A LITTLE BOOK WITH A BIG MESSAGE

SANTA RECONSIDERS shows the spiritual relationship of Santa Claus to the Christmas story.

A few excerpts from reviews of SANTA RECONSIDERS:

The Book Exchange, Sardinia House, Kingsway, London. March 1955.

"This really delightful Christmas fantasy, which will be enjoyed by grownups quite as much as children, is a welcome answer; it is one of the very few that combine Santa and the Christ-Child. It reawakens the wonder at the deep significance of Christmas and the joy it brings to the world."

Sunday Call-Chronicle, Allentown, Pa. Dec. 19, 1954. Review by Bessie Anne Waller.

"The Young in spirit are taken on a trip through the mysteries of Santa-land to make of this fascinating fantasy another attractive contribution to the ever-growing Christmas literature."

The Shreveport Times, Shreveport, La. Nov. 28, 1954. Review by Margaret McDonald.

"All who believe that God is the heart of Christmas will find in this little fantasy a satisfactory answer to the question, 'Is Santa Claus obsolete?' This book is one which should be read by the sophisticate, the pseudo-intellectual, the person who regards Christmas as a promotion stunt of commercial interests. So long as there are those with the spirit of Christmas in their hearts, so long will there be those to read and enjoy books like this one."

The Gettysburg Times, Gettysburg, Pa. Oct. 20, 1954.

"Written in a style that will interest children and grown-ups alike, the Asquiths' book presents a capable defense for Jolly Old Saint Nick, whom the Asquiths feel has been 'much maligned of late'."

A book for the family, SANTA RECONSIDERS has delighted church and school groups as a dramatic reading.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Asquith:

Thank you very much indeed for the copy of your delightful book, SANTA RECONSIDERS, which we are adding to the Maine Author Collection through your generosity and the thoughtfulness of a former staff member, Mrs. Carol Voss.

It is a charming and unique book, and we hope it will become widely known. We shall note it in the Maine in Print column of the next issue of the Bulletin of the Maine Library Association, so that other Maine libraries may be made aware of its availability.

Our warm thanks and very best wishes for 1957.

Sincerely yours

In Charge of Maine Author Collection
