PHILLIPS MFG COMPANY.

Addition to Their Lumber Mill Now Being Built.

Cant Dog Factory to Be Located Here Next Spring.

Hunnewell & Norton of Kingfield were in Phillips this week in conference with Postmaster S. G. Haley with reference to a cant dog factory that they proposed to build in Phillips. Mr. Haley is president of the Phillips Manufacturing company and he also owns quite a large amount of standing hard wood. Mr. Haley sold the Kingfield parties 50,000 feet of hard wood which he will have squared up by the Phillips Manufacturing company and deliver in the squares. This will be made into finished cant dog handles here. They will be ironed here by themselves in their own blacksmith shop. They use principally rock maple with some yellow birch and other kinds of hard wood. These parties propose to add to their business here from time to time in addition to their Kingfield business. They will begin their work here early next spring.

The Phillips Manufacturing company is building a two-story addition to their mill to make room for lathes that they proposed to put in for the manufacture of different kinds of lumber.

The new part is about 30x70 feet and two stories besides a basement. We venture the assertion that very few people in town realize what a plant this is or what an important addition it is to the industries of the town. It is the purpose of the company to eventually work up various kinds of hard wood into finished goods that will employ a large number of hands.

Millinery Openings.

At the millinery opening at Miss Bana Beal's store last Saturday afternoon and evening, one had the opportunity of seeing some very smart hats. As for the shapes of the hats to be worn it is largely a matter of taste, but the tall crowned hat is the newest shape to be shown. More color is to be worn this winter than for several seasons and burnt orange, mahogany brown, terra cotta, bright green and reseda are destined to be very popular. Among the most noticeable of Miss Beal's hats were the following:

Large made hat of black velvet, high crown trimmed with black tips, soft black ribbon and brilliant ornaments.

Black hat of shirred velvet, black ribbon, large white wings and steel buckle.

Mahogany brown hat with the crown trimmed with two shades of ribbon and long reseda shaded with brown owl's head.

Black hat made of liberty silk with ostrich plumes gracefully arranged over one side and fastened with a large buckle.

Crushed velvet hat trimmed with soft brown shirred ribbon to match and large gilt buckle.

Misses large white shaggy beaver, trimmed with green mirror velvet, white feather pompon and brilliant buckles.

Ladies' hat of champagne color, trimmed with terra cotta velvet with long terra cotta shaded breast, gilt ornaments.

Black shaggy beaver hat, trimmed with shirred burnt orange velvet, with black feather pompon and black ornaments.

Many new things in stocks are shown. The four-in-hand ties are still popular and very neat are the linen collars with the hemstitched edge.

More than seventy-five visited the store of Timberlake & Bangs last Thursday afternoon and evening when they advertised to have their opening of fall and winter millinery. Many handsome hats were shown by them and admired by the visitors. Large hats are in style and so are small ones so it will be seen that the size of the hat is a matter of choice. Not quite so much trimming will be used as usual. Following is the description of a few seen:

A brown beaver trimmed with brown and two shades of orange velvet.

Mahogany colored hat, boat shaped, with a broad band of mahogany velvet on the edge and trimmed with a large pompon and two shades of mahogany silk.

Misses sailor with a rolling brim in red felt, high stiff band covered with red velvet around the crown, trimmed square across the front with shaded red wings and a large buckle.

A child's hat of red beaver, simply trimmed with red ribbon and cream colored lace and gilt buckle.

Misses hat, rolling sailor of pearl gray with a finish about the edge of maroon colored accordion plaited velvet and trimmed very simply across the front with changeable ribbon in the shades of maroon.

A hat of brown felting with large brim extending well over the face, shirred facing of orange velvet underneath with the felt cut in sections and brought down over it. Trimmed with an orange and brown military pompon.

Large black hat of mirror velvet trimmed with black tips and accordion plaited ribbon.

White felt trimmed with two long ostrich plumes and rosettes of white satin ribbon and had underneath a cluster of roses shading from orange to dark brown.

Timberlake & Bangs have added a very choice line of perfumes and toilet articles to their stock of goods.

They also have a fine line of stocks, collars, etc.

Delicious coffee and cake were served to their visitors on Thursday.

Village Improvement Society Organized.

A goodly number of ladies met at the home of Mrs. H. W. True last Tuesday evening for the purpose of organizing a Village Improvement society. A few weeks ago the idea was mentioned by Mrs. True to several and they very readily approved of the plan.

It is hoped that the citizens and everyone in the town will become interested in this work. There is a good field for work to be done in improving our town. The ladies plan to serve suppers and give entertainments to raise funds. They organized with the following officers: Mrs. H. W. True, president; Miss Sarah Toothaker, vice president; Miss Annie Timberlake, secretary; Mrs. Howard Carter, treasurer; Mrs. H. W. True, Mrs. J. W. Brackett, Mrs. E. H. Shepard, executive committee. It was planned to serve a supper early in November and Mrs. Arno Pratt, Mrs. F. H. Wilbur and Mrs. C. E. Parker were appointed a committee to make arrangements for the same.

WIGWAG STOCK QUOTATIONS

Fluctuations In Cereal Prices

Made Known by Signals.

"Wireless telegraphy is nothing new to the Japanese," said City Clerk Connelly of Newark, N. J., to a New York Sun reporter. "They have used it, or something that answers the same purpose, for years."

Mr. Connelly was consul to Osaka and Hiogo for three years and he speaks with admiration of their cleverness.

"I read the other day," he remarked, "that Japan was up to it not ahead of the world in developing the new system of wireless telegraphy and I can well understand it. For I don't know how long they have had a system of sending stock fluctuations up and down the entire empire."

"They keep posted from one end of Japan to the other on the slightest movement in the cereal market, during business hours, and they send the messages from the mountain and hilltops."

"They use flags mostly, but part of the way I think they have men to make gestures from one point to another. No one knows just how they do it, or at least a very few, and every time they think outsiders have mastered their code they change the whole system."

"They keep the country posted on every fluctuation in the grain market down to the fraction of a cent."

The inference is that the Russians could not possibly make a demonstration of any sort on the Japanese coast without all the particulars becoming known, almost on the instant, in Tokio, no matter how isolated the spot might be upon which the Russians made their attack.

Supreme Judicial Court.

Wednesday, after the French trial was disposed of, the case of state vs. Harrison King was taken up. King, as reported last week, was indicted by the grand jury for keeping a drinking house and tipping shop in the town of Jay. King pleaded not guilty to the charges and gave bonds for his appearance for trial. The time alleged in the indictment in which King's transgression was committed was between Jan. 1 and Sept. 20, 1904, and the testimony of several individuals was offered by the state. Deputy H. A. Allen stated that he visited King's house sometime during the summer and found a glass partly filled with gin; another person named Reed testified to being there with a friend who treated him on whiskey, which he ordered and paid for; another witness testified to finding liquor at King's, but it was after Sept. 20. Mr. King, it should be stated, kept a boarding house.

King gave no testimony, though he came to court accompanied by several witnesses. After the state's evidence was heard Justice Strout instructed the jury to return a verdict for the respondent—as there was no evidence to convict him.

County Attorney Wing conducted the case of the state and E. O. Greenleaf, appeared for the respondent.

The next was the case of state vs. Melvin Blaisdell of New Sharon. This was another cruelty to animals case. The respondent is the individual better known to our readers as John M. Blaisdell, whom the Italian Ross attempted to burglarize a few years ago and who more recently came to the attention of the public through the condition his barn and stock were found in when paid a visit by Agent Hunt—and likewise whose pigs the artist, Mark Fenderson, so nicely cartooned.

The offense alleged against Blaisdell this time was that of "willfully, cruelly and unnecessarily" failing to provide proper food and shelter to a certain ox, as technically stated, but which in reality included his entire stock.

Blaisdell's barn is an old one "ripe and full of years." Agent Hunt testified to visiting it last fall and finding it in an undesirable condition and suggested to Blaisdell that he put it in better shape and care better for his stock, especially the ox mentioned above, who was thin and did not seem to be getting a sufficiency of food. He paid the barn another visit in March; found many big cracks in it, the boards entirely off in some places and one of the doors open, and in a condition so it could not be shut to close.

Deputy Sheriff Gould visited the barn also and testified to finding it open and not sufficiently warm for the stock in a cold winter; also that the ox was pretty thin, and that he thought his mate was getting the food away from him, and suggested a partition between the feeding place of the two be put in.

The barn was visited again later in March, when snow was found in the barn in a considerable quantity, and the sheep without water to drink and the stock generally not looking especially well.

Melvin Blaisdell, the respondent testified that he was 73 years of age, that he had fed his stock well all last winter—the particular ox in question better than the rest, and that the animal was in a good working condition, that he was of a "rawny" build and would not fat. The sheep were watered till the acqueduct failed, he said, and he then shoveled snow in for them, and also kept the door open at times so they might run out and eat snow for themselves. He admitted that there were some "cracks" in the barn but did not know of any boards being off, or of any doors that were off their hinges or "would not shut."

Several witnesses appeared for the respondent who represented that the stock was well fed and in a fair condition, but who did not seem to have any particular knowledge about the condition of the barn, other than it was an old one.

The case was given to the jury Thursday forenoon. After setting on the case till about 12 o'clock that night they were permitted to retire. Friday morning they came in and reported a disagreement. Wing for state; E. E. Richards for resp.

The adultery case of Adelbert Morrison and Amanda Pepper was settled by the payment of $100 by Morrison.

In the case of state vs. Carleton F. Bubier, indicted for cruelty to animals, the respondent paid the costs, assessed at $25, and the case was not proseed. The case of B. Frank Russell, indicated for the same offense, was also not proseed.

Clofus Poulin of Jay, indicated for simple sale of intoxicating liquor, had a fine imposed on him of $50.

In the case of Henry Bursiel of Jerusalem, indicated for breaking and entering and larceny, a nol pros was entered as regarded the breaking and entering, and he was fined $100 for the other offense.

In the three indictments against Alec Dumont of Jay for violating the liquor laws, the default of principal and sureties were entered.

The assault and battery case against Oscar Welch was not proseed.

The liquor cases against V. Gilbert of Crocker Township and Louis Gaudich of Jay were left at the close of court about where the grand jury left them, owing to the inability to secure the person of the offenders.

Chas. E. Dyer of Strong, indicted at a former term for violating the liquor laws, paid a fine of $250 and was discharged. This was the only money paid into the treasury for liquor sentences during the term.

The case of E. M. Higgins vs. The Franklin County Agricultural Society was marked for trial the first day of next term.

In the case of Miles H. Wyman vs. The Victoria Mfg. Co., the deft.'s offer to be defaulted for $55 was accepted.

The case of Arthur Tucker vs. Jessie H. Preston was marked for trial on the second day of next term.

A non-suit was entered in the case of Miranda B. Merritt vs. Abbie C. Clark.

The case of Minnie O. Lane vs. Daniel E. Haywood was marked for trial on the first day of the May term.

In the case of Walter S. Heath, complt., vs. Winfield S. Dodge, for which a commission was appointed at the May term, Judge J. H. Thompson, one of the members, declined to serve and, by suggestion of counsel, Justus Webster of Chesterville was appointed to the position.

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

At the Methodist church Rev. D. R. Ford of Peak's Island preached from a passage of 1 Tim. iii, 16, "And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness." I want to use this text to induce a consideration of mysteries that may strengthen and confirm the faith of believers and help to remove doubts from those who do not yet believe. Mysteries are all about us. This earth itself is a mystery. The scripture tells us that God made it. But we do not know from what or how it was made. We read that it was without form and void. This must mean that it was in a gaseous state. Scientists have demonstrated the fact that all matters now in the earth may be converted into gases. We do not doubt that all things that we see have been brought to their present form from a previous gaseous condition. But how was it done? How could such a number and variety of materials and elements as are found in the soil of the earth be gathered there? Once the people wondered how heat could be obtained when the fuel of the forests should be exhausted. But hidden in the earth were immense supplies of coal. Now a pessimist asks what can we do when the coal has all been burned. I doubt not God has provided something of which we do not yet know that will supply that want of his children. Seventy five years ago if a man had told that hidden in the clay beneath our feet is that metal which we now as aluminum and which has already been used in myriad ways he would have been thought insane. Had he told of that marvellous mineral substance cadmium, and the wonderful power of force that is in it he would have been hustled off to an asylum for the insane now, should some one say to us you may extract from the earth a substance from which you can prepare your lumber, your lumber, your boards, shingles, clapboards, everything needed in the construction of a house we should scarcely dare to disbelieve. We should say "Show me this substance, tell me how it may be done." Marvellous things, mysterious things in the earth. Do we understand how the lower forms of created things reappear in new and higher forms Yet is it not true that they do?

The substance of all vegetation is drawn from the mineral world. The process is a mystery. Yet we know it is done. The plant sends its roots into the soil and takes that from it which becomes the stalk and leaf of the plant. From the tiny bush to the giant trees of the Pacific coast towering from 150 feet to 300 feet above the earth the different forms of vegetable life are built up from the soil.

This is not all. Either directly or indirectly all animal matter is the reappearance in another form of vegetable life. To be sure some animals are carnivorous and feed upon other animals. but we may trace back the derivation of the animal substance till we come to vegetation and further yet to the mineral. The soil of the earth appears in animal life to man himself. The Bible tells us of God that "he knoweth our frame, he remembereth that we are dust."

It is not true of any man, although he may make this his boast that he believes only what he can understand and explain. We believe this transformation from mineral to vegetable, from vegetable to animal. Why can we not believe that there is yet a higher, a spiritual life that is reached by the way of this earthly life of ours. After this body of flesh may come the spiritual body of the resurrection.

All these changes are processes of growth. This last change culminating in the perfected spiritual life is a process of growth. Witness the man of Gadara taken from his life of madness in the tombs and afterward publishing in Decapolis what great things Jesus had done for him. See Saul, the persecutor, transformed into the quiet, gentle, loving Paul the apostle. Remember how Peter from the cowardly disciple who denied knowledge of his Lord became the brave apostle who said, "Whether it be right in the sight of God to hearken unto you more than unto God, judge ye, for we cannot but speak the things which we have seen and heard." Our own observation will show us instances where the Spirit of God in the life of a man has wrought transformations as astonishing as these.

I have in mind now the case of a man living on an island in Casco bay who, touched by the power of God, from a drunken terror to family and neighbors became a respected helpful citizen.

I want you to notice that each form of matter and of life are lifted to a higher plane by the power of something that God has created of a higher nature than itself.

God first created the earth. Afterward he made the plant with power to lift to its own level the mine at which it appropriated. Then, the animal living upon the vegetation. When he would raise man to a higher spiritual life, he sent his Son Jesus Christ and he it is who lifts humanity out of itself to a likeness to God.

Christian Endeavor Notes.

There was a large attendance at the C. E. service Sunday evening. This meeting was especially to emphasize the strength that may come to the society from its honorary membership and was led by Miss Georgine Wilbur. The entire service was of much interest. The music was made a special feature. Several of the memory hymns of the year were sung and interesting incidents connected with the writing and use of the hymns were read.

It is always a pleasure to have our absent members with us again. Sunday evening proved fortunate in that respect for we had the privilege of greeting Mr. A. M. Greenwood and Mr. Don Harden. Come often!

We are glad to announce an addition to the force of local news contributors which we are sure will be an addition to the interest of the news as well.

Miss Sarah Toothaker will give notice of the coming C. E. meetings in the MAINE WOODSMAN and also from time to time will report the C. E. meetings. She has been helping in this way for some time and kindly consents to continue the reports when possible.

From the reports of the Quarterly conference of the executive committee of the United Society of C. E. we clip the following from President Clarke's report, which is cheering news: "The largest proportionate gain (for the quarter) comes from our new territory of Hawaii, which report 25 new societies, a gain of 116 per cent within six months. On Jan. 6 last there were less than half as many societies as there are today.

"Another interesting feature of the last quarter of C. E. is the adoption by the Primitive Methodist church of the U. S. of the name of C. E. in addition to their denominational young people's society name whose title now is The Wesley Guild of C. E.

"The formation of the International Brotherhood of C. E. by representation of 12 European nations at the great convention in London was a significant and far-reaching event."

In all countries the Increase campaign is being undertaken vigorously. From the general secretary's report we learn there have been added since June 1, 1904, 438 societies by the U. S.; two by Canada and 125 foreign, making a total during the vacation season of 565 new C. E. societies.

A Wonderful Man

ARKANSAS CITY, KAN., Oct. 8, 1904

To the Editor of Maine Woodsman:

One of the most enjoyable visits during our late sojourn in the east was with the venerable Loring Coes of Worcester, Mass., who was our distinguished friend for many years as far back as the early sixties and is the only sportsman whom we knew at that time who still makes annual trips to the Rangeeys for the spring fishing and although 92 years old he claims to have taken as many fish this year as any who accompanied him.

Mr. Coes is truly a wonderful man for one of his years. I believe he is the most capable man I ever knew at such an advanced age. He seems as active as most men at 60 and is still doing a wonderful big business. His family has all passed away and he is now alone save a niece, who is keeping his house and a nephew who is interested with him in business.

Mr. Coes invented the monkey wrench in 1844 and secured the patent. He also has been a manufacturer of machine knives of every description since 1830. A brother was in company with him until a few years ago when they failed to agree as their machinery had become more or less out of date and worn out. Loring wanted to cast a part of it aside and replenish with new and more modern tools, but the brother objected and preferred not to put more money into the business. Loring could not be put off and asked the brother what he would take in cash for his part of the business and after a few minutes' talk, made an offer which was accepted. At once the transfer was made and the cash paid over.

This was two years ago in 1902. Since that time a shop much larger than any other of the half dozen shops has been built and now running in full blast. One of the old shops, 30x80 feet, was burned down and in about two weeks it was rebuilt and ready for use. All these things go to show the greatness of Loring Coes and he must have a big fortune as he said his taxes were several thousand dollars.

Mr. Coes lives in a very fine and commodious residence in New Worcester on a plat of three acres. The house is two stories and cupola and contains sixteen rooms, all furnished with very costly furniture. The grounds are all thoroughly beautified with many kinds of trees and ornamented with everything in flowers in the most artistic manner, with fountains of spraying water in the midst.

He would not take no for an answer but I must dine with him, after which the coachman came to the door with a fine team and took us all around and landed me at my stopping place in the city.

Children's Spring Tonic.

After a long winter the children's blood flows sluggishly, the bowels are irregular and the channels of the body clogged. This is the chance for which disease has been lying in wait. No time should be lost in cleansing the blood and regulating the stomach with a good spring medicine. For children's ailments nothing equals Dr. True's Worm Elixir. A few doses will expel worms, if any, and tone up the whole system. A better spring medicine cannot be found. Twenty thousand bottles were sold in March alone. Price 35 cts., at all druggists.

Mr. E. C. A. Becker,

Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in recommending your system of business practice to whomsoever it may concern.

After studying in your business room for seven months, you not only fitted me for a position, but awakened in me an ambition to succeed. Upon graduating, you had a position awaiting me, which I held four years.

I again asked your advice this month and I thank you for the four positions which you offered me, and for the position I now hold with the People's Coal Company, Worcester, Mass.

Special correspondence to Maine Woodsman.

KINGFIELD, Oct. 10, 1904.

Rev. A. E. Saunders returned Friday evening from a trip to Blaine, where he has attended the Free Baptist Maine State association meetings. Mr. Saunders was the special representative of the Anson quarterly meeting. The first meeting was held Tuesday morning and the annual sermon was preached by C. I. Mosher of Augusta. This sermon was an especially interesting and helpful effort and was on the Bible's application to every phase and condition of humanity. B. C. Jordan of Alfred was appointed chairman of the meetings and proved himself worthy of the office.

The Wednesday meetings were largely devoted to the work of the Women's Missionary society. An interesting talk was given by the president, Mrs. Alma Cousins of Steep Falls. Wednesday evening Prof. A. N. Leonard of Lewiston spoke in the interests of Bates college and Cobb D. vinity school. He was followed by Prof. H. R. Purington on "Civic Righteousness." The only complaint the audience had was that the addresses of these two gentlemen were too short. J. Stanley Durkee of Boston preached an able sermon.

Thursday morning was devoted to various matters and an address by Hon. G. F. Mosher, editor of the Morning Star, the denominational paper, on "The Modern Newspaper." Thursday afternoon was devoted to the young people.

Quiet and simple and impressive was the service which brought the beautiful bride and the manly groom into the poods, as conducted by the Rev. R. E. Horne. The room was bright with beautiful flowers and fresh young faces. The bride wore white muslin and carried white roses. After the service music was enjoyed until the party were called to partake of a bountiful repast, where the tables almost groaned under the wealth of hospitality and where smiling faces lent grace to merry jests that went about so freely. When the company parted it was with many wishes for happy observances of many anniversaries of the day.

Kingfield Churches.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH.

The pastor spoke on "Rest" with Matt. xi, 28-30 for a text "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest."

This call of Jesus appeals to all at some time in life for we are all weary and long for rest.

We do not know how to get the rest we need or we do not use the ways we know.

The body needs rest but few know how to cast off the cares that oppress or how to relax the muscles and nerves that are strained to so severe a tension all the time. To lie down or even to sit down for a short time, and to get the real benefit of the rest demands that we know how to let the bed or chair hold us rather than trying as many do with their hands on muscles to hold the bed or chair from escaping in some unguarded moment.

But the secret of rest is that the soul shall be in repose. This is fundamental. For it is the spirit that really becomes fatigued more than the body. Get the soul at peace, with real faith in God and troubles will not trouble so much and cares will not weigh so heavily and the body can rest because the soul is at rest.

There is such a rest through the teachings and life, the hope and love and fellowship, of Jesus.

Rest is perfect adaptation of the soul to its way of life. To this high idea as it was shown in the Master some day we all attain and having heard the call we shall come and rest beneath the sheltering shadow of the rock of ages.

THERE is a rumor that William R. Hearst, a New York publisher, is about to erect a paper mill at Bombazeen River, about four miles from Madison. It is said that he will build a dam 20 feet high at that place and erect a mill having a capacity of 150 tons of paper per day. If this project materializes and the Great Northern Paper Co.'s mill is erected at Fishing Falls, Madison will be the bustling and booming town of Maine.

THE Red Men of the United States—one of the large and growing secret orders of the country, took a most significant action in their national gathering at St. Joseph, Mo., which has been in session recently. They adopted an amendment to the laws of the order debarring all saloon keepers, bartenders and retail liquor sellers from membership in the order, and providing for the expulsion of any member who shall engage in the liquor traffic. This action of the Red Men is a blow at the liquor traffic and a step toward temperance. It is an action that is significant and worthy to be followed by other secret orders. The adoption of similar rules by the leading secret societies of the country would inevitably work a great change in the liquor problem.

THE boys of Aroostook are getting fun this fall out of potato digging contests. Up in Caribou a boy with the suggestive name of Works started in and picked up 65 barrels of potatoes in just five hours. Herbert Ryder then set in to beat this, picking up in one half day or five hours 71 barrels. Steve August then tried his skill for five hours making a record of 90 barrels. This is remarkably fast picking and will probably be the record although young Ryder says he will yet pick up 100 barrels in the half day.

GOVERNOR ELECT and Mrs. William T. Cobb have returned from a trip to the St. Louis exposition. They were guests while in St. Louis of Mr. Cobb's brother, Charles W. S. Cobb, who was in the east and at Bangor at the time of Mr. Cobb's nomination. Charles Cobb was chairman of the business men's association committee that raised the guarantee fund that secured the meeting of the Democratic national convention in that city last summer, although he is strongly Republican in politics. The governor elect was much pleased with the exposition and enjoyed the trip immensely.

ASPARAGUS HAS A LINEAGE

Romans Held Vegetable in High Esteem Many Years Before Christ.

Of all food plants there is none which has been so long known or been possessed of so distinguished a lineage as the asparagus. Its records reach back almost to the beginning of authentic history, and it is mentioned by the comic poet Cratinus, who died about 425 B. C. The Romans held the vegetable in high esteem. The elder Cato wrote a work which is still extant, "De re Rustica," and it treats at length of the virtues and proper cultivation of asparagus. Pliny, in his natural history, written about 60 A. D., has much to say about it. He feelingly observes: "Of all the products of your garden your chief care should be asparagus," and he devotes several chapters to its many good qualities and the best methods of raising it. He asserts that the soil about Ravenna was so favorable to its production that three heads grown in that district had been known to weigh a Roman pound. This pound seems to have been about equal to 11 ounces in our day, so it would apparently have taken four of the stalks to have reached a pound of our weight. The asparagus being essentially a southern plant, it is possible that the stock growing in Italy was of a more vigorous growth than that of our northern clime. It is found all around the shores of the Mediterranean and branches off into four or five distinct species besides the one ordinarily used for edible purposes.

WON BY ORDINARY TALK.

Lack of Arm Gestures and Conversational Tone Wins Heart of Doubtful Maiden.

Congressman William H. Jackson, of Maryland, was engrossed in discussing with a number of colleagues the decadence of oratory, says the New York Herald. "Sane people are not emotional," declared the congressman, "and the conversational delivery of speech carries as much weight with an intelligent audience as does the effort of a declaimer who indulges in brilliant periods with an arm-swinging accompaniment." "You are right," said a listener, "and your statement reminds me of a young lady who had two suitors. Both men had about the same advantages and prospects, but gossip declared that the girl would decide in favor of the man who was a lawyer, for he knew better how to present and win his case. Gossip erred; the lawyer was rejected. Later it was learned from a friend in whom the betrothed had confided her reason for her choice. "Harry is convincing, but John is just as convincing and does not have to move his arms every time he wants to say something."

BIG BEE RANCH IN 'FRISCO

Public School Principal of Coast City Harvests a Third of a Ton of Honey a Season.

There is a bee ranch with more than 1,000,000 bees in the heart of one of the densest residence districts of San Francisco. It is owned by Philip Prior, principal of a public school, and is in the little back yard of his home. For ten years he has kept his bees there, has harvested about a third of a ton of honey each season and has been at no expense for food for his interesting and industrious pets. Although it is a distance of two and one-half miles from the Prior bee ranch to Golden Gate park, the bees make the trip there, collect loads of honey and get back to the hive in two minutes, making a bullet-like flight at the surprising rate of 150 miles an hour. Mr. Prior has demonstrated this by having an observer watch certain bee-favored places in the park and exactly timing the arrival there of bees he purposely sprinkled with flour as they issued from a hive. He has also kept time on the absence of the whitened bees.

MILE-A-MINUTE WATER RIDE

Motor Boat Invented by Frenchman Goes at Express Train Speed.

Among the many interesting experiments with motor boats, says the London Mail, perhaps the most picturesque were those on the Seine at Puteaux, when Comte de Lambert, in conjunction with Messrs. De Dion and Bouton, brought out their bateau glisseur, or gliding boat. It is also called a hydroplane, and that name is really indicative of its construction. With a De Dion 14-horse power motor, the count attained a speed of 28 kilometers an hour in his first experiments, and now he has added to that speed and has made 32 kilometers, or 20 miles, in the hour.

The inventor of this hydroplane is not, however, content with this, and will try in a day or two to raise the speed to 35 or even 40 kilometers, or 25 miles an hour, or a speed that is not exceeded by the use of a 40-horse power motor.

The boat itself is 36 feet long and nine feet wide. To the bottom of the boat are affixed five planes or fins. When the boat is stationary these fins hang vertically in the water. They are hinged, however, and are all under control of the driver. When the motor is set in motion and the boat begins to move these planes, beginning at the bow, are gradually given a backward angle. The boat rises in the water and then gradually rests upon it, with the stern of the boat only immersed. The speed increases, and the boat, following the inclination of the planes, glides along the surface of the water just as an aer plane glides on the air, and with not much more resistance.

It is confidently expected that with an increased horse-power motor the hydroplane will reach a speed of 60 miles an hour.

TO AUCTION QUEEN'S GOODS

All Furniture and Treasures of Isabella of Spain Except Personal Jewels to Go Under Hammer.

It has been decided that the personal jewels of the late Queen Isabella of Spain, who for many years lived in Paris, will not be sold as expected. The casket containing the precious stones, necklaces, etc., has been provisionally deposited at a bank, and as soon as the affairs of the late queen are cleared up and the contents of her palace disposed of the Comte Quiaqui, who has charge of all these matters, will distribute the jewels among the royal family of Spain.

On the other hand, the furniture, objects of art and all the other treasures in the Palais de Castille, Queen Isabella's home in the Avenue Kleber, opposite the United States embassy, will be sold at public auction.

The Marquis de Cuellar has gone to San Sebastian to consult King Alfonso's wishes on the subject and the auction will probably take place early in the autumn. The catalogue is being prepared.

It is well known that the contents of the Palais de Castille are marvels of beauty and worth and constitute a veritable museum. Several offers have been made for the palace itself and the surrounding gardens, but nothing definite has yet been accepted. The estate covers 4,600 square yards of land, valued at $160 to $200 a yard.

HAS FEW TRADE FACILITIES

Mobile Merchant Experiences Difficulties in Getting Goods to Capital of Guatemala.

A Mobile merchant sold some cotton goods not long ago to be delivered at Guatemala City. Within 300 feet of his warehouse a steamer was loading for Puerto Barrios, whence runs a railway to within 60 miles of the Guatemalan capital. To reach the latter the goods would have to be packed over the mountains by Indians or on muleback. The merchant found it cheaper to ship by way of San Francisco, thence by boat to San Jose, Guatemala, and to the capital by rail. New Orleans, terminus of the Southern Pacific, is almost next door to Mobile. New York, however, enjoyed a cheaper rate because there was competition with the routes across the Atlantic and thence round Cape Horn. So the goods were sent by boat to New York, thence by boat back to New Orleans, and thence on their way, going nearly 10,000 miles instead of 1,100 by the Puerto Barrios route. This inability to get at the west coast markets has done much to keep American goods out of them. Guatemala has now arranged for the speedy completion of the railway from the Caribbean to the capital, and a cheap direct route will thus be opened.

"The What Is It."

Deputy Warden Arthur C. Wyman arrived in Farmington last Thursday and took Leroy A. French back to Thomaston with him. It will be remembered French was sentenced to twelve years at hard labor. The party rode from the jail the depot in the Exchange Hotel carriage and French chatted pleasantly while smoked a cigar.

The Portland papers speak of French as "the 'What-is-it' who cuts such a swathe in Franklin and Oxford counties recently and who was put away for 12 years by Judge Strout for his own good, and that of the community at large;" and in noting his arrival at the prison say: "He is now at work in the blacksmith shop. He did about everything but forge when he was running at large recently, and now apparently they are teaching him to do that with a sledge hammer and hot iron."—Farmington Chronicle.

Cause of Lockjaw.

Lockjaw, or tetanus, is caused by a bacillus or germ which exists plentifully in street dirt. It is inactive so long as exposed to the air, but when carried beneath the skin, as in the wounds caused by percussion caps or by rusty nails, and when the air is excluded the germ is roused to activity and produces the most virulent poison known. These germs may be destroyed and all danger of lockjaw avoided by applying Chamberlain's Pain Balm freely as soon as the injury is received. Pain Balm is an anti-septic and causes cuts, bruises and like injuries to heal without maturation and in one third the time required by the usual treatment. It is for sale by W. A. D. Cragin, Phillips; E. Whitney, Rangeley; C. E. Dyer, Strong; L. L. Mitchell, Kingfield.

HOLD FUNERAL IN A TENT.

Big Canvas Put to Many Strange Uses—Serves as Church to Mourners.

In Kendall county, Ill., there is a big canvas tent that has been made to serve for an odd mixture of purposes. For many years it covered a regulation sawdust ring in which there were all kinds of performances by man and beast. On other occasions it was made use of for revivals, and has been hauled around the country from place to place for many purposes. This year Aurora bloomed out as a Chautauqua town, and the tent sheltered big audiences intent on hearing lectures, recitations, and speeches from well-known talkers. Music of all kinds has at odd times filled the big inclosure. However, the oddest purpose to which it was ever put came when Nels O. Cassem, a well-known Kendall county man, fell from his wagon as he was driving along the public highway and broke his neck. Cassem was a well-known character, a farmer who in all of that section was known as the "king of the Norwegians." He was known to be worth several hundred thousand dollars in valuable lands, and the funeral promised to be larger than any church in Yorkville or Aurora would hold. One of the sons resorted to a unique expedient. He hired the big tent and stretched it out on one of the beautiful meadows over which his father had roamed for so many years, and the funeral sermon was thus preached under canvas.

PAPER TRADE IN TURKEY.

In 1903 $400,000 Worth of the Article for Making Cigarettes Was Imported.

In the year 1903 Turkey in Europe imported paper and cardboard to the value of about $500,000 and cigarette paper to the value of $400,000. Austria and Italy were the chief sources of supply. The German consul at Saloniki says large quantities of all sorts of paper, including wall paper, enter that port for distribution throughout Turkey. This paper trade is in Austrian hands. Different manufacturers in Austria combine in sending out commercial travelers to Turkey, one traveler showing the products of several Austrian paper mills. The German consul general at Constantinople, in a report to his government, says that Turkey is one of England's best markets for cotton yarns and cotton piece goods, taking in 1903 nearly $2,500,000 worth of cotton yarns and $15,700,000 worth of cotton piece goods. Within the last few years Italy has greatly increased her exports of cotton textiles to Turkey and is becoming a strong competitor of England in that market. If American manufacturers of cotton goods were to give energetic and intelligent attention to the Turkish market, they would probably find it a good one.

TORTOISE FIGHT IS FUNNY

Battle Between Shell-Covered Animals May Continue a Long Time Without Injury to Either.

"Listen," said the farmer, leaning on his hoe. From the next field came a sound of rapping, a sound as of sharp knocks on a door. "What is that?" said the city man. "A tortoise fight," the farmer answered. "We'll go and see it." They made their way toward the rapping sound, relates the Baltimore Herald, and in a little while they came upon two box tortoises that were fighting hard. The creatures fought in a strange way. They made at one another with their heads protruded, but, at the moment of collision, each tried to use his front flap for a shield, and the result of this prudence was that not the heads but only the shells of the tortoises hurtled together. There was a bang. Then the fighters backed off and prepared for another round. The two men watched them till the spectacle became wearisome. Then they returned to the potato patch.

At Liberty But in Irons.

The state papers are having a good time jailing Sheriff Worthley who lost a prisoner on the train a while ago. This is what the Lewiston Journal says:

The joke is certainly on Sheriff Worthley, of Franklin county. He has gained considerable notoriety, however, over the state in the little episode in which he figured, or didn't figure, when last Monday the train went off and left him standing on the platform at Leeds Junction, while Leforest Knowles, all bound up in leg-irons and hand-cuffs continued on his way to the State prison alone. Sheriff Worthley started with his man from Farmington, and was to bring him to Auburn, where Warden Smith, of the State prison, had arranged to meet the officer with his prisoner. When the train got down to Leeds Junction where the change was to be made for Auburn, Sheriff Worthley got out and entered into conversation with some friends. Knowles continued on and when the train arrived at Lewiston got off. Sheriff Cummings was notified and took the prisoner to Auburn jail, where later Warden Smith took him in charge and brought the man to Thomaston. When he arrived at the prison there was more trouble, for although Knowles came through all right, the keys to the leg irons and hand-cuffs were many miles away in the pocket of Sheriff Worthley. As there were no keys at the prison to fit the irons, Knowles had to go to bed bound hand and foot. The Farmington officials were called up by phone and asked to send the keys, but they misunderstood the message. Time passed but no keys came. Farmington officers were called up again, and this time they grasped the situation, so that Wednesday night the keys arrived and Knowles was freed.

"If they had just put a tag on me I would have come right through to Thomaston alone," said Knowles. He gets three years but thinks he ought to get a little time off for being ironed those three days.

TRAMPS AND MOUNTAINS.

Geologist Declares Former Avoid Hilly Country Where Farms Are Few and Far Between.

"You never saw a cat bathing in the sea. You never saw a tramp in a mountainous country. Each spectacle is of equal rarity."

The speaker, a geologist, smiled. "I know what I am talking about," he said. "In quest of geological truths I have traveled the country over many times, and I have yet to find a tramp among the mountains. Tramps avoid mountains as they avoid soap."

"Hence New Hampshire, Vermont and the other mountainous states are singularly free from petty thieving and from all such troubles as hoboes cause. And hence, in those states, it is never necessary to lock the doors or the windows."

"Tramps avoid mountainous districts because the walking is all uphill there and because the farms are few and far between. A fertile and flat country, with the roads good and the farms close together, suits the tramp."

As Others See Us.

Queer ideas about America are still cherished in England. In a recent speech Lord Lamington said:

"In America, if not to-day, at any rate till quite recently, a revolver or a bowie knife was an essential part of a man's everyday attire."

Lord Lamington has held the important positions of member of parliament, private secretary to the late Lord Salisbury, and governor of Queensland, so that he might really be expected to know better.

WANT NOISELESS MACHINES

Manufacturers of Typewriters Hope to Reduce the Present Racket by Three-Quarters.

The noiseless typewriter is something the experts are now working on, and they hope to evolve machines that will do the work with a quarter of the noise.

"In this strenuous age," said a manufacturer of typewriters, recently to a New York Sun reporter, "everything that makes noise is tabooed in offices and other places where men and women use their brains more than their bodies. Every little sound causes irritation."

"It has been found that there is much complaint against the typewriting machine. Its clicking, the din of the busy keys, disturbs the heads of firms, even though they shut the doors to their private offices tight and sometimes even stuff cotton in the keyholes. Then, too, it interferes with conversations by telephone."

"In the stress of business this little annoyance caused by the typewriter adds just one more element to increase the fatigue incident to the day's work."

"We are experimenting with a machine that we think will fill the need for a noiseless typewriter. It is almost encased in rubber, and the sound is muffled by several ingenious devices."

"We now and then make machines to order for nervous customers, who have worked on ideas of their own for getting rid of the typewriter din. We have made a few machines encased in glass with levers protruding under the glass to remove the carriage, adjust the paper etc."

Australia's Cabinet.

Only one member of the new Australian cabinet—Attorney General Higgins—is ignorant of how it feels to be a laboring man. Watson, prime minister, has by turns worked as a groom in the stable and set up type in the composing room. McGregor has been a farm hand. Fisher used to work in a mine. Batchelor is by trade an engine fitter. Hughes is an umbrella maker, and Mahon—poor fellow—a reporter.

UP-TO-DATE

ADVERTISING.

In these days live merchants are looking for profit. They are placing their advertisements where, in their best judgement, they will do them the most good. Time was, we are told, when the store keeper used to give the newspaper man an advertisement, "just to help out the paper."

That would be considered a senseless performance now. We want advertisements from people who want to get their money's worth out of their advertising.

We want advertisements from people who intend to give their advertisements some care and attention.

We want advertisements from business people who realize that they have something to say to the more than ten thousand readers of MAINE WOODSMAN, if they would make their business all that it should be.

To such people, the MAINE WOODSMAN advertising columns present indeed a rare bargain. The MAINE WOODSMAN has thousands of them—without which all advertising would be a failure—money thrown away. But IT PAYS to advertise in MAINE WOODSMAN. If in doubt try it. Classified advertisements at one cent a word.

—A regular meeting of North Franklin Pomona Grange, P. of H., No. 22, will be held with Blue Mountain grange, Webb, Thursday, Oct. 20, at 10 a. m. Picnic dinner.

CLARA A. FRENCH, Sec'y.
—One of the peculiar experiences in advertising is the absolute certainty that certain advertisers have increased their business through advertising and again the certainty that they themselves do not realize the extent to which the advertising has benefited them. We have known business men to gradually lose their trade after discontinuing their advertising and then gradually improve it after beginning advertising again and still not realize to what an extent they were benefited.

Grange Notes.

The attendance at the all day's meeting held by North Franklin grange was very large. The Worthy Master H. W. Worthley called the meeting to order at the appointed hour. After the routine business was disposed of the third and fourth degrees were conferred, after which all marched to the dining room where the tables were bountifully laden. After a social hour had been passed order was again restored and the following literary program was made public: Quotations by all.

It was decided by all that a very pleasant and profitable day had been spent.

West Phillips.

The first Sunday in October Elder Peter O. borne of Skowhegan preached at West Phillips. It was a very fine discourse. His text was from I Cor. ii, 9: "Eye hath not seen nor ear heard, neither hath it entered the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for them that love him."

A few Sundays ago Mr. Freese preached at the Reed's Mill church and a person who used to like to go there to hear Mr. Ranger thought he would go and hear the man who had taken his place. On returning home and being asked his text said it was the word, "Believe." Considering it a good text we had a curiosity to see how many texts there were like it in the Bible we found about 50 different passages containing that word, exhorting people to believe the statements of the Bible and the result of unbelief. The last number of MAINE WOODSMAN has an extract of Mr. Freese's sermon in which he states: "Probably none of us believe the world was created in six days of 24 hours each and that the Bible does not teach that. I would refer everyone to the first chapter of Genesis and a part of the second for information on that subject. I think it well for everyone in this age of doubt and unbelief to read the Bible for themselves and learn the truth it teaches, for it may make them 'wise unto salvation.'" Read the 78th Psalm; also the 95th. C. B. K

Water pipes are being laid daily from the mains in the village streets to the residences of our citizens. Many are taking water from the company and more are expected later. The mains in the streets are being rapidly put in, despite the fact that much ledge is encountered in the streets. Many of the workmen, especially the drilling crews, worked Sunday to hustle matters along. Work on the dam, located on Day mountain, is rapidly progressing.

Two largely attended millinery openings were held in town Thursday and Saturday. The first was at Mrs. W. R. Vining's and the latter at Miss M. B. Kilkenney's. To tread again in fancy's realm
The happy rose-strewn way.

The man recall those red-topped boots,
When as a freckled boy
They filled him with a haughty pride
And swelled his soul with joy.

But those which stir my inmost heart

Four shining shoes of gleaming steel—
Ah, me, what vain regret!

Official of Chicago Association Declares Sightless Maids Are Ideal Helpmeets.

Mrs. Lena Osborn, chairman of the lady board of managers of the Social and Mutual Advancement Association of the Blind in Chicago, a free organization, is a blind woman herself. She says that the life of a blind person is not the great misery that it is generally thought by seeing people, and it is the purpose of the organization to show that even blind people may have a happy time of it. Mrs. Osborn says: "If men knew what ideal wives blind girls make the blind girls would soon be all taken. I can cook, sew, darn, and do almost anything except to venture far from the house. I can write the ordinary handwriting from the memory of the letters I was taught 40 years ago in the public schools. We become so sharp in our observation that we can almost describe the appearance of the person we address."

Bad Effects of "Rushing."

Prof. Thomas Oliver, addressing the industrial hygiene section of the sanitary congress in Glasgow, said the system of "rushing" work introduced into Britain from America not only caused unwholesome fatigue and many accidents, but "predisposed the individual to ill health and created a taste for stimulants, unhealthful recreation and love of excitement such as was offered by theaters and music halls."

Mountain Air to Blame.

A new guest arrived at a New Hampshire farmhouse where a Boston gentleman happened to be holding forth on the piazza, says the Rochester Herald. The newcomer was much impressed by the speaker's fluency. "I declare," he remarked to the landlord, "that man has an extensive vocabulary, hasn't he?" The landlord was mightily pleased. "That's so," he said. "That's what mountain air will do for a man. He ain't been boardin' with me but two weeks, and I know he must have let his waistband out much as four times."

HIGHLAND CHIEFS TO-DAY.

Leadership of the Scottish Clans Is Still Regarded as Great Position.

The chieftainship of a highland clan is still a great position, even in these leveling days, and where there is a doubt as to who is entitled to it the adherents of the rival chiefs uphold their respective claims with quite a mediaeval ardor. It would be a bold southron who would venture to adjudicate on the competing claims of the Mackintosh and Cluny Macpherson to the chieftainship of the Clan Chattan; and even Lord Lovat, who was the recipient last week at the hands of his fellow Frasers of a splendid silver casket in recognition of his patriotic services, is not universally (though very generally) held to be the chief of his famous clan. Lord Saltoun, head of the Aberdeenshire Frasers, is understood to assert his right to the chieftainship; and when in the great hall of Beaufort castle the clansmen mustered, some years ago, round the youthful Lord Lovat, and congratulated him on his majority, Lord Saltoun (though one of the house party at the castle) sternly declined to take nay part in a ceremonial which seemed to imply recognition of the claim of his brother peer to be the chief of their common clan.
