REPUBLICANS STRIVING TO LINE UP COUNTY ATTORNEY CANDIDATE

The Republican party in Knox County is faced with a problem as the June primary elections draw closer. Apparently, none of the lawyers in the county are especially interested in seeking the position of county attorney.

Curtis Payson of Union, who has served in the office three terms, announced last week that he would not seek re-election.

The position, which pays $2,000 per year, removes the office holder from the practice of criminal law. Being the state's prosecutor, he may not represent any person charged with a criminal act. Many of the local attorneys realize far more than the salary figure from even what could be considered a small criminal practice. There could be instances where the fee in a single criminal case would exceed the entire year's pay for the county attorney.

It has been the practice for several years past to "assign" the position to one of the younger lawyers in the area, a man just starting practice and to whom the income from the position would be welcome. Payson has been more or less drafted for the position the past two terms.

Of the eligible younger attorneys in the area, Christy Adams has been in practice several years and states definitely that he will not consider running for the GOP nomination.

Samuel Collins, another of the city's young legal practitioners, said Thursday that his practice will not permit him to devote time to a public office such as that of county attorney.

Galen Legassey, the area's newest member of the bar, could be a candidate, but he has not as yet reached a decision. Mr. Legassey entered practice in Rockland in early October following three years as a title lawyer with the State Highway Commission. He is married and has three children.

It is understood that Alan Grossman, who has an extensive criminal practice, has been approached as a possible candidate. He said Wednesday that he is undecided and may not reach a decision for several days. Should he decide to run for the party nomination, it would entail a considerable financial sacrifice in the way of income from his practice before the criminal courts.

Tide Floats Off Pulpwood From Ash Island

A number of cords of pulpwood, belonging to Harold Ingerson of Freeport, and stored on the sandy beach at Ash Island off Ash Point, took to the water Tuesday morning as a result of the high tide and floated away, a complete loss to the owner.

Ingerson, working cutting operations on the island, for the past month, stored the wood near the water for easy loading and transportation.

The high tide Tuesday morning, reported at eight feet, undercut the sand under the front of the load causing several cords to float off into the water. The wood was spotted by residents during the morning floating along the coast.

Ingerson had storm trouble once before this year last October when a 36 foot power boat, owned by him, snapped its mooring in a storm and swept up on Crockett's Beach in Ash Point.

Income Tax Takes Big Bite From City Payroll

City department income tax figures seem to indicate that fewer city employees are making more money than similar figures a year ago.

The office of the city accountant reported Friday morning that 269 city employees had been sent federal income tax statements for the past year. The income tax paid the government totaled $44,524.38.

The same report last year showed that 283 employees received the statements which totaled $38,956.45, a difference of slightly over $5,500.

Chief Thompson To Speak Before North P. T. A.

A meeting of the North School PTA Monday evening will hear Rockland Police Chief Bernard Thompson speak on "Juvenile Delinquency as Related to the Rockland Area."

The business meeting will be conducted by president Charles Hare with refreshments served following the meeting under the direction of Mrs. Phyllis Grant and Mrs. Madeline Spaulding.

It was announced that those wishing to become new members may do so by contacting Dorothy Stevens.

Barbara Whitehill Advisor of Rainbow Girls

Elected officers of the Rockland Assembly, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, at a Wednesday evening meeting at the Masonic Temple were: Barbara Whitehill, worthy advisor; Patricia Yorke, Charity; Judy Pease, Hope; Ellen Maxey, Faith; Linda Fuge, recorder; and Judy Childs, treasurer.

The elected officers will be installed along with the appointed officers at a Jan. 29 ceremony at the Masonic Temple.

As a general rule one good turn, builds up hope for another.

Mrs. Sadie Robinson of West Rockport receives her first wheel chair from Polio Foundation Knox County representatives who are from the left, Miss Ruth Rogers, Mrs. Constance MacPhail and George Parsons. Photo by McKen

A 53 year old West Rockport mother of three, a polio victim since the age of two, received the first wheelchair she has ever owned Thursday afternoon.

The folding wheel chair was presented to a smiling, joking Mrs. Sadie Robinson by Knox County representatives of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in a ceremony held at her small farmstead, a half mile from West Rockport center.

For years, Mrs. Robinson utilized a small hand-carved stool equipped with handles for aid in getting about the house.

George Parsons, chairman for patient care for the foundation and present at the presentation, hoped that the chair would provide a much easier means of mobility.

Mrs. Robinson, jolly and pleasant setting her visitors at ease, recalled for the group the early years of her affliction when she moved about by means of an old fashioned milk tin pan. Despite her condition and excess weight Mrs. Robinson still does much of the housework at the small home where she lives with her husband, John, and children.

Also present were Ruth Rogers, chapter chairman of women's activities, and Constance MacPhail, Knox County foundation chairman.

Commander of Troop D State Police Shifted

Troop D members, 16 strong, of the Maine State police, attended a farewell party at the Knox Hotel Wednesday evening in honor of Trooper Robert Upton of South China who resigned after four and a half years of service.

The barracks will also lose Lt. Maynard Lindsey who received orders this week transferring him to Troop E at Orono. Lt. Lindsey will leave Jan. 16. He will be replaced by Lt. Henry McCabe of the Wells barracks. Lindsey has commanded Troop D the past 18 months.

Upton, whose father the late Lawrence Upton, was chief of the Maine State Police, and whose brother, William Upton, is a trooper stationed at Orono, will enter the business field as an insurance adjuster for the National Grange.

Lobster Plant Workman Hurt

Two persons were released and one hospitalized after treatment at Knox County General Hospital Thursday.

Hospitalized was Henry Powell, 27, of 46 Lawrence street who suffered two fractures of the lower right leg when he fell while removing a load of lobsters at the Independent Lobster Company plant.

Treated was George Achorn, 48, of 94 Main street, who received a deep laceration over his left eye when he slipped aboard the Birds Eye trawler Storm. He was released after treatment.

Rockland High School basketball player, Richard Track, 17, of 87 Park street received treatment for a sprained right wrist suffered when he fell during a team practice session. He was also released following treatment.

COAST GUARD RUMORED TO BE PLANNING ELIMINATION OF OWLS HEAD LIGHT AND TWO OTHERS

The Courier-Gazette has information that the Coast Guard is contemplating the discontinuance of no less than three lights in the Penobscot Bay area. Local Coast Guard officials would not confirm the rumor Friday morning, stating that they had no official directives as to plans for aids to navigation in this area.

To be considered for discontinuance as attended lights are Owls Head Light at the entrance to Rockland harbor; Brown's Head Light which guards the entrance to North Haven Thorofare; Deer Island Thorofare Light and Eagle Island Light.

The light stations could be changed to unattended lights and left pretty much as they are now as to strength of light and characteristics. On the other hand, the complete discontinuance of the light as now known could come and lighted buoys offshore substituted.

Baker's Island Light, near Southwest Harbor was discontinued last October and a lighted whistle buoy with a radar target attached put into use to replace it. Fishing boat owners operating in the Mt. Desert area are now petitioning Washington, claiming that the buoy is inadequate as a navigational aid and asking that the light be restored.

EIGHT SELECTED AS CANDIDATES FOR SNOW CARNIVAL BALL KING AND QUEEN AT WARREN HIGH

Warren High School elected king and queen candidates for the coming Snow Carnival Ball on Feb. 17 at a school wide election held Wednesday at the school.

The candidates, a boy and girl from each of the four classes, will vie for top honors for the votes of carnival ticket holders on the big day.

Candidates were: Alton Gamman and Phyllis Driscoll, seniors; James Kinney and Tobey Messer, juniors; Robert Payson and Gail Chicoine, sophomores; and Paul Wood and Nancy Norwood, freshmen.

The carnival will be sponsored for the third year running by the Warren PTA with Mrs. Gwendolyn Philbrook as general chairman.

Other PTA members on the committee are: Mrs. Evelyn Payson, grants; Mrs. Stephenie Heathcote, white elephant; Mrs. Marion Willie, decorations; Mrs. Bertha Perry, cake and candy; and Mrs. Louie Wren, sandwich and coffee soliciting.

ISLESBORO TAKES NORTH HAVEN IN FRIDAY MORNING CONTEST

The heavy rain of an early first period North Haven basketball attack quieted down to the weak drizzle of a steady 10 point deficit and finally ended in the glaring sunlight of a 51 to 38 loss to a fast and accurate Islesboro squad in a contest played at the Rockland Community Building Friday morning.

The evils of the Friday the 13th contest failed to hamper Islesboro's accurate shooting center Dick Trim who dropped in 23 points while teammate forward Bradford Randlett found the hoop for 20.

North Haven's center Jackie Brown fought a bitter scoring contest throwing in eight baskets and four fouls for a total of 20 points in a losing cause.

Playing nip and tuck for most of the first period the game had all the earmarks of a close contest. Islesboro taking a first period lead of five points pulled steadily ahead to 10 and 12 points and stayed there for the remainder of the game.

Appleton's Sprowl Emerging As Scoring Star

Appleton's sharp shooting center, Dick Sprowl, caught fire Wednesday night against a Liberty quintet scoring 27 points and was still ablaze Thursday night when he racked up an enormous 32 points against a Warren team. However, Appleton could only pull one victory out of the pair of contests, losing to Liberty 57 to 46 and turning the heat on Warren for a 62 to 40 victory.

In the Liberty game, played at Liberty, the invading team dropped to an eight point deficit at the first period end and trailed the faster Liberty squad by about that length the entire game.

For Appleton, Sprowl's 11 baskets with five throws for 27 points were tops while Stan Jewett, Liberty center, fended off Sprowl's scoring threat by throwing in 13 two pointers four foul himself for a 30 point total.

In the girls game the same evening, Vanessa Moody scored 21 points and Muriel Ratten hit for 16 for Appleton defeating the Liberty lassies in a tight contest 49 to 42. For Liberty Sandra Scates dropped in 17.

The next night, traveling to Warren to the miniature Glover Hall basketball court, Appleton dropped the winless Warren team on Sprowl's 14 baskets and four fouls for 32.

Warren's right guard, Waters, kept his team in the fighting for three periods with seven ringers and a free ticket for 15 points.

Appleton, taking an early first period lead of 14 to 6, was tied in the second period at 21 all but a quick foul shot gave them the half time lead.

A hot and heavy third canto saw a basket a minute routine employed by each team with Appleton grabbing a slight edge, ending the period 42 to 34. The final period found the Warren offense stalled to a six point effort against Appleton's 20 points and the rout was on.

Government Now Offers Loans To Small Business

Edward J. Stewart, Regional Director of the Small Business Administration for the States of Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, Rhode Island and Massachusetts today announced a new program of financial assistance tailored to the needs of small shops, particularly in the retail, wholesale and service trades.

Loans can be made to small firms under this new program, known as the Limited Loan Participation Plan, up to a limit of $15,000 in Government funds plus a share from the borrower's bank.

The new program has been tested by the Small Business Administration on a trial basis since July 6, 1955. It is designed to provide term bank-participation loans to very small firms—such as retail stores, repair shops, restaurants, dry cleaning establishments and many other similar enterprises.

Interest on these loans has been set at not more than 6 per cent, with the requirement that the borrower's bank take at least a 25 per cent share of each loan.

Mr. Stewart explained that loans approved under the Limited Loan Participation Plan will be approved locally, and will not have to be sent to Washington for approval. These loans will provide financial assistance for longer periods to very small firms which need additional funds for expansion, modernization, acquiring new fixtures, acquiring parking facilities, adding a second location, providing additional inventories, and other purposes.

Under the new Limited Loan Participation Plan, loans can be made to these small establishments, provided they have a good enough past earnings record to show that the loan can be repaid, Mr. Stewart said.

There loans may run as long as five years, a maximum selected by the Small Business Administration because a survey of the credit needs of small firms showed that credit from one to five years is the type of loan that would meet most of their requirements.

Security will be required in all cases, Mr. Stewart said, but the participating bank will handle the details of appraising and obtaining the property security for the loan.

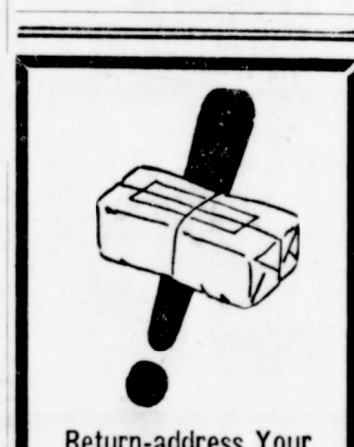

Any type of security may be considered, including mortgages on real or personal property, assignment of accounts receivable or monies due on contracts, pledge of warehouse receipts, negatives pledge agreements, and corporate guaranties or personal endorsements.

Mr. Stewart said that the new Limited Loan Participation Plan should meet most of the unsatisfied demands for loan funds by qualified small firms in this area without undue hazard to Government funds since the loan amounts will be carefully related to the repayment ability of the individual applicant, and since the borrower's bank will have continuing knowledge and interest in the success of the business activities of the borrower.

He emphasized that in all loans made under the Limited Loan Participation Plan, the Small Business Administration's share shall be limited to $15,000 or 75 per cent of the total amount of the loan, whichever ever is the smaller.

The borrower's bank must take at least a 25 per cent share of the total amount of the loan, and this 25 per cent share must consist of new funds provided by the bank. However, the bank may include good outstanding loans made to the borrower in computing the participation percentage of the bank.

Any short-term loans or long-

COME FRIDAY THE 13th

It is always safe to talk about the weather, being enthusiastic or critical as the case may be. These lines, written Thursday, the fifth consecutive day of rain, with the morning paper prophesying "cloudy with drizzle" for Friday, and Friday the 13th at that, a critical comment is indicated.

However, we make it a business never to follow the trend if it is at all possible, and The Courier-Gazette's own weather expert, Captain Kenneth I. Orcutt, just volunteered the cheering information that the sun was going to break through the heavy clouds. We are cheered despite the fact that he didn't say when.

But without aping Pollyanna we have to think what a dreadful situation we would be battling if this week of heavy rain had been snow instead, and our sympathy goes out to the Floridians, who with every reason to look for warm and balmy days and nights, are facing freezing temperatures instead, with heavy crop losses and widespread discomfort due to houses ill-equipped to cope with temperatures averaging lower than ours in Rockland the past week.

One other queer weather quirk shared by us all concerns the fact that the unseasonable rains have led us to wholly forget the long spell of record-breaking sustained cold which characterized late December and early January.

While it is an undeniable blessing that the rains have brought Maine no damaging floods, every person who drives a motor car any distance realizes that the constant soaking has raised the old Harry with most of our highways not of the permanent construction and road-patching crews are constantly busy. In spite of their efforts, frequent craters appear in the tar-topped roads, and erstwhile smooth driving becomes a jolting adventure.

However, the intense cold followed by the persistent rains have prepared us for anything on this Friday, the thirteenth.

SQUARE PEG IN SQUARE HOLE

In the days of our youth we never intentionally missed a baseball contest, especially when Camden and Rockland crossed bats, for those were the days when anything could happen and generally did when athletic teams from these towns met.

One memory persists along with busted windows in trolley cars and excited crowds at the Washington Street siding. Reference is had to a red wagon, Camden's first motor fire truck, which invariably stood on the high road opposite the ball field. This truck was not intended to extinguish fiery tempers, but merely to permit its driver to watch the game he dearly loved, and still does, and at the same time be ready to answer instantly if an alarm should sound on that great melodious steam whistle on Knox Mill.

Of course the man on the truck on those happy days long gone was Allen F. Payson, the same Allen Payson who has just had the unusual distinction of being chosen Camden's fire chief for the twenty-sixth time, rounding out thirty-nine years in the department.

The public is a hard taskmaster and generally most difficult to please, but public faith and high esteem for Allen Payson has not dimmed with the years and he is a more popular chief today than he was two decades ago. Also he plays an unostentatious but vital role in the civic affairs of the community and one example may be found in the fact that it is secure in the minds of many of the middle and younger generations that his coolness and sound judgment played an important part in bringing to an end the enmity that once existed between Camden, Rockland and Rockport.

Such a man is Allen F. Payson, long-time friend and a solid citizen in any field.

GOOD MEDICINE FOR THE JUVENILE DELINQUENT

Possibly the most wholesome thrill this nation has had in many years came with the spectacular announcement that the forces of justice have caught up with the perpetrators of the so-called "perfect crime."

No incident has been more injurious to efforts to combat juvenile delinquency than the fact that those who committed the greatest robbery in the history of crime in the United States had escaped detection or punishment in spite of the best efforts of the F. B. I. and an army of other peace officers. In the face of this situation the criminals assumed the status of heroes and super-men in many a juvenile mind, and led to frequent emulation on a smaller scale. How could one say "Crime Does Not Pay" in the face of such a successful crime.

Now the sordid picture is reversed. The perpetrators of the perfect crime, the celebrated Brinks robbery in Boston, have been discovered, most of them already behind the bars and the remaining two known and fugitives from justice. The shoe is on the other foot, the F. B. I. have maintained their great tradition and solved the perfect crime.

No better medicine for the juvenile delinquent could possibly be imagined.

JAZZ IS IN — LIKE IT OR NOT

It's a long way from the back streets of New Orleans to the high roads of diplomacy. But it looks as if Louis Armstrong, the greatest jazz trumpet player of all time, is going to make it.

The State Department recently announced that "Satchmo," as Armstrong is known, and other jazz artists will be sent on cultural missions to such places as the Far and Middle East, Asia and Africa. The idea is a sound one. America has many things to be proud of in the field of culture. Some of our symphony orchestras rank with the great ones of the world. Our writers, singers and artists have won international acclaim. Yet nothing is more purely American than jazz. It began here and flourished here. And one of the men who brought it to the high place it holds in world respect was Louis Armstrong.

So in far off corners of the world native populations will listen in amazement to "Didn't He Ramble," and to "The Saints Go Marching In,"—played Dixieland style. The warm, gravelly voice of Satchmo will sing the old songs. And when he does the people who hear will know more about us and probably like us a little better. It would be hard not to like a people who produced an artist with a musical and comic gift such as that possessed by Louis Armstrong.

term loans on which payments have been made according to the original schedule may be included if the bank participates to the extent of its present exposure, and if, in the case of a short-term loan, the loan has been outstanding not more than six months, Mr. Stewart said.

The Regional office of the Small Business Administration is in charge of the agency's activities in Boston and is located at 131 State street. All small firms interested in obtaining more information about the Limited Loan Participation Plan should visit their bank, or contact the Boston office.

MEGUNTICOOK FISH AND GAMERS SET FEB. 5 FOR FISHING DERBY

A prize list for the third annual Megunticook Fish and Game Association ice fishing derby Feb. 5 was announced this week by prize committee chairman George Dodge, Jr. The value of the prizes will total $150 and will be presented to the winners of the six fish divisions.

Broken down, there will be three awards in the pickerel division, and two each in the salmon, brook and brown trout, and white and yellow perch divisions.

Awards will be: salmon, tackle box and a fly book; brook trout, reel and thermos bottle; brown trout, sun glasses and landing net; pickerel, glass fly rod, gas can and giant handwarmer; white perch, hunting knife combination and cartridge belt; and yellow perch, a casting line of 100 yards and a compass.

An entry prize of a pair of 7 by 50 binoculars will be awarded.

Fishing for the derby will be within a 20 mile radius of Camden with all encompassed ponds and lakes open. Tickets will be available at the club house at Megunticook Lake with plenty of bait available there.

Other members of the committee are Earl Young and Elliot Smith.

Palefaces Stand Off Assault By The Hinky Dinks

According to Captain "Goose" Arcey of the Ganders and Captain "Wymie" Gullford of the Worms, the bowling situation in Vinahaven is picking up a bit. Captain Shields of the Pirates and Captain Poole of the Ducks are inclined to think things are pretty bad and the situation is in a critical condition.

All, of course is due to the fact that the Ganders finally wrested a low score game from the Ducks and the Worms, due to masterful bowling by Doc Rae and a high single of 118 by Bickford, got the Pirates for another game and put the Worms securely in first place.

With the Ducks only rolling a low 1227 things did seem quite black. Some weak spirited individuals even hinted of disbanding, but with a big feed coming up soon and fresh talks of big trades in the offing these rumors will probably disappear like the food on the table, and at about the same time.

Doc Rae's total of 313 and Clyde Bickford's 297 were the big factor in the win of the Worms as "Old Timer" Sanborn was the only Pirate to hit over 100, the total of 1302 left the Pirates a far 84 pins behind.

The boys try to make the teams as even as possible but with one man bowling way over his head and another down 10 points in his average it is a hard proposition to keep the thing even over any span of time. However it is almost as much fun to trade as it is to bowl so there will be lively doings, plenty of hot food and considerable hot air as the Vinahaven Bowling Club gathers round the conference table and, getting a firm brace on themselves and their eating utensils, set out to settle weighty questions on who is what.

Ganders: Mitchell, 222; Drew, 255; Sutcliffe, 266; Sanborn for Peacock, 260; Goose, 303. Total, 1306.

Ducks: Grimes, 223; Oakes, 236; Nelson, 260; Smith, 245; Poole, 263. Total, 1227.

Pirates: MacDonald, 259; Olson, 243; Johnson, 268; Sanborn, 272; Shields, 260. Total, 1302.

Worms: Simons, 251; Bickford, 297; Peterson, 261; Rae, 313; Wymie, 265. Total, 1366.

Palefaces vs. Hinky Dinks
A bowling match that attracted more than usual attention last week occurred when Harold "Hinky" Davis, home on furlough from the Air Force, organized a team and challenged the Palefaces, acknowledged to be tops at present in bowling competition in Vinahaven. The effort met only with failure however as the Palefaces promptly set up a 1432 total for the Hinky Dinks to shoot at and they did not have the required big guns to come anywhere near the mark.

Hinky dug Ed White and Ducky Haskell out of their several years retirement from the

In last week's action the leagues were tightened up some more as the Shells dealt the 40 & 8 their first four point loss of the year in the American League. E. Smith led all bowlers with 323.

In the National League, the Nelson's Dodgers finally got going and dumped the leading Birds Eye four points to one to really tighten up that league as the MCR came from behind to beat the CMP three points to two.

In the International League, Eastern Time dumped the Jaycees 36's five points and the Glovers team continued to dominate the league as they took their match by four points to one.

Eastern Time wallowed their opponents but the rest of the matches were nip and tuck right down to the end with every ball and box a big one.

All leagues look like good tight ones and on any given night anything can happen. The standings show how close each league is to Jan. 11. The averages are submitted for the second time this year.

ROCK OF AGES
AUTHORIZED DEALER

Six days of high winds and seas isolated several Coast Guard stations along the coast this week. Friday, a utility tug left the Rockland base to land propane fuel tanks and supplies at Goose Rock, Deer Isle Thorofare and Eagle Island.

The Coast Guard Base has a basketball team which is seeking games with semi-pro teams in the area. The team has no home court, so must play away at all times. Wayne McGraw is the team's manager and may be reached at the base.

The Fish and Wildlife Service, which compiles fish landings at Maine ports, has just issued its findings for October. In the month, Rockland plants received a total of 2,777,429 pounds of all species which had an estimated value of $160,035.00.

Island Court Game Moved To Monday

A scheduled game between the North Haven basketball squad and the Vinalhaven team was postponed from last Wednesday evening until Monday evening, Jan. 16, at the North Haven principal's request. The game will be played at Vinalhaven as planned.

Rockport Girls Trip Wiscasset, Beavers Lose

Wiscasset played host to a strong Rockport High School team Tuesday night, grabbed a 13 to 1 lead at the first period and went on to win over their guests 57 to 50. The win gives the two teams an even split, Rockport having won a close overtime contest from Wiscasset previously.

Favored Rockport drew close in the final period after a third period 10 point deficit but were repelled by the accurate shooting barrage of Wiscasset guard Dean Shea who scooped in eight baskets and added three free tickets to tally 19 points for the game.

Merle Grover Shea in 12 points to supplement Shea's scoring from his left guard spot and put the game on ice.

For the invading Beavers, Butch Farley, copping an even 20 points on 10 two pointers, and able guard Bob Nape putting in five fingers and five free throws for 15, carried the scoring load.

In the preliminary, the Rockport girls saved face for the Beavers by downing the Wiscasset females 51 to 38 on Sara Simonton's 29 point boost. Marlene Millett scored 19 points for Wiscasset.

AN APPRECIATION

On behalf of myself and all patients at Knox County General Hospital I want to express appreciation to the publisher of The Courier-Gazette for supplying all patients with Couriers free of charge. It is especially good to get them so early. Hospital attaches tell me these Couriers have been supplied for several years.

Funeral services for Dewey L. Robinson, 57, of Portland was held at 1 p. m. Saturday at 749 Congress street. Rev. Robert Haldane officiated and interment was in Pine Grove Cemetery, Falmouth.

He was born Aug. 4, 1898 at Warren, son of Mrs. Margaret Watt Newbert and the late Gren L. Robinson. He was educated at Warren and in early life worked for the Standard Oil Co. at Rockland and Bath. For the past 20 years he had been employed by the Maine Truck and Tractor Co. Mr. Robinson attended the North Deering Congregational Church and was a member of Aurora Lodge, A.F.&A.M., Portland Masonic Club and Cornerstone Lodge, OES.

His wife, the former Winifred Bye, died in 1953. Besides his mother, Mrs. Robinson is survived by a son, Edmund N. Robinson, Portland; four brothers, Clifford W. Robinson, Warren, Levi T. and Oren L. Robinson, Waldoboro, and Maynard W. Robinson, Cumberland; five sisters, Mrs. Flora Post, Rockland, Mrs. Bernys Jamson, Mrs. Geneva Engley and Mrs. Phyllis Gentner, Waldoboro, and Mrs. Lesa Derrah, Portland, and several nieces and nephews.

MRS. STANLEY PALMETER

Mrs. Stanley Palmeter formerly Laura E. Sanborn, whose teaching career spanned half a century, died Wednesday morning Jan. 11 at Augusta.

Death came suddenly during convalescence from a heart seizure.

Mrs. Palmeter was born at Vinalhaven, Oct. 13, 1876, the daughter of Joseph H. and Flavilla M. Sanborn. She attended Vinalhaven schools and graduated in 1893.

She was a graduate of Farmington Normal School, studied at Deaconess Hospital, and took special courses at Boston University. Her work in Maine's public schools was interrupted only once until her recent retirement. She left the school system to accept a government position in Washington during World War I.

Mrs. Palmeter taught in the schools at Vinalhaven, Readfield and Chelsea, Maine.

She has been living at Kent's Hill since her retirement.

She was a member of the Union Church at Vinalhaven, and later of Kents Hill, where she has been an active church worker. Many friends in both towns mourn her loss.

She was a member of Margaretite Chapter, OES for more than 50 years, and was a past matron of the chapter. At Kents Hill she was past president of the Crystal Club.

She is survived by her husband, Stanley Palmeter of Kents Hill; two brothers, Leon Sanborn of Vinalhaven and Harry Sanborn of Portland; a sister, Helen Arey of Vinalhaven; three nephews and two nieces.

Services were held on Friday at 3 o'clock in Augusta, and will be on Saturday, (today) at the Union Church in Vinalhaven at 4 p. m., with Rev. W. S. Stackhouse officiating.

VICTOR HOMAKI

Victor Homaki, 76, of Warren, a farmer, died at his home Tuesday after a long illness.

A native of Finland, where he was born June 23, 1878, he had been a resident of Warren for 42 years.

Besides the widow, Mrs. Hilma Homaki he leaves three sons; John V. Maki of Warren, Ohio, Richard E. Maki and Lawrence Maki both of Rockland; two daughters, Mrs. Sylvia Fogarty of Harding, Mass., and Mrs. Laina Lofman of Rockville; a sister, Mrs. Matt Saari of Crosby, Minn., 19 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p. m. Sunday from the Davis Funeral Home in Thomaston with Rev. Curtis Cady Busby of Warren officiating. Interment will be in the spring at Fairview Cemetery, Warren.

The price of reservations for most New Year's parties is proof that money still talks.

STEAMBOAT YARNS of Ships and Men

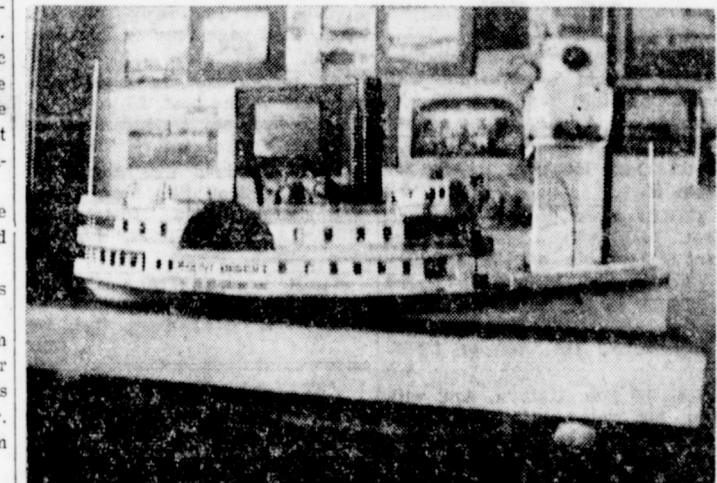

John M. Richardson

Foster's Wharf Building in Boston, mecca of thousands of Maine folk bound for the Bangor boat in the late afternoon of happier days.

In the final years of the Bangor Line this is where we went to get aboard. In my collection is a huge arrow from this shed saying—"Rockland and Bangor Boat." Recognize the wharf?

CAPTAIN SCOTT RISES IN THE DEFENSE OF THE "STEAMBOAT BUMS"

Deer Isle, Maine, Jan. 7.

Dear Steamboat Editor:—

I have written many articles for your columns, but I don't believe I have written an article that gives me so much complete satisfaction as the following, the title of this article I would like to call, "The Bums of Boston's Atlantic Avenue."

During the Steamboat era these men thronged Atlantic avenue from Union to Foster's Wharf. They lolled against the street end of every freight shed where the sun produced the warmest spot, hoping to get a chance to earn $2.40 for eight hours work.

These men could not have got along without the steamboats and steamboats could not have got along without them. They were the hourly men on which the steamboats depended for speedy unloading and loading of cargoes. First officers knew how many of these men would be required on arrival. He could judge by the amount of freight he had on board, and through the day while in port in case there was a rush in arrival of freight he could always whistle to the waiting ears of the roust-a-bouts, or so called bums who would come rushing to his command.

These men were divided into classes. The Bangor and Kennebec Lines demanded men fleet of foot, as a freight handler on these lines never walked, and at low or high tide a running mass of humanity moved in and out the forward gangway. Light trucks going on board never stopped for those coming out. If there were only a foot between the outgoing trucks and the plank guardrail the ingoing men would edge up his truck and slide through with the speed of a bullet, and seldom would be ever make a miss. If he did somebody had scraped shins. On the Portland and St. John's line freight moved more slowly. Men seldom ran but walked flat footed. These men were the older, steadier, and much slower type.

Then there was a type that alcohol had warped their once rugged frames and that years had slowed their ability to move faster than a snail's pace. This type generally worked for the "City of Gloucester," of the Boston and Gloucester Line, or the Mohawk and Massasoit where freight moved very slowly by trucks and much freight was handled with cargo booms.

I myself, as many other first officers, knew these men's names by heart. I may have known some of these men better than other first officers. I not only knew their names but I knew by close contact with them their genuine goodness of heart, their faithfulness to those who employed them. Unfortunately circumstances forced some of them to their way of life, while others were strong and rugged of body but weak of mind. Before my real steamboat career began, I worked with these men. I was young and my fascination for steamboats kept me close to Atlantic avenue where I myself could pick up hourly work on the steamers until I could get a steady job on the boats which was difficult in those days, as jobs were at a premium and men were plentiful.

I had a room in Boston's West End. I would pick up a few hours work each day between the banana boats, Gloucester steamers, or steamers of the Portland and Bangor Lines. One morning while working the Portland Line steamers, George Deering, second officer of the Governor Dingley at that time, called five of us hourly men together and told us he would guarantee us five steady hourly work each trip in Boston if we would meet the steamer on arrival at 3.30 in the morning to catch the lines and have the slips and gangways ready. This we agreed to do. He left a note at the cashier's office for the mate of the Bay State so that we served both steamers and had steady work each day, but only for unloading on Sundays, we got one hour's extra pay for taking the lines and getting slips and gangways ready.

It was winter, I had to walk about two miles each morning from the west end to Atlantic avenue. I was generally on the street by 2.30 a. m. I would come down Tremont Row and cut through a small alley back of Young's Hotel. This alley led to Washington street and was known as pie alley. Underground in this alley was a small but very neat restaurant known as Gridley's. Therefore this alley was known as "Gridley's Pie Alley." This is where I got all my meals. My breakfast was beans, a bun, and coffee, 15 cents; supper, beef stew, a bun, coffee and pie, 25 cents and very generous portions. Pie alley in those days was a roust-a-bout's haven of existence.

I would reach the dock in the morning by 3 a. m. The night watchman would unlock the shed door and allow us five regulars to come into the freight shed to wait for the steamer to arrive. It was in the dead of winter and it was as cold in the shed as it was outside but we were out of the wind and we could keep up circulation by walking up and down the shed.

When the steamer's whistles blew for the dock we would lower the slips, get the gangplank ready and open the shed doors and take our place at the iron bits on the pierhead. As the steamer backed into the dock soon, the Martha Walker knot on the end of the heaving line would rebound with a bang against the metal freight shed. With steamers made fast and gangplanks on board we five regulars would pick up our trucks and start work without reporting to the second mate as our names were on his daily time sheet, but seldom if ever I trucked freight from some reason which has always been a mystery. Every steamer I ever served on as a freight handler I was always picked to stow the starboard gangway. I have always asked myself, "Why not the port gangway once in a while." However I always liked the starboard gangway, as with the steamer heading out the dock, the trucks had a straight run from the gangplank down the gangway and made less blocking to pile up the freight. I could always send trucks to the port gangway if they came too fast.

FARM AND GRANGE NEWS OF INTEREST IN KNOX AND LINCOLN COUNTIES

EXTENSION SERVICE TO CONTINUE HOME IMPROVEMENT CONTEST IN '56

County Farm and Home Improvement Projects in Maine this past year were definitely successful and will be continued in 1956, reports Mrs. Helen Andrews, of Searsport, chairman. The Women's Division of the Maine Extension Association sponsored the projects.

Nearly 1000 homes—977, to be exact—were entered in the Farm and Home Improvement Projects and about $1000 in prizes was awarded to winners. There were no statewide winners as each contest was conducted strictly on a county-wide basis.

County Farm and Home Improvement first-place winners included: Knox County, Mr. and Mrs. Carleton Gushue, Appleton; and Lincoln County, Mrs. Flori ence Prentice of Bristol.

With one exception, all counties took part in the project to improve the appearance of the buildings and grounds of homes in Maine. The contest began last spring and ran until fall. Homes making the greatest progress in that time were selected as winners.

A committee of judges was appointed in each county to inspect the homes entered in the competition and to select the winners. They spent much time and effort judging the various homes entered. Scorecards were devised to use in judging.

Contributions toward the prizes awarded in each county were made by local business firms, service clubs, individuals, and other interested organizations. The prizes offered contestants real incentives for making home and grounds improvements.

Typical improvements made at the winners' property included painting of buildings, adding shutters, removing brush and debris, grading and seeding lawns, planting shrubs, trees, and flowers, improving walks and driveways, improving mailboxes, providing adequate lighting of entrances, walks, and driveways, replacing broken window panes, and repairing steps, roofing and siding, and chimneys. Copies of two Maine Extension Service publications were made available to entrants in the Farm and Home Improvement Contest. They were Extension Circular 201, "Lawn Care," and Extension Bulletin 359, "Better Home Grounds." Both are offered to the general public through the County Extension Service office in Rockland.

Use of Milk In Schools Increases By 36 Per Cent

Maine youngsters are drinking "at school" some 1,510,796 half-pints of milk a month, Miss Gertrude Griney, school lunch director of the Maine Education Department, revealed today.

It represented better than a 36% increase over the 1,107,428 half-pints consumed during a like period last year, she said.

This year's simplified Special School Milk Program, aided by Federal reimbursement funds, was a major factor in the increased milk consumption, she advised, noting that in this special program around 658,000 half-pints were drank monthly, as compared to 357,951 last year.

Despite the lower cost to the child under the Special School Milk Program, Miss Griney said that less than half of the state's 1400 schools were enjoying its benefits.

Many Maine schools are providing extra milk under the program for as little as 2 or 3 cents per half-pint, she declared.

The Federal Government has appropriated nearly $345,000 in reimbursement funds to finance the Maine Special School Milk Program.

Slick Tricks For Home Sewing Sessions Coming

"Slick Tricks for Home Sewing" is the title of training classes for clothing leaders to be held, Wednesday, at the Farnsworth Museum in Rockland, and Thursday at the Nobleboro Grange Hall.

Both meetings are to start at 10:30 a. m.

Mrs. Mabel K. Folsom, home demonstration agent for Knox-Lincoln Counties will conduct both classes. The no pin, no baste method of apply zippers, and the methods of putting in underarm gussets, will be included. Leaders will hold this meeting for their own groups early in 1956.

Each clothing leader is requested to bring the following: sewing machines, extension cords, thread, scissors, thimbles and needles. Each leader will also need to bring a seven inch slide fastener to use for a skirt closing. Other materials will be furnished and there will be a small charge for them.

At Rockland, members may bring their lunches or plan to eat out. At Nobleboro a meal will be served at noon by the Nobleboro Extension group.

Parasite Disease Can Be Prevented States Wheldon

That old ounce of prevention is still the best control for cecal colicidiosis, a common and serious disease of poultry, according to Harry C. Wheldon, Extension poultry specialist at the University of Maine.

Cecal colicidiosis is caused by a microscopic parasite which chickens may pick up from contaminated soil, litter, water, or feed. When large numbers of the parasites get into the lining of the ceca (blind gut), they destroy cells and cause blood to ooze from the cecal lining.

In a typical outbreak, where large numbers of the parasites are present, some chickens die suddenly, there are bloody droppings on the ground or litter, and affected chickens have a ruffled, droopy appearance, pale combs, and eat or drink poorly. Other birds in the brood may appear healthy.

Here are several management practices suggested by Wheldon to reduce the number of this long-lived, hard to kill parasite that causes cecal colicidiosis: (1) Raise young chickens apart from old stock. (2) Put each new brood of chicks into a clean house, with clean feeders and waterers, and new litter. (3) Keep litter dry, stir frequently and remove damp litter. (4) Place waterers on wire platforms over floor drains, keep feeders high enough to prevent fouling. (5) Clean feeders and waterers with hot water and detergent at least once a week. (6) Get rid of carriers such as rats and mice around poultry houses. (7) Fill in or drain any damp areas around the poultry house.

Melton Sturgess, Spruce Head bantam fancier, has won honors which all show exhibitors seek, most of them for a lifetime without success. At the Maine State Poultry Show held recently in Freeport, he not only was awarded top prize in all classes of bantams, but won the Mediterranean trophy permanently, having been awarded it at three shows.

His champion entry was a black rosecomb cockerel which won champion cockerel, champion of breed, champion clean leg bantam and champion Mediterranean. In the sweepstakes for champion birds of all breeds in the show, which included winners of all classes, his black rosecomb was adjudged grand champion of the state show.

Sturgess has interested others in the raising and showing of bantams with the result that two others have won show honors. Ted Allard, also of Spruce Head, is raising prize Cochran bantams. In the Freeport show, his birds won four classes and were contenders for show champion. Carolyn Spear of Camden took top honors in the Lewiston-Auburn show last year and took champion of the show after a clean sweep of championship prizes the year before. Her flock is from Sturgess' stock, as are Allard's.

Sturgess and Allard, showing at the New England Bantam Show at Whitman, Mass., picked up several prizes. One of Allard's birds placed second in its class while Sturgess, out of four birds entered, won two firsts, a third and fifth places. The show had a total of 1055 bantams entered.

The raising and showing of the birds by both men is a hobby. Sturgess is a lobsterman and sea moss gatherer while Allard keeps a grocery store in Spruce Head.

Rudolph Poray New Extension Fruit Specialist

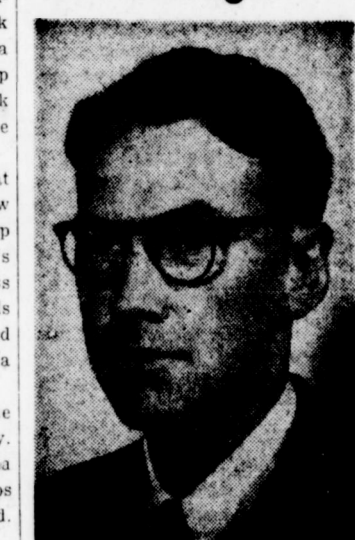

Rudolph A. Poray, assistant county agent in charge of the Extension fruit program in Columbia county, New York, was named Extension fruit specialist in an announcement made today by Director of Extension Arthur L. Deering. He fills the vacancy created by the resignation last fall of Frank W. Owen.

Poray is a graduate of Cornell University where he majored in fruit production and agricultural economics. He was born and raised on a commercial fruit farm in Wayne County, N. Y., and operated the family farm for several years. Farm production included 90 acres of apples and lesser acreages of cherries, peaches and pears.

His latest responsibilities included the supervision of the Extension fruit program in Columbia County where production exceeded 1,000,000 bushels of apples in 1955. Prior to that, he served as assistant agent in Ontario County where he also was in charge of the fruit program.

The new specialist is married with a family of two children. He will assume his new duties in Maine on Feb. 1.

Publicity Bureau Names White As Field Manager

Seth M. White of Cape Elizabeth has been appointed to the position of field manager of the Maine Publicity Bureau's membership staff, according to an announcement today.

White was born in Snowville, N. H., and was graduated from Kennett High School, Conway, N. H., in 1931. He attended Northeastern University in Boston after high school, majoring in business administration.

Prior to coming with the Bureau, White was employed by Dun & Bradstreet as financial and technical analyst covering the entire State of Maine.

He joined the Bureau in January, 1949, and was employed as assistant field manager, working in a liaison capacity between the Bureau and the business houses of the State.

Mr. White has for several years past solicited industrial and business firms in this section on behalf of the Bureau.

An egg is one of the nearest food packages ever designed! This small package packs a tremendous amount of proteins and vitamins needed for growth and body maintenance. An egg is indispensable to meals and meal preparation. It is served not only as the main dish, but is an important ingredient in a myriad of prepared dishes.

Deviled Eggs

- 6 hard-cooked eggs
- 1 tablespoon softened butter
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice or vinegar
- 1/4 teaspoon salad mustard
- 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 tablespoon salad dressing.

Cut eggs in half. Remove yolks. Press yolks through sieve and combine with remaining ingredients. Beat until smooth. If desired, add more seasoning and salad dressing. Refill whites. If desired, garnish with parsley. 12 stuffed halves.

Egg Potato Pie

- 2 tablespoons fat
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash of pepper
- 6 medium potatoes, cooked and mashed
- 5 hard-cooked eggs

2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1/4 cup grated sharp cheese
Melt fat, add flour, blend well and cook over low heat until bubbly. Add cold milk all at once and cook stirring constantly until thickened. Add salt and pepper. Line bottom and sides of a greased 8 or 9 inch pie plate or shallow casserole with half the well seasoned mashed potatoes. Arrange the sliced eggs in potato shell. Top with parsley, cheese, sauce, salt and pepper. Cover with remaining mashed potatoes. Brush top with milk. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F) until nicely browned and thoroughly heated, about 30 minutes. If desired, garnish top with slices of hard-cooked egg. Five servings.

Cheese Fondue

- 1 cup milk, scalded
 - 1 cup soft bread crumbs
 - 1/4 cup grated American cheese
 - 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - Dash of pepper
 - 3 egg yolks
 - 3 stiff-beaten egg whites
- Combine milk, crumbs, cheese, butter, seasonings. Stir in yolks. Fold in whites. Pour into greased 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Place in pan of hot water; bake in slow oven (325°F) till firm, 30 to 50 minutes. Makes six servings.

Boston Poultry Show Set For Four Day Run

More than 5000 feathered specimens ranging from rare ornamental fowl to common backyard hens will compete for trophies and money prizes at the 108th Boston Poultry Show at Mechanics Building, Jan. 18-21.

Entries have been received from 41 states and Canada, according to Thomas Leavitt, president of the nation's oldest poultry exposition. A dozen poultry organizations will hold their annual meetings during the four-day run.

The show's super-grand champion bird and winners in a variety of classes will be exhibited in A&P Food Stores' Hall of Fame. Government savings bonds will be given to winning owners by the food firm.

As extra attractions, sheep and rabbit shows will be conducted in conjunction with the poultry competition. In addition, a Back Bay Barnyard will feature all kinds of domestic animals.

Special tanks will accommodate scores of waterfowl including several different varieties of ducks and geese. Along side of this exhibit, peacocks, partridge, pheasant and quail will be housed in a special aviary.

Entries are being shipped to the show by millionaire fanciers, large commercial poultry producers, owners of small flocks, and 4-H youngsters with one or two birds.

County Agent Gil Jaeger, 4-H Club Agent Loana S. Shibles, Home Demonstration Agent, Mabel K. Folsom and Esther D. Mayo, agent-at-large attended the January Conference at University of Maine, Orono, the first week of January.

Speakers at the conference included Dr. Garland Russell, professor of Education, U. of M. who spoke on principles of teaching and techniques of teaching.

Dr. Kenneth Warner, Extension Educationist, Federal Extension Service who spoke on "Adapting Our Teaching Methods to Current Needs," and Dr. Stanley Hunter, specialist in Family Economics and Home Management, Federal Extension Service, whose subject was "Long Range Family Financial Planning."

Plans are being perfected for the polio benefit Megunticook putting on Jan. 28. A public supper will be served from 5 to 7. Many fine items have been donated and a large attendance is expected.

On Feb. 1, the guest speaker will be a state trooper, on traffic problems.

South Waldoboro Extension Seeks New Members

Members of the South Waldoboro Extension Group are looking forward to an enjoyable and instructive Extension program for 1956.

A major aim the year is to build a larger membership as this group is one of the smallest in the Knox-Lincoln area. They will welcome anyone in the Waldoboro, South Waldoboro and Friendship districts interested in Extension work. Those interested should contact the secretary, Mrs. Hollis W. Pitcher, RFD 3, Waldoboro, for information.

Extension work provides the homemaker with many new ideas and the latest information on new products and processes. Compiled at the University of Maine, these are authoritative and clearly presented.

1955 was an especially enjoyable and profitable year for this group. They won a blue ribbon in the "Meals For Many" contest under Food Leadership of Mrs. Arthur Spicer and Mrs. Austin Winchenbach, first prize for their Union Fair exhibit, due mostly to the original ideas of the chairman of that committee, Mrs. Edgar Winchenbach, and a white ribbon for an exhibit at the annual meeting held in Thomaston. Mrs. Hazen Hilton was chairman of committee for this exhibit.

The year ended in December with the planning meeting for 1956 and a Christmas party. Hostesses were Mrs. Edgar Winchenbach and Mrs. Amy Bliven. Santa Claus was portrayed by Mrs. Kenneth Weston, in mask and wig, who gave out the exchange gifts to the accompaniment of considerable hilarity.

Faith Outbound

This is a scene you see every Sunday . . . hundreds of men and women pouring out of our churches. What effect does it have on the life of our community?

There was more happiness in our streets this week . . . more sympathy and understanding . . . more kindness and helpfulness . . . more determination to attain the highest moral and spiritual ideals.

We won't see Utopia next week. Human nature is still human. Perfection is God's alone.

But crowded churches change many lives. Worship and prayer strengthen souls. The seed God plants never dies, if we are determined to cultivate it.

Come to Church next Sunday. And when you leave, you and our community will be richer because you were there.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
