might invite a flood of immigrants to come in from China and practically swallow it up. Not only is the competition of cheap labor feared; there are indications that in Australia, with its warm climate, the Chinaman may become a settler on the soil, a colonist, a nucleus for friends and neighbors who may come from China, to settle about. It is feared that the great areas of unoccupied land in Australia will be taken up by these Asiatics, who will in time become the dominant people. But it has been very difficult for the Australians to impress these ideas on the Home government. In the British colonies, notably the Stuarts Settlements, where there are 200,000 Chinese colonists, and in Lower Burmah, where there are 50,000 these colonists have been specially valued; and the home government is saturated with a feeling that in Australia they may be equally desirable. Then the difficulty of obtaining the consent of China to an exclusion of her subjects from Australia may be difficult. With reference to China England does not occupy the independent position held by the United States. In Thibet, in Burmah and in possible complications with Russia the the good will of China is very valuable to England, and must be retained. Mindful of this, the statesmen of the English colonial office look with some disquiet on the proceedings in Australia.

The Republican Platform.

The platform adopted by the Republican National convention is a very clear and straightforward expression of the party's views on the pressing questions of the day. There is no ambiguity about it and no straddling. The key note of the campaign is struck in the resolutions declaring in favor of protection to American industry and denouncing the Mills' bill as a step in the direction of free trade. Nothing could be stronger than this committal of the Republican party to the work of preserving American markets for Americans and guarding the laboring man against the unfair competition of the underpaid labor of Europe. On this point the platform is virtually the opposite of the Democratic platform. The latter aims at a tariff for revenue only, a tariff in which the protective principle shall be ignored. It would reduce the surplus by placing on the free list such articles of production in this country as wood, lumber and salt, exposing the capital and labor embarked in them to the killing competition of foreigners. The Democratic plan would paralyze great industries from which thousands and tens of thousands of American citizens derive their livelihood. The Republican plan is to save these industries and reduce the surplus by cutting down the internal revenue taxes and putting on the free list such articles as are not produced, or produced very sparingly, in this country. In short, the Republican tariff plank is framed in the interst of American capital and labor; the Democratic in the interest of European capital and labor. The former seeks to keep the American market, the best in the world, for Americans; the latter seeks to open it to foreigners. It will be for the American people to choose between these two plans in the coming campaign.

The declaration of the platform on the subject of civil service reform is as clear and definite as that in regard to the tariff. The Democratic platform, out of deference partly, no doubt, to President Cleveland, practically ignored this question. To endorse the reform would have been, to all intents and purposes, a rebuke to the President, for everybody, including the Mugwumps, admits that his early protestations of devotion to the reform were soon forgotten, and that latterly the use of the offices for partisan purposes has been open and shameless, and so the platform practically ignored it. Very properly the Republican platform denounces the abandonment of the reform by the President and the Democratic party, and promises to restore and extend it. Civil service reform was inaugurated by a Republican administration, and what advances it has made have been made under Republican administrations. Since Cleveland became President it has retrograded, and one trial of a Democratic administration has doubtless satisfied the sincere friends of the reform that it is safer in Republican than in Democratic hands.

The tariff and civil service reform are the two questions of the most prominence before the people. And the two parties will be judged principally by their attitude toward them. The Democrats are for free trade; the Republicans for protection; the Democrats have no opinion regarding civil service reform which they are willing to express; the Republicans renew their allegiance to the reform, and declare their purpose, if placed in control of the government, to perfect and extend it.

But fully as important as either of these questions (though perhaps less prominent in the public mind), inasmuch as it lies at the very foundation of our republican form of government, is the question of a free ballot and a fair count. The Republican party insists that every citizen of the Republic shall be permitted the free and untramelled right of suffrage. The Democratic party by its silence endorses and approves the disfranchisement of thousands of citizens to whom the constitution and the laws guarantee the right to vote and have their votes counted.

CURRENT COMMENT.

A GOOD SIGN.

[Eastport Sentinel.]

A noticeable feature at the Republican State Convention, was the great popularity of Mr. Burleigh among the country delegates. It's a good sign, and is greatly to the credit of the candidate.

A DEFENSE OF MR. MANLEY.

[Aroostook Republican.]

Now that the battle of the candidates is over, it may not be improper to say that many of the criticisms of "Joe Manley" have been based upon wrong premises. Joseph has broad shoulders, but he should not be made to carry everything. Outside of Kennebec county, Manley did little or no work for either candidate. He is too shrewd a political manager to make use of his official position as Chairman of the State committee in the ways and manners charged upon him during the canvass.

A CONVENTION THAT SURPASSED ALL OTHERS.

[Aroostook Republican.]

In numbers, character and enthusiasm, the recent Republican State Convention surpassed any convention ever held in the State. The earnestness and effort that characterized the preliminary canvasses of the several candidates had aroused the Republican voters and resulted in bringing out full delegations from all parts of the State. Each of the candidates was worthy of the nomination, but the great popularity of the winning candidate among the common people was manifest at an early stage of the canvass, and the result was a natural outcome of that popularity. Those who anticipated a serious emeute in the Convention were disappointed, and Hon. E. C. Burleigh will receive the cordial support of the party, and the wisdom of his nomination will be made manifest when the votes are recorded in September.

THE STORY IN FIGURES.

Our cash sales for the month of May, 1882, were $1,487.20, and had only increased to $2,611.15 for May, 1885. May, 1886, showed a small increased to $3,036.14. From that time to this the advance has been constant and rapid. From $3,036.14 for May, 1886, they leaped to $6,639.41 for May, 1887, on again with a rush to $6,912.97 for May, 1888.

It will help the reader to digest these astonishing figures, and to appreciate the wonderful growth of which they are the evidences, if we arrange them in a progressive table that can be taken in at a glance, as follows:

May 1882,	-	$1,487.20
" 1885,	-	2,611.15
" 1886,	-	3,036.14
" 1887,	-	6,639.41
" 1888,	-	6,912.97

It only needs a glance at these figures to show the reader why we need more room.

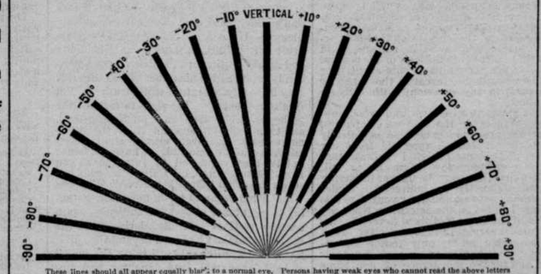
Spectacles and Eye Glasses!



These lines should all appear equally black to a normal eye. Persons having weak eyes who cannot read the above letters and to whom the lines do not appear equally black at five or ten feet, have a visual imperfection which common spectacles will not improve. They must have special lenses ground to correct the deformity of their eyes. This defect is called ASTIGMATISM. THIS PRINT should be read with ease at ten inches and is a test for NEAR VISION.

We have a large assortment and are prepared to adjust the same upon scientific principles. We use NACHET'S TRIAL CASE, together with the OPTHALMOSCOPIC TEST LENSE, combining the best methods known for detecting all optical defects of the eye and determining the lenses needed for their correction.

A Card to the Public.

DR. NICHOLLS,

The Celebrated Specialist, of London, England,

Two years Principal Physician in charge of the Ohio Medical Institute, wishes to inform the Citizens of this city and vicinity, that he has PERMANENTLY located here for the treatment of Chronic Diseases and all Diseases Peculiar to Females.

Office and Consulting Rooms, No. 3 and 4 Brown's Block, 537 Congress St., Portland, Me. Separate Entrance and Waiting Rooms for Ladies. Connected by Telephone No. 441.

In presenting this notice to the public, I respectfully ask those into whose hands it may fall to give it their careful consideration. Having enjoyed a large and extended practice in Chronic Diseases for many years, I am confident that I am able to perform all I profess to, and that the remedies I apply are calculated to produce the most satisfactory results. I cordially invite all who may be suffering, no matter what the disorders, to call upon me and I will most cheerfully tell them if they have any disease, and were it is located, and the organ or part affected, free of charge. Charges for Treatment Moderate. The Poor Treated for Half Price.

The Cut represents a person suffering from Catarrhal Neuralgia.

CATARRH.

In its worst forms, and all diseases that are caused by Catarrh, such as

Deafness, Weak Eyes, Hacking Cough, Sore Throat, Pain in Head, Bronchitis, Constant Clearing of Throat,

All of which lead to hasty consumption, are positively cured by Dr. Nicholls.

Over one-half of the persons troubled with Catarrh have an offensive breath, which is very disagreeable and sickening to those with whom they come in close contact. Dr. Nicholls removes the bad breath in three treatments.

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.

Constant disposition to clear the throat, hacking cough, dimness of sight, pain over the eyes, pain in one or both temples, roaring in the ears, pain in the back of the head, nose stopped up, sick stomach, dizziness, poor digestion, no appetite for breakfast, you feel a general depression imagining you have dyspepsia, liver trouble, lung disease, and you are treated by your physician for various diseases, yet youget no better, and are advised to change climate, and in the matter of a very short time you are a confirmed invalid, and nine out of ten cases run into a confirmed case of consumption. Now, reader, why is this? We will tell you: Catarrh is an ulcer formed in the posterior nerves just above the uvula, the passage between the nose and the throat; the ulcer continues to eat and discharge a poisonous flow of pus, running down the throat into the stomach and lungs. This, my friend, is what causes the constant clearing in the throat. Can you wonder why you do not have good health with all this poisonous matter constantly running into your stomach? The remedy is applied directly to the ulcer, cleanses and heals in a few applications. The treatment is very simple and harmless.

Diseases of Women, Female Weakness, Debility and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear

Successfully treated, and a permanent Cure guaranteed in each case. Dr. Nicholls will guarantee a Permanent Cure each and every case he may undertake of the following diseases, and if your case is not curable he will frankly tell you so: Deafness, Catarrh, Rheumatism, Epilepsy, Cancer, Goitre (Big Neck), Diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Liver, Nervous and General Debility, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bowels, Heart Diseases, Falling of the Womb, Prolapsus Uteri, Barronness, Bronchitis, Constipation, Asthma, Night Sweats, Piles, Fistula, Fissure, and all diseases of the lower Bowels. Also private, special and nervous diseases of the Urinary and Sexual organs.

REMARKABLE CURES perfected in old cases which have been neglected or unskillfully treated. No experiments or failures. Parties treated by mail and express, but where possible personal consultation is preferred. Curable cases guaranteed. Address with postage.

Cases and correspondence confidential. Treatment sent C. O. D. to any part of the United States.

Free Examination of the Urine.—Each person applying for medical treatment should send or bring from 2 to 4 ounces of Urine, which will receive a careful and microscopal examination.

Consultation free. Office hours, 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. mar10d1aW5&wtf

Portland 6s, due Nov. 1888,
—AND—
State of Maine 6s, due 1889,
[which have now only ONE YEAR more to run]

to the importance of availing of the premium which can now be realized upon them, as a few months hence they will command no premium at all. We think it is also important to convert the

United States 4 1-2 Per Cent Bonds, in order to obtain the present high premium which must gradually and surely become less as they approach maturity. We are offering some excellent securities which we can recommend to holders of above bonds, or in exchange for any other securities soon to mature, and we shall be happy to communicate or confer with them regarding such exchange.

THE PRESS.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 23.

WIT AND WISDOM.

It was his first visit to the city. As he stood on the curbstone shaking his sides with laughter, he was accosted by a citizen with—

"What's the fun, stranger?"

"Nun! Can't you see it? Just look how that thing (pointing to a watering cart) leaks; why, the blamed fool won't have a drop left when he gets home."

Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia and too hearty eating, is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

Newspaper humorist (sarcastically)—People may sneer and laugh at my special line of work; but it brings in the dollars just the same.

Best girl (reproachfully)—I hope, Charley, you don't include me. I never think of laughing at your work.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Mrs. Caution's nephew has been made a choir boy in a New England church. She got the news in a letter from her sister, and at the breakfast table she remarked, "Jimmy's got a place at last."

"What's he doing?" asked Mr. Caution.

"He's—he's—let's see," and she took out the letter. "Sally says he's going to do chores in a church."

No wonder the name of Burnett is so well known; ask for the best Flavoring Extracts in any part of the world and Burnett's are handed you. As that for the foreigners are finding this out.

"How fashions change," said Hector, the old Newfoundland. "Now fashions change among people. Eight years ago I went through this town a howling, yelping pup, with a tin kettle tied to my tail. To-day I have seen no less than nine of my sons and daughters walk proudly by, each dog of them with a bang up girl tied to him.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. See advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

Teacher (hearing ancient history class)—Johnny, what was the Circus Maximus?

"Barnum's."

"Absurd! Tommy, you may correct him."

"Forepaugh's."

The Moxie Secret Leaking Out.

From the evidence given in the Moxie suits against imitators in Texas, a Texas paper says: "It seems that the mode plant used in building up albumenoids, which are the principal nutrition of the nerves. Thus, rather discovering this fact, Dr. Thompson says, with a knowledge of the fact that the brain and nervous system are the seat of animal life, and that they control the functions of the body; and that a paralyzed or exhausted nerve force could not make the stomach digest albumen in proper quantity, there would be, then, no nerve circulation, which is 31 times smaller than the smallest capillary blood vessels, conceived the idea of an artificial digestive, which would remove the difficulty. The result is the doctor is now able to make moxie restore nervous exhaustion, malnutrition and atrophy of the nerves and mend the effects of over-work and over-stimulation. The discovery of the new process by which albumen is completely digested artificially, so that neither heat nor alcohol can coagulate or precipitate it, is a very important one. The Doctor says the Moxie Nerve Food will not cure paralysis caused by the mechanical pressure of effused fluids, but will restore any condition caused by nervous exhaustion. The digestion of albumen by means of this food has never been equalled in the history of trade. A small quantity seems to rest the tired out at once. It is said to contain neither alcohol nor medicine."

THE PRESS.

SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 23.

PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

A Word Concerning Dr. Nicholl's Big Practice.

It is wonderful the extensive practice Dr. Nicholls, No. 5 7 Congress street, is enjoying. Never was greater confidence reported in any one member of the medical profession. Nor is it any thing but what was earned, in a most substantial way. The Doctor is one of our most eminent physicians, and not excelled anywhere in this or any other country, in the treatment of chronic diseases. This and more has been demonstrated here in Portland, where many hundred of patients come to him each week all satisfied with the relief and perfect cure they receive. The Doctor is one of our most careful physicians, and nothing is spared that would tend to the convenience and speedy relief of his patients.

Among the many tapeworm cases he has had this week was Asa B. Danforth, who came all the way from St. John, N. B., to be relieved of the monster he had been afflicted with more than seven years. Dr. Nicholls succeeded in capturing the monster, head and all complete, in just one hour and forty minutes. Verily the Doctor is doing a grand, good work for the afflicted.

If you are tired taking the large, old-fashioned griping pills, try Carter's Little Liver Pills and take some comfort. A man can't stand everything. One pill a dose. Try them.

A WARNING.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system, and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly, and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat, and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs, producing Consumption, and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous, and if allowed to proceed will, in time, cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous, and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief. nov8-d1y-cT

THE LATIN SCHOOL CADETS.

Prize Drill Last Night at City Hall.

There was a large audience of both ladies and gentlemen at City Hall last night to witness the competitive drill of the Latin School Cadets. A gold medal was the prize offered and Captain Norton of the Light Infantry was appointed judge. An exhibition drill was first given, Lieut. Bailey commanding. The different movements were executed in an admirable manner and hearty applause greeted the precision with which some of them were performed After this the competitive drill was called, and after a rather better exhibition, even, than the first, the company retired and Cadets Dillenback and Thomas and Corporal Emery appeared, they being the three best drilled, to determine to which of the three the medal should be awarded. As they marched in they were greeted with great applause. After some moments of admirable drilling they retired, a decision having been arrived at. The whole company then entered and after being drawn up in line Lieut. Leary announced that the medal had been won by Corporal Emery and he stepped forward to receive the same which was presented by Mrs. Jared A. Smith.

After the drill Gilbert's Orchestra began playing, and an order of twelve dances followed. Lieut. Duryea, Sergt. Josselyn and Privates Dillenback and Alden were the committee that managed things so nicely on the floor.

The drill was pronounced to be one of the best ever given by the Cadets and the medal was fairly won.

The man was about 25 years old, medium height with black moustache and hair, and he weighed about 130 or 140 pounds. He wore a black close fitting coat.

A window in Mrs. Conneen's house on Monument street was lifted and a bureau drawer in the room into which the window opened, was pulled out, and an empty cigar box taken, probably with the idea that it contained something of value.

FINISHING SCHOOL LIFE.

Graduating Exercises of the Gorham Normal School Finished.

Friday morning was more propitious than that of the preceding day, and at an early hour the main hall of the Normal School building began to fill with friends of the graduating class and with alumni. Among the audience we noticed Mr. G. M. Warren of the Governor's Council, and Principal Nevens, of the Bridgton high school, in addition to the gentlemen who were among the visitors on Thursday.

The first exercise was singing by the school led by the teacher of music, Mr. Charles K. Hinkley. Next followed the Good Morning, by Miss Kimball, which was smoothly written and well delivered. After another song by the school, Miss Elder read the annals of the class, which was full of comical hits, well appreciated by her schoolmates. Miss Elder presented an array of startling statistics concerning her class.

After another song, Principal Corthell turned the class over to the tender mercies of State Superintendent N. A. Luce, for examination in the theory and practice of teaching. The examination was thorough and searching, and the class, as a whole, acquitted themselves with credit. Whoever is exposed to the fire of Mr. Luce's guns must be either bomb-proof or riddled. Mr. Woodbury of Castine helped to make things lively by an occasional cross-fire. Considerable discussion arose over the question, "Ought pupils to be required to study out of school hours?"

The seeress of the class was Miss Curtis, who in her "Sybilline Leaves" tried to draw aside the veil of the future and get a glimpse of the beyond. If the members of the class fulfill the programme proposed by the seeress they will one and all have an eventful career.

With a few well chosen words Mr. Luce then presented the diplomas to the class. Mr. Corthell followed with a brief address of parting. He emphasized the point that the strongest proof that any institution has the right to exist is the successful career of its graduates and its greatest hope of future support is in their loyalty and devotion.

The last essay was that of Miss Davis who read the "Good Bye," well written, well read and well received.

With the singing of the following class song, written by Miss Shapleigh, the graduating exercises of the second class of 1888 came to an end:

Each life enfolds a thought of God,
Which growth some day reveals;
The germ deep hidden in each soul,
A bud of promise yields;
The perfect flower of our lives
Must open soon or late,
And incense yield, O will it bless
The class of eighty-eight?

We draw from God the breath of life,
Enough for every need,
Then from our heart's abundant growth,
All other lives shall feed.
Our lives shall quicken other lives,
Our hands protect the weak,
Our love appear in kindness words,"
Our hearts love's service seek.

Yachting Notes.

The new sloop Undine, built at Pembroke and owned by Capt. McLean, is in the harbor. She is about twenty-six tons burden and of a beautiful model. Capt. McLean expects her to beat the Genevra the winner of the challenge cup. The Genevra was also built by Capt. McLean. Mr. J. P. Thomas has chartered the Undine.

The steam yacht Nooya is in the harbor again.

The Casco, Capt. Soule of Littlejohn's Island, has had an overhanging stern added and a new suit of sails. She is cutter-rigged.

Spiritualism.

Mr. Andrew Cross, of Portland, who has given two or three very interesting lectures before different societies in this city, has consented to give the opening address upon the subject, "Is the doctrine of Spiritualism a science?" before the Young Men's Liberal Association, in Science Hall, Congress street, at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Reducing Prices of Clothing.

The Standard Clothing Company, as leading manufacturers and retail clothing dealers of New England, never carry any amount of goods over from one season to the next. They take their semi-annual inventory of stock about July 1st, and in order to reduce the total amount on hand as much as possible before that time, have begun marking down prices on many lines of staple goods. This firm manufacture their entire stock, sell a vast amount of goods at close figures, and keep their stock so well in hand that patrons always get new, fresh goods. An agreeable surprise awaits their patrons today and all next week.

Late Birds.

Portland has them as well as other cities, and tomorrow's Telegram will describe them. It will be worth reading.

A Good Name

At home is a tower of strength abroad—says the familiar proverb, and it is fully verified by the ist ory of Hood's Sarsaparilla. The first words of commendation and praise for this medicine were received from our friends and neighbors, and from the time it was fairly introduced up to the present, there has been, and is now, more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, Mass., where it is made, than of all other sarsaparillas and blood purifiers combined. This "good name" among people who have known Hood's Sarsaparilla and its proprietors for years should certainly be strong evidence to people in other cities and towns of the excellence and merit of their medicine.

"After the failure of three skillful physicians to cure my boy of salt rheum, I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and Olive Ointment. I have nowused four boxes of Ointment, and one and a half bottles of Sarsaparilla, and the boy is to all appearances completely cured. He is now four years old, and has been afflicted since he was six months of age." MRS. R. SANDERSON, 56 Newhall street, Lowell, Mass.
