HARMLESS RELICS OF NOBILITY.

Titles Which French Radicals Want to Abolish.

LONDON, June 6.—It is stated that the members of the Left intend to introduce in the French Chamber of Deputies, as a test measure, a bill forbidding any further recognition in journals or official documents of hereditary titles. To be sure, it seems a trifle anomalous, the constant recurrence of the names of Princes, Dukes and Counts in the reports of assemblies, marriages and christenings under a Republican regime. But as it is in many cases the only claim to consideration which the bearer possesses, it would appear rather hard to deprive the decayed sprigs of nobility of the only insignia of superiority over the vulgar herd which they are ever likely to own. Reduced English noblemen have been known to sink their titles when unable to support them in a proper manner, but such an idea would never enter the Gallic mind, particularly while the supply of American heiresses holds out as it does now. It would, of course, be possible to repress the use of any thing but proper names in legal documents of all kinds, and even to bury a life-long marquis or count under a plebeian designation, but it will be found difficult to prevent the Soleil or Gaulois from referring to the objects of their admiration under any other cognomen than those which they have always employed. It is not likely that the surrounding nations, with the solicitous editorials which grace their journals, are at all torn as to witness the display of intense displeasure in France. The more open the Radicalism in the internal dissensions, the manifestations of that Republic will urge less likelihood that the Republic will urge any quarrels beyond her borders. Any snubbing of the mushroom nobility of the latter empire or the descendants of the old families will be witnessed with supreme resignation by the upper classes of Italy, Germany and England.

Throwing Away Their Ammunition.

[Special to the Press.]

WATERVILLE, June 7.—Ben Bunker, in speaking of the celebration of the Augusta Democrats over Cleveland's nomination on Wednesday evening, says it is not like them. They are grand good fellows for celebrating, but when it comes to voting they let the election go by default. They should save their powder for the contest. Ben further states that the Democrat is in excellent financial condition, and will continue its career for the present under his management.

Ryder, of the Central Square church, Boston, preached this evening. The church was organized in 1842 with thirteen members, and now numbers 122. The old edifice was built in 1855. The structure has been entirely rebuilt at an outlay of $5,000, and is dedicated free of debt. It is a handsome edifice with 300 sittings. A beautiful memorial window in memory of Rev. Joh. Washburn, a former pastor, occupies the eastern wall of the auditorium. This church has no settled pastor at the present time.

BRECKENRIDGE FOR FREE FISH.

Mr. Dingley on the Effect of the Kentuckian's Proposition.

The Amendments by Breckenridge and Dingley Rejected.

Senator Morgan's Story of Averted Strife with Great Britain.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The House went into committee of the whole on the tariff bill, Mr. Dingley speaking in opposition to Mr. Breckenridge's amendment to the proviso attached to the lumber schedules of the free list, which proposes to admit Canadian fish free of duty upon the allowance by that country of commercial rights to our vessels, and also for reciprocity in the exchange of products between the United States and Canada. He maintained that Canada had withheld commercial rights from our fishing and other vessels for the purpose of driving Congress to admit fish free. He said the gentleman from Kentucky, by his amendment, was seeking to do what the ways and means committee of the last Congress had positively declared Congress could never be driven to do. The amendment proposed to deprive the country of that body of expert seamen which was its reliance in war.

Messrs. Butterworth and Hill of Illinois, and Lodge of Massachusetts also opposed the amendment.

Mr. Nutting of New York, denounced the discrimination exercised by Canada against our vessels passing seaward through the Welland Canal.

Mr. Outhwaite declared that all this talk of proceeding against Canada was for effect. The present administration had been just as energetic and earnest in enforcing our rights as any preceding Republican administration.

Mr. Coggswell of Massachusetts deprecated the belittling of an international question like the fisheries. If we demanded our rights in a spirit that backed up the demand, Canada would grant them in an hour.

Mr. Anderson of Iowa declared his belief that American industries were now full grown. We should throw open the gates and challenge the world to competition.

Mr. Cox read the announcement of Thurman's nomination. A scene of wild confusion followed. Nearly every able-bodied Democrat was on his feet shouting and cheering. Bandannas mysteriously appeared on every hand. One enthusiast tied one to the stick of an umbrella, and waved it. An enterprising reporter in the gallery dexterously dropped the symbol on each wing of the handsome golden eagle perched above the Speaker's head, while the reading clerk and Mr. Outhwaite of Ohio, displayed on the desk a large picture of Thurman, surmounted by an aggressive rooster.

After a prolonged debate, both Mr. Breckenridge's and Mr. Dingley's amendments were rejected. Two other amendments were offered and rejected. This concluded the consideration of the proviso attached to the lumber sections. After the clerk had read the next article on the free list, "salt in bags, sacks, barrels or other packages, or in bulk, when imported from any country which does not charge an import duty on salt exported from the United States," the committee rose.

Mr. Holman of Indiana, from the committee on public lands, offered a substitute for the Senate land grant forfeiture bill. The House then adjourned.

Morgan on the Treaty.

In the Senate today Senator Morgan asked leave to offer a preamble and series of resolutions on the subject of the pending fishing treaty. The preamble recites that the report of the committee on foreign relations on the treaty raises the question whether the President had authority to negotiate such a treaty or appoint plenipotentiaries without the previous consent of the Senate, and the resolutions declare the treaty to have been duly negotiated and that it is his duty to make it.

A wrangle ensued. Senator Morgan desired to address the Senate on the resolutions. He said this important treaty had been made the subject of political fun by a political party for the sake of advancing the interests of certain gentlemen in the National convention to be held in Chicago. In spite of the adverse ruling by the chair and many protests, Senator Morgan took up the manuscript of a speech made by him in secret session and commenced reading. One of the sentences of the speech was: "Gentlemen of the Senate may make war necessary as I am very sorry I fear we are doing here today." In allusion to Republican Senators, Senator Morgan said the only preparation they were making for war was the attempt to enlist the sympathies of the disaffected subjects of Her Majesty. Their action, he said, was doubtless with a view of exciting the antagonism of Irish voters to the President because of his alleged inoffensiveness to British influences. That charge rankled with injustice. Congress had given the President power, which all Presidents had possessed since 1850, to assign a paper war on British commerce and had then stood by to see whether the President would push that paper war into the category of real war. If he had done so, the country would have cried out for his impeachment, but having failed to do so, he was charged in the report of the majority of the committee on foreign relations with usurpation and with abuse of his constitutional powers, because he had sought to find a peaceable way to get the rights claimed by the United States.

Senator Morgan finished reading and the resolutions went over without action. After some routine business, the Senate adjourned until Monday.

Sheridan Helped Win the Race.

[Kennebec Journal.]

"Did you ever hear of Sheridan's bloodless victory?" asked a war-scarred veteran from Togus of the scribe yesterday morning.

"Well, I will tell you the story. I was there and saw it. You may think I am a liar, I am an army yarn, but I'm not. The victory happened on Sheridan's foreign tour. He was at Marseilles. The U. S. ship Richmond and the John Hancock, Rapid, were lying in the harbor close together. The crews kept up a great deal of good-natured fun. The bands at evening would alternately serenade the other ship. One day the commander of the Richmond sent his boat in charge of Midshipman Winslow, son of old Captain Winslow, ashore after Sheridan, Gen. Butterfield and the American consul. The boat proceeded and took from the land the distinguished passengers in full dress uniform. Now in going to and from the landing the boat had to pass for half a mile or so, through a cut, about wide enough for a large vessel to comfortably pass through. When the boat reached the mouth of this cut on its way back from the landing, not only was her boat's entrance with crew resting on their oars, "I don't know what's up," said the General, "but if I mistake not that's a challenge." "It is, General," replied the midshipman, "and the best belaboring that the Rapid's crew, she's not officered," said the General." That makes no difference" replied the midshipman; "they want a race." The General was all in a fume and wishing to whip John Bull, even in a boat race, said, "Boys, beat that boat and I'll give you 20 francs"; "and I will do the same," said Butterfield and the Consul; their boat came opposite the Britishers dropped oars and pulled for victory. The Yankees at first holding their own, began after a few minutes to fall a little behind. "See here, gentlemen," said the crew's coxswain, "unless you bend your bodies to the motion of the boat we are licked." The General and the others complied, and the Yankee boat reached ship inside of one length ahead. The commander received his guests aboard and the exciting race being explained, added 100 francs to the amount given the crew, making 700 francs in all. General Sheridan congratulated the crew in a happy speech, declaring that this was the only "bloodless victory he ever won." The loser's crew gave 48 hours' furlough. The British crew, however, fared worse. They had broken a naval law in racing without an officer, and were put in irons for 48 hours.

How the Last Session Passed With Cheering and Excitement.

The Platform Adopted With the Supplementary Resolutions.

The Convention Concludes its Business and Adjourns Sine Die.

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—Chairman Collins called the convention to order at 10.25 this morning.

The enthusiasm seemed to be as great as on any of the previous days. The Thurman men were evidently a great majority and they made themselves known by loud and prolonged cheering every time a red bandanna appeared. One of the State banners was adorned with a bandanna just before Chairman Collins rapped to order. This was received with tumultuous applause. Soon after a big red bandanna was seen on New York's banner. Then the cheering began in earnest. Hats were thrown into the air, banners were waved, and everybody except an occasional Gray man, was on his feet. All knew that when New York displayed a Thurman banner it settled the question of the Vice Presidency.

After the convention was fairly in order the only delegations not flying bandannas were Alabama, Georgia, Illinois, Indiana, Massachusetts, Louisiana, Dakota, Iowa, Tennessee and Maryland. The Indiana men hoisted a banner with a gray handkerchief.

After prayer by Dr. Brank of St. Louis, Henry Watterson submitted the report of the committee on resolutions, announcing that the report was the unanimous agreement of the committee. As he presented the report one of the delegates called for three cheers for the "Star-Eyed Goddess of Reform." They were given with a will. The clerk then read the resolutions from his desk. The platform is as follows:

The Platform.

The Democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled, renews the pledge of its fidelity to Democratic faith, reaffirms the platform adopted by its representatives in the convention of 1884, and endorses the views expressed by President Cleveland in his last annual message to Congress as a correct interpretation of tariff reduction. It also endorses the efforts of our Democratic representatives in Congress to secure a reduction of excessive taxes.

Chief among the principles of party faith are the maintenance of an indissoluble union of free and destructible States, now about to enter upon its second century of unexampled progress and prosperity; devotion to a plan of government regulated by a written constitution strictly specifying every granted power and expressly reserving to the States the entire ungranted residue of power; the incompressible rights of home rule; vigilance, directed to all who have been chosen for brief terms to enact and execute the laws, and are charged with the duty of preserving peace; unswerving equality and establishing justice.

The Democratic party welcomes the exacting scrutiny of the administration of executive power which four years ago was committed to its trust in the election of Grover Cleveland, and it challenges the most searching inquiry concerning its fidelity and devotion to the pledges which then invited the suffrages of the people.

During a most critical period of financial affairs resulting from over taxation, the administration has by the adoption of a wise and conservative course not only averted threatened disaster, but greatly promoted the prosperity of the people. It has reversed the improvident and unwise policy of the Republican party touching the public domain and has reclaimed from corporations and syndicates alien and domestic and restored to the people nearly one hundred million acres of public land to be sacredly held as homesteads for our citizens.

While carefully guarding the interests of the taxpayers and conforming strictly to the principles of justice and equity, it has paid out more for pensions and bounties to the soldiers of the republic, than was ever paid before during an equal period.

By intelligent management and judicious and economic expenditure of public money, it has set on foot a reconstruction of the American navy upon a system which will forbid a recurrence of scandal and insures success of public results.

It has adopted and consistently pursued a firm and prudent foreign policy, preserved peace with all nations while scrupulously maintaining all the rights and interests of our own government and people at home and abroad.

The exclusion from our shores of Chinese laborers has been effectually secured under the provisions of a treaty, the operation of which has been postponed by the action of a Republican majority in the Senate.

Honest reform in the civil service has been inaugurated and maintained by President Cleveland and he has brought the public service to the highest standard of efficiency not only by rule and precept but by the example of his own untiring and unselfish administration of public affairs.

An honest reform in the civil service has been inaugurated by President Cleveland and he has brought the public service to the highest standard of efficiency not only by rule and precept but by the example of his own untiring and unselfish administration of public affairs.

In every department of the government under Democratic control the rights and welfare of all the people have been guarded and defended; every legitimate interest has been protected and the equality of all our citizens before law without regard to race or color has been steadfastly maintained.

Upon its record thus exhibited, and upon the pledge of a continuance to the people of the benefits of good government, the National Democracy invoke a renewal of the popular trust by the re-election of a chief magistrate who has been faithful, able and prudent.

They invoke, in addition to that trust, the transfer to the Democracy of the entire legislature.

The Republican party, controlling the Senate and resisting in both houses a Congress a reformation of the unjust and unequal laws which have enhanced the emoluments of war, and are now undermining the abundance of a long peace, deny to the people equality before the law, and the fairness and justice for which are theirs. Thus the cry of American labor for a better share of the rewards of industry is stifled with false pretences, enterprise is fettered and bound down to home markets, capital is disturbed with doubt, and unequal, unjust laws can never be properly amended nor repealed.

The Democratic party will continue to struggle to reform these laws in accordance with the pledges of its platform, adopted at the ballot box by the suffrages of the people. Of all the industrious freemen of our land, an immense majority, including even a large part of the soil, gain no advantage from excessive tax laws, but the price of nearly everything they buy is increased by the favoritism of an unequal system of tax legislation.

All unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation. It is repugnant to the creed of the Democracy that, by such taxation, the cost of the necessaries of life should be unjustly increased to all our people. Judged by Democratic principles, the interests of the people are betrayed by unnecessary taxation. Trusts and combines are permitted and fostered which will unjustly enrich the few that combine to rob our citizens by depriving them of the benefit of natural competition. Every Democratic rule of governmental action is vitiated when, through unnecessary taxation, a vast sum of money beyond the needs of an economical administration is drawn from the people and the channels of trade and accumulated as a demoralizing surplus in the national treasury. Money, now lying idle in the Federal treasury, resulting from superfluous taxation amounts to more than $125,000,000, and the surplus collected is reaching the sum of more than $60,000,000 annually. Debauched by this immense temptation, the comedy of the Republican party is to meet and expiate by extravagant taxation. The Democratic remedy is to enforce frugality in public expenditures, and abolish unnecessary taxation. Our established domestic industries and enterprises should not and need not be endangered by the reduction and correction of the burdens of taxation. On the contrary, a fair and careful revision of our tax laws, with due allowance for the difference between the wages of American and foreign labor must permit and encourage every branch of industry and enterprise by giving them assurance of an extended market, and steady and continuous operation in the interest of American labor, which should, in no event, be neglected. The revision of our tax laws contemplated by the Democratic party, is to promote the advantage of such labor by cheapening the cost of the necessaries of life in the home of every workingman, and at the same time securing to him steady and remunerative employment. Upon this question of tariff reform, so closely concerning every phase of our national life and upon every question involved in the problem of good government, the Democratic party submits its principles and professions to the intelligent suffrages of the American people.

When the reading of the platform was concluded Mr. Watterson took the stand and was greeted with cheers and loud cries of "Hurrah for Watterson." Mr. Watterson in a short speech moved the adoption of the platform. In concluding, he said: "Two good Democrats can never know each other well until they had same fun with each other. This will furnish the reason why I now present to you Senator Gorman." (Laughter and applause.)

Senator Gorman's speech seconding the motion was interrupted by a disturbance in the rear of the hall caused by a crowd filling the vacant seats. Order was soon restored and Mr. Gorman finished.

Mr. Watterson demanded the previous question and the platform was unanimously adopted amid great cheering.

Congressman Scott, of Pennsylvania, then presented from the committee of resolutions a resolution endorsing and recommending an early passage of the Mills bill.

The previous question was ordered and the resolution was passed amid great cheering and waving of hats.

P. W. Lehman, of Iowa, presented a resolution endorsing a liberal policy towards the Territories of Washington and New Mexico. It was adopted.

Governor Abbott, of New Jersey, from the committee, presented a resolution which was passed, expressing sympathy with the struggling people of Ireland.

C. W. Baker, of Ohio, asked unanimous consent to offer a resolution of respect to the late Thomas A. Hendricks. The mention of Mr. Hendricks's name was greeted with loud and continued applause. The resolution was adopted by a unanimous rising vote.

Chairman Collins announced that Edward Cooper, of New York, dissented from a part of the platform.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

Thurman, Black and Gray Presented, and Thurman Chosen.

ST. LOUIS, June 7—The call for the nomination of a Vice President then began. When California was called Mr. M. F. Tarpey arose and, amid the cheers of the vast assemblage, proceeded to nominate Allen G. Thurman. He said:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen:—This is a proud and pleasant duty which, through the kindness of my friends, I have been chosen to perform, and I am truly grateful to my associates who have so honored me.

I fear that it was kindness alone and not ability that prompted my selection from among the many eloquent gentlemen who are members of the California delegation, but, sirs, what I lack in oratorical ability I pledge in some small measure compensate for in my enthusiasm in the undertaking, and, feeling as I do that the most eloquent must fail short of doing full justice to the gentleman whom I am here to nominate, I have accepted the trust with the mental reservation that if nothing else I am at least earnest in what I say, filled with admiration for him of whom I speak.

That I am proud of the privilege of addressing you I acknowledge, but that I am prouder still of the man whom I shall nominate I will not deny, for I feel, sirs, that this republic holds no man superior to Hon. Allen G. Thurman, of Ohio. The greet ing accorded his name is a well deserved tribute. The spontaneity has been nobly earned. Be assured that such a greeting will be accorded his name at its every mention throughout this republic, from sea to sea and from the British line to the Gulf.

Allen G. Thurman! What an epitome of American civil history is embodied in that name. His character and ability are known to every man, woman and child in the land. His public record will be a more enduring monument to his fame than a temple of stone or brass, for history will inscribe his name among the list of America's illustrious sons.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A Republican State Convention will be held in

CITY HALL,

Portland, Tuesday, June 12, 1888,

At 11 o'clock, A. M.,

for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor, to be supported at the September election, and transacting any other business that may properly come before it.

The basis of representation will be as follows: Each city, town and plantation will be entitled to one delegate, and for each seventy-five votes cast for the Republican candidate for governor in 1884 an additional delegate, and for a fraction of forty votes in excess of seventy-five votes, a further additional delegate. Vacancies in the delegation of any city, town or plantation, can only be filled by residents of the county in which the vacancy exists.

The State committee will be in session in the reception room of the hall at 9 o'clock on the morning of the convention, for the purpose of receiving the credentials of delegates.

All electors of Maine, without regard to past political differences, who believe in protecting the industries of this State and its agricultural products; who believe in protecting the laborer and the wage-earner in every right; who believe "in choosing a policy which inspires labor with hope and crowns it with dignity, which gives safety to capital and protects its increase, which secures political power to every citizen, comfort and culture to every home" giving free popular education to the people; in favor of free suffrage and an honest counting of ballots; who approve the prohibition of the liquor traffic and the promotion of the cause of temperance; in an economical, just and efficient administration of public affairs; a faithfully administered civil service; and who uphold all judicious measures for the encouragement of American ship building, are cordially invited to unite with the Republicans in the selection of delegates to this convention.

Per order Republican State Committee.

J. H. MANLEY, Chairman.

WILLIS H. WING, Secretary

The Democratic papers do not find much space for comment on the returns from Oregon. The subject is too painful. It would be the part of wisdom, however, for them to begin to practice on defeats. Before the snow flies there will be some that they cannot ignore.

In adopting again the tariff plank of the platform of 1884 the Democratic party have resurrected one of the curiosities of political literature. Like an utterance of the Delphic Oracle it can mean most anything that the imagination of man chooses to conjure up, and was well fitted for the purposes of Democratic orators who wished to preach one tariff doctrine in New Jersey and another in Texas.

Mr. Thurman's nomination will undoubtedly be used by Mr. Sherman's friends to induce the Republican convention to nominate the Senator on the ground that Thurman's nomination will jeopardize Ohio to a sufficient extent to make it imperative to take the Republican candidate from that State. Ohio, however, has for a great many years given a large Republican majority in Presidential years. This year the assault of the Democratic House on one of the principle industries of the State ensures a Republican majority larger than for many years past, no matter who may be the candidate of the Republicans, and the selection of Thurman, were he ever so popular in his State, would have very little effect. The nomination of the Old Roman creates no imperative necessity for taking the Republican candidate from Ohio. It creates no necessity at all. Any good Republican protectionist can carry Ohio this year in spite of Thurman and Standard Oil combined.

A correspondent of the Springfield Union wants some light in regard to Judge Gresham's views in regard to the tariff. He says that recently the Home Market Club of Boston, in order to draw out his opinions on the tariff invited him to come to Boston, and a most pointed reference was made in the invitation as to the desire of the club to know how he stood upon the tariff. In his reply Judge Gresham made no allusion whatever to the tariff question, so that organization is as ignorant as it was previously concerning his views. The writer evidently fears that Judge Gresham is not sound enough on protection to make an available candidate for the Republicans this year. It must be borne in mind however that Mr. Gresham is a judge on the bench. His refusal to address the Home Market Club or to write a letter on a subject semi-political may therefore be due simply to a feeling that while holding a position on the bench it would be unbecoming for him to engage actively in politics.

The gallows will disappear from New York State after January 1, 1889 and for it will be substituted the electric chair which is guaranteed to dispatch the criminal instantaneously and decorously. If this reform works well in the Empire State undoubtedly other States will soon adopt it, and the gallows as a means of inflicting capital punishment disappear within a few years. Electricity seems to be in every way preferable to the present method. It inflicts no torture and it is free from liability to accidents which frequently happen under the present method. The substitution of the electric chair is however by no means the only important reform contained in the New York law. The prohibition of the publication of the details of executions which is a part of the law, is another and quite as important one. Indeed so far as the public is concerned it is the more important of the two, for the first enures chiefly if not entirely to the benefit of the criminal.

The Old Roman and his red bandanna yesterday captured the Democratic nomination for Vice President. His selection was of course largely a matter of sentiment. That he will add any strength to the ticket is not likely and it is not probable that he was put on with that idea. To Indiana would naturally have been accorded the honor of furnishing the candidate for the vice presidency, but the party is so split up into factions there that the selection of any prominent Democrat from that State would surely have given affront to one or the other of the wings of the party and furnished provocation for "knifing" at which the Hoosier Democracy have for a long while been adepts. Had Gray had the unanimous support of his State he doubtless would have received the nomination, but Macdonald and his friends were bitterly opposed to him, and in the event of his selection a row would have been inevitable. It was a strong point in Thurman's favor that his selection would rouse no special antagonisms.

Most conspicuous and interesting of the public speakers who have addressed Maine audiences the last year has been the venerable Hannibal Hamlin. On two recent occasions the people of Portland have had the rare opportunity of seeing and hearing the man who won with Abraham Lincoln the great victory of 1860, and who is one of the few survivors of the Republican leaders of the civil war. Had he been allowed to carry out his own intentions the people of Portland would have had an opportunity to hear him once more, on an occasion which would have rekindled the fires of his youth and brought back memories of no common times and events. But it was left to him to make his farewell speech on a most appropriate occasion,—the Memorial Day exercises at Ellsworth. The concluding words of that address were these:

> I ought not to have attempted to speak here to-day, in view of my indisposition, but there was one thing which tempted me strongly to come. There is one thing that I can say and say truly which I doubt if any other man can say. I have spoken for years, probably more than any other living man in New England, but having once pledged my word to speak, I never yet failed to keep my appointment. I did not wish to break that record, and so I am here to-day. There was one other reason why I wished to speak here to-day. I am now seventy-eight years of age, and having now spoken enough, I am done with speech making. Memorial Day is a glorious day, and I know of no better day on which to make my last address than on such an occasion as this. I do not say that I may not hereafter speak briefly, as for instance to respond to a toast, but with this occasion my labor as a public speaker is done.

The occasion and the farewell were worthy of each other. The people of Maine, while they regret the decision, will unite in congratulating the veteran orator that the words at Ellsworth were spoken at the suggestion instead of at the mandate, of advancing years.

The Democratic convention reaffirmed the tariff straddle of 1884 and then declared that it should be interpreted according to the President's last message to Congress. This is said to have been satisfactory to Gorman and to Watterson as well. But whether it was satisfactory to these distinguished Democrats of conflicting views was of little consequence, provided it was satisfactory to Grover Cleveland. The convention was practically called together to officially proclaim Mr. Cleveland the candidate, after he had been nominated by himself, to select a candidate for Vice President that should meet his approval, and to construct a platform on condition that no timber should be used in it unless it had first been submitted to Grover Cleveland and received his approbation. The convention appears to have done as it was told, and with some show of enthusiasm. As far as any practical value is concerned it might just as well have omitted the platform altogether. It was put in simply as a matter of form. Cleveland is candidate and platform combined. He is centre of the Democratic system and the whole party revolves around him. From him they draw their life and breath, and it is he that imbues them with their ideas on all important questions. Cleveland is for free trade, and so for free trade the Democracy must be whether they like free trade or not. What they may say in their resolutions is of no sort of consequence. Just now Cleveland is the party.

CURRENT COMMENT.

MR. THURMAN AS A JUNE BRIDE.

[Detroit Tribune.]

"Marry in haste and repent at leisure"—Mr. Thurman.

A SUSTAINED EFFORT.

[Belfast Journal.]

Of Congressman Reed's great tariff speech recently published in the Journal, a Republican says: "It has been the fashion to say that Reed, although very bright and able in debate, could not make a sustained effort. He has now set at rest that question."

WHO FILLS THE BILL.

[Philadelphia Press.]

Make a ticket with a representative protectionist who is welcomed in New York or Indiana or both without weakness on the Pacific coast, and we do our best at the start to assure victory. Who best fills the bill? Is his name Sherman, Harrison, Allison, Gresham, Alger, Rusk, Phelps, or Depew? Republicans everywhere must put on their thinking caps.

THE FAIR AND SQUARE ISSUE.

[New York Tribune.]

Oregon responds magnificently to Rhode Island. It is really a splendid victory which the Republicans have won on the Pacific Slope, and the news cannot infuse much warmth into the hearts of the machine-ied Democrats in St. Louis. The best of it is that the contest has waged fairly and squarely on the question of Protection or Free Trade, with a result as surprising to Republicans as to Democrats.

THE BEST CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR.

[Biddeford Journal.]

In view of the efforts that will be made to reduce the Republican majority, it certainly behooves the Republicans of the State to act in the coming convention deliberately and wisely in the choice of a standard bearer. He should possess two qualities in an eminent degree—ability to meet the Democratic nominee in public discussion of party issues, and absolute freedom from the suspicion of any legal disibility that might handicap him in the contest. That the first of these qualities is possessed by Hon. Henry B. Cleaves, as it is not by either of the other gentlemen named for the nomination, is unquestioned, while he is entirely free from the complications which surround the present incumbent of the State Treasuryship. Added to these are his spotless private character, his high record as a gallant soldier, a successful legislator and administrator of the responsible office of Attorney General to the State. He is a clean, strong man, thoroughly well qualified, worthy and available.

With Mr. Cleaves for leader in the important and campaign now opening, the party could ant would accomplish its best work and surely win a most gratifying success at the polls

PERSONAL AND PECULIAR.

Miss Amelie Rives, the Virginia novelist is to be married to Mr. A. C. Coolidge, of Boston. Mr. Coolidge is of Virginia descent, and is a nephew of T. Jefferson Coolidge.

Matthew Arnold, according to report, left but about $5000. If the report is true, the Boston Transcript remarks, it shows that it pays better to write puffs than criticisms.

Krupp is making the biggest gun in the world for the Italian iron clad Sandegna. It will be 52½ feet long, with a bore of 15.7 inches. It will fire a steel shell of 1,630 pounds with an initial velocity of 2,411 feet per second, or one of 2,314 pounds at 2,099 feet per second.

M. Alexandre Dumas lives by measure and weight. He rises at half-past 6 in the summer and at 7 in the winter. His first breakfast invariably consists of a glass of milk. The second, which he takes at noon, is a very plain meal. Dinner occurs at exactly 7, and at 10 he is in bed. He walks three miles every day, and never works after 4 in the afternoon.

General Sheridan's book of memoirs is complete in manuscript form, and it publication was expected in a few weeks. He has been intensely absorbed in it, and was genuinely bitten by the writing fever as soon as he begun it. It was a new and unexpected pleasure to him. He is a rapid writer, but, like most men unskilled in literary work, he had a preposterous notion of the actual labor demanded by a book. With the aid of a stenographer, and with his own rapid work, his progress amazed and delighted him.

One of the strangest sights in Washington is an old man, very queerly dressed, accompanied by a middle-aged woman with a forest of corkscrew curls hanging down her back, and wearing an immense hat with a multitude of ostrich feathers in it pointing in every direction. They never fail to attract attention whenever they appear upon the streets. This old gentleman's name is Weston and he is the uncle of Mr. Melville Weston Fuller, the future chief justice. The odd looking woman is Mr. Fuller's cousin.

Queen Victoria has entered upon her seventieth year, and has been for about ten years the titular as well as actual empress of India. It has occurred to her somewhat late that she ought to understand the language spoken by the largest number of her subjects, and she has therefore taken measures to import a Hindu prince who has nothing to do at home, and no visible means of support, who is under contract to instruct her majesty in Hindustani, at a salary of $750 a month, which Victoria has asked her loyal subjects of Great Britain and Ireland to pay. Mr. Labouchere regards this request as an illustration of the calm characteristic of the British royal house under trying circumstances. He says there are very good schools in London where her majesty might study Hindustani as much as she chose for fifteen shillings a quarter. If she prefers instead to employ a decayed Indian prince at an extravagant cost, she might, as she is doubtless the richest woman in Europe, pay him herself. It is impossible that any knowledge of Hindustani which she can acquire at her age will be of public use, and the radicals may reasonably protest, as Mr. Labouchere says they will, against making her teacher a public functionary, with a salary far beyond his merits.

Hon. Beaman Brockway, the veteran editor and proprietor of the Watertown (N. Y.) Times, was at one time on the staff of the Tribune under Horace Greeley, and for many years before and after was in private correspondence with him as a friend. Mr. Brockway thinks that during the later years of Mr. Greeley's life he suffered, at considerable intervals, from spells of mental depression amounting to a derangement, under the heavy cloud of which his life went out. He had letters from Greeley at times expressive of the most miserable despair over some political or social condition that aroused no such feelings in other men. It is probable that Mr. Greeley's letter to President Lincoln, written a few days after the first battle of Bull Run, and published in the June Century, in which he speaks of himself as "hopelessly broken," was written in one of those spells of mental prostration. Certainly there was no such "funereal gloom" nor "sullen, scorching, blank despair" in regard to the ultimate triumph of the Union arms as he depicts, after the rout of our army at Bull Run, neither in New York nor elsewhere in the North. The common phrase of the day was an inspiring one, "We Haven't BEGUN to Fight Yet!" And the song broke out, throughout the loyal States—

> "We are coming, Father Abraham,
> Three hundred thousand more!"

The cold and unpleasant weather for the past few weeks, has, no doubt, caused many people to feel that the old suit is as good as the weather.

This is good logic for a rainy day, but when the warm days come you will be surprised to know that many of the nobby and most desirable things have either been sold or the line of sizes badly broken. Anticipating the wants of the late buyer we have been in the market the past week and replenished our stock with the most complete line of Men's, Youths' and Children's Suitings we have ever shown, and will give our customers the full advantage of having bought them cheap for cash.

TO THE HOLDERS OF

United States 4 1-2 Per Cent Bonds,

DUE 1891.

We beg to call your attention to the fact that the above mentioned United States Bonds at the present price yield only

Two and One-quarter Per Cent

(2 1-4) interest, and that as they approach maturity the price will decline until the whole premium will be wiped out.

We therefore advise the holders of these Bonds to sell or exchange them for other securities. We have on hand a desirable list of City, County, Railroad and Water Bonds, suitable for Trust Funds, and would be pleased to have the holders of the above mentioned Bonds communicate with us.

in order to obtain the present high premium which must gradually and surely become less as they approach maturity. We are offering some excellent securities which we can recommend to holders of above bonds, or in exchange for any other securities soon to mature, and we shall be happy to communicate or confer with them regarding such exchange.

WIT AND WISDOM.

"Oh, papa," exclaimed little Johnny, "I wish I had a dog life Billy Sweet's. When Billy came home yesterday he had a newspaper, and the dog met him at the station and put the paper in his pants pocket and ran home with it."

"Put the newspaper in his pocket? In his mouth, I guess."

"Yes, papa, that's what I meant. His mouth is his pants pocket, isn't it—or the pocket where he pants?"

To get relief from indigestion, bilious ness, constipation or torpid liver without disturbing the stomach or purging the bowels, take a few doses of Carter's Little Liver Pills, they will please you.

Mr. Mould, the undertaker, was complaining about business, and appeared somewhat discouraged.

"Uriah," suggested his wife "I wonder if it wouldn't brighten things up a little if you were to offer a bargain sale of coffins for the next thirty days? I think people would take advantage of it."

That tired, languid feeling and dull headache is very disagreeable. Take two of Carter's Little Liver Pills before retiring, and you will find relief. They never fail to do good.

Brother Gardner's Philosophy:

Remember that a naybor who offers you de loan of his hoe an fishing around to secure de loan oh your wheelbarrer.

Remember dat you can't judge of de home happiness oh a man an' wife by seein' 'em at a Sunday skule picnic.

Remember dat while de average man will return you de k'reet change in a business transaction he'll water his milk an' mix de water wid his coffee.

Remember dat society am made up of good clothes, hungry stomachs, deception, heartaches an' mixed company.

Remember dat people will nebber stop to question de truf of any rumor or scandal affectin' your character, but it takes yars to satisfy 'em dat your great grandfarder wasn't a pirate an' your great grandmudder de leadin' gal in a fifteen-cent ballet.

SCIENCE in the Household teaches us that poor and adulterated Flavoring Extracts, while costing a trifle less, increase the doctor's bills, and makes nature's greatest gift, a healthy stomach, a curse. Burnett's Extracts are pure.

Mrs. Brainley—You know the Venus Aphrodite, Mrs. Nouveau?

Advice to Mothers.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub, awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

A WARNING.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system, and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly, and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat, and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs, producing Consumption, and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous, and, if allowed to proceed will, in time, cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous, and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief. nov8-d1y-eT

The Home Market Club.

Mr. Charles O. Dyer is in Portland for a few days in the interest of the Home Market Club, whose headquarters are in Boston. The object and aims of the club are well known, and the work done by the organization during the past spring and winter in support of the protective system, has been very valuable and important. It is intended to make the club a permanent institution, and believers in the doctrine of protection all over New England are asked to assist by becoming members. At this time, when one of the great parties has committed itself practically to the doctrine of free trade, it is important that the friends of protection, those who are opposed to the surrender of our markets to foreigners should organize to combat the destructive theories which the free traders in the Democratic House are endeavoring to reduce to practice.

County Commissioners.

We learn that the Samuel D. Plummer of Scarboro, has withdrawn from the contest for this office and the Republicans of that town are to present the name of a Scarboro man for that position, namely Frank H. ## A HEAVY THUNDER STORM.

The Lightning's Pranks in This Vicinity.

A very heavy thunder shower prevailed in this city and vicinity yesterday noon, heavier even than the one of Wednesday evening. During the shower, hail stones of large size, two of which weighed nearly a fifth of an ounce apiece, fell in the streets.

A cat belonging to Mr. William O'Brion, coachman for Mrs. Darius H. Ingraham, was crossing Pleasant street, and its owner is confident as it fell dead, and a large hail stone was found beside it, that the cat was struck by the stone and killed.

Quantities of glass in skylights and hot houses were broken by the hailstones. Mr. Andrew Sawyer's extensive conservatories and hot houses at Cape Elizabeth suffered to the extent of 1500 panes of glass. Mr. Higgins's hot house lost 500 panes, and another hot house 300 panes. Apple blossoms and tender foliage were badly treated by the hail. Some of the stones looked more like pieces of ice than hailstones. Officer Frank found a hailstone that measured an inch and a quarter in diameter.

During the storm the thunder was very heavy and the lightning continuous and very vivid. The wind was from the southeast.

William H. McKay's and Mrs. Francis E. Brown's families occupy the double tenement No. 2 Lincoln Place. While some of the occupants were dining the lightning struck the roof near the chimney, ripping off the shingles, and crashed through Mrs. Brown's tenement, tearing the plastering from the ceiling and passing along the pipes of the water closet, escaping into the ground. An old lady and a boy in the room were partially stunned by the shock. Dr. Palmer was sent for, and on entering the room found the woman sitting with her feet in a pan of earth, somebody having told her that if a person was struck by lightning and the feet were placed in earth the electric fluid would be drawn out. The damage to the house will not exceed $50. It is owned by Miss Chamberlain.

Lightning struck the houses of Stephen Burke and Stephen Murphy, on Valentine street, Saccarappa. They were not much damaged, but the occupants were considerably shaken up. The houses stand side by side, and were both struck at the same time.

During the storm the rain fell in torrents, washing the streets badly. The rain left its marks all along Commercial street, and at the height of the storm the water in the street was from two inches to more than a foot deep. The culverts were not of sufficient capacity to carry it off, and torrents rushed down all the side streets, flooding Commercial street as it was rarely ever flooded before by a rain storm. The water rose above the sidewalks, and the cellar of Harris, Gage & Tolman's store was filled to a depth of two feet through the grating in the sidewalk. At Thompson & Hall's, the water was only prevented from flooding the cellar by placing boards in front of the grating to keep it back. From the foot of Cross street to the foot of State, the sidewalk was submerged, and when the water subsided, from half an inch to half a foot of mud covered the walk, making travelling very disagreeable. The foot of State street was badly washed out, and great quantities of sand and small stones deposited in the street below. On the back of the city cellars were flooded.

THE BATH WATER WORKS

Yesterday Messrs. H. M. Payson & Co., bankers, of Portland, purchased the Bath water works system, and will soon make improvements on them.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Justice Gray of the U. S. Supreme Court, and Judge Colt of the U. S. Circuit Court are at the Falmouth Hotel.

Hall C. Burleigh, one of the proprietors of the Waterville Mail, retires from the firm, and the paper will be published by the former proprietors, Wing & Wing.

Mr. S. T. Betts, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has returned from his trip to Grand Rapids, Mich., where he has been attending the general secretary conference.

Mr. H. B. Stone has arrived in Portland from Kansas, and will pass his vacation here on his yacht, the Tempus, taking yachting trips with friends along the shore, and to New York.

Henry M. Mudgett of Belfast, died at his home on Northport Avenue, Thursday of last week after a long and painful sickness. He has for some years past managed the stock farm owned by himself and his brothers, and was well known as a trainer of horses. He was about 30 years of age and unmarried.

Professor L. C. Bateman recently sent a copy of the Belfast Journal containing his illustrated articale on Lord Byron to Wilfred Blount, whose wife is the granddaughter and only living descendant of Byron, and has received a very pleasant acknowledgement, in which Mr. Blount says: "We are very pleased to know that the poetry of Byron still has its devoted admirers in America." The letter was dated at Crabbett Park, Three Bridges, Sussex, England, the country seat of Wilfred Blount and Lady Blount.

Turnverein Field Day.

Among the attractive events in Portland on the Fourth will be the annual field day of the Portland Turnverein. It will be held at the base ball grounds and will comprise the following extensive and interesting list of sports: Running hop step and jump, 100 yards dash, throwing base ball, putting the shot, running high jump, running broad jump, standing high jump, three broad jumps, bar vault, potato race, sack race, three legged race, pole vault, rope climbing contest, throwing the hammer, one-quarter mile race. There will also be a fractional mile race open to all amateurs in the State, for which a gold medal will be awarded. All the principle sports will receive medals of either silver or gold, according to their importance. The sports will be governed by standard rules.

There is already a great deal of interest manifested among the members of the institution and the entry list will undoubtedly be large.

Last year a number of college records were broken and it is not improbable that more will be broken this year.

Story by Sylvanus Cobb, Jr.

BOSTON, June 7.—A complete novel by Sylvanus Cobb, Jr., author of "The Gunmaker of Moscow" is a great treat for story readers. One of Mr. Cobb's complete stories will be given in the next BOSTON SUNDAY GLOBE, June 10. It is entitled "Dagon, the Mysterious, or the Hunter Spy of Virginia."

The next SUNDAY GLOBE will also contain a fascinating article on customs of courtship in modern and ancient times, and some facts showing that the heads, chests, waists and feet are growing smaller.

For the boys THE SUNDAY GLOBE will have all the latest base ball news.

Accident.

Mr. Sargent, of the firm of Sargent, Dennison & Co., of this city, was knocked down and run over by a horse driven by a woman in Auburn yesterday, and quite badly hurt. The horse was a spirited animal, and, being frightened by the cars, was quite uncontrollable. Mr. Sargent was in Auburn attending the Universalist convention, and was on his way to the depot to come home when he was run over. He took the train home, and is now in the care of a physician.

A Liquor Trap Discovered.

Deputy Sheriffs Stover and Turner yesterday made a call at a saloon on Commercial street. Behind the counter, in the front shop, they found a trap, which the officers raised. Underneath an unsuspicious looking cellar appeared, but the deputies discovered a board under the earthen floor, which was raised and a barrel of beer discovered on tap, from which a lead pipe made many tortuous windings to a carpeted entry, under which the tap was found.

Fatal Accident.

Walter Paine, of this city, aged about 35 years, a machinist at the shop at Waterville, while attempting to board the express freight train, Thursday noon, at that place, was thrown under the cars and instantly killed. He was intending to get a ride from the shops to the depot.

FIRE LAST NIGHT.

The Portland Stone Ware Company's Coal Sheds Burned.

At twenty-five minutes of nine o'clock last night an alarm of fire was pulled from box 34, calling the department to the coal sheds located on the marginal way not far from the foot of Wilmot street. When the engines arrived the sheds were all ablaze, and the flames that rose high in the air illuminated the entire eastern part of the city and their reflection shown brightly on the houses of that part of the city that slopes toward the bay.

The fire started in an unoccupied fish house that was situated close to the eastern side of the coal shed and a fresh easterly wind favored the destruction that followed. The fire burned rapidly and was intensely hot. The smoke was carried away over the bay and the sparks fell into the water and were extinguished. Owing to the wind, had not the shed been remote from any other building, a great conflagration would have resulted. Col. Moore's dredge, the Freeport, lay alongside the shed when the fire broke out, and had the tide been out, this, too, would have been burned. As the bay was flooded at the time the crew found no difficulty in moving the dredge to a place of safety.

In an amazingly short time the flames had eaten their way into the centre of the shed, and at 9 o'clock the entere roof fell. Fifteen minutes later nothing but a great heap of burning coal in the center and the heavier timbers that formed the sides of the shed remained. The flames attracted hundreds of curious people who lingered until the roof and walls were a heap of smouldering ruins.

Beyond where the coal sheds stood are the clay sheds owned by the Portland Stone Ware Company, but these were saved. The coal shed was owned by Lorenzo Taylor and the coal by the Portland Stone Ware Company whose loss cannot be estimated because it was impossible to ascertain last night how much of the coal was burned. The shed was well insured. Mr. Winslow said last night that, judging from what he could learn from those who were present when the fire first started, it was incendiary.

The shed contained about 600 tons of coal which was insured for $2,500 with Prentiss Loring.

The Fraternity Primary at Old Orchard.

Fortunately for the Fraternity Primary, last week's fog ended in a bright and warm Saturday for their picnic.

The responsibility and command of all the boys was given to the officers of Co. A—mere boys themselves—who joined the Primary at its start four years ago, and now are repaying the interest that has been taken in them by constant care of the younger boys.

Mr. Furber put three cars at the disposal of the Primary, who filled them even to three on a seat, and heads and waving handkerchiefs were thrust out of every window until the train started and the order "Heads in" was given. They found the ride to Old Orchard very exciting, and on their arrival marched to the camp grounds, where a barrel of crackers and two large cheeses took the edge off their appetites; then they scattered to the woods and beach until the preparations for dinner began. They gathered round the platform and watched the cakes and sandwitches put into the plates in silence, but when the pastry was added the cry of "turn-him-overs" arose.

At length the two hundred plates were filled, the drum beat, and at the command of Capt. Flaherty the hungry boys formed silently into companies and marched slowly across the preachers' stand—where hungry souls are more usually fed—to receive their food.

The afternoon was spent in playing base ball, bathing and petting a tame seal on the beach, and the boys came home at 5 o'clock after a very successful day and without any accidents.

Casco Street Church.

To the Editor of the Press:

I noticed in your paper June 7th, that Mrs. Sarah Dyer, lately deceased, was the last survivor of those who were present at the dedication of Casco street church. I beg leave to say that there is living in this city a lady, who then belonged to Dr. Tyler's church, who was present and remembers well how very interesting and impressive was the occasion. I refer to Mrs. Eliza Stockman Blake, widow of Captain Nathaniel Blake, who was there with her father, Captain John Stockman, one of the founders of the church.

HANCOCK COUNTY.

Mr. A. I. Saunders, who for the past 10 years has been landlord of the American House in Ellsworth, will retire from the hotel business to pay more attention to real estate business. He has sold the house to Mr. Fred W. Coburn, who for 10 years has been the proprietor of the Michigan Exchange at Howard City, Mich.

"The Bluffs" at Mt. Desert Ferry, has been leased by Mr. G. T. Stockham, who has been one of the head clerks at the Elbett House, Washington, D. C., for the past seven years.

At his mill in Steuben Mr. Smith will saw 3,000,000 staves for New York parties.

KNOX COUNTY.

The Baptist church at Rockport will be dedicated today. Rev. C. M. G. Harwood of Skowhegan will preach the dedicatory sermon. The church has been rebuilt at a cost of seven thousand dollars, making the finest public building in Camden. The Washburn family have placed a memorial window there, the most costly and beautiful in design of any Baptist church in Maine. It is elegantly furnished, having also a pipe organ of the best make and a Chickering piano for the vestry. The memorial window is in memory of the late Rev. T. Washburn. Mr. Harwood preaches at 2.30 o'clock and Rev. F. W. Ryder of East Boston will preach at 7.30 in the evening.

S. W. McLoon and Alden A. Stover of Rockland have bought the Dr. Burton farm at Warren. The farm contains 25 acres of land including a valuable limerock quarry privilege, situated about 1 1-2 miles from the Knox & Lincoln railroad track. The new proprietors will take out 1000 casks of rock at once and bring it to Rockland and burn it in the Atlantic kilns, and if it proves all right they will proceed to develop the privilege. If the town of Warren offers sufficient inducements they will put up kilns there immediately. If they cannot get favorable terms from Warren the rock will be brought to Rockland over the Knox & Lincoln railroad and burned there. As is now proposed there will be eight or ten kilns burning Warren rock within five years. The Druecker oil burners will be very generally used in the kilns at Rockland, the Courier Gazette thinks.

Brown & Wade of South Thomaston, granite cutters and dealers, have bought the well known business plant of M. T. Jameson & Co., situated near the Big Landing, South Thomaston. The purchase includes seven acres of quarry including some of the best quarries in New England, buildings, stable, store, stone sheds, polishing mill, engine house, derricks.

A young man named Frank Patten, employed by Mr. Hassard at the Bruce milk farm in Bangor, mysteriously disappeared Tuesday evening and has not since been heard from. His absence causes much alarm to his friends who fear that he has wandered off under a temporary aberration of mind.

PISCATAQUIS COUNTY.

The Douty Guards of Dover, have chosen Charles J. Brazor for first lieutenant, and Alton P. Towne for second lieutenant. They were in regular line of promotion, the vacancies being caused by the promotion of Lieutenant W. C. Woodbury to the staff of the Second Regiment.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

Mr. Merrill has leased the factory and will undoubtedly do well with it, as he is widely and favorably known among the farmers.

Canned Food and Health.

[Maine Farmer.]

It is denied that occasionally poisons are introduced accidentally in the process of soldering tin cans used in preserving. Prof. Edward S. Wood, M. D., who examined the canned vegetables for the Massachusetts State Board of Health, did not report a single case of anything detrimental found in American canned goods, but out of thirty-two samples of imported French vegetables reported twenty-two showing the presence of copper used for coloring purposes; but as regards this practice, even such eminent French anthorities as Pasteur sanction it as harmless, although American packers of vegetables do not use it at all. Canned goods have done more to improve the American diet and furnish a much-needed supply of anti-scorbutic food at all seasons of the year than any other item in our food supply.

A Woman Imprisoned for Debt.

[Bangor Commercial.]

The unusual spectacle of a woman imprisoned for debt is seen at Bangor at present, for the first time in many years. Thomas C. Stevens, a lawyer at Newport, had a lady client with whom he failed to settle, and therefore took out an execution, and on Friday morning imprisoned here in Bangor jail, putting up cash for several weeks' board for her. The woman is a widow, comes from Etna, and declares she is being wronged and swindled, and will live in her present abode for years if necessary rather than pay more.

An Enterprising Bangor Firm.

The enterprise of Messrs. Wood, Bishop & Co., whose advertisement appears in another portion of this paper, is well worthy of note. Notwithstanding the immense competition of today, their stoves, ranges and furnaces stand second to none for excellence. The production of their splendid Royal Clarion Range has given them a national reputation.
