DR. WM. HALL'S

Balsam for the Lungs,

THE GREAT AMERICAN CONSUMPTIVE REMEDY.

Consumption is NOT an incurable disease. Physicians assure us of this fact. It is only necessary to have the RIGHT REMEDY, and the terrible malady can be conquered.

HALL'S BALSAM IS THIS REMEDY.

It breaks up the NIGHT SWEATS, relieves the OPPRESSIVE TIGHTNESS ACROSS THE LUNGS, and heals the lacerated and excoriated surfaces which the venom of the disease produces.

WHILE LIFE LASTS THERE IS HOPE.

It may not be too late to effect a cure even after the doctors have given you up.

HALL'S BALSAM is sold everywhere, and may be had at wholesale of the PROPRIETORS, JOHN F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO., at their Great Medicine Warehouse, 8 and 9 College Place, New York. Price $1 per bottle.

HALL'S BALSAM is also a sure remedy for COUGHS, COLDS, PNEUMONIA, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, SPITTING OF BLOOD, CROUP, WHOOPING COUGH, and all other diseases of the respiratory organs.

Also proprietors of Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup, Carbolic Salve, Edey's Troches, Oxygenated Bitters, Mott's Liver Pills, &c.,

LEONARD SCOTT PUBLISHING CO.

140 FULTON ST., NEW YORK,

By arrangement with the English Publishers, who receive a liberal compensation.

These periodicals constitute a wonderful miscellany of modern thought, research, and critisism. The cream of all European books worth reviewing is found here, and they treat of the leading events of the world in masterly articles written by men who have special knowledge of the matters treated. The American Publishers urge upon all intelligent readers in this country a liberal support of the Reprints which they have so long and so cheaply furnished, ceiling sure that no expenditure for literary matter will yield so rich a return as that required for a subscription to these the

THE PRESS.

MONDAY MORNING, MARCH. 9, 1874.

EVERY regular attache of the PRESS is furnished with a Card certificate countersigned by Stanley T. Pullen, Editor. All railway, steamboat and hotel managers will confer a favor upon us by demanding the credentials of every person claiming to represent our journal, as we have information that several "bummers" are seeking courtesies in the name of the PRESS, and we have no disposition to be, even passively, a party to such frauds.

We do not read anonymous letters and communications. The name and address of the writer are in all cases indispensable, not necessarily for publication but as a guaranty of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return or reserve communications that are not used.

President State Reform Club.

The Impending Danger.

There is some danger that the Centennial anniversary of our national existence may bring to the country its crowning humiliation. In the "exhibition" which is proposed, there is ground for apprehending that the things exhibited may be the products of which we are least proud. A disinterested observer cannot help fearing that preparations are in progress for erecting a spacious stage, inviting all the world to the spectacle and then exhibiting our most disgraceful national faults and our home manufactures in the way of fraud, jobbery, trickery, lying and embezzlement. If great care be not taken by Congress in guarding the expenditure of the public money the "show" which has somehow been determined upon as the sole possible means of measuring a century's progress, will display much more completely a state of moral retrogression than of national progress. It is evident from many circumstances, some of them trivial in themselves, that there are persons already identifying themselves with the exhibition and intruding themselves in its management who see in it primarily a chance for a great job. If the Tweed, Butler, Warmoth, Simmons, Sam Randall, Fernando Wood or Cameron element of the American people get control of the anniversary arrangements, the result will be a most serious blow to the national pride instead of the intense patriotic exaltation and self complacency which are anticipated.

The class of people to which reference is made above, whether in Congress or out, seem determined in the first place to lay out the proposed exhibition in an expansive, spread-eagle, manifest-destiny style. No mere gathering of the national family at the old Philadelphia hearth-stone will answer for them. But such a private reunion would exactly fulfill the legitimate purposes of a centennial celebration. All outside participation impairs the significance of the occasion and obscures or destroys its results. An international exposition is utterly illogical, utterly useless and is morally certain to prove a failure; but its projectors know full well that it will form a good basis for an immense appropriation of public money and that is what they want. It is immaterial to them whether or not the farce that ensues makes the republic an object of contempt in the eyes of those whose respect it is desirable to conciliate. The true object of the celebration should be, not only to enable us to form a definite conception of our condition and prospects at the close of a hundred years of independence, but to commend Republican government to the rest of mankind by showing what it can do under favorable circumstances, toward rendering a people prosperous, honest and happy. We ought to be able to prove from facts patent to all, that a "government of the people by the people for the people'" produces results that make it incontestibly a profitable and eminently desirable political arrangement. America began in life with small encouragement from its sister nations, who have ever since hoped and expected to see it fail. Shall we invite them then, after the lapse of a hundred years, to witness a failure in moral principle—a failure which is ominous of every species of evil in the future? Shall we exhibit our country at its worst? Shall we invite kings and princes, statesmen and publicists, scholars and artisans here from abroad to enable them to go back to their homes, saying that American civilization, after attaining a luxuriant material growth, has already begun to decline and that the symptoms of decay are already visible? It is the duty of Congress, if there must be a world's fair, to see that it is conducted with a view to the display of our best, instead of our worst qualities—with a view to the interests of the nation and not of a few individuals.

It is gratifying to know that the senate on Friday, treated the Philadelphia scheme with marked disfavor. In this we are confident that they represent the average sentiment of the nation. The proposition is disfigured by too many indicia of possible plunder to be received with much favor. Let us have a national house-warming of moderate expense and unlimited self glorification, and without the suspicion of a job. We should indulge in no extravagance on that occasion, except in the way of language.

THE balance of the correspondence relative to the Sanborn contracts to collect a certain class of revenues, a part of which was published Saturday, contains no new developments. The only fact is that Sanborn and his confederates, friends of Gen. Butler, rereceived a contract under the Butler-Sawyer amendment to the appropriation bill of 1872, to receive fifty per cent. of such revenue claims as they might collect, and that Messrs. Boutwell and Richardson directed revenue officers to render them any assistance in their power.

Current Notes.

The Washington correspondent of the Providence Journal says the connection of General Butler with the Phelps and Dodge case has been brought out with effect to damage his influence greatly in the House. His appearance with detective Jayne at the interview with Mr. Dodge, and the attempts to intimidate are denounced by members of the House on all sides. No transaction by a congressman since the Credit Mobilier investigation has been exposed with so much effect.

Brother Harlan of the Washington Chronicle wants the government printing establishment abolished. He wants some job priut ng but his principal opposition, superintendent Clapp says, is because the latter required him to pay for forty reams of paper which Harlan borrowed of the government office.

"Anti-Republicans" is the title given by the Boston Traveller to those who oppose Butler's pretensions. The Traveller and Butler are evidently trying to keep the Republican party in that State "conveniently small," so that the offices may just go round. New York Evening Post.

The municipal elections in Bangor and Biddeford to-day, will be hotly contested.

The general tone of the Republican papers of New England is not in sympathy with the President.

A Joke Well Put.

To the Editor of the Press:

On the day of the vote in the House on the bill defining the obligations of connecting railroads, known as the "force bill," a member who had previous to his election been an enthusiastic lobbyist, was very active in defeating the bill. After adjournment he went to the coat room and hurried on his outer garment, and on stepping forth he was greeted with a shout of laughter. Some wag had written with chalk, on the back of his outer garment the initials, "M. C. R. R.," not quite so large as those on the other property of this watchful corporation but sufficiently plain to designate the ownership.

Instead of getting off with a "treat," as the price of secrecy, he ought to have worn the inscription home and had a "switch" added by his constituents for his sevility.

"The ox knoweth his owner, and the ass his master's crib; but my people doth not consider." ISAIAH.

Sunday Services

CONGRESS STREET M. E. CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Pitblado, the pastor, preached in the afternoon from xii-16: "Thou Fool." God says, "Thou fool!" to many a man who thinks himself wise. He says it to the mere scientist, as well as to the ignaramus—to the rich as well as to the poor—to the moral as well as to the immoral—to the energetic as well as to the lazy. The rich go-a head man of the text, was a fool for many reasons.

First. He was a fool, because of his intense worldliness and practical Godlessness. Whatever his theory may have been, his practice was Godless: If he did recognize God in sunlight and fig-tree and wheat sheaves, he don't seem to have thanked Him that the ground "brought forth plentifully." He seems rather to have imagined that he brought about the harvest by his own talent and tact and industry. To-day there are worldings just like him. They cultivate their orchards, and why not have abundant fruit. They till and sow, and why not have a large return. No recognization of God's dew and sun. No thanks to God for the life, the intellect, the hands He gave them. Thankless! Godless!

Second. He was a fool, because his greatest question was about barn-room. "What shall I do because I have no room where to bestow my fruits?" What an awful question! Granaries too small! No question about how to make his possessions useful. Poor rich man! He saw the ragged, but offered them no garment. He heard the cry of the hungry, but proffered no bread. This man lived for self. To-day the world swarms with little selfish souls. This man's highest question, is the greatest question with millions of mud men to-day. With them the barn question is all-important.

Third. He was a fool, because his hopes of future happiness were based upon "greater barns and "much goods." As yet he was not a sensualist. His sins had not been beast-like, or fiend-like. He was not a Herod, or a Nero, or a Savage or a Byron. He had not wasted his life in diabolical bestiality, or in mere wassail. He was not a spendthrift like Stricca spoken of by Dante in his Inferno, who sold his possessions and bought a mansion, wherein he riioted for a year and a half, and then lived in poverty. He was a man of industry and enterprise who had wasted his life in mere farming on a large scale, that he might have good times by and bye. To-day many are founding their expectations of coming satisfaction, upon "greater barns," larger farms, vaster warehouses, huger steamboats, larger railroads, more pay.—Things good enough in themselves, but no better for the soul than bubbles or bran. Some man tried to teach his horse to live on sawdust. It did not learn, but it died. If you try to feed your soul on barn-goods, it will starve and die.

Fourth. He was a fool, because he made no preparations for the dying day. His life arrangements and God's did not agree. He said "many years" God said "Thou fool! This night thy soul shall be required of thee." Poor fool! The larger barns will never be built by thee. To-morrow the sun will shine upon the "old barns" and on the stubble ridges, and on the shocks of yellow grain, but thy soul will be standing face to face with doom. The sheep will speckle the pasture slopes, and the oxen browse in the dingles, but thou wilt have gone to judgment. For the last time thou hast folded the flocks and gathered the vintage and wandered about the furrows. The last day of thy life's setting. Doomed! To-day some of us are saying "many years." God may be saying "not many days, not many hours." Just a little while and the store, and the office, and the pulpit will have to do without us. Just a little and we must leave these scenes for judgment. Suddenly the call may be heard. Suddenly souls are rushing to the bar of God, and howling down the steeps of torchless night, or singing up the slopes of the fadeless summer time. Already death may be at the door. Already his icy breath may be on thy brow. Already his bony fingers may be at thy heart-strings. Live not for Jesus and sudden death will plunge thee into sudden hell. Accept of Jesus and sudden death will lift thee to sudden heaven.

Fifth. He was a fool because he wasted his only opportunity for rich spiritual husbandry. He accepted this opportunity to sow and reap and gather into earthly garners, but he laid up no golden sheaf in the garner of the skies. He may have been a philosophic genius in pomology, he was a fool in regard to spiritual fruit raising. Lunatic! Only "he that soweth to the spirit shall of the spirit reap life everlasting." There are many like him to-day, who are neglecting the only opportunity they will ever have for laying up spiritual stores. There is not a plurality of probations. Such a doctrine is not found in the Bible. God's doctrine is "to-day." You are here not only to sow and reap wheat, and plant orchards, and build larders and weave faded garlands, and gather golden heaps, but you are here specially to prepare for a rich ripe. spiritual reaping in the sunny eternity. You say that you can find no time to attend to the soul now. Ah! Better burn your barns or let your warehouses decay, or neglect your laundry or your laurels, than lose your soul. Man! Woman! "To-day," "now" is thy opportunity. Don't waste it on trash or trifles, or trade. To him who neglects it death is a terror. "If ye live to the flesh ye shall die." To the man who uses his opportunity by loving Jesus and living for him, death is victory. Stand aside and let the dying victors speak. Dr. Payson cried "the victory is won forever." Robert Newton shouted "Praise the Lord." Harvey, "To die is gain." Senator Foote lifting his hands cried, "Beautiful, beautiful." The valley is crowded with victors exclaiming, "Washed in the blood of the Lamb."

INDIA STREET CHURCH.

The pastor of the India Street Universalist church, Rev. George W. Bicknell, delivered, in the evening, at the request of the committee from the Temperance Associations in this city, a discourse on temperance. It was the most radical one we have heard, full of strong and sound views on the matter of selling as well as drinking. He was for the full and strict enforcement of the prohibitory law; upon high places as well as low, and would have the punishment by imprisoument, so that the rich dealer could not escape by paying a fine, while the poor dealer, from inability to pay is sent to jail. The greatest hindrance to the cause is the genteel, moderate drinkers, and christian suasion should be brought to bear upon them. The churches were not earnest in the cause and failed to educate the people up to a proper standard upon the subject. The fault of the non-enforcement of the law was not altogether with the sheriffs and marshals, but more with the churches who failed to offer the support and encouragement to the officers to strictly execute the law, that it was their duty to do.

The discourse was able and eloquent, and should be repeated, not only in the City Hall, but in every city and town in the State where intoxicating liquors are sold. It was pleasant to notice so large a congregation last evening.

NOTES.

Rev. Dr. Hill preached a strong doctrinal sermon yesterday on the unity of God. It is spoken of as one of his ablest efforts.

Rev. Abiel Silver of Boston preached sermons at the New Jerusalem church on the patriarchal relation and on the mysteries of revelation.

Rev. S H. Dana of Newton, Mass., a recent theological graduate, delivered sermons yesterday afternoon and evening at Plymouth Church.

Rev. Mr. Byington of Brunswick exchanged with Mr. Hicks at State street, and preached very acceptably morning and evening.

STATE NEWS.

ANDROSCOGGIN COUNTY.

The Lewiston Journal says Lowell has made some curious statements to his counsel relating to the death of his wife—that it was caused by an accident. Mr. Ludden, his counsel, does not believe the story.

The Androscoggin Herald thinks, from the appearance of the streets of Mechanic Falls last Saturday, a women's praying band could do a profitable village in that village.

KENNEBEC COUNTY.

Three dollars per night was paid to workmen on the ice on the Kennebec last week.

The Gardiner Reporter says the swift current caused by the recent storm has reduced the thickness of the ice in the Kennebec about four inches, and a few warm days will be likely to put a stop to the business of housing.

Traveling across the Kennebec, at Gardiner, with teams, has been stopped, the "day" being pronounced dangerous.

LINCOLN COUNTY.

While Jackson Reed and his son Willie, were returning home from Woolwich on the river last Thursday evening, the ice broke letting the horse, sleigh and occupants into the river. The father succeeded, by great efforts, in getting his son on the ice, but each time it broke through, and the last time, the lad, about nine years old, was carried under the ice before his father could reach him. Mr. Reed, by the assistance of a person on shore, escaped. The body of the boy was recovered on Friday.

The Waldoboro News says the vessels now upon the stocks in Waldoboro, and the frames that are coming for vessels to be built the coming summer, amount to two ships, one barkentine, ten schooners and one scow. The prospect of a busy season certainly looks encouraging.

The first load of ice ever shipped from Wiscasset was taken by the schooner Ira D. Sturgis which sailed for Washington, D. C., on the 5th inst. The ice business bids fair to become an important branch of industry in Wiscasset, says the Oracle.

KNOX COUNTY.

The 90th birthday of Col. Asa Payson of Hope, was celebrated last Monday by a dinner in which a large number of his children and grand-children participated. The Colonel is still hale and hearty, says the Camden Herald.

Dr. Isaac Bartlett of Hope, was seriously injured last week in Lincolnville, by falling down a flight of stairs.

At the close of Capt. Sturdivant's lecture in Rockport on Monday last, 162 persons came voluntarily forward and signed the temperance pledge.

PENOBSCOT COUNTY

The Garland Dairying Association are making preparations to erect a building for a cheese factory on a lot given them by John C. Foster, Esq. They expect to commence operations in June.

Amos Abbott & Co., woolen manufacturers of Dexter, have distributed their annual dividend to the operatives in their employ, who have received from $50 each, downwards, according to the amount of their earnings for the year. The system was adopted some years since by this firm.

PISCATAQUIS COUNTY.

Five divorcers were decreed last week in the S. J. Court at Dover.

About 150 cords of woods are hauled daily to the Katahdin Iron Works, to be made into charcoal.

Colby and Clinton Weston of Foxcroft, shot four loupcerviers one day last week. Two more were seen by them, but escaped.

SOMERSET COUNTY.

[From our Norridgewock correspondent.]

The winter term of the Eaton Family School closed March 6th. The school presents unequalled advantages as a home school for boys, and the large number of pupils in attendance fully prove that its worth is well known to the public.

Business on the Somersot Railroad is rapidly increasing—granite, potatoes and hay constitute the bulk of the freight.

Judge Rowe, who was so severely injured in shackling cars, has so far recovered that he is attending to the business of the road.

[Skowhegan correspondence.]

The Supreme Judicial Court commences its March term at Skowhegan next Tuesday. The civil docket numbers 489 cases and the criminal 40 cases. Judge Cutting is to preside. This term is to be in the new court hourse, being the first term since the completion of the house.

Andrew Morse of Skowhegan, is taking measures to erect a pulp mill in New Sharon. That town holds a meeting to vote aid to the enterprise.

Farmers are bringing abundance of hay, potatoes, hoops, etc., to market just at this time.

Masquerades and parties are now attracting much attention, old and young seem to be alike interested.

YORK COUNTY.

Dennis McAnaney, one of the four young men who broke into Burnham's store at Biddeford a few nights since, was arrested Saturday as he was taking the cars for Boston.

Sheriffs Warren and Durgin went to Kennebunk Saturday and searched three places for liquor but found none, Sheriff Warren Friday evening made several calls in Saco but without finding any liquor.

The other morning crape was found tied on the doors to the closed rum shops at Smith Corner, Biddeford.

Indigestion's Martyrs.

Half the diseases of the human family spring from a disordered stomach, and may be prevented by invigorating and toning that abused and neglected organ with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Let it be borne in mind that the liver, the kidneys, the intestines, the muscles, the ligaments, the bones, the nerves, the integuments, are all renewed and nourished by the blood and that the digestive organs are the grand alembic in which the materials of the vital fluid are prepared. When the stomach fails to provide healthful nourishment for its dependencies they necessarily suffer, and the ultimate result, if the evil is not arrested, will be chronic and probably fatal disease somewhere. It may be developed in the kidneys in the form of diabetis, in the liver as congestion, in the muscles as rheumatism, in the nerves as paralysis, in the integuments as scrofula. Remember, however, that each and all of these consequences of indigestion may be prevented by the timely and regular use of that sovereign antidote to dyspepsia, Hostetter's Bitters.

IMPORTANT TESTIMONY.

CAPT. EDWARD J. STUBBS—Stubbs & Hutchins, well known shipbuilders, Yarmouth, Maine, says:

DR. LORING, Dear Sir:—It is with pleasure that I add my testimony in favor of that most excellent medicine, LORING'S SPECIFIC. About one year ago I was sorely afflicted with CONSTIPATION and DYSPEPSIA, attended with great prostration and loss of flesh. A friend prevailed on me to take LORING'S SPECIFIC. I took the contents of one bottle with the most satisfactory results. I was surprised and gratified by its beneficial effect. IT WORKED ON ME LIKE A CHARM, and in a short time gave me permanent relief. Any person who is suffering from these terrible complaints—CONSTIPATION and DYSPEPSIA, may be confident that LORING'S SPECIFIC will surely do them good.

Gratefully yours,
EDWARD J. STUBBS.

PAIN - KILLER,

1840. 1874.

Time Tests The Merits Of All Things.

THIRTY YEARS is certainly long enough time to prove the efficacy of any medicine, and that the Pain-Killer is deserving of all its proprietors claim for it is amply proved by the unparalled popularity it has attained. It is a sure and effective remedy. It is sold in almost every country in the world, and it needs only to be known to be prized, and its reputation as a medicine of Great Virtue is fully and permanently established. It is the great Family Medicine of the age. Taken internally it cures Dysentery, Cholera, Diarrhea, Cramp and pain in the Stomach, Bowel Complaint, Painter's Colic, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Sudden Colds, Sore Throat and Coughs Taken externally, it cures Bruises, Boils, Felons, Cuts, Burns, Scalds, Old Sores and Sprains, Swellings of the Joints, Toothache, Pain in the Face, Neuralgia and Rheumatism, Chapped Hands, Frost Bitten Feet &c.

Pain is supposed to be the lot of us poor mortals as inevitable as death, and liable at any time to come upon us. Therefore, it is important that remedial agents should be at hand to be used on emergency, when we are made to feel the excruciating agony of pain, or the depressing influences of disease. Such a remedial exists in Perry Davis' "Pain-Killer," the fame of which has extended over all the earth. Amid the eternal ices of the Polar Regions, or beneath the intolerable and burning suns of the tropics its virtues are known and appreciated. And by it suffering humanity has found relief from many of its ills The effect of the Pain-Killer upon the patient, when taken internally in cases of Cough, Cold, Bowel Complaint, Cholera, Dysentery, and other affections of the system, has been truly wonderful, and has won for it a name among medical preparations that can never be forgotten. Its success in removing pain, as an external remedy, in cases of Burns, Bruises, Sores and Sprains, Cuts, Stings of Insects, &c., and other causes of suffering has secured forit the most prominent position among the medicines of to-day. Beware of counterfeits and worthless imitations. Call for Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain-Killer, and take no other.

Brief Jottings.

Custom House wharf is to be leased to government for a term of years with the understanding that the government has the refusal of it at the expiration of the lease.

The terms of seven members of the School Committee expire to-day. The out-going members are George W. True, Charles Holden, Lewis B. Smith, M. A. Blanchard, Ambrose Giddings, S. T. Pullen and T. B. Reed.

The Howard Star Company, from the Howard Athenæum, appears at Music Hall Friday night.

Mr. C. J. Schumacher has on exhibition at Schumacher's art store a street view in Venice. It is noticeable for the correctness of its drawing and the management of color which it displays. The subject has been admirably treated.

Mrs. Dr. Bucknell being about to leave for California, will give a free lecture to the ladies of Portland, in the Reception Room, at City Building, Tuesday afternoon, March 10th, at three o'clock.

Saturday the Peaks Island Steamboat Co. voted to increase their capital stock to $20,000 and to buy the Gazelle to run in connection with the Express.

The Allan mail steamer Hibernian, Capt. Archer. sailed from this port for Liverpool Saturday night, with six cabin and nine steerage passengers.

The fire engine Falmouth goes into her new quarters on Spring street to-day.

About an inch of snow fell Saturday night and flakes floated down at intervals yesterday.

MEDICAL DEGREE CONFERRED.—Mr. T. S. P. Miller, better known as the colored boy "Tom," that was so many years with Dr. Tewksbury of this city, has been honored by a degree of Doctor of Medicine at the Harvard University, Washington. Tom Miller was formerly a slave in South Carolina, and escaped during the war and came to this city with Col. Emery as a waiter boy in 1863. Snortly after he engaged himself with the Dr. as an office boy, and remained with him until two years since. He then went to the Howard University to complete his medical education and take his degree of medicine. For the past year he has acted in the capacity of Janitor and Nurse in the Freedman's Hospital connected with the Institution. He received all of his preparatory and a large proportion of his Medical education of Dr. Tewksbury. Before he could hardly read and write, he expressed a desire to become a physician and by his persistent efforts and industry—with the assistance he has received from his friend and teacher—he has at last been honored with the position he has so long struggled to acquire.

POLICE NOTES.—One of the officers of a vessel now at this port applied at the police station Saturday for assistance in finding his wife who was "lost, strayed or stolen." He had been married but three days. He had expended $150 for the bridal trousseau, and he discovered two late that the bride was very fond of the company of a brother officer. In a fit of anger he turned her away, but soon repented of his hasty action. The wandering wife, a pretty girl about eighteen years old, was found and returned to his waiting arms. All was forgotten and forgiven, and the reconciled ones made their way back to the vessel.

Officers Black, Warren, Crowell and Laughton arrested two respectably connected young men last night who were very drunk and who were creating much disturbance on Congress street. One of them was badly bruised.

A woman came on from Lewiston Saturday in search of her daughter who had run away from home. The wanderer was found at Nelson Leighton's by the deputies, and given in charge of her mother.

There was a fight on Grove street Saturday about midnight. Pistols were fired and shouts of murder indulged in; but no one was killed.

DEERING NOMINATIONS.—At a citizens' caucus in Deering the following candidates were nominated: For Selectmen, David Torrey, (rep.) Solomon Stuart, (dem.) Francis Purington (rep.); for Clerk, T. J. Riggs; for Auditor, Andrew Hawes; School Committee, Andrew Hawes.

At the Republican caucus the same ticket was chosen with the exception of George Johnson in place of Stuart.

At the Democratic caucus, Soloman Stuart, Edwin Cobb and George Crocker were elected as candidates for selectmen.

It is desired that voters should get their ballots in as early as possible, for there are thirty articles in the warrant to be acted upon.

FIRE SATURDAY NIGHT.—Saturday night at five minutes past eleven o'clock fire was discovered in the pork packing establishment of Berry & Leighton on Fore street, near the foot of Exchange. Alarms were given apparently all over the city, the fire department was promptly on the spot, and the fire was soon extinguished. As it was confined to the upper story of the building the damage was slight and $500 will cover it. There was insurance of $2000 on the building in the Brewers of Milwaukee and of $2000 on the contents in the Amazon, in the agency of Dow & Palmer.

D. S. D. ENTERTAINMENT.—The fourth and last entertainment in the course of the D. S. D's will be a social hop to come off this evening in Fluent Hall. This young society has labored inaessantly to attain the object which it had in view, and has not only made its course a success financially, but has succeeded thus far in giving the greatest satisfaction to its many friends and patrons. It proposes this evening to add, if possible, to its previous reputation, and to make its fourth entertainment a crowning success.

PERSONALT—Miss Annie Greeley, daughter of E. C. Greeley of this city, has been engaged as organist at the Congregation church, in Gorham.

It is Mrs. Eliza M. Babb, M. D., of Eastport, who is now practicing in this city, and whose card we have published, who has been appointed Justice of the Peace by Gov. Dingley, and not Mrs. Ellen M. Babb, of Eastport, as some of the papers have it.

REFORM MEETING.—George H. Hanson and others will address the people at the Allen Mission Temperance Meeting this evening. At the close the Reform Club of Portland will be organized and delegates chosen to attend the Convention at Augusta the 12th instant. The old members of the Reform Club and all others are cordially invited.

CITY GOVERNMENT.—The members elect of the City Council for the ensuing political year will organize to-day at ten o'clock, when Mayor Wescott will present his annual address. In the evening the annual election of the city officers will take place.

Arrival of the Phœnician.

A ROUGH PASSAGE.

The freight steamer Phœnician, Capt. Graham of the Allan line, arrived at this port yesterday afternoon, at about one o'clock, after a tempestuous passage of twenty-three days. The figure head was carried away, and the steering apparatus aft, was broken, but happily this steamer can be steered either fore or aft, (the only one on the line that can.) The first officer was thrown from the bridge by a wave and injured quite severely.

The steamer left Liverpool the 14th ult., with a full cargo but no passengers. The first day or two out she had dark and squally weather, but nothing to prevent her making good time, about 175 miles per day. The weather continued about the same until the 19th, when the wind blew fresh and the sea began to rise rapidly. On the 23d the wind blew heavily, with heavy sea and hard rain. The sea continued to rise the next day, and the wind was blowing a gale from the south-east, with the barometer falling fast and every appearance of bad weather. At 5 p. m., they were obliged to heave the ship to, and stop the engine. The first and second officers were on the bridge giving orders, when a heavy sea struck it, throwing the first officer off and injuring him quite severely on the shoulder. Every sea that came washed the decks, but no further damage was done at that time. The storm continued through the next day unabated. On the 27th the wind came up fresh again, and the storm renewed its violence. Again the ship was obliged to heave to, and soon after her after steerage was carried away. The wind by this time had increased to a tornado, and the rain was falling fast. The next morning the wind went down and the ship was once more started on her course. She encountered another gale on the 28th. On the second of March she passed several huge icebergs.

Nothing worthy of note occurred during the remainder of the passage.

They had scarcely a pleasant day during the voyage In consequence the officers are very tired and appear nearly worn out.

Our reporter is indebted to the courtesy of the first officer for the above facts.

MRS. YOUNG'S LECTURES.

Mrs. Ann Eliza Young delivered lectures in City Hall Saturday afternoon and last evening to rather thin houses. The smallness of her audiences is much to be regretted, for the public mind needs awakening to the enormities of the abominable social and religious systems held by a few sensualists and their deluded followers who have settled in the country about the Great Salt Lake. This lady, intelligent, thoroughly in earnest, acquainted with, and a sufferer by the gross evils of the bad system, and a natural orator, is well fitted to lead the crusade against polygamy.

The lecture delivered Saturday afternoon was entitled

POLYGAMY AS IT IS.

Mrs. Young began her lecture os follows: Polygamy in a savage land or among the Turks does not shock us, because it harmonizes with their religion and is a part of their institutions, but polygamy in the United States is a disgrace. Geographically considered, it is an intruder in this country, and politically it is a monstrosity and a blot on the face of the nation's history. Polygamy in the United States is not a figment of the imagination, it is not a sensational story evoked from the fertile brain of an irresponsible Bohemian; it is a fact. Its originator was a resident of New England and a native of Vermont, and many of its strongest advocates, to-day, are legal citizens of the United States. The things which I will speak of I know; to many of them I have been a witness, and of many more I have been the victim. Polygamy is contrary to the fundamental principles of Mormonism, for it is written in the statutes that a man may have one wife but no concubines; and love for the wife is enjoined on all men who embrace the faith. Joseph Smith had a revelation on July 12, 1843, recommending him and his followers to take plural wives, but although they carried out the provisions of the revelation in private, it was some time before they openly practiced such nefarious doctrines. There was a conflict between two revelations, for everyone professed strict obedience to the law of the State, and the other supported polygamy, while by the statute law of Illinois bigamy was felony. The men embraced the new faith willingly, and the women received it, not as their privilege, but as their cross.

Mrs. Young then exposed the practice of missionaries in Europe, who denied the existence of polygamy and enticed many innocent and unsuspecting girls into their toils, only to break their hearts and blight their lives. The arguments used to support and justify the system, in addition to that of direct revelation, were taken from the Bible. Not only were David and Solomon held up as exponents and supporters of the practice, but even Adam, who was accused of having another spouse besides her of Eden, as handed down to us by tradition. That passage in Isaiah where the seven women are said to have taken hold of one man is further strengthened by the bold assertion that the love of Christ for Martha and Mary and Mary Magdalen was an instance of plurality of wives, and the marriage feast of Cana was one of His nuptial ceremonies. They teach that there are numbers of spirits floating around in absolute space, who require bodies before they can reach the highest point in progressive development, and that it is the duty of all men to try and furnish them with such bodies; and that those who have the most children will have the most exalted place in heaven. Adam, of course, will be first, as he has the largest number of descendants, and each man will rank in proportion.

The lecturer then went into the details of the system, and drew vivid sketches of the heart-rendings and the wretchedness which it entails upon the poor victims who are dragged into it by falsehood and treachery. It blights love and wifely affection and duty; destroys personal attractions, and divides and alienates households. It is the duty of the United States to wipe out this stigma on her fair fame, and to free from bondage the hundreds and thousands of women who lift up their voices and cry for help and protection.

Last evening Mrs Young delivered the third and last of her series of lectures. It was entitled

THE MORMON RELIGION,

She began by speaking of the boast of the Mormon leaders that they knew no distinction between things secular and things spiritual, and said their Sunday discourses treat of medicine, agriculture, laws, the raising of stock, &c All of these topics are frequently introduced into a single address. The theory of Mormonism is that the head of the church and the head of the State shall be one, and from the head downward the system is religio-political. A Mormon bishop is expected to preach the gospel, collect tithings, administer to the sick and adjust disputes.

Mormonism professes to be a revival of primitive Christianity and a restoration of the church as God intended it to exist in the last days. It claims to derive its authority from the Old and New Testament, as well as from the Book of Mormon, and doctrines and covenants. The Book of Mormon professes to be an account written by the angel Meroni, of the wanderings of a branch of the human family, who crossed the ocean and reached this continent soon after the dispersion from the Tower of Babel. It is said to be derived from gold plates which Joseph Smith, then a youth, found near his home in New York. These plates were covered with unknown characters, which he translated by divine inspiration, after which they were given into the hands of the angel Gabriel, who disappeared with them. The doctrines and covenants are made up of sundry revelations of Joseph Smith and others, and are held to be superior in authority to the Bible. All male Mormons are members of one of the priesthoods, of which Melchizedek is the highest. The other officers of the church are the president and his seven counsellors, who are the chief men in matters spiritual and temporal, though their chief glory is in obeying their chief and proclaiming their subservience to Brigham Young. Below the counsellors are the twelve apostles, who are next followed by the bishops, and they by the ward teachers. The functions and duties of these several classes were explained by the lecturer, some of which were most ridiculous and absurd.

All outside of the Mormon kingdom is called Babylon, and all converts are told to gather in Zion, the city of the Saints. It is believed that Christ will return to the earth before the close of the present century and take up his abode in Zion, when the Saints will be exalted and all other nations cut off.

Respecting the Divine Being, it is held that God is a being of body and parts like ourselves; that he was once of inferior rank—perhaps no greater than we are, and has risen to his present estate. Adam being the highest deity of the human family, Brigham Young is the highest of the Mormons, and he is to advance until he shall create and people other worlds.

The Mormon religion teaches that a woman's exaltation in the future will be in proportion to the number of her children, and a man's in proportion to the number of his wives and children. Some marriages are for time and others for eternity; Some extend throughout time and eternity. A marriage for time terminates at death, and one for eternity begins at death. In some cases a woman is sealed to one husband for time and another for eternity. As polygamy is the highest marital state, so it will be continued hereafter, and the spiritual family is to increase there as the physical one does here.

The remainder of the lecture was devoted to an explanation and discussion of the subjects of baptism for the dead; the horrible ceremony of blood atonement for sins committed; property, and its consecration to the church by the faithful; Mormon exclusiveness, and the advocacy of non intercourse with the people of the outside world; teaching the susceptible that all women outside of the church were base; crying against fashions in dress; the franchise and the manner of making voters and several other peculiarities of the inner life of Mormonism,

THE WALLER LETTER.—We are informed that the letter recently published in the New York Express purporting to be the confession of Mrs. Waller and exculpating Mrs. Waite, it is ascertained, was written in this city but not by Mrs. Waite.

Decision in the Commercial Street Contract.

The following is the rescript on the bill in equity brought by the Portland, Saco and Portsmouth Railroad Company against the Grand Trunk and Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad Companies to determine their respective rights on Commercial street, with the opinion of the full bench of Maine just announced:

The stipulation for the erection of a central passenger station found in the contract of April 23d, 1850, between the plaintiff and the Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad Company has been abandoned by mutual consent.

All the other work contemplated in the contract having been performed with the exception of this item, and this being abandoned, the plaintiffs have the same rights in the works actually constructed at the joint expense, and the same rights to an irrevokable lease of the western portion of the tracks laid down in pursuance of the contract, as they would have had if the proposed central depot had been constructed within a reasonable time.

The territorial division of the tracks heretofore made for the purpose of repairs indicates the part to be leased.

Until such lease is made the plaintiff's have a right in common to the use and occupancy of the tracks throughout for the purpose of transporting and delivering at any point between the original termini of the roads, as they existed at April 23d, 1850, all freight and cars which they are hauling in pursuit of their business as common carriers, whether their own cars or the cars of connecting roads, and whether they receive them at their general station in Portland or elsewhere.

After such lease both parties shall enjoy their rights in that portion of their new tracks which is in the possession and under the immediate control of the other party, under such rules and regulations as may be mutually beneficial.

The non-fulfilment by mutual consent of one item in a contract embracing the performance of several pieces of work will not defeat the right of a party who is not in default to require a substantial performance of the remainder of the contract, when such non-fulfilment does not affect the essential rights and interests of the contracting parties with regard to those parts of the work which are actually performed.

ARREST OF A BURGLAR.—About midnight officers Horr and Rounds arrested a young man named Fred Webb, in a stable in the rear of the Western Union Telegraph office, where they were watching for him and in which articles were found supposed to have been stolen from the store of Levi F. Hoyt, No. 11 Preble street, on Friday night, and also from the store of Hunt & Jewett, 316 Congress street, Saturday night.

QUICKEST WORK YET.—The steamer "Achilles," with 1000 tons of coal to Randall & McAllister, arrived the 6th, was ready to discharge at one o'clock the same day. At 12 a. m., the 7th day she was discharged and ready for sea. This is the quickest work yet, and does great credit to Mr. D. D. Fuller, the well-known stevedore, who had the work in charge. Mr. Robert Mills staged the main hatch.

NEW INDUSTRY.—It is stated that parties engaged in the manufacture of cordage in Massachusetts, have made a proposition to the incorporators of the Portland Cordage Co., recently chartered by the Legislature, to move their machinery to this city and take one fourth of the capital stock, the whole amount being $100,000.

RIP VAN WINKLE.—Mr. John Murray, supported by a powerful company, appears at Music Hall this evening in Rip Van Winkle. Mr. Murray's impersonation is a strong one, and has received recognition as such by competent critics. The entertainment will be found eminently worth of patronage.

The Canvass.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Mar. 7.—The last Republican rally in this district occurred at Smyth's opera house this evening. Hon. Daniel Cross presided.

Hon. Jacob Ely was the first speaker. He discussed the record of the Democratic party, the tariff and the liquor question.

Hon. Chas. H. Burns of Wilton, the Republican candicate for State Senator in the 7th district, spoke for half an hour, exhorting the Republicans to move actively. The hall was full and considerable enthusiasm prevailed.

The Democracy will hold a meeting on Monday evening, the night before election, at this place, and will be addressed by Hon. O. A. Brewster and Hon. Thos. J. Gargon of Boston.

CONCORD, N. H., Mar. 8.—The Republicans and Democrats held caucusses this evening to nominate city tickets and candidates to the Legislature.

At a Republican caucus held this afternoon, John Kimball was nominated candidate for Mayor.

Cuban Stowaways Returned.

NEW YORK, March 7.—It is stated that the steamship City of New York, which arrived yesterday from Havana, put back when eight or ten miles north of Havana and landed three Cuban stowaways who had secreted themselves on board in order to escape from the Spanish draft. There being a number of Spaniards on board the captain felt obliged to return with them to prevent proceedings against the ship by the Spanish authorities on its return to Havana.

Various Matters.

Great destitution is reported along the line of the New York Midland Railroad, owing to the non-payment of wages.

The race-horse Jupiter, worth $10,000, dropped dead while being driven by his owner, Lewis Pettice, yesterday. Not long ago he lost the trotter Lady Emma, valued at $30,000.

Two fashionably dressed young men stepped into a jewelry store in Brooklyn yesterday, and while pretending to examine the stock, substituted a $15 bogus diamond ring for one worth $600.

The Committee on the State Charities Association has reported that the Bellevue Hospital is unfit for use. Its wards are overcrowded and badly ventilated, and its walls are saturated with the poisinous emanations of disease of half a century.

The 100 unpaid laborers who stopped the trains on the New York, Kingston and Syracuse Railroad at West Hurley, yesterday, allowed them to proceed upon being promised scrip. The road is, like the Midland, run by a receiver.

Beecher's church held a council of war last evening and decided to appoint a committee of seven to prepare a reply to any invitation of the coming church council.

Murder.

CHICAGO, March 7.—A dispatch from Detroit says W. T. Underwood of Cleveland came here to reside some months ago and became enamored of Miss Anna Bridgeon, sister of the well known Capt. John Bridgeon, and one of the most beautiful and accomplished young ladies of Detroit, but she rejected his suit last evening at his request. She went to walk with him and on their return, while standing at the door of her home, he again offered himself, and she again refused, whereupon he instantly drew a knife and stabbed her to the heart. He then rushed to the police station and gave himself up. The wound was instantly fatal. Underwood's wife had gained a divorce from him and had acquainted Miss Bridgeon with his character.

The Custom House Cases.

More of Special Agent Jayne's Transactions,

Outrageous Treatment of a New York Firm.

NEW YORK, March, 7.—The following are the remarks of Mr. Brainard before the Committee of Ways and Means last night on the moiety system. Cephas Brainard of New York said: "Never till now had the importers of the country dared to tell the story of oppression." In the course of his remarks he referred to a case in which he was counsel on a warrant from the Custom House. Eighty-three miscellaneous books and bundles of correspondence, with two boxes of papers were taken from a German importing house that had been in existence fifteen years. It was charged that the house had committed fraud on two invoices of hair cloth, one on the 29th of October, 1869, and the other on the 19th of October previous. A part of these books remain in the New York Custom House to-day. He could not procure the correspondence necessary to be used in the suits of these merchants. The seizing officer remained in charge of the store more than two months. They took away more than $75,000 worth of goods, including velvets, plushes, &c., on a warrant relating to hair cloth. Nineteen suits were brought against the merchants. His clients were thus outraged, and the consignees feeling it, the governments of France, Belgium and Prussia interfered through their representatives and asked the Treasury Department for an investigation. Mr. Brainard came here and with Baron Gerolt called on the Secretary, who explained the case, and felt as much indignation as any of them. On the 29th of December Mr. Brainard went to the Marshal's office to ascertain what had become of the books, and was informed that they had been sent to the Custom House. He found that they had been put into a room in possession of this informer Jayne and a clerk. He was told by them that they had looked at only one or two books, but had never before seen as bad a case of fraud. They said: "It had better be settled for $75,000. If it is not we will drive you men out of the market." Mr. Brainard's clients declared they could never pay that sum. Mr. Boutwell said he would give instructions to the District Attorney to examine into the subject, which was done, when the seventeen cases dwindled to two, and the matter terminated by the counsel giving a check for $1700. From this one case all could be judged. Mr. Brainard alluded to Mr. Jayne's testimony before the Congressional Special Committee in 1872, held in New York, and asked the Committee to read what Mr. Jayne said about threats. Mr. Jayne on that occasion said he never put handcuffs on persons to scare them. He never threatened; he read the law and told them they were liable to go to prison, and he said to them the better course would be to confess what a wicked thing it was to defraud the revenue. The best way was to tell what they had done; when that failed he read the terms of the law. Our polite friend, Senator Bayard, said to Jayne: "Have you exhausted your catalogue?" When Jayne replied: "I don't care to go into that field," but Phelps, Dodge & Co., who paid $270,000, went into that field. Mr. Brainard continued until adjournment, speaking against the system by which merchants are now outraged by special agents and their associates, the punishment coming to merchants before indictment and trial.

The Tribune states that Jayne, the informer, was for some time a clerk in the Paymaster's Department in Washington, but in 1867 was dismissed for defaming the characters of Paymaster General Brice and Major Brooke.

Treasury Balances.

WASHINGTON, March, 7.

The following are the Treasury balances to-day:—Currency, $5,246,362; special deposit of legal tenders for one to two years with coin, $11,000,000; special deposit of certificates of deposit, $51,240,000; coin, $84,246,933, including coin certificates $40,559,200; outstanding legal tenders, $382,000,000.

Indian Matters.

Gen. Sheridan in writing to Gen. Sherman, under date of 3d inst., expresses belief that the troops sent to the Red Cloud and Spotted Tail agencies, will be sufficient to so far intimidate the Indians, or the agencies, as to allow peaceful occupation. He thinks, however, that any other tribes than those represented in these hostilities would have commenced at the crossing of the North Platte River.

He believes that a majority of the Sioux have been preparing for hostilities two years back, and thinks it possible when spring opens we shall have lively times from well armed raiding parties, on the supposition of the belief that life and property will be safe. He hopes, nevertheless, that peaceful occupation of the agencies may lead to a better state of affairs.

Indian agent Saville telegraphs from the railroad agency under date of March 5, that the troops arrived there that day and everything was quiet. May Indians had left the agency. The force above referred to is that under Col. Smith, which left Laramie on the morning of the 2d inst.

Various Matters.

A. H. Stevens is still confined to his bed, and is very feeble.

Senator Boutwell is convalescent and rode out to day.

Architect Mullett has asked the House Committee on Appropriations for $1,500,000 for continuing the work on the new State, War and Navy departments.

Forty-Third Congress—First Session.

HOUSE.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 7.

The House engaged in general debate

Mr Beck of Ky., made a speech condemning the course of the Secretary of Treasury as illegal, and arraigning the government for putting $8,000,000 of the naval fund with Cooke, McCulloch & Co., in London, thus risking the losing of that amount, besides taking government funds from the substantial firm of the Barings and depositing them with political partizans such as Henry Clews, because they were the tools of the government.

Mr. Kelley, of Pa., reviewed the financial condition of the country and entered into an argument to refute certain statements made by Mr. Garfield relative to the repeal and modification of customs duties during the past five years.

Mr. Kelley illustrated the progress in wealth and population made by the country since the government issued the first paper money, and stated that the receipts of the government during eleven years, between 1863 and 1873 inclusive; were $3,628,000,000, being twice as much as had been received in the preceding 72 years, and that for the four years of 1866—7—8—9, the aggregate income of the government was not $27,000,000 less than the total sum that has been collected under the specie basis system of currency and the operation of free trade, which had prevailed with brief intervals from the foundation of the government. The account stood thus from the organization of the government to 1866, $1,660,278,545.66; during 1866—7—8—9, $1,033,404,703.85. He trusted that gentleman would consider and digest these facts. They were worth all the dogmas of sophists and doctrinaires that had ever been promulgated, and demonstrate that wicked absurdity of those who accused the government of maintaining a forced loan, and characterized the currency as lying and fraudulent.

In conclusion he said the gentlemen who are ever ready to ignore facts which cannot be reconciled with the theories they have inherited, say the wealth was unreal, that it was fanciful, that it will melt away when our currency is brought down to the hard pan of a gold basis. Mr. Kelley concluded by proposing a law in the direction of economy. He said it would be to borrow temporarily such funds as our people may be able to lend the government, on the condition that their money should be refunded to them on call and in consideration that it was received on this condition. It was simply his old and oft repeated theory.

Mr. Wood of New York, spoke on the question of moities. He said that public attention has recently been called to the subject of moieties, which are perquisits of government officials employed to protect the Treasury, outside their regular salaries, as a compensation or incentive to them to perform a duty which they take on oath to perform, to test their ability when receiving their appointments. There is no other country that pays its leading custom house officials anything like so much as we do. Nor is there any other commercial or maratime nation that affords to those officials the same facilities for accumulating enormous wealth as the United States.

In Europe the moiety system is abolished altogether. The regular compensation of the collector, naval officer, and surveyor of New York not including seizures or other perquisites may be fairly stated at $20,000 a year each. The duties devolved upon the officials are mostly performed by subordinates. A leave of absence could be granted them for six months without any detriment of public service. Until recently we paid the President of the United States but $25,000 a year, and I can see no reason why a custom house official with but little responsibility and no labor should be paid nearly as much.

They are each allowed one-sixth of all seizures, fines and penalties, derived from goods attempted to be imported in disregard of duties imposed by law. Whilst it is time that this feature in the revenue law is not of recent introduction, yet it is equally true that it has never before been carried to the extent to which it has been under this administration. Before the advent of Gen. Grant to power in no one year during the history of the government would the aggregate income of the Collector of New York exceed $20,000 to $35,000 a year including the salary, and yet the importations there defrayed more than two-thirds of the whole expenses of the government without any internal revenue whatever out new impelled avarice or partizans interest. Scarcely an importer in New York but is subject to espionage, surveillance and oppression. Under the slightest pretext whole cargoes are sought to be confiscated and the greed of the informers and spies of the government, who act as agents officials appears to have lost grounds. It is true that the complicated machinery created for collection of revenue and the crude tariff laws and the many amendments continually made to them by Congress appear to have invited this course. The errors of hasty legislation and the crude manner in which we create legal enactments in Congress afford ample scope for the ingenuity of those buzzards of prey who destroy property and reputation without compunction of conscience. The events of the last two years in New York and Boston prove one of two things: either that the revenue laws and mode of collecting the revenue are radically defective and should be amended or repealed or that the government has placed men to administer those laws who are a disgrace to the country. The evil is terrible and should at once be eradicated. It is well to understand that this question in no way involves tariff though it may emanate from it. It is immaterial for the purpose of its consideration whether the duties on imports are high or low. The evils which they claim are in the collection of taxes and in their execution by officials and agents subordinate to the Treasury Department, and it is not necessary to make imputations against any political party. In my experience I have found that bad laws and bad men are evils which no government should be held responsible in saying this. However, let me not be understood as intending to relieve the present administration of the shameful increase in the oppressive executions made upon the merchants of New York since it held the reins of power. The system of allowing moieties to informers and spies is not a new thing in this country. It has existed as long as the government itself.

He then referred to the tariff act of 1799, under which considerable smuggling was accomplished on the coast and claimed the subsequent laws of 1806 and 1867, relative to moieties, simply aggravated the difficulty without aiding the revenue.

The law of 1867 was rushed through Congress at midnight of the last days of the session. This law repealed all former laws that protected honest merchants, and conferred extraordinary powers upon the collector of customs and officials.

Mr. Wood then proceeded to show how a merchant could be entrapped in the toils of custom house officials on technicalities. The judges in all suits being parties who are pecuniarily in the result. He referred to the informer who bribes a clerk to betray the secrets of a merchant's counting room, besides bribing the clerk to make errors in order that seizures may be made, saying such outrages were committed.

It is said that recently the judge of the Southern district declared in relation to cases pending in that court for seizure that the government cases appeared to have collapsed. Of all that were on the calendar, only five or six have been tried.

It seems that when a little squeezing is brought to bear upon the defendents in these cases they disappear. What this squeezing is, may be well imagined. An intelligent writer in one of the leading papers of New York, thus refers to it:

He says the squeezing may be the hand-cuff process of detective Jayne, or the high moral pressure of District Attorney Bliss, whose fine intellectual principles would scarce stoop to the coarse process of the professional informer. Whatever it is, it has always proved effectual, as hundreds of plundered merchants could testify.

Mr. Wood, after referring to the enormous sums of money paid regular officials and informers up to last November, said: "These sums do not include the interests which officials in the cases pending in U. S. Court."

I have been furnished by an official with a statement of customs seizure cases on the calendar of that court February 24, 1874. They are twenty-four in number, for about $100,000 in amount, which together with a suit to recover of $100,000, makes an aggregate of about $200.000, of which these officers and informers would be entitled to one-half in case the prosecutions were successful.

I have reason to believe that since the agitation of this subject, other suits covering much larger schemes are in contemplation by government officers in New York.

For Boston the Secretary gives a statement only from March 1, 1869, to December 31, 1873. What his motive was for having included for New York the amount for a period interior to March 4th, 1869, is not given. This was all he was asked for by the resolution of the House, and why he should have gone back as far as 1803, for New York, and not for Boston, is also unknown. But his statement for Boston in principal is very much like that of New York. His reports of fines and penalties and forfeitures of March 1, 1869, to December 31, 1873, for port of Boston shows the whole amount received was $609,401.23; of which $305,247.92 was divided outside the treasury. Of this the collector received $50,816.80; naval officer. $50,-187.74; surveyor, $50.817.60; thus leaving $153,-428.18 to informers, most of which found its way into the hands of the invincible Jayne. Comment upon these facts thus officially communicated is unnecessary. The enormous sums received by those who have been clothed by official authority by the treasury department as spies and informers, are proof of the defect in the law, as well as in its administration.

It certainly cannot be necessary in this free government that our system so antagonistic to our institutions should exist. Where the inducement is so great for one to prey upon each other it is expecting too much of them to be withheld by any merely moral consideration clothed with power by the government and incited by avarice that class of men who may be called spies and informers are not restrained by any consideration. The class of men engaged in the business had no thought of the reputation of honesty, no restraint of conscience and no fear of consequences. The enlightened governments of Europe have long since abandoned this mode of securing revenue. Even Paris has discarded a practice which has become repulsive to Frenchmen. In these days of progress, intelligence and high moral principle this country of all others, should make haste to rid itself of all evils of this character. Public opinion will not long endure it. If we cannot collect our revenues and maintain the expenses of the government without resorting to practices which are darker than anything which occurred during the days of the Spanish inquisition, there must be something radically wrong. We had better institute a despotism at once and give it limited authority over the lives and property of the people.

He then referred to the passage of the bill authorizing the notorious Sanborn contracts, denouncing them as a secret agency unknown at the head of the bureau of internal revenue, and the grossest outrages had been committed under said contracts. The same species of intimidation and oppression was adopted by the custom house officials, their spies and reformers, and large sums were collected, one-half of which had gone into the pockets of these persons.

It will thus be seen that authority really conferred upon the Secretary of the Treasury has been used in violation of law authorized to employ three persons to assist the officers of the government in collecting revenue which heretofore had been evaded. His sole power was conferred to appointing persons to act in cooperation and in consultation with the existing official instead of which he conferred independent powers upon them, making them a contract allowing them fifty per cent. of the amount recovered and giving them secret instructions outside of and unknown to even the Commissioner of Internal Revenue himself, who is by law clothed with absolute authority over every thing appertaining to internal revenue.

The government does not know and of course Congress cannot know considering the character of the men employed, directly or indirectly, and the probabilities are that not one dollar in five of the amount recoved has ever found its way to the Treasury, but enough has already been reported which shows that these three persons have pocketed within three years at least $500,000 a piece. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue says that in his judgment not one dollar has been covered into the Treasury from these sources that could not have been as well collected by the regular officers of his bureau without any cost whatever for so doing, with ample power to have recovered every dollar belonging to the government and therefore that the creation of this authority outside and independent of him, has, whilst it has brought nothing in that would not have otherwise come, considerably hindered and embarrassed his own agents in the discharge of their official duties.

There is a secret information somewhere and it is not for me to say what is sufficient for today is the evil thereof. We have to deal with facts as they exist and so perform our duties as to remedy abuses of such a character. Upon my motion the Committee of Ways and Means have unanimously agreed to report a bill to repeal that section of the law to which I have referred which authorized the Secretary to make th appointments. When that bill is before the House for discussion I shall have something more to say upon this subject which I shall say without fear though it may be distateful to some of the members of the House. He concluded by arraigning the Republican party of dereliction of duty on fifteen different counts.

RUFFIANISM.

Murder and Suicide.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 7.—A terrible tragedy occurred in Wallingford, ten miles above this city, this afternoon. One John Anderson, a Swede, living in this city, had been a workman in the wheel factory of Hall & Parmelee in Wallingford, but had thrown up his job. He went up there on Thursday and assaulted one of the men who had been appointed in his place and was arrested. He was afterwards released on bail. He went up again this morning and entered the factory with two loaded revolvers. He first fired at the man who had taken his place, the second shot taking effect in the shoulder. He then shot Horatio Hall in the temple, then fired at the treasurer without hitting him. Then he went up stairs and shot himself in the head. He soon after came down and indiscriminately peppered at the workmen without injuring anyone. He then went out and cut his throat. He will probably soon die. Mr. Hall also cannot survive long.

A Cloth Thief—Attempt to Rob a Bank.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., March 7.—Before U. S. Commissioner Biddle to-day Wm. F. Bratly, a contractor, had a hearing upon an alleged charge of embezzling cloth from the U. S. Government and held in $5000 bail. The charge was preferred by Gen. Sockett.

Mr. Price, President of the Patterson National Bank, made his appearance at police headquarters in this city this afternoon and gave particulars of an attempted

School Statistics.

BY H. W.

'Twas Saturday night and a teacher sat,
Alone her task pursuing;
She averaged this and she averaged that,
Of all that her class was doing.

She reckoned percentage; so many boys,
And so many gir s all counted,
And marked all the tardy and absentees,
And to what all the absence amounted.

Names and residence wrote in full,
Over many columns and pages;
Yankee, Teutonic, African, Celt,
And averaged all their ages.

The date of admission of every one,
And cases of flagellation,
And prepared a list of the graduates,
For the coming Examination.

Her weary head sank low on her book,
And her weary heart still lower,
For some of her pupils had little brain,
And she could not furnish more.

She slept, she dreamed. It seemed she died,
And her spirit went to Hades,
And they met her there, with a question fair,
"State what the per cent. of your grade is."

Ages slowly had rolled away,
Leaving but parti traces,
And the teacher's spirit walked one day.
In the old familiar places.

A mound of fossilized School Reports,
Attracted her o servation,
As high as the State House dome, and as wide
As Boston since annexation.

She came to the spot where they buried her bones,
And the ground was well built over,
But laborers digging, threw out a skull,
Once planted beneath the clover.

A disciple of Galen, wandering by,
Paused to look at the diggers.
And picking the skull up, looked thro' the eye,
And saw it was lined with figures.

"Just as I thought," said the young M. D.,
"How easy it is to tell um,
Statistics ossified every fold,
Of cerebrum and cerebellum.

"It's a great curiosity, sure," said Pat,
"By the bones can you tell the creature?"
"Oh! nothing strange," said the doctor, "That
Was a nineteenth century teacher."

THE PORTLAND

Kerosene Oil Company

Would inform the public, that they continue to Manufacture

Portland Kerosene Oil

The prevalence of a large quantity of inferior and dangerous oils in the market, at a ch ap price—many of which are little better than Naptha itself—and the existence of false reports in regard to the PORTLAND KEROSENE OIL, renders it a matter of justice to ourselves, as well as safety to consumers, that some notice should be taken of these facts. Therefore, we again present an advertisement, and would call attention to the high standard o ur Oils. THE REFINED PETROLEUM, the fire test of which is 122; THE PORTLAND KEROSENE, the fire test of which is 125 degrees Fahrenheit, and often reaches considerably higher; also, we would say, that we are determined to maintain their long established reputation.

PORTLAND KEROSENE OIL COMPANY.

We quote from chap. 39 R. S. 1871, the title of said chapter being "Inspection and sale of Manufactured Articles."

SECT. 31. Every person and corporation engaged in manufacturing petroleum, coal oil or burning fluid shall cause every cask or other vessel thereof to be so inspected and marked, by a sworn inspector, And if any person manufactures or sells such oil or burning fluid not so inspected and marked in this State, or that has not been so inspected and marked as unsafe for illuminating purposes, he shall pay a fine not exceeding Five Hundred dollars or be imprisoned six months in the county jail, upon indictments therefor.

EXPLOSIONS.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec 24, 1873.

I SELDOM, if ever, pick up a newspaper without seeing, among the first items that arrest my attention, the record of a terrible boiler explosion. Very many causes are assigned for this loss of life and property. A great deal is said as to what should be done and what should not be done. But I scarcely ever hear it added that these explosions are due to an accumulation of Scale in the Boiler, and yet eight out of ten instances that occur in our midst are undoubtedly due to this cause.

Now, permit me to say that I manufacture a Composition that will readily and thoroughly remove this incrustation; and while I am constantly sending it over the United States, I exact no pay for its use unless it gives perfect satisfaction and fulfils all the claims I make for it.

My preparation will remove Scale from any Boiler, no matter how deep may be the incrustation, and at the same time it will prevent injury to the Boiler from anything which may be held in solution by the water contained in it. This article will absolutely prevent the formation of Scale if timely introduced.

The powder which I manufacture has been carefully tested by some of the ablest chemists in the country, and its fitness to keep iron clean and to preserve it has been demonstrated by them in the most satisfactory manner.

If you will send for my circular, with my terms and full particulars, or give me a call, I think I will be able to convince the most sceptical that this composition will justify all I claim for it.

Very respectfully yours,

GEO. W. LORD.

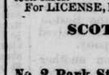
Valuable Farm for Sale!



The well known McIntosh Farm, situated in the town of Windham, near head of Duck Pond, and about ten miles from Portland. This farm contains about one hundred acres conveniently divided into mowing, tillage and pasturage; sixty acres under cultivation, cutting from 50 to 70 tons of hay per year, and with small outlay can be made to cut 150 tons. Connected with it is one hundred acres of wood and timber land. There is an orchard of 150 apple-trees, old and young on the place. The buildings are nearly new, the house having been built in 1866, at a cost of nearly $4,000; it is a large two story house with addition, in perfect order and condition, with convenient outbuildings, excellent cellar, a well of good water, and a spring of living water near the house. Barn 40 x 60 far in good repair. One side of the entire farm is fenced by the Duck Pond and most of the remainder by permanent fence. Every rod of field can be mowed by machine. This is one of the best and most desirable farms in Cumberland County, and there is none more valuable farm in Maine for stockraising purposes.

This farm will be sold for one half its value, about the cost of the building will buy it.

For particulars term of sale, &c., apply to COBB & RAY, Attys. at Law, No. 42½ Exchange Street, Portland, Maine. fe9d&wtf7
