

The Wave

WEDNESDAY, AUG. 21, 1889.

A gentleman has been visiting the Port this week who has been in every state in the Union, and expresses the opinion that for gauzy and artful dodges to obtain intoxicating liquor the State of Maine captures the brass medallion. Underground passages to hotels, holes in partitions, grapevines in boxes, hollow canes, field glasses, containing a pint each, tin cases in the shape of books, are among the common devices seen throughout the state. With a party of three gentlemen he went into an ice cream saloon at one of the beaches, and wanted some lager. They were taken into a small sink-room about 4x6 and stood up against the wall, while the waiter brought in the bottled lager, for which a dime a gill was paid. He said he never felt so cheap in his life and has sworn off until he gets out of the state. He thinks a prohibitory law which forces people into desperate straits cannot prohibit very much, but if every one in Maine was as ashamed of such procedure as was he there would be precious little liquor brought into the state. He says the train on which he came into the state brought over $1000 worth of liquor to various parties between Kennebunk and Woodford's Corner, but there was a C. O. D. bill for every portion of it. If the prohibitory law is really on the statute books for use and not ornament, why don't the authorities attend to business and enforce it.

THE ORIGIN

OF THE WORD CIGAR.

The origin of the word cigar, says an exchange, is of some interest and is not to be found in the ordinary dictionary. The word, of course, is Spanish, and Littré in his French dictionary says that it is derived from cigarra, the Spanish name for grasshopper. When the Spaniards first introduced tobacco into Spain from the island of Cuba, in the sixteenth century, they cultivated the plant in their gardens, which in Spanish are called cigarra. Each grew his tobacco in his cigarra and rolled it up for smoking, as he had learned from the Indians in the West Indies. When one offered a smoke to a friend he would say: "Es de mi cigarra"—it is from my garden. Soon the expression came to be: "Este cigarro es de mi cigarra"—this cigar is from my garden. And from this the word spread over the world. The name cigarra for garden comes from cigarra, a grass-hopper, that insect being very common in Spain, and cigarra meaning the place where the cigarra sings. In this way the word cigar comes from cigarra, the name of the insect, not because it resembles the body of the grasshopper, but because it was grown in the place it frequents.

Here are four sentences said to be taken from a composition written by a Philadelphia pupil after hearing a lecture on physiology: "The human body is made up of the head, the thorax and the abdomen. The head contains the brains, when there is any. The thorax contains the heart and lungs. The abdomen contains the bowels, of which there are five, A, E, I, O, U, and sometimes W and Y."

THE WHIST

PLAYERS

AT THE BLUFF.

Card playing among the older guests of the Ocean Bluff is a favorite pastime. In the cosy little back office or on the piazza little groups can almost always be found indulging in a social game of whist. There are some very fine players among the guests there and an interesting game is often watched by a little cluster of spectators who hover over the chairs and scan the different hands. The following are some of the best players:

Mr Hanna, of Cincinnati.
Mr Taft.
J Frank Lawrence, of Chicago.
Edwin Barbour, of Chicago.
J P Smith, of Chicago.
Mr Harlow, of New York.
Dr Palmer, of Louisville.
Mr Samuels, of Philadelphia.
Mr Kent, Worcester, Mass.
Mr Hastings, of Philadelphia.
Mr Gaskell, of Philadelphia.
Mr Clark, of Newark.
Mr Leamon, of Philadelphia.
Mr Carlton, of Haverhill.
Messrs. Butmans, Salem.

Mr. Deland is trying to get a race between the cat boats here for Saturday next. The course will commence on the river opposite Dr. Clark's cottage. Five boats will probably enter.

A CHALLENGE.

We, the undersigned, do hereby challenge the winners of the cups in the Arundel Court tournament, to a contest best 3 in 5, to be played any day this week.

RACKET

AND BALL.

THE STRUGGLE FOR THE CUPS.

The preliminary round was not distinguished by any very good play, the winners winning quite easily.

The first round was, taken as a whole, well played. The most exciting match of this round was between Cater and Nichols, and M. Taylor and H. Taylor. The first set was won after a sharp struggle by the Taylor brothers, 6-5. In the second set Cater and Nichols, by playing one of the best games in the tournament, defeated their opponents, 6-0. The third set was marked by the fine play of the Taylor boys but it was of no avail against their strong opponents, who took the set and match, 6-4.

Another match that aroused great attention was that between the Talcott brothers and Deering and Terry, although the Talcott brothers won easily. The fine playing of Deering elicited frequent rounds of applause. The match was won by the Talcott brothers by the appended score, 6-2, 6-3. In the second round Taylor and Lord defeated Cummings and B. Lord in a well contested struggle. This match was not marked by especially good playing, being won quite handsily by K. Taylor and Lord, 6-3, 2-1, 6-4.

The playing between Cater and Nichols vs. the Talcott brothers was far more exciting than indicated by the score. The first set was very exciting, being won by Cater and Nichols, 6-4. In the second set H. Talcott made many pretty strokes. Cater also distinguished himself. Nichols and Cater won third set, 6-4, 6-3.

Cater and Nichols met K. Taylor and Lord in the finals, the latter made a better fight than was anticipated. The first set was won by Taylor and Lord, who worked up by fine team play from 2-5 against them, winning by the score of 7-5.

In the next set Cater and Nichols played in better form and won hands down, 6-1.

The third set was won by Cater and Nichols, not however, without a sharp struggle. This set was finally played by both sides and was won by Nichols and Cater, 6-4.

Taylor and Lord made a desperate struggle for the fourth set, both playing well but without any team work their opponents by good team work just managed to pull out the set, 6-5.

H. E. Woods is responsible for the neatness and despatch with which the tournament was managed. He devoted his whole time and is deserving of great credit.

Below is a synopsis of the tournament:

Mr. Pettit of Philadelphia is one of the finest piano players ever heard here. His playing in Arundel Hall after the tennis tournament attracted much attention.

Mr. Campbell has returned home from the Norton House. During his short stay here he caught two runaway horses and saved one child from drowning. Who will take his place?

At Mrs. Talbot's Monday tea there were present Miss Gertrude Talbot, Miss Mabel Hastings, Miss Cater, Miss Sard, Miss Obentiff, the Messrs. Woods, Mr. Hastings, Mr. Wood Taylor.

The costumes of English serge which wear better than any other are now daintily trimmed with embroidered bands in cross stitch, and make seashore costumes which even a Parisienne does not despise.

Something must be the matter with Jupiter Pluvius, esq., as we have had no witness to speak of for a week. Perhaps he has been eating dried apple and cheese. If so, hope he will continue that diet until the close of the season.

A little boy was beseeching his mother to take him down to see the live seals the other day, and she promised to "by-and-by." "The sweet by-and-by?" queried he. "Yes," said she. "Well, it is sweet enough for me now," said little cleverness.

The great-grandfather of Mr. James Parker Smith, of Chicago, built the batteau used by Benedict Arnold on his expedition to Canada. Mr. Smith himself has built some of the largest ships ever launched in Maine. He is a native of Hallowell, but went to Chicago in 1855 and is now one of the wealthiest ice dealers in the West, and a very agreeable gentleman to meet. He is a guest of the Ocean Bluff with his friend, Mr. Frank Lawrence. Mr. Smith handles 150,000 tons of ice per year, all the principal Western railroads being among his customers.

Some of our visitors and newer residents are puzzling themselves over queer noises they hear on the shore and apparently coming from the water. One thought it was a lion roaring up at Wells, and another a whale spouting at Boon Island, while another said sea serpent, etc., etc. Old residents have long known that by some peculiar formation of our shore and location of outlying land and islands an eddy is formed here which seems to center sound waves from even across the bay a dozen miles away and they are repeated with wonderful variations caused by the condition of the water and waves by which they are conducted. Such sounds are never heard except when it is calm and the water smooth, and usually late in the afternoon. The variable sounds heard no doubt were caused by the steamers' whistles miles away so changed by the conducting powers as to produce different tones.

The following is the summary of the ladies tournament on the Arundel Hall grounds:-

PRELIMINARY ROUND.
Miss Hansell, Miss Alderdice, 6-5, 6-3.

FIRST ROUND.
Miss McKnight, Miss Buckley, 6-5, 6-3.
Miss Hansell, Miss Esler, 6-2, 6-1.

FINAL ROUND.
Miss McKnight, Miss Howells, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1.

A gentleman who has traveled all over this continent, and who is something of a connoisseur of beauty, offered $2 to any person of common intelligence who would point out a pretty woman at Old Orchard last Sunday. When he visits the Port and makes that offer he had better bring along a two-bushel basket of 2's, for he will need them.

Dr. E. T. Galligan of Boston Highlands, who is spending this month at the Ocean House, is a gentleman of culture and refinement who thoroughly understands the fine art of making a vacation count for all it is worth in health and pleasure. He has a fine team and an excellent and faithful man, Mr. Fred Richards, to care for it. The doctor enjoys a very lucrative practice among the best families in the most charming section of the Hub.

Mr. Henry Pettit of Philadelphia is visiting Mr. E. Dunbar Lockwood at his cottage. Mr. Pettit is a gentleman of leisure and has traveled around the world several times. He was prominently connected with the Centennial exposition in '76, and also with the American exhibition at the Paris exposition. He wears the decoration of the legion of Honor conferred on him by the French government.

Talk about assurance. A wealthy man in a Western city whose family is stopping at one of the beaches hereabout saw an adv. of a well known patent medicine in a Wave publication and wrote the owner to send him a dozen bottles, the contents of which he would consume a quantum suff to cure his rheumatism and sell the rest on commission. Guess he will be quite rheumatic before he gets the medicine.

Mr. A. B. Hondlette, the well known photographer at the Port, produced a counterfeit presentment of two members of the fourth estate and a medical gentleman. There were no flies on it, although several of the insects were in the immediate vicinity. The rumor that the hotel keeper had formed a trust to buy up this work of art, and have it produced in oil on the walls of their dining room had no reliable foundation.

As usual with the liberal summer visitors of the Ocean Bluff, they responded liberally to the request for additional subscriptions for the purpose of continuing the summer amusements and the result is the announcement of two sailing races and a dory race for Wednesday; and boys' sports on the beach at low tide and tub races, and other sports for Thursday. Kennebunkport is to be congratulated on having so many liberal visitors each season, and they can always be counted on to do the handsome thing when called upon.

PHILADELPHIA HOSPITALITY IS PROVERBIAL and the friends cottages are always full of delightful guests. Mr. Lockwood is never without genial company and Mr. R. E. Hastings has had with him Mr. Craig Lippincott, jr., the past two weeks.

A dashing married woman who has been playing havoc with men and ardent spirits at Old Orchard was somewhat surprised Sunday by the appearance of her lord, who bundled her home to Boston, bag and baggage, on the next train. The boys can now leave their glassware in the bureau drawers in safety.

Green, which is now the favorite color for the country, is not suitable to the seaside where there is no tone of color in harmony with it. Even the Parisians, who are nothing if not loyal to the prevailing modes, sacrifice fashion to good taste so far as to substitute blues and reds for the fashionable vernal shades.

The Red Berry Club, which has its August meetings at the Ocean House, Old Orchard, embraces some of the best lawyers and most adroit politicians in Boston and Lowell, among them being Richard Sullivan, W. F. Courtney, Thomas F. Strange, "Nick" McCarthy, "Prof." Colvin, John B. Moran and "Handsome" Fitzpatrick.
