

The Wave

SATURDAY, JULY 27, 1889.

In another column may be seen a brief statement of a little domestic affair that for a time furnished considerable material for scandal. We trust that the proper authorities will look after this place in the future and see to it that the guests in the neighboring hotels are not treated to another such an exhibition of temper and drunkenness. In connection with this affair The Wave has been warned that any mention made of this disgraceful affair would be at our peril. In order that no future misunderstanding may occur the editor would say that he is not large, is not a pugilist, does not carry an arsenal about him or any bowie knives in his boots, but if anyone labors under the delusion that he is afraid to publish anything or everything that he may deem proper, they are sadly and badly mistaken. The Wave is not afraid of any persons made of such stuff as the parties who created this disgraceful disturbance above referred to.

The other day we saw a fellow playing tennis, with a cigar stub in his mouth. We shouldn't have thought it so strange if he hadn't had ladies for his companions in the game, but as it was we set him down as a chump of the first water.—Squirrel Island Sqid. Squid, you are wrong. At the beach there is and should be more liberty and latitude of the iron and arbitrary rules of etiquette than elsewhere. Squid, you are a bad "medicine man" if you lecture the "boys" for those things. Even the highest authorities on etiquette allow a man to smoke while walking with a lady. Why not then in playing tennis?

To Lillian.

(Written for The Wave.)
Tell me, Robin, tell to me,
Doth fair Lillian sing of me
Ever as she gaily roves
Thro' the leafy, balmy groves,
That thy songs tune every day,
Oh, my red-breast Robin, say?

Tell me, gentle flower that grows
Whiter than the falling snows,
Doth sweet Lillian ever sigh,
Looking in thy pure, bright eye,
That some day beside the sea
I a wanderer glad shall be.

Tell me, fateful stars that shine,
Like prophetic eyes divine,
If young Lillian e'er doth tell
Whom she loveth true and well;
Tell me, Nature, faithfully,
If fair Lillian loveth me.

Silent is the robin now,
Beneath low the lily's brow,
Hide the stars behind a cloud,
Nature laughs, my head is bowed
Lower than the lily dear.
Ah! she loves me not, I fear.

Still my little dream was blessed,
For I loved her and caressed,
Where the robin tunes the grove,
When the stars shine bright above,
When the lily sweetly beams
Like an angel in love's dreams.

As this dream I fain would hold
Closer than of fame or gold,
Still I hope she thinks of me,
And of happy hours to be,
Where the silver waters flow,
And the tender lilies grow.

Dark will be the sunny skies,
If I miss her tender eyes;
Sad will be the robin's tune,
Cold will be the stars and moon,
If sweet Lillian doth not prove
Constant, tender e'er to love.

Waste.

(Written for The Wave by Kate Vannah.)
To one he sent his strong, man's heart, laid bare,
Quivering with hope and fear. A cruel hand
Seemed pushing hard upon a torn, hot nerve.
Nothing he kept, not even his fierce pride.
Unfaithful to another—to her true,
Complete surrender of his heart and life.

The second letter was indifferent
Save for an old-time name he knew she loved;
He snatched a falling flower from his coat
And crushed its purple blood against the words
That she might know, for all his city life,
He still recalled her love for violets.

The one to whom he wrote with lashes wet
(His pleading was so strong and passionate),
Read, with fine scorn, his letter—flung it by—
And, later, answered, in a mocking tone.
The other died. Upon her broken heart
Was found a locket with his face inside—
A tender word cut from his letter—and—
A violet.

BASE BALL.

A CLOSE GAME

FRIDAY.

The Kennebunkport Juniors and the Ocean Bluff nine played an exciting if not errorless game yesterday afternoon near the Sea Side House. The game was close throughout and at the beginning of the last inning was a tie. The Ports then came to the bat and pounded out two runs. At this stage of the game a little unpleasantness took place. It appears that when the Bluffs went to York, they borrowed the mask and gloves belonging to the Port boys. During the game yesterday the Bluffs having no catcher's mask, borrowed and used the one belonging to their opponents. The Port catcher had also been using the gloves of the Bluff team. At this stage of the game, Foster, the Bluff catcher, showed how small he could make himself, if necessary, and refused to allow the use of his gloves in this last inning. For the credit of the Ocean Bluff team it should be said that they are all gentlemen as well as ball players with the exception of the catcher before mentioned and that they all without exception or hesitation, condemned his childish and contemptible performance. The features of the game were the catching of Cleaves and the first and second base play of Perkins and Huff for the Ports, and the batting of Kidd, Wheeler and Talbot for the Bluffs. The official score by innings follows:

Kennebunkports	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Ocean Bluffs	1	0	1	3	0	3	2	0	2-21
	5	2	2	8	2	0	9	0	3-22

The operetta "Which is which" was given at the Cliff House last night before a large and appreciative audience, in aid of the fresh air fund.

Dr. E. Custer, a well known homoeopathic physician of Manchester, N. H., is enjoying life at the Grove Hill with his two daughters and grandson.

Dr. John O. Dow and family of Reading, who are driving along the coast with a fine span of horses, stopped at the Grove Hill Hotel this week.

Mr. Wm. H. Emery and his son Jonas have taken the grocery store of John A. Emery on the Landing road, the latter retiring on account of ill health.

Judge Libby of Augusta is holding a hearing in the case of Hinds vs. Perkins this week. Col. H. H. Burbank of Saco for plaintiff; H. Fairfield, esq., for defendant.

Miss M. Grace Jones of Boston is at the Grove Hill Hotel. Miss Jones is a superb pianist. Her father, Mr. J. A. Jones, an Avon street, Boston, merchant, is also there.

Mrs. J. B. Morse and Geo. W. Walters, two artists from New York state, are at the Bluff. They are sketching and painting some of the beautiful scenery of the Cape.

Mrs. F. B. Knowles and family from Worcester, Mass., are at the Bluff. Mr. Knowles is a wealthy loom manufacturer and owns a large amount of real estate in Worcester.

Prof. Geo. L. Osborne of Warrensburg, Mo., president of the South Missouri Normal school, is among the guests at the Cliff House. He is accompanied by his family.

A party of six ladies from St. Johnsbury, Vt., who arrived at the Grove Hill Thursday night, were brought down on the backboard from Kennebunk, which they reached on the Pullman.

Mr. George Riddle, the eminent elocutionist, will read in Arundel Hall August 1. Mr. Riddle has read here many times to the delight of his listeners and this year presents a more pleasing program than ever before. Mr. Riddle is sure of a full house.

Have you bought one of the new illustrated Guide Books of Kennebunkport and Kennebunk Beach? It numbers 100 pages, on elegant paper, with handsome covers. It contains 30 fine illustrations and three complete maps which are invaluable to parties diving.

If you are staying at the beach nothing is so neat and appropriate to wear as alligator jewelry. Mr. Damon at the Ocean Bluff Bowling Alleys has just received a large stock of them and they are going like hot cakes. They are, some of them, in very attractive designs.

Mrs. Chas. D. Drown of Fall River, Mass., is visiting relatives in town.

Mr. W. N. Pollard of Harvard college decorated the Parker House register with his autograph last night.

Mr. Laban E. Warren and wife arrived at the Parker House last night. Mr. Warren is professor in mathematics at Colby College.

Mr. O. H. Durrell, of the firm of Brown, Durrell & Co., Boston, arrived yesterday. He was going on a deep sea fishing excursion to-day.

Progressive euchre entertained the guests of the Seaside on Thursday evening. Much interest was manifested in the game and prizes as usual were presented.

The victors of the Seaside-Granite State game were treated to a buckboard ride by the young ladies of the Bickford House, in the evening after the game. "We—thank—you—ladies."

Hon. F. T. Greenhalge, member of congress from Massachusetts, is at his cottage for the season. Mr. Greenhalge took a fishing trip yesterday with Henry Seavey and brought home 175 pounds.

We are relieved to think that an occurrence which might have removed from our midst two of our most popular and best known young men, though so near was yet as far from a disaster. Friday morning Mr. Tag Gardiner and Mr. Dave Walker, after having disported themselves in the cooling waters of Lovers' Retreat, were gliding homeward in their light canoe. Suddenly, and with no apparent reason beyond some horizontal bar exercises by Mr. Walker, they were precipitated into the depths below, and but for the opportune presence of Messrs. Taylor, Ware and Carnahan, we refrain from suggesting the harrowing possibilities. Tag and Dave, may you always have friends to assist you out of the mulligatawney as effectually.

The Granite State B. B. C. and the Gooch's Beach team had a lively game Thursday afternoon. The latter team won in six innings by the score of 19 to 19. The features of the game were the batting and base running of Am-back and Read of the winning team, and the catching of Beach for the Granite States. Pratt, the S. S., also played a strong game.

Last Wednesday evening the guests of the Cliff made Mrs. Eldridge, the popular landlady, a present of a beautiful lamp. This is a pleasant custom that is followed yearly by her guests. It was a pleasant and deserving recognition of her efforts to interest and please her guests, and one that will doubtless be appreciated by her as much for the compliment implied as for its intrinsic value.

A TEMPEST WITH A TEA KETTLE.

The house of Mr. Marcellus Cluff was the scene of a disgraceful disturbance on Wednesday. The facts, as nearly as ascertained by The Wave scribe are that both Mr. Cluff and his wife, with Sam. McCutchins, a boarder, inhaled too much liquid dynamite and became considerably demonstrative. At last, while laboring under a sort of temperamental irresponsibility, Mrs. Cluff assaulted her spouse with a teakettle. As a consequence, Marcellus remains indoors nursing a deep gash in his head. Still looking for gore, the irate Mrs. Cluff attacked McCutchins and gave him a sound thrashing. These little episodes at the Cluff mansion are of frequent occurrence it is said, and each recurring one furnishes considerable material for conversation among the "boys."

Winds.

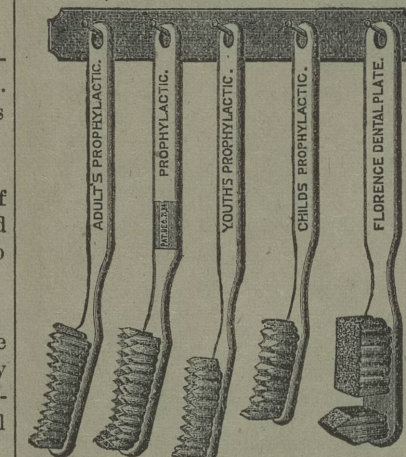

The night has girdled on her garb of glooms, The bleak north wind shrieks shrill along the air, While startled clouds are tossed afar like plumes And stricken forests shiver in despair.

Out on the heaving ocean, vast and dark, The mad storm drives with swift, succeeding shocks And angry hiss, a frail and restless bark To other doom upon the expectant rocks.

Heavy with spice, and languorous with calm, The soft south wind, fresh from gold tropic seas, Careasses with delicious wafts of balm The summer glory of the Antilles.

It seeks, amid the emerald of its bowers, The hammock where a Creole, pale and fair, Lies like a flower among the other flowers, And plays with the soft splendors of her hair!

FREE SAIL DOWN THE BAY! 1,000 Round Trip Island Tickets to be GIVEN AWAY.

BUSINESS is always a little hard through July and August and a little relaxation is in order. We need it and so do our customers, and accordingly we have arranged to give one thousand of our patrons, who purchase goods to the amount of Three (3) dollars or upwards, at one time, at our One Price Spot Cash Clothing, Hat and Gent's Furnishing Goods Store, a free, round trip excursion, to any of the many islands reached by the Casco Bay Steamship Co.

THESE tickets are good on any regular trips run on any boats of the line Sunday or week day until Oct. 1st. This outing is purely complimentary to our patrons as we sell goods LOWER than any competitor, and at less margin of profit.

THIS excursion of a dozen or twenty miles among the hundreds of beautiful islands to our lovely harbor cannot fail to be appreciated by the hundreds who will enjoy it, many of them for the first time.

THESE excursions will be especially attractive to our out of town customers who can transact business in the forenoon and enjoy a health-giving trip down the bay in the afternoon, or if not convenient to go that day the tickets are good for any other day during the season. We shall all live as long, and we shall be able to work enough harder in the cool autumn months to make up the gain necessary to secure the $100,000.00.

BUY of us, save your money and take a delightful full moon excursion. Those going on these excursions will not be entitled to any of the other extras advertised by us.

WE have just finished an examination of our stock, and have marked all broken lines and old sizes at a nominal figure to close them out at once, in order to make room for Fall Styles. In our children's department are many extra bargains in suits, pants, etc. If you need a black Alpaca or this summer coat, we can give you a very low price. In Gent's Underwear and Furnishings we down them all. In fact we have some big bargains in this department of our store.
