Gossip and Gleanings.

A New Orleans man is so incensed at Kellogg that he says his wife shan't go to hear him sing in the "Bohemian Girl" next winter.

Imagine the wrath of a young woman who rises from her seat in a horse car to give it to an old lady when she turns round and sees that the young man opposite is looking out of the window, instead of gazing at her approvingly.

The Detroit Free Press now candidly admits that Shakespeare's plays were written by a citizen of Detroit. Its permitting the Herald to go on this way unchecked is everywhere recognized as a masterpiece of journalistic forbearance and self-restraint.

The fact that General Beauregard has been made president of a base ball club is bringing him prominently into public notice. One exchange says: "He will now probably not accept the position offered in the Argentine Republic."

Dr. Freeman Clarke is now exercised over the question whether animals have souls. If he had kept a horse during the dry season, and had the care of his feet to keep them healthy and plastic, he would know that the horse has a sole, and a very sensitive one.

New Orleans Republican: The gallant Secretary of a life insurance company being in command of a platoon during the late unpleasantness, struck up the gun of one of his men about to fire on a staff officer with the exclamation, "Don't shoot at him, we've got a policy on him!"

The editor of the Clarksville Tobacco Leaf declares that he did not call us a dog. Well, it is lucky for him that he didn't. We have had many men to call us dogs, but some of the bloodiest pictures in the book of time will show you that no one ever did it and lived long to boast of the outrage.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Nothing to me," says Victor Hugo, "is more pleasant than travelling on foot." But let him try to walk 500 miles in six days, and he'll experience

"the stern joy that Weston fee's
In blisters on his soles and heels."

Days of Atonement.

Our Jewish brethren began, about a fortnight ago, their new year 5635, as they have for 2,000 years dated their year from the autumnal equinox. From that time until the day of Atonement (the 21st inst.) a trumpet was blown daily in the synagogues as a warning to prepare for the approaching great fast.

It seems to secular observers as if our Christian teachers to-morrow night might find hints for the help of their people in some of these ancient observances dictated to the Jews by God himself. Just now there is many an amiable, weak-kneed Christian who is stunned and dismayed at the sudden apparent necessity for defense of both his faith and practice. He hears vague reports of war declared between science and religion; and how shall he take part in it? He is more familiar with Tracts than with Tyndall, and understands the markets better than molecules. The danger is doubly appalling because he knows nothing about it. On all sides, too, he hears doubts and scoffs at the practice of the church. This time last year it was a Christian financier who was on trial before the public; now it is an eminent preacher. He feels very much as the apostles did, doubtless, when Judas betrayed his Master and Peter turned his back upon Him. The average Christian does not know which foundation of his temple will first crumble and fall, or at which side the attack will be made. He has been used to the old pious routine of church-going pastoral visits, missionary collections—a calm jog-trot progress by which he expected some day the whole earth to be christianized. Now, he is told on one side by scoffers that missions are a failure, and on the other by eminent ministers that the depravity of the female members of the flocks is a snare to the feet of the clergyman. Whether he looks at home or abroad, the ancient landmarks of faith, purity and virtue are removed.

Suppose he should turn to more ancient landmarks still, and note how his neighbor Moses or Rosenbaum was taught to fit himself for the duties and devotion of a new year. Instead of inquiring into or bemoaning the opinions or shortcomings of this man or that, he was summoned to a rigorous self examination. He was sent out of the city to live close to Nature, to thank God for the harvest, the early rain, and the sunshine, and to know as they shone or fell on his own head by deeper reasoning than that of science that it was God who sent them. When the day of Atonement came, he repaired to the synagogue in his shroud, that the days of death as well as the days of his past life might be before him to help him amend the future. Our modern Jews have altered all these manners with their skies; they have given over the wholesome and beautiful custom of worshiping in the woods to the Methodists,

THE PRESS.

THURSDAY MORNING, OCT. 1, 1874

EVERY regular attache of the PRESS is furnished with a Card certificate countersigned by Stanley T. Pullen, Editor. All railway, steamboat and hotel managers will confer a favor upon us by demanding credentials of every person claiming to represent our journal, as we have information that several "bummers" are seeking courtesies in the name of the PRESS, and we have no disposition to be, even passively, a party to such frauds.

We do not read anonymous letters and communications. The name and address of the writer are in all cases indispensable, not necessarily for publication but as a guaranty of good faith.

We cannot undertake to return or reserve communications that are not used.

THE northern line for the Pacific cable, from the islands off Alaska, is declared impracticable, as the islands are continually veiled in obscurity by fogs, the currents strong and treacherous and the winds violent. The ocean bed seems well adapted to a cable, but it will be difficult to lay, and the attempts to grapple for it when broken would be very often unsuccessful.

THE New York Democratic State Committee have gone into the "stirring address" business, and appeal to the people to rebuke "Imperialism." The Democracy should bear in mind that it has ever been the settled policy of our government not to interfere in the affairs of foreign nations—unless they were very weak and had gold mines as in the case of Mexico.

JAPAN is going to send to Germany for more civilization. This time it isn't book learning she is after, but beer making. Some enterprising German agent has doubtless treated the Mikado to a glass of lager, and the result is that two youths are to be sent off to Germany post haste to learn the art of making it. In a few years we shall probably have a Japanese commission in Maine, to investigate the workings of the prohibitory law.

THE latest curse of civilization has reached Japan, and the inhabitants of the unfortunate Isles are writhing in torment while a foreign band discourses the "music of the future." The gong and the tom-tom were bad enough, but did not compare to the weariness inflicted upon the tympanum by Wagner's strains. It is thought a great popular uprising will take place, that all foreigners will be massacred and that the ports of Japan will once more be closed against the navies of the world.

OH! it is an unhealthy month for those gentlemen who voted for and took the back pay. Once these fellows sneered, and said the bad newspapers were making all the touse. Now the average voter is getting after the grabbers, and the numerous victims in the political morgue of the country, if they aren't entirely insensible, are learning that the anti-grab papers have a disagreeably large and determined backing. The living may learn wisdom and goodness from the fate of the victims; but for them there is no help. They can order their marble.

IT seems altogether nonsensical to spend any more money, men and time in going after the north pole and the open sea or ice, whichever it is about it. If we continue in this world the most of us will see enough of the arctic regions to satisfy our taste for it before dog day heat causes us to languish for frozen zones. Let us see the man who can tell us just how the common crowd can persuade a ton of coal to give out twice the heat it now does. That's the man we pine to see. No more north pole, not even in the newspapers—that is—no more of it than we can help by the aid of the best heating apparatus.

THE recent election for the French Assembly in the department of Marne-et-Loire seems to prove that the Republican cause is increasing in strength. In 1871 the candidate of that faction stood at the bottom of the poll, below Legitimist and Orleanist. In the election of Sept. 13th, he polled 20,000 votes over either of his opponents, the one a Bonapartist and the other an Orleanist who supported the Septennate, but lacked 4000 votes of a majority. At the last election on Sunday he was chosen to the Assembly by a majority of 6000 over his Orleanist competitor, the Bonapartist withdrawing and presumably transferring his strength to the candidate of the Septennate. This result in a rural district in the very heart of Anjou does not indicate the much-talked-of Bonapartist reaction among the French peasantry.

FROM all we can gather respecting the crops in this state from our exchanges and other sources, the harvest of 1874 will average much better than most years. The hay crop is large and was secured in prime condition; all grain crops ripened in good weather and must yield well; corn which looked like a failure early in August must have ripened during the sunny, warm days of September; potatoes indicate an average yield so that the supply will be equal to the demand; the cheese factories and other dairy operations have been successful and their products will command good prices; apples and other fruits give full an average so that Maine will have apples to sell this year instead of having to purchase for home consumption. Nevertheless, there are those who grumble. There always will be such. They have no use for a real thanksgiving day.

IN the new cooking-school for girls established in New York theory and practice are charmingly blended. The class is first taken before a teacher who gives a chemical analysis of the dinner bill of fare, stating the proportion of nitrates, carbonates and phosphates which enter into it, and the relation each bears to the needs of the body. The girls are then taken into the cook room where the chef, M. Pallas, throws a few pinches into a sauce-pan of water and produces therefrom in a surprisingly short time a fine batch of queen fritters, big, bouncing, and light as feathers. A lesson in jugglery, apropos to potatoes a la lyonnaise, follows, the young women being taught to give the handle of the pan an ingenious toss which sends every separate slice into the air in regular procession and makes them descend again in the same order into their proper places the other side up. Cooking as taught in this way, which we may venture to call a la chinois, is said to be as good as a play.

THIS time the dress reformer makes his appearance in the masculine ranks, and savagely condemns the usual attire of man. This is Nemesis and all that sort of thing, and we are rather glad to see it, for the poor women have been abused long enough for sins of the toilette. The reformer, Williamson by name, conveys the startling information that the ordinary man wears nineteen garments, and that in these garments there are fourteen pockets. Mr. Williamson argues that much of this weight of clothing is superfluous, and that the pockets are wholly unnecessary. Without discussing the question of avoirdupois or asking what a man is to do with his tobacco, and his corkscrew, and his jacknife, and his loose change, and his handkerchief, we would suggest to the newly arisen reformer that his statement in regard to pockets will have a deleterious effect upon the rising generation. Soon as ever the average boy learns that a man is entitled to fourteen pockets he will make frantic efforts to reach adolescence. Unlike other "reformers" of the day Mr. Williamson is not merely a destructive. He suggests a new costume which is no less than "a modification of the Roman toga, with a belt about the waist for ordinary occasions," and, of course, without those preposterous pockets. He furthermore says, "there is no good reason why common workingmen should wear more than a breech-clout in summer, and a close-fitting suit of serge in winter." We are given to understand that an association of ladies and gentleman has been formed in New York to promote this reform, and that the ladies have expressed their willingness to receive the visits of gentlemen who are clothed in the new costume. It is to be hoped that the visits of workingmen, in warm weather at least, will not be encouraged.

Current Notes.

Chicago wants Gen. Emory for its new fire marshal, on account of his being successful in extinguishing the "smouldering fire of the rebellion."

The New York Mail calls upon the wealthy citizens of that city to clear up the liabilities on Booth's theatre and to put it unencumbered into the hands of Mr. Edwin Booth.

The Chicago Times speaks of the New York World as "That idiotic trumpet of a hopeless resurrection," and the World thinks that is serving up boiled crow on toast.

The Chicago papers are very, very angry with the insurance companies because of the threatened withdrawal of fire risks, and the Times heads a diatribe on the subject with the elegant caption in the largest of type "Go and Be Damned."

According to the Indianapolis News, an "independent journal," the Republicans are gaining rapidly and heavily in Indiana. "The compaign of 1872," it says, "is repeating itself even more forcibly than in the original. The organization of the Republican party is beginning to tell, and every day of delay will count in its favor. On the first of August, or indeed as late as the fifteenth, the Democrats would have carried the state without doubt, but since they have been losing.

The Execution of Wagner.

To the Editor of the Press:

As a fair journal, I am sure you will allow your patrons to discuss both sides of the question, if the writer does not unnecessarily take up your space. Assuming that this is the case, I desire to notice briefly an article in your last weekly on the proposed execution of Wagner, several statements in which I think are mere assumptions, without a particle of proof to sustain them, and calculated to convey an erroneous impression.

In the first place, I do not understand that the people, through their representatives, decided against capital punishment at the last session of the Legislature. The effort, strenuous and persevering, which was made to sweep the law of capital punishment from the statute book was voted down. The Talbot bill, to establish that law on a more sure and definite foundation, it is true, shared the same fate, leaving the matter just where it was before. Whether a majority of the people are in favor of, or against this law, is not and cannot be known, unless the law be referred to them for a direct vote, inasmuch as no representatives have as yet been chosen on any issue of this kind.

Again, the statement that protection to prison officers was the sole reason for retaining the law as it is, is wholly an assumption. I cannot believe that the atrocious murders, the heartrending butcheries of men and women which have been enacted in this state within the last two or three years, and the evident necessity, the imperative duty of setting up the strongest possible bulwark against the repetition of such deeds, had no influence in producing this result. And here let me ask, what is the strongest possible bulwark against ruffianism and murder? Mark the admission of the writer in the article referred to. "The shadow of the gallows," he says, "was left to fall in terrorem on such bloodthirsty prisoners as might have a mind to destroy their keepers!" This is an evident admission that the restraining power of the "gallows" far exceeds that of any other punishment. And what candid mind can doubt that this penalty is the only one having any considerable terror in it to restrain desperadoes and protect human life.

The lull in the commission of murders the present year, referred to, if it has any assignable cause, points far more evidently, I think, to the summary execution by lynch law, of that murderer who killed the sheriff and another man, and expressed the wish that he had murdered two more; and perhaps, also, to that "shadow of the gallows" which still flits before the eyes of the lawless, than to any shock the law had received the past year.

That the Governor is in duty bound to wait for the action of another Legislature, before executing the law on any of the murderers now awaiting their fate in prison, seems to me utterly groundless and absurd. The Legislature, after special recommendation by the executive, failed to render the law any more definite and binding. What has he to do then but to execute it as it is, according to his understanding of its spirit and intention?

And is there anything in the case of Wagner to commend him to the sympathy and clemency of the executive? The negro Harris was executed for the murder, or for aiding in the murder of two defenceless women. Was the crime of Wagner any less appalling or atrocious? No. Let the law, I say, be executed as it stands. With a vote of five councillors of the seven, we see not how the Governor can well avoid executing it; and if the people are opposed to the law, let them speak out clearly and strongly through their representatives, who should, indeed, be chosen with some reference to this question; or, better still, let the Legislature refer this law to a direct vote of the people. ANTI-THRASTAM.

SHIPBUILDING NOTES.—Launched by John McBride, at Lubec, Sept. 26, a barkentine of 500 tons, named the Minnie Hunter, owned by G. W. Hunter & Co. and others, Boston, N. L. Kendall, Providence, B. Plummer, Winterport, A. W. Winchester, Eastport, W. H. Hunter, S. Staples & Son, Capt Isaac Parker and others of Lubec, and Capt Nathan Woodman, who will command her.

At the same place Robert Mugford is building a schooner of 175 tons for S. Staples & Son of Lubec, and Frye & Co. of New York. She will be launched in October and commanded by Capt. Turner, late of schooner Jeanie.

At Cutler, Sept. 26, M. B. Stevens launched the schooner Annie R. Smalley, 200 tons, owned by the builder and P. Gillis and others of Lubec. She will be commanded by Capt. Fadden, late of the schooner Parallel. At the same place Isaac Wilder is building a schooner of 180 tons, which will be launched in October.

M. B. Stevens and Alfred Coggins & Son of Lubec have purchased the schooner Frank Barker for $2,800. She will be employed in the bank fishery, in charge of Capt. Kilby Coggins, late of schooner Melrose.

At West Pembroke Aaron Frost is building a single deck schooner of 275 tons for Capt. Murphy and others of Calais. Jethro Nutt is building a double deck schooner of 325 tons for Capt. Smith and others of Pembroke. Both will be launched in October.

At Harrington Messrs. Ramsdell, Rumball & Coffin recently launched a three-masted schooner of 425 tons, named "H. Emma Riley," owned by the builders, Butt & Co. of New York, and to be commanded by Capt. A. B. Coffin. Moses Nash has a brig of 450 tons nearly ready to launch. S. W. Nash are building two three-masted schooners of about 450 tons each, both to be launched this fall. The Messrs. Coffin are building a schooner of 300 tons, to be completed before winter. Alonzo Nash has a bark of 700 tons in his yard, to be off the last of October. She is probably the largest vessel ever built in Harrington.

At Millbridge a bark of 600 tons, named Doris Eckhoff, was launched on the 26th. She is to be commanded by F. A. Hons of New York. At the same place Capt. J. W. Sawyer has a bark in his yard of 775 tons, owned by himself and his brother, the latter to command her. Sept. 26th W. R. Sawer launched a bark of 550 tons. It is thought that as much tonnage will be built in Millbridge in 1875 as the present year.

The yard of Capt. Joseph H. Parington of Topsham has turned out a fine vessel in the schooner L. F. Merrow, which is now lying under the shears. Her dimensions: 89 feet on deck, 21 beam, registering 115 tons. She will be commanded by Capt. Chas. E. Counce, who is the principal owner.

KENNEBEC AGRICULTURAL FAIRS.—The annual fair of the North Kennebec Agricultural Society will be held in Waterville, commencing October 6th and continuing through the 8th. The first day will be devoted to the exhibition of neat cattle, sheep, swine and poultry, and drawing by horses and oxen on the ground. The exhibition in the hall will open in the evening with a Farmers' Levee. An address may be expected. Wednesday will be occupied with the examination of horses and colts and a ploughing match. Thursday will be devoted entirely to the examination of trotting horses—a purse of $30 being offered for best gentleman's driving horse; and a purse of $100 open to all horses.

The fair of the Kennebec Agricultural Society opens at Readfield Corner Oct. 6th and continues through the 9th. About $600 in premiums are offered. The Society offers two purses, one of $25 open to all horses not entered for sweepstakes, and the sweepstake purse of $50. The programme is: First day, examination by committees on neat stock, sheep, swine and poultry; in the afternoon drawing and discipline of oxen. Second day, exhibition of horses and colts; trotting in the afternoon. Third day, address by President Allen of the State College, reports of committees and sweepstake trotting.

THE BOWDOIN DRILL.—A correspondent writes that in accordance with the vote of the faculty the students of Bowdoin College have made their choice between the drill and the gymnasium. The result has been that the Seniors and Juniors have unanimously chosen the gymnasiam, and the Sophomores and Freshmen likewise, with three exceptions, leaving the battalion at present composed of three men, and showing that the students did not rebel against the drill from the heat of excitement, but from a strong and firmly fixed sense of its utter unfitness to serve the purpose for which it was introduced

General Kilpatrick says that the Liberal party is dead, and he ought to know, since he has been there himself. He now proposes to atone for his past shortcomings by working with and for the Republican party.

TEMPERANCE IN NEWFIELD.—A correspondent in Newfield writes us a glowing account of a temperance reform in that town, resulting from the lectures of Francis Murphy, which took place in the Methodist church last Sunday afternoon and evening, the effect of which can be best judged from the fact that 147 persons signed the pledge, and on Monday evening a Reform Club was organized.

Act on the Defensive.

Persons who are subject to the influences of bad air and unwholesome water to constant exposure out of doors and sudden changes of weather, should act on the defensive by imparting to their constitutions the power of resisting such influences. The fortifying effects upon the system of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are simply amazing. Thousands who use them as a preventive of malaria enjoy an absolute immunity from its attacks, although dwelling in regions where that scourge is most prevalent. Artisans and laborers whose occupations keep them in the open air, find the Bitters a complete safeguard against the effects of exposure. Travellers testify that they counteract the influence of torrid heat, intense cold, and miasmatic air. Free from every objectionable feature, pure, undeteriorating, containing only vegetable ingredients, an agreeable stimulant, a wholesome tonic and corrective, and a sovereign protective, it is not surprising, that the Bitters should be the most popular of American remedies.

No Excuse For Being Sick.

No person can use Boschee's German Syrup without getting immediate relief and cure. We have the first case of Coughs, Colds or Consumption, or any disease of the Throat and Lungs, yet to hear from that has not been cured. We have distributed every year for three years over 250,000 sample bottles by druggists in all parts of the United States. No other Manufacturer of Medicine ever gave their Preparations such a test as this. Go to your druggist and get a sample bottle for 10 cents and try it—two doses will relieve you. W. F. DR. SCHENCK'S
Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mankrake Pills,
These medicines have undoubtedly performed more cures of Consumption than any other remedy known to the American public. They are compounded of vegetable ingredients, and contain nothing which can be injurious to the human constitution.
Other remedies advertised as cures for Consumption, probably contain opium, which is a somewhat dangerous drug in all cases, and if taken freely by consumptive patients, it must do great injury; for its tendency is to confine the morbid matter in the system, which of course, must make a cure impossible.
Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is warranted not to contain a particle of opium: It is composed of powerful but harmless herbs, which act on the lungs, liver, stomach and blood, and thus correct all morbid secretions, and expel all the diseased matter from the body. These are the only means by which Consumption can be cured, and as Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills are the only medicines which operate in this way, it is obvious they are the only genuine cure for Pulmonary Consumption. Each bottle of this invaluable medicine is accompanied by full directions.
Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, corner Sixth and Arch Streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, and at the Quincy House, Boston, on the following Wednesdays, June 10th and 24th, July 8th and 22d, and August 5th and 19th.

WHITE'S
SPECIALTY FOR DYSPEPSIA.
This is the only prompt, efficient and safe master of such symptoms as loss of appetite, heartburn, palpitation of the heart, dizziness, sleeplessness, melancholy, costiveness, wind, mental and physical debility, as well as many others, which, if neglected, will soon place "the house we live in" beyond the reach of any remedy.
I had "Dyspepsia" twenty years, sometimes able to eat only the plainest food, and very little of that. I tried physicians and remedies without relief until I learned of "White's Specialty for Dyspepsia," which has entirely cured me. (Signed)
Mrs. B. L. WEST, Vineyard Haven, Mass.

Brief Jottings.

There were 45 intentions of marriage recorded at the City Clerk's office during the month of September, and 48 deaths occurred in the city during the month.

The steamee New York arrived yesterday at 1 o'clock. She put into Machiasport for a harbor.

Mr. Small's son, who was burned with powder Tuesday, is very comfortable and hopes are entertained that he will saae his eye sight.

On Friday last Geo. W. True & Co. ground, at their mill at Harpswell, one hundred bushels of fine family meal with one run of stone, in fifty-six minutes.

Deputies Williams and Bridges arrested Darius Palmer at Turner's Island, yesterday, on suspicion of stealing a wallet containing $20 from a Mr. Littlefield.

In the typhoon at Hong Kong, a seaman from Perry, Maine, on the "Ambrose Frost," was drowned.

Some rascals dug the oakum out of a seam of the tug Hunter, yesterday, and she came very near sinking before the leak could be stopped.

Two boys came very near being drowned by the capsizing of a boat in Back Bay yesterday.

On account of the high price of coal in New York and Philadelphia, and the advance on freights, it is now selling at $9 per ton in our market.

There will be a mass union temperance meeting at the Allen Mission chapel, Sunday evening. Addresses by reformed men and others. Also an account of the rise and progress of the great reform movement at Saco and Biddeford will be given. The total abstinence pledge will be circulated for signatures.

The Emeralds hold their regular monthly meeting this evening.

Gen. Thom, in addition to present duties, is assigned to the charge of the works of the river and harbor improvements in Massachusetts, including the sea walls in Boston harbor.

The Maine Real Estate Register will be issued this afternoon. This is one of our most useful and valuable newspapers and is gaining rrpidly in public favor.

The Mechanic Blues held a meeting last evening and voted to have a grand military and civic ball at City Hall Thanksgiving evening. Chandler's Band has been engaged to furnish the music.

Officer Miles arrested two men last evening for an affray on Fore street.

We have only space this morning to call attention to the advertisement of the Army and Navy lecture and concert course. Such a fine course has rarely if ever been offered to the Portland public.

There has been a re-award of prizes in the yacht club race. The Sparkle and the Mattie are now the winners. The first award was made by mistake in measurement and standard time.

Cumberland Medical Society.

The regular monthly meeting of the Cumberland County Medical Society was held at Reception Hall yesterday morning.

The meeting was called to order by the Secretary, Dr. Files, and, in the absence of the President, Dr. Keene was chosen President pro tem.

The records of the last two meetings were read and confirmed.

Dr. O. E. Durgin read an exhaustive and very valuable paper on electro-galvanism.

On motion of Dr. Bates it was voted that the thanks of the society be extended to Dr. Durgin for his most interesting and practical paper on electro-galvanism. An interesting discussion followed, concerning the uses and virtues of electricity.

Dr. Small read a brief account of a typical case of cholera infantum. It was generally conceded that there had been little real cholera infantum in the city this season, although a great deal of infantile diarrhœa and vomiting.

Dr. Sturdivant read a report of a remarkable case of a gun shot wound of the stomach and bowels, resulting in recovery.

The business committee reported that at the next meetins cases would be reported by Dr. T. A. Foster on sequelæ of cholera infantum, and by Dr. Gordon on dysentery.

Adjourned.

EVERGREEN CEMETERY.—The last purchases of land for Evergreen Cemetery are being rapidly graded and arranged for lots. The hill has been dug away and the earth dumped into the swamp below. The swamp is fast being underdrained and reclaimed, and another large pond has been made. The improvements made in this section of the grounds are very great.

A stroll through the cemetery will show many new beauties, the location of this year. The last rain has freshened up the grass, and it looks almost as green as in spring. The section on the "new purchase," as it is sometimes called, bids fair to be the prettiest portion of grounds. One lot has already been laid out, nearly on the border, belonging to Daniel F. Emery. It is the most striking of any in the cemetery. The coping is an oblong square of handsome granite, with rounded, bastion-like corners. Below the steps is a tesselated or tile pavement, and from this runs a triangle. The whole work is a model of good taste and fitness. The stone work surpasses anything of the kind on the grounds in point of fine workmanship and taste, and the whole effect is striking. It was done by Mr. Joshua T. Emery to whom the cemetery is indebted for many of its best monuments, and is something of which he has great reason to be proud.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.—The trustees of the Public Library are constantly putting new books on the shelves. Estes & Lauriat of Boston have just sent them specimens of works on painting, sculpture and architecture. The committee on new books have examined them and will probably purchase the best of them. They are large volumes, and if purchased will not be taken out of the library, but will be kept for consultation in the room.

The works of Thomas Jefferson, in nine volumes; Genesis of the New England churches, by Dr. Leonard Bacon; Wood's Natural History, in five volumes; System of Mineralogy, by Dana; History of France, in French, in 16 volumes, are among the books that have been added to this already excellent library. A large number of works of fiction have been purchased of late.

WARD'S OPERA HOUSE.—Despite the various attractions elsewhere last evening, every seat in Ward's Opera House was taken. The programme was good, and everything passed off nicely. The music was unusually good. The orchestra is largely composed of Portland musicians, a fact that will account for the excellent music. To-night there will be a change of programme. Next week the programs propose to have a variety entertainment in the first part of the evening, to conclude with a comedy or farce.

FASHIONABLE WEDDING.—Chestnut street church was opened yesterday afternoon at half-past two for the marriage of Mr. Albert C. Dam and Miss Louise R. Lothrop, daughter of W. W. Lothrop, Esq. Rev. S. F. Jones officiated. The ceremony was performed according to the ritual of the Episcopal church. The music was very fine. The couple left on the afternoon train for New York, on a two weeks' wedding tour.

CUMBERLAND AGRICULTURAL FAIR.—Don't forget the exhibition at North Windham today. To-morrow we shall publish a full report

PORTLAND MECHANICS.

17th Triennial Festival of the Maine Charitable Mechanics' Association.

Last evening nearly every floor of the magnificent Mechanics' building on Congress street was filled with the members, ladies, friends and guests of the Maine Charitable Mechanics' Association, gathered there to participate in the 17th Triennial Festival of this successful and beneficent organization. The main hall was filled with tables, running the full length, upon which were spread a sumptuous supper, prepared with all the taste and variety of that well known caterer, Mr. D. W. Lucy, 364 Congress street, and ornamented with a profusion of flowers brought by the ladies, who take as much pride in the association as their husbands and fathers.

A little after eight the company, which must have numbersd nearly 400, were quietly seated at the tables and called to order by the President, Luther F. Pingree, Esq., who introduced Hon. C. P. Kimball, who was received with applause, and who proceedod to give the origin and progress of the society. The following is a mere outline of the most important historical points:

Mr. Kimball spoke of the condition of Portland in the year 1814, and said it was more like a camp than a commercial or manufacturing city. Yet the patriotic mechanics of that time did not forget that some effort should be made for their improvement. On the 16th day of Jan. 1815, they met to the number of 57 and laid the foundation of this noble society. This was nearly sixty years ago, yet three of them still live to enjoy the fruits of their early labors. At the end of the first year they had 103 members. Portland was then a little town, a village of a few thousand inhabitants only. At the end of the first year they celebrated their anniversary with a procession, &c. In 1820 they saw the necessity of a library for the improvement and culture of themselves and their apprentices. On the 4th of July of that year they had a celebration and Chas. S. Daveis delivered an address. A collection was taken up and $48.85 realized. That was the nucleus of the present valuable library of over 4000 volumes. They were the first to move in the great cause of temperance, and as early as 1829 they chose a committee to visit all the mechanics in the city and see if they would not cease the practice of giving grog to their workmen. A favorable report was made and the question was taken by yeas and nays, and there were 50 yeas and 1 nay. The association has lived up to that high standard of temperance ever since.

He spoke of the great value of the temperance committee and charity committee to the members, and referred to the great fairs they held and the success that has attended them. The first was in 1826, second in 1838, third in 1854 and last in 1859. In July, 1855, they moved from their quarters in the old City Hall to their new building on the corner of Congress and Elm streets. From that day started a new life. When the agent of the new hall (which we learn was Mr. Kimball himself) made his report in July 1856, to the effect that the elegant hall which they had occupied for the past year with so much pleasure and comfort, had not only paid for itself but had actually paid a profit of more than two hundred dollars for the association, the report was received with great pleasure by the association. Chas. J. Barbour at once moved that a committee be appointed to take idto consideration the propriety of building a new hall of their own. That was the starting point of our elegant building, that we all now contemplate with such pride.

The committee were appointed, and reported and advised favorable action. The members and the people all came nobly to the work, and on the 22d of October, 1857, the corner stone was laid with pomp and ceremony. The building was completed in January, 1859, and on the 22d of February the event was celebrated with a grand supper. But it left the association $35,000 in debt, placing a heavy load on their shoulders. In 1860 the late lamented N. A. Foster was one of our Representatives in the Legislature, and by his great efforts succeeded in getting a township of land for the association. This land was sold for eleven thousand dollars, and the money put into a sinking fund under the management of Hon. Charles Holden, and never was money made to work harder or more incessantly. The interest on the debt was kept paid, and the sinking fund continued to grow until the first day of January, 1874, when Mr. Holden was prepared to announce to the association that the last debt was paid, the last bond burned up, the association free and independent. Mr. Kimball gave great credit to all the members, but considered it his duty to say that to Hon. N. A. Foster and Hon. Charles Holden this association is more largely indebted than to any others for their magnificent building, the proud monument to the mechanics of Portland.

The address was listened to with undivided attention throughout the half hour which it occupied. Mr. Kimball spoke without notes and without apparent effort. It was just the address for the occasion and freshly brought to the minds of those present the fact that from the earliest history of the city the mechanics have been foremost in every reform and in every effort to diffuse a wider culture and a higher civilization. The audience showed their appreciation of Mr. Kimball's remarks by frequent applause.

At the conclusion of Mr. Kimball's remarks, the President called upon Rev. Mr. Hayden to say grace, after which the company were invited to partake freely, which invitation was cordially accepted as the supper was an excellent one and the hour somewhat late.

President Pingree allowed his associates and guests a good season for the disposition of the supper, after which he called upon Mr. John B. Coyle for a song. Mr. Coyle came forward and, in a voice well known and appreciated by the musical people of Portland, sang "Columbia's the gem of the Ocean," the pleased audience joining in the chorus. Mr. Coyle took his seat, but the long continued storm of applause brought him out again and the sang the "Porter Song" from Martha, which was received with equally warm applause.

The President then introduced Hon. Charles Holden as toast master, who, it need not be said, performed that rather difficult part in a most happy manner. The toasts were as follows:

Our Triennial Festival.—The 17th of the series. There have been periods when the celebration was a solemn affair, as the association might possibly be on its last legs and enjoying its funeral feast. But that it is firm on its pins now, will be proved by President Pingree.

Responded to by Mr. Pingree in very appropriate remarks, in which he paid a warm tribute to the services of Mr. Holden, as the chief financier of the association.

Our Invited Guests.—Few and far between like angel's visits, but what they come short in quantity will amply be redeemed in quality.

Charles H. Fling, Esq., President of the Mercantile Library Association, was called upon to respond to this sentiment, which he did in brief, well chosen words, closing with the sentiment: "The Maine Charitable Mechanics' Association; may its future be as successful as its past has been worthy."

Our Honorary Members.—They honored us in our time of need, we are proud to honor them in our days of prosperity.

Responded to by John Neal, Esq., honorary member, in a very felicitous speech, full of bright things, some of which were not complimentary to the skill of our mechanics as architects.

The Silent Man.—Speech is silver, but silence is gold, as has been often proved when the tumultuous crowd have been quieted by the silent man's voice. The silent man of this association will illustrate the point by speaking just at this nick of time; and this is Bro. Dan. Carpenter.

Mr. Carpenter responded in a way to save his reputation, and was warmly applauded.

Temperance.—It needs no struggle at any primary meeting to keep liquor off these tables. That has been and will be no longer. Temperance is stamped upon the countenance of out brethren as the signet of a king to the proclamation for larger liberty for the people, clear, lofty, and ennobling, to be read of all men.

Responded to by G. L. Bailey, Esq, in fitting remarks.

Charity: Let it be borne in mind that this is the Maine Charitable Mechanics Association. Charitable is the second adjective in the phrase, preceding that of Mechanic: "If thy brother hunger, give him food," is the spirit of the great command. If we do not heed it, we deserve to be plunged into the Red Sea, with no life-boats on the coast.

Responded to by Mr. Nathaniel Walker, in a few very sensible remarks.

The Steamboat Interest of Portland will never have a better representative than our worthy ex-President, Capt. John B. Coyle, a puff of his surplus steam will much exhilarate our brethren present.

Capt. Coyle made a few remarks which elicited much merriment, It having been remarked that he used to sing songs at these festivals, he remarked that thirty-three years ago he went home to find that a young singer had come to his house—the J. B. Coyle, Jr., who did the singing on the present occasion

Our Original Members.—But two remain of the phalanx of sturdy men of 1815, Charles Farley (aged 85) and Henry S. Pearson (aged 87.) Charon waits on the margin of the Styx to ferry them across the noiseless river: Let him wait—lying on his oars many years, while our venerable brothers continue to enjoy their cum otium in dignitate.

Mr. John T. Walton responded to this sentiment in a spirited speech, in which he compared the present condition of mechanics to that when he was a boy—very flattering to the present.

Our Deceased Brethren.—Let us not forget in this festal hour, FOSTER, CHASE, LARRABEE, with a host of others who have gone before. Their shadows flit above "as ministering angels;" what is obscure from feeble sight will be clear as the perennial day when the mists dissipate.

Our space compels us to abreviate the balance of the toasts to a mere mention of the subjects:

The women of the Association: Good, faithful, domestic women, the real Marthas of the city.

The Hero of Shatoqee.—Our absent, infirm brother, Joshua Dunn, Esq.. His retreat from that famous field is a snail pace compared with the swift advance he has made in the regards of those who know him.

Responded to by L. G. Jordan, Esq.

Mr. Kimball responded to the sentiment, "The manufacturing and mechanical interests of Maine."

In addition to these sentiments congratulating the association on being out of debt; uncomplimentary to bachelors; thanking the city press, etc.

H. E. Barnes, Esq., presented a sentiment recalling the services of Rev. J. W. Chickering and paying a warm tribute to his high character.

At 11.15 the exercises were brought to a close by singing "Auld Lang Syne." There could not be pleasanter or more profitable re-union than that of the Maine Charitable Mechanics' Association last evening.

DUMB ANIMALS FAIR.—Last evening the articles remaining from the fair for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, were raffled off at City Hall. Chandler's band was in attendance and discoursed fine music for the occasion. The tickets sold rapidly. Below we give the numbers drawing the most important articles, and the names of the lucky ones, when known.

S. Clark; Beckett's oil painting, No. 330, Mrs. S. H. Gould; black walnut stand, No. 142; large doll and trunk, No. 186; Buzzell's oilpainting, No. 204.

MRS. WOODHULL AT CITY HALL.—Elsewhere will be found the announcement of Mrs. Woodhull's lecture at City Hall this evening. She has appeared once before in this city in a supplemental course of the Mercantile Library Association, and made then a generally favorable impression as a speaker. The notoriety which she has since attained in connection with the Brooklyn scandal and otherwise, will naturally arouse a considerable interest to see and hear her, even among those who most strongly condemn her theories.

CONGRESS SQUARE DRAMATIC CLUB.—Last evening the Congress Square Dramatic Club opened their little theatre, which they have built this summer in the vestry of Congress Square church. The new arrangements give a fine chance for dramatic entertainments, as last evening's bore witness. The play was "Among the Breakers," and it was performed with much spirit. The several parts were well sustained, and everything ran smoothly. This evening the club repeats the play.

POLICE BALL.—The police department of this city are arranging for a grand benefit ball on the evening of the 23d instant. They have already sold a large number of tickets, and have received a great deal of encouragement from the merchants in town, many of them purchasing a large number of tickets. Each officer on the force has tickets for sale. Chandler's band has been engaged to furnish music.

BRUNSWICK, Sept. 30.—George F. Creech of Freeport accidentally shot himself while out gunning to-day. He lived about thirty minutes after the accident.

The Robbins Murder Trial.

ROCKLAND, Sept. 30.—In the murder trial today the forenoon was occupied with the cross-examination of Capt. Secord, in which nothing was elicited to invalidate his direct testimony.

At the afternoon session the first witness was John Mitchell of Portland, a stevedore employed in loading the "Annie B.," who testified as to the conversation which took place in the presence of the prisoner between Capt. Secord and a Captain Quinn, concerning a loan by the former to the latter, and during which Capt. S. exhibited a considerable roll of bills. The cross-examination elicited no contradiction.

Jas. W. Mundee, steward of the Annie B., was next called, and testified as to Robbins' engaging passage on the vessel, and corroborates Capt. Secord's account of the murderous affray.

Albert Pinckney, the seaman who was fired at by Robbins, and ran up the fore-rigging to escape him, then gave his testimony. He corroborated the other witnesses as to the beginning of the affray, and as to the subsequent scuffling of the parties, but from his position could not distinguish the details of the struggle clearly.

The court room has been filled during the day. The prisoner preserves his calm and indifferent demeanor.

State Temperance Alliance.

BOSTON, Sept. 30.—The annual meeting of the State Temperance Alliance was held to-day at Wesleyan Hall, the president, Dr. A. A. Miner in the chair. Secretary and Treasurer, Rev. Wm. M. Thayer, in his report reviewed the temperance work during the year; the woman's movement he regarded as proving the significant fact that the people had been led to recognize the liquor traffic as the chief obstacle to temperance, and to the land. The last Legislature was regarded by him as a failure, and so considered by the press and public generally. Gov. Talbot's action was commended in the warmest manner. The state police which have served have been extremely efficient. A metropolitan police in Boston and other cities is needed. He devoted the last part of his report to giving statistics to show that prohibition diminishes the sale of liquor and increase of crime. The same officers as last year were elected, with an addition of several names.

The Associated Press.

E. L. Beard has resumed the Boston agency of the Associated Press, W. G. Blanchard, long and favorably known, having resigned.

You're Another.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The reply of ex-sheriff Kelly to charges recently made by mayor Havemeyer is issued. The document is lengthy, and occasionally characterized by acerbity of language which marked that of the mayor. Kelly stigmatizes the charges as base and malicious falsehoods, and says that Havemeyer and Nelson J. Waterbury knew them to be such. He claims his own figures to be strictly correct, and charges that Havemeyer, in order to malign his character, has garbled the figures given, as the number of convictions returned to the Secretary of State, and adduces figures to show that Havemeyer has falsified the figures by $7,269. Kelly goes on to refute Havemeyer's allegation that he (Kelly) was a friend of Connolly, Auditor Watson, and Tweed. The document closes by stating that he has complete records of his transactions as sheriff, and is prepared to meet Havemeyer at all points, and that he will shortly commence a suit against Havemeyer and Waterbury for libel.

THE SOUTH.

Gov. Kellogg approves the Agreement.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—A New Orleans special of last night says last evening Gov. Kellogg was officially informed of the compromise which had been entered into by the committees representing the Republican and Democratic parties and he at once addressed the following letter to the chairman of both committees:

STATE OF LOUISIANA,
Executive Office, Sept. 29, 1874.

Having been officially notified of the agreement entered into by the committees of the Republican and Conservative parties lately in conference, and having been desirous from the first to assure a fair registration and election, I hereby ratify the agreement in so far as it depends upon me for its execution, and I will strictly adhere to its provisions so long as the state central executive committee and other responsible bodies in the combination of parties recently formed at Baton Rouge, known under the general term of the conservative party, shall carry out their part of the agreement.

WILLIAM P. KELLOGG, Governor.

The announcement that a compromise has been made attracted very little attention, and it is not believed that the action of the committee will in any way effect the political situation of the state,

A Reply to Gen. Butler.

Captain Hayes, aid to General Emory, in a note dated New Orleans, 29th, says that the statements of General Butler that Gen. Emory made terms or proposed terms to the insurgents in New Orleans, is without foundation. General Emory demanded compliance with the terms of the proclamation—nothing more, nothing less, and he had nothing to do with the negotiations between the state government and the insurgents.

Kellogg Explains.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—A New Orleans despatch says that Gen. Kellogg prints a three column address to the people of the United States, combatting the charge of corruption and extravagance, and giving figures already published to show that he reduced the debt in the year over $9,000,000. He charges a contraction of $15,000,000 of the debt upon the Democratic Legislature in 1866 and 1867, of $10,000,000 upon the Warmouth administration, and of four-fifths of the city debt upon the Democrats.

Rhode Island Cotton Mills Reducing Time.

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 30.—The committee appointed by the meeting of the cotton and woolen manufacturers make the following announcement to-day:

The manufacturers' committee are gratified to be able to say that they have received assurances which justify them in announcing general compliance on the part of the cotton manufacturers of the state, with the recommendation to place the mills on short time. They therefore advise that the basis of forty-four hours per week, established at the Boston meeting of the manufacturers in order to accomplish a reduction of at least one-third of the current production, be adopted as the running time from the first Monday in October next to the first Monday in January, 1875. The manufacturers are at once making arrangements to diminish the running hours in accordance with this arrangement.

An Affair of Honor.

RICHMOND, Va., Sept. 30.—Rumors are rife since yesterday of an expectant affair of honor between Gen. Wm. Mahone and Gen. Bradley T. Johnson, but up to midnight nothing of a definite nature came to notice.

Gen. Mahone, who has been in the city since Monday left to day at noon, and Gen. Johnson and his law partner, Wm. Rohal, one of his seconds in the Mordecai Page affair, are reported out of town. The cause of the expected meeting is said so have originated in some circulars used oh Monday during the primary election for the conservative candidate for the state senate, which were pretty severe on Mahone, and led to a demand for an explanation from Johnson.

The Plague in Tripoli.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—A despatch to the State Department from the U. S. Consul at Malta encloses an article from the Malta Times of Aug. 22d concerning the spread of the plague in the regency of Tripoli, and its appearance near Mecca, and adding a government notice forbidding the landing of passengers, animals and susceptible goods from the regency of Tripoli, and from the Arabian Red Sea ports. The newspaper article says:

"The plague, which originally broke out at Merj, in the regency of Tripoli, twenty-four hours from Benghasi, has now appeared at Bersis, within ten hours of the latter port, owing, it is supposed, to the want of proper precautions in maintaining the sanitary cordon which has been established around Merj. We also learn that a disease of the plague character has broken out at Doga, near Mecca, which will render it necessary to take precautions in cases of ships arriving here from ports in the Red Sea.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

Review of Portland Markets.

WEEK ENDING Sept. 30, 1874.

The month just closing shows a fair activity in nearly all branches of business, and on the whole does not compare unfavorably with the corresponding month of last year. The cool weather has infused considerable life into trade, but no one of the leading branches of business can be singled out as being particularly active. The cautious policy adopted by buyers early in the season has been closely adhered to, and the fall trade has caused no rush as yet. Business, however, is on a sound basis, and speculation in merchandise has ceased to be indulged in to any considerable extent. The money market is still sluggish, and the supply of money is still in excess of the demand. Gold closed on Wednesday Sept. 30, at 109¾.

Green apples are now quoted at $2@2 50. Beans sell slowly, and there is no change in prices. Butter has been in increased demand and prices are well maintained. Cheese exhibits a slight advance consequent on an active demand. Coal shows the usual call for the season, and but little other movement. Coffee is in ste

No Danger from Explosion—No liability to get out of Order.

In short it is the SIMPLEST, SAFEST, most DURABLE and most ECONOMICAL Engine in the world. We fully guarantee them in all the above particulars. COLT'S ARMS CO. have spared no expense in getting up SPECIAL TOOLS AND MACHINES with which to build these Engines, so that every part is made up to gauge, and are perfectly interchangeable, the importance of which will be understood by all who are at all familiar with machinery. Thus, every Engine of a given size is an exact duplicate of every other one of that size, and in case of breakage, the broken part can be immediately replaced by the perfect duplicate.

The inventor of this Engine had in view, in its construction, the great need that exists for a perfect Steam Engine—of small power—adapted to all kinds of light mechanical work, and that should also combine all that is good in Steam Engineering.

The first point was, to secure a perfectly philosophical Boiler and Furnace, in order to insure the most perfect combustion, and to take up the greatest possible amount of heat in generating steam.

The second point was, to make a perfect cut-off Engine, working steam expansively, and keeping up the temperature of the cylinder to prevent loss by radiation or condensation.

The third point was, to combine and make the whole a mechanically and scientifically correct machine; all its parts being provided with means to take up lost motion, so that it may be used for any number of years, and always run smoothly. In all these particulars as much care has been taken as in the largest and most perfect engine ever constructed.

The result is—THE GREATEST AMOUNT OF POWER PROPORTIONED TO THE AMOUNT OF FUEL CONSUMED—thus proving the fact—well known to men of science—that water is the best medium to transmit the mechanical forces, generated in the combustion of fuel, to the production of motive power.

Machinery for any purpose furnished at Manufacturers' Prices.

MEDICAL

Treatise on Nervous Diseases

AND THE —

Cordial Balm of Syricum.

During the year 1865 Dr. G. Edgar Lothrop had a new and peculiar drug, from the interior of Africa, brought prominently under his notice by the very strange effect it produced on an animal who had accidentally swallowed a large quantity. Owing to this circumstance he was led to make many experiments on the lower animals, and he soon discovered that it had a very peculiar effect on the Nervous System. This induced him to experiment both on himself and some of his patients, and such was the wonderfully beneficial effects, and so rapid the cure of those afflicted with nervous diseases, that Dr. Lothrop came to the conclusion that he had discovered a new and valuable addition to the medicines of the pharmacopœa. He soon found that this medicine, in conjunction with some others, cured nervous diseases of all kinds with a certainty and rapidity of which he had no previous conception.

A few words on that special disease generally known as Nervous Debility or Weakness. This is in most cases brought on by total ignorance of the fearful pernicious effects, but it is also brought on in many cases brought on through no fault of the person afflicted, but by disease, long confinement, and several other causes—but in all cases the effect on the constitution is the same. Heretofore, there has been no cure for this disease, but Dr. Lothrop, having put up this medicine in the form of CORDIAL BALM OF SYRICUM AND TONIC PILLS, combined with other medicines, offers them to all sufferers as a safe and speedy cure. Our Lunatic Asylums are full of patients, in many cases brought thither by the effects of Nervous Debility. Many thousands suffer in silence, hopeless of relief, having often been deceived by unprincipled quacks. Such is not the case with Dr. G. Edgar Lothrop's CORDIAL BALM OF SYRICUM and TONIC PILLS. A very short trial will demonstrate their efficacy.

Any who suffer from the effects of over indulgence in tobacco, or alcoholic stimulants, Palpitation of the Heart, St. Vitus' Dance, Epilepsy, Nervous Headache, Sleeplessness, Restlessness during Sleep, Loss of Memory, Irritability, Nervousness, Twitching of the Nerves, and all other Nervous Diseases, will find this medicine a real blessing.

Should any person into whose hands this notice comes, have a friend whom he knows or thinks is afflicted with any Nervous Disease, Nervous Debility, etc., he will confer a real kindness on his friend by sending it to him, so as to give him an opportunity of being cured by the use of Dr. Lothrop's CORDIAL BALM OF SYRICU
