U'D BETTER CALL AT

24 PLUM STREET,

FOR DRAIN PIPE.

The Providence Union Bank officials received word by cable Saturday that a whole bundle of securities, bills receivable and other property, stolen by Charles A. Pitcher, the defaulting teller, had been re-captured in London. Pitcher had mailed them to "J. A. Roberts," his assumed name, and believed them safe from the bank, and that it was in his power to keep their hiding place secret until the bank was ready to compromise, and come to him on the basis of Pitchers's holding on to $150,000.

Governor Hill has called an extra session of the New York legislature for July 17 to provide appropriations to prevent prisoners in the State prisons from remaining in idleness after July 15 when the appropriations for the purposes of their employment will be exhausted. The last legislature neglected to make the necessary appropriations.

William S. Davis, a flagman at Wickford Junction, R. I., attempted to stop Charles Doan, who was about to drive his horse across the track in front of an approaching train. Doane struck the horse and the animal, starting suddenly, knocked the flagman down. The train ran over him and killed him instantly.

AUGUSTA MATTERS.

Col. Farrington an Applicant for the Treasury Vacancy.

[Special to the Press.]

AUGUSTA, July 7.- The Council adjourned this morning to meet at the call of the Governor. It is probable that they will be called together week after next. Col. E. C. Farrington, of Fryeburg, is the only applicant there is for the appointment of Commissioner of the treasury.

The Carrabassett & Canadian Railroad Company is about to organize, and the notice for the meeting will be about next week.

Mr. Alger Currier, the celebrated and successful Hallowell artist, sailed from France for New York on Saturday and is expected home in about a week. The Appletons, of New York, have recently made an effort to secure the sole right of reproducing his paintings in this country. Nearly all the French papers have noticed his work favorably including L'Art.

The Republican State committee is prepiaring a revised roster of their own organization and of the town committees. It is to be issued shortly.

The new building of Oak Grove Seminary is well advanced towards completion, and will be finished September 1st. It is to be dedicated about September 10th.

Gen. H. M. Mitchell held a long consultation with the Governor yesterday to have the Bangor overseers of the poor appointed immigration commissioners so as to stop the wholesale entrance of foreigners into the city, the presence of whom has become a burden upon the city.

The Brunswick Battery hold a meeting next Monday evening to choose a First Lieutenant, Major A. H. Plaisted, of Waterville, presiding. The Skowhegan company will meet on Tuesday evening for choice of a Second Lieutenant.

MAINE VESSELS IN TROUBLE.

Schooners Damaged by a Collision and a Brisk Norther.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., July 8.—The schooner Albus Atwood from Hartford, Ct., of and for Bangor, in ballast, was run into about 2 a. m., in Vineyard Sound by the steamer Alleghany, Boston for Baltimore. The Alleghany was slightly damaged and proceeded. The Albus had her jibboom and all her head gear carried away and the windlass and windlass bitts, wood ends and forward deck were badly started, the deck stove and other damage sustained. The bowsprit of the Albus was unshipped and driven through the deck into the hold.

The schooner Edward Rich, Thurston, of and from Deer Isle, for New York, with a cargo of granite, carried away her foremasthead and maintopmast off East Chop this morning during a fresh northerly wind and arrived here this afternoon for repairs.

Four hunters were found last week dead in their camp, thirty miles from Denison, Texas. They are supposed to have had trouble with the settlers. Another body supposed to be one of the members of the attacking party was found near by.

WHAT THE LAW MAKERS ARE DOING.

Senator Hoar to Speak on the Fisheries Treaty Tuesday.

Wool and Woolens the Tariff Topic for the Week.

Various Other Matters Reported from the National Capital.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Senator Cullan intends to call up tomorrow the bill to amend the Inter-State Commerce law. Senator Hoar will speak on the fisheries treaty Tuesday. The army appropriation bill, which is in an unfinished state, is likely to be the only appropriation bill debated during the week. The tariff and appropriation bills will engage the House during the week. The committee on appropriations expect to report the general deficiency and fortification bills, the last of the regular appropriation bills yet to come before the House, early in the week, and will demand prompt action upon them. Less than a dozen pages of that part of the tariff bill which fixes duties remain to be acted upon, but as they include the wool and woolens schedules it is thought unlikely that the bill will be disposed of this week.

Congressman Burnes of Missouri, a member of the House committee on appropriations, says in regard to adjournment: "I think we can get away in six weeks from now. The tariff bill will probably come to a vote in about ten days. It will then go to the Senate. The Republican substitute will pass; a committee of conference will be appointed, and they can settle the question in three days. For that matter," continued Mr. Burnes, "the conference committee can agree to disagree in one day." Mr. Burnes feels quite confident that Congress will adjourn by the middle of August.

Tariff Talk.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The House went into committee of the whole on the tariff bill, the pending amendment being that offered by Mr. Cannon of Illinois to the sugar schedule.

Mr. Kelley of Pennsylvania announced himself to be a Republican, devoted to the doctrines of his party and to the utterances of its national convention. He was a protectionist, and believed that the system of protective duties had developed the country to its present industrial position, and was essential to the maintenance of that position. He had been surprised to hear the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Cannon) make an assault upon the platform recently adopted by the Republican party. He then quoted from the Chicago platform the protection plank, and he regretted that the doctrine there enumerated had been assailed from the seats of Republican members. From the remarks made by these gentlemen he dissented in the name of the Republican party, at whose birth he had been, and to whose interests he had been devoted from that time to this.

The gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Cannon) had said that protection did not develop sugar in Louisiana. War was the science of destruction, and Louisiana was slowly recovering from five years of war, during which her cane fields were overgrown and her machinery went to decay.

Mr. Cannon of Illinois said that the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Kelley), who had so much more reputation in the country than he had, had seen proper to arraign the amendment and his (Mr. Cannon's) position as un-Republican. If the gentleman was correct about this matter; if the Chicago convention meant what it said, and if he (Mr. Kelley) alone of 60,000,000 people, had the right to construe the platform, then he (Mr. Cannon) must get off it. He had no feelings save those of kindness towards the gentleman from Pennsylvania. If he differed from him rather decidedly and positively, he begged to assure the gentleman that he did it respectfully; but the gentleman could not ask him to sit still and listen to him place the party to which they both belonged in a position which to his mind, it did not occupy.

Mr. Cannon quoted the tariff plank of the platform, and asserted that, according to his best judgment the amendment he had offered was in entire harmony with those declarations. He argued that the tariff on sugar was a revenue tariff and not a protective tariff. I tell the gentleman, said Mr. Cannon, in the face of the House and the country, in the presence of my constituents before whom I stand for re-election, asking for their ballots, if now, or hereafter, I have to choose between taking a tax off sugar (which is a revenue tax only,) and taking the tax off spirits, I will take it off sugar. [Applause.] Having said this much, I appeal from the gentleman's construction of the Chicago platform to the platform itself.

The discussion was continued by Messrs. Breckenridge of Kentucky, Bayne and Reed. The committee rose without voting on the amendment.

The Naval Academy.

The report of the Board of Visitors to the Naval Academy has been submitted to Secretary Whitney. The board recommends that the academic course be reduced from six to four years. The term of six years was adopted for the purpose of reducing the number of appointments to the navy, but the reason for such a regulation does not now exist, as the number of appointments is now restricted by law to the aggregate number of vacancies occurring in each year in the corps to which appointments are made, the appointments of graduates being not less than ten annually. It is believed that the proposed change will be alike beneficial to the government and the cadets. The service of the latter at sea for two years is without value and entails considerable expense, while it is manifestly to their injury that they should thus be kept from preparation for those outside pursuits, which they may propose to follow in life. The recommendation of the Academic Board for the separation of the First Class of cadets into divisions at the beginning of the fourth year of the course, to be thereafter directed into special courses of study designed to fit them for the particular branches of the naval service to which any of them are destined to be appointed, meets the approval of the Board, and attention to that end is deemed desirable. The discipline, drill, practical exercises, administration and police regulations at the academy are all highly praised. The board suggests a re-arrangement of studies for the last year in order that those cadets who have exhibited special taste and talent for engineering, and who should therefore be assigned to duty in the Engineer Corps, may receive additional practical training. The request of the superintendent for a new and fully equipped vessel of modern type, with modern guns, for the training of the cadets, is heartily endorsed by the board, as is also the enlisting of a permanent crew of sailors for the practice cruises.

Notes.

The committee appointed for the purpose by the recent convention of Democratic clubs in Baltimore, called on the President Saturday, and tendered him the support of the clubs. There was no formal speechmaking.

A delegation of thirty workingmen engaged in making window glass, were given a hearing by the Senate sub-committee on the tariff bill, Saturday.

BOYCOTTING A BALL TEAM.

A Peculiar Feature of the Strike Among the Ironworkers.

PITTSBURG, July 7.—Because Singer, Nimick & Co. have started up their iron mill with non-union men labor organizations are talking of boycotting all base ball games in which the Pittsburg League club participates. President W. A. Nimick, of the club, was supposed to be a member of the iron firm, but he today denied that he was connected with the company, for which he once worked on a salary. He is a nephew of the Nimicks who are in the iron business. The proposed boycott was actually discussed at meetings of two lodges of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers. At one meeting a resolution to inaugurate a boycott was tabled after a heated argument, in which the opposing forces were almost equally divided.

The attempt of the firm to ignore labor organizations is not meeting with much success. Only two Knights of Labor and fourteen Amalgamated men went to work today. Some of the rollers and heaters, who receive high wages, are anxious to return to work at this mill, but they cannot get their assistants to join them.

President A. F. Keating, of the Manufacturers' Association, today denied that a meeting had been called for tomorrow, but he admitted that the situation might change any day and make a meeting necessary. There was considerable activity today about the Great American Iron Works of Jones & Laughlin, and it was reported that the firm had received some large orders and would soon sign the scale. President Keating said that he had not heard that Jones & Laughlin would sign the scale.

"But," he continued, "when they do sign we will all sign." B. F. Jones is the senior member of this firm.

A MAINE MAN'S MEMORIES

Of His Aquaintance with General Harrison in Indianapolis.

[Boston Journal.]

BRIDGTON, July 4.—"I have great curiosity to see what they'll manage to study up to try and damage Gen. Harrison's character. I know him thoroughly; lived by him five years in Indianapolis: was a member of his class in the Sunday school; have seen him on all sorts of occasions, and let me tell you, sir, that I know Gen. Harrison to be one of the purest, kind-heartedest, ablest, and every way splendidest of men that ever lived. Yes, I wonder what they'll trump up against him."

The speaker was Mr. M. V. M. Farrar, clerk of the Cumberland Hotel here in Bridgton, a native of Buckfield, where he was raised contemporaneously with that distinguished gentleman, the Hon. John D. Long. Mr. Farrar, who is a man of character and thoroughly reliable in his statements returned from Indianapolis ten years ago. Chatting with him the other day at the hotel, the writer drew from him some personal recollections of the Presidential nominee. Mr. Farrar, by the way, is an enthusiastic Blaine man, but, at the same time, is delighted over the prospect of casting a vote next fall for his old Sunday school teacher.

"The first time I ever met General Harrison," said he, "was the Sabbath just after my arrival in Indianapolis. Wishing to attend church, I walked over from the hotel, only a short distance, to the First Presbyterian Church. In accordance with the characteristic cordiality and hospitality of the Western people, who aren't apt to 'pass by on the other side,' when a stranger comes within their gates, the ushers at once came to me and extended me a kindly welcome. I was introduced to the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Kumler, and his wife. Directly, who should enter the vestibule but a rather short, thick set, good looking man and a lady, whom I learned were General Benjamin Harrison and wife. And nothing to do but I must be introduced to them. I shall never forget that introduction; it is a sunny memory in my life.

"Well, I went in and listened to good Parson Kumler. After the service I accepted an invitation to enter the Bible class, when whom should I find in charge of it but General Harrison. And a fine teacher he was, too; so easy and agreeable; so well posted in the Scriptures, with the adaptability of a instructive a way of explaining their meaning and lessons. When he asked a question it wasn't to the class in general, but to some member in particular, and if it was of a knotty character he'd put it in such a way as to leave the scholar a chance to 'get out of it' without wounding his pride. During my two years' stay in Indianapolis I frequently went to the church and Sunday School—of each of which he was a chief pillar and constant attendant—and I never found cause to change my first agreeable impression of Mr. Harrison."

"How was he rated at home as a lawyer?' I asked.

"At one of the very best in the State. The firm was Harrison, Hinds & Miller. I never forget the time I heard him make his plea on a great criminal case there, when he was pitted against Dan Voorhees—Dan is one of the finest speakers I ever listened to. He is very easy, fluent, full of bright ideas, logical and forcible. In his argument, however, he showed a proneness, accidental or intentional, to pervert the statements of witnesses, for which General Harrison repeatedly called him to account, and for which he for the most part gracefully acknowledged his error. But it was a powerful plea, all the same, and I wondered how Democrats would answer it. But he did meet it, and handsomely, too. It was a battle of giants. Harrison spoke all of two hours, perhaps longer, and such a plea! Talk of his being only a grandson of his grandfather, why, bless your stars, if there's any lawyer in the United States who can beat that argument a great sight, I just wish he'd be trotted out! Let me tell you, right here, that Ben. Harrison is not only one of the greatest lawyers of the West, but his position as the acknowledged leader of the Indiana Republicans is honestly his."

MAINE.

Contagious Diseases.

[Special to the Press.]

AUGUSTA, July 7.—Cases of contagious diseases were reported to the State Board of Health during the week ending June 30, as follows:

Typhoid fever—Etna, 1; Litchfield, 1.

Diphtheria—Freeport, 1; Greenville, 2; North Haven, 2; Portland, 3; South Hope, 1; Vanceboro, 1; Waterville, 2; Winterport, 1.

Scarlet fever—Bangor, 1; Jonesport, 1; Portland, 3.

The Motion Overruled.

BANGOR, July 7.—The hearing in the Stain-Cromwell matter was continued during this forenoon. The defence placed Millard E. Mudgett of the Bangor Commercial, on the stand, who testified that he locked himself in the safe and placed himself in the same position in which Barron was found in four or five minutes. The government introduced six witnesses, who claimed to have seen Stain and Cromwell in the vicinity of Dexter either in August or November, 1877, and to have identified them in jail in this city. Edson Maddocks, the witness who is claimed by the government to have driven Stain and Cromwell on their trips about Dexter cannot be found, and the Chief Justice agreed to hold court open until the beginning of the law term in Portland, to give them a chance to produce him. The Chief Justice said that he should overrule the original motion for a new trial on the ground that it was against the evidence, and that an appeal would be granted to the law court.

The motion for a new trial, on the ground of newly discovered evidence, is to be reported to the full court, and they will decide it, if they have jurisdiction. If not, it will be heard in presence of the full court and decided by the Chief Justice, the other judges acting in an advisory capacity.

Drowned in Belfast Harbor.

BELFAST, July 9.—As James Wargent and John Richards of Isleboro, were crossing Belfast Bay, Saturday afternoon, their boat was capsized by a squall and Wargent, aged 37, married, was drowned. Richards was saved.

LONGER THAN BROOKLYN BRIDGE

The New Structure to be Built Over the Hudson.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Colonel Thomas Lincoln Casey of the United States Engineer Corps, has received orders from Secretary Whitney to call a public meeting next Tuesday in the army building, for the purpose of having the plans for the proposed bridge across the Hudson river, submitted, and of hearing any arguments which may be urged in opposition to the scheme. Colonel Casey will preside, and all arguments pro and con, will be reported by a stenographer and forwarded to Secretary Whitney. Colonel Casey made some measurements on the maps in his office, and said: "Roughly measured, the distance from bulkhead to bulkhead at the place mentioned is about 2800 feet. This would be the length of the span, and it would be some 1300 feet longer than the span of the Brooklyn bridge, and if the end spans are to be 1500 feet, it would bring the first pier on this side somewhere in the neighborhood of Ninth avenue and Hudson street. The height at its lowest point, as mentioned in Senator Quay's bill, is 140 feet, and in a suspension bridge this lowest point would be where the cables leave the piers, so that it would be higher than the very nature of things much higher in the centre. The probable cost of such a bridge, and whether such a span can be built in safety, are matters on which I am not at liberty to express an opinion."

It is said that all of the railroads terminating in Jersey City are interested in the passage of the bill, and it is rumored that the railroads, which have for years been trying to get some plan to arrange a more convenient means of landing their passengers in the city, will supply a large portion of the capital, which will be $16,000,000. Some well informed people laugh at the idea of building such a bridge at such a figure, and say it will turn out like the St. Louis bridge that Capt. James B. Eads said could be built for $3,000,000, but which subsequently cost $13,000,000.

The Academy of Music at Haverhill, Mass., was burned Saturday afternoon causing a loss of $100,000.

GEN. HARRISON AND THE DRUMMERS.

The Republican Leader Speaks to Knights of the Cripsack.

Mr. Morton Officially Notified of His Nomination.

New York's Mayor Says Age and Temperament Forbid.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 7.—About 300 commercial travellers, acting in an individual capacity, called at the Harrison residence tonight, marshalled by E. H. Wolfe, of Rushville, who addressed the General in a neat speech, in response to which Gen. Harrison said: "I most heartily thank you for the cordial manifestation of your respect. It is to be expected when one has been named for office by one of the great parties, that those who are in accord with him in his political connections will show their interest in the campaign which he represents, but it is particularly gratifying to me that many of you, who differ with me in political opinion, reserving your own opinions and choice, have come here tonight to express your gratification personally that I have been named by the Republican party as its candidate for the presidency. It is a very pleasant thing in politics when this sort of testimony is possible and it is very gratifying to me tonight to receive it at your hands. I do not know why we cannot hold political differences with respect for each other's opinions and with entire respect for each other personally. Our opinions upon the great questions which divide parties ought not to be held in such a spirit of bigotry as will prevent us from extending to a political opponent concession of honesty in his opinions and that personal respect to which he may be entitled. [Applause.]

"I very much value this visit from you for I think I know how to estimate the commercial travelers of America. I am not going to open before, tonight, any store of flattery. I do not think there is any market for it here. [Laughter and cries of "that's good."] You know the value of that commodity perfectly. [Laughter and continued applause.] I do not mean to suggest at all that you are dealers in it yourselves [Laughter.] in your intercourse with your customers but I do mean to say that in your wide acquaintance with men, that judgment of character and even of the moods of men which is essential to the successful prosecution of your business, makes you a very unpromising audience upon which to pass any stale compliments. My memory goes back to the time when there were no commercial travellers. When I first came to Indianapolis to reside the profession was not known. A retail merchant went to a wholesale house and made his selections there. I appreciate the fact that those who successfully pursue your calling must, in the nature of things, be masters of the business in which you are engaged and possess great adaptability and a high order of intelligence. I thank you again for this visit and give you in return my most sincere respect and regard. [Applause.] I regret that time is not long enough here for your comfort. [A voice, "There will be more room in the White House." Another, "We will take your order now and deliver the goods in November,"] but I shall be glad if any or all of you will remain for better acquaintance and less formal intercourse." [Great applause and cousing cheers for the next President.]

Rain was falling and as many of the callers as could be accommodated entered the house and remained for some time, shaking hands with the General and partaking of refreshments.

Men who Voted in '40.

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt., July 8.—Last night, at North Brattleboro and Bellows Falls, flags were raised by the Republicans with enthusiastic speeches by prominent men of the State. At Brattleboro alone 36 men who voted for Harrison and Tyler, in '40, will vote the Republican ticket this year.

Mr. Morton Notified.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 7.—The parlor car Marietta, occupied by the committee to notify Hon. Levi P. Morton of his nomination, was attached to the New York Central express train that left the Grand Central depot at 10.30 o'clock this morning.

On arriving at Rhinebeck the committee found the aged and staid village in holiday garb. Flags waved in the village, and streamers festooned the fronts of its few stores.

After Mr. and Mrs. Morton and the members of the family had given each of the visitors a cordial welcome, Mr. Estee chairman of the committee presented the following address, officially notifying Mr. Morton of his nomination:

The National convention of the Republican party recently assembled in Chicago nominated as its candidate for President, General Harrison, and with equal unanimity selected you as its candidate for vice president. By order of that convention we were appointed a committee to notify its nominees of their selection. This pleasant duty has been performed, in giving General Harrison, your associate upon the ticket, that notification. It only remains for us to discharge the further duty conferred upon us by this official notice to you. The country has already passed judgment upon your selection and it has met such universal approval that it is only left to this committee to add its own expression of their high appreciation of your own personal qualities, as well as their confidence in your eminent fitness for the position to which the deliberate judgment of the convention assigned you. In conclusion, we believe that this notification to you will not be a meaningless formality, but that your nomination will result in a triumphant election.

When Mr. Estee had finished, Mr. Morton, who was standing by the side of Mrs. Morton, addressed the committee as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Committee:

I am profoundly sensible of the high honor which has been conferred upon me by the national Republican convention recently in session at Chicago, and thank you, gentlemen, for the courteous and complimentary terms in which you have officially announced my nomination as the candidate of the Republican party for the vice presidency. I am also deeply sensible of the honor conferred upon the State of New York in the selection of a citizen of this State as one of the standard bearers in the approaching peaceful conflict of the two great political parties of the country for supremacy for governmental control. New York represents to a large degree the business interests of all those ever-growing and widespreading communities of varied interests and industries which it is the mission of the Republican party to foster and protect. The platform so wisely adopted at Chicago has this mission boldly in view, and by its enunciation of these principles make the issue clear and distinct. I accept the position tendered by the convention of which you are the honored representatives, and will in due time address to you, Mr. Chairman, an official communication to that effect.

Hewitt Not a Candidate.

NEW YORK, July 7.—The following despatch was shown to Mayor Hewitt today:

SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—At yesterday's session of the American party, delegates-at-large to the National convention were elected as follows: P. D. Wigginton, Frank M. Pixley, Victor J. Robertson and Alfred Daggett. District delegates were also elected. P. D. Wigginton and Frank M. Pixley, the latter the editor of "The Argonaut," were chosen as electors. At the close of the nominations, a resolution was adopted pledging the support of the Convention to Abram S. Hewitt, of New York, if he will accept the nomination for the office of President. The platform was then introduced and adopted, it being materially the same as that adopted two years ago.

Mr. Hewett said that, although he had received no official notice of any such nomination, he was prepared to say that he would not, under any consideration, accept a nomination for the Presidency.

"It ought to be perfectly understood by this time that I am not a candidate for the Presidency. I would not take any nomination for that office under any circumstances. I am only desirous of continuing to discharge my duties here until my term is out, and then to enjoy peace as a private citizen, in what remains to me of life beyond the sixty-five years I have already lived. I have done many foolish things in my time, but it would be a crowning folly, at my age and with my temperament and temper, to accept a nomination for the Presidency. I may say, however, that I am so often misrepresented that my bad manners really have some excuse."

Republican Prospects.

NEW YORK, July 7.—Members of the committee of notification of the Republican convention speak hopfully of the prospects of the party next November. Mr. Christ of Arizona, said that he was sure that the party would sweep every Northern State. "At Richmond, Indiana," he continued, "our train stopped for a few minutes, and a delegation of old line Democrats boarded the car and told that they had voted the Democratic ticket all their lives, but that they would now support the Republican ticket. We will carry Indiana by 15,000 majority."

Mr. Huston, who comes from General Harrison's State, was decidedly sanguine that the party would be successful this fall. He said: "The nomination of Mr. Harrison, of course, gives the utmost satisfaction throughout the State. Senator Harrison is very popular in every part of the State, and he will get a large number of Democratic votes. I want to say that the nomination of Mr. Morton for the second place is certainly as satisfactory as the selection of any man outside of the State would have been. He is very popular in Indiana."

Captain Dougherty said that the ticket and platform were well liked in Tennessee, and that the State was now raised from the list of doubtful States. "In fact, the only thread on which Cleveland now hung was the sectional prejudice, and that was rapidly dying out. Business men and progressive Democrats will support Harrison and Morton."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

An Address on the Need of Home Missionary Work.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 7.—At today's session of the Christian Endeavor convention, the feature of the morning was the five minute addresses on committee work. As the society is essentially the outgrowth of the missionary spirit, the address of Edward S. Niles, of Boston, on "The Missionary Committee," received the most marked attention. What was the use of discussing foreign missions, he said, when there were 10,000 foreign infidels and idol worshippers being landed on our shores every month. There was ample room for foreign missionary labor right in the United States. Boston, with 600,000 people, had no more than 25,000 members of Protestant churches; New York, with 2,000,000 people, had less than 90,000 Protestants, and Chicago, with 800,000 people, had fewer than 100,000 Protestants. There were 2,860,000 people in those three cities who do not attend our churches. Why then should they go to India, or China, or Germany, or Italy to preach the gospel? If the Bible is true, those who do not believe in the Lord Jesus Christ have nothing before them but eternal punishment. Those 2,860,000 people were on the road to eternal destruction. The speaker here indulged in some calculations, arriving at the conclusion that about 80,000 of these people die and go to perdition every year, one-twelfth of that number every month, etc. He thought these startling facts ought to induce all Christians to put forth their greatest Christian endeavors to save the people.

The afternoon session opened with singing and reading of the scriptures by Rev. Mr. Bassett, of New York. The committee on nominations announced the following persons for election as officers:

Moderator of Conference—W. J. Van Patten, of Burlington, Vt.

Vice Presidents—Revs. J. W. Cooper, D. D., New Britain, Conn.; Wayland Hoyt, D. D., of Philadelphia; Charles F. Deems, D. D., of New York; S. J. Nicolls, D. D., of St. Louis; Bishop Samuel Fallows, D. D., of Chicago; Robert Christie, D. D., of St. Paul; Charles D. Barrows, D. D., of San Francisco.

The committee on credentials reported 23 States represented in the convention; 700 societies sent over 4000 delegates.

At the evening session the first speaker was Prof. W. R. Harper, of Yale College, on "The Study of the Bible." Miss Frances F. Willard, president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, was cordially received. The immense audience showed by waving of fans, handkerchiefs and the clapping of hands. Her remarks in advocacy of the subject which has made her so famous, while occupying a quarter, were very well received. A song closed the exercises.

The Proceedings Closed.

CHICAGO, Ill., July 8.—This evening's session of the Christian Endeavor societies filled the armory of Battery D. to overflowing. The usual opening exercises were followed by the adoption of a number of resolutions and recommendations for the government of the organization. Dr. Wayland Hoyt, of Philadelphia, was to have been the first speaker but, in his absence, Rev. Arthur Little, of Chicago, delivered an address on "The Element of Power," followed by Rev. A. Boynton, of Boston, who preached a lengthy sermon, at the conclusion of which he complimented the assembled delegates for the attention they had given to all those who had remarks to make during the convention. Moderator Van Patten brought the convention to a close with a few remarks. A number of those present had left the hall when Mr. Van Patten called the convention meeting to order.

The members of each delegation were called upon to testify to the vast amount of good the convention had done them. The remarks were interspersed with songs. The benediction closed all the proceedings.

GENERAL NEWS.

Three boys named Edward Foaley, H. Holliday and J. Marwood, were murdered Thursday in the Indian Territory.

A strike of the Brewers' Union was formally declared on Friday, having continued three months and there being no prospect of success.

Repeated assaults were made on a "Q" train leaving Chicago on Friday, and the storm of rocks battered the engine and hurt the engineer.

M. M. Smith of Lake Village, N. H., not feeling well yesterday took a dose of bromidia by mistake for brandy and fell dead shortly afterwards.

Chief Arthur of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, says that if any members of the order are guilty of plotting to destroy the property of the C. B. & Q. road, they will be expelled.

Judge Walter Q. Gresham sailed on the steamer Werra Saturday afternoon for Europe. He will be absent about two months, returning in time to assist in the Republican campaign.

A storm which swept over Indiana and Minnesota Friday night, wrecked many buildings. At

The burden of the Democratic song is that the tariff is a great and oppressive tax, that the surplus in the treasury is an amount wrung from the people that would otherwise go into their pockets should the bars be let down for foreign imports. Now is this so? Mr. Estee, of California, who presided at the Republican convention at Chicago, presents one of the many illustrations of the fallacy of this proposition. There is on prunes, which are raised extensively in California, a tariff of two cents or more a pound. But the effect of this tariff, Mr. Estee says, has been to lower the price of prunes, because it has encouraged the California producers to compete with foreign producers. This has brought down the price of foreign prunes one half, diminishing to that extent the profits of the foreign producers and the expenses of the American purchaser. Now Mr. Estee's statement naturally raises this question, whether the California prune grower and the American prune consumer needs the tariff any longer if American competition has been able to make the foreigners reduce their prices. Few will deny that both American producer and American consumer need the tariff so long as the skies and soil of other countries are equal to the skies and soil of California, and the labor of other countries is cheaper than the labor of California. The tariff once removed and there is an opportunity for a short, sharp competition which the grower who employs American labor cannot stand. Then, when he is driven to give up prune raising, his foreign competitor is at liberty to put the prices up to the old figure, where they were before the tariff raised up the American industry. The tariff is a defence not only against foreign cheap labor, but against foreign extortion.

The State Board of Health.

The State Board of Health was established by the Legislature of 1885. The Legislature of 1887 supplemented the act of 1885 by constituting the local Boards of Health as auxiliaries to the State Board. The act establishing the local Boards went into effect in April 1887; so the annual report just issued treats of only about nine months of the workings of the perfected system. This, however, has been ample time to demonstrate the value and effectiveness of the system; and the town returns published in the report show the system is already doing effective and intelligent work. But reports of the routine work of the State Board and its auxiliaries take up but a small part of the carefully arranged and indexed book of more than three hundred pages which comes from the hands of Secretary Young. It is not too much to say that this book ought to go into every household in Maine, and that in that household it should have a place before any editions of Family Doctors or Home Physicians that may be now or hereafter recommended to cure disease and avert death. The members of the Board have made their report a treatise on How to Keep Well, and they have given their advice in a style so simple and clear that it can be put into practice intelligently by every householder. The special paper of E. C. Jordan, C. E., of Portland, who is one of the Board, contains a large amount of information and advice most valuable for the inhabitants of either city, village or country, in regard to the proper sanitary arrangements of their homes. In the neglected sinkspouts, the foul cellars, the defective drains and sewers and the polluted wells which the general ignorance has, in times past, and does to a certain extent at present, allow to continue their deadly work, lies the fruitful source of diseases and contagion. Mr. Jordan's paper deals with the subject in a simple, practical way, is illustrated and made plain by numerous drawings, and enforces its advice with apt and interesting statements of facts that have come under the observation of himself and others. The valuable circulars issued during the year by the Board, have been collected in the report and form a valuable series of directions for the prevention or management of cases of infectious diseases like typhoid fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever, etc. Next to the home comes the school house in importance as a conservator or a destroyer of health. In 1887 Secretary Young spent considerable of his spare time in inspecting the school houses of the State. The result of that work he embodies in his work. He takes a considerable number of the city and village school buildings and makes of them a study, pointing out errors and faults of construction and defects in sanitary conditions, supplementing these observations with a few of the most important rules which should govern the construction of school houses. In a future report Secretary Young promises to present plans and specifications which will aid communities in building their school houses in accordance with sanitary principles. The cost of the Board of Health is not large or burdensome, and when compared with the amount of work that is resulting is certainly very small. Last year the total expenses, including the salary of the Secretary and printing and binding was $4,394, a sum which was probably saved to the people of the State in the doctor's bills.

The Cry "Free Whiskey."

The Democratic organs and orators have opened the campaign with the cry, disingenuous as it is boisterous, that the Republican party is in favor of "free whiskey." We believe that the position of the Republican party on the temperance question, past and present, may be confidently left to the unprejudiced approval of all candid friends of temperance. And we believe that no thoughtful man, who knows the immemorial record of the Democratic party on the temperance question, will be for a moment deluded by the sophistry of its orators. The editorial from the great religious journal, The Independent, expresses, we believe, the feelings of every true temperance man towards the Republican position:

The cry of free whiskey has been raised in the Democratic camp against the paragraph in the Republican platform concerning the internal revenue. They say the Republican party has declared for free whiskey, and they appear to be very much concerned about it. This show of concern is very amusing. The Democratic party is about the last party in the world to object to free whiskey. It is the party which solidly opposes all temperance legislation in all the Northern States and is committed against all "sumptuary" laws in its National platforms. If it now appears for the moment among the sons of sobriety, it is only for the purpose of afflicting the faithful. Its character has undergone no change, not the least.

The cry is simply a campaign cry, raised in the interest of the party and the party's principle of free trade. Let no temperance man be deceived one moment by it, or he will find himself tricked by the enemies of temperance.

In the first place it is not true that the Republican party has declared for free whiskey. What the Republican party declares by its platform is this: The Republican party would effect all needed reduction of the national revenue by repealing the tax upon tobacco, which are an annoyance and burden to agriculture, and the tax upon spirits used in the arts and for mechanical purposes, and by such revision of the tariff laws as will tend to check imports of such articles as are produced by our people, the production of which gives employment to our laborers, and release from import duties those articles of foreign production, (except luxuries,) the like of which can not be produced at home.

This is not a declaration for 'free whiskey,' but for the release of 'spirits used in the arts and for mechanical purposes.' If such use of spirits is legitimate (and what temperance advocate would hold otherwise?) the proposal to remove the tax on them is, in no sense, a crime against temperance. After making the foregoing declaration of policy with reference to the reduction of the surplus, which is to be accomplished, it will be noticed, not alone by a modification of the internal revenue laws, but by such a revision of the tariff as will release articles of foreign production (except the luxuries), the like of which cannot be produced at home,' this sentence is added: 'If there shall remain a larger revenue than is requisite for the wants of the government, we favor the entire repeal of internal taxes rather than the surrender of any part of our protective system at the joint behest of the whiskey trusts and the agents of foreign manufacturers.'

If there is any free whiskey in the platform it is in this sentence, and if there is any free whiskey in this sentence it is only there as an inference in a contingency. The plain, open meaning of the words is this: If the proposed removal of tax on tobacco and spirits used in the arts, together with the release of duties on certain imports, should not reduce sufficiently the surplus in the treasury, and the alternative should be the 'surrender of any part of our protective system' or the entire abolition of the internal revenue system, the latter should be sacrificed and the protective system retained in its integrity. Upon this point we entirely agree with the platform, and so does every true protectionist, however radical may be his temperance principles. It is vital to the interests which are secured by protection that the protective system should be preserved. It is not vital to the interests of temperance that the internal revenue system should be preserved.

As a matter of fact, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the third party and many leading temperance Republicans (Mrs. J. Ellen Foster asked the Platform Committee to sweep away the internal revenue system) believe this policy to be the true temperance policy. We have disagreed with them for the reason that we believe the tax to be a check on the traffic. How great a check it is we do not know; but whatever its restrictive power, it is manifestly not a permanent principle of temperance reform, but only a temporary expedient. As such we want it to stand until it has served its purpose and is superseded by something better, or until it can no longer be retained without sacrificing a part of the protective system. As no temperance advocate claims that national taxation is the only true and effective, or even that it is the best, method of promoting the cause, it is absurd to make all this hue and cry about the Republican party declaring for free whiskey. The platform of the Republican party in more than thirty States, and the legislation, restrictive and prohibitive, it has secured, are standing proof of its policy respecting free whiskey.

The Democrats, as a party, care no more for the internal revenue system, in reality, than they do for temperance. In fact they are opposed to the system, and hated it most cordially during the war, when it was a necessity. Now that it is not a necessity, they only endure it because it gives them an opportunity to attack protection. The maintenance of the tariff is a far greater offense to them than free whiskey would be. The Chicago Tribune, a Republican paper, was the first to sound the cry of free whiskey, and it has been widely quoted, as though it led the charge in the interests of temperance. The real explanation is that the Tribune shares the views of of President Cleveland's tariff message. It was so little interested in a temperance plank in the platform that it said not a single word in support of the plea of the anti-saloon Republicans, and did not, so far as we have been able to discover, even mention the fact, as a matter of news, that such a plea was made before the Platform Committee.

We are very free to say that the Platform Committee made a great mistake in not reporting an anti-saloon plank, and the Convention made a mistake when it tried to correct that of its committee in not adopting a more definite expression in favor of temperance; but we are unwilling to see any earnest temperance people misled by the false cry that the Republican party has declared for free whiskey. It is a cry in the interests of a tinkered tariff and not of temperance. If the Republican party really wanted free whiskey it would reduce or abolish the duties on imported liquors.

SWEARING A LIFE AWAY.

Characteristic Story of Chinese Disregard for an Oath.

Ward McAllister, Jr, a son of the well-known society leader who has numbered but not yet named the 400 gifted beings who compose society proper, has been staying in New York at the Everett House for two or three weeks. Young McAllister is practicing law in San Francisco, and has met with noteworthy success. Although he is still a very young man, in fact but little more than 30 years of age, he has won the confidence of the Chinese population all along the Pacific coast, and from this source alone obtains a lucrative income.

Young McAllister's professional association with the Chinese has given him unusual opportunities for acquiring a knowledge of their character and their methods of life and habits of thought. The Chinese population, both at San Francisco and at Portland, Oregon, and at other centres of population, is divided into families or clans similar to the old Scottish clans, and members of the same class hang together with wonderful tenacity, help each other in case of trouble, and present a strong antagonistic attitude to the members of any other family with whom they may come in contact. The various families are designated by the prefix to the name. Gee Tong, Gee Lung, Gee Toy, belong to the Gee family. Then there are the Lees the Tees and other divisions who are designated after the same fashion. The manner in which these various families stick by each other and strike at a common enemy is curiously illustrated by the story of a murder committed in a Chinese theatre at Portland, Oregon, some time ago. The story illustrates also the moral depravity of the Chinese and their indifference to the oath administered in a United States court. It is believed that they know what perjury is in China, and it may be punished there, but they do not scruple to tell a lie in a court here whatever consequences may follow from it. The murder under consideration was committed in the crowded gallery of a theatre, where there were no witnesses of the deed save the Chinamen in the immediate neighborhood. The next morning after the crime information was lodged against a Chinaman belonging to the Gee family named Gee Hoy or something of the same picturesque kind, and he was thrown into jail. The Chinaman who had been murdered belonged to the Lee family. When the trial occurred twenty-six Chinamen came forward and swore in the most unequivocal way, that they had seen the prisoner stab the deceased in the back and escape from the house. The evidence was so overwhelming that the jury could do nothing but bring in a verdict of guilty, and the man was sentenced to death. Four or five days before the execution some friends of the condemned came down to San Francisco and called upon Mr. McAllister. Previous to doing so they had seen a number of members of the Gee family, to which the man under sentence of death belonged, and had readily raised a large sum of money to be used for the purpose of securing a new trial. It seemed scarcely credible, but the ground on which Mr. McAllister was told that an application for a new trial could be made was that the alleged murderer could prove a most undoubted alibi, and that the twenty-six men who had united in testifying under oath that they had seen him stab the man in the theatre had deliberately committed perjury. With a cold bloodiness that almost passes belief, these twenty-six men had gone on the witness stand one after another, and for no reason in the world except that the man against whom they were ready to swear belonged to a different family from themselves and had excited their enmity in some way, united in attempting to swear away his life. When Mr. McAllister looked into the matter, the fact that all these witnesses belong to the Lee family disposed him to accept the statements of the emissaries from Portland as being probably true. And he immediately telegraphed to the authorities there, and after some little trouble had the execution postponed, and the proceedings for a new trial are now going forward. He went up to Portland, looked into the case, and found that there were Chinamen there who were able to testify that on the night when the murder was committed the man who had been condemned to death for perpetrating it had been at his lodgings writing letters the entire evening, up to an hour long after the murdered man had breathed his last. These men, however, who could so easily have proven an alibi, were of a neutral family, and at first did not care to excite enmity of the Lees by interfering with their cheerful and eccentric little game.

MAGAZINE NOTICES.

Scribner's for July continues the interesting topic of railroad building by an entertainly written and well illustrated article on Feats of Railway Engineering, by John Bogart. Another instructive and entertaining contribution, Life and Travel in Modern Greece, is furnished by Thomas D. Seymour and illustrated from original drawings by F. D. Millet. Charles A. Young tells the story of An Astronomer's Summer Trip, taken to observe the eclipse of 1887 from the vantage ground of a Russian station. Robert Louis Stevenson continues his brilliant essays, treating this month on Popular Authors. For fiction, T. R. Sullivan contributes Maestro Ambrogio, a story of life in Italy; Henry James carries his story of A London Life through part second; and F. J. Stimson gives us another instalment of his society novel First Harvests. The poetry is contributed by Graham R. Tomson, Arlo Bates and Allan Simpson Botsford. There is also a selection of passages from George Parson Lathrop's Battle Ode which was read at Gettysburg.

EPPS'S COCOA.

BREAKFAST

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operation of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame." Civil Service Gazette.

Made simply with boiling water or milk. Sold only in half pound tins by Grocers, labelled thus:

Are You Familiar with the Plans

—OF THE—

Union Mutual

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY,

OF PORTLAND, ME!

DO you realize that this old and sterling company is a HOME INSTITUTION, chartered in 1848 under the laws of Maine?

ARE you aware that this Company has paid to policy-holders or their representatives more than TWENTY-THREE MILLION DOLLARS?

IT has to-day more than SIX MILLION DOLLARS IN ASSETS, and over THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND DOLLARS IN SURPLUS calculated by the most conservative standards known to the law.

IT pays its losses promptly. Its policies after three years are free from all limitations as to Residence, Travel, Suicide and Occupation. Military and Naval Service excepted.

IT has liberal plans. Its affairs are carefully managed by its Board of Directors and Officers, whose integrity and ability are unquestioned.

THE wise provisions of the Maine Non-Forfeiture Law apply only to the policies issued by this Company, and under it extended insurance is provided for in case of lapse after the payment of three or more annual premiums in cash.

THE NEW MAINE LAW CONVERTIBLE POLICY of the UNION MUTUAL contains every desirable feature in a PERFECT LIFE INSURANCE POLICY.

If you will send your address to the Home Office, or to any of its agents, we shall be glad to furnish full information in regard to the Company and its plans.

THE UNION MUTUAL appeals to residents of Maine for their especial patronage, because it is a HOME COMPANY, and because of its age, experience, strong, financial condition, large surplus, equitable and attractive plans and conservative management.

WIT AND WISDOM.

He (just introduced)—What a very homely man that gentleman near the piano is, Mrs. Hobson.

She—Isn't he! That is Mr. Hobson.

He (equal to the occasion)—Oh, indeed! How true it is, Mrs. Hobson, that the homely men always get the prettiest wives!

Ploughing the Waves.

A storm at sea means inevitable sea-sickness for ocean travelers. The vibration of a steamer's screw, even, is a sore trial to any but the strongest stomach. "Splicing the main brace," as the imbibition of a glass is jocularly termed by sailors, is a poor substitute for the swallowing of that incomparable tranquillizer of sea-sick stomachs Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which no commercial traveler, tourist or invalid should be without in "crossing the briny," or making a tedious land journey. No unmedicated stimulant of commerce is comparable for efficacy to the great invigorant. Emigrants to the West pronounce it a reliable preventive of malarial infection, as well as other complaints to which hardship, impure water and miasma-tainted vapors give rise. It renders brackish water drinkable and harmless, and is a fine remedy for disorders of the stomach and bowels, and for kidney troubles and rheumatism.

Visitor—I suppose you attended Sunday school to-day, Bertie?

Bertie—Yep.

Visitor—What was the lesson about?

Bertie—Oh, about a fellow named Jonah who swallowed a whale.

Visitor—When I went to Sunday school it was the whale that swallowed Jonah.

Bertie—Well, 'taint that way now. We've got the revised edition.

Derangement of the liver, with constipation, injures the complexion, induces pimples, sallow skin. Remove the cause by using Carter's Little Liver Pills. One a dose. Try them.

In addressing a jury upon one occasion the celebrated Mr. Jeffrey found it necessary to make free with the character of a military officer, who was present during the whole harangue. Upon hearing himself several times spoken of as "the soldier," the son of Massachusetts, boiling with indignation, interrupted the pleader:

"Don't call me a soldier, sir; I am an officer."

Mr. Jeffrey immediately went on: "Well, gentlemen, this officer, who is no soldier, was the sole cause of the mischief that has occurred."

Why don't you try Carter's Little Liver Pills? They are a positive cure for sick headache, and all the ills produced by disordered liver. Only one pill a dose.

First tramp—Well, how much did ye get out of the felly!

Second tramp—Faix, only enough for mesilf.

F. T.—And is this the way yer stand in wid me, Mickey?

S. T.—Sure, all Oi got was a kick. Yer can take yer share of that, if ye want it.

Advice to Mothers. — MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub, awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes Twenty-five cents a bottle.

HARPER'S BAZAR—This beautiful weekly publication is a welcome visitor to the parlor circle. The number for the ensuing week has been received by N. G. Fessenden, 484 Congress street.

A WARNING.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system, and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly, and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat, and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs, producing Consumption, and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous, and if allowed to proceed will, in time, cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous, and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief. nov8-d1y-eT

The workwomen at Webb & Cushings presented Miss Clara Littlefield, the forewoman who resigned, with an elegant umbrella, and the firm gave her a fine French clock.

Charles Harvey got hold of a can of powder belonging to his father and accidentally exploded it Saturday, burning his cheek and almost if not quite destroying the sight of one eye.

The Prohibition County convention will be held at Reception Hall, August 1st. Rev. Dr. Bashford and V. B. Cushing will be present and address a mass meeting in City Hall in the evening.

Five members of the Massachusetts Bicycle Club arrived on the boat yesterday morning, rode to Prout's Neck, dined at the Checkly House, and returned to Boston at night.

Hezekiah Smith's house on North street was entered by a burgler with a skeleton key, on Friday night. A lady in the house discovered him and he fled without securing any property.

There will be a meeting of the Portland Amateur Press Club at Young Men's Christian Association Reception Room this evening at 7.30 o'clock, for the purpose of perfecting arrangements for the convention of the New England Association to be held at the Falmouth next Wednesday and Thursday. All members will please attend.

Excursions.

The Commercial Travellers will leave Portland on a special train tomorrow morning and reach Lewiston at 9 o'clock. The ladies will take horse cars for Lake Grove, while the association, headed by Chandler's Band, will march the principal streets to the Elm House, where cars will be taken for Lake Auburn, where dinner will be served. The DeWitt House will be reached at 6 p. m., where a banquet will be provided and Col. C. H. Osgood will be toastmaster. Mayor Little will make an address of welcome. Among the guests will be Hon. E. C. Burleigh, Hon. W. L. Putnam, Hon. C. J. Chapman, J. E. Blabon and officers of the Portland Board of Trade. In the evening there will be a promenade concert in City Hall and dancing, and on Wednesday an excursion to Maranocook.

St. Albans Commandery will leave Thursday over the Boston & Maine for Alton Bay and arrive at the Pavilion Hotel, Lake Winnipesaukee in time for dinner. There will be promenade concert in the evening. The party will return Friday.

Mt. Vernon Encampment of Worcester, Mass., will visit Portland Friday next.

Greenwood Garden.

Rice and Barton will appear this week in a new programme, supported by the excellent company. Thomas and Walton will give their laughable sketch "Spirit Rappings," English and McArthur their novelties in the musical line, Miss McArthur her whistling solos, Matthews and Harrison musical sketches, and little Lottie Bush will dance and sing.

Dr. J. R. Lincoln, Millbury, Mass., has been appointed interne, at the U. S. Marine Hospital.

The Young Men's Republican Club is developing some orators. Charles A. True, Esq., is said to be one of the promising talkers.—[Lewiston Journal.

Principal Gray, of Portland Business College, has gone gone to Minneapolis to attend the convention of the Business Educators of America.

Capt. Rufus Randall died suddenly of heart disease at Freeport Friday. He was for a long time master of the bark Oasis and later of the ship John A. Briggs.

Miss Annie Louise Thayer died yesterday at the Maine General Hospetal in this city. Miss Thayer had many friends in Portland who will learn of her death with sorrow. Funeral services will be held today at the residence of W. H. Sargent.

George Brock.

Mr. George Brock, the well known contractor and builder, died in this city yesterday morning, after a long and painful illness aged sixty-nine years and one month.

George Brock was born in the town of Lyman, in June, 1818. When quite young he came to Portland and entered into the employment of T. & J. B. Cummings, the then leading builders of this city. A fellow employe at the same time was Mr. Daniel Cummings, and a friendship between the two sprang up that continued until the death of Mr. Cummings in 1884. After they acquired their trade, Messrs. Cummings and Brock formed the partnership name under which a large number of the principal buildings and business blocks of the city were built. Cummings & Brock constructed the Grand Trunk railway station and round-house; the first grain elevator, which was destroyed by fire; the Rolling Mills at Ligonia; the J. B. Brown sugar house, the Forest City and Eagle refineries, all the buildings owned by Hon. W. W. Thomas, the Maine General Hospital, the memorial hall at Brunswick, and many others. Since Mr. Cummings's death, Mr. Brock has constructed the new Kendall & Whitney block on Federal street, and was in charge of the new Baxter building—the Public Library—on Congress street.

Mr. Brock was a staunch Republican, but he was never in public office, neither was he a member of any of the secret societies. He was a life-long member of the Second Parish church.

Mr. Brock was a man in whom our citizens had most implicit confidence. He was the adviser of the great proportion of our dealers in real estate when about to purchase. If Mr. Brock said the property was worth a certain figure, it was purchased unquestioningly. His reputation for honesty and square dealing was general. He was a kindly, sympathetic man, beloved and respected.

Mr. Brock married for his first wife Mary Lowe, by whom he had two children; for his second wife, Alice Lowe, by whom he leaves a son Herbert, now studying medicine.

Funeral of Irving H. Lowell.

The funeral of the late Irving H. Lowell took place Saturday on Little Diamond Island, and was very largely attended by people on the island and friends from this city and Boston. A quartette composed of Mr. Barnard, Mrs. Goudy, Mr. Merrill and Mrs. Morrison, began the services with the hymn "Go Tell Him Thy Sorrow," followed by a scriptural reading by Rev. Howard Dunham of New Jerusalem church, and prayer by Rev. Henry Blanchard of Congress Square church. A short address was then delivered by Rev. Mr. Dunham, who feelingly alluded to the sterling character of the deceased, and paid a deserved tribute to his memory. The services closed by the quartette rendering the hymn "Abide with Me," followed by the benediction.

Mr. Lowell was a young man of admirable qualities, and was beloved by a large circle of friends, as was manifest from the many floral tributes seen at the funeral. Noticeable among these was a beautiful pillow, with the name "Irving" in immortelles, the offering of Miss Leontine Farrington. The others were remarkable for their beauty, and came from organizations with which the deceased was connected, from many of his personal friends, and from the cottagers on the island.

The burial took place at Evergreen Cemetery, the remains being brought to this city on the 4 o'clock boat, Messrs. Henry Larrabee, Harry Merrill, William E. Chandler, Calvin Chase, Frank Orr, George Thompson and Harry Shurtleff, officiating as pall bearers.

Sunday at the Islands.

Owing to the pleasant weather yesterday, the island travel was large and ocean sailing delightful. The boats that ran to Peak's Island carried a large number of passengers, and the band concert and clam bake at Long Island proved a great attraction. The steamer Emita, which left the city at 2 o'clock for Long Island, was crowded, and the new and staunch Merryconeag, of the Harpswell line, left quite a number there on her afternoon down trip. Immediately on the arrival of the afternoon boats Mr. Ponce served a clam bake to several hundred people, who were apparently much pleased with the dinner. Chandler's band rendered numerous excellent selections that were greatly enjoyed, making the day at this island one of unusual enjoyment.

Tin Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dow celebrated their tin wedding anniversary at Jones's Landing Saturday evening. It was a right good time. The Portland Cadets attended and presented a beautiful silver coffee service; the Commercial Travellers gave a set of after-dinner coffee spoons; the employes at Cook, Everett & Pennell's a piano lamp; and there were other beautiful gifts from friends. Misses Lottie Ricker, Mamie Curtis, Katie Ricker, C. M. Follansbee, and Major Jordan furnished music and recitations, and Major Colesworthy, on behalf of Mrs. Dow, presented Mr. Dow with a tin collar and cuffs.

The Fresh Air Fund.

This society is doing good work. Eight beneficiaries have been sent out to different parts of the State and through the wife of Rev. Mr. Dunham, parties at Kent's Hill have agreed to board nine children free of cost, one to two weeks each. Mr. C. E. Libby will take parties about the Cape for a day's outing, when desired. There will be a special meeting at 139 Spring street, Thursday, at 7.30 o'clock.

A Quick Trip.

The bark Itonus, Capt. Geo. Perkins, of Falmouth, arrived at New York from Piscagua in the north of Chili, loaded with nitrate and wool in the quick time of seventy-nine days. The Itonus is owned by Capt. Benj. Webster and this is only one of her many fast passages.

Another Harrison Flag.

Mr. Daniel McCann has thrown out a handsome flag at his residence in Cape Elizabeth, bearing the names of Harrison and Morton, Burleigh and Reed.

PULPIT AND PLATFORM.

PINE STREET CHURCH.

Rev. Dr. Pierce, formerly editor of Zion's Herald, preached at Pine street Methodist Episcopal church yesterday, taking his text from the 5th and 6th verses of the 126th Psalm:

They that sow in tears shall reap in joy. He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him.

Our Lord was accustomed to find his text in the other book of revelations, a book of revelations that is full of interest to every thoughtful scholar. "Behold a sower goeth forth to sow," in this he has a text. There are some who find that the sowing of early years becomes choked, but, thanks to God, there are others that reap a harvest from what they sow. There are many who are not satisfied with their lives. I do not mean those only whose lives have been a failure, but those who have accomplished all that they undertook in life. If one goes forth to reap simply the pleasures, the honors and the wealth within his power it may be he will be satisfied, but when the harvest is gathered their tears are likely to fall upon the sheaves. But if a young man consecrates himself to God he shall return rejoicing to God.

Suppose we look at those who are beyond the necessity of manual labor for the maintainance of life, and they have but to go about seeking the pleasures of life. The end of that life biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder. It is one of the tritest sayings that the saddest hearts are to be found in the gayest places. It is an ordination of heaven that although we have earned our property by the sweat of our brow it will not bring a benediction unless we place it upon the altar of God for the good of men. The highest stations may be sanctified, but station itself does not bring a benediction. "Uneasy is the head that wears a crown." There is nothing that we really value that has not cost somebody something, and this leads me to say, what have you done for the world? Some of you look appalled at the thought, but it isn't necessary to do a great deal. It isn't the amount, it is the consecration. Christian life is wanted now more than anything else.

IN MEMORY OF S. D. WARREN.

A large audience met yesterday at Warren's church, Cumberland Mills, to listen to the memorial address delivered by Rev. Dr. Herrick of Boston, eulogizing the late Samuel D. Warren, the world's great paper manufacturer, and founder of the beautiful church at Cumberland Mills bearing his name. The interior of the church is a decoration of itself, but thoughtful hands added to its attractiveness by tasteful arrangement of beautiful floral offerings, conspicuous among which was the large anchor of pure white, resting upon a pedestal of roses, just at the left of the pulpit. The large organ had just ceased swelling forth its solemnly sweet strains when Rev. E. M. Cousens, present pastor of the church, after reading the Scripture and offering a very earnest and eloquent prayer invoking the divine blessing and favor, presented Rev. Dr. Herrick, of Mt. Vernon church, Boston. Mr. Herrick spoke of the utter uselessness of attempting to present Mr. Warren's character in any new phase to those who had known him so long and so well, but expressed the wish that the people with himself, might sympathize together over their common loss, and draw some useful lessons from the life and memory of their departed friend. He took, as the foundation of his remarks, these words, found in the second book of Chronicles, 24th chapter, a part of the 16th verse:

And they buried him among the kings, because he had done good in Israel.

Mr. Herrick spoke very touchingly of his personal acquaintance with, and fond remembrances of Mr. Warren, while the latter was under his pastorate at Mt. Vernon church, Boston. For many years an active and prominent member, he won the love of those with whom he was intimate and the respect of all who knew him. As a financier he was wonderfully successful, steadily rising from a position with Grant & Daniels, at a salary of $50 per year, to a membership in the firm, and afterwards becoming controller of the Warren Paper Manufactory, a business of massive proportions. Said Mr. Herrick, "Many elements went to make up his stalwart character. First of all he was fortunate in his parentage, inheriting tenderness and mental vigor, and acquiring in after years great business sagacity and acuteness. A man of implicit faith and fervent religious zeal, he gave life and impetus to commercial, social and religious interests. The grand momentum of such a life cannot be stopped by such an element as death. He lives on. His was a royal life, a child of the King of the Universe, and a brother to all mankind, he used his wealth as belonging to his maker, the possessor of all things, whose trustee he was, and his kind words and winning smiles to cheer on his fellow men." Many religious and educational institutions bear his name, or have benefitted by his generosity, and many hearts for years to come will beat quicker at the remembrance of his kind deeds and encouraging words.

After singing Hymn No. 1874, the audience was dismissed by Mr. Herrick.

About Sewer Statistics.

To the Editor of the Press:

Has not your accomplished correspondent, Engineer Jordan, worked in one item too many in his estimate of $18,000 annual loss to the town of 5,000 inhabitants? He assumes that in addition to a good deal of temporary sickness attributable to bad sewerage, the loss and cost of which he estimates, two fatal cases of nine days' sickness occur annually from the same cause, and proceeds to include the loss and cost of said cases, including funeral expenses.

It strikes me that this is an error, because every inhabitant is doomed to die sooner or later, and his last sickness and funeral expenses are inevitable and only a question of time.

In other words, the same two men whose lives are assumedly shortened ten, twenty or thirty years by sewer gas, would have had to be buried eventually at the same expense if they had breathed an atmosphere composed in due proportions of ozone and cologne water, and for aught that appears after an equally long sickness.

On reflection, I am inclined to think that Mr. Jordan will decide that the item referred to cannot fairly go "into the bill."

OLD MORTALITY.

Out Door Concerts.

At a meeting of the special committee of the city on out-door concerts, held Saturday evening, it was voted to build a portable band stand on Lincoln Park. It was also voted to have nine concerts, to be given by Chandler's full band, on the following dates:

The installation of the officers of Harmony Lodge, took place Saturday evening.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

CUMBERLAND MILLS.

An attempt was made to break open the safe at the depot on the night of the third. A hole was bored into the door over the lock, and some explosive used. It blew into the safe but did no harm. The burglars were evidently frightened away without securing anything.

A little child of Phili Gothro's was run over on the Fourth, but was not very badly injured.

SACCARAPPA.

The Ladies Circle of the Universalist church, Saccarappa, Rev. Q. H. Shinn, pastor, gave an ice cream festival Saturday evening in the vestry. The occasion was for the purpose of raising money to pay a church indebtedness. Large numbers partook of the generous and well prepared creams and went away comforted only by the fact that the ladies will continue to serve ice cream at the same quarters for a number of weeks.

NEW GLOUCESTER.

The farm buildings in Pownal, near North Pownal depot, belonging to Joshua Chapman, were burned Friday afternoon. It was a good set of buildings that were burned, the oil part having been burned about a year ago and rebuilt.

The hatters will hold their annual picnic tomorrow (Tuesday), if pleasant. Buy your hats Monday. Remember, not a hatter will be open July 10.

No family should be without Index Soap.

MARRIAGES.

In Lisbon, June 30, Angier H. Curtis of Webster and Miss Lillian B. Tibbetts of Lisbon.
