Relating to the Sixth Regiment.

Although the special action in the Sixth Regiment does not appear to the documents already forwarded to Washington, the following excerpts from letters addressed by Gen. Frickham to the President and the Secretary of State, though a telegram from 29th, 1861, Maj. Frickham, relative to transportation, does not provide any evidence to prove that any order had the 6th Regiment been authorized and accepted, but that arrangements were still being made, with the intention of the War Department, for the organization of the 7th and 8th regiments.

[Excerpt from Letter to Sec of War]

Augusta, June 20th, 1861

Sir,

In addition to the 6th Regiment already called for from this State, and seven, five of which are now in Washington, two have been notified and partially raised. The companies have for the most part been organized but not brought together. I have thought it would be wise to concentrate at least one of those regiments, and put it under drill and instruction, and have it ready for the home on the fall of dinner. Two or more could very easily be put into camp and made ready.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

J. Washburn, Jr.

Yan. J. Cameron,
Sec of War.

Governor of Maine

Dear Sir,-

I have just received the 1st. Regiment of Maine Volunteers return to Maine at the expiration of their term of enlistment, August 2d; and as I understand that they would re-enlist for three years, in the war, I would respectfully suggest that they be required to the present muster, and the Regiment depart itself at Washington, ready for duty at the earliest possible date. Their efficiency of drill and experience of the last three months give them great advantage over fresh recruits, and I hope you will consider the importance of debarring their services for the Government at once.

Very res. yours respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

Simon Cameron
Secretary of War

The 1st. Regiment, as above, was re-organized as the 10th Regiment on the 20th of September, 1862, and left the State for Washington on the 5th of the month following.
