

THE OLD ORCHARD APPLE

COST SAVING MEETS

The Cost Saving Committee met at Loranger School at 7:00 pm. on June 29, with Jean Cullinan, Eugene Chichester, Ed Coreau, and Timothy W. Tucker present. The DPW was invited to attend the meeting for two reasons 1) to inform the Committee on areas of savings and efficiency 2) to report to the Town Manager in respect to the hiring concerning the Superintendent of DPW/ Town Engineer.

Those in attendance were Leroy Sprague-truck driver classification, Norman Andrews-laborer(sewer), Don Townsend-mechanic, Armand St. Hilaire-foreman.

Unfortunately the heavy and light equipment operators did not attend the meeting.

The next scheduled meeting was to be September 14, 1976

Much discussion was held as to the feasibility of a work program for the DPW. Some agreed it would be helpful and others mentioned that in some areas no work program could be had because of situations. The biggest problem for one was the morale factor since the contract wasn't signed, the Town Manager doesn't visit enough, and that certain operations from the DPW were for certain people. For plowing during the winter much saving could be had if the manholes were fixed on a continuous basis. A problem from the Police Department not enforcing no parking on the streets during winter. Time would be saved.

A futuristic view from the preparation of the budget would be helpful for planning of activities. The selling of some of the unnecessary equipment would augment the DPW budget. Even though it was related to the Finance Committee the addition of a small dump truck, a clam for cleaning catch basins, cesspools, and drains, a small automatic roller for street paving was suggested for savings & efficiency. Much discussion was held on maintenance schedules and repair work and it was suggested that all work was too documented as it was in previous years. The Cost Saving was to have a meeting with the DPW union so that more information could be had before the Committee recommendation to the Council.

The next scheduled meeting was to be September 14, 1976 at 7:30 pm. All agreed other special meetings would be held during the summer.

OOB LIFEGUARDS BACK ON DUTY

The summer season is upon us, the lifeguard force has started its summer duty on Friday, June 18.

The force consists of twenty-six men who are responsible for the overall protection and safety of Maine's finest and largest beach.

Although, the job of a lifeguard may seem a soft and easy one, nothing could be further from the truth. The individual responsibility of each and every lifeguard is a great one.

During the height of the season, tourists flock to Old Orchard Beach by the thousands. The beach area is the hub of activity from early morning to late afternoon. The responsibility of the protection and safety of these people are in the hands of the lifeguards.

The average guard is a college student working his way through school. His swimming ability is important but not the only criteria for the job.

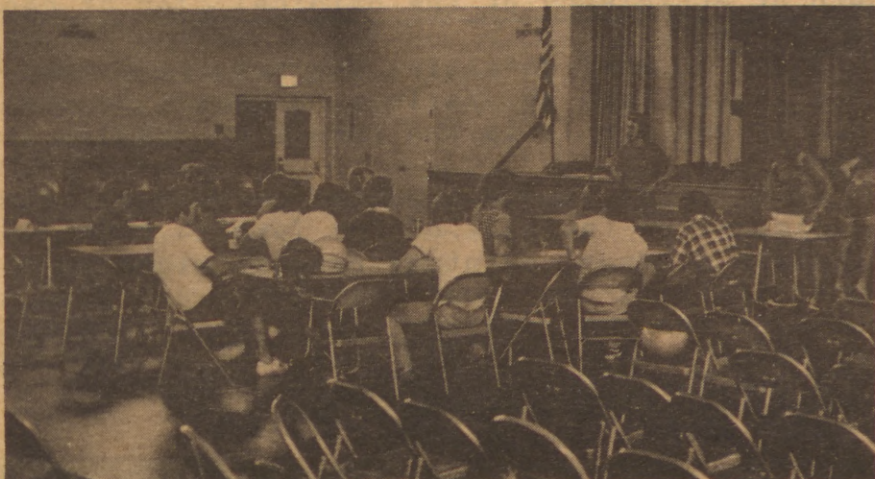

On a good day, a lifeguard is responsible for the overall safety of 5,000 people, per post.

To do his job efficiently he must always be alert and ready to react to any emergency, that may occur either in the water or on the beach.

These emergencies are many and varied, from water rescue to giving mouth to mouth resuscitation to someone who has just suffered a massive cardio vascular arrest, also the care of cuts, sunburns, loose dogs, lost children, wind blown umbrellas and various other problems that may occur.

The lifeguards train every morning from 9 A.M. to 10 A.M., and the beach open officially at 10 A.M. until 5 P.M.

If you ever need help on the beach, you can always be sure that you will receive all the assistance possible when you approach that friendly red tower.

Capt. Mark Gagne conducts orientation of Old Orchard's life guards.

Under the watchful eyes of life guard first aid man Michael Cribby, life guards John Polackwich and Hilary Billings practice cardio-pulmonary resuscitation on Resuscitator Annie.

"It is better for a city to be governed by a good man than by good laws."

Aristotle

As the summer arrives with its hustle and bustle and I experience my first air-conditioned cold, I've had time to think on the direction of the town and its future. The political animosity has subsided to backroom conversations while the generosity of the people is open armed. We now welcome our friends both Canadian and those of the United States. The people of Canada bring their liveliness and good will to our town.

But let's n

But let's take a look at some of the accomplishments that our town has had.

First, we had the transfer of town government namely the Town Manager through an orderly fashion even though there were those who had the opportunity to dissent. A young business oriented man came from our sister state of Massachusetts. Already to the dismay of some he has with the help of the Council implemented some long needed managerial and personal practices. With days of obvious frustration L. Christopher Kent has brought to the Town a stabilizing effect such that I call for all interested men and women especially, to get involved with this happening. Let's be conscious of our duties as citizens and direct our energies in the future for the good of the Town not for any particular person or thing. As Ben Franklin said "We are more heavily taxed by our idleness, pride, and folly than we are taxed by government."

Second, the election of a Town Council has had impact for the good. I cannot overemphasize this fact. However, I would be remiss if I did not acknowledge that there are still this day hard feelings. To this date we have I feel two excellent Councilmen and one of mediocrity. The others tend to wallow in a quagmire of lack of tact and reason. In the upcoming election I would like to see a change such that the persons who run are just because of their ability to make a decision. and their reasoning explained through precise moral terminology. The time is to do away with personalities and parties (though granted they are necessary evils).

The Council through its hard work has established a position of Superintendent of DPW/Town Engineer, a Recreation Director, such committees as Finance, Cost Savings, Roads and Sidewalks. In addition the Public Safety Complex (good or bad) was completed plus the Senior Citizen Rebate Program was established. The Ocean pines/OOB Nutritional Program was augmented for greater service. Town workers received a cost of living increase which is more than fair.

Third, Public Safety Commission has met continuously with Police and Fire Departments. Things have been done and I'm sure will continue to be. The Fire Department through its Ball will help pay for its Complex's needs. The Police have augmented its force for the summer. One suggestion: Could the public be made more aware of the reasonings of the Police & Fire Depts? Perhaps Mister John Q. Public, this may be the responsibility of the P.S.C.

Fourth, Parks and Recreation Commission has done a great deal. A new Park Director, new tennis courts, a rejuvenated basketball court, a summer recreation program for all youth, heavens knows what else. A fine job indeed!

Fifth, Roads and Sidewalks has been quite involved. A well formulated program to redo some streets and walks. Now communication with DPW to see the costs and feasibility to do the programs. A lot of hard work--that's what it takes.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

I think that it is time that someone took to task, the fact that the town of Old Orchard Beach does not have seasonal traffic lights.

For too many summer years now I have witnessed the maniacal mainstream of metal and rubber simultaneously converging at three key intersections in this community, namely; the top of Main Street adjoining Saco Avenue and Heath St. points and finally, Saco Avenue and Union Ave. turnoff.

I will no longer incur my wrath against tourists who, most probably are not familiar with the town's layout. The blame does not lie there. My animadversions are directed at either irresponsible local or state officials who perennially neglect this matter.

But who knows? Maybe if we wait long enough we can dedicate these proposed traffic lights to someone's memory.

John Fitzgerald Jr.

Old Orchard police officers are sluffing off their duties as speed limit enforcers.

The quiet residential areas of Atlantic, Union and Ocean Avenues have become a drag strip for frustrated drivers who have been caught in the maddening traffic jams downtown.

OOB residents have been seen lately sitting on their front porches, stop watches in hand, clocking drivers on Atlantic Ave. to see who makes the hill in the fastest time.

Only one old-timer can remember the last time a car actually cruised the street at 15 miles per hour: it was sometime in July, 1955.

Watching fast cars rocketing down the streets would be a harmless sport if it weren't for local children who have the bad manners to sometimes get in the way of OOB's up and downhill racers.

There are two possible solutions to the problem.

We can slow down the kids, or we can slow down the cars.

I'll leave it to the police to make that decision.

SEWER BACK-UP LIABILITY

The Town's liability for damage to private residences and property occurring from a sewage back-up in the public sewer. Title 30, Section 4353 of the Maine Revised Statutes requires municipalities to maintain and keep in repair their public sewers and, if a Town fails to do so, may be liable for damages sustained as a result of the failure.

However, our Supreme Court has ruled that a Town is not liable for injuries caused to a person's property by the back-up of sewerage from a public sewer where the damage occurs entirely from some fault in the location or plan of construction of the sewer or in the general design of the sewer system and not because of the failure to repair or maintain the sewer to the standard of efficiency of the original plan of construction.

Thus you must determine whether the claim made arises from any failure to repair or maintain or whether it is the result of plan or design.

Even if the damage occurred because of some negligence on the part of the Town to repair or maintain a sewer, eventual damages might be reduced if it can be shown that the owner also was negligent in failing to maintain properly the valve in his building sewer which would have prevented the occurrence.

MUSKIE'S CLEAN WATER EFFORTS

Maine Senator Ed Muskie said Tuesday that Maine's success with the clean water program belies the criticisms leveled against the program in other states.

In a Senate speech, Muskie said "Maine's industry will comply with the standards of the 1972 Act without even threats of plant closures or work force reduction."

"Maine is a state which does not have a large water pollution control agency, yet it has not been overwhelmed with paperwork; it is a state which does not have a major engineering department in each city, yet at the same time Maine has performed well with its...construction program," he said.

"In fact," Muskie said, "Maine is a state which has benefitted greatly from the provisions of the Clean Water Act. The funds that have been made available for construction grants have stimulated employment in a depressed construction industry. The requirement that industry meet basic national standards...insures that pulp and paper plants and other industrial facilities in other states will have to meet requirements similar to those in an environmentally conscious state like Maine," he said.

Muskie, principal author of the Clean Water Act of 1972, outlined for the Senate the major accomplishments of Maine's water program.

All of the 26 major pulp and paper facilities will be in compliance with federal 1977 cleanup deadlines. None has been forced to close or has moved due to the requirements of the act.

The money paper companies have spent on water cleanup has provided jobs and the money was spent in Maine and did not jeopardize the industry's expansion during that time.

Since 1972 Maine has received $130 million in construction grant funds, which led to the creation of an estimated 6,550 jobs.

"Maine's success is a positive statement of the ability of the federal and state government to join together to solve serious national problems," Muskie concluded.

IT'S NEVER TO LATE

With summer just beginning, maybe we can already see the "folly" of locating the police fire station next to the high school and a mile away from the action; maybe some of our elected officials might give serious thought to converting this stone ark into much needed classrooms of which there is a dire need NOW.

The present fire station is perfectly adequate and with a more centralized location. Although I must admit, it does not have the modernized bedroom facilities or a $3,800 descending pole.

The new air conditioners in the new police station could easily be removed and replaced in the old station for the convenience of our men in blue.

Would parents whose children are assigned classrooms in the old high school on School St. please rally to this cause.

SALAVATION ARMY

This Sunday, Lt. Martha Fleming, is being transferred to Pen Argyl, Penn.

She was stationed here in Old Orchard for two years after completing The Salvation Army School for Officers in Suffern, New York.

Lt. Fleming will be the officer in charge of the Corps in Pen Argyl.

Lt. Barbara Olson, of Dover, New Jersey, a recent graduate of the school in Suffern, N.Y., will replace Lt. Fleming. She will be responsible for the youth work at the Corps.

Sunday, July 4 will be the day for Lt. Olson's official welcome. She will be speaking at the public service at 6:00 PM, following the service a reception will be held at 7:00 PM.

Miss Katy Geyer, age five, won a first prize bowling trophy for the highest average of her team (63).

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Geyer of Old Orchard Beach.

The league is from the Childhood Hours, nursery school.

WHAT IS PINK?

Pink, is a color that is sweet and bright
Pink, is the color of the sunset at night
Pink, is the color of a feeling for love
Pink, is happiness of those up above
Pink, is a color of a strawberry shake
Pink, is the icing on a birthday cake
Pink, is the dream that you dream at night
Pink, is the sunrise of the first morning light.

WHAT IS GOLD?

Gold, is the color of shimmering grain
Gold, is the answer of trying again
Gold, is the feeling that I think is nice
Gold, is a palace that has no price
Gold, is the color of a golden apple
Gold, is a horse with his spots of dapple
Gold, is the color of just being me
Gold, is the feeling of being free

MARY'S MORSELS

In the days of the pioneers, cooks learned from each other, each one taught the other his country's cooking secrets.

People from other lands came to America to build new lives, bringing with them cooking secrets and recipes, everyone passed down to them from generation to generation.

As we look back over this country's past 200 years, I would like to feature some authentic historical recipes, each has a history of great importance. This week's is one that came from Portland, Maine, as printed by Herter's Inc. Waseca, Minnesota.

DOUGHNUTS GREGORY

Elias Gregory was a sea captain from Portland, Maine. His mother, Elizabeth Gregory was a famous local sea front cook and the originator of the doughnut.

In 1803, throughout New England, fried pastries such as fried cakes, bismarks, long johns, crullers, beignets were widely made. Mrs. Gregory made up a dough recipe for deep frying that was very original yet typical of her background. It contained nutmeg and cinnamon which she was very familiar with as her son hauled these items as cargo regularly on his ship.

The recipe also contained lemon rind. Lemons were the most important thing in a ship's stores in those days as fresh lemons or limes kept the crew from getting scurvy and colds on long journeys. Mrs. Gregory made the whole recipe with the idea of the pastry being one that could be taken aboard ship to sea and kept safely for long voyages without spoiling and to help prevent scurvy and colds.

They were intended to be eaten by dunking them in hot black tea or coffee aboard ship. Mrs. Gregory put hazel nuts or walnuts in the center of the pastry as she was afraid that they might not cook all the way through to the center. She called the pastry, doughnuts, which was exactly what they were.

Her son, Elias took fifteen hundred of them on board for a voyage. The crew, as well as himself, were very fond of them. No one on the voyage developed either scurvy or a cold.

Elias Gregory was a wise captain and knew the value of a dollar. When he docked at Portland again, he went straight to the tinsmith. He had him make a cutter in a circular shape with a hole in the center. He took the cutter to his mother and had her make up some doughnuts with the center cut out, eliminating the need to use expensive nuts in the center. They fried beautifully and the hole in the center prevented them from having a soggy center.

His crew in the town taverns exulted the great goodness and medicinal qualities of doughnuts at sea and although on the next voyage the doughnuts had no nut they still were highly praised by the crew. Soon doughnuts were the most popular pastry throughout America and still are today.

Here is Mrs. Gregory's original recipe. Although many have tried to improve on this recipe it is still the best doughnut recipe that the world has ever known. All the ingredients are at room temperature, including the milk.

Crack two eggs in a large bowl and beat well with an egg beater, slowly add, beating constantly, one cup sugar. Then stir in one cup milk. Stir in 5 level tablespoons melted butter. Sift well, before measuring 4 cups of white flour. Add 4 level teaspoons of baking powder, $\frac{1}{4}$ level teaspoon of nutmeg and $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon of cinnamon. One half teaspoon salt. Resift the flour and other ingredients. Stir in two teaspoons of grated lemon rind into the flour mixture. Now stir the sifted ingredients with the egg mixture until they are well blended. Put about one-third of the mixture on a floured board and turn and knead slightly. Then roll out to one-fourth thick. Cut out the doughnuts with a doughnut cutter. Add the trimmings to half of the remaining dough and roll out and cut as before. Add the trimmings to half of the remaining dough and roll out and cut as before. To fry, heat vegetable oil to about 370 degrees. Do not put more than three doughnuts into the fat at one time so it will not change the temperature of the fat. If a thermometer is not available drop a piece of bread into the fat, if it is golden brown in one minute the fat is about 370°. If the grease is not hot enough the doughnuts will absorb the fat. If the fat is too hot they will brown too quickly before they have raised properly. Remove all small pieces of dough from the fat that comes from the doughnuts to avoid smoking, do not turn them more than once. Lay them on paper towels to drain. When cool enough to handle place three or four doughnuts in a paper bag with your favorite mixture and coat well.

THIS MONTH IS NUMBER 6

A member of the Thunderbird Skydiving Club drops into the infield at Scarborough Downs over opening week-end. The Divers will return to the Downs on Sunday, July 4, as part of the special holiday program.

Don Richards TAKES 2nd NEW ENGLAND DRIVER'S TITLE AT SCARBOROUGH

Backers of Don Richards had everything going for them Monday night at Scarborough Downs as the 43 year old veteran provided all the excitement in winning his second consecutive New England Driving classic and in so doing kicking off a $241.60 eighth race exacta pay-off.

The Yarmouth, Maine resident had fan support at the outset, and the enthusiasm never waned after a third place finish in the first leg of the double heat contest. Hermand Renaud, the pride of Prince Edward Island took the first leg, collecting 40 points for the effort, Russ Wing, another local was sitting comfortably in second with 25 points, but Richards came out in the eighth a man not to be denied, he reigned Wicklow Nan, an eight year old mare, to the winner's circle cutting almost two full seconds off the quick-stepping pacers life-time mark.

In accepting the trophy, emblematic of New England Driving supremacy, from Maine Harness racing Commissioner Joseph D'Alfonzo, Richards was complimentary to his competitors and remarked what a great event the Championship is for the State of Maine.

Leigh Fitch of East Sebago continues to set a torrid pace in the annual Scarborough driving Championship by registering, to date, 18 trips to the winner's circle while sporting a .460 driving "batting average."

Hermand Renaud's 22 head stable remains healthy and Renaud, behind some very handy driving is definitely in contention to give Fitch a run for the trophy.

On July 4th sky divers will jump into the Downs infield, and the Annual Paddock Judge's Trot will be run, in which a trophy will be presented to the driver of the fastest trot of the evening. Due to Sunday's program, Scarborough will be dark Tuesday night, the 6th of July.

The Maine Standard Breeders Stakes returns to the Downs again on Wednesday and Thursday nights. On Wednesday, the Downs will feature two and three year old filly paces. On Thursday the three year old colts will take to the track for pacing and trotting action. It's worth the trip to the Downs to see these stars of tomorrow perform on the half-mile oval.

Buffalo Ben who holds the 1976 speed record over the course in 2:02 2/5ths paced a 1:59 1/5th mile at Foxboro over the week-end.
