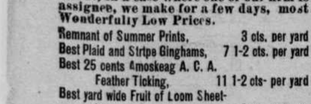
J. P. WELCH.



We can convince everyone that our

RUBBER BOOTS, Shoes and Overshoes, are very superior to those sold by other dealers and so largely advertised.

They are not made by any Glove company but are the original of the ORIGINAL GOODYEAR CO., of New York, and for style and wear, are not equalled by any other goods made in this country. Although these Rubbers cost very much more, our prices are as low as can be found in Portland.

Our small expenses enable us to give you a better grade of goods for the same money.

MAINE.

Aroostook Liquor Sellers.

[Special to the Press.]

BANGOR, Nov. 25.—Thirteen complaints were lodged against liquor sellers in Aroostook county last week for selling liquor without payment of the retail liquor dealer's special tax. These Aroostook county men, when caught doing illegal business, seldom allow their cases to come to trial, but pay their fines at once. There are some half dozen parties along the line of the Megantic road who have been selling without having paid the tax and they are likely to suffer for their unlawful acts at no distant day.

Maine Pomologists.

[Special to the Press.]

AUGUSTA, Nov. 25.—It is probable that the winter meeting of the State Pomological Society will be held in Damariscotta the last week in February, and arrangements to that end are now being perfected. The society is making a collection of choice apples for exhibition at the World's Exposition, which opens in Paris next May. The apples are placed in a preserving liquid in Washington before going to their final destination, and a barrel has lately been forwarded to the national capital by the society for that purpose.

Mr. Currier's Pictures.

[Special to the Press.]

AUGUSTA, Nov. 25.—Alger V. Currier, the Hallowell artist, has his two salon pictures on exhibition at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, where they will remain until Dec. 10th. Then they will go to New York to be exhibited at the rooms of the Union League Club. Mr. Currier has leased the large room in the third story of the Granite Bank building in Augusta now used as headquarters of the Republican State Committee, for his studio and exhibition room, and he will occupy it next month.

Winter's Bonds.

[Special to the Press.]

RICHMOND, Nov. 25.—The Kennebec is frozen this morning sufficiently to permit crossing on foot. People crossed Friday on the ice by dragging boats with them, but vessels being towed down river broke the ice again.

A Sensation in Farmington.

FARMINGTON, Nov. 24.—A great sensation was caused in business circles here this evening when it was known that Officer Sylvester had arrested George W. Russell, of Wilton, on a charge of uttering forged paper. Russell has for several years been doing a large business in manufacturing shovel handles, most of which have been sold to the Oakes Ames Co. of Boston. He is about sixty years of age and has been generally considered square in his dealings. It is said Russell raised money to carry on his business by notes at the banks and has obtained some seven thousand dollars in this way, his notes bearing Oakes Ames's name as surety, which was a forged signature. Russell will be arraigned Monday forenoon in the Municipal Court.

CLOUDS OF SNOW AND HOWLING WINDS.

Winter Arrives With a Blizzard of Respectable Proportions.

Arctic Perils Encountered On the New York Canals.

Broken Telegraph Lines Account For the Brevity of the Despatches.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—The first snow of the season fell today, covering the ground to a depth of an inch. The day was windy and raw. Hail followed the snow and tonight there is a gale blowing from the north. At 5 a. m., the steamer Bordentown, with a number of coal barges in tow, belonging to the Pennsylvania Company, was caught in a squall and about 17 barges lost, going ashore at various places along the Staten Island and Long Island coast. One barge, coal laden, went to pieces below Fort Wadsworth and another on the West bank. A number of deck hatches of canal boats drifted ashore on Staten Island beach. The ship George, which was lying at anchor off Stapleton, has dragged her anchors and gone ashore about 200 yards north of the quarantine station. She lies on a hard bottom. Over 100 sail of eastern bound vessels are anchored at City Island on account of head winds.

Anxiety for the Canal Boats.

ROUNDOUT, N. Y., Nov. 25.—A high wind prevailed along the Hudson today and a fine snow has fallen since noon. It is feared that boats in the Delaware and Hudson canal will be frozen in.

Four Inches Deep.

CONAJAHARIE, N. Y., Nov. 25.—At seven o'clock tonight, the Mohawk valley was four inches under snow and the storm was still prevailing. The Erie canal is filled with boats stalled or fearing to move.

A Perfect Blizzard at Brattleboro.

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Nov. 25.—A severe northeast snowstorm began here at 10 o'clock this morning, gradually increasing in force through the day until at 3 o'clock it became a perfect blizzard. The wind varied from 30 to 40 miles per hour, and the mean temperature throughout the day was about 20°. Several inches of snow have fallen and the night will be severe.

Terrific at Nashua.

NASHUA, N. H., Nov. 25.—A terrific snow storm set in this morning, the first of the winter, continuing through the day. About three inches of snow have fallen with probabilities of more. The mercury is 27 above.

Raging at Claremont.

CLAREMONT, N. H., Nov. 25.—The first snowstorm of the season is raging and five inches have already fallen.

ON THE PENOBSCOT.

Anchor Ice Makes Things Lively at the Queen City.

BANGOR, Nov. 24—Anchor ice packed into the harbor today for miles below the city, but this noon it took a sudden start and moved some distance down the river. Vessels in the harbor were broken from their moorings and smashed against the wharves, damaging them to the extent of thousands of dollars. Rafts of lumber and loaded scows were carried away from their docks by the ice. This afternoon the anchor ice packed into the harbor, and it is thought that the water may back up and do immense damage. Tugs are unable to make any impression upon it whatever.

The River Cleared.

BANGOR, Nov. 25.—Snow commenced falling at about three this afternoon, increasing in volume toward night, the wind blowing a gale. Six or eight inches had fallen up to ten o'clock when the force of the storm abated. No further damage from the ice occurred in the river to-day. The ice went out of the river last night and to-day the tow-boats have been busy taking vessels down.

RICHT HERE IN PORTLAND.

Damage Done By A Heavy Wind and Blinding Snow.

The snow storm that struck this city yesterday forenoon at about 8 o'clock and continued through the day was one of unusual severity for this time of year. The wind blew from the north-east throughout the day and the air was full of snow. Early in the day it became necessary to put four horses on the horse cars, and in the afternoon the snow plows were taken out. The storm was what might be called a howler, and the scene in the harbor was a wild one. The waves washed clear over the breakwater, numerous vessels dragged their anchors. The steam dredge Ajax that was anchored in the lower harbor broke adrift and went up the harbor in spite of the efforts of a tow boat to prevent her. At 4 p. m. the Cornelia II started for South Portland, but on approaching the landing she found that two vessels had dragged their anchors and barred the way so she was obliged to return to the landing on this side again where she remained until late in the evening. For years this boat has been running and Captain Spear said the harbor was rougher yesterday than it has ever been during the time the boat has been on the route.

The sea ran so high that the decks of the ferry boat which are high above the water ordinarily, were frequently flooded. Capt. Spear thinks the wind must have blown fifty miles per hour at times yesterday afternoon. It was a bad day for signs and awnings. In all parts of the city much damage was done to them. At the weather signal office the writer was told the wind blew 36 miles per hour at 3 p. m., and the same at 8 p. m. At no time during the day did it fall below 24 miles per hour. The coldest period of the day was early in the afternoon when the mercury indicated 22°. Then it grew warmer for a time. At 3 p. m. it was 24° and at 8 p. m. 25°. Up to 8 p. m. two inches of snow had fallen, but the heavy wind made drifts of it from two to four feet deep, making it appear that much more snow had fallen than really was upon the ground. Many of the streets for quite a long distance were as bare as they would have been if no snow had fallen. It was a bad night for shipping, and although nothing serious was reported last evening marine disasters may be expected.

The Western Union reported at 4.15 this morning that all the wires West were not working and that the chances of hearing from Boston until late were something like one in a thousand.

At three o'clock it was snowing as hard as ever and the wind was still industriously engaged sweeping streets and sidewalks in some places to pile up big drifts in others.

RAINS IN MEXICO.

Considerable Damage Reported.—Editors From the States on a Visit.

MEXICO, Nov. 25.—Heavy rains have been reported throughout the country during the last three days, causing considerable damage. A heavy norther is blowing at Vera Cruz.

A party of 170 American editors, en route to the city of Mexico, arrived at Saltillo today. They were received by Governor Galan. The press association of this city is making preparations to give the visitors a hearty welcome.

Foreign Notes.

John Bright was reported suffering from a relapse Saturday night and in a critical condition.

Baron Von Zedtwitz, secretary of the German legation at Washington, has been transferred to the German legation at Mexico.

M. Hertenstein, President of Switzerland, had his right leg amputated Saturday. The amputation was rendered necessary because of disease of the arteries.

SEND IN YOUR NAMES,

And You May See Harrison Inaugurated and Save Money.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The inaugura committee has issued the following:

"Many organizations and individuals are engaging for themselves quarters in Washington during the inauguration without consultation with the inaugural committee. This creates competition, and will tend to induce speculative prices. The inaugural committee will have a record of available buildings, halls, rooms, etc., in the city, with a list of prices thereof, and have opened a bureau of information at their headquarters, 928 and 930 F street. All parties will be aided and protected by communicating with the chairman at that address. They will also facilitate the assignment of organizations who may wish to take place in the procession, and will furnish a directory to the location of all strangers or organizations temporarily in the city."

At a meeting of the executive committee of the inaugural ceremonies, last evening, Colonel Elliott F. Shepherd and Robert P. Porter, of New York, were appointed on the finance committee. Captain Geo. E. Lemon, chairman of the latter committee, reported that the subscriptions to the guarantee fund to date are $36,500. The amount required is $75,000.

Imported Foreigners.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The Secretary of the Treasury has issued a circular in regard to the importation of foreign laborers under contract, in which he says that collectors of customs, commissioners of immigration and others, upon receiving information that immigrants had been imported into this country and allowed to land contrary to the provisions of the act of February 26, 1885, as amended by the act of February 23, 1886, will ascertain the names and addresses of all such immigrants and the date of their arrival, and forthwith report the same to the Secretary of the Treasury, together with such facts and circumstances relating to the importation as may be obtained, and also the name of the importing vessel, or, if entering from an adjoining country, the name of the person, company or corporation contracting for the services of such immigrants.

EIGHT HOURS OR STRIKE.

A Movement With the Possibility of a Widespread Disturbance.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—A new eight hour movement among workingmen of socialistic propensities has already began and meetings are being held in various places throughout the city for the purpose of electing delegates to the convention of labor to be held at St. Louis next next December. At that convention the eight hour movement will be talked up and the advisability considered of organizing a mammouth strike to go into effect in 1890. The men interested in the movement have issued a printed list of questions which they have sent to all organizations favorable to their cause. The object of these questions is to obtain information concerning the number of members in the different societies, their financial standing and their general ability to stand up under a strike should one be ordered.

Contracts Must be Fulfilled.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—Judge Francis Macomber of the 7th district court who sat with Judges Van Buren and Bartlett in the general term for the first department has written an opinion holding that strikes are not legal excuses for failures to complete contracts. The plaintiff in the case had appealed and the general term now sustains Judge Donohue.

Switchmen Want More Pay.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—The Times says that the 800 switchmen employed by the New York Central railroad have petitioned the officers of the road for an increase of wages. An answer to their demand is promised next Monday. The men ask for an increase of 40 per cent. They now average $72 or $80 per month and work eleven hours a day. The demand that is made of the New York Central will undoubtedly be made of the other roads, as the switchmen are well organized. The headquarters of their organization is at Chicago. It was formed after the strike in the Chicago yards last year, and is now in a strong condition. The switchmen claim that if their petitions to the roads are not complied with there will be trouble.

Ketchin Caught.

BANGOR, Nov. 24.—State Detectives Allen and Harriman today arrested a young man named Emery H. Ketchin of Le Roy, Penn., wanted for burglary at that place last June, also for stealing boots at Camden, Me., and for jail breaking at Rockland while under arrest for the latter crime. Ketchin passed under the aliases of Daniel McGee and David Conley, and the arrest was the result of a smart piece of detective work. Ketchin was lodged in jail to await the arrival of Sheriff Irish of Rockland.

PULPIT AND PLATFORM.

SECOND PARISH.

The exercises at the Second Parish church yesterday afternoon were very interesting, but owing to the storm there was not a large congregation present. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Bayley of State Street church and consisted of singing by W. H. Daggs, W. H. Scott, E. M. McAdo and J. H. Wainwright, a colored quartette of Hampton Institute, speaking by a number of the students of the Institute and an address by Gen. S.C. Armstrong, principal of the school. The singing by the quartette was especially pleasing and the brief remarks of the students were fully appreciated. It will be of interest to know that the Hampton Normal and Agricultural Institute stands on the shores of Hampton creek a little below the town of Hampton, Va., two and a half miles from Fort Monroe on an estate of one hundred and fifty acres, once known as "Little Scotland," and during the war known as "Camp Hamilton," where many thousands of sick and wounded Union soldiers were cared for. The twenty-first year of the school opened in 1888, with an encouraging outlook. The enrollment is 610, of whom 468 are negroes, and 142 Indians, beside eight Indian children under six years of age. With the "Winter" (primary) department of 200 there are 900 pupils on the school grounds. All but twelve are boarders from abroad, representing 13 States and Territories also China, Africa and the Hawaiian Islands and Cuba.

For two-thirds of the cost of its support, the school depends on the gifts of friends. Sixty thousand dollars a year must be raised by contributions.

The exercises at the Second Parish yesterday were opened with an organ voluntary, which was followed with prayer by Rev. Mr. Bayley. Then there was singing by the quartette of Hampton Students. Mr. J. H. Wainwright, a colored student, was introduced and said in brief: Dear friends, I am glad that I have a chance to stand before you and to give you in a few words an account of my life. I am 21 years old; my father and mother were slaves. There are eleven of us children. When I was eight years old I went to day school, but soon I was obliged to go to work at five cents per day to help support the family. My father hired me to a man to take care of horses. Soon I began to think of going to school again. I was too old to go to free school and too poor to go to boarding school. I worked days, from 10 to 12 hours, and went to night school, studying two hours per night. I have learned many things at Hampton, where I now am, and I hope that some day I may be able to go out into the world and tell my people what I have learned.

John Tokodo, a Sioux Indian student of Hampton, told of his visit to Washington and his talk with the Indian chiefs, who were there assembled to confer with the government concerning their lands. He said the Indians should have $1.25 per acre, the price they asked for their land. He said that he knew from experience that the Indians liked civilization, and the way of the whites. "You have grown up among books," he said, and are intelligent and educated, and that is why we ask you to help us."

Mr. William S. Dagg, a colored graduate, then told of the good work of Hampton, and of the students who have been graduated there. He stated that the desire for education among the negroes was never so great as now and that all they wanted was a chance.

Samuel Perry, a Shawnee Indian student of Hampton, said: "I suppose you know that many people say an Indian cannot be civilized. I am a Shawnee, and I think that the Indians need to be taught. Three years ago I was in my home and when I go back to my people I shall try to tell them what I have learned. I have learned many things at Hampton. I have learned how white people live, and I shall tell my people out West in bark houses about it."

General Armstrong upon being introduced spoke of the need of making all people in America one people, and said that the transition of some of the races in a single generation was marvelous. The Indians are intermixing and becoming part of the white race faster than the negro, although for years the negroes have had closer contact with the Anglo-Saxon race. The eagerness and rush for knowledge on the part of the freed slaves soon after the war was spoken of. "There are today some twenty institutions in the South where the colored people are trained to become teachers of their people. Trained to teach in the 15,000 negro schools in the Southern States. You will find well graded black schools alongside well graded white schools, but the most of the schools are dilapidated.

For about three months in the year the schools are in session, and the teachers are poorly paid. The call for teachers is greater than we can supply. Virginia, with her 2000 schools, hasn't got half enough teachers. The making of citizens of these people is not a question of brains. Any race can learn enough for all their duties as citizens. These people are more religious than we. They have a clear conception of God, but they do not know Jesus. In visiting the upper Missouri I found remarkable progress among the Indians. The Indian hats look very much like the white man's hats. The Indians are breaking away from their old barbarous ideas to an extent of which many of you have no idea. The Indians have got to be civilized. Thousands of them are waiting for us; they have got this impulse, and know they must take the white man's ways."

The usual Thanksgiving collection was taken, and the exercises closed with the benediction.

A DAY WITH GENERAL HARRISON.

Struggling to Answer Letters Which Came By the Hundred.

The Eagle From New York Quartered in the Harrison Homestead.

Some Words of Advice to the Clean Sweepers.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 24.—It has been rather a quiet day with General Harrison. He spent most of the forenoon in his library with his secretary and stenographer, and together they made a somewhat appreciable impression upon his his mail, but it will be yet days, if not weeks, until many hundred of his correspondents even so much as hear of the report of their messages and letters. Much as this may be regretted it is an absolute necessity, for General Harrison has been able to organize only comparatively small home means, which have not been able to grapple with his tremendous mail. Among his callers were Governor Hovey, John C. New, Congressman Houk, of Tennessee and some others.

The General received the live eagle today from Southport, N. Y. In the afternoon the General went on a fishing expedition with a friend. They returned with well-filled baskets, but the President-elect declined to tell just how many he caught. The college fraternity boys are coming around on the campus fences, claiming their share in the election of General Harrison to the Presidency. The President-elect is the first member of a college Greek letter fraternity elected to the Presidency. James A. Garfield, as a student at Williams College, united with the social fraternity which was organized as an anti-secret college society. This afterward became the Delta Upsilon fraternity. President Arthur was a member of the Psi Upsilon, with which he united at Union College. He came into the Presidency "by the hand of God."

When Ben Harrison entered Miami in the fall of 1851 there was sharp competition over him between the Phi Delta Theta and the Alpha Delta Phi. College men will be interested in the history of this "spike." The leader of Alpha Delta Phi at Miami then was Milton Saylor, who has twice since been elected to Congress by the Democrats. He is now a member of the bar in New York city. With Saylor in college, as a leader of Phi Delta Theta, was J. A. Anderson, now a Republican Congressman from Kansas.

After a protracted tussle Harrison was secured by the Phi Delta Thetas. He was initiated in the spring of 1851. The fraternity had been organized in 1848 with six charter members. Ben Harrison's name stands as the thirteenth signed to the roll of the parent chapter after the founder's name.

THE CLEAN SWEEPERS.

They Will Be Disappointed If They Demand Too Much.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 24.—The Journal of this city, which is considered to be a Harrison organ, yesterday contained an editorial article, which is looked upon as significant. The article is upon the subject of civil service reform, which, it claims, has come to stay, and will move forward rather than backward. The "clean sweepers," the Journal says, should not be unreasonable in their demands on the next administration. * * * The more unreasonable the demands and expectations in this regard the greater the liability to disappointment. * * * The Republican party has fairly committed by its platform pledges to civil service reform, and Gen. Harrison has declared himself in full sympathy with it. The Republican party is pledged to use discrimination in removals from office, as well as in appointments thereto and to use both primarily for the public welfare, rather than for supposed party advantage. The civil service law must be obeyed." The article concludes as follows: "From what has been said, it is evident there many things to be taken into account in connection with the demand of the clean sweepers, and if they have the welfare of the party at heart they will recognize the necessary limitation of the situation. One thing they can rest assured of, the President-elect is as old and earnest a Republican as any of them, and can be depended on to do the very best thing for the party as well as for the count ry.'

OLDTOWN'S NEW ENTERPRISE.

Mill Girls Look for Work Advised to Go Elsewhere.

OLDTOWN, Nov. 24.—The Herald has the following about the trouble at the new woolen mill here:

"More or less has been printed and reported on the street from time to time regarding the trouble at the woolen mill. A visit there Friday morning found Theodore Jellison in charge of the property as keeper, the directors having attached the building and surroundings, and ejected the contractors, Messrs. Davidsen & Son. Mr. Jellison also represents M. A. Austin of Milford, who has a $3000 claim and quite a number of other and smaller creditors, all of whom have attached, some the building and others the brick, and others loose material. It was also found that the cold snap had injured and was still injuring the uncompleted walls, and that a portion would not be in condition for the continuance of building when a thaw comes. Of course there are two sides to every story. At best it would seem as though the matter of dealing with the contractors has been most lenient, though President Smith has worked like a Trojan. The claim of the mill people is that the contractors had nothing; never undertook such a job before, and that they were deceived in the matter of their ability to do such work. They also claim to have aided them in every way, and that they had furnished the aid of Mr. Shedd, an engineer, free of charge. Bad weather, they they admit, retarded the work some, but bad management by the Davidsons was at the bottom of the trouble. They say they thought to have the mill in operation in a month, and even hired an overseer, who is now idle.

"There is considerable talk about the action of the Bodwell estate, which was represented by Attorney General Orville D. Baker. It appears that Governor Bodwell verbally agreed to make the subscription list good for $100,000 after it should have reached $90,000, and it was with this understanding that many men of limited means went in. But now Governor Bodwell is dead, and General Baker, while saying the estate was willing to help along, says it cannot be legally held for a cent.

"It was said Friday that the Davidsons would try to gain possession again. They claim to have been cheated in the matter of measurements of work. They were to be paid at stated intervals for their work less 20 per cent, and say that if such work had been honestly measured by Lockwood, Green & Co., the company's engineers, they would now be in possession of money to carry it on. They also claim the company insisted in blasting in the wheel pit, thus retarding them greatly, and that with a fair show there was from $7000 to $10,000 for them in the job, and this they are bound to have. At present they are "strapped" financially, and owe many bills.

"If the matter gets into court the property can be tied up for two years, or the company can settle with the Davidsons and then complete the mill themselves. In the meantime any factory girl who thinks of working in the new mill this winter will probably be disappointed."

O'Connor the Champion.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—William J. O'Connor, the Canadian oarsman, defeated John Teemer, of McKeesport, Pa., this afternoon, in a three-mile race on the Potomac river, for the championship of America and $2500 a side. O'Connor rowed in splendid form, and led from the start to the finish, Teemer at no time being able to overtake him. O'Connor will now go to Australia to battle with Searle for the championship of the world.

The present race grew out of a quarrel in Madison Square Garden, between Teemer and George Lee, the trainer of O'Connor. Ineffectual efforts were made before that to bring the oarsmen together, but after the quarrel both men were anxious to meet each other, and were quickly matched for the above contest.

The winner's time was 20m. 32sec. Teemer's time was not taken, but it was estimated at 25 seconds slower. The race was originally for $1000 a side, but was raised to $2500 a side by a bet made yesterday between the backers of the oarsmen.

When the Red Coats Marched Out.

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—At the block house in Central Park today, the Veterans of 1812 went through the annual ceremony of raising the American flag in celebration of the evacuation of New York by the British troops 105 years ago today.

The Great Showman Retires.

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Nov. 25.—P. T. Barnum haf retired from the show business. He announced last night that the business would hereafter be owned and conducted by Mr. Bailey. Last week he gave a farewell dinner, and is now about to occupy a plain little brick cottage overlooking Long Island sound. Mr. Barnum is getting to be infirm. He shows his years, and says repeatedly that the cosy cottage in which he intends to pass the remainder of his life has been built expressly for his young wife. The deeds are in her name. Mr. Barnum has made his last will which is understood to be a "cast iron will." Besides the usual witnesses Mr. Barnum has secured the signatures of two leading physaicians that he is in his right mind. He is estimated to be worth $10,000,000.

TEARS WITHOUT STINT.

How Young Mrs. Chamberlain Said Good-bye—The Misses West Not Similarly Affected.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Lord Sackville, Miss Victoria West, Miss Amalia West, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Chamberlain were passengers this morning on the French line steamer La Bourgogne, for Havre. The La Bourgogne sailed promptly at 8 o'clock this morning. Mr. Chamberlain, his bride, her mother and brother boarded the steamer at 7.30 o'clock, and the leavetaking began. Tears were shed without stint. The Misses West were on deck when the Chamberlain party arrived, and they all formed quite a group of notables. They stood the stares and glares of the curious onlookers with charming nonchalence. Lord Sackville remained below. With him was Hon. A. S. Northcote, a well known English gentleman. When La Bourgogne's warning gong was sounded, Mrs. Endicott kissed her daughter affectionately, and then gave the Brummagem dodger a good, first-class Puritan hug, which he evidently appreciated, for he returned the salutation with a kiss on his mother-in-law's cheek, as becomes a dutiful son-in-law. Then young "Billy" Endicott kissed his sister a couple of times, shook his new brother's hand with the grip of a Sampson, took off his hat to the charming Misses West, and the two Endicotts walked mournfully down the French gangplank. Point lace handerchiefs were waved after them, and then the great steamship glided out of her dock into the river, and turned her nose for France. A great crowd of people were on the dock when the steamer sailed.

PERSONAL.

Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Gerrish have returned from New York.

Dr. C. E. Webster has returned from Washington.

Dr. T. A. Foster will visit Europe the coming winter.

Rev. W. B. and Mrs. Hayden will pass the winter in Washington.

Mr. Charles Forbes is very ill at his residence on Chapel street.

Capt. E. C. Babb, formerly of Saccarappa, has been elected mayor of Minneapolis, Minn.

President Blabon of the Board of Trade, gave an election supper to twenty gentlemen at the Bramhall Club, last week.

Messrs. John Torrance, Dufresne and Baird of the Dominion line have arrived and the two latter are at the Falmouth Hotel.

Mr. H. B. Brown is painting a fine marine entitled "Sunset on Cushings Island," notable for rich coloring.

Rev. Franklin Black, pastor of the Free Baptist church at West Brunswick, has resigned to accept a call from the church at London Centre, N. H.

Paymaster Edwin Putnam, United States Navy of Portsmouth, N. H., has been ordered to the Atlanta. Mr. Putnam is a brother of Hon. W. L. Putnam.

Messrs. G. B. Loring, L. P. Senter and B. P. Lane are a committee on hotels for the Travelling salesmen's dinner, and A. E. Perry committee on printing and music.

It is reported that Major A. B. Shorey of Bridgton has purchased an interest in a Bath paper, and will move to that city. His son will publish the Bridgton News.

Among the prominent speakers at the Wilmington, (Del.) celebration of the Republican victory, was Charles H. Treat formerly of Bangor.

The Biddeford Journal of Saturday had a cut of Hon. Mark H. Dunnell formerly of Buxton, Me., now a representative-elect from Minnesota.

Governor-elect Burleigh has tendered the position of commissioner general upon his staff to Col. George A. Philbrook of Augusta, and he has accepted the position.

Capt. W. H. Smith, lately of the Parisian of the Allan line, has been appointed to succeed Capt. Scott as commandant of the Canadien navy to suppress the American fishermen.

David Pinkham, an aged cititizen of Monmouth, died suddenly Saturday, probably from heart disease. He was for 15 years proprietor of the Cochnewagan House, and was widely known to the travelling public.

We were glad to see Mr. J. F. Jeffords the former efficient chief clerk of the railway mail service on the street on Saturday. His many friend were hoping that a change in the administration would bring him back to Portland, but we understand that there is a probability of his being appointed postmaster of Livermore Falls where he now resides.

Gov. Marble left Augusta yesterday for the town of Dixfield in Oxford county where he has a business appointment. If a light fall of snow should occur he thought that he might go into camp for a few days and hunt deer which are very plenty in this section. This snow will probably be enough for even so ardent a hunter as Gov. Marble.

The Tacoma, (W. T.,) Ledger of Nov. 9 gives an account of the wedding of Howard R. Goodwin a prominent young lawyer in Tacoma son of the late Gov. J. N. Goodwin, and Miss Etta Ramsdell. Among those present were Mrs. J. N. Goodwin and R. E. Goodwin, of Augusta, Me., the mother and brother of the groom.

On the 9th day of March, 1886, William E. Hogan, Esq., of Bath was admitted to practice in the supreme court of the United States. His name was presented to the court by Benjamin Harrison, President-elect. The certificate of admission Mr. Hogan had framed soon after his return from Washington, and it now occupies a position on the wall of his private office.

Some of the officers of the navy are making a movement to urge upon President Harrison the appointment of Congressman Boutelle to the place of Secretary of the Navy in the coming cabinet. If Mr. Boutelle would accept the portfolio no more fitting appointment could be made. Unless he has forgotten part of it in the last 25 years, Capt. Boutelle knows something about a man-of-war and about fighting one that would make him something more than a social figurehead in President Harrison's cabinet.

It will be remembered that two years ago at Mt. Mica in Oxford county was found a green tourmaline that is supposed to be the finest in the world. This gem, certainly the finest ever found in North America, is still in the possession of the Mt. Mica Mining Company. A movement is now being agitated to purchase this superb turmaline, have it mounted with other native gems in a bracelet and then presented to Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, the future mistress of the White House, as a gift from the sons of New England. The gem is twenty-eight carats in weight and is faultless. Emeralds of that size, without a flaw are unknown.—[B

THE PRESS.

MONDAY MORNING, NOV. 26.

We do not read anonymous letters and communications. The name and address of the writer are in all cases indispensable, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return or preserve communications that are not used.

Gen. Harrison, in his letter of acceptance, expressed his views on the treatment of the offices. Everything he said there negatives the idea of a "clean sweep."

The South Carolina Democrats have concluded to call Cleveland's official majority in that State 52,000. The Texas Democrats have not yet fully made up their minds what to call the official majority in that State.

The year continues to maintain its reputation for sensations. Such a storm as yesterday's has not been witnessed in November for a great many years. The memory of the "oldest inhabitant," we are inclined to think, will be severely taxed to recall its equal.

It looks as though another week of counting would secure a Democratic majority in the House. It has been a pretty hard job to count out enough Republicans to secure this result, but the Democrats are likely to prove equal to it. Whether they will be allowed to profit, ultimately, by the results of their recounts and miscounts remains to be seen.

The attempt to substitute a license law for the existing prohibitory law in Vermont, has signally failed. The same complaint was made against the law as is made against the prohibitory law in Maine, namely, that in the large places it does not completely close up the rum shops. It was admitted, as it is admitted in regard to our law, that in the villages and small towns it accomplished almost complete suppression of the traffic. The great majority of the legislature took the very sensible view that a law that completely suppressed the traffic in the great majority of the towns in the State, though it failed in some of the larger places, was better than a law which would permit the existence of a rumshop in almost every town; even though it brought the traffic in the cities under better restrictions than the present law does.

Mr. Powderly has once more been re-elected to the chief office in the Knights of Labor, but the opposition was greater and more stubborn than ever before. The fact that the Knights had greatly declined in numbers during the past year, and got into financial straits, no doubt counted against him, though he was in no wise responsible for either result. Mr. Powderly's administrations have not been without serious mistakes yet he probably has made as few as any one who could have been selected. As a rule, the order has suffered most when it has refused to pursue the policy he has recommended. While the probability is that the Knights can never be brought back to their first estate, perhaps by discreet management the rapid decline of the past year may be checked, and the order saved from the total destruction which now threatens it.

A great American orator long ago gracefully conceded to England the glory of saluting the sun through all its daily course with her morning drum beat. Now the great English statistician Mulhall mentions an interesting fact in the "Balance Sheet of the World:" "Everyday that the sun rises upon the American people it seems an addition of $2,500,000 to the accumulation of wealth in the United States, which is equal to one third of the daily accumulation of all mankind outside of the United States." The glory of possessing an empire on which the sun never sets is surpassed by the glory of the nation that every day creates for its people a wealth equal to one third of the daily accumulation of all the rest of mankind. In mere wealth there is little more, perhaps even less, glory than in an empty drum beat; but this wealth created in America means greater possibilities of happiness and comfort among the people than are furnished by any other nation. National prosperity is the truest form of national glory.

It is some time since the country was treated to a duel. The business has largely gone out of fashion since a large part of the States made it a criminal offence to send a challenge and removed all legal distinctions between killing a man in a duel and killing him unawares or without his consent. But one "Judge" Rucker, who lives at present in Colorado, but is said to come of the "best Kentucky stock," which is equivalent to saying, we suppose, that he is familiar with the taste of fire-water and knows how to handle a bowie-knife, has sent a challenge to another son of Kentucky who also comes of good stock and whose name is Blackburn, and who holds a seat in the United States Senate; and if the latter is true to the traditions of his ancestors, we may expect that the telegraph will before long announce a bloody encounter between the Judge and the Senator. The circumstances which have led up to this encounter—if encounter there is to be—are briefly these: "Judge" Rucker recently told a newspaper correspondent that before election the President declared to him in an interview that he did not expect to carry New York. Of course as soon as this was published "Judge" Rucker became famous, and the words he attributed to the President became the subject of much comment. Failing under the eye of Senator Blackburn he intimated very plainly that the President never uttered any such words, and that "Judge" Rucker was untruthful; whereupon the "Judge" called in the aid of one Col. Moore who has had great experience in arranging duels, and made known to him his desire to meet Senator Blackburn before breakfast and settle the question of veracity between them with pistols or bowie-knives. The Colonel promptly drew up a challenge which was signed by the "Judge," and immediately began to journey across the continent in search of Senator Blackburn. While the Colonel has been searching for the Senator the newspaper correspondents have been searching for the "Judge" with rather indifferent success. People who have lived in Kentucky all their lives never heard of him and they are certain that if there be such a man he surely does not belong to the "best stock," and therefore is not a person of sufficient consequence for a distinguished Senator to shoot at.

It is upon the masses, the laboring people, that the great military establishments of the Continent bear the hardest, and it is to these people, too, that fewest of the rewards of military display come. The laborers of Germany are oppressed to guard against France, and the laborers of France are oppressed to guard against Germany. And it has not yet occurred to the masses of either country to say: "Our higher interests are identical with the highest interests of our toiling neighbors. Both of us want peace, exemption from costly and perilous military duty, and relief from burdensome taxes. Why are we burdening ourselves for no advantage, and compelling our neighbors to burden themselves to no purpose but our harm?" A few of the laborers of Europe have opened their eyes. The Social-Democrats of Germany and their sympathizers in France, have, as an offset to many of their extreme notions, conceived that the toiling masses of France and Germany should be friends and not arrayed as enemies. In Italy, too, almost the last country where we should expect a spark of light of this kind, the masses are beginning to understand their real position, if we may attach to a recent European despatch the significance to which it seems entitled. The despatch announces that forty-six labor societies in Milan have declared at a public meeting that they will not support the Italian government in the event of war, and have entered a protest against the triple alliance. The workingmen of France are understood to have been invited to join in the protest, "in the name of the brotherhood of labor." The "triple alliance" is the league made by the sovereigns of Germany, Austria and Italy for the ostensible purpose of preserving the integrity of their own domains and the peace of Europe from the fitful ambitions and resentments of France and the steady aggressions of Russia. Under the circumstances which exist, the "triple alliance" is a very good thing for Europe, both for its kings and its people, because it compels peace with a mailed hand; and it is in one sense unreasonable and patriotic for the laborers of Milan to declaim against it. But in another sense the men of Milan are very reasonable and wholly right. They are getting a glimpse of the true meaning of national glory, built on a military basis, and they see that the article comes to more than it is worth. They are getting a glimpse at the meaning of national prosperity, and they see that for themselves it is far more desirable than national glory. They are seeing, in fact, what the men of America saw more than a century ago. Now they must realize it.

PERSONAL AND PECULIAR.

Lord Courtenay, who by the recent death of his father becomes twelfth Earl of Devon, is one of the most accomplished spendthrifts of his time. In a career extending over ten years this youth accumulated debts amounting to $3,500,000, and when finally forced into bankruptcy he offered his creditors a lump sum of $5000. His entailed estates comprise over 53,000 acres in England and Ireland.

Rhode Island is a peculiar State, and until very recently a naturalized citizen could not vote unless he possessed a property qualification. The remarkable spectacle was exhibited once of a candidate for Congress, who could not vote at his own election in that State owing to a reverse of fortune. The amendments necessary to make the changes in the constitution were voted on and adopted by a narrow margin. Rhode Island will now be like other States.

The falling out of United States Senator Blackburn and Judge Rucker, both of Kentucky, has given promise of a duel. Those who know Rucker state that he is not the man to sit down quietly and allow any man, not even Blackburn, to call him "a caricature upon humanity, for whose existence in fair dealing, the Lord owes an apology to mankind." Rucker's offense is that he said President Cleveland told him a week before election that he feared he would be knifed in New York. Blackburn's indignation is caused by the fact that he introduced Rucker to the President. Blackburn declared that Rucker was a paid spy, employed by the opposition to do their dirty work.

The Persian public decided the other day that the railroad is an enemy of the human race, because a man who jumped off a train while in motion fell under the wheels and was killed. They accordingly tore the cars in pieces and would have wiped out the train employes if the latter had not taken to their heels. It is usual for people, during their early acquaintance with the locomotive, to regard the snorting monster as a very suspicious character, and Congo natives have not yet got over the impression that it is a lusty devil, hidden away in the steamboat boiler, who makes the wheels go round. We cannot afford to laugh very much at these ignorant brethren, for our own great-grandfathers declared that it was utter nonsense to suppose that steam cars could carry passengers faster than ten miles an hour without smashing everybody up, and besides, all the horses would be scared into fits and permanently ruined.

NOTICE.

Those parties who have my club and discount tickets for photographs purchased from different agents during the last seven or eight years are urgently requested to use the same and come in and sit for their pictures, between now and December 1st. Although the time within which these tickets could be used has thus far not been limited, yet I feel called upon to give this public notice to my patrons, that it is very probable that they will soon be discontinued, especially those issued years ago. All tickets now are good, however.

Those who sit within the above specified time will receive extra benefits. For further particulars inquire at studio.

HORSE BRAND BAKER

HORSE BLANKET

JESSE LEE & SONS, Wholesale Horse Blankets, 37 S. Fourth St., Philadelphia, testified in U. S. Court, Boston, March 2d, 1886, to prevent an infringement of the Horse Trade Mark:

"The imitation is very inferior, but so closely resembles the Horse Brand Baker that it would deceive buyers unless they should look for the large horse which is always branded inside."

THE PRESS

MONDAY MORNING, NOV. 26.

WIT AND WISDOM.

"And this reminds me of a ministerial friend whose wife's reason has been partially undermined, and both of whom are advanced in years. The other morning, at family worship, the good lady had listened attentively to the scripture reading and the prayer, but apparently something she heard had displeased her, for before the family could rise from their knees, she added audibly: "O God, bless this aged servant who has just officiated, and grant him a grain of common sense!"

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

She was a widow and perhaps a little sensitive on that account. When she answered a summons the other day she found a good looking ministerial chap standing at the door. "Good day," he began. "I represent a loan association—"

"So do I," she respondedshortly, "and I mean to stay alone; good day, sir."

He hasn't thought it out yet to his entire satisfaction.

Dyspepsia in its worst forms will yield to the use of Carter's Little Nerve Pills, aided by Carter's Little Liver Pills. They not only relieve present distress but strengthen the stomach and digestive apparatus.

Not every reader of this paper has a correct idea of the extensive use to which asbestos has been put. Various kinds of packing, yarn, sheeting, expansion rings, tape, paper, millboard, joint rings, cordage, cloth, dooring and wall felt, paint, cement, putty, boiler preservative, non-conducting composition, "asbestoline" (a lubricant which is now in extensive use), lubricators, as well as other forms used in the arts which are not needed in mechanics.

Smartweed and Belladonna, combined with the other ingredients used in the best porous plasters, make Carter's S. W. & B. Backache Plasters the best in the market. Price 25 cents.

Applicant for place—Well, I don't know, mum. You have a very large family, and I'm afraid I couldn' do the work. I suppose you have great trouble keeping girls, don't you?

Charm housekeeper—Yes, indeed. There is a big factory full of handsome young men near here, and every one of my servant girls goes off and gets married.

"Oh! Well, I'll try it."

A Piece of Her Mind.

A lady correspondent has this to say:

"I want to give a piece of my mind to a certain class who object to advertising, when it costs them anything—this won't cost them a cent. I suffered a living death for nearly two years with headaches, backache, in pain standing or walking, was being literally dragged out of existence, my misery increased by drugging. At last, in despair, I committed the sin of trying an advertised medicine, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and it restored me to the blessedness of sound health. I honor the physician who, when he knows he can cure, has the moral courage to advertise the fact." The medicine mentioned is guaranteed to cure those delicate diseases peculiar to females. Read printed guarantee on bottle-wrapper.

For all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels, take Dr. Pierce's Pellets. One a dose.

Little Edith was required by her mother to assist her in household labor, and it fell to her lot to dust the steins. When the time to dust came Edith would moan, "Oh, how unhappy I am!" but after she had completed her task she would change her tune and say "How happy I am!" At last one day she went about her work without being told. When it was finished, however, she came into her sitting room with a sad, troubled face and said:

"Mamma, I'm afraid I'm going to die. I's got so good that I love to dust."

All those suffering from hoarseness, colds, or coughs should try Pall's Cough Syrup, 25 cts.

Mr. Charles Raith, Watchmaker and Jeweler, Baltimore and M nut Sts., Baltimore, Md., in dorses Salvation Oil for "rheumatic troubles."

To keep cut flowers fresh, in the evening lay them in a shallow pan or bowl, with their stems in a very little water, and cover the dish with a damp towel, one just wrung out of water. In the morning the flowers can be arranged in vases for the day. The stems can be slightly cut from day to day. Flowers treated in this manner can be kept from one to two weeks, and sometimes even longer.

"I'm something of a liar myself, but you take the cake," can never be said to the man who is extolling the merits of Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam. It is a wonderful remedy, and the man who praises it knows what he is talking about. Every druggist sells it.

MISCELLANEOUS NOTICES.
Drs. Smith & McMullen.

Thomas C. Dunn In A Hurry.

Mr. T. C. Dunn, living at Cape Elizabeth, Me., walked into the office of Drs. Smith and McMullen, the magnetic physicians at the United States Hotel two weeks ago last Thursday, and hanging his hat upon the floor said in an awful voice: "I hear you are curing everything. Now, I want you to cure me of my dyspepsia and I am in a hurry about it." The doctors told Mr. Dunn they would do the best they could, but some of those cases were of very long standing and it might take time to cure him. He stated he had suffered untold agonies with his stomach for more than seven years. It commenced with a faint all-gone feeling, and his stomach would swell after eating so he could not have his clothes tight about him. He would expel great quantities of gas and always at such times the contents of his stomach would be very sour with a burning heat, and a feeling as if there was a lump in his stomach. He grew very nervous, could sleep only a little while at a time. He lost in flesh from a strong man of 178 to 124. Of course Mr. Dunn was being doctored more or less all the time and using every thing the kind old ladies would take him, but he gradually grew worse. From the day he called upon Drs. Smith and McMullen he commenced to mend and is attending to his work once more.

Drs. Smith and McMullen are constantly making these kind of cures. They treat every form of chronic trouble.

They are now permanently located at the U. S. Hotel and can be consulted free from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Advice to Mothers.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it prodnces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub, awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes Twenty-five cents a bottle.

COMMITTEE ON STREETS.

Hearing on the Discontinuance of a Part of Brackett Street.

Saturday afternoon the committee on streets granted a hearing to parties interested in the discontinuance of a portion of lower Brackett street, City Solicitor Coombs appeared for the city, Hon. W. L. Putnam for the Boston & Maine railroad and Judge Goddard for Mr. Lane, the petitioner for the discontinuance of a part of the street. The committee and those interested met at the corner of Brackett and Commercial streets at 3 p. m., and Councilman Rand called the meeting to order and stated the purpose of the meeting. Judge Goddard stated that Mr. Lane, across whose property the city extended Brackett street, was in New York at the time when it was done, and received no notice whatever from the city that it was going to lay out the street through his land. Moreover he never received any remuneration from the city for damage to his property although he had petitioned every City Government for damage, except the present one. Judge Goddard said that he did not acknowledge the legality of the city's proceedings in laying out the street as it did. How the matter was made a test case in court before Judge Walton and the sugestions made concerning it by the Judge were referred to, and it was said that Mr. Lane decided and was willing to give up eight feet for a passage way provided the street be discontinued.

Mr. Putnam asked that the hearing be postponed for three weeks.

Mr. Coombs said that he should insist upon 12½ feet instead of 8 feet for a passage, if the street was discontinued.

Hon. W. W. Thomas, Jr., said that he was present simply as a private citizen. Mr. Thomas said that he thought the city should pay for whatever it had taken from Mr. Lane, but he thought the question was a far broader and larger one than the simple discontinuance of the street. Mr. Thomas spoke of the overhead bridge that extends from York street over the Boston & Maine railroad tracks. He said that this was a crooked bridge, and altogether inconvenient and unsafe. Moreover, if it should be destroyed by fire or in any other way, he very much doubted the right of the city to cross the Boston & Maine tracks at that place. But the city has a chartered right to Portland bridge, extending from Brackett street over the railroads. It has a title to this bridge, dated from away back in 1803. What is needed is a good, straight overhead bridge extending from Brackett street across. There is good legal ground for such a bridge. The immediate future demands a good thoroughfare to Cape Elizabeth, and this bridge will be needed.

Mr. Putnam stated that in the event of building a bridge from the foot of Brackett street, over Commercial, whether the Boston & Maine railroad should build over their tracks would be decided by the railroad commissioners.

Upon motion of Alderman Crockett, the hearing was postponed until Dec. 15th, at 3 p. m., when it will be held in the Common Council rooms, in the City Building.

Funeral of Albert N. Hawes.

The funeral of the late Albert N. Hawes took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence on Falmouth street, Deering, and, despite the severe storm that prevailed, the services were largely attended by relatives and friends.

Rev. Marion Crosley, of the Church of the Messiah, conducted the services, and his words were touching and heartfelt. Mrs. J. S. Palmer also made appropriate remarks, and by request of friends of the family, read the poem "He who died at Azim." Shaw's male quartette rendered beautiful and impressive music.

The officers of Portland Lodge, F. and A. M., then held the usual Masonic services, but the burial was postponed until Monday forenoon at 11 o'clock.

The floral tributes were extensive and beautiful. At the head of the casket was a pillow of white pinks and rose buds with "Husband" in immortelles, all resting on a base of ferns. On the casket was a sheaf of wheat with a floral sickle of rosebuds, chrysanthemums and heliotrope from Mrs. Herbert Libby, and a cross and crown of white pinks, rose buds and smilax from St. Alban Commandery. At the foot of the casket was a broken column of white chrysanthemums from the oystermen of this city. Arranged about the room were a large "Gates Ajar," from the deceased's employes, a large bouquet of calla lilies, rose buds and white pinks from Mrs. Berkhardt of Boston, a bouquet of choice flowers from Mrs. Charles Hooper, and a "Gates Ajar," with "Oakdale" in immortelles, from the residents of Oakdale.

Edward Clarke.

Edward Clarke, the business manager of the New York Tribune, died suddenly at his home in Brooklyn at 1.45 o'clock Saturday morning. He had been ill for some time and six weeks ago last Wednesday decided to take a vacation, in order to try and regain his strength. He was suffering from nervous prostration, brought on by overwork. He started on a trip to the West. He reached St. Louis, but felt so ill that he returned. He was in the Tribune office last Friday for a short time. His death was caused by fall of the heart. Mr. Clarke had been connecewith the Tribune for 21 years. He was born in Westbrook, in 1833, and was the youngest of a large family. Leaving the Pine Tree State at the age of 16, he settled in Brooklyn and began business as a clerk in the commission house of Benner & Deake. It was but natural that with such surroundings he should develop into a stock broker. For a number of years he occupied an office in Wall street, and while there acquired a taste for newspaper work through association with his brother, who was at the time the chief financial writer for the Tribune. This brother dying in 1867, his mantle fell on Edward, who continued in charge of the Wall street department for three years, giving it up in 1870 to become advertising manager. Mr. Clarke's wife, Caroline Elizabeth Prentiss, died in 1882. He passed the remaining years of his life with two nieces at 225 Carroll street, Brooklyn. He loved his home and his kindred, spending most of his leisure time among his relatives. The Westminster Presbyterian church regarded him as one of its pillars. He was a stockholder and trustee in The Tribune Association.

The Monument Fair.

Mr. Harry B. Brown will donate his fine painting "Off Cape Blomidon," valued at $280 to the fair, and Eaton & Sons will frame it elegantly at a large discount. The promise of donations to the fair has been liberal. The following gentlemen besides those whose names have been already published will solicit for the fair:

A. D. Morse—Coal and wood dealers.
R. H. Knight—Art dealers.
Capt. T. P. Beals—Furniture dealers.
H. F. Somers—Hat and cap dealers.
F. C. Johnson—Tapastry and carpet dealers.
J. W. Stockwell—Stone ware and cement pipe dealers.
T. J. Murphy—Yankee notions.
Chas. M. Henry—Retail groceries.
Maj. Charles Walker—Wholesale grocery dealers.
H. P. Ingalls—Soda manufacturers.
H. G. Davis, Deering—Floritts.

White Mountains and Bar Harbor.

The Maine Central now proposes, in order to bring travel from the White Mountains to Bar Harbor, to run a parlor car from Fabyans to Bar Harbor next season, and sell tickets good for a term of days. Equally strong efforts will be made to have tourists at Bar Harbor visit the White Mountains on their way home. The Maine Central now controls the whole line between the two places, and will of course make greater efforts than ever before to increase its travel. With the stirring passenger agents to be employed, the efforts are sure to be successful.

Danforth Court.

The committee on streets visited Danforth court, Saturday, at the request of petitioners who want the two story house that now stands in the court preventing a passage from Danforth to Salem streets, moved out of the way. No action was taken by the committee. To move the house, thus opening the court, would cost, it is said, some $550.

Mayor Chapman Improving.

Mayor Chapman had a severe recurrence of pain on Friday night requiring the attendance of his physican early Saturday morning, but during the forenoon of Saturday he began to show marked improvement and at our last advices had no recurrence of the pain and was very comfortable.

Typographical Union Ball.

Next Thursday evening (Thanksgiving) is the date of the ball of the Portland Typographical Union in City Hall, and that it will be a rare evening goes without saying. The band concert, type-setting contest and the ball proper will be events to be remembered. In the contest of the typos, two of the most rapid men in Boston, one from the Herald and the other from the Advertiser office, will maniputate the types, while some of the Portland compositors will show the audience what rapid type-setting is like. Collins is scoring some fine points in his preparation of the music, and the orders of dance are among the most elegant we have seen. The following is the concert programme to be given by the First Regiment Band, Frank L. Collins, conductor, commencing at 7.30 o'clock:

March—"The Thunderbolt".....Richard Wagner
Overture—Allesandio Stradella.....Flotow
Waltz—On the Beautiful Rhine.....Keler Bela
Song for Trombone—The Tear.....Stegelli
Mr. A. E. Browne.
The Echo—Spring Jubilee on the Alps...J. Gungl
The Germans Before Paris.....Trenklar

Presumpscot Grange.

The meeting of Presumpscot Grange Saturday night was a very interesting one, and there was a good attendance. The programme, which has been published, was carried out and proved very entertaining. Especially pleasing was the song "Rock a bye Baby" by Miss Fannie Cregan, a little girl only eight years old. Miss Cregan merited the hearty applause that was given her at the close of the selection. A vote of thanks was extended to those who took part in the entertainment.

Children's Christmas Club.

Miss Sargent requests the members of the Children's Christmas Club to meet at Reception Hall next Saturday forenoon at 10.30 o'clock, to make preparations for the approaching annual festival. It is to be hoped that there will be a large attendance of those interested in this worthy organization, so that the coming reception to the guests of the club will be as interesting as any of its predecessors.

That Tickling

In your throat arises from catarrh, and as catarrh is a constitutional disease the ordinary cough medicines all fail to hit the spot. What you need is a constitutional remedy like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by building up the general health, and expelling the scrofulous taint which is the cause of catarrh and consumption, has restored to perfect health many persons on whom these diseases seem to have a firm hold. Many unsolicited testimonials prove beyond question that Hood's Sarsaparilla does positively cure catarrh.

Catarrhal Affection

"For several years I had been troubled with a catarrhal affection in my throat, and had tried several kinds of medicine but could find nothing to help me. My wife wanted me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and I must say I was very much benefitted by using it, and would recommend it very highly to any one having asthma or catarrh." ELIAS P. DEVRIES, firm of Devries & Peterson, Omaha, Neb.

Quick Consumption

"I am happy to say that my wife was cured of a very bad cough and what was called 'quick consumption,' by Hood's Sarsaparilla. She was restored to perfect health, which she has enjoyed ever since. Our little girl was poor and puny; Hood's Sarsaparilla seemed to be just the thing she needed, as she has been well and hearty since taking it." FRANK OTIS, Berwick, Me.

"I had the worst symptoms of chronic catarrh for two years. So troublesome was it that I could not smell nor taste. I found Hood's Sarsaparilla a speedy cure, and I am now free from this awful disease" J. H. SAMMIS, Bay Shore, N. Y.

RINES BROTHERS.

Odds and ends of woolen stockings for boys and girls, last year's goods which we are so anxious to close out that we are willing to lose money on them, are piled up in a big box on the end of the hosiery counter and marked fifty cents. They've been double the price and more, the quality is the same as this season's make and the value is still in them. It's your opportunity to get a bargain. Next to it is a basket of heavy stout half hose for boys who wear long pants. There are only a few left and they have been marked down to thirty-eight cents,—blue with red toes and heels.

* * * * *

Some odd pairs of English ribbed Hose (Children's) are selling for twenty-five per cent. discount,—that's a quarter off,—dollar stockings for seventy-five cents, and so on in proportion. Some nice cashmere ones in brown, garnet and blue, the best goods that the English makers can produce, are in this lot at the same twenty-five per cent. discount. The basket full of English stockings at twenty-five cents stops everybody who has babies to buy for.

Twenty-five cents is the price for everything in the basket and there are some prizes worth digging for. Black mostly.
