The Greatest Spring Tonic.

At this season of the year almost every one experiences a sensation of general lassitude and debility, which, if neglected, results in a low, vitiated condition of the vital forces, that follows the sufferer throughout the summer, and usually terminates in some form of malarial or typhoid fever. If, however, the patient has the wisdom to take some reliable remedy that gently acts on the sluggish liver, enabling it to speedily carry off all impurities, while at the same time the system is vitalized and invigorated, and the blood enriched, the result is a condition of vigorous health. This result is invariably brought about by

THE GREATEST MISTAKE

Holidays for Biddeford Working People and Other Matters.

BIDDEFORD, May 7.—The trial of Forest Waterhouse of Kennebunkport, charged with criminal libel was resumed in the Municipal Court this morning. The defence was that the obscene writings alleged to have been written by Waterhouse were forgeries. Waterhouse was bound over to the May term of the Supreme Court, in a $200 bond.

The Agent of the Peperell, Laconia and York Mills have decided to resume the Saturday half holiday system, June fourth, continuing until September 1st.

Judge Hamilton today reappointed Edwin J. Cram recorder of the Biddeford Municipal Court.

MAINE.

William Spear's Terrible Injuries.

THOMASTON, May 7.—William Spear, of Thomaston, was blown up this morning by a premature discharge of dynamite while working in the Cobb Lime Company's quarry. His head was terribly bruised, he loses both arms above the elbow and is internally injured. His recovery is extremely doubtful. He is married and has no children. He has met with three previous accidents.

A Small Sized Strike.

BRUNSWICK, May 7.—Four hundred operatives at the Cabot mill left work this morning at 9 o'clock, by order of the French Protective Union, because one of their number, an oiler named Michaud, was discharged. They claim that he was discharged for refusing to do a part of the work of one of the boys. Work was not suspended and in the afternoon many of the strikers returned. It is not expected that the trouble will last more than a few days although the strikers say they are determined to have Michaud taken back.

Locking the Stable Door.

MONMOUTH, May 7.—The voters of Monmouth held a town meeting to-day, to act upon the question of buying a fire engine for the Centre village. The town voted to appropriate $1000 for this purpose if the village would raise a similar amount by subscription—or to appropriate such part of this sum as the village should raise. The town also offered to do the same by North Monmouth. All the North Monmouth folks want is hose. The mills will furnish power.

Fire in Anson.

MADISON, May 7.—The house of Fred Barron in Anson, was burned at 4 o'clock this morning. Loss, $800; insured for $500. Cause of fire unknown.

A Labor Party.

AUGUSTA, May 7.—At a conference of some of the leading labor men of the State, in this city, to-day, it was decided to issue a call to all voters who are opposed to the hypocrisy of all party rule, monopolies, trusts, corruption at the polls, and class legislation, to meet in mass convention at Waterville, June 12th, for the purpose of choosing candidates for Governor and four Congressmen and adopting a platform.

Mr. Blaine's Home Coming.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Chairman Jones, of the Republican National Committee, in discussing Saturday the latest story about Mr. Blaine said among other things: "It is not true that Mr. Blaine will be on the ocean and out of the reach of the telegraph when the Chicago convention is in session. Mr. Blaine said he desired to remain abroad two years, but feared he would not be able to do so. I would not be surprised to hear he was coming home next month or that he would stay away until next year. No time has as yet been fixed for his return."

New Hampshire Republicans.

CONCORD, N. H., May 7.—The city is filling up with delegates to the Republican State and District Conventions tomorrow. It is universally conceded that three of the delegates at large are to be Congressman Gallinger of this city, ex-Gov. P. C. Cheney of Manchester, and Hiram A. Tuttle of Pittsfield, while Col. T. P. Cheney of Ashland, Col. J. A. Wood of Acworth, and Hon. A. T. Batchelder of Keene have numerous supporters for the fourth place.

Mrs. Frances Murray, of New York, accidentally swallowed her set of false teeth on April 27. For several days it was impossible to remove the obstruction from her throat, during which the patient was deprived of food and nearly suffocated. Afterward she failed rapidly and died from exhaustion consequent upon the perforation of the oesophagus caused by the teeth.

Rev. Dr. Brick, a missionary in the Northwest Territories, says that hundreds of Indians not under treaty with the Canadian government are dying of starvation every year.

REED AND McKINLEY THE MEN

To Speak Last in Opposition to the Mills Bill.

Senators Say Anew that the Chinese Must Go.

Various Topics From the City of the Potomac.

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The debate on the main question of the Mills bill will close in the House a week from tomorrow. Messrs. Reed and McKinley will speak last in opposition and Mr. Breckenridge of Kentucky and Speaker Carlisle will close for the bill.

The Fate of Two Treaties.

The Senate has ratified the Chinese treaty without a division. Senators Teller and Mitchell set forth the grounds of their opposition but did not demand a vote. Senator Edmunds has reported the fisheries treaty adverse, ly, submitting the written majority report, Senator Morgan has submitted the favorable minority report. Senator Edmunds gave notice that he would call up the treaty a week hence.

The Labor Party.

The convention which meets at Cincinnati on the 15th inst. to consolidate the Labor party interests on a national ticket has attracted but little attention among Congressmen. Representatives of the workingmen's interests here in Washington have talked the matter over with members of the House. With few exceptions, perhaps not exceeding three, they have not given the agents of the cause the slightest encouragement.

It is said that the nominee of the convention will be A. J. Streator, of New Windsor Ill. Mr. Streator is a well known anti-monopolist. He is a man of moderate wealth, and has been for years identified with the development of the Granger and labor movements in the West.

Overtures have been made to two gentlemen now in Congress to accept the nomination, but both have declined. One of these gentlemen is General Weaver of Iowa. The other is Henry Smith, the Independent Labor Representative from Milwaukee.

General Weaver was the Greenback candidate for the Presidency in 1880. His friends say that his reason for declining a Presidential honor this year is that he can do the cause of labor more service as a Representative in Congress than in leading a forlorn hope as the head of a third party.

Mr. Smith was probably influenced by the same consideration, as the report reaches here from the Northwest that he will be re-elected to his present seat in the House.

Some of the labor champions in Congress assert that the third party's strength will comprise the regular party leaders. They say that in some of the Western States—Iowa, Nebraska, Michigan and Illinois, for example—they [will poll an unexpectedly strong vote.

Unwarrantable Interference.

There are signs of the President and his Secretary of War receiving pretty severe handling by the pens of military writers for the recent snubbing of Gen. Gibbon, because he assumed the right to pardon a soldier committed to the penitentiary by a court martial which had been ordered from his headquarters. Some of the ablest military critics in the country are taking the position that the Secretary of War, the President and the Attorney General have committed themselves to a wholly untenable position, and have revised the construction placed for a hundred years upon the article of war involved. The powerful review of the Secretary's opinion which appears in the last number of the Army and Navy Journal, is regarded here as unanswerable, and as leaving the Secretary and the President in a most unenviable position.

Our Trouble With Morocco.

The State Department announces that the Tangier affair has been submitted to arbitration between Consul Lewis and the agents of the Sultan of Morocco, a third party to settle matters on which they cannot agree. The presence of a man war at Tangier is purely incidental.

Notes.

Mr. Henry F. Spaulding, treasurer of the American committee of the Statue of Liberty, is in Washington urging upon members of Congress an appropriation of $50,000 to complete the arches and stairway of the pedestal, the work to be done under the supervision of the light house board. The memorandum Mr. Spaulding presents makes a strong showing as to the necessity of the work.

Senator Voorhees will be given a reception by the members of the Indiana Democratic club in Washington on the night of the 17th instant. On that occasion the Senator will review the charges made against him by Mr. Ingalls that he was not in sympathy with the Union during the war, and will read documentary evidence to show that the charges are untrue.

Ira G. White has been appointed postmaster at White's Corner, Maine.

The Senate public buildings and grounds committee, today, acted favorably upon bills for a public building at Bar Harbor, Maine, appropriating $35,000, and at Nashua, N. H., appropriating $75,000.

14th CONGRESS—FIRST SESSION.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, May 7.

The Senate passed the House joint resolution to enable the President to extend to certain inhabitants of Japan suitable recognition of their humane treatment of the survivors of the American bark Cashmere.

The House bill to restore to the public domain part of the Uintah Valley Indian reservation in Utah was taken from the calendar and passed with some verbal amendments.

The Senate then resumed consideration of the bill to prevent the importation of animals in industry to facilitate the exportation of live stock and its products, and to extirpate pleuropneumonia, and was addressed by Senator Reagan in opposition.

Senator Vest moved an amendment providing that the owner of cattle, or any person having charge of the same, shall be given reasonable notice of the time when and place where appraisement will be made and be permitted to make proof of the value of the cattle: also providing that the board, its agents and servants, shall have no authority to exercise their powers within the limits of a state, (except in stock yards, cars or vessels,) without first obtaining consent and cooperation of the executive authority of that State.

Senator Coke argued against the bill and it went over without action.

The Senate went into executive session and adjourned.

HOUSE.

Bills were introduced and referred as follows:

By Mr. Townshend of Illinois, appropriating $50,000 for the erection in Washington of a statue of Maj. Gen. Hancock.

By Mr. Plumb of Illinois directing the Secretary of the Treasury to use any money now in the Treasury which may hereafter accumulate in excess of the amount required for the public debt, for the payment of 4 and 4½ per cent. bonds at par and accrued interest.

Mr. Blanchard of Louisiana, moved to suspend the rules and pass the river and harbor bill.

Several amendments have been incorporated in the bill since it was last before the House.

The preliminary vote on seconding the motion to suspend the rules, resulted yeas 153, nays 14.

The majority of the opponents of the bill refrained from voting.

The half-hour debate then began.

Mr. Rawdon of Pennsylvania, did not think a Democratic House justified in making the extraordinary appropriations carried by the bill. He queried whether the President, pledged to an honest and economical administration of the government, would approve the measure. There had never been a more wasteful piece of legislation before Congress. He called upon the gentlemen who opposed the direct tax bill to vote against this extravagant measure. The motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill was agreed to—161 to 69.

The following New England members voted in favor of the bill: Messrs. Allen, Lodge and Russell, of Massachusetts; Russell, Seymour and Granger, of Connecticut; Milliken, of Maine; McKenney, of New Hampshire.

Those voting against it were: Messrs. Rockwell and Whiting, of Massachusetts; Boutelle, Dingley and Reed, of Maine; Grant of Vermont; Spooner and Arnold, of Rhode Island.

Mr. Davis, of Massachusetts, was paired in favor.

The Speaker laid before the House a message from the President, returning, without approval, the bill for the sale of certain Indian lands in Kansas.

Mr. McAdoo, of New Jersey, moved its reference to the committee on Indian affairs. No quorum voted, and the House then adjourned.

Sherman and the League.

CINCINNATI, O., May 7.—Judge Caldwell, president of the Ohio State League of Republican Clubs, some time ago wrote to Senator John Sherman, asking for a donation to assist in defraying the expenses of the League. Mr. Sherman has replied, declining to contribute anything, and giving as his reason the fact that the campaign expenses are too large. This is not believed to be the real reason. It is thought there is too much Blaine sentiment in the Ohio League to suit the senator, and this fact is the real reason for his unwillingness to make a donation.

WOODBURY ON THE TREATY.

Everything of Value to Us Surrendered by the Document.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Hon. Charles Levi Woodbury writes as follows to the Sun:

The Chamberlain treaty is now before the Senate. It surrenders everything the United States have contended for since 1818, when the dispute on the three-mile limit began, contentions which the British authorities have assented to or temporized about as often as pressed, so that really in no entire year since then have they insisted on enforcing their headland theory.

The commercial rights of the United States under the agreements of 1830 are utterly abandoned by Mr. Bayard, after much previous insistance on their obligation.

The rights of common humanity toward our vessels in distress, accorded everywhere except on the Canadian coast, are hereafter to be allowed only upon the condition that the United States shall change its present registry laws by repealing them and enacting such new ones as are acceptable to the British government, before going into effect. This, of course, leaves the humanity of Canada to vessels of the United States in distress withheld until the United States shall pay the consideration by repealing its laws and making such new ones.

Commercial intercourse by our fishing vessels is disallowed, but they may be permitted to buy a narrow line of supplies, whose extent would not exceed $50,000 a year, when the United States shall have repealed existing duties, now over $611,000 a year, on Canadian fish and oil, and made them free in our markets.

This is the substance of the treaty, all losses to the United States both in honor and profit. Gen. Jackson and Mr. McLane, Van Buren and Forsyth, Stevenson and Everett, Webster, Rush, Grant, Evarts and even Bayard and Phelps, for two of their official years, are buried beneath this treaty, and their memories dishonored by its retreat from their patriotic contentions for American rights.

Cavliers have said the treaty of 1818 was wrung from our weakness, but this treaty, made in the hour of our strength, surrenders what that never did, our markets; and it doubles the waters from which it requires that we shall be forever excluded.

The consequence of adopting this treaty would be the destruction of the fishery under the American flag, the paralysis of our hope of a naval power, and a British monopoly of our markets aggrandizing its dangerous naval power. Let the treaty be rejected.

CHARLES LEVI WOODBURY.

Boston, May 4.

THE QUESTION COMPROMISED.

Women Excluded from This Conference, But the Question Left Open.

NEW YORK, May 7.—Bishop Ninde presided at today's session of the Methodist general conference in New York.

Secretary Moore made official announcement of the death of Rev. Dr. Charles J. Clark, of Maine, one of the secretaries of the conference, and of Lay Delegate Leavitt Bates, of the New England Southern conference. Committees will be appointed to draft resolutions of regret.

The debate on admission of women as lay delegates was continued. Forty-one delegates at once sprang to their feet and claimed the floor. Rev. H. H. Moore, of the Erie conference, was recognized and spoke in favor of admitting women. A number of others spoke for and against and when the debate closed a vote was taken on the motion of Rev. David Moore's substitute for the report of the committee. It proposed that women elected as lay delegates to the present general conference be seated and the question of their eligibility to future general conferences be determined by a vote of the churches and annual conferences. This substitute was lost.

Then a vote was taken upon the amendment to the report offered by Rev. Dr. Neely, of Philadelphia. This amendment excludes women from seats in the present conference and submits the question of eligibility to future annual conferences. It was adopted by a vote of 249 to 173.

After the adoption of Dr. Neeley's amendment, the report of the committee with the amendment was adopted by the following vote: Ayes, ministerial, 159; laymen, 78. Nays, ministerial, 122; laymen, 76.

BLAINE AND CONKLING.

How the Latter's Course in 1884 is Explained by A. M. Hughes.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 7.—The American, tomorrow, will publish an interview with A. M. Hughes, Jr., chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee, regarding the failure of Roscoe Conkling to actively support James G. Blaine in the last presidential canvass. Mr. Hughes's facts were never before made public. Mr. Hughes says that Senator Chaffee labored with Mr. Conkling, and the latter agreed to announce his support of Mr. Blaine in an open letter if the latter would write a personal one requesting support. Mr. Blaine wrote the letter, which was given to Walker Blaine to deliver. The latter carried the letter to New York, but on the way to Conkling's house he stopped at the National Republican headquarters, mentioning the purpose of his presence in New York to Steve Elkins, B. F. Jones, chairman, and one or two others. The managers decided it was best to ignore Conkling, and the letter must not reach him, and accordingly it was suppressed. The animosity of Conkling was intensified at the additional affront, and Mr. Blaine lost New York.

GENERAL NEWS.

Pasteur feared it was too late, but the treatment proved efficacious.

Early Sunday morning a cloud burst near Maize, Kansas, 15 miles west of Wichita. Rain had been falling all the night before and when the cloud broke there was an awful roar which frightened the people out of their houses. Many buildings were demolished by the flood. The house of a family named Rochby was swept into the Arkansas river where it sank. Rochby, his wife and two children were drowned. Many horses and cows were lost in the flood.

Streeter claims that Lowden told him the circumstances of the affair.

VICISSITUDES OF BRITISH POLITICS

Illustrated by the Course of the Inland Revenue Bill.

Salisbury's Apt Expression of the European Situation.

Waiting by the Bedside of the Stricken Ruler.

LONDON, May 7.—Mr. Goschen has carried his Customs and Inland Revenue bill, after a parting shot from Mr. Gladstone. The political situation has so much changed since he made his Budget speech that the same organ which welcomed his proposals now denounces them as not socially beneficial nor financially sound. There have been concessions, as there always are, on minor matters, but Mr. Goschen has stood to his guns, abandoned no principles and sacrificed no essential detail of this complicated scheme.

A Rogues' Land.

Upon the arrival of the steamship Nevada at Queenstown, Sunday, the police boarded her and arrested Charles Rowe, of Leeds, upon a warrant charging him with embezzling a large amount of his employer's funds. Rowe had traveled in America under the name of Lord Charles Beresford and only recently married an American lady. His wife and father-in-law accompanied him on the voyage.

Europe Awaits the End.

The cessation of the official bulletins concerning the condition of the Emperor, upon which it may be said the people have never placed implicit reliance, is causing much uneasiness in Berlin, where it is believed that the patient is much worse than the doctors care to admit. The reports in circulation during the last forty-eight hours or the Emperor's renewed strength are received with a degree of doubt bordering upon absolute disbelief. Rumors are now abroad that the Emperor has had another relapse, and it is generally feared that a slow but sure decline has set in, which will terminate soon in death.

Lord Salisbury, speaking at the Royal Academy banquet very clearly defined the European political situation in the single phrase: "Europe is standing hushed by the bedside of its most powerful, most admired and most valued potentate." This utterance elicited the unanimous acquiescence of the Premier's hearers, and it cannot be doubted that it expresses the prevailing feeling at all of the European capitals, however lukewarm may be the public sentiment with regard to preserving friendly relations with Germany.

Foreign Notes.

The Chinese government will erect a monument to General Chinese(?) Gordon on the scene of his victories over the rebels.

Emperor Frederick's weakness is reported as becoming serious.

The Emperor of Brazil is suffering with inflammation of the kidneys.

The French municipal elections generally indicate a loss of strength in the Boulangist movement.

FULLER AS A POET.

The Chief Justice Begins with Odes to Topsham's Red-Headed Girls.

[N. Y. Sun.]

The class of 1853 at Bowdoin College contained a young poet destined to sustain intimate personal and political relations with a certain Man of Destiny, of whose existence he never dreamed until at least thirty years later. Melvillius Weston Fuller was writing odes to the silver moon that shone upon the campus, and sonnets to the red-headed girls of Topsham, at the time when Stephen G. Cleveland was braving the panther's howl at Fayetteville. It has been generally, but erroneously, stated that Edvardus Johannes Phelps was likewise a Bowdoin poet, and a classmate of Melvillius. That is not the fact. Edvardus first wooed the Muses in the classic shades of Middlebury, Vermont; and he was in politics before Melvillius was out of Pinafore. Nevertheless, Destiny has had her eye on the three youths, and at last she brought them together.

Through a series of political events and accidents that has no parallel in history, it came to be the function of Mr. Cleveland to choose between Phelps and Fuller for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States. In weighing their qualifications for the high judicial seat, it did occur to him to institute a comparison between their respective poems? Probably not. The love of poesy and the critical knowledge thereof that are in the Cleveland family are not in Grover.

The two college poets do not cultivate the same field of the Muses. Their styles differ as widely as those of Cowper and Tom Moore, or of Matthew Arnold and the late Eugene Field of Chicago. We form our opinion solely upon those specimens of Mr. Phelps's and Mr. Fuller's poetry which, up to the present time have been rescued from oblivion. The poetical taste of the new Chief Justice seems to incline to the elegiac, the sonorous, the not too profoundly philosophical vein which renders some of Longfellow's poems so popular and so commonplace. Phelps's poetry is far more individual. He is a humorist, a satirist, lashing the follies and chastising the nuisances of everyday life with sharp, snappy, and sometimes slightly profane lines that have the crack of a whip.

Compare, for example, the four rattling stanzas of Mr. Phelps's acknowledged masterpiece, his poem on "Essex Junction," with the threnody which Mr. Fuller composed three years ago for the Grant memorial meeting in Chicago. The poem of the new Chief Justice begins as follows:

"Let drum to trumpet speak—
The trumpet to the cannoneer without,
The cannon to the heavens from each redoubt,
Each lowly valley and each lofty peak,
As to his rest the great commander goes
Into the breast land of immortal repose."

It is doing no injustice to the author of these verses to say that they are essentially conventional. In nearly all, if not all, martial threnodies, borrowing the idea of Shakspeare, the drum speaks to the trumpet, and the trumpet to the cannons on the redoubts. Nothing of the usual furniture is wanting except the bugle note, and that is promptly sounded in the very next stanza. Nor is there any novelty or originality in the use of epithets. Valleys are for the most part lowly and peaks lofty. An analysis of the words which the new Chief Justice has marshalled in stately measure shows that there is no vitalizing idea behind them. It is versification, not poetry.

Now turn to the first stanza of Mr. Phelps's fine poem on Essex Junction:

"With saddened face and battered hat
And eye that told of blank despair
On a wooden bench a traveller sat
Cursing the fate that brought him there.
Nine hours, he said, we've lingered here,
With thoughts intent on distant homes
Waiting for that delusive train
Which always coming, never comes.
'Till weary and worn, sad and forlorn,
And paralyzed in every function—
I hope in hell
Their souls will dwell
Who first invented Essex Junction."

This is poetry, shocking as is its profanity. Description, narration, and imprecation alike bear the impress of a vigorous personality expressing a distinct artistic purpose:

"I hope in hell
Their souls may dwell
Who first invented Essex Junction."

Waiving the theological question, these virile lines are unquestionably the product of genius. The author of the poem on Grant could not have produced them, had he spent half a lifetime in weary waiting upon the platform at Essex Junction.

For the sake of making the Supreme Court's poetical record complete, we print the remaining stanzas of the new Chief Justice's most notable production. It will be observed that what we have said of the first stanza applies with equal force to the whole poem:

"The great commander, when
Is heard no more the sound of war's alarms,
The bugle's stirring note, the clang of arms,
No precaution's tongue would whisper then—
Only good fortune gave to him success.
When was there greatness fortune did not bless?

"Not in his battles won,
Though long the well-fought fields may keep their name,
But in the wide world's sense of duty done,
The gallant soldier finds the meed of fame;
His life no struggle for ambition's prize,
Simply the duty done that next him lies.

"And as with him of old,
Immortal Caption of triumphant Rome,
Whose eagles made the rounded globe their home,
How the grand soul of Grant heroic would
Despised resentment and such meaner things,
That peace might gather all beneath her wings.

"No lamentations here,
The weary hero lays him down to rest
As tired infant at the mother's breast
Without a care, without a thought of fear,
Waiting to greet upon the other shore
The glorious host of comrades gone before.

"Earth to its kindred earth;
The spirit to the fellowship of souls!
As slowly time the mighty scroll unrolls
Of waiting ages yet to have their birth,
Fame, faithful to the faithful, writes on high,
His name as one that was not born to die."

As mechanical workmanship this is excellent. The lines do not trip, halt or falter. Great labor has evidently been expended, with dictionary, rhyming dictionary, book of synonyms, and classical dictionary all in hand, to polish and file and perfect—but was the labor worth the while?

Although Fuller and not Phelps has got the glory of being Chief Justice, we need not apologize for reproducing here one more stanza from the latter's immortal poem on Essex Junction:

"Here Boston waits for Ogdensburg,
And Ogdensburg for Montreal,
And late New York long tarrieth,
And Saratoga hinders all;
From far Atlantic's wave-swept bays
To Mississippi's turbid tide,
All accidents, mistakes, delays,
Are gathered here and multiplied.
Oh, fellow man! avoid this place
As you would plague or Peter Funks town
And I hope in hell
Their souls may dwell
Who first invented Essex Junction."

The conclusion we reach is that if the nomination had been destined for the better poet of the two, and if Mr. Cleveland had been a competent judge of those qualities of verse which unerringly indicate, to such as can read them aright, the mental processes, habits of mind, and individual characteristics of the author, the great judicial prize of the republic would have gone to Evardus not to Melvillius.

BASE BALL.

New England League.

GAME TOMORROW.

The Lowells will open the season here tomorrow afternoon and a good game should be the result as it is expected that Shaw will pitch for the Portlands, and with a good catcher to hold him the Lowells will have to play ball to win. Lon Knight will umpire the games here during the week. Hereafter tickets for the grand stand will be sold at Somers' Bros., Congress street instead of Middle street.

OUR FIRST VICTORY.

At Manchester, yesterday, the Portlands played like tigers, fielding superbly, aided by costly errors of Clarke at short stop and easily won the game, although not making earned runs. The Manchester's runs were due to the home runs of Campana and Doyle made with men on bases. The score:

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A Republican State Convention will be held in

CITY HALL,

Portland, Tuesday, June 12, 1888,

At 11 o'clock, A. M.,

for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor, to be supported at the September election, and transacting any other business that may properly come before it.

The basis of representation will be as follows: Each city, town and plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and for each seventy-five votes cast for the Republican candidate for governor in 1884 an additional delegate, and for a fraction of forty votes in excess of seventy-five votes, a further additional delegate.

The State committee will be in session in the reception room of the hall at 9 o'clock on the morning of the convention, for the purpose of receiving the credentials of delegates.

All electors of Maine, without regard to past political differences, who believe in protecting the industries of this State and its agricultural products; who believe in protecting the laborer and the wage-earner in every right; who believe "in choosing a policy which inspires labor with hope and crowns it with dignity, which gives safety to capital and protects its increase, which secures political power to every citizen, comfort and culture to every home"; giving free popular education to the people; in favor of free suffrage and an honest counting of ballots; who approve the prohibition of the liquor traffic and the promotion of the cause of temperance; in an economical, just and efficient administration of public affairs; a faithfully administered civil service; and who uphold all judicious measures for the encouragement of American ship building, are cordially invited to unite with the Republicans in the selection of delegates to this convention.

Per order Republican State Committee.

J. H. MANLEY, Chairman.

WILLIS H. WING, Secretary.

One of the delegates-at-large to the convention at Chicago will be Hon. R. W. Thompson, ex-Secretary of the Navy. In 1840, in the great Tippecanoe campaign, he was on the stump for William Henry Harrison; and now he goes to Chicago as a delegate to cast his vote for Indiana's favorite, General Benjamin Harrison, grandson of old Tippecanoe. General Benjamin Harrison, by the way, has quite an array of ancestors. His father was a Whig Congressman, his grandfather the ninth President of the United States, and his great-grandfather, also named Benjamin Harrison, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence and a politician of note. The family has flourished as it has moved steadily westward from Virginia to Ohio and thence to Indiana; but from present appearances it is not likely to furnish another President so soon as next year.

The inventors of stories about Mr. Blaine are having their ingenuity sadly taxed these days. Disproof of their yarns comes so quickly and overwhelmingly, that they are beginning to find it impossible to make a story last more than twenty-four hours. This necessitates the manufacture of a new story every day. Under the strain thus put upon them their stories are naturally becoming weaker and less entertaining. Contrast the able bodied lie attributed to Dr. Winthrop Hayward that Mr. Blaine was a physical wreck from diabetes with the puny and sickly production of the Philadelphia Times that Mr. Blaine had given assurance to some unnamed friends that his Florence letter was not to count for anything. Evidently it will be necessary to introduce some new blood into the Ananias corps or before the Chicago convention meets the favorite material for fighting Blaine will be exhausted.

A large income is by no means necessary to a well ordered life as is shown by what Rev. J. W. Day, of the East Maine Conference, at present a delegate to the great General Conference of the Methodist church has told the Zion's Herald. Mr. Day says tha his father, the Rev. Rufus Day, now living in honorable retirement in Houlton, received during all the years from 1842 to 1872 an average yearly salary of $221, out of which he paid for rent, fuel and traveling expenses as well as the other expenses of his family. He brought up four children to adult life and always "met and discharged his financial obligations promptly" is the testimony of his son. That a Maine minister should have been rewarded by so small a salary is shameful; but that he made "both ends meet" with it is an evidence of heroism in his home. And we look to see the name of the Rev. J. W. Day among those who voted yesterday to give the women a place in the Conference, irrespective of any arguments as to whether they are needed or wanted.

We are surprised to observe an unusual omission on the part of our esteemed contemporary, the Kennebec Journal. Heretofore it has recorded with noticeable eagerness the doings and proceedings of those caucuses that have been held to choose gubernatorial delegates, especially if there has been any reason to suppose that any of these delegates were for Mr. Burleigh. Indeed, such has been our esteemed contemporary's eagerness in this respect that several delegates have been counted in for Mr. Burleigh, when they were not for him at all. It was, therefore, with great surprise that we observed in yesterday's Kennebec Journal no notice whatever of one of the most important caucuses yet held in Maine, the caucus at Ellsworth. It could hardly be that Ellsworth and the doings of its citizens were regarded as of minor consequence, since it is a flourishing city, bustling with business and adorned by the homes of many prominent Republicans, among whom may be mentioned Senator Hale. Nor can it be that by unfortunate accident to the wire our contemporary was deprived of the interesting piece of news from Ellsworth, because the Associated Press delivered it to all the Maine and Massachusetts papers on Saturday night, in ample time for yesterday morning's papers. We are constrained, therefore, to believe that some office cat, of unusual size and prowess, got away with this piece of news from Ellsworth before the editors saw it. Unwilling that our contemporary should remain longer in ignorance of so interesting an event, we are glad to convey the information anew that the Republicans of Ellsworth elected ten men to come to Portland and vote for Mr. Cleaves next June, and that they instructed them by the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Republican voters of Ellsworth, in caucus assembled, do endorse the excellent military record of Henry B. Cleaves, who in the Rebellion enlisted as a private soldier and rendered faithful service to the Union cause from 1862 to 1865, receiving at the close of the war from his commanding officer the well deserved compliment, "A brave and fearless soldier." And we further endorse his valuable services to the State in the many positions of public trust which he has so efficiently filled, especially in his administration as Attorney General, during which he faithfully discharged all duties required of him by law, including the prosecution of the celebrated railroad and tax cases which he conducted to a successful termination, thereby saving the State nearly seventy thousand dollars and fully settling the intricate legal questions involved for his successors in office. We do therefore declare him to be our choice as candidate for Governor, and pledge our best efforts for his nomination and election.

We are glad to be able to furnish this news to the Kennebec Journal, and shall confidently expect that in due time it will extend the same favor to its readers.

The Bangor Whig has been led to a column or so of "remarks" by (to quote its language) "the persistent impertinence of THE PRESS for which there is no excuse." The Whig is so often led to remarks by the "persistent impertinence" of its contemporaries, that its readers must fully understand by this time that an important part of its mission is to rebuke impertinence. It is a part too which we are bound to say it fulfils with great satisfaction to itself and with great amusement to its contemporaries. As a rule the impertinence which the Whig rebukes is the holding of views not exactly in accord with its own. That was a part of the PRESS's sin. But it was not the whole of it. Indeed we suspect that it was not the greater part of it. Sooner or later undoubtedly we should have been rebuked for the impertinence of preferring as candidate for Governor a different gentleman from the one the Whig had picked out, but it is not probable that the rebuke would have been as severe as the present one had our sin been confined to this. But unfortunately for us in a moment of—well recklessness perhaps it may as well be called—we allowed it to appear that not only did the PRESS's views on the governorship question not coincide with those of the Whig, but also that the Whig's present opinions did not coincide with opinions held by the Whig a short time ago. When for instance the Whig urged in behalf of Mr. Burleigh that he had a residence in Bangor and that the nomination belonged to the East and therefore that he should be nominated the PRESS pointed out that two years ago when this argument might have been made with much greater force, inasmuch as then one of the candidates not only owned a house in Bangor, but lived there, the Whig had shown very little disposition to urge it. Again, when it said that "Gov. Marble's one term would naturally be the limit of political ambition of one at his time of life," (the italics are ours) the PRESS pointed out that the Whig had not proposed to thus limit the "political ambition" of Gov. Bodwell, had the latter lived, though his age was but a year under Gov. Marble's; that it had not sought to limit thus the "political ambition" of ex-Senator Hamlin, but on the contrary had urged his election to the Senate at an age which made it certain that before his term expired he must reach that "time of life" which would naturally be the limit of Gov. Marble's political ambition; and furthermore that it had sought to make the late Judge Edward Kent the Republican candidate for Governor when he was 71 years of age and after a record of two terms in the Governor's chair—in short, that it had repeatedly ignored and repudiated a limit which it was proposing to apply to Gov. Marble. It is because of this "impertinence" that the Whig's rebuke is made particularly long and stinging. But the Whig's readers will not fail to observe that rebuking the PRESS does not explain the Whig's manifest inconsistencies; any more than does protesting that a long time ago it was very fond of Mr. Marble, excuse or explain its own impertinence in attempting to rule out a candidate from the gubernatorial contest on the ground that a record of one term at his time of life is the natural limit of his political ambition.

CURRENT COMMENT.

A DISTINGUISHED ADDRESS.

[Boston Journal.]

Philadelphia or Boston would have been a better assembling place for the Republican Anti-Saloon conference than New York, but the gathering was nevertheless all that had been expected of it. Among the delegates were many eminent men, and the addresses were earnest and harmonious. A noticeable feature of the conference was its enthusiastic Republicanism. The resolutions denouncing the saloon and urging the Republican National Convention to declare against it in its platform, were vigorous and explicit. This request deserves respectful attention.

The Life of Anandabai Joshee, A Kinswoman of the Pundita Ramabai. By Mrs. Caroline Healey Dall. This record of the life of Dr. Joshee is full of interest and charm. Married at the age of eight years to Gopal Joshee and dying at the age of twenty-one of consumption contracted in this country, her short life shows a strength of character and an intellectual development most remarkable. The death of her only child, born when Anandabai was but fourteen years old, and for whom she could have no competent physician, led her to think of studying medicine, and into this scheme her husband seems to have entered heartily, sharing her thoughts and feelings. Gopal would have gladly lived in this country with his wife while she was receiving her medical education, but a lack of money prevented this, and after many struggles and disappointments Anandabai accompanied some friends to America, and Oct. 3d, 1883, was matriculated at the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania where she was graduated in 1886. To a native of India the climate of the United States was excessively trying and before Dr. Joshee had fairly established herself in the New England Hospital for Women and Children her health failed perceptibly and it was thought best that she should return to her own country with her husband who had lately joined her in America. Upon this conclusion she accepted an offer from the Dewan of Kolhapeer to take charge of the Albert Edward Hospital in that State, and instruct a class of girls in medicine, etc. But this was not to be, for the career of this sweet, gentle and intellectual woman was cut short by the dread disease which no remedy could reach, and she died soon after her return to India. Her husband was entirely devoted to her and Anandabai always speaks of him as most "generous;" and again she says—"I know there are many good husbands in the United States, I see that they make their wives happy, but among them all there is not one so good as my husband." The first half of Mrs. Dall's book is chiefly devoted to the letters of Dr. Joshee written to her friend, Mrs. Carpenter of Roselle, New Jersey, from Calcutta and Serampore, Bengal, in which she gives most quaint and interesting descriptions of the domestic customs and habits of the people of India, with their religious beliefs, ceremonies, etc. Mrs. Dall's prejudice against Gopal Joshee seems quite unaccounted for by any facts that she relates in regard to him. His greatest crime, so far as we can see, was that he asserted the rights of his sex; that while he loved, and was devoted to his wife and helped her to the higher education which she sought, he did not consider it necessary to ignore or destroy the ties which bound them together. Anandabai returned her husband's affection most devoutly, which, apparently, Mrs. Dall thinks the weak point in her character, and for which she pities her, and blames her Hindu training. It is, perhaps, to modern civilization only that we can look for a reform in this direction, and we must patiently await the time when man will realize how poor a creature he really is, and when the marriage vow will be universally recognized as secondary to intellectual culture. THE PRESS.

TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 8.

WIT AND WISDOM.

Sister Jones—Brudder Lightfoot, what's de reason I'v' so much hotter in de summer dan it are in de winter?

Brother Lightfoot—History tells us, Sister Jones, dat it am owin' to de fact 'dat de nights am so short dat de sun, dat grate ball ob fire, don't hab time to cool off.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous, and uses Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," so they all say, and their husbands say so, too!

Toto (observing a hand-organ grinder and his monkey)—Oh, mamma, may I not give him my cake?

Mother—Yes, dear, but be careful that he does not bite you.

Toto—Mamma, the little boy doesn't want it; may I give it to his papa?

For 30 years I have been troubled with catarrh—have tried a number of remedies without relief. A druggist recommended Ely's Cream Balm. I have used only one bottle, and I can say I feel like a new man. My catarrh was chronic and very bad. I make this voluntary statement that others may know of the Balm.—J. W. Mathewson (Lawyer), Pawtucket, R. I.

Ely's Cream Balm gives satisfaction to everyone using it for catarrhal troubles.—G. K. Mellor Druggist, Worcester, Mass.

Apply balm into each nostril.

A fond mother called the other day upon President Purton of Princeton and asked anxiously if her son would be well taken care of at college.

Said Dr. Patton: "Madam, we guarantee satisfaction, or return the boy."

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

He meant that he wouldn't do it again.

"Dear me!" said the little Boston boy, after intellectual suasion had failed, and they had spanked him for the first time, "if I had had the slightest suspicion that the resultant sensation was so poignant, I would never have invited the experiment."

A woman who is weak, nervous and sleepless, and who has cold hands and feet, cannot feel and act like a well person. Carter's Iron Pills equalize the circulation, remove nervousness and gives strength and rest.

Mr. Einstetter (in the bosom of his family)—How smooth mein liddle Davit loaf hes fader—heh?

Little David—Von hundert per cend., no discound, bad colors, mit exchance on Lohndon!

Mr. Einstetter (in an agony of filial love) —Ach! mein fader's own chrantson, say dot again.

A SURE test of greatness is to be used as a standard, and when the country doctor or cheap city grocer tells the consumer that this or that Flavoring Extract is better than Burnett's, we consider it a victory for Burnett's.

Patient (jumping from the dentist's chair and crying with anguish)—Oh! oh! oh! ee! I thought you said you pulled teeth without pain?

Dentist (smiling pleasantly)—So I do; it don't hurt me any.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Want of Sleep

is sending thousands annually to the insane asylum; and the doctors say this trouble is alarmingly on the increase. The usual remedies, while they may give temporary relief, are likely to do more harm than good. What is needed is an Alterative and Blood-purifier. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is incomparably the best. It corrects those disturbances in the circulation which cause sleeplessness, gives increased vitality, and restores the nervous system to a healthful condition.

Rev. T. G. A. Cole, agent of the Mass. Home Missionary Society, writes that his stomach was out of order, his sleep very often disturbed, and some impurity of the blood manifest; but that a perfect cure was obtained by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frederick W. Pratt, 424 Washington street, Boston, writes: "My daughter was prostrated with nervous debility. Ayer's Sarsaparilla restored her to health."

William F. Bowker, Erie, Pa., was cured of nervousness and sleeplessness by taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla for about two months, during which time his weight increased over twenty pounds.

107 FEET.

Will Wonders Never Cease—The Largest Tapeworm Yet Captured by Dr. Nicholls.

For eighteen years Mrs. Sarah Wilson, who lives at Falmouth and is well known, has been afflicted with one of those monsters called tapeworm. Although repeated efforts had been made to remove it none were successful until Monday when Mrs. W. put her case into the hands of Dr. Nicholls, the specialist in chronic diseases, No. 637 Congress street. In less than two hours she passed the largest tapeworm ever seen in this city. It measures the enormous length of 107 feet and completely fills a great bottle. It is preserved in spirits at the Doctor's office where it can be seen.

A WARNING.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tuberele Germs into the system, and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly, and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat, and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs, producing Consumption, and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous, and if allowed to proceed will, in time, cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous, and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief. nov5-d1y-eT

HANCOCK COUNTY S. J. COURT.

BEFORE JUDGE HASKELL.

ELLSWORTH, May 5.

The trial in the suit of Lamson vs. Fuller, et als. was resumed this morning. In this case the plaintiff produced testimony to show that while riding along Main street at Bar Harbor, in August last, in company with Oscar Morrison, in a light wagon owned by himself, and driven by a horse owned and driven by Morrison, the carriage was driven into a heavy beef team owned by the defendants; that the light carriage was smashed, and he, the plaintiff, was thrown violently from the wagon, striking upon his shoulders and sustaining permanent injuries. The defense introduced testimony to show that at the time of the collision the street was partially blocked by an express team; that while defendant team was passing to the left, at a walk, to go around the express, the team in which plaintiff was riding approached at a rapid rate and was carelessly and negligently driven into the defendant's wagon. Defendants claim that the collision was due to the negligence of the plaintiff, or his companion, or to the carelessness and negligence of both. Verdict for plaintiff for $400.

REV. DR. CLARK'S DEATH.

Passage of Resolutions by the Portland District Association.

The particulars of the death of the late Rev. Dr. O. J. Clark are these. He had been in good health on his arrival in New York last week, but on Wednesday he complained of a severe cold, and was suffering so badly from a sore throat that the following day he remained in his room in the Sturtevant House and medical aid was summoned. The physicians said that his illness was a diphtheritic sore throat. Sunday morning Mrs. Clark and her brother arrived from Portland and found Dr. Clark apparently much improved. About noon his symptoms became more alarming. He had great difficulty in breathing, and rapidly grew worse, and before any relief could be brought he died from strangulation. A short time before his death he dictated a letter to his eldest daughter Nellie.

The Portland District Ministerial Association, at its meeting yesterday morning, passed these resolutions:

Whereas, It hath pleased Almighty God in His mysterious providence to remove from us by death our dearly beloved brother and co-laborer, Rev. Charles J. Clark, D. D., while in the midst of his responsible duties as one of our delegates to the General Conference of our church; therefore, resolved,

First, That while we bow in reverence and heartfelt submission to the will of our Heavenly Father, who doeth all things well, we hereby record our deep sorrow, our individual and collective loss.

Second. That our long and intimate acquaintance with our brother prompts us to bear testimony to his great natural abilities, scholarly attainments and ardent piety which made him fruitful in every good word and work, a genial and faithful friend, a sound business man, a model husband and father, a superior preacher and able administrator.

Third, That we commend his deeply bereaved companion and her fatherless children to our Heavenly Father, and assure them that they have our deepest sympathy in their sudden and great bereavement.

Fourth, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the family of our departed brother, and also sent to the Zion's Herald and the daily papers of Portland for publication.

(Signed), N. T. WHITAKER,
ROSCOE SANDERSON,
Committee.

The remains arrived in this city yesterday noon. The funeral will take place from Chestnut street church at 3 p. m, to-day under the auspices of the Portland District Ministerial Association. The remains will not be carried to the church owing to Dr. Clark's death from a contagious disease. Friends are requested not to send flowers.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Clarence Hale arrived in New York from Havre yesterday.

Mr. Charles Bailey, formerly of Portland, and now merchant and postmaster at Andover, Me., was in the city yesterday.

Ex-Policeman Harmon is in New York, where he is having a wooden leg made for him. The Grand Army comrades of Merritt A. Kennard, who lost his leg last winter, have procured a wooden leg for him of the most approved pattern.

Mr. John A. Mitchell, the carriage and sleigh manufacturer, doing business on the east side of the river in Augusta, dropped dead in the office of the American Express Company yesterday at 11 o'clock. Dr. Martin was summoned and pronounced the cause of his death heart disease. Deceased was 60 years of age.

Rev. Father Hurley, pastor of the Catholic church at Winthrop, was engaged in putting a box down cellar, when the stairs broke and he was thrown to the bottom of the cellar with the box. He broke his arm, but was not otherwise seriously injured. He is doing well.

A despatch from Brunswick last night announced that Mr. Royal W. Lincoln, had a paralytic shock in that town Sunday. Mr. Lincoln was for many years city editor of the Portland Daily PRESS, and later on editor of the Rockland Globe. He is 79 years of age, and is one of the best known public men and journalists in Maine.

While Arthur Sewall, Esq., president of the Maine Central was in Floridaa, he visited St. James City, where he went fishing for the monster tarpon, the game fish of the southern latitudes. He fished with a hook and line, a difficult method with these fish, and succeeded in getting a bite from a big one. The fish gave the railroad man from Maine all the sport he cared for during the half hour of excitement that followed, jumping from the water seven times before he was landed. fish is being set up, and having been presented to Postmaster Nichols of Bath, will upon its arrival in Bath be at once mounted in a place of honor in the postmaster's private office. The scales of the tarpon are scalloped and pearl color, tinged with silver.

For Turkish Missions.

There was a large gathering of ladies at the vestry of the Second Parish Church yesterday afternoon to listen to an address by Mrs. C. H. Wheeler on the work of Christian missions in Turkey. Mrs. Wheeler is a native of this State. She has labored in Harpoot for many years and with her husband has built up the Harpoot College to its present prosperous and well nigh self-supporting condition. The address brought out many interesting facts concerning the ancient civilization which flourished in that land during the rise and fall of great empires. The Turks rose into power on the fall of the Saracens and have even since continued to sway their authority with much oppression. The Armenians suffer much under this iron rule. Missionary work makes progress chiefly among the Armenians. From its centres in eastern, central and western Turkey it is spreading a net work of schools and churches over the empire, producing wonderful effects. Many personal experiences of thrilling interest were woven into the address, many proofs given of the power of the Christian religion. In no way is its power shone more than in the willingness of both old and young to give out of their scanty means for the support of the gospel, even the Kindergarten children giving their mites to help pay the pastor's salary.

Mrs. Wheeler made a special plea for water to be carried into the campus of the college. For many years all the water used has been taken in skins by small quantities from a distance. Though in this country for rest Mrs. Wheeler is giving time and strength to raise some funds for this purpose. A generous collection was given her by the ladies at the close of the address.

Underwriters Dine.

The regular business meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association occurred last evening at the Falmouth Hotel, followed by a banquet. The following gentlemen were voted in as members: J. E. DeWitt, A. L. Bates, J. F. Lang, Dr. T. A. Foster, Benjamin Williams, A. L. L. Talbot, S. F. Strout, C. D. Munger, Freeland Howe, C. P. Fessenden and J. A. Dixon. Among the important items of business acted upon was a vote which was passed admitting medical examiners as members of the association.

At 7 o'clock the company, accompanied by the guest of the evening, Hon. J. O. Smith, Insurance Commissioner of Maine, filed into the small dinning hall.

The menu was one of the daintiest ever served in Portland.

At about 9 o'clock W. H. Anderson, Esq., master of ceremonies, rapped the assembly to order and then followed post prandial exercises of an interesting character. Mr. Smith spoke at length of the insurance business of Maine, and brief remarks were made by T. T. Merry, A. G. Dewey, C. A. Woodbury and others. The usual votes of thanks were passed and the association adjourned at a late hour. The occasion was one of great profit to all concerned.

The Home will be opened for inspection and it is hoped those interested will avail themselves of this opportunity.

The Work Room.

The sale of garments by the ladies of the Associated Charities will be continued during the day and evening today. Ice cream, cake and candy will be served. Many good articles yet remain unsold and an excellent opportunity is offered to those who would aid in a good work, and at the same time secure well made garments at a low price.

Veteran Republican Club.

There was a large gathering of the Veteran Republican Club at their room in Brown's Block last evening. Hon. J. J. Perry delivered a very interesting speech on the Harrison campaign, and was followed by Mr. S. R. Leavitt in a few reminiscences. The meeting was very enthusiastic.

CITY GOVERNMENT.

but that he did not object to granting the petitioners a hearing.

Several petitioners were introduced, all of whom spoke in behalf of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. George S. Hunt was the first speaker and said: "We respectfully ask the Board to reconsider their action relative to police matron, that was taken at a previous meeting. It is not a question of person at all, it is a question of principle, whether or not this office shall be taken from the government of those through whom it originated and given to the city." Mrs. Hunt spoke of the good work done by the Waman's Christian Temperance Union in the office of the police matron, and deemed it an office that can be advantageously governed by the Union

Ex-Mayor Walker spoke next and said that he doubted the right of the board to take control of an office that "is not recognized by the city charter or ordinances." He said that the office of police matron was created by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and for a long time the Union had supported it, doing much good thereby.

Rev. Henry Blanchard said that the ladies did not pretend to say whether the action was legal or not, it was not that they were considering. He thought the ladies had a right to say with indignation that they have been treated with discourtesy. "Surely the names of Gen. Francis Fessenden, James P. Baxter and other petitioners in the case deserve attention." Mr. Blanchard said that he was pastor of one of the largest churches in the city, and he had yet to meet one of his parishioners who approved of the action of the board.

Mrs. Merrill said that she had written to the chairman of the board, Alderman Smith, in regard to the work of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and had stated in what the Union had been successful and in what they had failed, but she had received no answer to her letter.

Alderman Smith here rose and stated that he had received Mrs. Merrill's letter and instead of answering it he had began an investigation. He consulted with the Marshal and His Honor, the Mayor, and had satisfied himself that the office of police matron was a good thing.

A. A. Strout, Esq., succeeded Mr. Smith, and spoke strongly in behalf of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. He said that he did not think it is possible for him to use any such phrase as would present the matter to the board any better than it had been presented by Mrs. Hunt. He did not understand that it was a question of law that the ladies were to present. Mr. Strout spoke of the good work done by the matron during the past eleven years, all of which, he said, is to be credited to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, which created the office of the matron. "If you do separate this office from those who organized it, it is believed by many good citizens of this city, you have robbed it of many of its advantages."

Mrs. J. M. N. Stevens was the next speaker in behalf of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. She said that the Union had never heard of any complaint concerning the matron appointed by the Union, and also stated the Union would be glad to act in harmony with the Board.

Judge Bonney said that the society is a bureau of information, really, in regard to girls of this city who need their protection. He said that he had been assisted by the Union in ascertaining the character and surroundings of girls who have been brought before him for judicial action. He thought the Union peculiarly fitted to have charge of the office of police matron, and thought that the whole matter might be settled without much difficulty.

Brief remarks were also made by W. H. Looney, Esq., Rev. D. W. LeLacheur, Messrs. M. G. Palmer, J. W. Stockwell and Mrs. Hunt, closing the hearing.

Upon motion of Alderman Gatley the petitions were laid on the table.

OTHER MATTERS.

A communication from the secretary of the Public Library, requesting the city clerk to notify the city government of the right to appoint three directors for the ensuing year of the Portland Institute and Public Library was received and placed on file.

The committee on rules and orders reported, presenting and recommending the adoption of the following: "In all cases where the parliamentary proceedings are not determined by the foregoing rules and orders, whether of the Board of Mayor and Aldermen or Common Council or committees, 'Cushing's Manual' shall be taken as authority to decide the course of proceeding." The report was adopted.

The committee on public instruction reported, recommending that John T. Hull have leave to withdraw his petition asking that the city aid in circulating his book called "A Hand and Guide Book of Portland and Vicinity." The report was adopted.

The usual order relative to giving required notice that it is the intention of this Board to construct certain sewers was passed.

The following were granted permission to erect wooden buildings: Andrew Henricksen, Edward Hasty, E. C. Richards, Rackley & Howatt, Portland R. R. Company, Wm. R. Naylor, E. W. Stevens, G. M. Elder, A. D. Morse, T. H. Randall, S. A. Sherman, D. A. Meaher, B. C. Miles, Clara C. Eaton, Berlin Mills Co.

The committee on drains and sewers recommended that the assessment on the sewers of Martin Conley, No. 40 and 42 Hammond street be held in obeyance, and that the assessment of Michael Barker at 15 and 17 Adams street be held in obeyance. These reports were adopted.

City Treasurer Hersey reported for the year ending March 31, 1888, showing a balance to the credit of the account with Evergreen Cemetery on April 1st, 1888 of $373.38. Also a statement of Evergreen Fund account for the same time, showing amount of said fund to be in cash $397.37 and in city registered bonds at par $44,500 making a total of $44,897.37, referred.

The bond of Cyrus Nowell as city auditor was approved.

Three insane persons were committee to the asylum at Augusta.

Two ballots were taken for city liquor agent; the first resulted in no choice, Orren Ring getting 4, James Logue 2 and D. B. Ricker 2 votes. On the second ballot Orren Ring was elected, getting five votes; James Logue got one, D. B. Ricker one and Ezra Perry one.

P. C. Welsh and George H. Green were appointed special policemen without pay.

Mayor Chapman said that he proposed to advertise for proposals for the taking down of Old City Hall, the same to be moved on or before the first of July next.

Hon. Frank M. Smith was appointed special policeman with pay.

Papers from the lower board were passed in concurrence. When the appropriation bill was sent back to this board they refused to pass it, and Aldermen Shaw, Gatley and Redlon were appointed a conference committee to confer with the Council to see if an agreement could not be arrived at. This committee, after some time, reported that they could not agree, and Aldermen Tukesbury, Smith and Hobbs were appointed a new conference committee, and they failed to agree. Finally, Aldermen Shaw, Hobbs and Cunningham were appointed a committee, and they reported that they had been able to agree upon an amendment by which the fire department appropriation was fixed at $16,000, and Casco engine house at $4000. The bill as amended was passed.

In Common Council.

All present.

The reading of the records of the last meeting was dispensed with.

Mr. True offered the following order, which was passed and sent up:

Ordered, That the Gas Agent, with Messrs True and Jordan of this board, be hereby constituted a committee of the City Council to investigate the affairs of the Portland Gas Light Company for the purpose of ascertaining the value of the city's interest in the property of said company; and said committee is hereby instructed to include in said inquiry an examination of the plant, mains, surplus, franchises, and property of every description of said company, and to report the results of said investigation to the City Council at its regular meeting, in June, 1888, and said committee is hereby authorized to request the services of the City Solicitor, if such service become necessary, and to employ an expert accountant, if deemed advisable. The expense, if any, incurred to be charged to the appropriation for contingent expenses.

When the appropriation bill came before this Board all the items were passed in concurrence with the upper Board, except the item of fire department which was reduced from $17,500 to $14,500, and the $3000 taken from that appropriation added to the $1000 for the Casco engine house, making $4000.

In making the change as moved by Mr. Smith, it was stated that the fire committee by last year's showing didn't need all the money voted them, and that it was better to put the money—$3000—taken from the appropriation, into the new building needed for the Casco engine house.

Mr. Peck from the committee, protested, saying that the economy of the committee last year was being made a handle to use against them now.

Mr. Crockett said the committee were not agreed on the subject and the chief engineer had said that the $14,500 would do with the $3000 put into the engine house. He asked the chief who was present, if that was so, and the chief said it was.

Mr. True said he thought if a reduction of $4,000 was made on the committee's estimates, as he understood there was, he should move that it be put into the appropriation for the Public Library. Probably a thousand dollars more could be added from overlayings, making the $5,000 required. Mr. Crockett stated that while he believed in a good public library, he believed first in good school houses for our children. We have needs for new houses for both the safety and health of our children. Judge Webb had said, "Don't be deceived, the sum of $7,000 annually will be wanted right along." When we could afford the luxury of the public library then we ought to have one.

Mr. Sylvester thought the public library appropriation should be laid on the table until at least we found out what our tax rate is to be.

Mr. True thought if we took the money from the contingent fund then we could afford the appropriation. But Mr. Brackett explained that already the city had got to pay out some $13,000 from the contingent, and only $8000 left for the extraordinary expenses that may come up during the year.

The bill then passed in non-concurrence. The upper board adhered and asked for a committee of conference—Messrs. Smart, Coyne, Crockett and Jordan were appointed on the part of this board. They reported no agreement. A new committee composed of Messrs. Lewis, Hill, Gallagher and Higgins was appointed from this board. The committee reported no agreement but was again sent out.

The committee reported recommending a change in the appropriation for fire department to $16,000, and making the Casco engine house appropriation $4000, and as amended the bill had a unanimous passage. The total amount is $693,474.09.

The Floyd offered an order that the committee on public buildings try and find a place for a hook and ladder truck on the hill, and it passed and was sent up.

Papers from the upper board received concurrent action.

The board adjourned at 10.30 a. m.

In Joint Convention.

The following subordinate officers were elected:

Weigher of Coal, Iron and Cabbage—Patrick Welch.

Weigher of Coal and Iron and Measurers of Wood and Bark—W. Lawton, Peter A. Laiohelle, W. Westwood, G. E. Nickerson.

Still further on is the horse boots case, containing over 100 different styles of the very best made boots. THE BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG.

Next Wednesday afternoon and evening, Bosworth Post, No. 2, G. A. R., will present a novel entertainment at City Hall, entitled "Exposition of the Battle of Gettysburg.' The exhibition consists of ten mammoth oil paintings, each 13 by 22 feet in size, real works of art, representing the most interesting events in the great conflict, supplemented by a large drop curtain. Gen. St. Clair A. Mulholland will be present and by a vivid description, aided by the map, lead the audience to a clear understanding of the first picture, and thus through the ten paintings, giving a most unique and interesting entertainment. The figures are life size, and the paintings are by the eminent artist Frank D. Briscoe, aided by an able corps of assistants. General Mulholland was one of General Hancock's favorite officers, and took an active part in the great battle. The entertainment will merit crowded houses, and we hope to see the post realize a handsome sum.

A QUESTION OF HEALTH.

What Baking Powders Shall We Use?

This plain question comes home to every housekeeper. We all desire pure and wholesome food, and this cannot be had with the use of impure or poisonous baking powder. There can be no longer a question that all the cheaper, lower grades of baking powders contain either alum, lime or phosphatic acid. As loath as we may be to admit so much against what may have been some of our household gods, there can be no gainsaying the unanimous testimony of the official chemists. Indeed, analysis seems to find no baking powder entirely free from some one of these objectionable ingredients except the Royal, and they report as chemically pure. We find some of the baking powders advertised as pure, to contain, under the tests of Professors Chandler, Habirshaw and others, nearly twelve per cent. of lime, while others are made from alum with no cream of tartar. This, we presume, accounts for their lack of leavening power as sometimes complained of by the cook, and for the bitter taste found in the biscuits so frequently complained of by ourselves.

But aside from the inferiority of the work done by these powders, the physicians assure us that lime and alum taken into the system in such quantities as this are injurious. Their physiological effects are indigestion, dyspepsia, or worse evils.

The question naturally arises, why do these cheap baking powder makers use these things? Alum is three cents a pound, lime still cheaper, while cream of tartar costs thirty-five or forty. The reasons for the chemical purity of the Royal Baking Powder were recently given in the New York Times in an interesting description of a new method for refining argols, or crude cream of tartar. It seems that it is only under this process that cream of tartar can be freed from the lime natural to it and rendered chemically pure; that the patents and plant for this cost the Royal Baking Powder Company about half a million dollars, and that they maintain exclusive control of the rights.

Professor McMurtie, late chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture, at Washington, D. C., made an examination of this process, and reported upon the results attained in the refined cream of tartar. The following extract from this report would seem to answer the question repeated at the head of this article, and which is so frequently propounded by the housekeeper:

"I have examined the cream of tartar used by the Royal Baking powder Company in the manufacture of their baking powder, and find it to be perfectly pure and free from lime in any form. The chemical tests to which I have submitted the Royal Baking Powder prove it perfectly healthful and free from every deleterious substance. The Boyal Baking Powder is purest in quality and highest in strength of any baking powder of which I have knowledge."
