GENERAL NEWS.

The ninety-eighth annual session of the New Hampshire Medical Society convened at Concord, yesterday.

Trinity church, recently completed at Lenox, Mass., was consecrated yesterday. Mrs. Frelinghuysen and family and ex-President Arthur's daughter were among those present.

The loss by the big fire in Danbury, Ct., is now placed at $150,000.

The graduating exercises at Wellesley College took place yesterday, the class numbering 66. Hon. W. C. P. Breckenridge, of Kentucky, whose daughter is a member of the graduating class, delivered the oration.

The officers of the National Fishery Association and American Fishery Union have passed resolutions commending the action of the Senate in the fishery treaty.

By the wrecking of a heavy freight train early yesterday morning, near Woodmont, Conn., the tracks of the New York & New Haven railroad were bladly blocked up. Mails and passengers were subjected to a long delay.

Twenty survivors of the crew of the steamer Kearsarge met at Gloucester yesterday to celebrate the sinking of the Alabama.

CONGREGATIONALISTS OF MAINE.

Opening of the Sixty-Second Annual Session at Rockland.

What Secretary Reynolds Says of the Cumberland Conferences.

The Work Among the Chinese in the State's Metropolis.

ROCKLAND, June 19.—The 62nd annual meeting of the general conference of the Congregational churches of Maine opened in the Congregational church in Rockland at 11 o'clock this forenoon. Deacon W. P. Hubbard was chosen moderator, and Deacon E. F. Duren, recording secretary. The committee on credentials reported 39 delegates thus far arrived. Rev. D. P. Hatch of Rockland, was introduced and made an address of welcome which was replied to by the moderator. Vacancies on the committee on nominations were filled by the appointment of Rev. O. W. Folsom of Sagadahoc county, and Rev. J. A. Jones of Cumberland county. A memorial was presented from the Cumberland conference concerning the Maine Missionary Society.

The report of the necrologist, E. F. Duren, was read and accepted. The following is an extract from the report of Rev. Laurison Reynolds, the corresponding secretary:

Cumberland North Conference.

Twenty churches, 2,715 members, 4 pastors, 6 acting pastors, 2 supplied by students, 6 pastors. The history of these churches is remarkable in the absence of revivals, and in the general healthy growth. Most of the churches have received on confession from one to ten. Pine street, Lewiston, has received some on confession at every communion but one for five years. The church in Freeport has received, during the first year of the ministry of Rev. C. W. Longren, eleven by letter and ten by confession. This church has a good working prayer-meeting force, which is much enjoyed by the pastor.

Much to the regret of both pastor and people, Rev. Arthur Shirley closes a brief but successful pastorate at New Gloucester.

Rev. E. S. Jordan has closed his labors at Cumberland Center, and Rev. Daniel Green is soon to begin.

The Sabbath school work is being pressed. Harpswell sustains two schools; Gray, three; New Gloucester, two. Turner is associated with the other churches in the village, three outside ones. New Gloucester has a home department to its Sunday school, with twenty-five who study the lessons at their homes.

Most of the churches have Young People's Societies of Christian Endeavor, which are highly spoken of by the pastors as developing the spiritual life and efficiency of their members.

The church in Yarmouth has a praying band, which holds meetings at the school house. In this church also there is connected with the pastor's class of young men, an association for mutual improvement. It holds monthly debates, and last winter gave a course of popular lectures, the proceeds from which, $70, was expended for Sunday school work.

North Yarmouth reports a deepened interest in all church matters on the part of the young people. South Freeport with 76 resident members, gains.

Deacon Isaac Haskell, one of the original members of the Sixth Street church, died in December. He was a devout Christian and a most efficient promoter of all the interests of the church.

Mmot Corner also sustains a heavy loss in the death of Deacon S. W. Shaw, who with marked ability and good judgment has looked after the general interests of the church for years.

The oldest member of the first church in Yarmouth has died. She was 95 years old, and had been a member of the church about 80 years, joining the church in Cumberland, when only 14 years old. This is one of the longest periods of church membership on record. It shows that there were churches 80 years ago which would open down to children. She was converted in a revival

Mr. Herbert Merrill of Bowdoin College a resident of Gray, who had consecrated himself to the foreign missionary work, and who was very efficient in all christian work, died in the winter.

This has been an interesting year of grace in Bowdoin College. Last year at the conference, a revival of the missionary spirit was reported. Whereas, Bowdoin College had not sent out a missionary for 25 years, five had consecrated themselves to the work. Perhaps as a result of this spirit of sacrifice and service this year, there have been 33 conversions among the students. The young men, Mr. Fisher says, have been faithful in former years. At the beginning of the present college year, there was a manifest spirit of reconsecration, and an earnest desire for God's blessing. This spirit was deepened by the attendance of a large delegation at the State Y. M. C. A. convention held at Rockland, and still further intensified by the remarks of President Hyde, at the dedication of a new and larger room placed at the disposal of the Y. M. C. A., by the faculty. This room will seat 90, and has been well-filled at all meetings and sometimes crowded. The spiritual life of the Christian students have been greatly quickened, and the new converts have maintained from the first an earnest, manly, Christian character, and have entered enthusiastically into the work of the association. Not only has the work been carried on independently by the College Y. M. C. A., but it also attempted evangelistic work in town, have rented the court room one evening in the week for that purpose.

Members of the association have visited the prayer meetings in town and have conducted a Sabbath afternoon service in chapel midway between Brunswick and Bath. As a result of this work, says President Hyde, there is hardly a college a strong and influential body of earnest Christian students who give promise of a positive religious life in the college in the near future and who will go out to become active, worthy members of churches in years to come. Mr. Fisher says the circumstances of the college have been unusually fortunate, in the administration, the personal influence of the faculty and in the kind of young men who have come to the college. The study of the New Testament in Greek has been introduced as a required study for the term of the freshman year, and next year and thereafter in accordance with a petition from the students there will be an elective course in the study of the Bible as a whole offered to the seniors. A new organ costing $1000, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stevens of Boston, is a great addition to the regular prayer service in the chapel.

Cumberland Conference

has 22 churches, 12 pastors, six acting pastors, 3641 members, 3962 scholars in Sabbath schools; average attendance, 2405. During the year Rev. George W. Reynolds has been installed at Gorham, and Rev. E. P. Wilson of Woodford's, the same council dismissing Rev. C. A. Marsh. The Free church in Deering has dedicated a house of worship free of debt. Preaching services have been conducted Sunday afternoons at the Free Baptist meeting house at South Windham, by the pastor at Cumberland Mills. Mrs. Elizabeth Merrill, aged 91 years, died at Falmouth. She had been for many years a member of the first church and hers was a useful, as well as a long life. The church at Gorham has been blessed under the labors of its new pastor, George W. Reynolds. A series of meetings was held in the winter, resulting in some 15 conversions, eleven of whom have united with the church. A Society of Endeavor has been organized with about 100 members. The church has lost several valuable members by death, among them Mrs. Taylor, one of the foremost in benevolence. She remembered the missionary societies in her will with a bequest of $500; Maine Missionary Society, $300.

The Warren Church, at Cumberland Mills, reports 18 additions for the past year, 13 of whom have been on confession of faith. The Sabbath School for 1887, averaged 239; for five months of this year it shows an average of 253, a gain over the corresponding period of last year, notwithstanding two new schools have been organized, and a third reorganized. Benevolence, $631, $536 of which went to our nine societies, including M. M. S. charitable societies.

For eight years the Second Parish Church, Portland, has exerted itself with much care and hard work to benefit the Chinese of the city. During the past winter a Chinaman having been converted was baptised and joined the church, the first fruit of this kind resulting from these eight years of labor. This church, the Second Parish of Portland, will observe its centennial on September 30th. Its pastor, Rev. C. H. Daniels, has declined a call during the year, to the High Street Church in Lowell. Miss Lucy A. Flagg, for many years teacher of the infant class, and also a greatly beloved worker among the poor of the city, has died. The benevolence of contributions of State Street Church were $6,812.

After the report of the corresponding secretary, Rev. George Lewis of South Berwick preached the conference sermon, the text being from Judges. iii: "Contend for the faith which was once for all delivered unto the saints."

This evening, after salutation from fraternal delegates, an address on foreign missions was given by Rev. C. C. Creegan, D. D., of New York.

Portland District Association.

SOUTH BERWICK, June 19.—The Ministerial Association of the Portland District, commenced its first session at South Berwick, Monday evening, June 18th. The preachers present were Rev. Messrs. I. Luce, D. B. Randall, A. W. Pottle, I. B. Lapham, K. Atkinson, W. F. Marshall, H. F. A. Patterson, F. A. Bragdon, S. Brown, J. M. Frost and N. T. Whitaker.

The opening sermon was preached by Rev. N. T. Whitaker. Text, II Timothy iii:13-17. The sermon was an exceedingly able and forcible presentation. Tuesday morning's session commenced at 8 o'clock. Rev. K. Atkinson conducted the opening services. The report from the churches represented a harmonious and prosperous state of affairs.

At 10 o'clock, Rev. B. Freeman presented a carefully prepared essay on the topic, "The Kingdom of Heaven; when, where and how." Dinner was served to the association in the church parlors, and all enjoyed a social time.

Free Baptists at Saco.

SACO, June 18.—The Free Baptist Maine western yearly meeting is in session here and will continue until Thursday afternoon. The session opened this afternoon with a large attendance of pastors and lay delgates from various churches in the western part of the State. Rev. J. M. Bailey read an essay: "The remedy for hobbies in the pulpit." Tonight Rev. L. Smith Harrison preached a sermon on "Christians, the light of the world." The business session will be held tomorrow morning. The ministers' conference, connected with the meeting, organized this afternoon with Rev. O. W. Waldron of Saco, president and Rev. J. M. Bailey of Saco, secretary.

MAINE.

Simon Proposes to Serve.

[Special to the Press.]

WATERVILLE, June 19.—Chairman Brown arrived from Portland this morning, where he was in conference with Hon. William L. Putnam and other leaders of the party. He He decided to call a meeting of the old committee at the Falmouth Hotel, on Thursday evening, to make arrangements for the carrying on of the campaign. Notwithstanding the resolution introduced into the convention authorizing the new committee to take charge of the campaign, Brown's committee propose to serve until the first of January.

Professor Warner Goes to Cambridge

FARMINGTON, June 19.—Prof. Charles F. Warner, for the past five years in charge of the scientific department of the Farmington Normal School, has resigned to accept one of the departments of physics in the Cambridge, Mass., High School and Manual Training School. He is a splendid teacher and this community greatly regrets their loss. This morning he was presented with an elegant gold-headed cane by the members of the class of '88 in the Normal School.

Fire at South Paris.

NORWAY, June 19.—Fannie Sawtelle's farm dwelling at South Paris was burned at 10 o'clock today. The cause is unknown. Loss, $1200; insured for $800.

Normal School Exercises.

FARMINGTON, June 19.—The closing exercises of the Farmington Normal School, began today with the examination of classes. Among those present were Hon. Tobias Lord of Standish, of Gov. Marble's Council; Trustees Merrill, Philbrook and Hinkley, Prof. R. Woodbury, principal of the Castine Normal School; Mr. Davis, of the Deering High School, and others. This evening the address to the graduating class was delivered by Principal Purington, in the Baptist church, before a good audience.

A Scratch on His Nose.

BANGOR, June 19.—Hancock street, in the suburbs of Bangor, is almost always filled with children, and across it the Bar Harbor branch trains pass. Monday night, a train in backing knocked down a two-year-old boy, and two Pullmans, two passengers, a baggage car and a locomotive passed over him. He lay between the rails, and the only injury was a scratch on his nose.

Sellon and Hayes.

BANGOR, June 19.—It is understood that on the recommendation of George E. Dame, both Sellon and Hayes have been dismissed from the postal service.

THE CONVENTION OPENED.

Eloquent Words by the Vice Chairman, Thurston of Nebraska.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 19.—When Chairman Jones, of the National Republican Committee, ascended the platform of the great auditorium in Chicago at noon today, to call the convention to order, he looked upon a scene unparalleled in the history of public gatherings in this country.

Every face can be seen without effort, and an audience of not less than 10,000 appears to be almost a countless multitude. The stage stretches from side to side of the hall, and accommodates in addition to the president's platform several hundred newspaper representatives. The decorations appear rather bewildering at first. The walls, ceiling and every post, pillar and panel is covered with flags, bunting and streamers, in varied designs and colors.

The Boston Home Market Club has planted a magnificent banner five feet long, just behind the stage, and it proudly floats, bearing in letters of gold upon a field of blue, the sentiments which appear to be uppermost in the minds of the delegates: "American wages for American workingmen, American market for American people, protection for American homes." This banner is marked by delegates as they come into the galleries and balconies. It is cheered time after time.

The doors were not opened until all of the interior arrangements were completed, and the vast crowd was kept waiting until two large bouquets of cut flowers and a floral shield had been nailed upon the chairman's desk, which bears in Greek letters this inscription, "James A. Garfield was nominated from this desk in 1880, and James G. Blaine was nominated from this desk in 1884."

Then the great crowd poured in, and soon the immense building was completely packed As Chairman Jones rapped the meeting to order he was received with great applause.

On opening the convention, Chairman Jones introduced Rev. Mr. Gonsaulus. In his prayer he made feeling reference to Gen. Sheridan, which was greeted with a burst of applause, which evidently jarred upon the preacher's sense of propriety, as was evidenced by the grave expression which stole over his features.

The call for the convention was read by Secretary Fessenden and references to the protection of American labor, to the accumulation of the surplus, to the demand for a free and honest ballot and fair count and the question of admission of territories were all loudly cheered especially that relating to the tariff.

Chairman Jones Speaks.

Chairman Jones stepped to the front of the platform and spoke as follows:

The Republican party may well be congratulated through its representatives here assembled upon the auspicious prospects that lie before it. Wise and couragious action by this convention will surely lead to victory in the campaign upon which we are about to enter. There can be no doubt to which side the great majority of votes will fall if each party be tried by its record; if the grand achievements of the Republican party be appreciated and the utter failure of the Democratic party be understood. The two parties are diametrically opposite. One favors progress, and the other retrogression. One lifts up, the other throws down. Thanks to Mr. Cleveland and his Southern allies, the Democratic party has thrown off, the disguise in which it has heretofore fought its battles in the Western States, and has boldly declared for British free trade and against American protection. This avowal has caused much jubilation in certain quarters of this country and in all of England, which has from the beginning been hostile to the industrial progress of the United States, but it has fallen heavily upon the ears of the patriotic portion of the Democratic party. However, we must not expect that this is the end of dishonest pretences. Deceit, fallacies and sophistry will again be resorted to and practiced. Therefore we should have a platform based upon true Republican principles, free from equivocation or ambiguity, and should nominate candidates who are the embodiment of those principles. The founders of this government saw that it was absolutely essential for self-preservation that the original 13 States should become united, for the purpose of protection and defence against alien acts and influences, as well as for economical and effective government. One of the first acts of the Federal Government was to provide for revenue and for the protection of the industrial interests of the country. All our early Presidents, from Washington to Jackson inclusive, advocated a tariff for revenue and for protection. And the great and patriotic statesmen of those days concurred in this policy. No man of note who was a lover of his country, down to Jackson's first term, entertained any serious doubts as to the constitutionality or policy of protecting the industries of the United States against foreign competition.

The tariff question was not considered as one embracing solely or chiefly the manufacturerers' interests, but one which broadly embraced the social condition of the laboring classes, the mutual interest of all home producers in the home market, and of the country's real independence. The British, who now shout free trade, protected themselves against all competition until they were masters of the commercial world, and until they realized that the United States, with its great natural advantages and by a moderate use of the same means, was becoming a formidable rival. It was only when Great Britain perceived something of the future of her American rival that she attempted to regain that control over this country by artifice which she was unable to hold or reclaim by force of arms.

After relating the history of the alleged alliance of the South with English manufacturers under the administrations of Van Buren, Polk, Pierce and Buchanan, Chairman Jones continued.

The Republican party vanquished the Democratic party, passed the homestead law, destroyed slavery, created the "mud sills," restored credit, redeemed the country and started it anew on the lines contemplated by the fathers. Today we occupy a much higher plane than any other people on the face of the globe. The Republican party believes that it is not necessary or right that we should be reduced to a common level with other nations, but that we should have the full benefit of all our natural advantages and the full enjoyment of our glorious heritage. The logical consequences of the theories of the Democratic party would have left this country with but a fringe of population on the waterways. Many of the leading Bourbon Democrats of today look upon the magnificent developments and the grand improvements of the nation, which are simply labor, genius and management crystallized as a rank, unnatural and unwholesome growth, and believe that we ought to go back to the days of ignorance, sloth and small things as quickly as possible.

Through the criminal folly of certain professed Republicans, and by fraud and duplicity on the part of the Democratic party, our honored and gallant standard-bearers in 1884 were defeated. Fortunately for the country, we still have the benefit of the wise laws passed by the Republican party, and still have a majority in the Senate, which majority has prevented unwise legislation. We are again confronted with this same Democratic party, the mother of all the evils from which this country has suffered, asking for the power to control and direct its future course, and we find that the same element which first led it astray by its malign influence and dominated it down to the grievous days of the rebellion is again in full control of its affairs. If a majority of the American voters favor the giving away of the home market, incomparably the best in the world, and the forcing of our people, now the most prosperous and happy on the face of the earth, into competition with and down to a level with the cheapest, poorest and most miserable of our foreign rivals, then Democratic revisionary doctrines will prevail. If not, the Republican party will resume its authority and successfully lead this great country, with its beneficent institutions, toward that sublime goal which all patriots believe to be its heaven-ordained destiny. I have no doubt of the result.

At this juncture Hon. John Thurston of Nebraska, who was yesterday chosen by the National Committee as temporary chairman, had moved up to the right of Mr. Jones, and the latter lost no time in introducing his successor. But no sooner had the spectators seen Thurston bow in response to the cheer of welcome than a broad shouldered delegate was on his feet in the Kansas section. He announced that Kansas had a candidate of its own for temporary chairman. Mr. Jones responded rather testily that the gentleman before them was temporary chairman. But the Kansas man was not to be suppressed so easily, and he said his colleagues declined to be responsible for the action of the National Committee (hisses), which it regarded as a great mistake, and it demanded a call of the roll in order that it might place in nomination Hon. William Warner of Missouri.

At this there was both applause and hisses but Thurston, without noticing the motion, began to deliver his address, thus establishing the precedent that the choice of National Committee for temporary officers need not be ratified by the convention. The Kansas man kept upon his feet, however, until he saw that this was not one of his fortunate days, and then he slowly and reluctantly resumed his seat.

Mr. Thurston's Speech.

After thanking the convention, not for himself alone but for the great and growing West which never disappoints the expectations of the Republican party, Mr. Thurston said:

I come from a State whose vast domain has been largely appropriated by the surviving veterans of the Army of the Republic under the beneficent provisions of the homestead and pre-emption laws enacted by a Republican Congress, and true to the recollection of the past, the homesteaders of the West still march on under the banner of Republicanism, in victory and defeat, in sunshine and storm, in prosperity and adversity. This mighty West retains the courage of its conviction and holds that devotion to principle, though it brings defeat, is better than success, achieved by broken vows and political dishonor.

We are met in national convention for deliberation and conference. The Republican party of the United States relies upon the wisdom of its assembled delegates for such action as will insure success. If we are prepared to honestly meet the supreme issues of the hour with a clear, fearless and ringing declaration of principles, and to nominate a ticket which will commend itself to the loyalty and intelligence of the country we can win grandly.

We enter upon the proceedings of this convention prepared to sacrifice individual judgment to the wisdom of the majority and to lay down personal preference on the altar of party success. When our candidates are chosen we will all join with heart and soul in a grand chorus of rejoicing and the rainbow of our harmony shall give certain promise of the glory of that victorious morning in November.

When the Democratic party at the close of the last Presidential election robbed us of a victory, honestly and fairly won, we patiently waited for the certain coming of justice. We hoped and believed that 1888 would right the great national wrong of 1884—right it not only for the Republican party but for the grand and glorious candidates whose names were the inspiration of that wonderful campaign.

The infinite wisdom of an all wise Providence has otherwise decreed. One of them, the citizen soldier, the warrior statesman, the Black Eagle of Illinois, has been summoned by the silent messenger to report to his Old Commander beyond the river, but although John A. Logan is dead in the body, he lives again in the illuminated pages of his country's most splendid history.

The other, that gallant leader, the chevalier of American politics, the glory of Republicanism and nightmare of the Democracy, our Henry of Navarre, is seeking in foreign travel the long needed relaxation and rest from the wearisome burdens of public life and service. With the sublime magnanimity of his incomparable greatness he has denied us the final pleasure of supporting him in this convention. Designing above all things party harmony and success he has stepped from the ladder of his own laudable ambition that some other man may climb to power. As his true friends we cannot—dare not—commit the political crime of disobedience to his expressed will, we cannot place him at the head of our ticket, but we will make him commander-in-chief, at the head of the forces in the field, and though James G. Blaine may not be our President yet he remains our uncrowned king, wielding the baton of acknowledged leadership, supreme in the allegience of his devoted followers, honored and respected by all honest and loyal men, the greatest living American and the worthy object of our undying love.

But the Republican party is not left without great men to place upon its ticket. We have that honest, able and experienced financier, statesman and Senator from Ohio, and his no less distinguished colleagues from Iowa and Indiana. Michigan and Wisconsin present to us gallant soldiers, while New York, New Jersey, Kansas, Connecticut and other States offer worthy and favored sons.

From this splendid galaxy of political stars we cannot choose an unworthy candidate.

The Republican party points with pride to the great achievements of its past, and offers as an earnest of its future faithfulness an unbroken record of services performed for freedom, union and national prosperity. It is preeminently the party of protection. It was born of an irrepressible desire to protect the slave from the lash of the master and to save our civilization from the blighting curse of its crime against humanity. It performed the sacred mission of protecting the republic from secession and later it succeeded in protecting the credit and currency of the nation. Its platform stands for protection to the population upon the American continent; stands for the protection of all governmental and international rights for restriction on invasion; stands for the protection of the ballot box from the crimes of intimidation and robbery; stands for the protection of home invention, home skill and home labor against the free trade heresies which would pauperize and degrade them all; stands for the protection of the people from unjust and oppressive exaction and combination of aggravated capital and corporate power; stands also for protection of both capital and corporations from combination and mob violence; and above all stands for the happiness of the American home. It welcomes to our shores the downtrodden and oppressed of every land, but it insists that the inestimable blessing of American citizenship purchased with the priceless blood of our heroes and martyrs shall be extended to those who are in accord with the fundamental principles of our government, and who will loyally support the sacred provisions of the constitution of the United States. It believes that Congress has power to save American civilization and morality from the leprosy of Asiatic Paganism, degradation and contagion. It maintains that the nation should extend benefits of free government to all true lovers of liberty, but it demands that the law of the land shall be a shield to those only who obey it, and that for the anarchist, Communist and the criminal, American justice has nothing to offer but the sword.

The reconstructed Democracy has now been in power nearly four years. Its administration has been satisfactory to those who hold office under it. Its loyalty has received the approval of every enemy of the government. The courage of its foreign policy has amused the gazing nations and pleased every coward. Its civil service has been so thoroughly reformed as to delight Mr. Higgins. Its justice to disable soldiers has won golden opinions from those who gave them their wounds. Its financial management has been safe because of its inability to destroy the resulting prosperity of the Republican legislation. Its unparalleled straddle of the tariff question has been a source of wonderment to "Gods and men." It is strong in the imbecility of "innocuous desuetude."

The session of the Republican party is not ended. The work of the Republican party will never be done until every American enters into his unquestioned inheritance of liberty, equal rights and justice, until representation in Congress is based upon votes freely cast and fairly counted, until adequate provision has been made for the helplessness and old age of the disabled veterans, and the widows and orphans of their dead comrades, and until those policies of government which bring about national and individual prosperity are firmly established.

The Republican party longs and prays for the coming of the millinum when in spirit and in truth Mason and Dixon's line will be blotted our forever, when fraternities and common interests unite us all, but when that glad time comes black and white must march side by side in the broad sunshine of safety and lie down to peaceful slumber in the untroubled shadows of protected homes. The Republican party turns to the new South with wide open arms. It offers loyal assistance in its development.

The great issue of the present campaign is that of the tariff. To the support of a protective tariff there will rise up an overwhelming army of intelligent, thoughtful and practical men, and the East, North and South will join hands together to forever exterminate in this republic the pernicious doctrine of free trade.

We remember that other great convention held in this city in 1860. We remember how it was inspired with wisdom and courage to select that great man of the people, that Moses who led us through the parted waters of the sea, past the wilderness of battle, over the Jordan of safety into the promised land. In 1884 we were driven back into the wilderness again. God give us wisdom to find another Moses who can limit our wandering to four years instead of forty.

Let us read the lessons of the mighty past rightly and hold its precepts dear. When Robert Bruce, King of Scotland, lay upon his dying bed he requested that his heart should be taken from his body and borne by knightly hands to the Saviour's sepulchre after his death. The Earl of Douglas undertook the sacred mission, and with the heart encased in a golden casket, set out upon his pilgrimage to the Holy Land. On the way thither he and his comrades were set upon by a host of Moorish warriors. Though they fought with all the valor of mortal man, they were driven back ward by sheer force of numbers, and their overthrow seemed certain. Douglas, drawing from his bosom the priceless casket, cast it far out into the midst of the oncoming host, and cried out, "Lead on heart of Bruce, we follow thee." And the Knights of Scotland, never defeated while following a Bruce pushed forward and won the day.

Let this convention find a Douglas. He will take the soul of our great leader into the golden casket of his love, and with it lead us on to certain and splendid victory.

Mr. Thurston closed amid storms of applause. When Mr. Thurston referred to Sherman as the possible choice of the convention, there were cries of "No," "No," and also a substantial round of applause. His reference to Blaine brought the delegates to their feet, hurrahing wildly. It was noticed that he refrained from mentioning the name of the soldier judge of Illinois.

Other Proceedings.

After silence had been restored the rest of the roll of temporary officers was read. This failed to be submitted to the convention for ratification but no objection was made to this course.

"Mr. Chairman," said ex-Congressman Horr, but at that moment the chairman pushed the electric button and the band struck up a medley of national air and Mr. Horr stepped back into his seat. When the music had ceased, Mr. Horr was recognized. He wanted, in behalf of the Michigan delegation to present to the convention a gavel made out of wood from the oak under which the Republican party was organized in 1854, in Jackson, Michigan. In accepting the gavel, Mr. Thurston said he would at once proceed to pound daylight out of the Democratic party.

Mr. Root, of Arkansas, moved that the report on temporary officers be approved, but the chair stated that this had already been done by the absence of objections. Mr. Root withdrew his motion.

Judge Moody, of Dakota, moved to allow Dakota 10 delegates, but was informed by the chair that the hall committee had already conceded what was asked for.

On motion of Gen. Bingham the rules of the House of Representatives were adopted and a resolution of sympathy with Gen. Sheridan was adopted by a rising vote amid cheers.

The petition of the old soldiers now in the city that they be allowed 200 tickets of admission to the convention was presented to the chair. It was ruled that the resolution would go to the committee on resolutions, but Mr. Lewis urged that the rules be suspended and the request granted.

Mr. Taft, of South Carolina, made a vigorous speech in favor of the suspension of the rules. The Democratic party, he said, was upon record as

The Albany Journal believes that if Depew is nominated the chances are ten to one that he will be elected and have forty-six votes to spare.

If the proclamation of the selectmen of Richmond and the proceedings in the Augusta police court on Friday are at all indicative of a state of affairs extending all over the State, the next legislature may be called upon to consider the relations of temperance and Jamaica Ginger.

Gov. Hill's veto of the electoral reform has brought upon his head the condemnation of the laboring men of New York. The Central Labor Union has adopted resolutions declaring that the veto was at the dictation of a corrupt political machine which foresaw in the reform the death of its political power. About the only political friends Hill has left are the rumsellers.

There appears to be reasonable grounds for hope that Gen. Sheridan will recover. Manifestly he is a good deal better than he was a week ago. His pulse, respiration, appetite and general condition have all improved. The attacks of heart failure, which several times so nearly ended his life, have ceased. He is irritable and exacting and this the physicians consider a good sign. Of course he is not out of danger—of very great danger—but the progress at the present is in the right direction.

We may well believe that Gladstone's touching words on the death of the German Emperor and his expressions of sympathy for the widowed Empress came from the heart. Of all the members of the English royal family, the wife of Frederick is said to be the only one who has sympathized with Mr. Gladstone's liberal views; and she is credited not only with being in sympathy with them but impressing them upon the mind of the late Emperor. It is certain, too, that Frederick was a man of liberal views; and, all questions of regard for the Empress aside, his untimely death would of itself make a profound impression on a character like that of Gladstone.

The State Board of Health of Pennsylvania have, in a series of resolutions, paid especial attention to leprosy, scarlet fever and diphtheria, the three contagious diseases which they consider the most dangerous to the public. They notice the escape of the leper from the asylum at Tracodie, N. B., into the United States, and call attention to the spread of the disease and the necessity for dealing with it summarily. It is undoubtedly a matter of considerable public concern that this calamity-bearing wretch is abroad. The authorities of New Brunswick seem quite certain that he came into the United States, in which case it is not improbable that he came within the borders of the State of Maine. If so, where did he go and what became of him? This is a question of considerable importance.

What the Hon. William Emery, Democratic candidate for Congress from the First district, and the Hon. S. S. Brown, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Third district, and the Hon. Thomas J. Stewart, Democratic candidate for Congress from the Fourth district, who met in conference in this city on Monday, talked about, is not disclosed. Presumably, however, they conversed on the question of getting there, and sought to devise ways and means of achieving that end. If the gentlemen took down the Maine Year Book during their consultation and ascertained the majorities under which their predecessors of two years ago were buried, a very decided chilliness and want-to-go-home feeling must have seized them, and the recollection that this is a Presidential year, when the full Republican vote is certain to be out could not have relieved their feelings.

In a speech in 1872 Uncle Bandanna Thurman declared: "My friends, you will never have any genuine reform in the civil service until you adopt the one-term principle in reference to the presidency. As long as the incumbent can hope for a second term he will use the immense patronage of the government to procure his renomination and secure his re-election." No longer ago than 1884 Grover Cleveland portrayed in striking language the demoralizing effects upon the public service of the unhallowed ambition for second terms. Thurman is getting old and it is not to be wondered at that his memory is failing him. And Cleveland has found the Presidency a land of the lotos-eaters, where a taste of the delicious fruit called patronage has effaced all memories of past professions so thoroughly that even the shrill Mugwump protestations fail to recall them. But old age and recklessness are not the best excuses for glaring inconsistencies.

The Republican Convention.

The Republican National convention organized yesterday and completed a part of the preliminary work. Of course yesterday's proceedings threw no light upon the all-absorbing question of the candidate, nor is there much satisfaction to be got on this point from conversations with the representatives of the various "booms." Each boomer is apparently loyal to his boom, and putting in his biggest licks in its behalf. It cannot be said that any candidate has made any considerable gain since the delegates assembled. The strength of each ebbs and flows somewhat, but the average is about the same, and will continue to be until after one ballot at least. Sherman still leads in the number of delegates pledged to him, but it is not to be inferred that on that account his chances for securing the nomination are better than the chances of the other candidates. Gresham's strength appears to have declined somewhat, though it may be but temporarily. Depew seems to be assured of the vote of New York on the first ballot, but the Northwest still continues to oppose him, and there is a feeling that his support from the Empire State is not altogether sincere. The most curious candidacy is that of Mayor Fitler of Philadelphia, who is put forward not as the "favorite son" of Pennsylvania, but as the "favorite son" of Philadelphia. The purpose of Fitler's appearance is a mystery. Nobody supposes that he is brought forward as a serious candidate, but it is suspected that he is being used to prevent or promote certain combinations in the interest or to the detriment of some other candidate. Gov. Alger's "boom" is a little more retiring than it was; and is not relying so much on brass bands and shouting. The name of Harrison is being urged with a good deal of favor both east and west. That there is a strong under current in the convention setting toward Blaine is evident to the most casual observer. That that current may prove irresistible and carry the convention en masse for him is among the possibilities certainly, if not among the probabilities. The genuineness and spontaneity of the feeling cannot be doubted. It finds vent in shouts and hurrahs for the Maine statesman. The Pacific coast delegation are so thoroughly imbued with it that they threatened to cast their votes for him on the first ballot, and were only turned from their purpose by the persistent opposition of some of Mr. Blaine's friends from Maine. Enthusiasm for Mr. Blaine is everywhere.

CURRENT COMMENT.

A DOCTOR MAY BE REQUIRED.
[Boston Globe.]

Dr. Sir Morell Mackenzie had better stay in Germany a while yet. The young emperor shows alarming symptoms of enlargement of the head, and the doctor's skill may be required to reduce the swelled top piece to normal size.

THE NORTH STAR STATE AND THE TARIFF.
[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

Knute Nelson will not be returned to Congress from the Fifth district of Minnesota. The Republicans have nominated another man in his place for the Fifty-first Congress. The North Star State doesn't want the sort of tariff reform asked for by the Democratic party.

THE 417 NEEDFUL.
[New York Tribune.]

The man who gets the nomination at Chicago will probably need 417 votes. The National committee has decided to treat Dakota and Washington as if their claims to Statehood had been recognized by Congress. Instead of two delegates each they will have ten and six respectively, making in all 832 members of the convention.

AN OLD FASHIONED SEPTEMBER MAJORITY.
[Machias Union.]

Mr. Burleigh is no untried man; on the contrary, his long experience in the various offices with which he has been honored, and the fidelity and ability with which he has discharged his obligations to the people eminently qualifies him for the proud position of Governor of the Dirigo State. Although there are defeated aspirants for the honor, there will be no gaps in the Republican ranks. Maine is going to give one of her old-fashioned majorities in September, and in the national contest that is to follow she will march at the head of the majestic column that is to wrest the country from the grasp of Democracy.

THE PARTY FULLY AWAKE.
[Oxford Democrat.]

As Ex-Gov. Robie well says, it is much better to have such a convention as Tuesday's than a tame one. No one who attended that convention can doubt that the Republican party in Maine is fully awake. Of course, after such a warm contest as that between the candidates for nomination, it is natural that some should be disappointed, but the contest was not carried on, as some of our Democratic friends profess to believe, with that bitterness of feeling which causes a bolt. The Republican candidate is one whom we may be proud to follow. He will receive the united support of the Republicans of Maine, and will be elected by a handsome majority in September.

PERSONAL AND PECULIAR.

A railroad running through Emanuel county, Georgia, recently killed a razor-back hog belonging to a widow, and she entered a suit for damages for the value of it. The railroad won the case, it being shown that the proper signals were blown and the precautions taken, and the plaintiff was sorely distressed about the result. She had converted the pig into lard, and as the road would not pay for killing him, she bestowed the remainder of the porker on the company. On a dark night she took the pot of grease, and proceeding to the track of the company coated the rails with a liberal daub of grease for about a quarter of a mile. It took all the sand that the engines could bring to bear on the track for two days to tide over the spot which crippled traffic. Now the widow is threatened with a law suit.

The London Daily News has this about a very popular game: "Like almost every other game, whist has large elements of chance, and against good cards skill cannot often prevail. Enthusiasts have been casting about for some time for a method by which the element of luck can be eliminated. In order to effect this object a plan has been drawn up for whist tournaments, the basis of which is that each side shall play with the same cards, and that at the end of a series of rubbers each side shall count up what they have made, the victors, therefore, gaining by skill and not in consequence of the number of honors and leading cards which may happen to have been dealt to them. The method proposed is this: There shall be two quartettes, sitting in different rooms; and supposing that Oxford meets Cambridge for a whist tournament, there shall be two Oxford men and two Cambridge men in each room. After the first hand has been played, those who have played it give way to the other quartette, two Oxford men then sitting down to the cards which have been played by the Cambridgemen, and vice-versa. But, it will be asked, how can it be insured that the same cards are played twice over? The answer is simple. When played, the cards are not to be thrown together in fours, but are to be turned down on the table lengthways by the winner of the trick, and sideways by the losers. The points are counted in the hand, and as each party plays the same number of rubbers, having each played twice with the same cards, the result is the triumph of the skilful side and the defeat of the inferior players. The inventor of this improvement—if it is an improvement—upon whist is understood to be a doctor residing in the North of London, no mean player himself, and, like all good players, anxious for skill and knowledge of the game to prevail against the brute force of strong cards.

A Divorce Case Fixed Up

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

A well known lawyer told me a few days ago of a story of a late experience.

"I've had a funny case lately. It was a divorce case, and I was counsel for the lady. I never heard two people to abuse each other so. I never knew two people to make such a bitter, hard fight as those two. The property was considerable, and I had it tied up with an injunction. All efforts to compromise were no good. At last I thought the man was trying to cheat the woman, so I stopped negotiating for a compromise and prepared to put the case into court. The lady came to see me.

"'It's no use madam. I'm going to put the case straight through the court.'"

"'I wish you would; it's what I want. I never will compromise with that man—never never, never!'"

"All right. You will call here at 10 o'clock tomorrow, and we will see about the witnesses."

Next morning at 10 o'clock she was there. She was nattily dressed, in great style, and she sat down with a pleased assurance.

"Well, madam, let us proceed."

"I want that case dismissed."

"Dismissed! How is that?"

"Well, we've fixed it."

"You have?"

"Yes. It's all settled."

"May I ask how you settled it?"

"Well, last night he came up to my rooms. The door was locked, and when he knocked I said, 'Who's that?' 'It's me.' 'You can't come in.' He kept knocking. I told him he couldn't come in, and he knocked harder, and I told him louder he couldn't come in, and he kicked the door down and came in, and we sat down and fixed it all up."

A Spring Riot.

[Detroit Free Press.]

"Meet with an accident?" asked a policeman of a farmer on the market, yesterday, with one of his eyes in deep mourning.

"Yes, sorter."

"Fall out of a tree?"

"Not exactly."

"Stick of wood fly up?"

Hardly. A couple of days ago two chaps came along in a buggy and wanted to sell me 100 feet of wire clothes line for seventy-five cents. I bought it and then they wanted me to sign a paper recommending its use. When I got ready to sign I found it was a note for $100.

"And then?"

"Didn't feel the ground tremble in town that day did you?"

"I don't remember."

"It was probably too far. I waded into 'em. They waded back. In the scrimmage I got this."

"And they got off scot free, I suppose?"

"Do you? Well, there's a town doctor riding out to see 'em every day, and my naybur has drawed up wills for 'em. Mebbe an old farmer with a sled stake hain't of any account in a spring riot, and mebbe people nine miles away heard him whoop as he went in for blood! Want a bag o' taters this morning?"

WARM WEATHER

Is at hand and families will soon flock from the city to their summer homes. We wish to announce that our system of delivery enables them to buy their supplies of us as well as when living in town. At most of the inland and seashore resorts it is difficult to supply the table with choice fresh goods from the local trader. Even if procurable the prices are generally so high that those purchasing their supplies of us are well repaid. All goods will be neatly and securely packed and delivered, freight paid at your nearest railroad station or steamboat landing. We guarantee the goods to reach you in perfect order, and anything proving unsatisfactory can be returned at our expense and money will be refunded.

TO THE HOLDERS OF
United States 4 1-2 Per Cent Bonds,
DUE 1891.

We beg to call your attention to the fact that the above mentioned United States Bonds at the present price yield only

Two and One-quarter Per Cent

(2 1-4) interest, and that as they approach maturity the price will decline until the whole premium will be wiped out.

We therefore advise the holders of these Bonds to sell or exchange them for other securities. We have on hand a desirable list of City, County, Railroad and Water Bonds, suitable for Trust Funds, and would be pleased to have the holders of the above mentioned Bonds communicate with us.

will be paid at our office on presentation. We would also invite the attention of holders of Portland 6s, due Nov. 1888,
—AND—
State of Maine 6s, due 1889,
[which have now only ONE YEAR more to run] to the importance of availing of the premium which can now be realized upon them, as a few months hence they will command no premium at all. We think it is also important to convert the United States 4 1-2 Per Cent Bonds,
[which now have but little over THREE YEARS to run]
in order to obtain the present high premium which must gradually and surely become less as they approach maturity. We are offering some excellent securities which we can recommend to holders of above bonds, or in exchange for any other securities soon to mature, and we shall be happy to communicate or confer with them regarding such exchange.

WIT AND WISDOM.

She wanted to take some lessons in archery, but she was very, very verdant.

"Have you a bow and quiver?" asked the teacher.

"Ye—ye—yes," she hesitated, "I have a beau, but I haven't any more. He's been coming for two months now, and I'm used to it.

Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia and too hearty eating, is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

Dying Benedict—I bequeath every dollar to my wife. Have you got that down?

Lawyer—Yes.

Benedict—On condition that she marries within a year.

Lawyer—Why insist on that?

Benedict—Because I want somebody to be sorry that I died.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. See advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

A good Baptist minister was disturbed very late one night by the violent ringing of his door-bell. Putting his head out of the window, he shouted, "Who's there?"

"Pat Murphy, yer honor."

"What's wanted?" asked the minister.

"I want to be married to Kate O'Leary, and she's here wid me."

"Why didn't you go to the priest?" questioned the minister.

"Ah! sure, yer honor, an' didn't we go to the praist; an' didn't he tell us to go to the devil, and then we came here."

Clinging to the Last.

The virus of rheumatism often remains in the system through life, when it does not cut the thread of existence suddenly, as it is always liable to do by attacking the heart. Ere the grip of this tenacious disease tightens, it should be unloosed by that beneficent liberator from disease, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which will free the sufferer at the outset from subsequent pain and danger. No purer or more agreeable blood depurent exists, as multitudes of the rheumatic and neuralgic have ascertained by certified experience. It is through the medium of a regular action of the kidneys and bladder that an outlet is afforded for the escape of impurities which beget not only rheumatic, but gouty ailments, and dropsical effusions. To these organs the Bitters gives an impulse, never verging on the bounds of irritation, but sufficiently vigorous to cause them and the bowels to perform their functions with clock-like precision. Use it also for dyspepsia, biliousness, fever and ague and debility.

"What do you think of it, darling?" said the young husband, when he and his lovely bride of three days had stood for some moments gazing in silence at the majestic beauty of Niagara Falls.

"O, John!" she exclaimed in a thrilling tone, her beautiful eyes dilating with wonder, and her hands clasped in an ecstacy of delight; "Isn't it too jolly for anything!"

SORE FROM KNEE TO ANKLE.

Skin entirely gone. Flesh a mass of disease. Leg reduced one third in size. Condition hopeless. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

For three years I was almost crippled with an awful sore leg from my knee down to my ankle; the skin was entirely gone, and the flesh was one mass of disease. Some physicians pronounced it incurable. Which had been diminished about one third the size of the other, and I was in a hopeless condition. After trying all kinds of remedies and spending hundreds of dollars, from which I got no relief whatever, I was persuaded to try your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and the result was as follows: After three days I noticed a decided change for the better, and at the end of two months I was completely cured. My flesh was purified, and the bone (which had been exposed for over a year) got sound. The flesh began to grow, and to-day and for nearly two years past, my leg is as well as ever it was, sound in every respect, and not a sign of the disease to be seen.

Terrible Suffering from Skin Diseases.

I have been a terrible sufferer for years from diseases of the skin and blood, and have been obliged to shun public places by reason of my disfiguring humors. Have had the best of physicians and spent hundreds of dollars, but got no relief until I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, which have cured me, and left my skin as clear and my blood as pure as a child's. FOOD SUPPOSITORIES.

MURDOCK'S RAW FOOD

Each one contains 1-2 oz. of Murdock's Liquid Food.

For Nourishment and Support in all Cases where the Stomach Refuses Food.

In Wasting Diseases. In Severe Vomiting from any Cause. In Constipation, Dyspepsia, Fevers, Seasickness. After Severe Surgical Operations.

When sick, and the stomach is unable to retain food, you will find the Suppositories a great benefit, as they will nourish the system and rest the stomach so that it will be able to retain food in a few days, and quicker if five or ten drops four times daily, and increase to a teaspoonful, be taken of Murdock's Liquid Food.

When we remember that a large per cent, of all food is digested by absorption in the intestines, and knowing the value of Murdock's Liquid Food in making new blood when taken by mouth, we say that each large Suppository contains as much nutrition as a full quantity of Liquid Food if taken by mouth, we can say no more than recommending the Suppositories than that the daily use of them in our Free Surgical Hospitals for Women, containing 112 beds, confirms our claim

Advice to Mothers.—MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it prodnces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub, awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes Twenty-five cents a bottle.

A WARNING.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the Throat and Lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of Tubercle Germs into the system, and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly, and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat, and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs, producing Consumption, and to the head, causing Catarrh. Now all this is dangerous, and if allowed to proceed will, in time, cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous, and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief. nov8-d1y-eT

A Portland Lady's Book.

The Congregational Sunday School and Publishing Society have recently published a little book entitled "Adelaide, the Story of a Woman's Life and Work," by Mrs. Elizabeth M. Rowland, who as Miss Elizabeth Gould, was well known in Portland. It is the history of a short life through which was revealed a singularly bright and beautiful Christian character. The story is a "true story" of a Maine woman, and includes brief records of experiences in mission work among the negroes in the South during the last year or two of the war, and of unusual phases of life and Christian work in a manufacturing town in Pennsylvania after the war. The sketch was written, however, with a religious purpose. Its object is to preserve the memory and extend the influence of a strong and winning character, the whole impulse and inspiration of which came through faith in Christ. The author has told the story in a charming way, with great vivacity of style and evident sympathy with the character she is depicting. (For sale by Loring, Short & Harmon.)

Union Station.

Beginning Monday, the trains of the Boston & Maine, both divisions, of the Maine Central, and of the Portland & Ogdensburg will run to and from the new Union station.

Mr. M. L. Williams, station and general agent, will on Monday noon go into an office in the new station with his clerks, while his old office at the Commercial street station will be used by the station agent at the old Congress street station. The old Congress street station will for a time be occupied by Payson Tucker, superintendent of the Maine Central, with his clerks, and by Train Despatcher Hall and his assistants. Supt Hamilton, of the Portland & Ogdensburg, and his clerks and telegraph operator will have an office in the new station.

Visit of Ivy Lodge.

Monday evening Star Lodge, D. of R., of Brunswick, entertained Ivy Lodge of Portland. There were 65 visitors and they were greatly pleased with the entertainment offered, which consisted of a collation of strawberries and cream and ice cream and cake, and solos by Mrs. Knight, Dr. Cumston, Misses Lizzie Harrigan and Mattie Gahan, reading by Mr. Dennett of Lewiston, cornet solos by Mr. Ernest Crawford and Mr. Hubbard, and selections by a quartette. Mr. Charles E. Townshend presided. Remarks were made by Grand Secretary Davis and N. G. I. O. Smith, and Mr. Butler favored the gathering with a song.

I. A. R. A. Picnic.

Boats for the Irish American Relief Association celebration at Long Island today will leave at 10 a. m. and 1.30 p. m. All members without tickets should procure them early this morning. Should the day be stormy the event will take place tomorrow.

CENTRAL PARK SPRING.

A Beautiful Summer Resort in North Yarmouth.

Central Park Spring is situated in the most beautiful part of the picturesque town of North Yarmouth, 125 rods from the Maine Central railroad and half a mile from the Grand Trunk station. A pleasant drive of fourteen miles from this city will take one to the beautiful hill, wooded with beech, rock maple and oak trees from the side of which, about a third of the way up, from a fissure in the solid granite, gushes the sparkling water of the wonderful spring above mentioned. A PRESS reporter visited the spot yesterday in company with the owner, Mr. E. C. Chase, of Woodford's, and drank of the delicious water which has been analyzed by Prof. S. K. Hitchings and found to contain 2.14 grains of mineral matter to the gallon. Prof. Hitchings says: "The water contains chloride of sodium, chloride of magnesium, bicarbonate of magnesium, bicarbonate of lime, bicarbonate of iron, a trace of bicarbonate of strontium, sulphate of potash, phosphate of sodium, alumina and silica. It also contains a large amount of dissolved gases which make it sparkling and more palateable. It is entirely free from injurious organic matter. On the whole it is one of the purest waters that I have ever examined and best suited for drinking."

On the summit of the beautifully wooded hill, on the side of which this remarkable spring is situated, Mr. Chase is going to erect a hotel and make of Central Park Spring, the name of the hill and the surrounding locality, a first-class summer resort, with play grounds, parks, etc. In this undertaking, considering the remarkable beauty of the place, the spring and the proximity of two great railroads, Mr. Chase will undoubtedly be highly successful. The scence from the hotel when it is completed, will be worth going a long distance to see. From it to the westward extends the beautiful Gray valley, a little to the left the White Mountains tower on the horizon, and nearer Walnut hill and village. The fertile valley of Royal's river extends toward the east from the very foot of the hill which is washed by the waters of this stream; Portland, the ocean, Yarmouthville, Yarmouth village are also in ken, and gazing around the horizon one overlooks the towns of Yarmouth, Freeport, Pownal, Gray, Cumberland and Falmouth. Nature has done most everything to make Central Park Spring an exceptionally beautiful and desirable summer resort, and Mr. Chase intends to do the rest. Picnics will be held there this summer and excursions from the city and way stations will probably be made there after this month. Work is now in progress on the grounds, and there will be a grand opening there next season.

That his guests may enjoy greater freedom and have the exclusive privilege of the extensive and beautiful wooded and open ground in the immediate vicinity, Mr. Chase has bonded, in addition to the 70 acres that he owns, a large tract of land extending to the Maine Central railroad on the westerly side of the hill. This land includes a valuable granite quarry and a gravel bank.

The spring water has long been prized by the neighbors, and yesterday while the reporter was there numbers of persons from different parts of the town came with jugs and cans which they filled and carried home.

PERSONAL.

Benjamin F. Butler will be at the Poland Springs house the 10th of July.

Dr. John Buzzell and family have gone to West Baldwin for a two week's vacation.

E. C. Allen, of Augusta, was at the Falmouth Hotel last night.

Mr. Edward H. York, of the firm of Woodbury & Moulton, has arrived home from his European trip.

Mr. D. H. Young, formerly of this city, but now of Lincoln, Neb., arrived in this city yesterday morning for a short visit.

Mayor C. F. Bragg, of Bangor has has been chosen Supreme Prelate at the session of the Supreme Lodge, Knights of Pythias, now being held in Cincinnati.

Captain Greene Sprague, of Auburn, died yesterday morning aged 82 years. He was the father of Silas Sprague, Esq., register of deeds for Androscoggin county.

Mr. Edwin Cobb, postmaster at Willard, died Monday morning at his residence at that place, after a long illness, from consumption. He had been postmaster for about six years and was an efficient official.

On Thursday Mr. L. T. Boothby, of Waterville, will celebrate his 70th birthday at his Waterville home. His brothers, C. H. Boothby, of Livermore, and David S., of Auburn, with their wives and his two sons, Col. W. A. R. and Col. F. E. and wife, of Portland, and his daughter, Mrs. W. H. K. Abbott and husband, will be present to help make the occasion enjoyable.

Col. Elliot F. Shepard, of the New York Mail and Express, is expected to create quite a sensation at Bar Harbor this season. He has leased two elegant residences, Highbrook and Stanwood, the latter the property of Mr. Blaine. Col. Shepard will live at Highbrook and entertain at Stanwood, thus making a new departure in the way of social life. He will have ten horses, "morning" "noon" and "evening" spans, and the remaining four horses to be used for the saddle.

Fraternity Reunion.

Yesterday was a delightful day for an excursion to the islands, and the second annual reunion of the Portland Fraternity at Long Island was blessed with all that makes a reunion a success. There was a good attendance of members, and the day passed in a most pleasant manner. After arriving at the island, music, dancing, foot ball and other games were indulged in, and at the proper time a delicious shore dinner was served. The sports of the day were not discontinued until a late hour, when it became necessary to take the boat for the city. To the committee that had charge of the reunion much credit is due for the pleasing manner in which the exercises of the day were conducted.

Illness of Col. W. C. Stevens.

Col. W. C. Stevens, editor of the Express, was taken with a serious nausea at the office yesterday afternoon, and the ambulance was sent for. Col. Stevens was taken to his residence at Hotel Fitch, Park street, and Dr. John Merrill attended him. Dr. Merrill was not prepared to state last night how serious Col. Stevens' illness was. It might be simply a severe case of indigestion caused by walking in a hot sun, and then eating a hearty dinner, followed by another walk in the sun and work in a confined office. There was apparently some brain disturbance. Capt. Stevens was helpless last night but perfectly conscious.

Visiting Masons.

St. John Commandery of Bangor, Eminent Commander Sir D. W. Maxfield, will leave Bangor at 7.15 a. m., June 22d, arriving at Lewiston at noon, where they will be the guests of the Lewiston Commandery. They will leave Lewiston Saturday, arriving in Portland at noon, where they will dine at the new Union station, and then take the train for the mountains, where they will spend Sunday, Monday the Commandery will leave the mountains, reaching Portland at noon. Here they will be entertained by St. Alban Commandery, Eminent Commander Sir F. R. Farrington, probably with a clam bake at the islands, and will leave for home at 5.10 p. m.

The York Society.

The York Society are early in the field, planning for their annual excursion and dinner. There is a very general feeling in favor of finding some good place in York county and the executive committee meet today at 11 o'clock at the office of Hon. William F. Lunt to deside on time and place.

A. O. H. Election.

The Second Division of A. O. H., held their annual meeting last night and elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

President—Francis D. Melaugh.
Vice President—W. W. McIntyre.
Recording Secretary—C. A. Mannix.
Financial Secretary—B. J. McCafferty.
Treasurer—T. E. Hartnett.

Young Men's Republican Club.

There will be a special meeting at the Club Rooms this evening at 8 o'clock to make arrangements for a flag raising, to elect new members and to transact general business.

PORTLAND COMMANDERY.

How They Celebrated Bunker Hill Day.

Portland Commandery had a grand good time at Charlestown on Bunker Hill Day. Monday morning the visiting fratres were early astir, and at 8 o'clock were in line in front of their respective headquarters. Cœur de Lion Commandery arrived promptly, and after formally receiving Portland and Dunlap Commanderies on Hanover street, Boston, the three commanderies marched via. Brattle and Washington streets, Haymarket square, Haverhill street, Warren Bridge and Main streets to the Masonic Hall on Thompson square, Charlestown.

Portland Commandery, Sir Knight J. E. Sawyer, Eminent Commander, 100 Sir Knight, headed by Chandler's full band, escorted Em. Sir Jos. A. Locke, Grand Commander; Em. Sirs John E. Avery, Grand Captain General; Thomas P. Shaw, Grand Senior Warden, and Rev. Sir William E. Gibbs, Past Grand Prelate. Dunlap Commandery of Bath, Sir Knight F. A. Palmer, Eminent Commander, 60 Sir Knights, headed by the Togus Band, escorted V. Em. Sir E. M. Fuller, Deputy Grand Commander; R. Em. Sir John W. Ballou, Past Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery, and Em. Sir W. D. Mussenden, Past Commander of Dunlap Commandery; Em. Sir C. G. Carleton, Commander of St. Omer Commandery of Waterville, and Em. Sir C. H. Mallett, Commander of Damascus Commandery of Jacksonville, Fla.

Before leaving their headquarters the Sir Knights of the several commanderies had been supplied with ribbon badges, souvenirs of the occasion as issued by Portland, Dunlap and St. Gerard Commanderies. The badge presented to each Sir Knight as a souvenir from Cœur de Lion Commandery was a gilt metal badge in the shape of a shield, upon which was struck the coat of arms of the Commandery. This was suspended from a bar bearing the name of the Commandery by a cardinal red ribbon, on which appeared St. Gerard, Portland, Dunlap, June 18, 1888, forming a triangle. One of the visiting fraters, Em. Sir Leander W. Fobes, Past Commander of Portland Commandery, wore upon his breast, a white satin badge which is worthy of notice, it having been worn by his father, Em. Sir Charles Fobes, the present Grand Treasurer of the Grand Commandery of Maine and of Portland Commandery, in the Masonic procession on the occasion of the completion and dedication of Bunker Hill Monument, June 17, 1843.

Arriving in Masonic Hall, the Sir Knights removed their regalias and refreshed themselves by indulgeing in a lunch spread in the banquet hall, enjoying the rest and excellent view of the procession which the spacious apartments afforded. At noon the lines were again formed and the column marched past the Waverly House where a marching salute was given as the commanders passed in review before His Excellency Governor Ames, who occupied a commanding position on the balcony, surrounded by his staff and members of the city government. Thence they marched direct to the navy yard and boarded the steamer Nantasket at 1 o'clock for an excursion down the harbor.

Leaving the navy yard the steamer sailed through the Narrows and along the South Shore as far as Minot's Lighthouse, and, returning, landed at Deer Island, where, after inspecting the city institutions thereon under the guidance of Sir J. C. Whiton, the Sir Knights were conducted to the chapel, where the chaplain, Rev. Sir John W. Dadmun, Grand Prelate of the Grand Commandery, entertained them with songs by the children, and Reeves's Band rendered some stirring music for the benefit of the inmates. Sir Charles W. Sawyer, Generalissimo of Cœur de Lion Commandery, expressed the thanks of the visitors for the entertainment.

Leaving Deer Island the steamer went up the harbor by the west way, arrived off Moon Head just as the ballon descended, anchoring in the placid waters between Moon Island, where the Sir Knights eagerly watched the row boats and steam launches that went to assist.

Arriving at the navy yard at 6 o'clock, the commanderies marched via a short route to the Waverly House, where, at half-past 7 o'clock, the Sir Knights were seated about the well-spread banquet, prepared by Sir J. Tyler Hicks. A toast to the commanderies of Maine brought up Rt. Em. Sir Joseph E. Locke, Grand Commander of the Grand Commandery of this State, who was cordially received. He dwelt with effective earnestness on the manifestly progressive mission of the people who occupy the lands that form the seacoast line from the Provinces to Long Island. He said that it was fitting that on this anniversary of the first battle of the nation, they should assemble and renew their fealty to the principles for which their ancestors assembled before. "Our Visiting Guests" was the next toast, and was fittingly answered by Em. Sir John E. Sawyer, Commander of Portland Commandery. This gentleman was received with cheers. He acknowledged, in the warmest terms, the kindness which had been shown them by the Cœur de Lions. He introduced to speak for them Rev. Sir Knight William E. Gibbs of Portland, Me. The latter made a pleasant speech, in which he expressed his warm feeling of appreciation by the enjoyments afforded by the visit to Boston. He believed that nothing could be more happy than the juncture of these enjoyments with the observances of this great anniversary which recalled the time when their forefathers stood against the British oppressors.

During the greater part of the day, an interesting emblem was displayed from the Old Washington Hall building, which was occupied by King Solomon's Lodge from 1814 to 1832. It was a Masonic flag, more than 50 years old, which was carried at the masthead of Capt. Charles Flander's ship in all the principal ports of the world. It is the property of Mr. F. Stowell.

Yesterday, the Sir Knights devoted to amusing themselves as each saw fit. There was no pre-arranged programme. At 3.45 p. m., in company with Dunlap Commandery, they marched to the railroad station and took a special train for home, arriving here at 6.45 p. m. Dunlap Commandery proceeded directly home. Portland Commandery, headed by Chandler's band, marched up Park, to Danforth, to State, to Congress, to Exchange street, to the armory and disbanded.

Excursion of the U. O. G. C.

On Monday evening the Circle of Gorges Commandery of the United Order of the Golden Cross met with Mr. and Mrs. Josiah C. Ward, on Newbury street. It was a most enjoyable occasion. During the evening a generous supper was served to the surprised guests, and received the hearty attention which the cooking of the hostess so richly deserves. After the supper, plans were consummated for a grand excursion on the 4th of July to Empire Grove, in Poland, Me. It is hoped that the members of the United Order of the Golden Cross and their friends, not only of Portland and vicinity, but throughout the State, will join in making it an event worthy of the order.

Cumberland Bone Company.

The annual meeting of the Cumberland Bone Company was held yesterday afternoon. The stockholders elected these officers:

Directors—Leander Valentine, Saccarappa; T. L. Goodale, Saco; George W. Hammond, Boston, Mass.; George H. Starr, George Burnham, Jr., F. D. Ellis, E. G. Spring, Portland.
Treasurer—E. G. Spring.

SUBURBAN NEWS.

YARMOUTH.

About 5 o'clock Sunday evening after boiler No. 1 had been running a couple of hours, an explosion occurred which threw open the furnace doors, knocked down the fireman, and blew the fire from the gate. The water in the boiler, it is said, was low, although this was contrary to the indications of the glass. The fireman, John Tee, suffered considerably from the heat and steam. The boiler is of Babcock & Wilcox make and the break lies somewhere among the tubes. The boiler is being overhauled to find the damaged parts.

Bowdoin College.

The Brown prizes at Bowdoin College for extemporaneous composition have been awarded as follows:

First, $30, to R. W. Goding of Alfred; Second, $20, to G. F. Cary of E. Machias.

The first prizes for English composition were given to A. W. Tolman of Portland and W. W. Woodman of Auburn. A. C. Dresser of Standish and H. C. Hill of Knightville obtained second prizes.

CHEERS FOR BLAINE.

will rise to trample out the foreign and pernicious doctrine of free trade. [Applause and cheers.] He prayed for another Moses to make the wanderings of the Republican party four years instead of forty.

[1.34 P. M.]

Mr. Horr, of Michigan, presented to the temporary chairman a gavel made of the wood of the oak under which the Republican party organized in Jackson, Mich.

[1.44 P. M.]

On motion of Mr. Hallowell, of Kansas, a resolution of sympathy with Gen. Sheridan was adopted.

[1.58 P. M.

The call of States was dispensed with, the names being sent to the chairman.

[2.00 P. M.]

Nebraska is now presenting Gen. Fremont to the convention amid much enthusiasm.

[2.05 P. M.]

Gen. Fremont predicted victory under the banner of protection to American industries.

[2.10 P. M.]

Fred Douglass was called on, and addressed the convention briefly, merely expressing his thanks for the welcome, and expressing the hope that the convention will make such a record as to put it out of the power of the Democrats and Mugwumps to say they see no difference between the Democratic and Republican parties in respect to his race.

[2.20 P. M.]

The clerk, on motion of Gov. Foraker, is reading a list of the committees.

[2.47 P. M.]

Mr. Wise of Virginia made a strong protest against Mahone being put on the credentials committee to pass on his own credentials.

[2.53 P. M.]

Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts said that Mahone and his colleagues, under parliamentary law, cannot vote on their own cases. [Applause.]

[2.58 P. M.]

Gen. Mahone took the platform to make a plea for his delegation.

[3.11 P. M.]

Mr. Spaulding of Michigan, made a point of order that no appeal had been made by a regularly constituted delegate. The chairman said the debate of the proceeding was by an unanimous vote.

[3.14 P. M.]

The chairman decides the debate out of order.

[3.20 P. M.]

Mr. Stephenson of Minnesota, moved that no committee be allowed from contested States. On motion of Mr. Hoar of Massachusetts, this was laid on the table.

[3.23 P. M.]

Mr. Davis of Illinois, offered a resolution for a call of States for the presentation of credentials. Carried. The roll is now being called.

[3.25 P. M.]

It has been decided that the contesting delegations are to present their credentials to the committee without debate.

[3.28 P. M.]

Many delegates are leaving the hall and the convention will probably adjourn in a few moments. The committees will meet after adjournment.

[3.30 P. M.]

The convention adjourned until noon tomorrow.

THE WOODS FULL OF THEM.

Thousands of Men in Line for the Man From Maine.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 19.—The streets of this city have presented an extraordinary spectacle for 24 hours, and one which is without parallel in American politics of this generation at least. There are seven or more candidates to be presented by their own desire to the National Republican Convention. One of them, Judge Gresham, is a resident of Chicago, and, according to reports which have been coming from this city for several weeks, the whole population is enthusiastic in his behalf, and insist, as one man, on his own nomination. Those who watch the streets, however, certainly do not gain any such impression.

In fact saye that one or two bands have marched in the interests of one or two candidates, and have been followed by small clubs, and have seemed to earn their money in a dignified and formal fashion, every street has been filled with long processions of bands and organizations of every sort and citizens on foot and in carriages bearing banners of all descriptions, and upon all of them plainly legible somewhere was the portrait or name of James G. Blaine. There was an Irish-American club from Chicago, a flambeau club from Kansas, a large number wearing the white plume and the Blaine badge from Nebraska, a whole delegation from California, and parts of delegations from many other States, marching for hours together, keeping step to the loyal music of the Union and shouting, as only earnest men shout, for James G. Blaine of Maine. This demonstration was without organization. It unquestionably was spontaneous. It represents the enthusiasm of large masses of the people, who cling to Blaine with great tenacity, even, than the followers of Henry Clay did to their Idol.

It shows that the enthusiasm claimed for Mr. Blaine exists. This was the unrestrained enthusiasm of young men. There was none of the older leaders in the crowds which thronged the streets. The older leaders on the contrary, who have managed Blaine's campaigns in former years, are closeted consulting whether this unrestrained enthusiasm for Blaine can be kept within bounds inside the convention hall. It is plain that it cannot be outside. The subject now being considered by the Blaine leaders is, how the delegations, which insist that under all circumstances they will put Mr. Blaine in nomination, can be restrained.

The latest device is that the leaders of the different States shall hold consultations and insist that their followers shall yield to the advice which the friends of Blaine give, and refrain from making his nomination.

Lots of New Yorkers have joined the Blaine procession. Every other New York man you meet, has a Blaine portrait on his silk hat. There is some talk that Chauncey M. Depew will plump Blaine's name into the convention, after the second ballot. Although the tooting was kept up all night, the streets of Chicago at this hour are full of cheering men, carrying such mottos as:

"ENGLAND FOR CLEVELAND; AMERICA FOR BLAINE."

"GRANT IN WAR; BLAINE IN PEACE."

Joseph H. Manley was closeted with Steve Elkins all the forenoon. They both say to all questioners that Blaine's name must be kept out of the convention.

The Californians have a Blaine song of which this is the closing stanza:

Our candidates are to our country true,
We're for the battle.
We'll firmly march together, I and you,
We're for the battle.
Upon a people's platform we will stand,
We're for the battle.
While Blaine is now the watchword of the land,
We're for the battle.

CHORUS.

Then let the ballots rattle, rattle, rattle,
We're for the battle.
We feel no idle prattle, idle prattle,
We're for the battle.

They have distributed thousands of copies of this song on elaborate sheets. The frontispiece portrays a little army carrying ballots labelled "Blaine" walking up the steps of a temple of liberty and depositing them in a ballot box.

NEW ENGLAND DELEGATES.

What Was Done at the Meeting on Monday Night.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 19.—Among those who visited the Maine headquarters this forenoon were Mayor Little of Lewiston, Gov. Marble John F. Cook, formerly of Lewiston, Josiah and F. B. Little, Col. Z. A. Smith of Leavenworth, Kansas, formerly of Maine, Walker and Emmons Blaine.

The Massachusetts and Maine delegations are in perfect harmony. The several New England delegations have been trying to agree to vote as a unit, but have arrived at no conclusion as yet. At the conference Monday night, Gen. Sheppard, Col. Allen and Fred Powers represented Maine. The meeting organized with Gov. Cheney of New Hampshire as chairman, and J. H. Gould of Massachusetts as secretary. The conference was addressed by various delegates, who all expressed their sympathy with the object of the meeting.

The matter of candidates was not discussed and there was no expression of opinion for or against any one now in the field. It was developed at the meeting that no concerted action had been agreed upon by any of the New England delegations. It was generally thought, however, that delegates from the various States would be able to agree on a candidate, and a general desire was expressed to have New England vote as a unit in the convention.

A sub-committee was appointed consisting of one member from each State for the purpose of formulating some plan of united action by the New England delegation. This sub-committee organized with Major J. H. Gould, of Massachusetts, chairman, and R. B. Bosworth, of Rhode Island, secretary. The sub-committee is made up as follows: Maine, Gen. R. B. Sheppard; New Hampshire, ex-Gov. P. C. Cheney; Vermont, Gen. J. G. McCullough; Massachusetts, Major J. H. Gould; Rhode Island, R. B. Bosworth.

There is a strong belief that when the proper time arrives the New York delegation will break and at least 60 votes will go to Blaine. One peculiar feature of the Blaine boom is that there is no money behind it. Not a cent is being obtained from any source except the individual contributions of the men who are enthusiastic for the plumed knight. This has no effect in keeping away Blaine shouters, however. They have swarmed into the city from far and near for twenty-four hours and been very lavish in the use of their money in whooping it up for the Maine man.

GRESHAM LOSING GROUND.

The Illinois Candidate's Uncertain Hold on the Convention.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 19.—Practical politicians are assuming that Judge Gresham is defeated before the convention opens. The indications are that these practical politicians are correct in their judgment. The Gresham movement, although very earnestly supported in Illinois and Minnesota, appears to have little strength elsewhere. Judge Gresham's strength is based to a very large extent on sentiment, and resembles in many respects the movement for Bristow in 1876. Judge Gresham was a gallant soldier, a good judge, an unexceptional executive officer, and is again a good judge, and has a long line of excellent qualities for a candidate. He has secured a very strong local support in the newspaper press, and has an enthusiastic following among the people of Chicago, besides being the instructed choice of the delegation from the State of Illinois; but two things are noticeable in Judge Gresham's canvass. One is that there are very few working politicians in his interest, and that there is no well organized machine. The other is that while the delegation from the State of Illinois is nominally a unit for Gresham, some of the strongest politicians in the State are not favorable to him. There is a split between the two United States Senators on this question. Mr. Farwell is credited with being one of the leading advocates of the nomination of Gresham, and is on the ground. He has a great reputation as an astute political worker and as one of the shrewdest men in politics in our times; but if Mr. Farwell is in earnest in the Gresham movement he does not seem to have manifested his usual shrewdness. At all events there are no traces in the Gresham movement of that master hand in politics which Mr. Farwell is generally supposed to possess. On the other hand, Senator Cullom, while not opposing the choice of the State convention and openly appearing in interviews in the interest of Gresham, is still very much aggrieved that his own State and the newspapers of this great city passed him over and did not at least do him the honor of agreeing to give him the complimentary vote of the State.

Convention Jottings.

Washington despatches say that President Cleveland takes great interest in the proceedings of the convention and believes that Blaine will be selected.

About 200 Allison shouters, wearing linen dusters and light tall hats, and headed by a band, marched into the Grand Pacific Hotel and stirred up the hot, sweltering mob by yelling "Allison! Allison!" at the top of their voices. It was the first yelling that has been heard for the Senator.

The Chicago Press club tendered a reception to the visiting journalists at the club rooms on Clark street last evening.

Prices have gone up all around in Chicago. Cabmen in many places refuse to budge except for double fare.

It was estimated that by yesterday morning there were 100,000 visitors in Chicago. The railroads brought them in so fast that they lost the count and will not be able to tell the approximate number for some days yet.

The Sherman men from Pennsylvania are indignant at the Fitler boom, but Charles Emory Smith insists that it is a movement seriously intended to do honor to a deserving man.

John R. Lynch, the colored delegate, from Mississippi, who was temporary chairman of the convention of 1884, is for Gresham. Sherman has the majority of the delegation but Lynch is confident that Gresham is their desired choice.

Mr. Blaine was in Newcastle, England, yesterday, receiving hourly cablegrams from this city. The Chicago Inter-Ocean (anti-Blain) expresses great wonder at the magic of his name, and acknowledges his strength as a candidate.

A very good idea of the feeling of the general public here in relation to Blaine was formed by those who attended the performance of Rice's "Corsair" at Hooley's Theatre Monday night. Mr. Richard Golden, who sings a tropical song, introduced a verse to the effect that the man from Maine would "Come out just the same," and the result was surprising. Cheers after cheers, yell upon yell, made the theatre ring, and for three minutes the noise was deafening and the performance couldn't proceed. The actors, time and again, sought to speak their lines and proceed, but the enthusiastic Blaine men only cheered the louder, and yelled the name of their favorite in unison.

GREEN CORN.

Prospects for the Canning Season of 1888.

There appears to be no material changes in the business in this State for the present year, except that, while there are few new factories, yet the old ones will not, as a rule, pack so many acres as were packed in 1887, so that the trade need not fear an over-production of Maine corn, provided the quality shall be maintained at its former high standard, of which there is very little doubt, except from the danger that too many people may be going into the business without sufficient experience, or without proper regard for the importance of maintaining the high standing of their labels. Among the changes we note the following: Mr. Hartley C. Baxter, formerly of the Portland Packing Company, has leased the factory at Oakland, formerly occupied by the Winslow Packing Company, and has secured about 160 acres. He has also bought the outfit of the factory and leased the building at Hallowell, having secured a fair acreage at that place, and has purchased the factory at Brunswick hithertofore owned and operated by Capt. F. C. Jordan.

A new factory has been built at Yarmouthville by Mr. York of that place, and is to be operated jointly by him and Messrs. Merrill Brothers of Cumberland Centre; and a new one has also been built at West Minot by a party of capitalists, which is to be under the charge of Mr. J. H. Ingersoll, formerly foreman for the Winslow Packing Company at Canton. Simon Merrill, of Fairfield, has leased the Winslow Packing Company's factory at that place, and will run the same on his own account. Hon. Fred Atwood, of Winterport, has organized a company to be known as the Winterport Packing Company, and has purchased the plant at Winterport belonging to the Union Packing Company, and will pack four or five thousand cases of fine corn. H. M. Bearce, Esq., Benjamin Tucker and other residents of Norway have recently formed a copartnership under the style of the Norway Packing Company, and have leased the factory at that place heretofore occupied by the Winslow Packing Company. The citizens of Waldoboro have voted town aid for the establishment of a corn factory in that town, and the factory is now in the process of construction.

Some of the smaller packers, who have heretofore been packing in an irregular way, will not run this year. There are a great many packers in Maine who pack without having any regular brand of their own, and are therefore, very much dependent upon the fluctuations of the market, and have, in times past, packed without selling in advance. An experience in this direction not having proved satisfactory, some of them have withdrawn.

No one can, at this early date, predict the amount of corn that will be packed in Maine this year. The planting season for corn was the latest of any within the recollection of the oldest inhabitant, with perhaps a single exception, which after all proved a good corn year. It may be assumed that if the lateness of the season does not lessen the yield it will improve the quality, as whatever corn does sufficiently mature for canning will have received a rapid growth necessarily. Sometimes corn which is planted too early drags along in the spring and its growth is irregular, and thereby its quality is affected by its being very uneven. The corn which has come up so far this spring is very fine in appearance, and nothing can prevent an extra quality of corn this year except a severe drought or early frost.
