

AMONG THE CHURCHES.

Sunday was given patriotic observance at the Union church. The church was quite elaborately decorated with the national colors, flags and bunting being arranged very effectively.

The program for the morning was as follows:

- Organ voluntary
Responsive reading
Anthem—Glory and Honor
Scripture reading
Hymn—Battle Hymn of the Republic
Prayer
Response
Anthem—In That City Shall This Song Be Sung
Sermon, Rev. Geo. H. Woodward
Hymn—America
Benediction

Mr. Woodward spoke from the text found in Deut. iv, 7, "For what nation is there so great, who hath a God so nigh unto them as the Lord our God is."

Patriotism and religion are very near of kin. Both appeal to the altruistic and the higher instincts of the man.

The words of our text are from an address in which Moses reminds the people of Israel that God had chosen them to be a nation receiving his special care and protection, receiving his commands and revelations of himself.

Though Israel was given protection and guidance and was commissioned to do a great work by reason of the revelations and blessing received, God has come nigh to other nations. It behooves us today to inquire what special manifestations of God's power and presence we may find in our history and what is the work given us to do.

As we trace the circumstances that have contributed to produce the nation that the United States is today we will name as the first the fact that the continent was so long unoccupied. When Columbus sailed across the Atlantic and landed upon its shores it was practically so. It was this that made a new civilization possible.

God grant that we be true to ourselves, true to him, true to our high mission and be to the world a proof of the glorious possibilities of a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

life. The two can not flourish together. Our freedom from the need of armies has allowed the development in a larger measure than would have been otherwise possible of the spirit of democracy among us.

Lastly I name the special providences which from time to time may be traced in our history. How did the youthful states escape the grasp of the countries of Europe? In the hours of their weakness those countries were occupied with affairs at home.

When the slave power had become strong in our land, when through its influence a great strip of valuable territory on the western coast had been lost to us lest it be formed into free states and that unholy Mexican war, conceived in sin and shapen in iniquity, territory for the making of slave states was unjustly acquired, when the Dred Scott decision set aside the provisions of the Missouri compromise and the men of the North found to their horror that they could offer no refuge to the fugitive, what unified the people and roused them to action?

Later, after two years of almost continuous disaster to the armies of the North the Union seemed near dissolution. The sympathies of England were with the South. She was almost ready to give her aid to their cause.

These are but a few of the many instances when the hand of God has interposed in our behalf. Shall we say that we are not chosen by him for some great work? Just as surely as he kept the people of Israel he kept us. Just as surely as he gave to them a special work has he given to us also something to do for the world.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Pettengill (nee Miss Georgia F. Johnson) and Master George K. Johnson arrived recently at Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Johnson's for a vacation accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Hale.

God grant that we be true to ourselves, true to him, true to our high mission and be to the world a proof of the glorious possibilities of a government of the people, by the people and for the people.

THE CONTROL OF MOROCCO

A Subject Which Is Straining Diplomatic Relations Among European Powers.

For a long time past the ambitions of the French, British and Spanish have clashed in Morocco. France desires to control northwestern Africa, but Spain has interests in Morocco, and the British have long objected to the extension of the boundaries of French Algeria to the west.

Another thing which at first thought would seem to be a disadvantage has contributed to the upbuilding of the nation. That is its isolation.

The United States is separated by broad oceans from other great powers, and it outranks all other countries upon the continent of America combined. The small American countries will never make war upon us.

It is useless to predict the outcome of this refusal of Germany to recognize the right of the French to assume a protectorate over Morocco, but it is likely that the disagreement will be settled through ordinary diplomatic channels rather than by an appeal to force.

Women Obtain Mrs. Pinkham's Advice and Help.

She Has Guided Thousands to Health.—How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Mrs. Fred Seydel.

It is a great satisfaction for a woman to feel that she can write to another telling her the most private and confidential details about her illness, and know that her letter will be seen by a woman only, a woman full of sympathy for her sick sisters, and above all, a woman who has had more experience in treating female ills than any living person.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—Just as surely as Mrs. Seydel was cured, will Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cure every woman suffering from any form of female ills.

WORK OF THE BAYONETS.
What Is Meant by the Order "Throw Yourselves on Their Bayonets."

It is a phrase merely to those of us who do not know war at first hand: "Then the men threw themselves on the bayonets of the enemy." It sounds desperate and dramatic, but this account in Blackwood's Magazine by a naval sublieutenant at Port Arthur shows what it really means:
For 30 long minutes a hand-to-hand struggle had continued. Men threw grenades in each other's faces. Half-demented Samurai flung themselves upon the bayonets of the dozen Muscovites that held the traverse in the trench. Who shall say that the day of the bayonet is past? Although there was not a breach that had not its cartridge in the chamber, yet men roused to the limit of their animal fury overlook the mechanical appliances that make war easy. They thirsted to come to grips, and to grips they came.
But it had to end. The old colonel had fought his way through his own men to the very point of the struggle. He stood on the parapet, and his rich voice for a second curbed the fury of the wild creatures struggling beside him.
"Throw yourselves on their bayonets, honorable comrades!" he shouted. "Those who come behind will do the rest."
His men heard him; his officers heard him. Eight stalwarts dropped their rifles, held their hands above their heads and flung themselves against the traverse. Before the Russian defenders could extricate the bayonets from their bodies the whole pack of the war-dogs had surged over them. The trench was won.

Ten Pearls in an Oyster.
When serving a customer with oysters Mrs. Althorp, wife of a Kettering fishmonger, had the good fortune to open one containing no fewer than ten pearls. Her attention was called to the remarkable contents of the oyster, which was one of a consignment from Liverpool, by a pearl falling out, and she consequently laid the bivalve aside, and served others to the customer. An examination then revealed nine other pearls. The find was submitted to two local jewelers, who pronounced them to be pearls of excellent quality. They vary in size from a large pea to a little larger than a pin's head.—London Tit-Bits.

Sarcastic Customer.
Rough Barber—Do you often knead the skin of your face?
Mangled Customer—O, occasionally, but you seem to need it so much worse than I do that you might as well take the rest of it while you're about it.—Baltimore American.

"There's a heap o' difference," replied the sage of Plunkville. "A man in jail kin git some time off fer good behavior."—Chicago Sun

The Maine Woodsman.
Because fabulous sums are spent in advertising, some merchants think that it costs a fortune to keep any business before the public. They do not stop to think that advertising space can be bought like cloth or lard or soap—in any desired quantity, as one's business may demand. The man who is selling cigars from a small stand on the corner doesn't need as much space as a department store. But the proper space is just as essential to the best results in his business as is the big store's big ad. It doesn't cost much to buy a small space in the MAINE WOODSMAN—a space that is suitable for an unpretentious business. And, after all, it's not the size of the space, but what you put in it that counts. Start off with a little space and use it well and you'll need a big one by and by.

Terrible Death of Charles H. Wellman of Cleveland.

In a recent terrible train wreck of the Lake Shore Limited, Mr. Charles H. Wellman, brother of Mrs. F. W. Atwood of Phillips, was fatally injured. From the Cleveland Pain Dealer of June 23 we publish below a few extracts from an extended account:
The marvelous courage of Charles H. Wellman and his unselfish thought for others when he knew he had but a few hours to live, was one of the features of the terrible wreck of the Lake Shore Limited that attracted universal attention among the people of Cleveland yesterday.
He was rescued from the wrecked combination car quite early after the wreck, but not until the steam had enveloped him and inflicted injuries he realized were fatal.
When the doctors cut away his clothing they found injuries they knew were fatal. The scalding steam had enveloped him from his arms to his feet. There was a hurt from which no man could recover.
There is no more popular home in the city than Openhearth, the Wellman home in Clifton park. Since it was opened some years ago it has been the scene of an unusually large number of social and public gatherings. He was identified with a number of organizations. Mrs. Wellman was also identified with others and various entertainments were held in the spacious rooms for the benefit of various charitable organizations. The home was always filled with good cheer and those who were honored with invitations never willingly declined.
Mr. Wellman was proud of his family and he made his home a place of joy and happiness. There was probably no household in the city more congenial and contented. There was no home more happy.
Mr. Wellman was identified in a leading way with the various civic organizations of the city and took a leading part in the work for the betterment and development of the city. He was a most liberal contributor to the various charities of the city and his labors in that line were ably and effectively seconded by Mrs. Wellman.
Mr. Wellman was born in Nashua, N. H., June 12, 1883. His father was superintendent of the Nashua Iron Co. and young Wellman literally grew up in the iron business.
In 1881, then 19 years old, Mr. Wellman left his home in East Wilton and secured a position with the Morgan Engineering Co. at Alliance, O. Four years later he became chief draftsman with the Otis Steel Co. and after several months' employment was promoted to the head of the open hearth department. In 1890 he became superintendent of the Wellman Steel Co. at Thurlow, Pa., and in 1895 accepted a similar position with the Illinois Steel Co. at South Chicago.
When the Wellman-Seaver Engineering Co. was organized, he became its engineer and general manager and at the time of his death was the general manager of the present Wellman-Seaver-Morgan Co.
Mr. Wellman is survived by a wife and three children who live at the family home on Lake avenue, opposite Edgewater park. He was a younger brother of S. T. Wellman, president of the Wellman Seaver-Morgan Co.
A double funeral will be held over the remains of Charles H. Wellman and Thomas R. Morgan, the two wreck victims who were great personal friends as well as business associates. The funeral will be held at the Old Stone church tomorrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. Dr. A. B. Meldrum, pastor of the church, will conduct the services.
The employees of the Wellman-Seaver-Morgan Co. will attend the services in a body.
Private services will be held at the homes of both men prior to the public funeral. The services will be held at Mr. Morgan's home at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and at Mr. Wellman's home an hour later, to enable the friends of the dead men to attend both funerals.

WEAK CAN BEAR PAIN BEST

Physical Power Not Always Best in Severe Operations, Declares Famous Surgeon.
Dr. J. P. Lockart Mummery, the famous British surgeon, says it is often extremely difficult to estimate the condition of a patient with regard to his power of standing a severe operation. Often a weakly looking individual, who looks as if he would not stand a severe operation well, stands it quite well, and vice versa.
This is accounted for by the fact that a person of poor physique who leads a strenuous life has often much more highly developed nerve centers than one of robust physique who leads a life of ease and indolence, which makes but slight calls upon his nerve centers for great or sudden activity.
The mental condition of a patient prior to operation has a considerable influence upon the development of shock. Patients who dread an operation and who are in a state of considerable mental anxiety before the anesthetic is administered are more liable, other things being equal, to develop shock than those whose mental equilibrium is undisturbed.
Color Treatment of Disease.
In long experimenting with grass solutions, an English biologist has noticed that putrefaction does not occur in strong red or blue light, is only simulated in clear yellow, but really takes place in dirty yellow light or in darkness. He has also seen that workers behind dirty yellow screens are subject to skin eruptions. This has suggested to him the novel idea of color treatment of disease, a dirty yellow of the skin being assumed to indicate a degeneration of the yellow fluids of the body—the bile, etc.—and to require a yellow restorative, like dandelion, lemon or sulphur, while lack of healthful redness shows the need of a red tonic and massage with a red stone. Blue is needed for "black blood," congestion, chills and to destroy mold fungus.

NEW WHITE PLAGUE CURE.
Tapeworm Is Natural Enemy of Tuberculosis, and Is Regarded as a Sure Preventive.
The Mexican consul general at Buenos Ayres informs his government that by a late scientific discovery it has been proved that the tapeworm is the natural enemy of the germ of consumption and that the latter cannot exist when the other is present. He further says that the eminent scientists, L. James and H. Maudoult, after a profound study of the subject, assert this as a fact in a paper recently laid before the Academy of Science at Paris. The tapeworm is said to prevent the organism from being infected with tuberculosis bacilli, and it has been proved in the case of a consumptive affected with tapeworm that he completely recovered his health. To positively establish the efficacy of this remedy the doctors injected a liquid prepared from the taenia into several consumptives, which action resulted in retarding the progress of the disease in the worst cases, while in others it resulted in a complete cure.
Told by Sense of Smell.
Snakes have a very keen sense of smell, by which they are largely guided in the choice of their food. A zoologist has discovered that the larger snakes at zoos often refuse to eat rats captured about the buildings, but quickly devour those caught out of doors. Rats taken indoors were kept for a day or so in a cage with an earthen floor, after which they were rapidly eaten. A similar experience was had with smaller snakes, copperheads, these declining to eat house mice, letting them run freely about the cage, or even over their bodies, with impunity. While field mice were quickly disposed of, even if they had been dead for some little time.

Children's Spring Tonic.
After a long winter the children's blood flows sluggishly, the bowels are irregular and the channels of the body clogged. This is the chance for which disease has been lying in wait. No time should be lost in cleansing the blood and regulating the stomach with a good spring medicine. For children's ailments nothing equals Dr. True's Worm Elixir. A few doses will expel worms if any, and tone up the whole system. A better spring medicine cannot be found. Twenty thousand bottles sold in March alone. Price, 30c at all drug stores.

UP-TO-DATE ADVERTISING
In these days live merchants are looking for profit. They are placing their advertisements where, in their best judgment, they will do them the most good. Time was, we are told, when the store keeper used to give the newspaper man an advertisement, "just to help out the paper."
That would be considered a senseless performance now. We want advertisements from people who want to get their money's worth out of their advertising.
We want advertisements from people who intend to give their advertisements some care and attention.
We want advertisements from business people who realize that they have something to say to the more than ten thousand readers of MAINE WOODSMAN, if they would make their business all that it should be.
To such people, the MAINE WOODSMAN advertising columns present indeed a rare bargain. The MAINE WOODSMAN has the readers—more than ten thousand of them—without which all advertising would be a failure—money thrown away. But IT PAYS to advertise in MAINE WOODSMAN. If in doubt try it.
Classified advertisements only one cent a word.

He informs MAINE WOODSMAN that he got the most of them in New York, and that he can get plenty more if they prove all right for the work.

REACH THE SPOT.

To cure an aching back,
The pains of rheumatism,
The tired-out feelings,
You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

In most cases 'tis the kidneys.
Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys.

Charles Bierbach, stone contractor, living at 2625 Chestnut St., Erie, Pa., says:

"For two years I had kidney trouble, and there was such a severe pain through my loins and limbs that I could not stoop or straighten up without great pain, had difficulty in getting about and was unable to rest at night, arising in the morning tired and worn out. The kidney secretions were irregular and deposited a heavy sediment. Doctors treated me for rheumatism, but failed to help me. I lost all confidence in medicine, but Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me so quickly and so thoroughly that I gladly made a statement to that effect for publication. This was in 1898, and during the six years which have elapsed I have never known Doan's Kidney Pills to fail."

A FREE TRIAL of this great kidney medicine which cured Mr. Bierbach will be mailed on application to any part of the United States. Address Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. For sale by all druggists; price, 50 cents per box.

MEXICO'S FRENCH CLARET.

Composed Very Largely of Extract of Logwood, an Excellent Tonic.

The Russian peasant is an admirer of bright colored clothes, and as a consequence for many years there has been an excellent market for log wood in Russia, as a brilliant red dye is extracted from it, says Modern Mexico. The market, however, for this dye wood has been very poor indeed during the last eight or ten months, on account of the war with Japan, which is making the people so poor that they are unable to wear as many or as brilliant clothes as formerly. The port of Bordeaux is also a good market for log wood, where it helps to make "first-class, pure claret." One of the arguments of the temperance folks against wine drinking is that most of the red wines are dyed and adulterated with log wood. However, if anything, this is really an argument in favor of the wine, as the juice of log wood is a very excellent tonic and in the coast countries of Mexico log wood chips steeped in water, which is then made into a lemonade by the aid of lemon juice and sugar, is one of the standard tonic remedies for people who are run down from malaria, and besides being a tonic it is a very pleasant drink. Probably from a health point of view the French claret would be better if made entirely out of log wood. In France one of the remedies used by physicians in cases of extreme debility is a bath in claret wine, as in the same way in the hot countries of Mexico baths in an infusion of log wood are used.
