Attempted Murder in Richmond.

The Richmond Bee gives the particulars of an attempted murder in that town last Thursday morning. The day before a woman registered at the Richmond House as the wife of J. A. Lamb, of Liberty, Me. The next morning she was found lying at the point of death from poison administered by a man who was promptly arrested for the deed. After his arrest the prisoner made the following statement:

"My name is Hudson Arvine Thompson, and my home is on North street in Gardiner. I am thirty years old, and I was born in the town of Freedom. I moved from the town of Liberty to Gardiner, where my wife and three children now reside. The name of the woman at the hotel is Annie Bradley. She is Irish, and her parents are dead. I met her about a year ago in Massachusetts. She was a prisoner on Deer Island, and had been committed four times for drunkenness. I was an officer of the institution that had been there four years. I became infatuated with her, and left the place on her account. After I left I followed her up, and got work on the river collecting logs for William Kennedy, of Chelsea. Shortly after I commenced work, the Bradley woman followed me. She came to Gardiner this fall. I lived with her all summer, being unable to get rid of her. A short time ago she promised to leave; but she fell on the sidewalk and hurt her face, and I took her to my home in Gardiner and kept her there until she got well. She wanted to go back to Boston, and wanted me to go with her. We came to Richmond Tuesday afternoon on the 3:22 train, and registered at the Richmond House as A. J. Morton and wife. I procured a dose of aconite Tuesday, and she took it at six o'clock this morning."

Further inquiries were cut short by selectman Randolph, who advised the prisoner to have nothing more to say. Officer Hugh Thompson, who is a short, thick-set man, with a prepossessing countenance and heavy moustache, was perfectly willing to give any desired information. He said he had been ambitious and harrassed until he was desperate. At a subsequent interview he declared that he would be glad when the trial was over. The sooner the better, he said, so far as he was concerned.

It was learned that the aconite was obtained from the druggist by Thompson on the pretence that his wife had contracted a cold and needed a sweat. It was taken internally as well as by the use. The dose was administered at 6 o'clock Thursday morning. Half an hour afterward she came down stairs and partook of breakfast heartily. Thompson, meanwhile, had disappeared. He visited the aconite fiend up to the depot, and returned to the house greatly excited. She had not found Thompson, and she complained of burning of the stomach, and said her limbs were numb. She took her room, and shortly afterward Thompson brought the shocking intelligence that the woman was poisoned, and that her companion had given himself up. Dr. Libby was instantly summoned, and administered the proper antidotes. At that time the woman's case was critical. However, thanks to the prompt action of the Doctor all soon recovered, and by nine o'clock was enabled to be out of danger.

Later in the forenoon Officer Hall, in the room in company with Dr. Libby and others, re-assured that she would not be prosecuted, she gave a detailed account of her acquaintance an intimacy with Thompson, which in many respects agreed with the statement made by the latter. She said, however, their stories differed. She declared that he had said to her to come to Maine and live with him. That his letters with me to prove it. She showed the letters to the officer. She added letters to it, and finally he came to Boston after me. I was doing housework in a family on Webster street when he arrived, and after much persuasion I consented to come down east to Gardiner. I had been acquainted with him but a short time, perhaps a month or two. Since that time I have lived with Thompson almost constantly. I didn't want to. I had a husband and I wanted to act away from him. Finally he agreed that we should part. I wanted to start for Boston alone, but he insisted on accompanying me. We left Gardiner Tuesday and arrived in Boston Tuesday night. We remained there a day or two before continuing our journey. This morning when I awoke I saw my companion at the commode mixing something in a glass. I asked him what it was, and he said it was medicine he had brought to me. I felt sick in his breath; he was troubled with canker and frequently complained of a bad breath. My own mouth tasted badly, and I said I wanted a little medicine myself. He compounded took a sip of the mixture, and sat down the glass, saying that its contents were hot, and burned his mouth. I took it up, "Down with it, Annie," he said, and I drank the dose. It tasted very bad, and I thought nothing of it. I suspected nothing. Afterward I went down to breakfast, and when I found that Thompson had left I was frightened. I had no money, and couldn't know what to do because of me. I had no idea what I thought I might have gone to take the morning train, and I put on my things and hurried to the depot. He wasn't there, and I came back to the house. I felt my self getting worse. My head was reeling. I felt terrible. While I was wondering what the matter was, the officer came in and told me I was poisoned, and that Thompson had given himself up. That is the Doctor came to me I believe and said I was going to die."

"Had you quarrelled with your companion?"

"No. We have never had a word, except at times when I would want to leave him and to threaten to do away with myself."

"Did he appear to mind the matter?"

"I didn't notice anything out of the way. He just mixed the stuff and asked me to drink it. God only knows why he wanted to kill me. Have you seen him this morning?" asked the girl.

Receiving answer in the affirmative, she said:

"If you see him again will you ask him to let me have some money? I can't stay. I haven't a cent, and he has plenty. I haven't been at work for some time, and the least he can do, after trying to take my life, will be to give me enough money to take me to Boston."

When the message was delivered to Thompson he said:

"She is a good fellow. The boy I am to raise it my last duty to look out for myself."

At midnight Thursday the woman left the hotel, proceeded to the depot, bought a ticket and took the Pullman for Boston. She had a spotted right to do this, as she had received no nourishment whatever, and was faint and weak. Whether she got money to pay her car fare is a mystery which concerns no one but herself.

Thompson was arraigned Friday before Judge Hagar charged with attempted murder by poisoning Annie Bradley, but owing to the non-appearance of the Bradley woman he was set free. A despatch says that sentiment in Richmond is in favor of Mr. Thompson. It is supposed he intended killing himself after administering poison to the woman, but that his courage failed him.

The Hoggishness of Dr. Bacon.

The Prog. Age of last week contained an extract from an article by Leonard Woolsey Bacon in the January Forum, in which pension bills are spoken of as "public plunder," "stealing millions," etc. It concludes by saying of pension legislation:

It looks highly probable that the next Executive will unite in some measure unprecedentedly ruinous and infamous; that the party whose boast has been that it would maintain the American workingman in his superiority to the European workingman will deliberately impose upon American industry the identical burden of war taxation, to be borne through generations to come, under which the industry of the older nations is bowed into the dust; so that it shall be said of us as, with such bitter truth, it has been said of them, that "the workman goes to his labor carrying a soldier strapped upon his back."

It might be asked, as a sufficient reply to this specimen of mug-wumpery, what would have become of the workingmen of the North if the men for whom pensions are now asked had not gone to the front in the dark days of the rebellion, carrying on their backs the fortunes of all those left behind them, and shedding their blood in defence of the Union? Among the survivors of those who wore the blue there is naturally some indignation at the hoggishness of Dr. Bacon. Said a Belfast veteran: "I would like to have the writer of that article here next summer and load on his back the ordinary equipment of a soldier, and then have him march the average distance of 25 to 30 miles a day. I would not ask him to live on the fare we did, but when his march was over would expect him to camp right where he was and not seek the shelter of a house. At the end of a month I have no doubt he would be willing that all the soldiers should have pensions." The speaker was one of a great number, who left the service with shattered health. He enlisted in 1861 at the age of 22, receiving $11 a month, and no large bounties, and served through the war. When he entered the service he was in vigorous health, but has not known a well day since he left the army, as the result of the hardships and privations endured, that man like Dr. Bacon might live in a free and united country to employ their leisure in writing articles against pensioning the old soldiers.

Home Enterprise.

In every community complaint is made that the moneyed men prefer to invest their means abroad rather than in local improvements. Such complaints have been heard here, and while they may possibly have had some foundation in the past, they certainly have none today. All the improvements in the past two years, except those of the railroad and steamboat companies and the water works, are due to home capital. A local company was prepared to build water works, but was underbid by an outside company, which is, perhaps just as well. Indeed, the amount paid by the city and the rates for private consumers did not seem to indicate much profit to the water company. But the coming season will no doubt add largely to the number of water takers, and the consumption is sure to continue increasing, so that the investment must eventually prove profitable. The new hotel, which completed will cost not less than $40,000, is due to home capital. It was not built with the expectation of large profits, but rather to supply a long felt want and to contribute generally to the prosperity of the place. For the electric light plant we are indebted to the Pierce family alone, and great credit is certainly due them for their enterprise, which has involved a large expenditure. The Odd Fellows Block, to cost $20,000 or more, is another local enterprise. So is the Merchant's Marble Railway, which, while it has proved a good investment, has been a help to the city. Indeed, with the exceptions noted, everything has been done by home capital, even to the million dollar railroad which connects us with the Maine Central system. This it will be seen that in the matter of home enterprise Belfast may well challenge comparison with any of her sister cities in New England.

The correspondence on the first page will attract attention. First we have an elaborate review of Prof. Bateman's recent paper, by our Rhode Island correspondent, written in a friendly spirit, and, like the poem criticised, in rainy weather. Mr. Francis S. Pendell, of Stockton, makes a vigorous plea for the lay and river fishermen, and we commend his letter to those interested in the fisheries, including our Representatives at Augusta. Capt. E. P. Nichols of the Ocean Chronicle relates his experiences on a cruise inland, and throws in some hints on farming which our agricultural readers can consider at their leisure by the fireside these long winter evenings. Mr. C. E. Perkins writes on the profits of keeping bees, and there are letters from Mount Desert, the Maine Central Institute and Colby University.

Wonder what Democratic terror the Prog. Age will trot out this week to alarm peaceful Republicans, who are attending to their daily avocations with the serenity induced by their recent victories and the knowledge that the next political contest is nearly two years distant? Call off your dogs, neighbor. The war is over for the present. Now let us see what we can do to promote the prosperity of our beautiful city, until the time when, adorned with warpaint and with tomahawk in hand, we shall engage in the political skirmishes and battles of the future.

It is believed that the committee of the city government to whom was referred the matter of lighting the city by electricity will make a favorable report. They were not authorized to enter into a contract, and as considerable routine and detail is involved the matter will no doubt go over to the next city government. The location of the arc lights and their number requires consideration, but there is understood to be substantial agreement that the city shall have these lights, which are a part of the general progress.

One of our valued correspondents reports that "the Journal is steadily gaining in popularity as a local and family paper." That is the direction in which it is designed to gain, and it is to this end that the best efforts of those who conduct it are directed. We mean it not only to be a history of this city and county, carefully compiled and attractively presented, but a representative of its intelligence, industry, good morals and material progress of our people.

Our contemporary of the Prog. Age is not a mind-reader or he would not have supposed that the nomination of Charles Baker to be collector of customs at this port would arouse our ire. As there is every reason to believe that the Senate will decline to confirm the nomination, the appointment of Mr. Baker, or of any other Democrat at this time, does not disturb our serenity in the least. Indeed, the President might have done worse.

WASHINGTON WHISPERINGS. The Senate spent Thursday on the tariff bill. The free list was reached late in the afternoon. The house simply filibustered and adjourned.....It has been decided that no carriages shall be in the inaugural parade except those of the President, the Presidential party.....Gen. John C. Black, Commissioner of Pensions, is a candidate for the position of Judge Advocate General of the United States Army in the case that Swaim shall be promoted to Brevet. Black's friends are confident that such an arrangement will be made. Army officers say that if Black's pension certificate is correct, he is not physically qualified for Judge Advocate, as he could be at once retired on the statements of the certificate.....Representative Goff left for West Virginia Thursday night. He said before leaving: "I am going to be inaugurated as Governor, and there is to be a Republican United States Senator from West Virginia."..... The Senators who represent the lumber interest have agreed with the Senate Finance Committee to accept a rate on lumber of $1.50 per thousand. This is a reduction of 50 cents.....Friday the Senate finished the free list of the tariff bill. Mr. Weaver continued to filibuster and interrupt the business of the House all day. A bill to place Gen. Fitz John Porter on the retired list will be favorably reported to Congress.....The Senate has discussed the whole tariff bill except the wool, sugar and lumber schedules and portions of two or three others of minor importance. The week ends and on Monday will be taken up by debate and on Tuesday, January 22d, a vote on the passage will be taken.....Congressman Weaver has abandoned his obstructive tactics in the House, having made a bargain with Speaker Carlisle by which it is said Weaver hopes to secure the passage of his Oklahoma bill.....President Cleveland has transmitted to Congress for proper legislation on the subject the report of Secretary Bayard in reference to the international questions arising from the imposition of differential rates of tonnage upon vessels entering ports of the United States from foreign countries.....The talk of an extra session is revived by the recent filibustering in the House. The candidates for the Speakership are said to be earnest advocates of a called session.

From the State Capital.

(Correspondence of the Journal.)

AUGUSTA, ME., Jan. 14, 1889. The sixty-fourth legislature has been in session two weeks and in this brief period has succeeded in perfecting an organization and getting into shape for the business which awaits it. The committees were announced on Wednesday and have nearly all met, elected secretaries and appointed days for meeting. In the Senate Mr. Nickels of Waldo is on the committees on Federal Relations, Commerce, Public Buildings, State College, Mr. Hunt, committee on Railroads, State Prison, and Temperance. In the House Mr. Parker of Belfast was assigned to positions on the committees on Counties and Public Buildings; Tyler of Frankfort, on Commerce; Littlefield of Brooks, on Commerce; Pendleton of Islesboro, on Merchantile affairs and Insurance; Herbert of Stockton, Fisheries and Game; Tyler of Unity, on Public Buildings. So the Waldo County men will have more or less committee work to attend to, especially the Senators, who hold positions on important committees. Old campaigners of former legislatures say that up to the present time this has been a quiet legislature, for what reason does not appear. There is not the usual bustle and excitement about the lobby, the number of matters presented for legislation after the announcement of the committees did not compare with that of two years ago when petitions and bills well nigh flooded the clerk's desk and the reporters were obliged to "thistle" in making a list of them. But extraordinarily few important bills have come forward. Mr. Looney's measure to prevent bribery and corruption at elections by obliging voters to enter compartments alone, carrying a ballot with them on which are printed the names of all the candidates to be voted for, and designating the candidates who he will vote for by making a cross opposite their name, afterwards placing the ballots in the box, attracts much attention and causes general discussion. It is exceedingly doubtful if the bill passes. There is determined opposition to it coming from many of the leading men in the House and Senate, who see objections and theirobjections. On Thursday Mr. Lord, of York, introduced an act into the senate which if passed will practically nullify the two-dollar law for women which received a passage two years ago, after a protracted struggle. The bill allows women to contract to work over ten hours, but at a higher rate of wages. It will receive but weak support, as there is a general feeling that ten hours is a sufficient day's work for women and minors. The most important bill of Friday was that providing for boards of registration in towns and cities, so as to prevent partiality and favoritism in handling the voting lists by the party which may be in power. Each political party is to be represented on the board, and the bill was introduced by Mr. Hatch, of Waterville, where the Democrats have packed and are charged with manipulating the voting lists in just such a manner as to disfranchise Republicans. The feeling against the measure is quite general, and it seems to be a general feeling that local self-government should be thrown about our election machinery. Among other leading measures presented are the following: Bill to establish a reformatory institution for women; to prevent blacklisting of discharged employees by persons or corporations; declaring that dogs are domestic animals within the meaning of the statutes; amending the trustee process so a man cannot be trustee for more sums than is sufficient for his family. It is said that Speaker Dow of the House, who is the chief owner of the Portland Evening Express, became incensed because the Associated Press dispatches for his paper, unlike a telegraph line across the State, over which he can obtain news for his paper at all hours, and Mr. Dow, Col. H. S. Osgood and others have applied to the legislature for a charter to erect lines from the eastern to the western boundaries of the State, and such discrimination as that any paper published in the State shall be made as to the rates exhibited for doing business.

The attempt to fill up the committee on fisheries and game and make a new committee to control the sea and shore fisheries has about as good as fallen through. Mr. Heath in the Senate having had the order taken from the table and referred to the committee on fisheries and game. It was charged by several prominent gentlemen interested in the sea fisheries that the move to create a new committee was a scheme of the lobby to endeavor to secure a committee which would frame a law to serve their interest and reduce the minimum length at which this popular shell fish can be legally captured to one inches, the present limit being 10 3-4.

A petition of the town of Belfast praying also when the city of that name shall be made a port of entry for the Canadian Pacific railroad, a position which numerous seacoast towns are anxious to obtain, was presented in the senate by Mr. Walton. It was signed by the contractors and officers of the Waldo road's newest railroad and they petition that their charter be so amended that they can build their road from the terminus of the Belfast and Moosehead railroad in Burnham, through Canaan, Cornville, Athens, Brighton, Solon, Bingham, Pleasant, Carratunk and The Forks, there tapping the road's eastern portion to the Canadian Pacific railway, crossing a large Moose River Plantation. The petitioners further ask that the capital stock of their company be increased at once to $2,000,000 or more than $200,000, the period of three years allowed for the completion of the road. It is reported that the people resting along the proposed route of the road are eager to see it built, and are signing petitions which are favorable to their locating.

A bill of great interest to Waldo county adjacent to the line before the legislature allowing the landing of salmon in the Penobscot river above tide water. Mr. Parker, of Belfast, says he shall oppose it with vigor and should it become a law for salmon fisheries of the Penobscot must suffer seriously. Mr. Parker on Monday presented a petition to the House for a law to prevent the selling of tobacco and cigarettes to children under eighteen years of age. It was read by outwards, and received responses of Belfast and Searsmont. Petitions of a like nature are being signed in many other sections of the State under the auspices of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

A short session and an early adjournment is the desire of a large majority of the solons, and several are desirous of leaving in season to attend the inauguration at Washington, March 4th. Everything seems to be an impression that the end will be reached about March 1st. Ex-Governor Robie made a movement in this direction by introducing an order one day last week that when the House finally adjourn it be on February 20. Previously it had been ordered that the time for the introduction of new bills be limited to Jan. 31, and the committees have been ordered to report their final reports as early as February 15th. It will be seen from the above that the legislature is to finish work and go home by March 1, if it remains to be seen whether legislation can be dispensed of that early.

CAPITAL CHIT CHAT.

Gen. Wilder's term of office as railroad commissioner expires shortly. There are several candidates and friends of Gen. Wilder.

The committee appointed by the Governor and Council to examine the accounts of the State Treasurer have completed their work and report all correct.

The list of the Representatives Hall at Augusta, for the evening, January 30th, has been granted to the Maine Woman Suffrage Association.

Governor Burleigh is seriously thinking of becoming a grangier and joining Capital Grange of Augusta. Brother Burleigh would be much pleased if the Executive should enter the order.

The 64th Maine Legislature.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 3. Senate. Ordered that the Senate meet at 3 o'clock p. m. Senator at noon, Jan 15.

Mr. Hunt introduced bill for bill to amend the election laws of the State by the adoption of the so-called Australian system. Mr. Manley presented a bill to amend the law governing the meeting of the Presidential electors so to conform to the United States law. Mr. Hutchins presented petition for legislation to change the name of the town of Stockton Springs.

Tuesday, Jan 8. Senate. Mr. Lord, of York, introduced an act practically nullifying the ten hours law for women. It provides that women who have been and women to contract to work over ten hours for a higher rate of wages shall be paid such higher rate. Manufacturers under this act may not be limited to ten hours a day in the mill, but cannot compel to over ten hours a week unless with the consent of a factory inspector, and then an extra labor shall not exceed nine hours in one week or 60 hours in the year.

Mr. Hunt reported from committee on fisheries and game, favors an amendment of the law which will oblige all shippers to mark their names plainly on boxes or packages of lobsters shipped. In seizing lobsters the wardens have experienced much difficulty in determining who the goods belong to, because of the absence of any mark.

The people of Boothbay and Hancock are both in hot water over a proposed division of the two towns.

Mr. Burleigh is making a good Governor and can be found in the Council Chamber at most all hours of the day. His callers are so many that he has but few leisure moments. The Governor is a man of the people and all received by him are made to feel at their ease, whether at the capitol or his neat, unassuming residence on Grove Street.

W. A. NEWCOMB.

Prof. F. W. Gowen, writing from Augusta under date of Jan. 10, sends the Journal some comments on men and measures at the State Capital. He says of

BALLOT REFORM.

This is the main topic of discussion in the hotels and in the halls of the State House. I find that several Representatives and Senators with whom I have spoken favor the reform, and a measure passed on the Australian system of voting. Truly, the purity of the ballot is one of the most essential elements in American politics to-day. No nation can long live with its morals corrupted at the ballot box; for as John Stuart Mills has well said: "The ballot box lies at the foundation of the Government." Politics are the science of government; that part of ethics which has to do with the regulation and government of a nation or a State. Why not then have purity in politics, will any one tell me? The people, not only in Maine, but all over the country, are beginning to see that the cleansing of politics by the purity of the ballot is one of the most vital questions of the day.

In the P. S. Prof. Gowen says that he finds since the introduction Jan. 9th of Representative Looney's bill to amend the election laws that some opposition to the measure is manifesting itself and that a vigorous fight over the matter in the Legislature may be looked for.

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

Is highly spoken of at the Capital. Indeed, it is a very able State paper, and as a Prohibitionist, I heartily commend Governor Burleigh for his firm stand on the question of Prohibition. My views upon this question are well known and individual comment is unnecessary. I will briefly say, however, that the liquor traffic is the most insidious enemy of mankind, and if swept away by national and international action the glory of the Augustan Age at Rome, or even the Age of Pericles at Athens would be dim when compared with the Age of Prohibition.

THE WALDO DELEGATION.

I find the Waldo delegation all earnestly at work. Representative Morse, of Liberty, who is deeply interested in the Maine pensioners, agrees with the Governor in his message, "That the amount to deserving pensioners of the State should be increased." He is also interested in the fisheries and game laws. Hon. William H. Hunt, of Liberty, the oldest member in the Senate, and M. P. Pendleton, of Islesboro, editor of the Progressive Age, who is among the youngest members in the House, take their seats for the first time in the Maine Legislature this winter. The oldest member of the Legislature is Hon. William Pickey, of Fort Kent, whose name is well known to the people of Maine. He was sent to the Legislature from Strong nearly 50 years ago and is a power in politics. In our last election he received 5,000 votes, Speaker Reed and Lafe Dunk he did so by the election of 7,000 and 8,000 respectively.

COMMITTEE ASSIGNMENTS OF THE WALDO DELEGATION.

Joint Standing Committees. Federal Relations—Senator Nickels. Railroads, etc.—Senator Hunt. Commerce—Senator Nickels (chairman); Reps. Tyler and Littlefield. Mercantile Affairs—Rep. Pendleton. Fisheries and Game—Rep. Herbert. Counties—Rep. Parker. Pensions—Rep. Morse. State Prison—Senator Hunt (chairman); Public Buildings—Senator Nickels; Reps. Parker and Tyler. State College—Senator Nickels. Temperance—Senator Hunt.

House Committees. On change of Name—Tyler, Frankfort. On County Estimates—Littlefield, of Brooks. On Engrossed Bills—Pendleton, Islesboro.

Senate Committees. On Bills on Second Reading—Hunt, Liberty. On Engrossed Bills—Nickels, Searsport.

REMOVAL OF THE CAPITAL.

The Portland Press correspondent has interviewed the members on the subject. We quote as follows:

Senator Hunt, of Liberty—"I want to see a bet on building. I don't care where it is located."

Senator Nickels, of Searsport—"Move it out of Augusta as fast as you have to get to it, and then you can accommodate with your own good pleasure."

Senator Rollins, of Bangor—"I would like to see it go to Bangor."

CAPITAL CHIT CHAT.

Gen. Wilder's term of office as railroad commissioner expires shortly. There are several candidates and friends of Gen. Wilder.

The committee appointed by the Governor and Council to examine the accounts of the State Treasurer have completed their work and report all correct.

The list of the Representatives Hall at Augusta, for the evening, January 30th, has been granted to the Maine Woman Suffrage Association.

The 64th Maine Legislature.

AUGUSTA, Jan. 3. Senate. Ordered that the Senate meet at 3 o'clock p. m. Senator at noon, Jan 15.

Mr. Hunt introduced bill for bill to amend the election laws of the State by the adoption of the so-called Australian system. Mr. Manley presented a bill to amend the law governing the meeting of the Presidential electors so to conform to the United States law. Mr. Hutchins presented petition for legislation to change the name of the town of Stockton Springs.

Tuesday, Jan 8. Senate. Mr. Lord, of York, introduced an act practically nullifying the ten hours law for women. It provides that women who have been and women to contract to work over ten hours for a higher rate of wages shall be paid such higher rate. Manufacturers under this act may not be limited to ten hours a day in the mill, but cannot compel to over ten hours a week unless with the consent of a factory inspector, and then an extra labor shall not exceed nine hours in one week or 60 hours in the year.

Mr. Hunt reported from committee on fisheries and game, favors an amendment of the law which will oblige all shippers to mark their names plainly on boxes or packages of lobsters shipped. In seizing lobsters the wardens have experienced much difficulty in determining who the goods belong to, because of the absence of any mark.

The people of Boothbay and Hancock are both in hot water over a proposed division of the two towns.

Mr. Burleigh is making a good Governor and can be found in the Council Chamber at most all hours of the day. His callers are so many that he has but few leisure moments. The Governor is a man of the people and all received by him are made to feel at their ease, whether at the capitol or his neat, unassuming residence on Grove Street.

W. A. NEWCOMB.

Prof. F. W. Gowen, writing from Augusta under date of Jan. 10, sends the Journal some comments on men and measures at the State Capital. He says of

BALLOT REFORM.

This is the main topic of discussion in the hotels and in the halls of the State House. I find that several Representatives and Senators with whom I have spoken favor the reform, and a measure passed on the Australian system of voting. Truly, the purity of the ballot is one of the most essential elements in American politics to-day. No nation can long live with its morals corrupted at the ballot box; for as John Stuart Mills has well said: "The ballot box lies at the foundation of the Government." Politics are the science of government; that part of ethics which has to do with the regulation and

Waldo Trotting Horse Breeders' Association.

About twenty of the fifty signers met at the Court House in Belfast, on Saturday last for the purpose of effecting an organization under the above name. At 11.15 a. m., the meeting was called to order by Wm. C. Marshall, chairman, Geo. E. Brackett, clerk. The first business in order was the adoption of a constitution, which fully sets forth the objects and purposes of the association. The following code was adopted:

ART. I.

SEC. 1. The object of this Association is to advance the interests of the breeders and owners of horses and especially the trotting horse in Waldo county.

SEC. 2. Towns outside of Waldo county may be admitted to the association on such terms as may be decided upon by the executive committee.

SEC. 3. It shall be entitled the Waldo Trotting Horse Breeders' Association.

ART. II.

ART. IV.

SEC. 1. The officers shall consist of a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer, and an Executive Committee of fifteen, one-third of which shall be elected annually, making their terms of office one, two, and three years, and their successors are chosen, and said Executive Committee shall have full charge and control of the business of the association.

SEC. 2. The Executive Committee shall act as soon as may be after the annual meeting organize and elect a President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer, who shall hold said offices and their successors are elected.

SEC. 3. The President shall, with the advice of the Executive Committee, call special meetings of the association, and of the Executive Committee, and perform the duties usually pertaining to such office.

SEC. 4. The Vice President shall in the absence of the President in his absence.

SEC. 5. The Secretary and Treasurer shall be combined in the same office and shall keep a full and correct record of the doings of the association and the Executive Committee; minutes of the various meetings; conduct the correspondence; attend to the printing; issue all notices; issue membership certificates; have custody of the funds and property belonging to the association, &c., for the payment of money, and pay and dispose of the same under the direction of the Executive Committee; collect dues, and perform such other duties as may be required of them by the Executive Committee; render an account of his each department at the annual meeting; shall keep correct books shall always be open to the inspection of the Executive Committee; to submit for audit a full and satisfactory bonds for the faithful discharge of duties, and he shall receive such salary as may be fixed by said committee.

SEC. 6. The Executive Committee may, in addition to the above officers, appoint a Board of Censors, composed of three or five qualified persons, who shall have charge of all matters relating to pedigrees.

SEC. 7. In case of vacancy in Executive Committee the committee shall fill such vacancy by the unexpired term.

ART. V.

SEC. 1. The annual meeting of the Association shall be held on the second Saturday in January at such place as the Executive Committee may designate, when the reports of the officers and committees shall be submitted, and such other business as may properly come before the meeting shall be attended to.

SEC. 2. Ten members present at any meeting shall be sufficient to organize and a majority of the votes cast shall govern.

SEC. 3. Special meetings of the Association may be called by the Executive Committee on request of ten members to the President, and notice of such meeting must be served on all members personally or by mail at least ten days prior thereto.

SEC. 4. At any meeting of the Association each member shall be entitled to one vote, and no proxy vote shall be received in any case.

SEC. 5. The regular meetings of the Executive Committee shall be held on the Saturday of December, May, August and November at the office of the Association.

SEC. 6. Special meetings of the Executive Committee may be called by the President, and shall be held at least six days after the notice of the business to be transacted.

SEC. 7. The order of business at meetings of the Executive Committee shall be as follows:

Reading minutes of last meeting.

Communications.

Reports of Committees.

Unfinished business.

New business.

ART. VI.

SEC. 1. This Constitution may be altered at any annual meeting, or special meeting called for that purpose, by a two-thirds vote of members present.

BY-LAWS.

SEC. 1. The Executive Committee shall have power to make by-laws for its own government and for the government of the Association, not inconsistent with the Constitution.

Caution is the only bowing of the association.

In the association.

In increase of the association.

In extent to admit of the association.

The proposition of the association was by adjournment company for the of the meeting part was accepted.

The following gentlemen were elected members of the committee. The first five for one year, second five for two years and the last five for three years:

W. C. Marshall, A. L. Mathews, C. E. Ellis, Belfast, H. M. Heath, Camden, R. H. Hunt, Unity, F. H. Coombs and J. C. Townsend, Belfast, F. C. Walker, Monroe, Henry Hafey, Monroe, and Hiram Mason, Belfast. C. D. Pendleton, Islesboro, Jonathan Berry, Morrill, and Isaac Hatch, Searsport.

A meeting of the Executive committee is called to meet at the Court House, Belfast, on Saturday, Jan. 26th, at one o'clock p. m. for the purpose of electing officers and to attend to such other business that may come up. It is very important the meeting will be performed to a full attendance.

A Belfast Vessel Wrecked

Schr. Lafayette, Capt. Geo. H. Bishop, of Belfast, was totally wrecked in the gale of the 5th inst. near Eastern Point, Cape Ann, and Capt. Bishop was the only survivor of the crew of seven. Capt. H. told the following story of the disaster to a reporter:

My name is Elbon Holmes, I belong in Belfast, was captain and owner of the schooner Lafayette, hailing from Belfast. She was about 100 tons burden, was formerly a 3 masted vessel, but was rebuilt. We left Rockland about 11 o'clock with a cargo of lime ashes bound to Bevery. Worked about along the coast all day, the weather and wind being very fair. Put to sea during about north northwest and the wind was ahead. Had a very heavy sea on, and the vessel was almost unmanageable. Tried to get around to south-southwest. Did not succeed in doing what was almost south, and we were then about 10 miles from the Cape. The wind came on very heavy, and about 4 o'clock the vessel was struck by a heavy sea and capsized. The vessel righted herself and I succeeded in getting on board of her. I found that the vessel was leaking very badly. I then got into the rigging and remained there for about an hour, when I saw a vessel coming down on us

BURNHAM. Died Jan. 1st, Mehitable Hall, aged 81 years. The deceased was the widow of the late Horatio Hall, who died a short time since. At that time the deceased had a shock which rendered her helpless and she remained in this condition until a few hours before her death, when she had another shock which carried her off. .. Miss Gertrude Weymouth is reported as very low with gastric fever.

FRANKFORT. The Mt. Waldo Granite Company have closed up their works for the winter. They will begin on a larger scale than ever in the spring. They have during the past year made improvements to the amount of about $3,000. These will enable them to increase in their product to their fullest capacity. Their paving contracts for New York have been very large during the past season.

SOUTH MONTVILLE. The officers of the grange were installed Tuesday evening, Jan. 8th, by W. H. Moody, Liberty.... Mr. Nutt and wife and Fred Jones, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moody last week .. Herbert Pease and Fred Hall were home skating for Charlie Gilmore .. Mr. and Mrs. M. Bryant have moved into the house with Mr. and Mrs. Jason Bryant .. Mr. Morgan will not work with Mr. and Mrs. Bryant Wednesday evening, the 16th .. A. T. Pease was unwilling a piece of iron last Friday, and in trying to get it out struck the lower part of his eye and made quite a bath, besides losing the sight of the eye. It was a narrow escape. It is thought by his friends that it would have resulted in the loss of the eye had it been a little nearer the centre .. The young folks had a social gathering at the hall last Wednesday evening. A number were present and had a good time. Quadrille music was furnished by Mr. Moody and Mr. Bryant. Dancing began at 7 o'clock and continued until 12 o'clock. Refreshments were served at 10 o'clock. Another gathering will be held next Wednesday evening. Come one, come all .. Mrs. Lena West, nee Perkins, is visiting her mother and has the baby with her .. C. L. S. Staples & Son have nearly closed out their first lot of sleighs and are rushing business to get out something for the late comers .. Mr. Wood, our furniture man, come around the other day minus his heavy moustache and his neighbors hardly knew him. At first glance he looked young and smooth, and soft, and green as a boy of eighteen just let out of school, but his eye teeth are cut just the same .. Miss Jane Rowe has taken up the dress maker's business and works at home. They say she will make a success of it .. A committee from the G. A. R. Post of Brooks waited upon Prof. L. C. Bateman and invited him to deliver the Memorial address next May, but he had already engaged to speak at Vinalhaven .. Mrs. Neal Johnson is in poor health this winter, being much as she has been several times before .. Mrs. Dudley Simpson still remains very poorly, being confined to the house with little hopes of her recovery. ....Mrs. Geo. Dickey is in poor health .. Mr. Wentworth of Freedom is winning golden opinions from his pupils .. Will Sawtt has moved with his family into the Ranson Rich house. His parents were here the other day to make them a visit.

Capt. Nickerson has finished his carpentry for the Comet and she will be launched this week. She will be towed up to the city this forenoon, by tug, for repairs. The damage to the steamer, if any, was not serious, as she proceeded on her voyage. The Tremont on arrival at Portland reported was run into by a Baltimore schooner, carrying away some of the wood work but not greatly damaging the steamer. Both vessels proceeded without delay. The damage to the steamer may be about two or three hundred dollars.

FREIGHTS. The Freight Circular of Snow & Burgess, New York, reports for the week ending Jan. 12th: There has been no special activity in any one department during the week, yet a fair business in the aggregate has been consummated, and the market derives a steady support from the continuous small available supply of the classes of tonnage most sought after, namely, medium and large carrying vessels suitable for general cargo, timber and coal all for South America, Australia, South Africa, the East Indies, etc., and small handy craft adapted to short foreign and coastwise business. West India freights are quiet, but generally steady and firm, suitable vessels being not over abundant, nor are offers plentiful. There is as yet no urgent inquiry for sugar tonnage from Cuba and the windward ports, but it would seem that the demand cannot be much longer delayed. A good deal of tonnage will be required to move the surplus crops of sugar and molasses and fairly good rates are looked for. The coastwise trade at the moment is exceedingly dull. Many vessels are laid up for the winter, and while orders for coal, lumber, fertilizers, etc., are not very numerous, previous rates are maintained by the comparatively small number of seeking vessels. Most of the steamers lately chartered with grain from Baltimore to Cork for orders have secured now ore freights from Spanish ports to the side at 12s 6d@13s per ton.

Boston Produce Market.

BOSTON, Jan. 15. The butter market was slow and weak yesterday with only small sales. It was hard to get over 28 cents for best brands of creamery, though some were held higher. Other grades ruled lower.

Letter from Jacksonville.

A private letter received from Dr. Mallett, who is now in Jacksonville, gives a most encouraging account of the condition of things in that city. The dread of the fever is passed and business is beginning to look up in that stricken territory. The stores, which have been so long closed, are opening their doors once more and the attractive streets again echo to the sounds of traffic. Slowly the exiles are resuming their appearance of a year ago as the more venturesome visitors return to their winter homes, and Jacksonville shows that the scourge has been overcome. The citizens are confident that a good season is before them, though it must necessarily be a short one; and that the affliction which the city has sustained during the past few months can have but temporary results. The "garden city of the south" seems safe to prosper as she deserves to do. [Bath Times.

WHALING MISCELLANY.

H. M. Bean, of Camden, has closed a contract for another vessel, making the fourth. The last is to be a four-masted schooner of 1,200 tons.

The ice went out of the Kennebec last Thursday, leaving the river free to Augusta. It has since been down over. The ice in the Penobscot remained fast until then.

Ice for Arrival at New York, the 2,500 ton four-masted ship Fred. Billings, owned by Snow & Burgess and others, will load for San Francisco, at $12 per ton. The Billings is the only four-master American ship afloat.

The Boston Journal says: Sch. Guy Ames's ice masts will be shipped this week. She will be towed down some time yet after being rigged. Charterers have recently offered her $17 per M for timber to Buenos Ayres. Her agent demands $18 per M. But it is considered probable that the vessel will go to South America.

Boston, Jan. 13. Schooner Nahum Chapin, of Rockland, hence for Savannah, with a cargo of sundries, Cape Arey, has returned and reports having Saturday night about 6 o'clock with fair wind and when off Castle was run into by steamer Tremont and for Portland, carrying away bowsprit, jibboom and head gear and cut water. She was towed up to the city this forenoon, by tug, for repairs. The damage to the steamer, if any, was not serious, as she proceeded on her voyage. The Tremont on arrival at Portland reported was run into by a Baltimore schooner, carrying away some of the wood work but not greatly damaging the steamer. Both vessels proceeded without delay. The damage to the steamer may be about two or three hundred dollars.

I cannot enumerate the prices on this stock, the task is too great and the stock too large. Let me simply say that everything from shall be thoroughly cleansed from profits and many of them sold less than the cost. Believe me when I say that the large double stores of

81 & 83 Main Street,

instead of being jammed with Dry Goods as they now are, on APRIL 1st nothing will be seen but empty counters and vacant shelves, and to accomplish this desired result we are compelled to knife the profits and give the people more goods for a dollar than they can buy elsewhere. If you see us crowded wait, it will pay you.

An Ecclesiastical Ballad.

DEFINING THE ATTITUDE OF FIVE CONGREGATIONALIST CHURCHES TOWARD THE MEMORIAL CHURCH OF SPRINGFIELD AT THE RECENT INSTALLATION OF A NEW PASTOR.

By Helen N. Packard.

In a lovely valley not far away,
(One of the fairest on earth, they say)
There lies a city of culture and wealth,
Of learning, and knowledge, and morals and health.
Her schools are models of patience and pains,
Her teachers renowned for culture and brains,
Her churches are stately, and good, and fair,
Moulded in symmetry, fashioned with care.
Her pastors (God bless them) are good and true,
But cling to the old things, forsaking the new.

At the northerly end of the beautiful street,
Where the branches govern of the old elms meet,
There stands, like a picture in setting rare,
A beautiful church in a forest fair.
With a background dark of hill and wood,
It stands in its grandeur, noble and good,
A monument fair of the true and just,
Who mingle with earth, their own stern dust.
When the men (whose hearts and brains were stirred
By the erring need for the wonderful word)
Planned and builded this temple fair,
Fashioned in grace and beauty rare,
They said, "We'll meet the long felt need
With a simple form, and a broadening creed.
And open our doors to all who list
To praise the Lord in His courts above."

Methinks there came through the grand old trees,
Sighing and whis-pering in the breeze,
A faint dissent from Edwards and Todd,
As they thought of the way their footsteps had trod;

But their time was past, they'd had their day,
And modern thought must have its way.
So the whis-perings died on the murmuring air,
For no one imagined they would ever care
In just what form the Lord was served—
Whether the way was straight or curved.
Only to let the light of grace
Shine from a risen Saviour's face.

So the years sped by, and the good went on,
Till the pastor old, with his work well done,
Was called to his rest one sunny morn
To wake to a fairer, lovelier dawn.
In a land of rest, from doubts made clear,
And with rich reward for the good done here.
Through fifteen years with their doubt- and fusts,
Orthodoxy, Baptists, and Methodists,
And even some Universalists, too,
Had gathered there their strength to renew.
And, whis-per it low, with good to seek,
Came Unitarians, quiet and meek,
And even those Who believe in the laugh
Of creeds or books, some good had sought
And found in this cathedral fair
Sweet with music, and rich with prayer.

But now along the widening road
Comes a whole- souled man with ideas broad;
He sees a ripening harvest-field
For the reaper bold, a needful yield
Of souls for the fair, immortal fold,
Beyond the gates of pearl and gold.
So they asked a goodly company there
Of people men and women fair,
And invited their friends of old and new
To join in the feast of prayer and praise.

"Buy, sell," orice one and another to-day,
And get another, "This never'll do,
"If on invite-us we must be select.
"Prudent, conservative, circumspect.
"You've ridden from many stages to-day,
"We won't know them, they're not our kin;
"So you can hold your own love-feast,
"We'll stay at home, both layman and priest."
And great-grandma, and the infants two,
Their forms with delight, stayed at home,
And the children's mother, and their good, great aunt
Sweetly but sorrowfully said, "we can't."
They could not move in that mixed crowd,
No! because they felt how cold
Not for the precious bonds they would break
But only for old traditions sake.
But after all, they are but a drop,
The world moves on and does not stop.
Life has too earnest and sad a tinge
To stop for the cryoids we oft impinge.
And we sometimes feel when our lips are dumb,
That light is good—which way it may come.
And the beautiful church on the stately hill
Will keep on its way with its sweet good will,
With its broad-ning arms outstretched to grasp
The wandering sheep in its tender clasp.
And the saviour's creed, its staff and guide,
Till truth is light on the other side.

Belfast by Moonlight.

BY GEORGE PENLETON.

It is Summer—all nature in beauty is dressed—
The sun's setting rays illume in the west,
While the full rising moon sheds her silvery light
On Penobscot's bright waters unit dance with delight.

I have strayed from my cot at this hallowed hour,
Through meadows refreshed by a late fallen shower,
And am standing alone on the public shore
Where the rude billows break with a deep, sullen roar.

The birds are now singing their last evening song,
The screaming sea-fowl passes swiftly along,
The bells pealing forth on the air warm and clear,
While woodlands resolve the sound far and near.

Yon tempest-tossed bark, coming in from the sea,
With fluttering sails that resound on the breeze,
Those sounds all unite to make up a tune
To be borne on the zephyrs—our sweet balmy June.

Now the empress of night in her radiant career,
Mounts on high while new beauties are seen far and near;
On yon rocky cliff that stands by the bay,
On its roofs, spires and windows, her silvery beams play.

Oh! Belfast in beauty, you stand in your pride,
Drown by Penobscot's bright rolling tide;
Church, cottage and woodlands are mingled in peace,
Where white-capping tides the lilu- waters kiss.

Here nature and art all their beauties unite,
They charms do fascinate and pass all invites;
In travels afar I have fine places seen,
But, of New England Cities, Belfast is queen.

But never so lovely, enchanting and fair,
Did you ever appear as now, when I repair
At this hallowed hour, in sweet balmy June,
Like an Eden, you stand, in the light of the moon.

Now I climb to the bank where the shrubbery grows,
Where blooms the wild flowers and rich-scented rose,
And turn my gaze on the beautiful bay,
That seems like a convexed mirror to day.

Those islands how placid, how tranquil they lie,
Like an infant asleep on a fond mother's breast,
The bay and the islands before me unfold,
A picture of silver with spples of gold.

Come artists and paint, come poets and write,
The enraptured mariner would you invite;
Come ere the bells proclaim night's solemn noon,
And see Belfast displayed by the light of the moon.

COME EARLY.

Falsehood and Truth.

When young I oft read in novel and verse
Oftener than box cloth his lesson rehearse,
That genius in spite of ill fortune will rise
Like the sun bursting forth thro' the darkest of skies.
I was firm in this faith till I learned the sad truth.
'Twas but one of the falsehoods repeated to youth.
For soon I discovered that genius needs backing,
And talent- are worthless where money is lacking.

The portals of Fame do not now open wide
Save where gold keys are used for the padlock inside.
The hinges are made on the modern plan
Of excluding the indigent woman or man.
None now to that temple on foot can ascend,
You must go in your carriage, or that of a friend.
None there are admitted without a rich backing,
And genius is kicked out when money is lacking.

Smiles and Tears.

Laugh, and the world laughs, with you;
Weep, and you weep, alone;
Glance, with a smile, in your mirror,
And a smile reflects your own.

Yes, laugh and the world laughs, with you;
Weep, and you weep alone;
For they who knew friends in fortune,
Which we weep, alas! have flown.

Yes, smile and the world smiles on you;
Frown, and the world will frown;
But there's many a sob to stifle,
Many a grief to drown.

And a mist hangs thick o'er the pathway,
Where our tired feet must go;
And there's many a path to lead us,
Down to the depths of woe.

And there's many a thorn to pierce us:
Many a sinful snare;
Many a cross too heavy
For the weary soul to bear.

But we rise each time we stumble,
And onward, through tears and gloom,
Must press, if we reach in safety,
Our common goal, the tomb.

Obituary.

Capt. Joseph K. Nickerson died in Brewer January 4th. He was born in South Orrington, March 25th, 1809, the son of Jesse and Lucy J. Nickerson. At the early age of twelve years he commenced to follow the sea for a livelihood, going most of the time until he was of age with his father, who was a master mariner. At the age of twenty-one he became master of the schooner Nellie Treat and has been captain of some vessel most of the time since, having had successively the schooners Mexican, Maria Foss and Maria Adelaide, of the last named of which he was master at the time of his death. He was married at Orrington in June, 1874, to Mrs. Clara Jackson, by whom he had two children, all of whom survive him, also his mother, father and two brothers and two sisters. He moved to Brewer in May, 1880, where he has lived since, having purchased the "Burpee" places, so called, in 1882.

Zebadiah Heath, a veteran of three wars, died at his home in Veron, Dec. 31. Mr. Heath spent twenty-four and a half years in the U. S. Navy; was in the Florida, Seminole, Mexican and the late civil war, being pensioned for disabilities incurred in the late war. His age was about 71 years. He leaves a widow and several children.

A telegram was received last week from Bay City, Michigan, announcing to the relatives in Bangor the death on Thursday evening, January 24, of Lizzie, wife of Captain Albert Grant. She was the daughter of the late William H. Gouts, Esq., of Bucksport, and her husband was from Bangor. He and three children are now left to mourn one of the heaviest of losses.

Captain Albert Grant, a well-known shipbuilder and builder, died at his residence in Washington, D. C., Saturday, Jan. 5th, in the sixty-ninth year of his age. He was born at Frederick, Md., and at different periods of his life established large shipbuilding operations there and at Lawrence, Mass., Red Island, Nova Scotia, Bucksport, Me., Milwaukee, Wis., and Washington, D. C. He made a good record as a soldier during the war, and was one of the active organizers of the Grand Army of the Republic.

This above scene is a fearful and faithful picture of what is taking place in and portion of the land constantly. The mortal cases attend from day to day feeling tired, weak, with a burning liver, sick headache, and what is worse, that terrible pain in the back, which is the result of the kidneys not performing their proper functions. Kidney-Wort will set these organs right, and in a few days you will feel like a new person. Thousands of cases of the worst forms of kidney disease have been cured by this remedy after the doctors and friends have given the patient up to die. Try Kidney-Wort at once and you will not regret it. It is a dry vegetable compound, and one package will make six quarts of medicine. Any druggist will get it for you. It will cure you if you will give it a fair trial. It is now put up in liquid form, as well as dry, and is equally effective. Sold by druggists. Price $1. Well worth $5 a box. Either the liquid or dry will be sent by mail, postpaid. Send for pamphlet. Address, The Kidney-Wort Co., Rochester, N. Y.

TAKOMA The Greatest Remedy on Earth ever discovered for the Cure of CATARRH

A Child Can Use It.

Thousands of persons testify to its wonderful effect. The applications are made to reach the diseased parts instantaneously, penetrating every cell and cavity of the head, communicating with the nostrils, subjecting every portion of the mucous membrane to the healing action of the remedy employed.

So effective is the medication, the first application is productive of decided relief.

The diseased cavities are cleansed, the offensive smell and headaches disappear, the discharge diminishes, the inflammation subsides, the ulcerations are made to heal, and finally a radical cure is the result.

Price $1 per package at druggists. If your druggist does not keep it, inclose $1 to the

Catarrh Medicine Co.,
NO. 537 CONGRESS ST., PORTLAND, MAINE,

and it will be sent free to any part of the United States.

THE BEST & BEST BLOOD PURIFIER

DEAR SIR:—For a number of years I have been afflicted with dyspepsia, and have suffered a great deal. I commenced to take The True "L. F." Atwood Medicine, and found immediate relief, and now consider myself cured. My son was taken sick with a distressing pain in the head. He seemed to lose his appetite, and grew weak, losing a great deal of flesh. He consulted two physicians, and they called it catarrh, and prescribed for it, but did him no good. At last I happened to think of the True "L. F." Atwood Bitters, and procured a bottle immediately. He commenced taking it, and found relief at once, and is now well, and has gone to his work. I am convinced, beyond a doubt, that, if the people who are suffering from any derangement of the stomach or liver would try it, they would save themselves from many sick days, and from large doctors' bills.

SPECIAL Announcement

TO THE PUBLIC!

On the 25th day of March, 1888, our store with all its contents was consumed by the all devouring element FIRE. This store was considered one of the BEST country stores in New England. But we have not stopped business, for since the fire we have caused to be erected, filled, furnished and stocked another store which, all things considered, FAR EXCELS the one burned.

We have in stock a great variety of Goods usually kept in a first-class country store. Any one that has not seen our store will make no mistake in coming and looking it over.

And now a word to those that owe The firm of E. L. Bean & Co., Please call around and to us say I am ready now my bill to pay.

Thanking the public for their liberal patronage in the past, we trust our business transactions have been such as to merit a continuation of the same.

Yours Respectfully,

I considered rheumatism while in prison in the South suffered with it continually for 21 years, being laid up for months at a time. I tried all remedies I could learn of, and employed the services of numerous physicians, but without avail. I took very many remedies and patronized many physicians but received no benefit, but was cured entirely by using Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) in June, 1886. Before using I could barely get around on crutches. Dr. Comes Rheumatic Remedy and a particle of rheumatism has not since returned. Wm. M. BURBANK.

BELFAST OFFICE OF

Dr. D. P. ORDWAY'S Improved Plasters,

Haraden's Block, Opp. Post Office,
BELFAST, MAINE.
(General Office at Providence, R. I.)

To nine Persons out of ten, the handling all that has been said and written during the past ten years in praise of my celebrated plasters, by eminent physicians and prominent druggists throughout the country, and by thousands upon thousands of persons in every walk of life, who have been restored to perfect health by their use, yet there remains numberless thousands more still suffering from Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Cramps, Female Troubles, Lung and Bronchia Diseases, &c., that could be permanently cured if they would take a short course of treatment with these plasters, the expense of which would be trifling; therefore if any invalid desires to learn how quick their pains can be relieved and strength renewed by the use of ONE of them, call at the office, or if not convenient to do so, then write a full description of their case (which shall be confidential with me) inclosing 25 cts., on receipt of which I will prepare a special plaster for their trouble and forward it by mail, and if I fail to relieve them six days relief it and their money shall be refunded. I have on file at my office, and which the public are cordially invited to call and examine, over 2,000 original letters written me by persons from nearly every section of the United States and Canada, recounting surprising cures of diseases that have been wrought by these plasters. I also with pleasure refer to the following well-known and responsible gentlemen as to my character, standing, reliability, and the efficacy of my plasters—H. H. Johnson, M. D., Wm. O. Peck & Son, Dr. R. H. Moody, A. Hodgkins & Co., Robert L. Patterson, Esq., and Francis Whittemore, Esq., of Belfast; Dr. A. Crocker, M. D., G. H. McCord, M. D., of Searsmont. In conclusion will add that when a plaster is needed, one of my reliable kind can be depended upon, and one the proprietor backs up with money, preserve at any good chase dangerous part of it. If Ordway's Plasters fail to do as I say, you never will regret it; if you do regret it bring the plaster to my office and I will refund you the price of it. Yours truly and obediently,
