The Kings Business

The typical pattern of young America today is that of obtaining an education, securing a good job and continually seeking to gain social status and acceptance by the people. This prominent idea of getting, getting, getting is grasping a large majority of our Christian youth.

The time has come to stop and consider the claims of our Creator on our lives. What does He have for us to do in the short time that remains prior to His second coming?

Christ exhorts us in Mark's gospel to go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature. This command still ho'ds for the youth of this day and age. There is a mission to be carried out and we, God's children, are the ones to accomplish it. Foreign fields are constantly crying out for Christian workers to come and help them in their need.

Can we stay at home when there is such a job to be done? No. The love of God compels us to go and spread the glorious tidings of Christ's redemptive work, which was finished on Calvary's rugged hill.

Let us pray that the Lord of the Harvest will lead us forth to work in His vineyard. Always may our words be as His, "Not as I will, but as Thou wilt."

Editorial

As students of Glen Cove Christian Academy, we have the great privilege of receiving our secondary training in a Christ-centered atmosphere. Much is provided for our well-being and development; however, we have two distinct and pressing needs.

First, our classroom space is inadequate. Classes are meeting in the cramped quarters of four classrooms, a dining room, and the library. Results of this situation are crowded classrooms, too small laboratory space, and confusion during interclass periods, to mention a few.

The second need is that of a gymnasium. The erection of our present temporary one will alleviate conditions to some extent. We are grateful to Rockport for allowing us to use their gym when the need has arisen, but we need our own finished and usable gymnasium. When we have this, the physical education program under Mr. Chaffee will be strengthened, the basketball team will have a place for practice, and general health will improve.

We should appreciate the prayers of God's people concerning these needs.

KENNETH PARKER '64

Our sincere thanks go to Juniors, Kenneth Parker, James Flye and John Lewis, who gave of their time and effort in the Advertising Department of our yearbook.

THE SENIORS

Study! Study! Study! Latin, French, English, Math, Science, History.

For WHAT?

"To show thyself approved."

Approved by whom?

Men set standards of accomplishment in education. These must be met to "pass the course." The knowledge thus gained is the basis for multitudes of further advancement, but the approval of God in these studies and in that of the Word He has provided as a textbook of the knowledge of Himself is the most important course.

But WHY?

That you need not be ashamed on examination in the cause of Christ. All that can be built on the foundation of education without Christ is like the foolish man building on sand. The knowledge of Christ in relation to all things is building on that Rock, Christ Jesus, and will stand all tests of all time. "On Christ, the Solid Rock, you stand; all other ground is sinking sand."

THE CHRISTIAN'S MISSION

Two things stand out in the Bible: man's need and God's ability to meet man's need. The Christian has the glorious privilege of ministering to people the world over. The Christian is sent into the world to be a channel of blessing and to communicate between God and men. His marching orders are given in the Bible. His authority is the Lord Jesus Christ. His mission is the greatest mission on the earth.

Today the need of man is very great. There are still places where the gospel has not been preached. Workers are needed by almost every mission. Population is exploding in every part of the world. Men and women need the truth of the Bible, the way of salvation. On the other hand God is still abundantly able to meet this pressing need. We read in Timothy that God "will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth" (I Tim. 2:4). God has not changed His plans for man. His desire is that man should have fellowship with Him.

The answer to this double problem of man's need and God's desire to meet this need is Christian workers. We are to pray the Lord of the harvest to thrust forth laborers. We are to live in submission to Christ ourselves and expect others to do likewise. Christ has promised to supply all our needs and to go with us wherever we go. He is able to make us a blessing to others. The Christian's problem is one of submission. In James 4:7 we read, "Submit yourselves therefore to God." Let Him have His way in your life.

Senior News

Well, we finally have arrived! Our big year is almost over. It truly has been a good year. We, all twenty of us, find ourselves very busy with all our studies, class business, and activities.

Our class officers this year are Brenda Howes, President; Lorraine Black, Vice-President; Dorothy Fowler, Treasurer; and Wilma Leonard, Secretary. These four class officers and Mike Spencer are our representatives to the Student Council.

We are very thankful for our class advisor, Mrs. Herrick, who has given of her time and efforts to make our senior year successful.

There are eleven seniors who are in the choir this year. They are Sheila Closson, Brenda Howes, Elsie Hatfield, Susan Ward, Sheila Fraser, Sandra Bragg, Sandra Putnam, Douglas Milanese, Connie Rines, Wilma Leonard, and Sharon Ivey. Brenda Howes and Susan Ward are also in one of the high school trios.

Seniors who participated in the one-act play, "Midnight Oil," were Margaret Peard and Lorraine Black.

The Seniors were represented on the basketball squad by Mike Spencer, Wilma Leonard, Lorraine Black, and Pamela Clark, while Margaret Peard, Linda Harris, and Sandra Putnam are on the cheering squad.

This year the seniors took their class trip to Rumney, New Hampshire, in March, for three and a half exciting, fun-packed days with Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Chaffee as chaperons.

Prophecy

In the year 1973, we see Susan Ward arriving at Gorham State Teachers College to see about taking postgraduate courses. Upon entering the auditorium, she hears the names of the Seniors being announced over the microphone. Much to her surprise she hears the name Michael Spencer, who is finally graduating after ten long, hard years of study. Dorothy Fowler is still patiently waiting.

As the march begins, Susan notices that Peggy Stanley is at the piano. Later, she learns that Peggy is also the organist at a nearby church.

Hurriedly she takes a seat beside a housewife, who automatically nudges her with a forceful blow. Turning, she sees none other than Sheila Closson. Immediately they start discussing what the graduates of '63 are doing.

As the Seniors gather on stage, Marie Baker rushes past to put their picture on film. We notice that she has not yet gone on her diet.

Susan tells Sheila of the recent Missionary Conference that she attended and of her talk with Sheila Fraser, who is home on furlough. From her, we learn that Brenda Howes is doing a wonderful work in the orphanage that she helped to start, and that Sandra Putnam is a missionary to a tribe of women in South Africa. Men must be getting scarce nowadays. Peggy Peard is working on translating the Bible for this tribe.

Sheila mentions that Linda Harris has been given the position of head nurse at Lynn General Hospital, and she no longer thinks the long years of studying Latin were so bad after all. We also learn that Lorraine Black is a faithful visitor of those suffering with high temperatures.

Sharon Ivey has married John Hatfield; and Elsie Hatfield, who is working with A. S. S. U., has come to Washington County to help the Hatfields control their little mob. We always knew that there would eventually be enough in Washington County for her to teach.

Sandra Bragg has become the new business manager of G. C. C. A., where Pamela Clark is now working in the kitchen. Miss Wilma Leonard has finally achieved her goal—lifesaving on the new beach there.

Although Douglas Milanese was very slow during his school days, he has gained speed with his Volkswagon and now is a traveling evangelist.

The girls decided that, though their graduating class was small, the impact of its members has been felt all over the world.

Gratitude

Dear Friends in Christ:

As we are completing our Senior year, our hearts are filled with gratitude to the Staff for their whole-hearted service in training us at this Academy.

We are so grateful to all the teachers for the time and effort that they have expended in order to make this training most helpful.

We give our thanks to the members of the Board of Directors, who have successfully provided this means of training. We wish to reward their efforts by going forth and sharing with others the blessed truths which we have learned here.

We would not neglect to thank our parents and friends for standing behind us and backing us with prayer.

We are most grateful for these years, and we will never cease to praise our Saviour for each one of you.

BRENDA HOWES,
Class President.

Class Trip

Our class enjoyed three days at the Rumney Conference grounds in Rumney Depot, New Hampshire. We truly enjoyed the snow, the sightseeing, the food, and the Christain fellowship.

Each evening we had a time of devotions together, which was of great spiritual help. We also attended a prayer meeting in the little church in Hill, New Hampshire, one of Mr. Chaffee's former churches.

We are thankful to Mr. and Mrs. Chaffee for chaperoning us and for the many things they have done for us.

All in all, we had a wonderful time together in the Lord.

Activities

Activities

A spelling contest, in which all the schools in the league were represented, was held on November 7th at Warren. Those from Christian Academy who participated were as follows: senior, Sheila Fraser; junior, Patricia Cunningham; sophomore, Lois Smith; and freshman, Allen Huntley. Brenda Howes went as an alternate. We were especially proud of Lois Smith, who was the runner-up in the contest.

On November 14, 1962, five of our students, selected by the Student Council, went as Exchange Students to Cambridge Christian High School, Cambridge, Massachusetts. The group included seniors: Elsie Hatfield and Priscilla Williams; juniors: Cindy Door, Frank Ouellette, and Kenneth Parker. They were chaperoned by Mrs. Alice Baker.

For two days we engaged in their activities, including classes, a basketball game, a tour of Boston, and an overnight stay in some of their homes.

The highlight of our visit was the debate on "Federal Aid to Private Schools," a subject chosen by the Cambridge Student Council. In this debate we defended the negative position.

During our visit we enjoyed fellowship with other believers.

I Timothy 4:2

All honor students having an average of 90 or above for the first semester were honored at a banquet on March 4. Mr. Duff was Master of Ceremonies. Dr. Fish introduced the members of the Board and brought a brief message from the Scriptures. The students introduced themselves and gave testimonies. The girls' trio sang two selections. Attending the banquet were seniors: Brenda Howes, Margaret Stanley, Susan Ward; juniors: Kenneth Parker; sophomores: Betty Bray, Ellen Walker, Martha-Jean Wotton, Lois Smith; freshmen: Ruth Duff, Gloria Huntley, Sharon McDougal, Storme Shaw, and David Webster.

Waitresses, who had received near-honor rank, were seniors: Lorraine Black, Sheila Closson, Dorothy Fowler, Wilma Leonard; and freshman: Deborah Smith.

A one-act play, "Midnight Oil," written and produced by Mrs. Chaffee, was performed by our school in competition with other schools in the area, at Rockport on March 8. The cast included David Webster, Storme Shaw, Lorraine Black, Margaret Peard, Ruth Duff, and Sharon McDougal.

On April 11, a piano recital will be presented under the direction of Miss Betty Howe.

The piano selections will be given by Sandra Bearce, Sybil Pearl, Brenda Howes, Sharon McDougal, Kathy Stonier, Mrs. Donald McDougal, and Sharon Turner; while the vocalists will be Sharon McDougal, Judy Gerstung, Brenda Reed, Tedd Fish, Naomi Cousins, Leslie Stiles, Sharon Mattson, and Donald McDougal.

The program will also include a challenge to missions in the form of a musical presentation entitled, "The Love of Christ Constrains Us."

Each Thursday evening we hold a prayer meeting, where we pray for special requests of students and have testimonies.

Each Saturday night we have youth rallies to which the public is invited. Our program includes a special speaker and a volunteer choir which sings each evening. Lives have been changed as a result of these times of fellowship in the Lord.

Each day we take time out from our class schedule for chapel. We have had many inspiring speakers, including members of our staff and visiting missionaries and pastors. We praise Him for the blessings that we have received from His Word.

Psalm 119:105

Many blessings have been received by those attending Missionary Prayer Bands each evening, under the leadership of the following students:

	First Shift	Second Shift
Mon.	James Flye, Africa	Alden Vincent, N. America
Tues.	Brenda Howes, Europe	Ken Parker, S. America
Wed.	Sharon Turner, Asia	George Phelps, Europe
Thurs.	Elsie Hatfield, S. America	Charles Ring, Asia
Fri.	Frank Ouellette, N. America	Doug Milanese, Africa

We trust that our prayers have been a comfort and a blessing to those serving our Saviour in all parts of the world.

"The effectual, fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much."

James 5:16b

Our school has enjoyed different parties for the student body including a Halloween party, Christmas party, and a Valentine party. These consisted of games, skits, and refreshments, with a short devotional period to end each evening.

The public speaking contest with a wide variety of selections will take place in our chapel on April 25th. Those participating are Judy McDaniel, Sheila Closson, Larry Stanley, Nelda Abbott, Kathy Stonier, Leona Roy, Margaret Peard, and Margaret Stanley.

TRIO

Lois Smith, Brenda Howes, and Susan Ward.

The first trio has enjoyed trips to Campobello Island with Mr. Troester and to the Thomaston youth group with Mr. Sprague. They also travel with the choir and have one selection in the choir arrangement. Brenda accompanies this trio with her accordion.

QUARTET

John Lewis, Victor Perry, Peggy Stanley, Storme Shaw, Paul Anderson.

The quartet, with Margaret Stanley accompanying, has had opportunities to sing for the glory of the Lord in the many churches where the choir has served.

They have also sung in Thomaston and at one Saturday night Youth Rally here at school.

TRIO

Ellen Walker, Sharon Mattson, Sharon McDougal, and pianist Ruth Duff.

A second trio, including Ellen Walker, Sharon Mattson, and Sharon McDougal has sung in one of our chapel services and at a special service in East Dixfield. This trio has a special number in the choir.

First Row: Kenny Parker, John Lewis, Mike Spencer, Charlie Wheeler, Wayne Berger.
 Standing: Coach Glenn Chaffee, Jim Flye, Brad Jackson, Skip Small, Jeff Courville, Paul
 Anderson, Skip Thomas, Don Kumpunen, Ernie Fraser, Manager Danny Pettingill.

Boys B. B.

The Warriors made a promising start during the Round Robin, by being the only team to win both of its games. We won over Warren 11-8 and Appleton 8-5.

We were winning most of our games until George Phelps broke his ankle while home for Christmas vacation. Deprived of a starting guard, the team lost morale. However, because of the effort of Coach Chaffee, we continued to play hard and improve. As the last of the season drew near, the team seemed to recapture some of its spirit. A week before the sectional tourney the Warriors played Rockport, a Class-M school and lost 66-61. The game was a definite improvement of the team's play.

While the credit for the games that were won must go to a team that played good ball, a great deal of the credit must go to center Charlie Wheeler, who led the team in points nearly every game, and to Coach Chaffee, who worked hard with us despite the limited practice facilities.

As the Warriors drew a bye in the first night of the tourney, our only game was against Vinalhaven with Vinalhaven winning.

Many games were lost for lack of practice, as our gymnasium was not finished in time for the basketball season.

We wish to thank the town of Rockport, who allowed us to use their gymnasium for the home games and for practice. To them goes our heart-felt gratitude.

Cross-Country

Last fall, for the first time, Glen Cove Christian Academy had a cross-country team. Although this year was mainly for the building of a team, the boys tried hard in the various meets. They participated in meets against the Thomaston Clippers, Rockport Beavers, Warren Tigers, and the Appleton Huskies. Members of the team were Carl Small, Jr., Arthur Thomas, Doug Milanese, Mike Spencer, Charles Ring, Dave Webster, Dave Cummings, and John Bixby. Mr. Chaffee was the coach, and Wayne Berger was the manager.

 Second Row: Mr. Chaffee, Wanda Jones, Kathleen DeWitt, Judith McDaniel, Sandra Bearce, Norma Beard, Mary Corson, Joan Corson, Elizabeth Keay—Assistant Coach.

Girls B. B.

Girls' sports were enjoyed by members of all classes. The girls' volleyball team participated in the Medomak Valley League competition this year. Under the fine coaching of Miss Doris Anderson, we won several of our games.

The basketball team showed great improvement over last year under the competent coaching of Mrs. George Duff, and Mr. Glenn Chaffee, assisted by Miss Elizabeth Keay. They won some games and lost others by only a few points; the season proved to be exciting for all concerned.

By far the most exciting game played was with Vinalhaven at Rockport. Because of a previous defeat by the island team, our girls set their minds to winning and in doing so, handed the Lobsters a 30-25 upset.

Seniors, who will be missed next year, are Pame Clark, Lorraine Black, and Wilma Leonard.

First Row: Sharon Ivey, Martha-Jean Wotton, Cynthia Dorr, Sheila Fraser, Sheila Closson, Lois Smith, Mrs. Harold Duff, Susan Ward, Merlene Noyes, Judith McDaniel, Sandra Bragg, Ruth Duff.

Second Row: Allen Huntley, Constance Rines, Gloria Huntley, Linda Ranquist, Sharon McDougal, Sharon Mattson, Ellen Walker, Wilma Leonard, Brenda Howes, Elsie Hatfield, David Webster, Wayne Berger.

Choir

The thirty-six members of our choir, under the direction of Mrs. Harold Duff, have had many opportunities to serve our Lord this year.

Our theme has followed the "Footsteps of Jesus." This arrangement by our director has been a blessing to many.

Our choir has had the privilege of ministering in the following towns: Knox Ridge, Dixmont Center, Steep Falls, Cambridge, Mechanic Falls, Caribou, Farmington, West Hampden, Coopers Mills, Lee, Old Town, Houlton, Mars Hill, East Wilton, Camp Fair Haven, Morrill, Sherman Station, and Presque Isle.

The testimony of our choir is expressed in Psalm 108:3. "I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people, I will sing praises unto thee among the nations."

MY FAVORITE WINTER SPORT

When the last autumn leaf has fluttered to the earth and light snowflakes begin to fall, the time has come for me to prepare for fun-packed winter, with skiing first and foremost in my mind. The thought of it makes my whole body tingle with excitement.

The first step to getting ready is putting the skis back into A-1 condition. Having dependable, sturdy skis is a must for the top-notch skier. After adjusting the clamps, checking for any warps, and waxing the bottoms of the skis, I am all ready to start enjoying my favorite winter sport, skiing.

What a thrill to whirl past snow-laden, giant evergreens, while millions of tiny snowflakes whirl around you! It's an experience you can never forget. The minute you take off into that whole new winter wonderland of your own, you'll feel care-free and lighthearted. Each time will be more enjoyable and exciting than the last. You'll wish you could ski forever and ever.

But, alas! All too soon come the gentle rainstorms that announce spring and the beautiful snow diminishes little by little, until finally the last patch dissolves and slides into a pool of water at the end of the slope. The green grass starts growing here and there in small patches. Now's the time to anticipate the gay summer months with swimming, fishing, and just plain goofing off. All these are fun, but the heart of the skier, although enjoying summer pleasures, longs for the time he can again glide down the side of a mountain and leave all the cares of the world far behind. That is living!

AUTUMN

by

REBECCA BLOOD

Autumn is the most colorful time of the year. It is the time when the earth is readying itself for winter slumber. The first frost comes and kills the last of the summer's festive flowers. The blazing leaves gaily twirl to the ground covering the earth with a decorative patchwork quilt.

The morning air is crisp, clean, good to breathe. Fill your lungs and you feel as though you could live forever. It readies you for a vigorous day of raking the blazoned leaves that fell from what is now the naked branches of the wan trees. Toward dusk the odor of the smoldering leaves is carried on the playful breezes.

Autumn is not only the end but the beginning. It is a time when the hordes of people are back in the cities, returning to jobs and school after a leisurely vacation. I think of it as the start of a new year, for all seems to begin again at this time.

It is contrary to nature for autumn to be the beginning. Mother Nature planned it to be the end, for it is the time of ripening and of harvest, the time when all the fattened animals go into hibernation. Autumn also marks the start of hardship for the birds and the gray squirrel.

The colors, shadows, quiet freshness, all inspire the poetically-minded person to write lines such as these by John Thomas:

"The pale descending year, yet pleasing still,
A gentle mood inspires; for now the leaf
Incessant rustles from the mournful grove;
Oft startling such as studious walk below
And slowly circles through the waving air."

THE CRY OF THE DOOMED

Oh, what a horror it would be
To see a soul in Eternity!
Lost! Forever in Eternal Hell;
No more chance—in Heaven to dwell.

Lost! Forever to writhe in pain;
No more chance for hope again:
Tears and anguish—sorrow within:
All because—because of sin.

Forever crying, "Please, set me free!
Why didn't you tell me of Calvary?
Why did you let me go on my way
When you knew I was doomed for this dreadful day?

"Gnashing of teeth, heartache and pain—
That's what I've found was mine to gain.
Why, tell me, why didn't you warn me of this
And let me enjoy your Eternal bliss?

"There I lay, night after night
Sick at heart and chilled with fright.
No one to care: no one to win;
I lay there burdened and sick with sin.

"If you had cared, you would have come
And told me of Christ and the heavenly home.
If you had loved me as you once said,
You'd have kept me from this Eternal bed.

"Now, it's Too Late—Too Late for me!
Go! Tell someone else of Calvary.
Keep some dear soul from this horrible place
And lead him to Jesus—face to face."

BRENDA HOWES '63

AN EXASPERATING JOURNEY!

Ten, nine, eight, seven, six, five, four, three, two, one! Boom! A jerk and a lurch and my space ship and I were off, off through the silent and endless space. I waved frantically through my peephole to my jubilant friends who were standing on the ground watching in utter amazement. They looked like the miniature paper dolls I used to play with, and how I wished way down deep I could be home playing with them now. But, I was zooming through the dark, shadowy, and gloomy depths of space now, and it was absolutely thrilling! Every minute, I was traveling thousands of miles. It wasn't long before I began to feel a little bit queasy and nauseated. But that didn't matter now.

I turned to my peephole and glanced out. I could just make out the first signs of the Milky Way. A second later, I was right in the middle of this vast system of stars. At this time, I reached out to snatch a Milky Way chocolate bar. I didn't think this was stealing, because a chocolate bar wasn't needed out here in the middle of nowhere. I bit into the tough substance and almost felt my teeth loosen in my jaws, it was so hard. I was quite convinced by the time I wormed out of that one that the companies at home surely know how to mix up a Milky Way better than the Space Agency of Deluxe Cooking here did.

Then out of the far corner of my eye I caught a glimpse of the full moon. It looked so vast and beautiful, I wondered who on earth might be canoeing on a rippling lake at that time. I almost wished it was I, but then, I was millions of miles from that speck and was having a fantastic time! I waved a hurried "Hello" and "Good-by" to the looming figure and whispered to it softly that on the return trip I would stop and visit it and all its splendor.

The next thing I knew I was approaching Mars. By this time I was famished, but I had little hope that a Mars bar would digest any better than a Milky Way, so I dismissed from my mind any idea of eating. Suddenly I was taken off guard by a small object that was more or less sauntering by my window. I wildly retrieved it and discovered it was a Mars bar just like those we had at Glen Cove. I contemplated getting all sticky again but instantly pushed aside the thought of leaving the chocolate bar. After a brief word of thanks to God for the small but sufficient portion, I gobbled it up. Hum! It melted right in my mouth.

I had to go out of my course to miss hitting Jupiter and getting held up there for a couple of years until I found a gas station to do a repair job on my ship. Secretly, I didn't think there would be any such thing, but, of course, one never knows what he will find in space!

Snap! Crackle! Pop! Something went! I turned to my panel of buttons and was astonished to find that the dials had changed, and they showed I was going in a circular course.

I put on my specs and peered through my peephole once again. What I saw made me tremble with horror! I had unconsciously let my space ship get swerved into the magnetic rings of Saturn. Somehow, they had attracted me. How, I'll never know! Around and around I twirled. It was worse than being on a roller coaster. Although the rings were magnificent, I'd rather have been home watching the sunset at that moment. Then without any hesitation, I made up my mind to "get" whether the "getting" was good or bad. It didn't matter. I pushed some levers and waited to see what would become of me. It surely was a tense moment.

It was then I heard Dad's call, "Ruthie, it's six o'clock. Time to get up and get dressed!"

MY GUIDE

He picked me out of the miry clay
Where I, a hell-bound sinner, lay.
He girded me up and helped me through,
The storms of life and the trials, too!
I now stand on the Solid Rock
Tho' the devil with his temptations knocks.
To Jesus I whisper, "You'll see me through—
My Saviour, my Shepherd, my Pilot, too."

LINDA RANQUIST

THE OCEAN'S JOURNEY

The ocean waves so gay and free—
What more could they ever ask to be?
Traveling along in rain or snow,
Moving to where they want to go,
Speeding along, enjoying the ride,
Racing away to meet the tide.
