THE PORTLAND

Kerosene Oil Company

Would inform the public, that they continue to Manufacture

Portland Kerosene Oil.

The prevalence of a large quantity of inferior and dangerous oils in the market, at a cheap price—many of which are little better than Naptha itself—and the existence of false reports in regard to the PORTLAND KEROSENE OIL, renders it a matter of justice to ourselves, as well as safety to consumers, that some notice should be taken of these facts. Therefore, we again present an advertisement, and would call attention to the high standard of our Oils. THE REFINED PETROLEUM, the fire test of which is 122; THE PORTLAND KEROSENE, the fire test of which is 125 degrees Fahrenheit, and often reaches considerably higher; also, we would say, that we are determined to maintain their long established reputation.

PORTLAND KEROSENE OIL COMPANY.

We quote from chap. 39 R. S. 1871, the title of said chapter being "Inspection and sale of Manufactured Articles."

SECT. 31. Every person and corporation engaged in manufacturing petroleum, coal oil or burning fluid shall cause every cask or other vessel thereof to be so inspected and marked, by a sworn inspector, And if any person manufactures or sells such oil or burning fluid not so inspected and marked in this State, or that has not been so inspected and marked as unsafe for illuminating purposes, he shall pay a fine not exceeding Five Hundred dollars or be imprisoned six months in the county jail, upon indictments therefor.

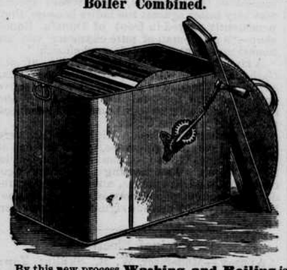
SOMETHING NEW!

The Shaw Washing Machine, Washer and Boiler Combined.



By this new process Washing and Ironing is done at the same time without friction.

It is no tub arrangement, no running through fluted rollers, to tear off buttons, no rubbing on the wash-board, to wear out the clothes; will wash even the finest fabrics without the least injury to the fibres; will do a family washing in less than one-fourth the time required in the old way of hand washing; and is done with perfect ease simply by turning a crank 8 to 10 minutes while the water is boiling. The clothes are placed inside of a cylinder which is so arranged with buckets that the water is elevated from the bottom of the boiler to the top of cylinder, and there discharged; thereby keeping a constant sheet of boiling suds falling on, and passing through the clothes, while the cylinder is in motion. THE PRESS.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 20, 1874

EVERY regular attache of the PRESS is furnished with a Card certificate countersigned by Stanley T. Pullen, Editor. All railway, steamboat and hotel managers will confer a favor upon us by demanding credentials of every person claiming to represent our Journal, as we have information that several "bummers" are seeking courtesies in the name of the PRESS, and we have no disposition to be, even passively, a party to such frauds.

We do not read anonymous letters and communications. The name and address of the writer are in all cases indispensable, not necessarily for publication but as a guaranty of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return or reserve communications that are not used.

The State's Opportunity.

For several years the inadequacy of the Insane Hospital at Augusta for the proper care and treatment of the unfortunate persons for whose reception the institution was established, has been notorious. The increasing numbers of those seeking admission has entirely outgrown the capacity of the buildings, and those who can be received are subjected to very injurious overcrowding. The Legislature of 1873 established a commission charged with the duty of fully investigating the situation and recommending a course of action for the State. The Commission presented two reports—one recommending the erection of new buildings on the "pavilion" plan, and the other—Mr. Hichborn's—advising the adoption of the cottage system, which has been so successful in Belgium. The reports concurred in the suggestion of a place, viz., the present Hospital grounds at Augusta.

The subject came before the Legislature and was very fully discussed both in committee and in the House. From the course of debate it seemed that the "pavilion" plan was most satisfactory, that there was pressing necessity of enlarged accommodations, and that it was imperative upon the state in the interest of humanity and decency to take immediate action; and yet the proposition of the committee was rejected for the sole reason that Augusta was named as the place for the new buildings. This was not the result of local jealousy, but of a strong feeling on the part of the members that public convenience required the establishment of hospitals in different parts of the State in accordance with the system of Massachusetts and the theories of the most careful and sagacious students of the subject. There was also a somewhat vague sentiment of dissatisfaction with the management of the present hospital and a strong indisposition to add so largely to their charge.

It may, then, be fairly concluded that the State wants a new hospital, located elsewhere than at Augusta and under an independent management. And just here occurs a possible opportunity of which the State should hasten to avail itself. The United States Marine Hospital at Cape Elizabeth is a fine, large, well built structure, containing, if we rightly remember, six wards. It is located on one of the most beautiful spots in Maine, on an eminence looking upon the ocean, as perfectly adapted as a place can be for the treatment and cure of diseased bodies or minds. For several years but few patients of the class for which it was established have been treated here, not exceeding an average of twenty at a time and probably considerably less than that number. An expensive establishment is kept up by the National Government because, hitherto, there has been no other place for the reception of diseased seamen. Now, however, the necessity ceases as the Maine General Hospital will shortly be open, and an arrangement can be made between that institution and the United States by which marine patients may be cared for at a vastly diminished expense to government and to the advantage of our new Hospital.

Under these circumstances the Marine Hospital can probably be purchased at a very great reduction from its cost, as it will be now simply a wasteful burden to government. We are informed that a prominent official, having some supervisory care of this department, has given the opinion that it would be for the interest of the United States, to sell the place at a very small price rather than keep it up. We think the Governor and Council would be justified in immediately investigating this subject, and learning upon what terms the State could secure this very desirable establishment.

It will be incumbent upon the Governor to recommend to the Legislature of next year some action on this important matter, and his recommendation should be accompanied by such information as may be needed for intelligent action. Gov. Dingley has shown so strong a disposition toward a practical and effective conduct of his office as to lead to the confident anticipation that he will not let pass unimproved a valuable opportunity for procuring in an economical way, property which the State must have.

Some Questions.

Even the Congressional Globe is useful, surprising as it may seem. The last case where it has been made available is in connection with the Sanborn scandal for the purpose of ascertaining who is responsible for that bit of mischievous legislation. We have before stated that it came from the Senate where its sponsor was Mr. Sawyer now Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, and was opposed by the House until, in the last hours of the session, it was allowed to go to save the legislative appropriation bill. At all previous stages in the House, it was opposed by the leading members. Among the most prominent opponents was Mr. Hale of this State. One fact stated by him is particularly worthy of notice. It is that the scheme did not originate in the Senate but the "proposition first came to the Committee on appropriations in the House and was voted down. It was then put on in the Senate."

Now it appears by this same Congressional Globe that but one member in the House, Gen. B. F. Butler, advocated it, which he did while admitting that Secretary Boutwell did not favor the scheme. In view of these facts, what is the fair inference? Simply that it was Gen. Butler's scheme. It was crowded through the House just as the salary bill of this same champion of all bad measures, was crowded through—to save an appropriation bill.

In the course of the debate there is one point further worthy of notice. Mr. Hale in his earnest opposition to the measure said: "What I object to is this, that these informers should be paid for assisting the proper officers of the government. What are the proper officers to do if they are not to detect these things and to execute the law? What are the district attorneys and the whole paraphernalia of our courts, what are they all for, unless to enforce the law? I wish that the government should not appear in this attitude of confessing that its officers are incompetent and have not attended to their duties in the past, and are now forced to make contracts with informers who come to them trading upon their knowledge."

The remarks of Mr. Hale, made three years since, now suggest the pertinent inquiry: Why cannot the supervisors, special agents and other internal revenue officers do this work that Sanborn and his associates have so successfully begun? Are they incompetent or have they other duties as had Mr. Simmons last summer in Massachusetts in packing caucuses? Have these offices been bestowed upon men having no fitness for the positions? If so, for what purpose?

SINCE our last issue, we have seen the circular inviting the Congregational churches to participate in the Brooklyn council, and it is just to say that it is not called to deal with Mr. Beecher's church but to settle certain questions growing out of the course pursued toward Mr. Tilton so as to secure uniformity of practice hereafter among the churches of that faith throughout the country. In the letter inviting the churches to participate in the council there is no criticism of the action of the Plymouth church but a declaration of the importance of determining and announcing a church policy on the questions that the action of Mr. Beecher's church has rendered important. The council is called at Brooklyn March 24th at 7 o'clock P. M.

THERE will be a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Normal Schools of Maine, at Augusta on Tuesday, 31st inst. to consider the subject of a post-graduate course and to carry into effect the recent legislation authorizing such course. The movement contemplates a wider usefulness for the Normal Schools and such enlargement of their powers that they may prepare teachers for the Free High Schools now so generally established.

IT is cheerful to think that coming spring and the lengthening of the days are surely breaking the iron grasp of the coal and gas kings over us; but there comes a pang of pain to tone down our joy when we see that the professional base ballists are organizing thus early for a campaign. Pleasure and pain make up this life.

Current Notes.

Gen. Burnside will contest the Rhode Island senatorship with the representative of the house of Sprague. Hosts of people will be pleased to have him succeed.

The Springfield Republican speaks of Henry Wilson in terms of heartfelt affection saying that the word "faithful" describes and sums up his life and character. He is the survivor of Charles Sumner; and in this connection, it says that "in almost every respect, the careers of the two Republican Senators from Massachusetts present curious contrasts. The senior was born to wealth, culture, high social position; the junior worked his way up from the cobbler's bench. But they had this in common. Both feared God, loved righteousness, and hated iniquity.

A Washington correspondent of the Albany Journal says that the "red tape" of the departments is necessary to keep depraved men from plundering the national treasury. It don't always succeed.

The New York World devotes three columns and a half to the proof that the cost of one drunkard to the community is $37,000.

Now that New Hampshire has been heard from, the New York World would think it a waste of money, apparently, to insure a "democratic victory" in the next presidential canvass for a sixpence. Such faith as this ought to have been utilized before now—say, in getting the rocks out of Hell Gate.—Springfield Republican.

Mr. David A. Wells, in an article in the April number of the Atlantic Monthly, presents a picture of the evils of an irredeemable paper currency, by relating the experience of the Republic of Texas, which tried every variety of promise to pay, now suggested by inflationists at Washington, and had the poor consolation at last to find it required fifteen dollars in treasury notes to buy three glasses of brandy and water without sugar. Governor Sam Houston, when urged to sign a bill authorizing a large issue, wisely said, "The government will never be able, by all the issues it can make, to satisfy the demands of private speculation and interest."

The Boston papers of Thursday publish the the report of Mr. Forbes on the Simmons appointment. It contains no new facts but shows that Gen. Butler gave the President to understand that he had consulted the Massachusetts delegation and they were in favor of Mr. Simmons or not opposed. Mr. Forbes concludes that if the mission of the committee "has had no other result, it has established beyond controversy the fact that one man in Washington arrogates to himself the functions of your whole delegation, and assumes alone to represent the old Bay State in its affairs."

The New York Legislature questions the propriety of allowing the Grand Trunk Railway Company to purchase real estate in Buffalo, on the ground that it is a foreign corporation. Probably the real cause is that the corporation is a dangerous competitor for the railroads terminating in New York city. The fact that produce from Chicago is landed in Liverpool cheaper via the Grand Trunk than the New York roads, is not a pleasant one.

There are 30 railroads which do not pay the interest on their bonds. There is quite a movement in Northern Pacific securities to Europe where the bonds are taken by parties who avail themselves of the privilege of exchanging them for land. The traffic on the eastern portion of this road pays something more than running expenses and the construction on the western end is proceeding slowly.

The New York training school for nurses, the establishment of which attracted general notice a year ago, reports that out of 73 applications for instruction only 29 were of a character to be accepted, and 10 of these have dropped out for various causes. The other 19 are proving the value of the tuition by great proficiency and rapid improvement.

The Boston Globe says that owing to the vigilance of Congressman Kelley of Pa., a huge land job with an innocent title was stopped and referred to the Committee of the Whole. The purpose of the bill is to secure several million acres of mineral lands by bogus preemption.

Theodore Tilton's story, "Tempest Tossed," is to be given to the public in book form. We haven't read it; but it is sufficient to say, perhaps, that Theodore wrote it, and it is nothing in the nature of biography or autobiography. The public should never forget, however, that Theodore is not, as formerly, a member of Plymouth church, and candidly canvass the question whether a man who is thus unfortunate can write a book worth reading.—Rochester Chronicle.

Somebody by the name of O'Brien from Indiana, has thought it necessary to introduce a bill in Congress prohibiting Government from dressing their servants in livery. Mr. O'Brien is more cruel than patriotic. The officials, doubtless, care nothing at all about the garb of their households, but what a constitution there will be in the bosoms of the John Thomases of Capitol Hill.—Philadelphia Press.

That America sympathises with the feeling of Irish nationality is as well recognized as is the feeling itself. We have welcomed the exile to our shores. We have given him all the material and political advantages he craved. We have guarded the altars of his faith. All we have asked in return is that he should respect our institutions and incorporate himself with our nationality, without requiring him to forswear the love he still cherishes for the land of his fathers. We are not sick of the experiment we have made. He has strengthened us and we have enlightened him.—Rochester Chronicle.

The Springfield Republican concludes that great advantages can come from electing Mr. Adams to Mr. Sumner's vacancy. It would make a deep impression on the country, and prevent hostility between the friends of Messrs. Dawes and Hoar.

Stanley gives his deliberate opinion that Dr. Livingstone is dead. Next.

The plow makers and grangers of the West are having an unpleasantness, because the first party won't sell at wholesale prices to the second party. Let them come East to buy.

It is stated that the jury in the Powers-Cary case came to their verdict by marking the damages on pieces of paper and dividing the aggregate by twelve. It is further stated that one or two marked nothing and several merely nominal sums.

TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT IN BANGOR.—A spicy time was had at a ladies' temperance meeting in Bangor on Wednesday. The ladies, after some time spent in prayer, proposed to complete arrangements for beginning work on the saloons, but some clergymen who were present endeavored to take charge of the meeting and wished the devotional exercises to continue. The ladies resisted, and one plain-spoken sister told the clergymen that some men were as meddlesome as women are reported to be. She declared that the women mean to shut up every rum-hole in Bangor. The ladies then voted to hold a business meeting the next day, excluding all men. Their intention is to demand of the City Government the closing of all places where liquor is sold, giving members of that body to understand that office-holding will be warm work if the demand is not complied with. After the meeting one lady visited a saloon and gave the keeper a lecture on the evil of his traffic.

STRANGE PROCEDURE.—A gentleman from Belfast says that the steamer Katahdin on the way to Boston recently got aground at her wharf in that city. He told the passengers that it would be an hour before the boat would get off; thereupon a large number went ashore to take a stroll about town. The boat got afloat before an hour, when, without giving a signal, the captain prepared to leave. A large number got aboard at the risk of being drowned and others were left behind. The attention of the officer was called to the fact, but he only expressed the opinion that they had no business ashore and he shouldn't wait for them. There may be another side to the affair.

Washington News and Gossip.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS IN THE SANBORN MATTER.

The Boston Advertiser's special says that another complication for the Treasury Department has arisen in the Sanborn matter. Members of the Ways and Means Committee have ascertained that all the information in regard to a very important application for a contract under the act of May 8, 1872, has been withheld. Upon inquiry the excuse is that the resolution of the house only called for information in regard to contracts actually made, and did not cover applications for contracts. The Secretary, however, in his second communication to the House used the following language: "The papers herewith transmitted comprise copies of all contracts, schedules, receipts, certificates, checks and other correspondence having any bearing upon, or relation to any and all the steps or action taken by the Treasury Department under the provisions of the law referred to." The committee, however, soon learned of several documents that were omitted, and were about to call formally on the Secretary for the third time, when he requested that such resolution should be passed, and promised, if it was, immediately to send all the remaining papers to the House. It now appears that a gentleman, now in the city for the purpose of appearing before the committee, applied for contracts, which was strictly in accordance with the spirit of the law. The application was made a few days after the bill passed. The person making it had discovered where the land-grant railroads have overcharged the government for transportation of freight more than $3,000,000, and he set forth in an accompanying affidavit all the needed information to insure its collection. Though he was the first to apply, and the work he proposed to do was in strict accord with the law, he was unable to procure a contract and was constantly put off, until, finally, three persons were selected, and under the law no others could be engaged. It will come out that the failure to give the contract to him arose from the opposition made here by the agents of the railroad companies, and he was finally told that the department could not undertake to collect this sum from the roads.

Members of the committee conversant with the case deem this one of the very worst matters yet brought to light in the whole infamous business. The case, as fully set forth to the department, was one where the roads named had deliberately violated their charter and as deliberately swindled the government out of $3,000,000. Persons in position to be well informed say there is no longer any doubt but that this Sanborn matter will lead to a change both in the Secretary and Assistant Secretary. Every day's developments under it tend to make certain that the Ways and Means Committee, or some other committee of the House will be obliged to investigate the matter by means of sworn testimony. Mr. Sanborn, who has been in Boston consulting with Gen. Butler, telegraphed the committee to-day asking that the hearing they had promised him might be delayed until next Tuesday. He was informed the committee would wait, but would like to hear him sooner. On account of the late developments the committee may feel compelled to bring the matter before the House without further delay.

VARIOUS MATTERS.

The constitutional point is raised against the pending McCrary transportation bill, that conceded that Congress has the power to regulate railroad freights and fares, the power to fix these rates cannot be delegated to a commission.

A Washington special says that the army element are working energetically among members of Congress to secure the defeat of Mr. Coburn's Army Reduction bill, and feel certain of success. Gen. Sherman is strongly opposed to any reduction, and it is intimated that the President will use his influence to prevent the bill passing.

The Temperance Crusade.

The following notes will give an idea of the extent of the temperance movement in the West and elsewhere:

The Catholics of Lawler, Iowa, celebrated St. Patrick's Day by a grand temperance meeting.

At Galesboro', Ill, there was an immense temperance meeting on Sunday. The cause is gaining strength and promises to succeed.

In Williamsport, Pa., the saloon keepers are not happy, because the ladies persist in taking the name of every man that goes in to drink.

The Catholic clergyman at South Bend has avowed himself an earnest friend of temperance, and would be glad to see the traffic suppressed even by the strong arm of the law.

The temperance enthusiasm is intense in Xenia, Ohio. The ladies devoted a day recently to prayer in front of the saloons, and next day the last three surrendered. No rum is now sold in the place.

The crusaders have completely triumphed in Allegan, Mich. There are twenty-seven other places in Michigan from which favorable reports are received.

At Union City, Ind., the last saloons were closed on the 14th, those of Cain and Grubber. All their property that could be got hold of was taken charge of by the Sheriff of Darke Co., on an injunction. A grand jollification meeting was held on the 15th.

Judge Spofford (so called) of Chillicothe, who denounced temperance ministers as "those scoundrels the preachers," in a recent speech, was very bitter against the ladies because they persistently prayed in front of Dunn's liquor shop—"a gentleman of pure character and an honest member of the Episcopal church."

A circular has been issued in behalf of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America, explaining the plan of permanent and effective organization of the total abstinence forces and calling upon societies in all quarters to connect themselves with the Union.

The Catholics of Boston Highlands are very active in favor of temperance, under the lead of Father James Griffin of the St. Francis de Sales Church. At a meeting three weeks ago, over 100 signed the pledge, and on Sunday under the eloquent persuasions of Father Hannebery, nearly 2800 persons signed at the two services.

ROMANTIC MARRIAGE.—Miss Jennie Johnson, of New Orleans, who had been a pupil at the Augusta Female Seminary, had known and loved a young merchant of the Crescent City, named Wilcox, before she went there. Wilcox loved the maiden fair. By preconcerted action he appeared in Staunton last August at the American Hotel, and by playing the cousin dodge on the unsuspecting academy principal, he was permitted several unobstructed interviews with his lady love. He finally got a license, and presenting the same to the Methodist parsonage, was duly married, he starting immediately for New Orleans, and she for the academy. The little wife kept the secret bravely till a week since, when she imparted it under injunction of the strictest sort about non-revealment. Of course everybody in Staunton knew all about it in half an hour afterwards. Pater familias being summoned took the matter philosophically, and carried his daughter to New Orleans. He remarked that he should endeavor to make the most of it, and do all in his power to contribute to the prosperity and happiness of the strangely wedded pair. The Valley Virginian remarks thereupon: "Hereafter, we think young cousins will have to come to Staunton pretty strongly authenticated before they will be permitted to pay their respects to the young ladies of any of our female schools."—Richmond State Journal.

ODD FELLOWSHIP.—W. E. Pressey, M. W. Grand Patriarch, assisted by the other Grand officers, instituted Dirigo Encampment I. O. O. G., at Kittery on the evening of last Tuesday. This encampment starts with twenty-three members and has every prospect of being a success.

The Encampment branch of the Order is increasing in numbers and influence very fast.—The Grand Scribe has received a petition for the establishment of an Encampment at Auburn, also for one at Farmington, Both will probably be instituted next week.

A NATIVE WINE CASE.—Last February the City Marshal of Augusta seized a keg of Main's black cherry wine from M. L. Enbright. The defendant was bound over to the Supreme Court, and yesterday the case came up, County Attorney Whitehouse appearing for the State, and E. F. Pillsbury, esq., for the defendant. The jury retired after being charged by Judge Danforth, and after an absence of ten minutes returned with a verdict of not guilty.

A New Britain man considers that this is a sadly unappreciative world. He tried to assist in the worship of a Second Advent church with a Jewsharp. He proved that his conduct was Scriptural, but he was fined $10.

Dickens' Domestic Misconduct.

To the Editor of the Press:

I cannot forbear to express my appreciation of your candor in yielding to the evidence which Dickens' own biographer and friend reluctantly gives of his barbarous ill-treatment of his wife.

I know how hard it is to admit that a favorite public teacher of morals, whether in the pulpit, the college, or the author's study, is a fraud and an imposter. I respect the fairness of mind and moral courage which prompts the public confession of disappointment at the shattering of such an idol through an editorial leader.

I have not seen Forster's life of Dickens, but more than ten years ago while in England I became convinced that Dickens was a man of low instincts, selfish, heartless, if not immoral.

The man who in the day of prosperity, wealth and fame, tired of the wife of his youth and turned out of doors the companion of his early struggles, the mother of his twelve children, and that without any proof or accusation of misconduct on her part, must be a cold-blooded unfeeling creation, and his ability to conceive of and delineate qualities diametrically opposite only proves that he must have sinned deliberately, fully realizing his own meanness and guilt.

The woman who, under any conceivable circumstances, consented to take charge of the family of a discarded sister, with the euphonious but ambiguous titles of "aunt" and "housekeeper" is in my opinion, as indelicate as her brother-in-law was wicked, and cannot complain if English common sense draws the natural inference from such life.

The man, who, in his will, calls public attention to such mysterious and extraordinary proceedings by drawing a comparison between his discarded wife and her more successful sister, is not entitled to the benefit of that thoroughly pagan maxim, "de mortuis nil nisi bonum."

An honest man's blood might well boil with indignation at the wrongs of that poor, silent, broken-hearted woman, dragged to Westminster Abbey in a stately carriage by the Queen's express command, to grace the showy obsequies of the man from whose bed and family she had been disdainfully expelled years before; while the moralist for whose glory this solemn mockery was enacted, could not descend into his pompous grave without discharging a poisoned Parthian arrow at the mother of his children under cover of a will. The author who, in his youth, abused our homely hospitality by his insolent "Notes on America", died, as he lived, without honor and without gratitude. I doubt whether the world's annals afford a more conspicuous example of that hypocrisy which delights to edify a gaping public by

"Pointing out the straight and thorny road to Heaven,
Whilst like a puff'd and reckless libertine,
Himself the primrose path of dalliance treads
And notes not his own road."

The following letter to a Congressional inflationist hits the nail on the head: "I see you are in favor of more money, I have a few dollars in my pocket that I should like to have inflated. I have also some debts that I should like to have contracted. If you gentlemen in Congress will manage to liberally increase the one and decrease the other, I think I can come out about even."

A terrible case of burying alive has occurred near Pittsburg. A Mrs. Coggswell died, as was supposed, during her husband's absence, and was buried. Some days afterward he returned home, and insisted upon having the body exhumed so that he could once more look upon the remains. The coffin was opened in presence of a few friends, and to the horror of all present, the corpse was found lying upon its face, and there was unmistakable evidence that the woman had been buried alive, and that a fearful struggle had occurred before death had finally came to the relief of the sufferer. The grief-stricken husband fell across the coffin a raving maniac.

IN GENERAL.

The Postmaster General has appointed A. J. W. Stevens to be Postmaster at Parkman, vice Charles T. Seabury resigned, and Wm. Ware to be Postmaster at South Windsor, vice Mrs. L. C. Mason resigned; Samuel A. Hodge at Hartland, vice S. E. Prescott resigned.

The Stomach's Revenge.

The stomach cannot be maltreated with impunity. Overload it with food, irritate it with fiery liquors, impair its activity or vitiate its juices by any outrage on the laws of health, and it revenges itself through the liver, the bowels, the kidneys, the brain or the nervous system, and sometimes through all these organs simultaneously, or in succession. There is scarcely any variety of bodily or mental pain or discomfort which it does not inflict upon those who abuse and overtask its powers. Under these circumstances there is but one medicine to which the sufferer can resort to with the certainty of obtaining immediate and permanent relief. The most wholesome and genial of all stomachics and correctors, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, produces an immediate and most beneficent change in the condition of the patient. The whole digestive system is at once invigorated and soothed, the liver regulated and toned, the bowels relieved of all obstructions, the spirits cheered, and the relaxed nerves strengthened and steadied.

Wilbor's Cod Liver Oil and Lime.

The friends of persons who have been restored from confirmed consumption by the use of this original preparation, and the grateful parties themselves, have, by recommending it and acknowledging its wonderful efficacy, giving the article a vast popularity in New England. The Cod Liver Oil is in this combination robbed of its unpleasant taste, and is rendered doubly effective in being coupled with the lime, which is itself a restorative principle, supplying nature with just the agent and assistance required to heal and reform the diseased lungs. A. B. WILBOR, Boston, is the proprietor. Sold by all druggists,

Dr. Schenck's Standard Remedies!

The standard remedies for all diseases of the lungs are SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SCHENCK'S SEA-WEED TONIC, and SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS, and if taken before the lungs are destroyed, a speedy cure is effected.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary diseases.

The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs; nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, for when the phlegm or matter is ripe a slight cough will throw it off, the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To enable the Pulmonic Syrup to do this, Schenck's Mandrake Pills and Schenck's Sea-weed Tonic must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver. Schenck's Mandrake Pills act on the liver, removing all obstructions, relax the gall bladder, the bile starts freely, and the liver is soon healthy.

Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic is a gentle stimulant and alterative; the alkali of which it is composed mixes with the food, and prevents souring. It assists the digestion, by toning up the stomach to a healthy condition, so that the food and Pulmonic Syrup will make good blood; then the lungs heal, and the patient will surely get well if care is taken to prevent fresh cold.

Dr. Schenck can be consulted at the Quincy House, Boston, on Wednesday, March 25th, April 8th and 22nd, May 13th and 27th.

Advice will be given free, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer, the charge is $5.00.

Schenck's Medicines are sold by all Druggists throughout the country.

Schenck's Almanac can be had of all Druggists, free. mc12eod&w1ysn11

York County S. J. Court.

BEFORE JUDGE VIRGIN.

THURSDAY.—An adjourned session of the Supreme Judicial Court was held in the City Building, Saco, Thursday.

The business before the Court was dispatched quite rapidly. It consisted principally in filing exceptions and rendering decisions in cases held under advisement.

The cases of John Donovan, Thomas Brown and Jeremiah Donovan, tried at the last session of Court, were disposed of. John Donovan did not appear, and his bondsmen—Matthew Brennan and Jeremiah Collins—were defaulted; they are securities on two indictments for $500 each—$1000.

Thomas Brown did not put in an appearance and his bondsmen—William Brown and James Hoysted—were defaulted; they are securities for $500.

Owen Campbell and Timothy Broderick—bondsmen for Jeremiah Donovan—surrendered their man to the sheriff and the clerk read the sentence on two indictments. On the first indictment Jere. is ordered to pay a fine of $100 or go to jail for sixty days; on the second, a fine of $100 or go to jail for three months—the second sentence to be served at the expiration of the first; this would give him five months in jail.

Building and Being.

Last evening Rev. E. H. Chapin delivered at City Hall his lecture entitled "Building and Being." The audience was, considering the lateness of the season and the bad condition of the traveling, a large one. The lecture did not begin until half past eight owing to the illness of Mr. Chapin, who found it difficult to speak at all.

The lecture was a very characteristic one, abounding as it did in ornate flights of rhetoric, in cutting sarcasm, in vigorous pleading for the right and in those odd and grotesque comparisons peculiar to Mr. Chapin among American platform speakers. It might have borne as a sub-title, "The whole duty of man."

The theme of the discourse was the proper development of character, individual, social and national. This idea was kept well in hand, though the thought became at times a little nebulous as the speaker wandered off into some lofty flight of declamation. He began by saying that a formative process was continually going on all about us. Nothing is really ever lost, but all matter is continually changing its structure. The great law of nature is not a law of death, but a law of ever-working change. Old forms are merely destroyed to give place to new ones. The physical and mental history of the world is epitomized in the work of destruction and construction in process in a great city.

This work of construction is of chief interest to us in the development of character. Individual, or social, or national. It is true that in a man's life much works outside of his will. His life is an interweaving of influences from without and within. There is no such thing as a detached individuality. The man is in a measure moulded by his surroundings. Still these outside influences have been greatly magnified by Buckle and his school. Inside all these are the potentialities of the man. Every man who lives, constructs. No really great, efficient man was ever built up by circumstances.

The lecturer then enlarged upon the duty and necessity of a harmonious development of character and deplored the exclusive cultivation of special faculties. It is often argued that this disproportionate development of one faculty at the expense of all others is in the line which nature has indicated; that the man of great imaginative power necessarily lacks practical or executive force. This the lecturer held to be an error. A man should be wholly educated. Both mental and physical powers should be studiously cultivated. More learning is not necessarily culture or education. A man may have his head crammed with facts and still not be a man of true education. Learning is but of little good unless it can be made to accomplish something; unless its possessor knows how to effect something with it.

The matter of social development was next taken up, the speaker contending that the great want of the age is culture. The present is an age of intellectual activity, but scarcely one of culture. Still the process of tearing down and building up continues and good is being evolved. If we will only cease to be so pretentious, to put ourselves forward for what we are not, our progress will be much more rapid. Some aspects of our national development were then considered, and Charles Sumner adduced as an example of that complete development, which formed the theme of the lecture.

The Exhibition.

Mr. Editor:—There seems to be one important question that ought to be settled in connection with the Portland Industrial Exhibition, and upon that depends much of its success.

In the call for the Exhibition, it reads as follows: The object of this proposed Exhibition is to gather together specimen products from all our factories and workshops in our city or elsewhere under the direction and control of our citizens.

Now we believe there are those who have applied for room whose goods do not come under the class mentioned, and entirely foreign from the original idea.

Will not the committee have this matter placed before us in true light, so there may not be any misunderstanding or hindrance to so worthy a cause. MANUFACTURERS.

MR. EDITOR:—The above article appeared in your paper yesterday and is a very proper inquiry. In reply, the undersigned have to say that the Secretary, Mr. Blanchard, receives and places on file all applications that come, but will assure manufacturers and all others that the goods and wares manufactured in Portland and elsewhere, under the control of our citizens shall have all the space alloted them that our limited room will permit.

The Board will adhere strictly to the original plan of making this exhibition exclusively a Portland enterprise.

A TELEGRAPH PIONEER.—The death of one of the oldest telegraph men in the State, Mr. Samuel P. Plaisted, was announced Wednesday. For the last twenty-six years Mr. Plaisted has been in the business, and has been in charge of the construction of nearly all of the telegraph lines between Boston and St. John. At the time of his disease he was connected with the Western Union Company. His connection with telegraphy began in 1847, when he aided in building the first line east of Boston. His business brought him into contact with many people, and he had a large circle of acquaintances throughout New England. He leaves a family of three daughters and two sons.

The funeral services take place at two o'clock this afternoon from his late residence at No. 91 Green street.

INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION.—The following additional applications have been received, viz:

W. A. Norris, Jig Saw in operation.
J. G. Hayes & Co., Hats, Caps and Furs.
T. J. Akely, Three Carriages.
Geo. W. H. Brooks, Cans of fancy Crackers and Cakes, cases of Bread, Pastry, &c.
Joseph Currier, Patent Hotel Bell and Hanging Fixtures, &c.
Duncan Morrison, Patent Stone Drilling Machine, with man to run it.
Wm H. Kohling, one suit clothes.
A. T. Hall, Scythes and axes.
W. C. Cobb, Specimens of baked bread, cakes, pastry &c.
Old Orchard Slate Co. A. L. Dennison, Agent roofing Slate, Slabs, flaggings, &c.
Geo. S. Swasey, Parlor billiard table.

OUT OF WORK.—A man and his wife, from Canada, have been at the police station in this city for about two weeks. They are out of money and cannot get work. The man occasionally gets a short job, but it does not suffice to support the two, so they still occupy the small lodging room. The woman is seventeen years of age and quite good looking. She appears to be willing to work, but as yet has found no chance.

POLICE NOTES.—Deputy Marshal Williams and officer Stevens, arrested a man named Price for an assault, in the street, upon a man named Black.

Officer York arrested a boy yesterday for vagrancy. He was released on condition that he left the city.

"Uncle Oliver's" lodgers are on a strike this warm weather, but two new ones applied last night.

KATAHDIN SLATE COMPANY.—This company was organized yesterday afternoon by the choice of the following directors: David Keazer, J. B. Mathews, M. L. Stevens, C. J. Chapman, W. W. Thomas, Jr., Albert Evans and I. W. Starbird. Subsequently the board of directors elected the following officers: President, David Keazer; Vice President, J. B. Mathews; Clerk, M. L. Stevens; Treasurer, C. J. Chapman.

MATTERS IN MAINE.

The Reed Murder Trial.

BANGOR, March 19.—The testimony introduced in the Reed murder trial the past two days does not vary much from the evidence in former trials. Several witnesses testified that the road from Medway Village up river was wet at all seasons.

The prisoner, Elbridge W. Reed, was put on the stand and testified that the day of the murder he was digging potatoes; was not at Ray's house that night; never told Mrs. Ray he killed her husband; did not kill Ray; had nothing to do with burying him. After supper on the evening Ray was missing went to Fisk's after a bunch of shingles; took them on my shoulder and in getting over the bars fell; carried shingles to parson's house; then went to the hotel and then home; got home at 7.35; went to bed early and did not get up again that night. The next morning went to Hathaway's after a horse collar. The road was muddy. Never borrowed canoe of Cram to go to the Island. Had no cattle on the Island. Never had a cross word with Ray. The prisoner made a good appearance on the stand and sustained unmoved, a searching cross examination by the Attorney General. Several other witnesses were introduced by the defence to confirm former testimony, and the case for the defence was rested. Some rebutting testimony was then introduced by the government. Mrs. Severance, widow of the murdered man Ray, who has since married, was placed on the stand again and testified she was afraid to testify to the truth at the first trial; was advised not to. The Attorney General here offered to prove by witnesses that she was deterred from testifying to the truth on the first trial by defendant's counsel but the Court excluded it. Some more unimportant evidence was offered and it was announced that the testimony was all in.

The Temperance Movement.

The ladies connected with the new temperance movement met to-day and organized and adopted a series of resolutions calling on the city government to confine the doings of the city liquor agency strictly to the letter of the law or to abolish it altogether, and also asking that the prohibitory law be strictly enforced in the city. If this is not done they say they will resort to prayer as has been done in the west.

Strange Conduct of the Lewiston Murderer.

LEWISTON, March 19.—Lowell, convicted of wife murder, made to his counsel recently a statement that his wife was thrown from the carriage by accident while riding with him and broke her neck. He said he hired a man to dispose of the body. Wednesday, however, he stated that his story to his counsel was false.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The Legislature.

BOSTON, March 19.—The Massachusetts Senate to-day, by a vote of 18 to 14, reconsidered its passage of the 10 hour bill to be enacted. It also refused to suspend the rules to amend the bill by fixing the time for it to take effect Oct. 1st, and then postpone the subject until to-morrow.

March 24th, at 2.30 o'clock, the House will vote for a successor to Senator Sumner's place in the Senate.

Various Matters.

Daniel Stanwood, of the firm of Henderson & Stanwood, Nos. 8 and 13 Court street, died at his store this morning from rheumatism of the heart.

It is stated that so many delays have been made in the examination of the books of Jordan, Marsh & Co., that suit against them cannot possibly be made ready for trial before June. The examination of the books is still uncompleted.

NEW YORK.

Not High Toned.

NEW YORK, March 19.—John Livingstone states to a reporter that President Watson of the Erie road, learning some time since that the legislative yearly passes were being sold, he authorized him to follow up the matter. He accordingly, through one Robert Taft, his clerk, began to open correspondence with New Jersey legislators, and ascertained that half of them were willing to sell their passes. He bought four, paying from $30 to $50 each, and received letters from fourteen others offering to sell. Those who delivered their passes and were paid for them were Senators Beesley and Banghort, and Assemblymen Lee and Ryder. Taft's affidavit in each case was personally delivered to President Watson.

Various Matters.

Another dense fog seriously interferes with navigation, preventing thousands from reaching the city.

The ferry boat Pomonia collided with an unknown ship down the bay at half-past seven this morning. There was considerable panic, but no lives were lost

The fact that three deadly assaults have recently been made by our police upon innocent people is pointed to by the Tribune as proof that there is something radically wrong in our police system.

Conrad Jacobs, who was sent to the insane asylum at the instance of his wife and children, has recovered $500 damage from two physicians who alleged that he was insane.

A pamphlet is in circulation here by the late Auditor Dunan of the Erie Railway, showing that the company is in an unsound condition.

The horse disease is reported as spreading, and the horse doctors do not seem to treat it effectively. It is different in some respects from the epizootic.

The canal boat Campbell was sunk in a collision with the Brooklyn ferry boat Winona during the fog to-day.

The Importers and Grocers Board of Trade unanimously adopted the report of the committee on trade statistics and the publication to the moiety questions. It prays Congress to abolish the present rascally system.

Another indictment was found by the U. S. grand jury in Brooklyn, against Sanborn, Hawley & Van Reswerken, on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government.

The men on the Erie railroad pier, No. 31, are on a strike for an increase of wages from 17½ cents to 20 cents an hour.

Joseph Arch, the English laborer reformer, will again visit America in June.

Thomas Jones, accused of the murder of his half brother at South Oyster Bay, L. I., in June last, has been under examination at Jamaica for several days and has been honorably discharged.

The colored people of Newark last night adopted resolutions of mourning for the death of Sumner.

Robert Humphrey was arrested in Jersey City as a supposed incendiary.

WASHINGTON.

The Moiety System.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—Judge Noah Davis made an elaborate statement to-day of his connection with the Phelps-Dodge case. The papers first handed him gave the opinion that the case justified a further examination, but arranged that the warrant for the seizure of books and papers should not be used unless the firm refused to exhibit them, and that the warrant should be under his (Davis) control. The firm expressed the greatest astonishment at the charge, declaring their entire innocence of fraud or any violation of the statutes. After repeated interviews, the arrangement for settlement was made the evening before Judge Davis retired from his office as U. S. District Attorney. Meantime Bliss had secretly taken the oath of office and on Davis proposing to Bliss to go to the custom house and close up the case jointly with him, so that he (Bliss) could participate in the fees, Bliss told him the case would not be closed that day and declined to go to the custom house. Mr. Davis then met Collector Arthur, Naval Officer Laflin and Jayne at Laflin's office in the custom house, and announced to them that if the case went before a jury it would never result against the firm, unless under special instructions from a judge, and also announced to them that he should take no fee in the matter.

Judge Davis continued his details, showing great double dealing on the part of Bliss and the custom house officials.

In his testimony to-day, Judge Davis stated Jayne sent for him Dec. 30th and he found Jayne with counsel for Phelps, Dodge & Co., arranging a settlement at the Astor House. The first proposition of $50,000 was not satisfactory to Jayne, but it was finally arranged to settle the whole thing that evening for $260,000 between Jayne and the counsel for the firm. Judge Davis said he never commenced any suit against Phelps, Dodge & Co. No money was ever paid to him and he had received no money directly or indirectly from the case. A few days after, returning from the office upon the application of Mr. Dodge, he advised him to fight the case out to the end.

The District Investigation.

The District Investigation Committee are to send for private papers and for such persons as may be necessary to secure a thorough investigation. After an unimportant examination relative to the school fund they took a recess.

Treasury Balances.

The following are the Treasury balances today:—Currency, $2,759,959; special deposit of legal tenders for redemption of certificates of deposit, $52,955,000; coin, $86,698,623, including coin certificates $40,705,700; outstanding legal tenders, $382,000,000.

Internal revenue receipts $324,049.

Confirmations.

The Senate to-day confirmed the following nominations: Ada C. Sweet to be pension agent at Chicago, Ill; Jas. W. Steele of Kansas, consul at Matanzas.

The nomination of Manlow Stubbs of Kansas, agent for the Kane Indians of Kansas, was rejected.

Civil Service Reform.

The committee on reform in the civil service to-day, agreed to report with amendments Mr. Woodford's bill to provide for a commission for a reorganization of the customs revenue service of the United States. As amended the bill enact that within ten days after passage the President shall by and with the advice and consent of the Senate appoint three commissioners, of whom at least one shall have been an importing merchant, whose duty it shall be to codify, simplify and arrange all laws of the United States, and regulating the Treasury Department with regard to importations from foreign countries, and the collection of duties thereon for a reasonable reduction of allowances to officials and informers, and for providing the people safeguards in respect to the seizure of book and papers That such commissioners shall be required to present their report to the President on or before the first day of November, 1874, in order that he may transmit the same with any recommendations thereon to the present Congress at the opening of its second session, and that such commissioners shall receive a salary of $5000 per annum, and be allowed to appoint such clerks as they may require, which said clerks shall jointly receive compensation not exceeding $5000. Said commissioners shall report their disbursements in detail with vouchers.

The Howard Court of Inquiry.

In the Howard Court of inquiry to-day, Second Comptroller Brodhead, Second Auditor French and Third Auditor Rutherford were examined regarding the rules governing disbursing officers of the army while Gen. Howard was Commissioner of the Freedmen's Buraau, and made responsible under the act of March 29, 1860, the same as other disbursing officers. To-morrow the Court will hear the testimony of Assistant Adjutant General Vincent.

Forty-Third Congress—First Session.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 18.

A bill was reported from the Committee on Commerce appropriating $30,000 for improving the mouth of the Mississippi River. Laid over.

A bill was passed amending the act for the prevention of the extermination of fur bearing animals in Alaska.

A bill was passed authorizing certain aliens to be employed as pilots and engineers.

A resolution was adopted that the Committee on Commerce inquire into the expediency of directing a survey of the Colorado Desert, with a view of submerging it with water, and also the effect of such submergence upon the climate in that locality.

A resolution by Mr. Buckingham, that the Secretary of the Interior give the number of Indians killed by troops in 1873, and the number of citizens and soldiers killed by the Indians was passed.

Several bills on the calendar were passed, including one for the relief of Willard Home of Massachusetts.

The army appropriation bill was then considered.

Mr. Dennis from the Committee on Commerce reported without amendment, Commissioner's bill to protect the navigable waters of the United States from injury and obstructions, forbidding the dumping of ballast except in such places as shall be designated by the collectors or surveyors of customs; also without amendment the House bill repealing the 13th section of the act of March 3d, 1855, regulating the carrying of passengers in steamships and other vessels, &c.

The bill appropriating $10,000 to pay the expenses of the Joint Committee to Investigate the management of affairs of the District of Columbia was passed.

The Senate resumed the consideration of the army appropriation bill, the pending question being on the section appropriating $10,000 for the army medical museum and medical and other works for the library of the Surgeon General's office. Agreed to.

The second section of the bill in regard to unexpended balances was amended to read as follows: "That all balances of appropriations for whatever account made for the service of the departments of the Quartermaster General and Commissary General of subsistence prior to July 1st, 1872, which, on the 30th of June, 1874, shall remain on the books of the Treasury shall be covered into the surplus fund except such as the Auditor of the Treasury, whose duty it is to settle the accounts against such appropriations, shall certify to the Secretary of the Treasury to be necessary in the settlement of such accounts pending in his office.

The Committee on Appropriations have reported in favor of striking out the last section of the bill as it passed the House, which provided that all claims of all citizens who remained loyal during the war for stores or supplies taken or furnished during the rebellion for the use of the army of the United States and for the use or loss of vessels or boats while employed on military service of the United States, including any such claims now pending and to be determined in any debt of the government, shall be presented to the Southern claims commission before November 1st, 1875, who shall have exclusive jurisdiction to hear and determine the same provided all such claims now pending and undetermined in the depot of the Quartermaster General or Commissary General of subsistence shall on the passage of this act be transferred to the Southern Claims Commission with the evidence thereon.

The House further provided there should be two additional members of that Commission to devote their time exclusively to the claims transferred, but the Senate Committee reported in favor of striking out this section and inserting the following: "The Quartermaster General, Commissary General and the 3d Auditor of the Treasury shall continue receive, examine and consider the justice and validity of such claims as shall be brought before them under the act of July 4th, 1864, and the Secretary of the Treasury shall make a report of each claim allowed them at the commencement of each session of Congress to the Speaker of the House who shall lay the same before Congress for consideration.

Mr. Logan moved an amendment appropriating $20,000 to continue the experiments with the modern breech loading system of ordnance.

Mr. West raised a point of order that the amendment had not been submitted to the committee and no notice was given of an intention to offer it.

Mr. Logan said the Secretary of War favored such an appropriation, and read a letter from that officer in favor thereof. He asked that the letter be referred to the committee on appropriations and gave notice that he would move an amendment to a future appropriation bill.

Mr. West asked the unanimous consent to offer an amendment repealing so much of the act of July 5th, 1838, as forbids a detail of officers of the army as acting paymasters, and authorizing the Secretary of War to make such detail and prescribe bonds which he may consider necessary. Objection being made it was withdrawn.

Mr. West gave notice he would offer it as a substitute for the bill to increase the pay of the department of the army, when that bill should come up, upon the ground that there was no use in increasing the staff of the army after the rank and file had been reduced.

Mr. Stevenson offered an amendment, conferring upon the Court of Claims jurisdiction to determine all claims growing out of the war of persons who remained loyal or who took the oath of allegiance under the President's proclamation of Dec. 1863, and abolishing the Southern Claims Commission.

Mr. Stevenson, in support of his amendment urged that no subordinate of the Quartermaster General had the right to decide upon the loyalty of his (Stevenson's) constituents.

Mr. Frelinghuysen denied the obligation of the government to reimburse citizens for property destroyed in the enemy's country.

Mr. Stevenson argued that the government was bound to make full compensation for property taken or used by its troops, or destroyed otherwise than in actual battle.

Mr. Carpenter said that if the country was at war with England and sent its army into Canada, the moment the line was crossed the army would be in the enemy's country, and all the property there would be deemed as belonging to the enemy. No distinction would be made between that of an American citizen in Canada and that of a British subject.

Pending the discussion the Senate went into executive session and at 5 o'clock the Senate adjourned.

HOUSE.

The bill and amendments relating to mines and mining was considered.

After debate and without coming to a vote the mining bill went over to Tuesday.

Mr. Albright of Pennsylvania, introduced a bill to amend the act of 1793, in regard to the enrollment and licensing of vessels employed in fishing and coast trade.

The House went into committee of the whole on the legislative appropriation bill.

The item of $58,000 for the pay of the capital police gave rise to much discussion.

The item of $130,000 for the mileage of members of the House having been reached, Mr. Smith of Pennsylvania, offered an amendment confining the allowance for mileage actual traveling expenses. Ruled out of order.

Mr. Smith then moved to reduce the amendment to $20,000, and sent to the clerk's desk statements from the Secretary of the Treasury, showing that the amount mileage paid to members of the 42d Congress was $196,557, and the amount paid at the present session when only actual traveling expenses were allowed was only $23,476. There was an opportunity for reformers to save $150,000 on that single item. The amendment was rejected, 54 to 94.

Mr. Mellish of New York, then moved to strike out the item for mileage, and remarked that it was time this great American swindle was abolished.

Mr. Clymer of Pennsylvania, sustained the amendment, saying the mileage feature of their pay had always been deemed odious by the American people.

Mr. Tremain of New York, argued that as the present Congress had deliberately declared the compensation of members should be $5000 and mileage, the House was bound to legislate in conformity with that. He submitted that they are trifling with the valuable time of the House and the country, and he therefore hoped that the amendment would not be adopted.

Mr. Randall of Pennsylvania, advocated the amendment, and declared that the best service the House could render the people was to strike down expenses. He (Randall) proposed to fight the appropriations in this bill line by line.

Mr. Mellish remarked that he would attempt at every opportunity to stop this stealing of $130,000 from the treasury. If that was trifling he would continue to indulge in trifling.

Mr. Parker of Missouri, asked Mr. Mellish whether he undertook to say that the members of the House were engaged in stealing $130,000.

Mr. Mellish repeated what he had already said, that the mileage was the great American swindle. He did not believe there was such a swindle perpetrated under any other government.

Mr. Parker repeated his question amid a good deal of noise and confusion, but the chairman stated the question in the form put did not seem parliamentary.

Mr. Garfield (manifesting impatience)—Let us have a vote.

Mr. Niblack moved to reduce the amount one-half, and expressed the opinion that ten cents a mile was a just and fair measure for travelling expenses.

After further discussion, Mr. Niblack's amendment was rejected, 57 to 29

Mr. Holman suggested an amendment repealing the law allowing mileage, but a point of order was raised by Mr. Parker of Missouri, and the amendment was not received.

The committee rose after having got through only two pages of the bill, and the House at half past 5 o'clock adjourned.

THE TEMPERANCE RAID.

Praying Bands at Work in Worcester.

WORCESTER, March 19.—The woman's temperance movement took a new phase here today. At nine o'clock, without previous announcement, four bands of ten or twelve women each, started out and visited many prominent saloons, singing and praying whenever allowed, and urging bar keepers, owners and spectators to sign the pledge. They were generally well treated, but their appeals met with no marked success. This afternoon the women will meet as usual for a fortnight past, to devise plans for future prosecution of the work.

Indignation Meeting.

ELIZABETH, N. J., March 19.—The meeting last night to express indignation at the German demonstration last Sunday against the Sunday laws, was the largest ever seen in this city. Hon. John Davidson presided and all the clergymen addressed the meeting. Resolutions were adopted, declaring that the open organized resistance to the Sabbath law by habitual violators, supported by a formidable element of infidelity, impresses alarm for the permanency of the Christian Sabbath, and calling on all good citizens to forsake party affiliations and put it down.

In Worcester.

WORCESTER, March 19.—The women of this city who are working in the temperance cause have, after endeavoring to obtain signatures to pledges, described and adopted Dio Lewis' plan of visiting saloons and praying there in presence of the proprietors and customers. This morning three bands started out and during the day visited about thirty saloons. Immense crowds followed the women about the streets, and police have been detailed to keep them passable to teams and foot passengers. In most cases the women have been well used, but it has been necessary in nearly every case to lock the doors after they enter the saloons to keep the crowd back.

In one or two instances women have been insulted and in each by boys. The excitement in the city is intense over the movement. During the day one dealer agreed to give up the business, but he has been one of the largest dealers in the city for some time. The State Constables are also at work and have seized over 400 gallons of liquor to day.

A Woman Murderer.

HATFORD, Conn., March 19.—A white woman, wife of James Freeman (colored) committed a horrible murder in Farmington, ten miles from this city, at an early hour this morning. Her sister, 18 years of age, occupied the same house. In the night about 12 o'clock, the murderess got up, her sister being in a chair asleep, and with an axe made the deadly assault. The victim gave a single shriek and was dead. The husband was then called from his room up stairs by the wife, who subsequently gave herself up to the authorities. Great excitement prevails in Farmington. Jealousy was the cause of the murder.

A Stubborn Editor.

CINCINNATI, March 19.—J. R. McLean of the Enquirer, yesterday again declined to answer certain queries, and the Judge fined him $50 and costs, released him from arrest, said he would sign a bill of exceptions for certiorari, and gave notice that each refusal would be a separate contempt. The case was postponed ten days, when McLean will be called upon.

FOREIGN.

Meeting of Parliament.

The Queen's Speech.

LONDON, March 19.—Parliament reassembled to-day. Shortly after opening the members of the House of Commons were summoned to the chamber of Peers, to hear the Queen's speech. It was as follows:

My Lords and Gentlemen:—

I recur to your advice at the earliest period permitted by the arrangements consequent upon the retirement of the late administration.

My foreign relations continue most friendly, and I shall not fail to exercise the influence arising from these cordial relations for the maintenance of European peace and faithful observance of international obligation.

The marriage of my son is at once a source of happiness to myself and a pledge of friendship between two great empires.

The Ashantee war has terminated in the captivity and destruction of the capitol, and negotiations, which I trust may lead to a more satisfactory condition of affairs, than hitherto. The courage, discipline and endurance of my forces, and the energy of the expedition, brilliantly maintained under the most trying circumstances, the traditionary reputation of the English army.

I deeply regret that drought has affected the most populous province of the Indian empire, and produced extreme scarcity in some parts, amounting to actual famine, over an area inhabited by many millions. I have directed the Governor General of India to spare no cost in striving to mitigate this terrible calamity.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The estimates for the expenditures during the coming financial year will be forthwith submitted to you.

My Lords and Gentlemen:

The delay and expense attending the transfer of land in England has long been felt to be a reproach to our law, and a serious obstacle to dealings in real property. I trust that the measures which will now be submitted for your consideration, will be found calculated to remove much of the evil which is complained of. You will probably be of the opinion that the re-arrangement of the judication and the blending of the administration of law and equity, which were effected in England by the enactment of the last session, ought to be extended to Ireland. You will be asked to devote part of your time to the accomplishment of this object. The greater part of these changes are inapplicable to the tribunals in Scotland, but you will be invited to consider the most satisfactory mode of bringing the proceedure upon Scottish appeals into harmony with the recent Legislature. Among other measures relating specially to Scottish interests, a bill commending the law relating to land rights, and facilitating the transfer of land will be laid before you.

Serious differences have arisen and remonstrances have been made by large classes of the community as to the working of a recent act affecting the relationship between master and servant, of act of 1871, dealing with offences connected with trade and of the laws of conspiracy. On these subjects I am desirous that before attempting fresh legislation, you should be in possession of all the national facts and of the precise question in controversy. For this purpose, I have issued by royal commission of inquiry into the state and working of the present laws, with a view to their early amendment if found necessary. A bill will be introduced deal

POETRY.

Song of the Wind.

BY JNO W. EDDY.

I sing my hymn to the mountains dim
In their solitudes of snow,
And trill my notes where the white mist floats
In the valleys far below.
I whistle through the thistle
And I moan in the trees,
I dally in the valley
And I drone over seas.

From the grey of dawn till the night comes on
And round to the morning star,
Each hour's a breve in the song I weave
Round all like a bright simar.
I quiver o'er the river
And I sigh through the brake,
I wander here and yonder,
And I fly o'er the lake.

When storms arise in the dark'ning skies
And hurl their thunders abroad,
I join my song in a cadence long,
And deep as the voice of God!
In column dense and solemn,
Over headland and town,
The marching storm o'er-arching,
Sends its dread lightnings down.

I'm in the path of the fire-fiend's wrath.
As with flame-destroying breath,
He sends his blight through the lurid night
With the dreadful doom of death!
The morrow must bring sorrow,
And the tomb have its share;
I follow with the hollow
Chant of gloom and despair.

I'm on the wave when the waters rave
And in tempestuous glee,
I sing my dirge where the whit'ning surge
Makes a woful minstrelsy!
The rattle of the battle
And the moans deep and long;
The sighing of the dying
Are my minor-tones of song.

My evening psalm is a cooling balm
To the fevered brow of care,
And notes of praise from the busy days
Commingle in gladness there.
How fleetly and how sweetly
The hours move along,
Confessing and expressing
The powers of my song.

The days go by with a laugh or sigh
Like the fitful song I sing;
But best by half are the ones that laugh
For the joyful hope they bring!
Ah dearer far and clearer
The melody of mirth,
To lighten up and brighten
The melancholy earth.

I sing for aye throught the night and day,
The song as it comes to me;
The ceaseless din of the world we're in,
The voice of immensity!
Forever down the river
Of Time's fast ebbing days,
My wildest notes and mildest,
Send chimes of ceaseless praise.

When your life shall reach its sunset hour,
May its harmonies all blend
With those that hallow the 'home above,"
And find fruition of hope and love,
When the shadows shall descend.
And may your happiness prove
For evermore, the beauty and power,
Of a song as sweet
As a life complete.

NEW BRITAIN PURE WHITE LEAD

AFTER ample experience in practical use, this article is now considered to be all that is claimed for it, and is guaranteed fully equal to any in the market.
It is STRICTLY PURE, containing nothing but fine white lead and the best refined linseed oil.
It is unexcelled in BODY.
It is unsurpassed in PURITY OF COLOR.
It is of EXTRAORDINARY FINENESS.

STATE ASSAYER'S OFFICE, 20 State St., Boston.
Gentlemen:—I have analyzed and examined the White Lead manufactured by The New Britain White Lead Company, with results as follows:—This white lead is entirely free from adulterations or make-weights of any kind, and is ground in pure linseed oil. It is fine, very dense, has good covering power, and is in every respect of standard quality.
Respectfully, S. DANA HAYES,
State Assayer and Chemist, Mass.

MEDICAL.

CATARRH!

CATARRH!!

Behold It As It Is!

Let any one suffering from this nasty and foul disease look at the above picture of his nasal organs—behold the inflamed passage—view the throat filled to repletion with the mucous, which quickly passes to the lungs and stomach; how disgusting the thought, and yet thousands day by day neglect to use simple remedies, which will certainly cure them. A short trial of the remedy.

Ræder's GERMAN SNUFF,

Will soon convince you of its wonderful merits in curing this vile disorder; a disease which, when seated, produces Consumption, from which there is no escape; one little box of the German Snuff will cure your Catarrh, and then the foul matter will disapear from your throat, and you will again breathe without trouble; in fact you will be cured, and then and not till then, will you look like the following:

How great the change; how improved your nasal organs have become. There are thousands of people who have spent

Hundreds of Dollars

TO CURE CATARRH,

But they have obtained no relief, and why? Because in the first place the remedies given them were worthless, and in the second place

But Few Physicians

Understand Catarrh.

Years ago Professor Ræder, a renowned German Chemist, devoted his entire attention to the study of this singular complaint; after years of research he was at length rewarded, and presented to the world

Ræder's GERMAN SNUFF,

A Vegetable Compound, which alway has cure and never in a single instance has failed to fully satisfy those who have used it. Please bear in mind it is not a compound that will SNEEZE YOUR HEAD OFF but in a mild and gentle way penetrates the secretions of the Head, and removes the disgusting mucous which have clogged your nose, throat and even your lungs. Try one little box, costing but 35 cents, and you will bless the day you used it. Remember that as a Preuentative you must always have a Box of

Ræder's GERMAN SNUFF

Which will by its use PREVENT disease and save you hundreds of dollars.

GERMAN SNUFF

Will Cure

A BAD COLD.

Who is free from them in this, our changing climate. A few applications and you are freed from this common but severe complaint.

GERMAN SNUFF

Will Cure

Heaviness in the Head,

So common to people, who at times find it so very troublesome that they are unfit for all business purposes; in reality it is caused by an excess of mucous, which can be removed.

GERMAN SNUFF

Will Cure

DROPPING IN THE THROAT.

Is anything more disgusting; and yet thousands of people will allow this disease to continue until at last they have Consumption, which cannot be cu ed

GERMAN SNUFF

Will Cure

Partial Deafness,

Caused only by the passages being filled with matter, which the Snuff penetrates as if by magic, and in a short time you feel like a new being.

GERMAN SNUFF

Will Cure

A BAD HEADACHE,

And because, in nine cases out of ten, all headaches have their origin in a diseased state of the nasal organs. Many people keep a supply of the Snuff on hand simply for troubles of this nature.

GERMAN SNUFF

Will Cure

SORE and WEAKEYES.

Hundreds of testimonials might be produced, showing the wonderful cure as performed upon the eyes by using the German Snuff, but one trial alone is needed to convince the most doubtful of its merits

GERMAN SNUFF

Will Cure

NOISES IN THE HEAD,

A most acute and annoying trouble, which many are now afflicted with, but by the use of the German Snuff the noises are soon removed, and by its slight use are never again troubled with them.

PARENTS

Children have Catarrh

Yes, many a little one who, with pallid face and drooping form, complains of being all "stuffed up," and day by day is growing worse, is often troubled with Catarrh in its first stages. Heed our warning before it is too late, for often, very often Catarrh Causes Croup!

Would you not rather prevent this complaint than attempt to cure it? Of course you would; then see that you always have a supply on hand.
Do not take any other preparation, but be sure to obtain the above. Price 35 cents. For sale by all dealers. Or, send 50 cents to
