LOOKING AHEAD TO THE CITY BUDGET AND DEPARTMENT NEEDS

Joshua N. Southard

The Welfare Department of the city may have a slight increase in budget requirements when the preliminary city budget is presented for first hearing before the City Council in May.

Joshua N. Southard, director of the department feels that an increase of $1000 may be necessary for Aid to Dependent Children. The fund is now $7000. This money represents 18 per cent of the actual cost of caring for dependent children in the city with the remainder being provided by the state. Children eligible for such aid are those whose father is dead, those whose father has deserted them or is confined in an institution.

Old Age Assistance funds will need a boost of $500 Southard estimates. The city supplements funds received from the state to the extent of $35 per person per month. State payments are $51 per month. The budget for this project last year amounted to $3200.

Otherwise, Mr. Southard does not expect to ask for increases. He did say, however, if there is a general increase in salaries for department heads in the city he will expect to be considered.

Mr. Southard is now paid $67.90 per week with Mrs. Josephine Rice, receiving $39 weekly, one half of which is paid by the Police Department. She serves the Welfare Department under Mr.

Southard and is also the city police matron.

In the section of the department operated by Mrs. Rice, clothing, household goods, bedding and many other items are donated each year. She estimates that such donations would have a purchase value of $5000 if the city were required to buy them to care for needy families. Cash donations amount to about $300 each year.

The donated items, coming from individuals and merchants are distributed to people in need. Much of the stock goes to families where a helping hand, such as clothing for large families or items of household goods, can keep the family from asking the city for direct aid. In these cases, the family income can be used for food and rent, items which might otherwise fall upon the city.

The third employee of the department is the superintendent of the city farm, William Murray. He received $1200 per year, plus living quarters, food and transportation via the farm truck.

The farm requires a budget of $6000 to care for an average of 10 inmates. However, income from the farm to the city via garden produce and pigs—there are 62 on the farm—lowers the costs by an average of $1500 per year.

Inmates at the farm are permitted to assist in the farm work when able to do so. Occasionally, the police court will sentence men to the farm where they are required to work out their sentence through general farm labor under the superintendent.

The department operates three vehicles; the car Mr. Southard drives in his work is a 1948 Pontiac coupe while the farm has a 1953 Chevrolet pickup truck and an old Ford flatbed truck recently donated to the department for general farm use. Also, there is the normal amount of motorized farm equipment for an operation of its size.

Much of the food for the pig farm is collected daily by the superintendent from local hotels and restaurants. The cost to the city is only the picking up and cooking of the waste foods.

Other assistance to the department in caring for the poor comes from the Federal Government in the form of surplus foods which are shipped in periodically. These foods are not used to make up grocery orders issued by the city, but to add to the grants in order

BUDGET COMMITTEE IN UNION RECOMMENDS SPENDING LESS BY $614.05 THAN IN '55

The budget committee of the Town of Union completed deliberations on funds needed to operate the community in the fiscal year ahead Thursday evening. They will present a budget to the people of the town in the annual town meeting in Thompson Memorial on March 12 which will be $614.05 less than that passed last year.

The new budget totals $62,462.70. Within the budget is an item recommending the raising of $2,000 by taxation this year toward construction of a new fire station and the authorizing of the borrowing of an additional $2,000 for a total of $4,000.

The school budget was set at $35,352 which reflects an increase of $4,388 over that of last year. An added $500 is asked for repairs to schools. Also concerned with schools is an item of $500 for the establishing of an athletic field, near the present ball diamond.

The meeting of bond and interest payments of the town debt will amount to $2,000 on the principal and $332.20 in interest.

The budget committee recommended a grant of $350 to Knox County General Hospital at Rockland as the town's share of the deficit of the institution which serves the Coastal Area. Also suggested is a grant to the Maine Publicity Bureau of $75.

The sum of $1,000 is recommended for fire protection. Also in the fire protection field is the recommendation of $175 for the salary of the fire chief and three fire wards. Health and accident insurance for firemen is budgeted at $131.25 while insurance on fire trucks is $145.25.

Highway snow removal is budgeted at $5,500 for an increase of $500 over last year; state aid roads at $1,066; retarring Clary Hill road at $500, salt and Clary Hill road $200 and repairing Harry Steward road $300.

The budget committee observed that a surplus now exists in the excise tax fund and recommended that this money be expended for roads and bridges, other than the above mentioned items, and that no appropriation be raised in town meeting.

Other recommended budget items include: public health nurse, $125; Civil Defense, $100; street lights, $811, an increase of the cost of two lights near Barker's Garage.

Also, a miscellaneous fund of $1,300; town dump, $400; care of the poor, $3,500; care of Union Common, $350; Memorial Day, $75; care of cemeteries, $200; Vose Library, $400; trimming trees on Union Common, $250.

Included also is an item of $500 for a parking area near the Thompson Memorial building and another for interest on the town debt of $600 which is an increase of $200 over last year.

P.U.C. GRANTS INCREASE OF BUS LINE FARES AND INSISTS UPON AN IMPROVED SERVICE

The Public Utilities Commission has given approval to a petition of the Staples Bus Line serving Camden, Rockport, Glen Cove, Rockland and Thomaston to increase fares in four of its six zones. The increase will be five cents per zone.

The Commission directed that the local zones in Thomaston and Camden will still have the 10 cent fare. Other zones will carry a 15 cent charge. However, riders will not pay more than a five cent increase over the present fares even though they ride through several zones.

Fares between Camden and Thomaston will be 45 cents and between Rockland and Camden, 35 cents.

The Commission places the fare increases granted on a temporary basis, observing that it was expected of Russell Staples, the bus line owner, that he substantially improve the service to the public by the line.

SCHOOL BOARD VOTES PLAN FOR GLOVER MILL RENTAL FOR SHOP CLASSES TO GAIN SCHOOL SPACE

The five member Rockland School Board voted unanimously Thursday night to accept a plan as a solution for present Rockland school housing needs that would entail the rental of the W. H. Glover Company mill on Tillson avenue for an industrial arts shop, make use of two rooms in the Community Building for classrooms and utilize one room each at McLain and North Schools.

The Glover rental would provide an extra four classroom space at the Rockland High School building where the industrial arts shops are presently located. It now houses the automotive, machine and trades shops. These shops would be transferred to Tillson avenue.

The Board members reported that the West Room and the Tower Room at the Community Building could be converted for classroom purposes. The room at North School is located where the present cafeteria stands and would afford a double classroom space.

The board observed that the facilities are ample and sufficient and would fit the needs of the school system at this time. The plan would solve the school housing problems for the next three years as best can be ascertained at this time without increasing the tax rate as would new building construction.

The board set down five points of reasoning in their decision which included:

1. The plan would not necessitate any increase in the tax rate by new construction as outlined in the four previous plans worked on by the board and City Council

Proposed Four Town High School Presents New Design

Above is the schematic layout of the proposed area high school to serve the towns of Thomaston, Cushing, Friendship and Warren as outlined in the Thursday issue of The Courier-Gazette at which time the architect's sketch of the building front was presented.

Each room and space in the above schematic layout is numbered. The key to the numbers follows:

1. Administration, Guidance and Health. 2. Home Economics. 3. Language. 4. English. 5. Social Science Study Rooms. 6. Commercial. 7. Science Laboratories. 8. Mathematics. 9. Shops. 10. Library and Study Hall. 11. Kitchen and Cafeteria. 12. Gymnasium and Auditorium. 13. Stage. 14. Property Rooms. 15. Music Arts.

B. Boys' Toilet. G. Girls' Toilet. T. Teachers' Toilet. C. Corridors. S. Supply Closet. BS. Boys' Showers. GS. Girls' Showers. TR. Teachers' Room.

The 16 room structure is a radical departure in school design locally, but has appearance of being a functional one. Classrooms all face to the outside of the building with the only rooms inside being the library and study hall and kitchen and cafeteria.

The structure would measure approximately 240 feet in width and 264 feet in depth, including the gymnasium which would be 122 feet in length and 80 feet in width and includes the sports space, plus stage, property rooms, and music and choral rooms.

Construction would be cement footings and walls extending to the windows and glass block above the windows to the eaves. Estimated cost would be $400,000 to be apportioned to the towns as outlined in the Thursday issue of The Courier-Gazette at which time the architect's sketch of the building front was presented.

Each room and space in the above schematic layout is numbered. The key to the numbers follows:

1. Administration, Guidance and Health. 2. Home Economics. 3. Language. 4. English. 5. Social Science Study Rooms. 6. Commercial. 7. Science Laboratories. 8. Mathematics. 9. Shops. 10. COUNCIL STATES CITY ABLE TO FINANCE PLAN 3 FOR HOUSING OF STUDENTS AT THIS TIME

The City Council, in a special session late Thursday afternoon, issued the following statement regarding the present study of the need for school housing in the city and the solution of the problem.

The statement came as the School Board was prepared to meet later in the day to study a proposal which would establish shop classes in the Glover mill on Tillson avenue and open up space for four more classrooms in the high school basement.

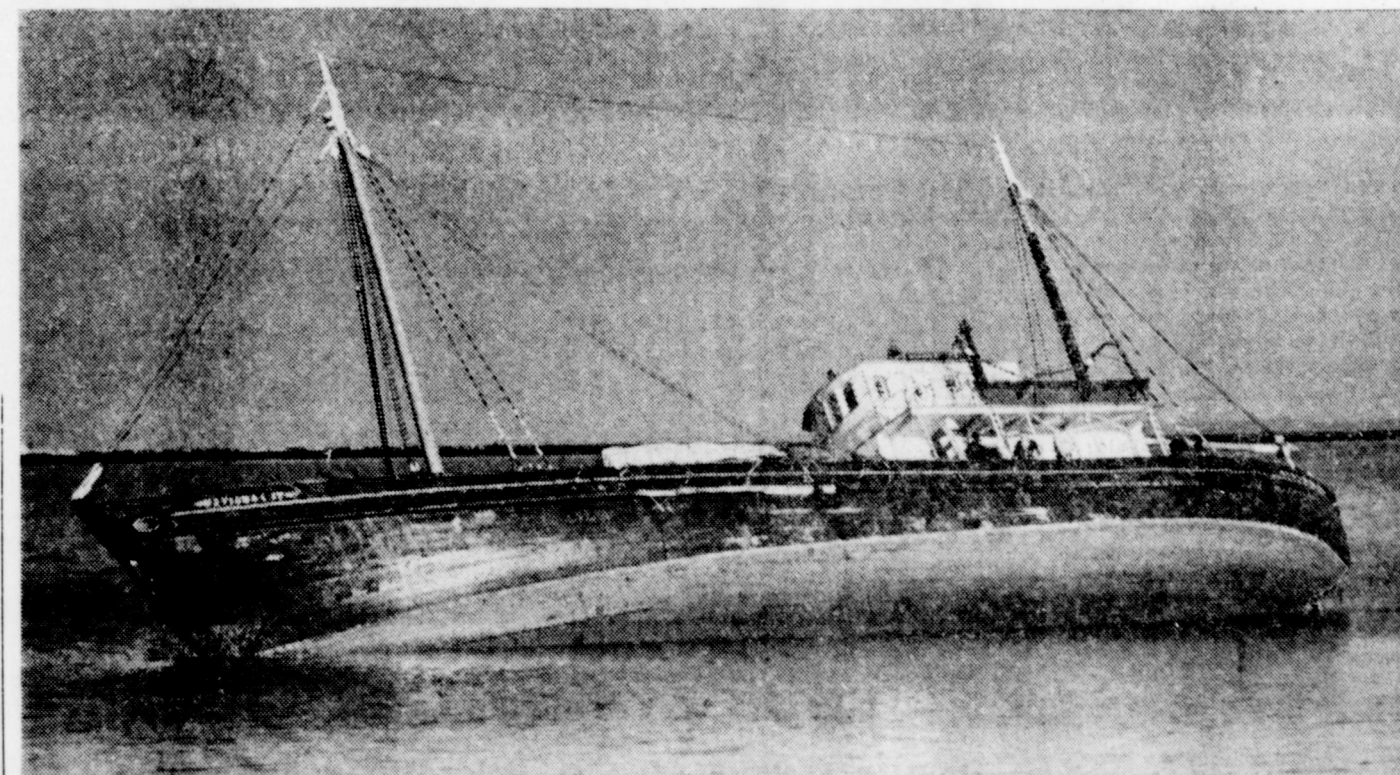

The plans studied by a recent joint session of the two boards were fully explained in the issue of The Courier-Gazette of Feb. 2, and Plan 3 referred to in the Council statement below is one of them.

The Council's Statement follows:

"The Rockland City Council, after consideration of the recent plan submitted by the Superintendent of Schools, which called for putting students in temporary quarters such as the Community Building and other buildings besides schools, has decided that the financial condition of the city is not so serious that students must be put to this much inconvenience, and has indicated its willingness to go along with Plan 3 of the four recently proposed plans of the joint meetings of the City Council and School Board.

"Plan 3 provides for rehabilitation of the Purchase Street School which will provide six elementary school rooms; construction of a vocational building at the rear of the high school which will house the machine shop, automotive

Nova Scotia Freighter Stranded On Harbor Shoal

The Nova Scotia sea moss freighter National 4 went aground on one of the Rockland harbor shoals, which have plagued mariners for years, Thursday afternoon. The craft was bound for the Algin Corporation plant on Crockett's Point when she grounded out. As the tide dropped away during the afternoon, she heeled over on her side as pictured above.

The approximately 100 foot motor ship was carrying a 10,000 pound cargo of sea moss from Nova Scotia ports for the Algin Corporation.

The National 4 is not the first small ship to ground out in shoal places in the harbor. Drifters have frequently encountered difficulties in many sections of the harbor. Well known shoal spots which have become increasingly worse with the passing years are off the Coast Guard base, O'Hara's Wharf, Birds Eye Marine Basin, Birds Eye fillet plant and the McLoon Wharf.

A $700,000 harbor dredging project now up for approval before the House in Washington is designed to correct harbor shoals and provide channels adequate for shipping in the port.

Jaycees Plan Teen-Age Road-ee

A business meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was held at the Farnsworth Museum at 7.30 Wednesday.

Plans for the annual Teen-Age Road-ee were made with Carl Blackington named as chairman. Everett Spear, Russ Wolfertz, and Dave Holden will assist in various capacities.

A planned program setup was instigated with Christy Adams serving as chairman. As chairman he will co-ordinate future progress for speakers, business agenda, etc.

It was voted to accept the Chamber of Commerce's offer to use their facilities at the Public Landing. The next meeting will be held there on the 22nd.

Plans were also formulated for the state convention which will be held in Lewiston on May 18, 19, 20.

Union High School's Jayvee squad teamed up with the school's girls squad to down visiting Islesboro teams in games played Wednesday night.

Union's Jayvees broke a half time 22-22 tie to win from the Islesboro team 50 to 38. The Union girls downed the invading Islesboro lassies 47 to 26.

High scorers for the boys were Butch Morine with 25 points for Union and Trim with 18 points for Islesboro.

V. A. Loans For World War Vets Still Available

Veterans considering the financing of homes, farms or business ventures with the aid of GI loan guarantees must remember that, although the Veterans Administration guarantees a portion of the loan, the lender makes final decision as to the terms of the loan.

M. L. Stoddard, manager, VA Center at Togus, pointed out that under law, the VA may guarantee up to 60% of the veteran's loan, with a maximum guarantee of $7,500; that VA may guarantee a home loan for a period of 20, 25 or 30 years, and a business loan for as many as ten years; that VA requires at least a two per cent down payment on the purchase of a home; and that all closing costs be paid in cash by the veteran purchaser.

However, Stoddard emphasized, VA's role in the loan transaction is simply to underwrite the veteran as a good credit risk. Since the bank or lending agency furnishes the money, it is up to the veteran to come to terms with the lender regarding the amount of the mortgage, the repayment terms and down payment requirements.

Two regulations lenders may not change: they may not charge more than 4 1/2 per cent interest, and they may not refuse repayment of the loan from the veteran at any time.

World War II veterans have until July 25, 1957 to negotiate loans with the aid of VA guarantees. Korean veterans with service between June 27, 1950 and February 1, 1955 have until February 1, 1955 to take advantage of this benefit.

OWLS HEAD-UNION SCRAP TOP GAME OF BUS LINE PRELIMS

Camden, Rockport, Owls Head and South School all advanced to semi-final play in the Bus Line League tournament at Rockport as the result of preliminary round victories on Wednesday and Thursday.

In the opening game of the tournament on Wednesday afternoon Camden, the defending champs, rolled up an impressive 21 to 3 count over McLain School in the first quarter to coast on a 38-25 win. The winners used reserves during much of the game and it was not until the fourth period that the losers seemed able to find the hoop with any regularity.

Rockport downed Junior High by a 37-15 count in the second Wednesday game to give it the right to meet Camden in the semi-finals on Friday. The victors got off to a slow start as the first quarter ended with the score at 6-4. Good defensive play and some fine ball hawking in the second period held Junior High scoreless as the Rockport lads scored 12 to make it 18-4 at the half.

In the second round of preliminary play, held on Thursday,

South School moved out to an early 11-2 lead over North School and went on to win by a 34-25 count. The South School attack slowed down in the second quarter as they scored only three points and North closed the gap to 14-7 at half time. A 14 point third period put the game on ice for the victors and subs were used liberally during the final period. Some fine rebound shooting featured the South School scoring attack.

The most hotly contested game of the preliminary round saw Owls Head victor over Union in a thriller that was close all the way. The final score of 25-19 represented the widest margin enjoyed by either team during the contest. The first quarter ended with the score tied at four all and the margin was only 8-6 at the half. In the second half both squads seemed to find their shooting eye a little better. With slightly more than one minute to play a Union rally closed the gap to one point. Two baskets and a foul shot by the Owls Head lads in the closing minute provided the margin they needed to win.

resignation leaving an unexpired term of two years. He is a Republican candidate for county commissioner nomination in the June primaries.

Nomination papers may be obtained at the town office.

Fish and Game Roundup

By Ron Speers

Back at the desk again after a weekend trip to Boston for the Sportsmen's Show and the New England Outdoor Writers' Conference, and a very enjoyable weekend indeed.

The Sportsmen's Show is much as it always was, a kaleidoscopic event of noise and bustle and confusion; of crowds and exhibits and pitchmen all mixed together into a carnival of sound and color. For the man who loves outdoor sports and wants to get a look at what is new and unusual the Show holds tremendous interest each year. I'm not talking about the so-called "tank show" or stage show, actually, the interest to the real sportsman is in the exhibit booths of the various manufacturers where the latest thing in rods, reels, lines, guns and other outdoor equipment is on display, or in the boat show where everything from build-it-yourself, plywood, one-man prams to huge, cabin cruisers that sleep six people are shown. Boats have always had a fascination for me and I guess I'm not much different from anyone else, judging by the crowds that swarmed around the various hulls on display.

The outboard motor manufacturers were there in full force, and I noticed several motors that I had never heard of before, so it looks as if there will be more competition in that field, also. So much the better, because strong competition ultimately results in a lower price to the consumer—and that's where you and I come in.

The State exhibits were outstanding this year and with pardonable pride I can truthfully say that Maine's display was once again the eyecatcher of the show. The Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries has a complete Maine seacoast town in miniature with a collection of fishing boats bobbing at anchor in the bay—a thought-provoking exhibit for those who like coastal vacations. Next door to the Sea and Shore exhibit, the Department of Inland Fisheries and Game has the most unusual display of the show, and when I mention that it is the brainchild of Mount Vernon artist Klir Beck, I know that no one would question that statement about it. Klir's genius has created a Maine river complete with log drive and riverman. Through an intricate series of mechanical controls, the riverman birls the logs, finally falls off and comes up to continue his trip downstream clinging to a log. The crowds at the show were fascinated by it. So was I. As a matter of fact, I watched it three times before I reluctantly moved on. If you get a chance to take in the show you're bound to enjoy the Maine exhibit.

Checking with game biologist Jack Maasen recently, I found out that more information on moose sightings is desired by the Game Division of the Fish and Game Department. Jack tells me that he would like to have anyone seeing a moose report it to him, with information as to the time, place and sex and number of moose seen. A postcard to Jack at the State House, in care of the Fish and Game Department, would certainly be appreciated whenever you spot a moose, and you would be doing your share to further the research program now under way on the big animals. Don't forget to include your name, and address, so Jack can contact you later if he needs more exact data on the locations where the moose were seen.

Until next week then, the best in outdoor sport!

Everyone knows you can't take it with you—the problem is to keep enough to enjoy yourself at the present time.

The town of Rumford, much the same size as Rockland, has passed the million mark in its annual budget. The actual figure was $1,004,000, slightly over $244,000 more than Rockland's budget published in the city report recently issued for the year ending last June 30. A new $450,000 school building in the community and the financing of it created the tab which taxpayers will have to pay this year. Should such a budget occur in Rockland, the tax rate would jump approximately 17 mills.

Drivers of two vehicles escaped injury but extensive damage was reported by state police when cars operated by Walter Nikitin, 26, and Neil W. Libby, Jr., 23, both of Rockland, collided in Rockport Thursday afternoon. Trooper Harvey Childs reported that Nikitin's car skidded as he attempted to stop at a stop sign at Main street and Pascal Avenue near the Rockport Bridge while traveling on Main street. Nikitin's car struck the other vehicle head-on as Libby was turning onto Main street from Pascal Avenue. Childs estimated $350 damage to the front ends of each of the cars. CHRISTINE DORMAN HONORED FOR SERVICE TO SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM

Supt. Bruce Kinney presents Mrs. Dorman with certificate.

Two cooks, in the Rockland school system's hot lunch program, were presented certificates of appreciation for their years of service by School Superintendent Bruce Kinney Thursday.

The two Mrs. Christine Dorman with 13 years' service and Mrs. Elizabeth Davis with 10 years, were commended for their work in the program and their interest in the children's health, growth and well being through the standards of the National School Lunch Act.

The certificates were signed by James Grant, administrator of the lunch program at Rockland High School and by the superintendent.

Rockland High School, feeding about 192 students and teachers from the high school and McLain school next door each day, celebrated Hot Lunch Week, proclaimed by the Governor, by inviting the press, clergy, City Council and the school board to a lunch of chicken fricassee Thursday.

Figures for January showed that 17,621 hot meals were served in the city schools. This is an increase of over 5,000 in the last two years. One day's average in January stands at 762 meals served.

These meals are prepared at the Rockland High School cafeteria and distributed to the North and South elementary school cafeterias.

Before a boy may be presented the award, he must stand examination by a board of clergymen on the principles and doctrines of his church. The award must be approved by the Maine Council of Churches.

F. H. A. To Move Office To Glover Block February 18

The offices of the Farmers Home Administration which have been located in the Bicknell Block for several years will move on next Saturday to the second floor of the W. H. Glover Company store building on Main street.

They will occupy space once used by the Rockland-Rockport Line Company prior to the fire of 1954. The Lime Company now uses offices in the rear of the same floor.

Plan 3 will present an annual retirement cost of $21,000 which will reflect in the tax rate at about $1.50 per thousand of valuation. Plan 3, incidentally, is the least expensive plan of those suggested, which still provides for Rockland High School accepting tuition students from neighboring towns without high school facilities.

"This plan would call for considerable repairing and redecorating of the Purchase Street School at an estimated cost of $20,000, the vocational building mentioned above at an estimated $65,000, and an estimated $25,000 expenditure on the high school creating the six additional rooms, and removing the kitchen and lunch facilities to the McLain School."

that could become obsolete within a two or three year period.

2. There would be no added conveyance for students.

3. It would not be necessary to shift students from one end of the city to the other.

4. It would provide ample time to study school housing needs in the foreseeable future.

The board recommended that a study group be formed of citizens and a professional consultant to study the pupil population location in the near future. In this way the school board hoped the needs of any school construction might be better determined before costly decisions are made.

When a man turns over a new leaf it seems he is never satisfied until he gets it blotted up worse than the old one.

THE GROUP OF 13 island residents were told by Doucette that he personally backed the Vinalhaven and North Haven movement to provide their island communities with adequate ferry service.

Doucette said it was necessary for a community such as those represented to have adequate transportation facilities for its summer tourist business. He said "a summer visitor likes to look out his bedroom window and see his car in the yard."

Doucette compared the towns' efforts with the recent Beals Island Bridge. He said Vinalhaven is the only real large island community on the Maine coast without adequate transportation.

The towns are seeking a ferry to service both islands of a size to permit transportation of several cars each trip with ample passenger space and provisions for proper storage area.

The costs of the ferry is still undetermined but estimates as high as $125,000 were made by the group at Thursday morning's meeting.

These costs would also include adequate dock facilities.

Doucette Meets With Island Ferry Groups

Part of the Vinalhaven and North Haven Development Association members meeting with Earl Doucette of the State Department of Industry and Commerce are, from the left: A. Everett Libby, Vinalhaven Development Association president; Gosta Skoog and Harlan A. Townsend, members of the Vinalhaven transportation committee; Doucette; Ila C. Curtis, president of the North Haven Development Association; Stanley Quinn and Vernon Beverage, members of the North Haven transportation committee.

The article proposed by the group would ask that the people of both towns vote official recognition of the two associations and their work.

The associations would then be able to work officially through the state legislature in preparing a bill for presentation to that body seeking the new ferry service.

Such an article would be voted on the regular town meetings in March.

The same article would seek support of the town in asking that the state legislature form a bridge district financed by state bonds as an extension of the state highway system. This would be a step toward the installation of the ferry service.

FARM AND GRANGE NEWS OF INTEREST IN KNOX AND LINCOLN COUNTIES

EXTENSION TO CONDUCT HOME IMPROVEMENT CONTEST AGAIN

The state wide Home Improvement program will be continued in Maine in 1956 by the Women's Division of the Extension Association. The contest will be carried on in each county for the purpose of encouraging rural and urban families to make their buildings and lawn surroundings more attractive places in which to live.

This program encourages Maine homeowners and communities to improve their property. The improvement may take the form of painting or repair work. It may be remodeling of a run down old farmhouse, or it may be the improvement of lawns and driveways, or the removal of buildings dilapidated beyond repair.

Last year there were 977 entrants in the contest in the state. This was the first year the contest was conducted and accomplishments were very much worthwhile, both in improvement of property, and in satisfaction to home owners for the work completed.

Prize money for the continuation of the contest has already been contributed by several extension groups.

Any extension member who wishes to enter the Home Improvement Contest may get information from the community chairman or from the home demonstration agent, Mable K. Folsom.

The state committee of Extension Women who are working on the contest plans are Mrs. Ruth Elliot of Gorham, chairman; Mrs. Etta Smith, Mrs. Gladys Grant and Mrs. Helen Andrews.

The officers of the Women's Division of Knox-Lincoln Counties who comprise the committee are: Mrs. Mildred Harjula, chairman; Mrs. Gertrude Hupper, vice chairman; and Mrs. Madeline Chapman, secretary and treasurer.

At the meeting, Edward Killaran of Cushing was named manager of the Rockland store to succeed Walfrid Saastamoinen of Thomaston who resigned to take employment with another firm in the grain business locally. Mr. Killaran is a former employee of the Co-operative.

At a meeting of the board of directors, Frank Salmi of North Waldoboro was named president;

Uno Laho of Warren, vice president; Henry Salminen of Rockport, treasurer and Charles Hudson of West Rockport, secretary.

Knox-Lincoln Leading In 4-H Enrollment

Maine 4-H club members were enrolled in 7,030 projects in agriculture and homemaking as of February 1, reported today Kenneth C. Lovejoy, state 4-H club leader of the Maine Extension Service.

Lovejoy said that this is an increase of 1,227 projects in the past three weeks. It's also 822 ahead of last year at the same date. At this rate the total 4-H project enrollment for the year should reach more than 9,000.

Counties leading in total 4-H enrollment include: Knox-Lincoln, Penobscot, Oxford, Cumberland, York, Northern Aroostook, Hancock, and Kennebec. Counties reporting the biggest increases in 4-H activity during the past three weeks include: Oxford, Androscoggin-Sagadahoc, York, Somerset, Cumberland, and Central Aroostook.

Four-H club work is open to all Maine young people between the ages of nine and 21. County 4-H club agents at the County Extension Service offices throughout the state have further information.

Heart Assn. Head Pomona Speaker

William Darroch of Portland, executive director of the Maine Heart Association told members of Knox Pomona Grange Saturday at North Warren, that the organization is starting research on hardening of the arteries, and the cause of high blood pressure. He talked briefly on several case histories and pointed out that diet has an important bearing on heart health. "It has been found," he said, "that a special diet for heart patients has been very beneficial."

The degree was conferred at the morning session on one candidate, Mrs. Agnes Hall of Warren.

An auction by the Home and Community Welfare of Pomona Grange under the chairmanship of Mrs. Alice Danforth of Union was held, proceeds to be given over to a fund for new Pomona court officers' gowns. Last year new sashes were bought by this committee and added to the officers' regalia.

During the afternoon Mrs. Emma Norwood of Warren and Mrs. Greta Clark of Thomaston gave readings, the latter's on famous men born in February.

Valentine stunt awards went to George Layr and Mrs. Bernice Young of East Union, and to Earl Maxey of Thomaston, and Mrs. Emma Norwood of Warren.

White Oak Grange was the host grange at the Saturday meeting.

New Step In Dairy Breeding Showing Merit

Frozen semen for dairy cattle breeding is now proving satisfactory, reports Ralph A. Corbett, Extension dairyman of the University of Maine.

One artificial breeding association in Ontario, Canada inseminated 46,000 cows in 1955 with frozen semen. About half of the associations in the United States are now using frozen semen on a limited basis.

The proper use of frozen semen offers dairymen the greatest tool that breed improvement has ever known, says Corbett. When artificial insemination was developed 15 years ago this was thought to be the greatest tool, but not artificial insemination with fresh semen is becoming outmoded in favor of frozen semen.

Frozen semen offers everything that fresh semen can plus several other advantages, explains the Extension dairyman. Among these advantages are selecting of sires by the members of an artificial breeding association; making greater use of superior sires; offering special matings over an extended period of time; and extending the breeding life of a sire even after he's dead.

To the average dairyman who may be a member of an artificial breeding association, it means much, adds Corbett. It means that for him to make the best use of artificial breeding he must become better informed as to the merits of the various sires and the merits of his individual cows. Certain sires are stronger in type than other sires. Certain sires are stronger in production than other sires. Matching of desirable points of both male and female

FEDERAL SOIL BANK HAS LITTLE IF ANY VALUE FOR MAINE FARMERS

University of Maine and other state and federal agricultural officials discussed the much publicized soil bank proposal at a recent meeting in Orono.

Dean of Agriculture Arthur L. Deering called the meeting for the purpose of acquainting staff members and others with the proposal.

Explaining the plan were Lawrence A. Chatto and William B. Oliver, both of Orono, who recently attended meetings in Washington, D. C., to learn details and developments in its connection. Chatto is administrative officer of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and Oliver is state conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service.

These agencies are expected to be directly involved in carrying out the acreage reserve and conservation reserve phases of the soil bank plan. Also speaking were Albert D. Nutting, Maine commissioner of forestry, and George E. Lord, associate Extension Service director.

From the discussion it became evident that neither the acreage reserve nor the conservation reserve parts of the plan as now proposed have much value to Maine farmers. The acreage reserve applies only to the retirement of acres in the four basic crops corn, cotton, wheat and rice. The conservation reserve likewise involves the retirement of land devoted only to row crops or drilled grain crops. Proposed payment rates are believed to be too low to provide incentives for voluntary participation by most Maine farmers. About the only related aid for Maine farmers appears to be in possible increases in Agricultural Conservation Program practice payments.

Also attending was state commissioner of agriculture Fred J. Nutter, of Augusta, as well as representatives of the College of Agriculture, Experiment Station, and Extension Service.

Dean Deering explained that it is the desire of the University to keep abreast of developments in the soil bank proposal and to inform Maine farm people as to its local application and value.

February is usually a party month and this year is no exception. Parties can be fun, even for the cook, if you serve quick and easy foods that can be prepared in advance. Date-Marshmallow Log can be prepared the day before, or earlier, if you have a freezer, and left in the refrigerator until the last minute:

Date-Marshmallow Log
45 graham crackers
24 marshmallows
1 1/2 c. chopped dates
3 c. chopped walnuts
1 1/2 c. heavy cream

Roll graham crackers to fine crumbs. Combine marshmallows, dates, nuts; mix thoroughly with 2 1/2 cups cracker crumbs. Add cream (Not Whipped); mix thoroughly. Shape into roll 2 1/2 to 3 inches across; roll in remaining cracker crumbs. Wrap well in waxed paper and chill in refrigerator. Cut in slices. Makes about 24 servings.

For a Washington's Birthday Party:

Cherry Cakes
1 cup margarine or butter
3/4 cup brown sugar
1 egg yolk
2 cups sifted flour
1 teas. vanilla
Cream butter well; add sugar

Student Loan Funds Available Total 42 Million

There is more than 42 million dollars in loan funds available for college students, according to a survey released today by Changing Times, The Kiplinger Magazine. About half of this amount is never used, say the editors of the magazine, although it is available at reasonable rates of interest to any willing student.

Student loan funds are available in about two-thirds of our universities and colleges at interest rates that average about two per cent while the student is in college and about four per cent when he graduates, the magazine reports. In most cases, those who borrow have an unlimited time after graduation in which to repay.

The average college has about $39,000 in reserve for loans to students, and lends about $14,800. On the average, about 125 students in each college apply for and get loans during the school year.

It is easy to obtain such loans. In 1955, 88 per cent of loan applications covered in the survey were granted. There is usually a limit on the total amount a student may borrow, but in most cases the amount is in the neighborhood of $400 to $600 a year.

Loans are usually open to anyone who maintains passing grades, as they are granted on the basis of need, rather than high scholastic achievement. Of course, students who have scholarships may borrow from loan funds to supplement their income.

Survey results showed that students are reluctant to borrow money to go to college, and that this could be overcome if students were better advised on their personal financial affairs. Many needy students are not aware of the amount of money that can be borrowed and the ease with which loans can be arranged.

Is it wise for students to borrow to get an education? Yes, says the editors of Changing Times.

"A college education is an investment that pays off handsomely for most college students. Measured in dollars and cents, the average college graduate makes more money at the beginning of his career than the average person without a college education earns at the top of his experience."

"Certainly the value of a college degree can hardly be disputed," the editors say. "As college enrollment increases, a college diploma becomes a basic requirement for more and more jobs."

College presidents are nearly unanimous, according to the survey results, in their opinion that students should be willing to borrow to obtain a college education. And in fact, many schools are beginning to require that those who accept scholarships also borrow from student loan funds to make up the cost of their education, the magazine reports.

Information about loan funds can usually be obtained by writing to the director of admissions of the college the student wishes to attend.

The results represent the most thorough investigation of student loans that has ever been undertaken. A questionnaire was sent to every college and university in the United States. Funds for the study were granted by the Kiplinger Foundation, a private educational and charitable foundation, and the results are available to educators and educational organizations. The study was undertaken in co-operation with the Association of American Colleges.

Charron's principal responsibility will be the supervision of seven field men working in the markets of the eastern United States to improve the handling and marketing of Maine farm products.

George H. Chick of Monmouth, Division chief who announced the appointment, said the promotion recognized Charron's experience in inspection and marketing of essentially all Maine farm products. Most recently Charron has been on special poultry and potato assignments.

When a poultryman says he does not attend a meeting of his trade association any more because the programs are not interesting or attendance is small he is actually criticizing himself. Maine poultrymen are actually fortunate that they have an organization already in operation and all they need to do is to give support by attendance and interest. What if we do not have a planned program with a speaker, most poultrymen should be anxious and willing to meet once a month just to discuss trade problems among themselves.

With all the poultrymen in Knox county there is no reason why there should not be 50 to 100 at every meeting, unless the weather is exceptionally severe. Where could you spend a more interesting and profitable evening than mixing with that many folks all with similar interests?

A few poultrymen attend regularly and they are not discouraged by small attendance. Why do they attend? It is just as hard for them to leave their television sets as it is for you. They do not come for pure pleasure. It is quite possible that most of the regular attendants do not actually need the exchange of information as much as many who do not attend at all. They certainly do not go because they expect any pay for the work they do. It could be that they are hoping that at some time enough poultrymen will wake up to the fact that a powerful trade organization is important. Hoping that such a time will soon arrive they keep the organization alive and hope.

The first thing is to attend and join up if you have not already done so. The next logical step is to come with some constructive ideas. If you do not happen to have the idea, come anyway and help put across the ideas that you approve.

The next meeting of the Knox County Poultry Improvement Association is scheduled for Tuesday evening, Feb. 28. If plans can be completed in time the speaker will be William P. Curtin of Boston. Watch for further announcements.

Now wouldn't it be something if Mr. Curtin came down from Boston to speak to a pint-sized poultry group when he knows that this territory is overrunning with poultry people. You probably know who Mr. Curtin is if you have happened to read this column before. Just in case you haven't had the pleasure of knowing about Mr. Curtin, let me say that his friend call him "Red". Does that ring a bell?

It does seem as though all the poultrymen who know about Mr. Curtin's function in the industry will make a special effort to attend. No, I have not told you what Mr. Curtin does. You should know if you are really interested in poultry.

I was talking with a member the other day and he mentioned several top grade films that are available. Some films are in color and they are talking films. These films have one advantage over a speaker, they show actual conditions on numerous farms. Some show poultry troubles. Some show poultry advancements. They can be shown at our meetings if you want them.

In fact, members of a trade organization can have a great many things if they will attend and show interest.

I realize that many have to be approached personally to get results. Do you start making excuses and objections when you read this. You know, the baby sitter is expensive. The car is cold on winter nights. You don't like the organization anyway because no one attends and there is nothing of interest. Then there is always television.

There are a few meetings you come running to. That's when you are scared. Remember the meeting at Union when Dr. Scamser came down from Lederle's to talk on Newcastle. How about the Laryngos meeting last year and the Leghorn meeting.

Even the television cannot run all spectaculars. You might not have been as worried if you had attended association meetings regularly. You would have had enough information so that your reactions would have been much calmer.

I am pretty well acquainted with most of the outstanding poultrymen in Knox County. Where did I meet them—at meetings of the poultry association. You can meet them there too.

The new year is just starting. It is very simple to become a member. Just come to the next meeting and pay one dollar and a half to Lester Shibles the secretary. But do not let the money keep you away. Start coming anyway. You may not think every meeting is tops, but why miss a lot of good meetings because there is a slow one once in a while.

If you had attended the last meeting you would have heard the plans for programs. They sounded good to us and you will do well not to miss them.

I hold no office and have no axe to grind except that I would like to see a first rate poultry group in this county. If you feel the same way start attending and bring some friends with you. The ladies are welcome too.

Thomaston High Students School Officials For Day

A one-day revolution occurred at Thomaston High School Friday when Principal Carroll Wallace, Coach Frank Leary, the school janitor, George Woodward, and teachers Leonard Osier, Clarence Butler and Lorraine Curry were unseated from their positions by a vote of the student body. The school turned over recently to vote in a slate of four officers, a principal, teacher, coach and janitor, in an official school election accompanied by political rallies and conventions between two parties, the Radicals and the Reminders. Thursday was the day set aside when they were to take over their respective positions.

A PRAYER FOR EVERYONE

Before you say your prayers, there's something I want to tell you. Tonight, I want you to ask God to bless everyone in the whole wide world.

On World Day of Prayer children in every corner of the globe, grown-ups too, will pray that God will make this world a better place.

Remember last summer at camp when you called out at the edge of that cliff and your echo came answering back? Well, imagine all the people in the world calling out at once in prayer. Imagine how big the echo would be, and how much it would please God to hear it.

You are lucky children, because you live here in America, because you have your Church and the right to attend it. So tonight, thank God for things like that, darlings, even if you don't entirely understand them. And when you've finished... ask Him to bless everyone.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

K. Of C. Makes Start On New Home

Workmen completed the laying of the 50 x 80 foot prefabricated roof on the Knights of Columbus warehouse on Water street Thursday morning. The 16 foot cinder block sections were lifted into place by the finishing touches on the roof. The building, with 4,000 square feet of floor space and a 12 foot ceiling, is being constructed by the Limerock Council, Knights of Columbus, and will be rented as a warehouse. Plans call for the eventual construction of additional floors over the present roof as a home for the K. of C. whose home on the same site was destroyed by fire last year. Workmen for the contractor, Starr Brothers, will fill in the area beside the walls, seen above, to bring it up to street level. Entrance is from the back through two overhead garage doors.

Extensive unemployment in the city through the shutting down of a plant or plants can change the picture of Welfare Department finances almost overnight. However, the average demands are as pictured by Mr. Southard.

Work of the department employees extends far beyond merely handing out city orders for foods and fuel or paying bills for housing. The care of the aged and infirm entails making arrangements for housing and care and the moving of them to nursing homes and caring for their affairs after death.

Much work is done by the city matron with young people and families in what are termed borderline cases. Here perhaps, the greatest work of the department is done for the people in trouble not only are extended aid, either through the city or through help in donated clothing and household goods, but in guidance of youngsters and the searching out of employment for parents. Many a family has been kept together and children kept in school because of the interest shown in them by Mrs. Rice and Mr. Southard, plus a helping hand to guide them over financial rough spots.

Mothers, and some of them are "professionals," who are seeking to live off the city, get short measure with Southard. He checks the backgrounds of applicants for aid, employment in the family, income and other factors before spending the city's funds. Those who really need aid get it promptly.
