Saturday, February 10, 1821.

Moral Goodness, says Dr. Scott, "is the great stamp and impress that renders man current in the esteem of God; whereas, on the contrary, the common brand, by which hypocrites and false pretenders are stigmatized, is their being zealous for the positive, and cold and indifferent as to the morals of religion."

CHARTS, of various kinds, for sale at the Eastport Book-Store.

Mackin's Advice to a S. N.—"I have often told you, that every man must be the maker or mender of his own fortune. I repeat the doctrine: he who depends upon incessant industry and integrity, depends upon patrons of the noblest, the most exalted kind: they are the creators of fortune and fame, the founders of families, and never can disappoint or desert you. They are the most constant friends, and turn even vicissitudes of unfortunate tendency to a contrary nature. You have genius, you have learning, you have industry, at times, but you want perseverance; without it you can do nothing. I bid you wear your motto in your mind constantly—"PERSEVERE."
