FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

[For this department brief suggestions, facts and experiences are solicited from housekeepers, farmers and gardeners. Address Agricultural editor, Journal Office, Belfast Maine.]

The Granges.

Waldo County Council P. of H. met with Star of Progress Grange, Jackson, at their hall Tuesday, June 6th. The day was fine and a large number of Patrons were present, and nearly all granges were represented. The opening exercises were followed by music by the choir and reports of Granges. The order seems to be in a flourishing condition, wide awake and active. Amendments to the constitution were adopted changing time of election from January to September, and making all fourth degree members of Granges, also members of the Council. Sister J. W. Lang then read an essay on the Duties of Farmers Wives when Entertaining Guests. The noon recess was enjoyed by discussing a basket picnic and social intercourse.

Afternoon session opened by music from the choir. The committee on programme reported and Council voted to meet with South Branch Grange Prospect, Tuesday June 27th. Sister Poland then gave a very affecting song. The discussion of the grass crop was opened by brother J. W. Wallace in a very able manner, which called forth an interesting and exciting discussion. The choir again favored us with music. Then followed the sisters topic, The Canning and Preserving of Fruits, opened by sister Fred W. Ritchie and sister Durham, followed by some other sisters. Song by sister C. E. Boody, an entertaining story by D. K. Drake, a recitation by sister Bertha Wallace, "Only a Farmer," remarks for the good of the order and closing exercises. Programme for next meeting: 1st, music by the choir, 2d, opening exercises, 3d, song by ——, 4th, Reports of Granges, 5th, essay by sister Elma Gardner, 6th, music by choir, 7th, report basket picnic, 10th, music by choir, 11th, discussion—What shall we do to make Farming more Attractive and Profitable to be opened by brother J. W. Lang, 12th, song by sister Dyer, 13th, question, Entertaining Company, opened by sisters Bellows and Bowen, 14th, story by J. H. Cook, 15th, good order. Granges throughout the county are requested to send large delegations to this session and let us give South Branch a rousing session.

A Practical Kitchen.

"What else can a kitchen be?" asked a young housekeeper the other day as she glanced to see the above heading. "That is the one point that dadoes and portieres never invade. Mine is decorated, it is true, but it is with the grease spots left by successive Biddies. However it is always so dark and nobody knows they are there, and I never enter the hole if I can help it."

"The hole." That is the difference between past and present. In spite of modern conveniences, set-tubs, ranges and gas, the kitchen of to-day is too often, at any rate in city houses, gloomy, ill-ventilated and depressing; a mere temporary stopping place for servants of all nationalities, each one a trifle more incompetent than the last. The modern conveniences soon have the look of very ancient inconveniences. The range, every cover of which is cracked and distorted by a course of red hot fires, ceases to bake or roast unless urged constantly to the same point. The sink is the haunt of roaches, for which and for mice tidbits are always in wait under or among the pipes which burst or overflow in mysterious ways; and gradually through neglect and abuse even the possibilities of the room turn to impossibilities, and the only method of reconstruction lies, as in other varieties of crises, in destruction first and then a new start.

The practical kitchen, like the practical dinner, is the one best adapted to the needs of the user. A retinue of servants require much more elaborate quarters and working space than that demanded by but one or two. Unlimited incomes, it goes without saying, means also unlimited facilities for each phase of household labor, and for such incomes are the soapstone finishings for all sinks and tubs, the tiled floors, the shining copper, and all the numberless conveniences of cellars and pantries. But for all kitchens of less pretension, whether large or small, are certain indienable rights, and the mistress of every household should know what they are, and, if her voice is heard in the planning of the house, insist upon them. Sunlight, free ventilation, economy of space and arrangement, this latter including also ample closet room, and the best attainable fittings for such room, from floor to ceiling.

There is no disinfectant like abundant sunlight. If the house faces in such direction that this means of grace is known only in front, there is partial remedy in increasing the size of the windows, supposing the kitchen under discussion to be the usual basement one of cities and towns. When a back porch or piazza shuts off light, it would be better if possible to build the kitchen out on the same line, letting the intermediate space be used for storage. Anything rather than constant working in shadow, and thus the inability to detect and banish dirt, which from the day it was used in our manufacture has been the synonym of unending war, and will be as long as "earth goeth on the earth."

Free ventilation means the possibility of carrying off much of the mixed and pervasive odor resulting from cooking, but any description of such methods requires more room than the present article allows.

Economy of arrangement is even more essential. To the architect, who, never having gone through the numberless processes of getting a meal, has no conception of the number of steps to take, it seems a small matter whether a closet, for instance, is near a range or on the other side of the room. He does plan, or is forced to plan, from the position of hot-water pipes, a sink next to the range and underneath the elects, having boxed it in, shall be the place for pots and kettles.

Now nothing could be less desirable. About all waterpipes will, no matter how well kept, be at least occasional visitations of Croton bugs or roaches, and as they love devious ways their paths will be through pots and saucepans far more probably than anywhere else, above all if any stray bits of the last thing cooked adheres to them. If the housekeeper's susceptibilities revolt at uncovered pipes keep nothing below beyond the box of sand and the scrubbing brushes, nor, I pray you, let Bridget "chuck" floor cloths into remote corners or even hang them on the pipes, slimy masses of possible fevers. Let them be dried by the sun or fire, and then, if need be, find shelter there.

The floor, f uncovered, means a weekly scrubbing. A good oilcloth requires only washing over and thus saves time and strength. An oiled floor of hard wood is good and a painted one also, both requiring less labor than the ordinary one of pine boards. If the expense is not too great, painted walls thoroughly varnished secure cleanliness, as they can then simply be wiped down at intervals. The color should be light that dirt may be revealed, not hidden. The ceiling should be white or tinted to harmonize with the walls. A wainscoting is an advantage also, dirt adhering less to wood than to plaster.

Make the room light, airy and bright as possible, and it will be easier to insist upon its being kept in suitable order than if both mistress and maid are depressed and disgusted—the first conscientiously, the latter quite without her own knowledge of causes—by darkness or gloom. For all evils, mental, moral or physical, light is a panacea, and Bridget can be brought to terms more speedily in sunshine than shadow can ever dictate. [Helen Campbell, in Our Continent.

Making the Most of the Horse.

In France, when a horse has reached the age of 20 or 30, it is destined for a chemical factory; it is first relieved of its hair, which serves to stuff cushions and saddles; then it is slaughtered and skinned; the hoofs serve to make combs. Next the carcass is placed in a cylinder and cooked by steam at a pressure of three atmospheres; a cock is opened, which allows the steam to be run off; then the remains are cut up, the legbones are sold to make knife handles, etc., and the coarser, the ribs, the head, etc., are converted into animal black and glue. The first are calcined in cylinders, and the vapors when condensed form the chief source of carbonate of ammonia, which constitutes the base of nearly all ammoniacal salts. There is an animal oil yielded which makes a capital insecticide and a vermifuge. To make glue the bones are dissolved in muriatic acid, which takes away the phosphate of lime, the soft residue, retaining the shape of the bones is dissolved in boiling water, cast into squares and dried on nets. The phosphate of lime, acted upon by sulphuric acid and calcined with carbon, produces phosphorus for lucifer matches. The remaining flesh is distilled to obtain the carbonate of ammonia; the resulting mass is pounded up with potash, then mixed with old nails and iron of every description; the whole is calcined and yields magnificent yellow crystals; prussiate of potash, with which tissues are dyed a Prussian blue, and iron transferred into steel; it also forms the basis of cyanide of potassium and prussic acid, and the two most terrible poisons known in chemistry.

Bright's Disease, Diabetes.

Beware of the stuff that pretends to cure these diseases or other serious kidney, Urinary or Liver diseases as they only relieve for a time, and make you ten times worse after wards, but only sold by on Hop Bitters, the only remedy that will surely and permanently cure you. It destroys and removes the cause of disease so effectually that it never returns.

"What did you give for the horse?" inquired a friend. "My note." Cheap enough."

Dyspepsia, the long bear of epicureans, will be relieved by Brown's Iron Bitters.

If anyone in this world has a thirst for time he is the man at the mast head of a ship.

Wheat Bitters reach every part of the human body, through the blood. Do not fail to give them a trial.

An Old Friend.

He was afflicted with a lame back and general debility; he was recommended THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL which cured him at once. This famous specific is a positive remedy for bodily pain. For sale by R. H. Moody, Belfast.

Eve did not experience any of the torture endured by the modern lady of fashion, and yet, like the latter, she had nothing to wear.

For positive curative effects, one bottle of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is worth three of any other name. It is a concentrated compound of the most powerful vegetable extracts and vitalizing principles ever brought together in any medicine. There is nothing to compare with it for purifying the blood and as a Spring medicine.

Sold by all druggists. Ask for AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, and do not be persuaded to take any other. Price, $1; six bottles for $5.

Saratoga trunks are way off now. No young lady can possibly visit a summer resort and be fashionable, without a Jumbo trunk. That is the latest size.

A Valuable Addition.

Because it is beneficial to the scalp and adds to personal beauty by restoring color and lustre to gray or faded hair, is why Parker's Hair Balsam is such a popular dressing.

When at home the Chinaman is a Mongolian. When in the United States he is a Mustgolian.

"ROUGH ON RATS."

Clears out rats, mice, roaches, flies, ants, bed bugs, skunks, chipmunks, gophers, 15c. Druggists

A woman's heart is a small affair, but it can upset the biggest man that ever adorned this world.

SKINNY MEN.

"Wells' Health Renewer" restores health and vigor, cures Dyspepsia, Impotence, Sexual Debility. $1.

Words of Wisdom from Goethe.

RULE OF LIFE.

Wouldst thou be a happy liver,
Let the past be past forever!
Fret not when prigs and pedants bore you;
Enjoy the good that's set before you;
But chiefly hate no man; the rest
Leave thou to God, who knows what's best.

LIFE THE SCHOOL OF MANHOOD.

A noble man may to a narrow sphere
Not owe his training. In his country be
And in the world must learn to be at home,
And bear both praise and blame, and by long proof
Of contest and collision nicely knew,
Himself and others—not in solitude,
Cradling his soul in dreams of fair conceit.
A foe will not, a true friend dare not, spare him;
And thus in strife of well-tried powers he grows,
Feels what he is, and feels himself a man.

KNOWLEDGE OF MEN.

No man fears men, but he who knows them not;
And he who shuns them may not hope to know them.

PATIENCE.

Nay, don't lose heart; small men and mighty nation,
Have learned a great deal when they practice patience.

Mary Jane Tells About the Spicers' Cows.

They had lots of cows, the Spicers had, —and they passed most of their time in our garden. The reason they didn't stay in the pasture was because the fences were all broken down; for the Spicers were the most shiftless folks in Tuckertown. Why I cared about the cows was because I had to drive 'em out.

Well, one day, Grandpa said:

"If those cows get into my corn again, I'll drive 'em up to the pound."

"What's the pound?" asked Dot.

"It's a pen," said Grandpa, "where you can drive any cattle you find on your land; and the owner can't get them out without paying a fine."

"Oh, I think that's elegant!" said I. "I know lots of people's cows I should like to get into the pound."

When Grandpa went out, I said I would go and tell Sarah Spicer just what he had said.

"Now, Mary Jane, you just stay where you are. You want your fingers in everybody's pies." It was Aunt Jane—you might know—who said that. I might have answered that she was so sparing with hers (especially nimce) that I never could touch them. But I didn't. I often think of real smart things, and it's mean that I can't say them.

But I declare, there is never any use at all in my arguing with Aunt Jane; for, when I get the best of her, she always stiffens up and says: "There, that will do, Mary Jane! Not another word!"

Besides, it isn't right to answer back. So I just said nothing, but took Dot and marched straight off to the Spicers'.

We found Sarah and Sam playing in front of their house.

"How d' ye do, Mary Jane?" said she.

"How d' ye do, Miss Spicer?" said I.

"Mercy me, Mary Jane! what ails!" said she. "It's no use to put 'em on here in Tuckertown, I can tell you, for folks know all about you."

"There, that will do," said I, as like Aunt Jane as ever I could. "I only came over here to tell you that we are going to have your cows put in the pound, the very next time we find 'em in our garden."

"Poh!" cried out that Hop-o'-my-thumb of a Sam. "Your grandfather has said so, lots of times, but he never does."

"Doesn't dare to!" snapped Sarah.

I was just boiling mad. The idea of my being treated so by those low Spicers!

"Dare to?" said I. "I wonder who you think would be afraid of such a poor, shiftless set?"

And then I took Dot's hand, and just ran for home, so as not to give Sarah a chance to have the last word.

Oh, but don't I 'spise her!

Well, that afternoon, Dot and I were in the barn playing with all our might, when Aunt Jane screamed out:

"Mary Jane! Mary Jane! The cows are in the garden. Run and drive them out."

"It's too bad!" cried Dot. Those Spicers' cows spoil all our fun."

"I'll tell you what," said I, after I had shook'd them into the road. "I'm going to drive 'em right up to the pound. I'll show that Sarah Spicer——!"

"Why, Mary Jane Hunt!" cried silly Dot. "What'll Grandpa say? I wont go."

"Say? Why, that he is much obliged to me." Dot trotted after me, as meek as a lamb.

It wasn't far to the pound; but there was one cow and her calf that wouldn't hurry, and besides, we walked very slowly along the sunny parts of the road and rested every time we came to a shady place; so it was late in the afternoon when we left the pound, and turned to come home.

We came quite a distance by the road, and then through Mr. Hall's corn-field and the woods beyond, and right out in the Spicers' pasture. Dot and I noticed that there was only one cow left now in the pasture.

"I hope Sarah and Sam will have a good time hunting after the others; and good enough for 'em," said I. "Perhaps her father is just scolding her now for letting 'em stray away."

"Well, he isn't, for there he is now." Dot pointed, and I saw Sarah in the swing on the butternut tree in front of their house, and her father was swinging her up ever so high.

When she saw us she jumped out and ran to the fence.

"Hope you'll find your cows to-night, Sarah," said I.

"You had better go for 'em," chimed in Dot.

"Hope you'll find yours," retorted Sarah. "If you don't keep 'em out of our garden, we are going to drive 'em to the pound."

"Te, he," giggled Sam.

Although we hurried so, it was late when we got home. We were afraid that supper would be all over, and Aunt Jane would scold us for being late. But though the table was set, and Grandpa was home from work, no one had set down to it.

"Been waiting for the milk," said Aunt Jane. "But, la, it's no use waiting any longer. I'll use morning's milk."

"Yes," said Grandpa, who was washing his hands at the sink. "Do let's have supper. Children, have you seen the cows?"

"Why, no," I answered, "not ours; but Dot and I drove the Spicers' cows up to the pound."

"Those that were in our garden?" demanded Aunt Jane, looking straight at me.

I nodded.

"Well, of all the little mischief-makers! Those were our cows."

"My gracious, goodness me!" said I; "and Grandpa's got to pay a fine to get his own cows out of the pound! Oh dear! I do hope Sarah Spicer won't find out about it."

And so Dot and I had to go to bed an hour earlier than usual; but Sarah Spicer doesn't know anything about it. [A. G. Plympton's, in St. Nicholas for June.

"As the gale moderated"—says a writer in the June Century, describing in a delightful vein the voyage in a sailing ship "Around Cape Horn"— "we spread all sail, and flew at the rate of fifteen miles an hour for a steady twenty-four hours, reeling off three hundred and sixty miles from dawn to dawn. 'The girls at home have got hold of the tow-rope this time, and no mistake,' observed the bos'n, hitching up his main backstays, as he called his suspenders."

Crop reports from all parts of Iowa, Northeast Missouri, Eastern Illinois, Eastern Nebraska and Kansas, show the prospect much brighter than expected, notwithstanding the wet weather.

Miss E. H. Ober, Manager.

THE IDEAL OPERA COMPANY. HOW A CLEVER MAINE WOMAN'S BUSINESS VENTURE HAS SUCCEEDED.

One of the most popular musical organizations that has visited Philadelphia during the past two years is the Boston Ideal Opera Company. Its engagements here are always successful, artistically as well as financially. Yet how few knew that to a woman's thought is due the existence of this company, and that a woman's mind still directs and controls the organization. The play bills announce "Miss E. H. Ober, Manager," it is true, but that is not the part of a play bill that theatre-goers are apt to read.

The "Pinafore" craze was on the decline in Boston when Miss Ober decided to get together a company of first-class artists, supported by a chorus of unexampled excellence, and give "Pinafore" as it had never before been given. This she did, engaging Whitney, Karl, Barnaby, Frothingham, Adelaide Phillips, Mary Beebe, and Georgie Cayvan, among others, and the first performance took place in the Boston Theatre, on April 14, 1879. The arrangements were made for a four weeks season, but the success was so great that it was lengthened to seven weeks, and then "Fatinitza" was given for two weeks. The receipts of the season were considerably over $50,000, and the fame of the Ideals had so spread over the country that Miss Ober decided to make the organization a permanent one. In the next October the company took the road, and from that day its career has been one of unqualified success. Each season new operas were added to its list, until now the repertory includes "Pinafore," "Fatinitza," "The Sorcerer," "The Mascot," "The Chimes of Normandy," "Olivette," "The Bohemian Girl," "The Czar and the Carpenter," "The Musketeers," "The Pirates of Penzance," and "Patience."

Next season Miss Orber will bring out two new operas, one of which, "The Magic Bell," will have a score writen by Mr. F. T. S. Darley, of Philadelphia. It is also Miss Orber's desire to get her company a reputation in heavy opera, believing, as she does, that the day for light opera will be ached its coming. To this end, the "Marriage of Figaro" has been undergoing with Whitney, MacDonald, Frothingham, Geraldine Ulmer, Marie Stone, (Mrs. MacDonald), Lizzie Burton and Mathilde Phillipps in the cast.

At the present time the running expenses of the company are about $3500 a week. Forty-seven people are taken on the road, including a chorus of twenty-two and an orchestra of eleven pieces under the direction of S. L. Studley.

The lady who is at the head of the organization was born in Sedgwick, Me., and is now in the prime of life. She is of medium size, brown haired, quiet in appearance, modest in conversation and in all respects thoroughly womanly; yet there is an evidence of keen business sense and practical judgment about her that warns those with whom she comes in contact against presuming upon any supposed lack of experience. Her training has been eminently practical. Nearly ten years ago she became Corresponding Secretary of the Williams Lecture Bureau, in Boston, and for three and a half years she filled this position quietly and unostentatiously, but not in a thoughtless way. She mastered every detail of the business, and gained an acquaintance with leading artists as well as with the best method of managing them. About seven years ago Messrs. Roberts & Peck established a lecture bureau and put Miss Orber in charge. For a year she managed the business for them, and then bought the ir interests in the concern. Ever since she has conducted the business on her own account and with marked success. Her intimacy with matters pertaining to the amusement world led her to make the venture with the Ideals, and her experience has enabled her to avoid all the quicksands of amateur and ill-considered management. Having secured thorough artists, her next desire is to make the Ideal Company like one great family. She accomplishes this more nearly, perhaps, than any previous manager has succeeded in doing. The chorus is selected with care and treated with the utmost consideration. Ordinarily, all the members of the troupe have the same accommodations. Miss Orber is a member of Park Street Church, in Boston, and many of her company are church members in good standing. When in Chicago in April last the management there demanded a performance on each of the two Sunday evenings covered by the engagement. Miss Ober refused, and directed that the contract be cancelled if Sunday performances were insisted upon. The Chicago management yielded. The receipts of the two weeks season there were nearly $19,000.

To intelligent, conscientious management, a keen perception of the popular fancy, tireless energy and personal attention to details is Miss Orber's phenomenal success principally due. Her career affords a pleasing illustration of what a woman of good sense, tact and enterprise can accomplish in a business way. [Philadelphia Record.

A Novel Sea Route.

An interesting problem for navigators is raised by the now fully reported exploit of the sailing ship MacMillan in making the passage from Antwerp to San Diego, Cal., via the Cape of Good Hope in one hundred and twenty-eight days. The regular route between Europe and our Pacific coast is via Cape Horn, and is at least five thousand miles shorter than by the Cape of Good Hope. The MacMillan, however, though deeply laden, beat on this passage, by three days, the German ship Jupiter, which about the same time left England for San Diego, taking the shorter route via Cape Horn. The MacMillan's log, published in the May number of the London Nautical Magazine, shows that she made the run last summer from the meridian of Greenwich in 38 degrees south to New Zealand, over eight thousand miles, in forty days—an average of 204.4 miles per day. In 1876 the ship Wasdale, leaving Liverpool in July, made the voyage via the Cape of Good Hope to San Francisco one hundred and thirty-six days, and thus demonstrated at least the possibility that during the summer of the Northern Hemisphere navigators may find the route she took preferable to that around Cape Horn in the winter of the austral regions.

In deciding between the two routes from the United States and Europe to California seamen will do well to consider whether the MacMillan's time via Cape of Good Hope cannot be improved upon by taking a different route across the Pacific from that she took. The MacMillan after leaving New Zealand stood toward the Cook Islands, thence across the Equator and a little east of the Hawaii Islands. Had she kept longer in the southern belt of powerful anti-trades crossing the Equator in longitude 120 degrees west (or about 30 degrees east of the medirian on which she did cross), which is now the approved route, she would no doubt have greatly shortened the passage. This new route from North Atlantic ports to California is yet to be more fully tr ed before it can be recommended. But, though long in distance, it is not improbable that it will be found as short in point of time as Cape Horn, while it has the great advantage of avoiding the terrible winter gales and ice dangers of the Horn. The splendid run of the sailing ship Rakaia last July from the Cape of Good Hope to Auckland in twenty-nine days (averaging over three hundred miles per day, or more than most Atlantic steamers) shows the speed possible on the new route. ### Ladd and Murch.

The Boston Journal says of an Alabama contested election case—

There is one matter in connection with this case which is entitled to passing notice. Mr. Lowe, the contestant in this case, is a Greenbacker. He has acted with that party for several years. In the House from Maine are two gentlemen who claim to be Greenbackers, Messrs. Ladd and Murch. The former was in Washington when the case was taken up, but instead of voting with the Republicans and Greenbackers to make the quorum necessary to consider it, Mr. Ladd acted with the Democrats. Could he have had his way, this Greenback contestant, fairly elected by 600 majority, would not have been given his seat during the session. Mr. Murch, the other Maine Greenbacker, was in Maine, without leave of absence, it is said, attending the Greenback State Convention and "looking after his fences." How longwill Maine Greenbackers who are hostile to the Bourbon Democracy vote for these men upon the assumption that they are of their faith? Mr. Ladd is as good a Democrat as there is in the House, and Mr. Murch can always be relied upon to break a quorum to promote Democratic interests.

The population of the United States is estimated to be at the present time about 53,200,000. The increase has never been less than three per cent., except during the Rebellion, when it was 2¼ per cent. per annum, compounded. At times it has run above three per cent. Since 1866 the growth has been rapid, probably restoring the three per cent. ratio. There are but three countries—Russia, British India and China—with populations greater than ours. But the United States may safely assert its right to the first place among nations in respect of numbers, wealth and influence. Should the present rate of increase continue, by the time the United States is two centuries old it will number 381,500,000 people, or 60,000,000 more than the present entire population of Europe.

Woman's Work.

WHAT THE WOMEN ARE DOING IN THE FIELDS OF INDUSTRY, LITERATURE, SCIENCE, AND ART.

Specially prepared for the Rep. Journal.

A medical college for women has just been incorporated at Baltimore.

The fourteenth annual meeting of the New England Woman Suffrage Association was one of the best that has ever been held.

Mrs. Samuel E. Sewall and Mrs. S. M. Parsons are revising the papers of Lydia Maria Child, and preparing them for the press. Mrs. Parsons is a niece of Mrs. Child.

Alida C. Avery, M. D., of Denver, for six years Professor of Hygiene at Vassar College, has accepted the appointment of Superintendent of Hygiene for Colorado.

The Housatonic Bay, published at New Milford, Connecticut, has two ladies on the editorial staff, one of whom has several times taken charge of the paper and acted as managing editor three or four months at a time.

The London World mentions with approval that the woman suffragists there, who had usually "been considered severe thinkers," were to have a grand dance and sociable, and a jolly time. It must be that the cause is gaining.

Mrs. Maxwell has received her commission as state librarian of Massachusetts for another term of two years. This is the right recognition of a most worthy and deserving woman, and one who has besides made an enviable record for courtesy and efficiency in the management of this important duty. The office could not be better bestowed.

A meeting of the Woman's Centenary Association was held in Boston, June 1, Mrs Mary L. Draper presiding. The Rev. Dr. A. J. Patterson spoke of the great regard which he had for the practical work of the woman in the church, and recalled what had been lost to the union during all these ages, when woman's voice was not heard in the Church.

It is a proof of a change for the better in the tone of the community of Toronto towards women, and in women's own appreciation of their public responsibilities, when the year 1882 was ushered in by the hitherto, almost unknown circumstance of women using their vote for school trustees. May the next move be their nomination to the superior offices then?

Mrs. Shaw, of Boston, supports thirty-three kindergartens, at an expense of $25,000 yearly. The industrial training of these schools gives poor outcast children an after means of livelihood and a taste for work, besides keeping them from crime. In New York it is said the commitments for crime have diminished twenty-five per cent. in five years, a fact which is attributed to the children's said society.

Edith Mabie has held a young people's prayer meeting every Sunday afternoon in the First Baptist Church, of Rockford, Ill. These gatherings became larger than those which the pastor, Mr. Anderson, drew to hear his sermons, and he announced that no meetings other than those he personally authorized should have the use of the house. Miss Edith is very popular, and has hired the town hall, with the sanction and support of two of the deacons.

Mrs. Ada H. Kebley, of Effingham, Ill., has in the Popular Science Monthly for May, a communication on "The Influence of Earth Worms on Plants." Mrs. Kebley is a member of the bar, in partnership with her husband, has served on the school board of her city, is most identified with the sufferings of temperance work in her state, and is an effective speaker and organizer. She writes poetry sometimes, and is not wanting in the domestic virtues.

A convention of women ministers was held at Hollis Street Church, in Boston, June 1st. Mrs. Julia Ward Howe presiding. Addresses in earnest advocacy of women's work in the ministry were made by the Rev. Mrs. S. M. Perkins, of Keene, Mrs. C. M. Bisbee, of Dorchester, Mrs. A. C. Bowles, of Abington, Mrs. E. M. Bruce, of Maplewood, Mrs. A. H. Shaw, of East Dennis, Lorenza Haynes, of Fairfield, Mrs. L. Baker and Mrs. James, of Franklin. It was resolved to form a permanent organization.

The Women's medical college of Pennsylvania, which has been bravely struggling against opposition for thirty-two years, has graduated 276 students, not a few of whom have been called to responsible places. Graduates from other medical schools for women in the West and East have been able to hold their own among other practitioners, and while blind prejudice has kept them often in the background, behind persons whose only claim to superiority was based on the fact that they were of the "master sex," yet some of them are doing valuable service in public places—in the insane asylums, for instance, at Norristown and Harrisburg, Pa., and Athens, O., in the hospitals at New York, Boston, and Philadelphia, and others have been city physicians in smaller places. Springfield included. In all parts of the country prejudice against them is dying out, and the time is surely coming when even the medical department of Harvard university will admit women to its courses. [Springfield Republican.

Mr. Blaine Tells a Story.

Business called me to his house the other day, and in the course of conversation he spoke of the annoyances to which the speaker of any legislative body is subject, and how necessary it is that one should be not only a thorough parliamentarian, but very clear-headed and even-tempered.

"I once knew," said he, "down in Augusta, Maine, a man by the name of Pike. He was Speaker of the lower House. He was a very able man but dreadfully crotchety at times. A legislative body, you know, is like a school. The Speaker must keep the ins drawn tight or he will lose all control, and the members will commence throwing spit-balls at each other, metaphorically speaking. Well one day the House got into a dreadful snarl. The imp of perversity seemed to have taken possession of them all. The whole day had been spent in dilatory motions on one side, plentifully interspersed with cheering and abuse from the other. Pike, who was nearly frantic with rage, still preserved a calm exterior. At last his patience gave way and pounding with a gavel until a partial quiet had been restored, he exclaimed: 'It has been moved and seconded that the House adjourn; all in favor of that motion,' etc. No one had made such a proposition and there was but two feeble ayes. 'Those opposed,' shouted the Speaker. And a perfect chorus of noes went up that fairly shook the chamber. But Pike was not disconcerted. 'The ayes have it and the House is adjourned.' You know," continued Mr. Blaine, in his instructive manner, "that when a body finishes its deliberations it adjourns until some particular time. Aware of this fact a tall member from Aroostook arose in his seat and pointing his long, bony finger in Pike's direction exclaimed: 'We shall see, Mr. Speaker, to meet again, when?' The answer came with crushing promptness: 'I don't give a ——— if you never meet again.'" [Washington correspondent Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

Queen of the Drove.

When he had finished with the climate, soil and productions of Idaho, one of the group asked:

"How about education facilities?"

"That's the only thing we lack," replied the old man, with a mournful sigh. "We've got schools enough, but we can't keep no teachers."

"What's the trouble?"

"Well, take my school, for instance—only two miles from the nearest house, eminently situated on top of a hill and paying the highest salary. We can't keep a teacher over two weeks."

"Do they die?"

"Some do, though it's no place for dying. We had a young fellow from Ohio, and he met a grizzly and whistled for him. The grizzly came. We had another, and a widder run him down and married him inside of a month. The third one was lame, and the Injuns overtook him. Then we tried women folks. The first one got married the night she lit down there; I took the second about the middle of the third week, and the next one was abducted by a stage-robber."

"Why don't you get the ugliest, homeliest women you can find—some perfect old terror, like that lantern-jawed, razor-faced female over by the ticket-window?"

"Why don't we? Stranger, you Eastern folks will never understand us pioneers in the world—never. That's my wife, the identical school-teacher I married, and she was the handsomest one in the drove." [Detroit Free Press.

Garfield and Blaine.

Editor Halstead says in the Cincinnati Commercial—

"The Boston Herald should be above printing such a mess of trash as its last Sunday Washington letter concerning the relations of Garfield and Blaine. The very day preceding the fatal, shot of the assassin, President Garfield spoke to the editor of this paper about the injustice that was sought to be done to Blaine in the matter of interfering with the appointments of the administration. He said that no member of the cabinet meddled with other departments less than Blaine; and, in regard to Robertson's appointment to the collectorship of New York the President declared that he had made up his mind to appoint Robertson before he left Mentor, and before Blaine had an opportunity to suggest it or hint it. The enemies of Blaine try very hard to separate him from the friendship and confidence of Garfield. It is an idle task. They try, moreover, to make it appear that Blaine sought the position of secretary of state. This is also an idle task. A cloud of witnesses can testify how earnest Garfield was from the hour of his election to secure Blaine for the head of his cabinet."

In the House May 31st, the discussion of the Mackey-Dibble contested election case was finished and the resolution seating Mackey adopted, 150 to 3. Mackey then took his seat. A resolution censuring the Speaker for his ruling last Monday was offered by Mr. McLane, and laid on the table by a vote of 144 to 85, after scenes of great confusion. It was voted, 149 to 2, to consider the Florida contested election case of Bisbee vs. Finley. Thursday, after arguments on both sides, the resolution declaring Bisbee entitled to the seat was adopted, 141 to 9, and he was sworn in.

Maine Miscellany.

LIFE IN THE WOODS.

Morrell, senior, of the Gardiner Home Journal has been camping out for his health, and from a very readable account of his experience we copy the following: We believe the natural condition of man is that of savagery, for every one seems naturally to take to the woods. Neither fishing or hunting has any fascinations for us, but we never tire of the woods—or should not, if the flies and mosquitoes would let us alone, for we must confess they spoil our pleasure. We camped here eight nights. After the first night we entered a neighboring hut and stole a cot bedstead and borrowed a buffalo and had good sleeping accommodations. We had not a single fair day while we were gone, but had not a lonely or weary hour. We always found enough to do to keep us busy, and never saw time fly so fast. The Old Campaigner had served a year in Libby Prison and several years as Chairman of the Republican City Committee, and after completely exhausting ourselves trying to tell as big stories as he, we gave in and listened patiently to his yarns. We had thought at first of writing a book out of them, but we gave it up, as we found we would not have paper enough. We do not know whether his army stories were true or not, but as we can fully endorse his account of the cussedness of his fellow political associates and opponents we have no reason to doubt the general truthfulness of the rest. They amused him and Willie, and generally put me to sleep, so I enjoyed them. There was not an old or new waterwheel anywhere but he had set it or knew its history, and, as he had travelled in almost every State in the Union, he was well posted, and was the best housekeeper and most cheerful companion we had ever met. No men ever agreed better together. He wanted to do all the work and we let him, and peace and harmony reigned in the household of the Wigwam.

Maine Matters.

NEWS AND GOSSIP FROM ALL OVER THE STATE.

RECENT DEATHS.

Hon. Jas. H. North, one of the most prominent and wealthy residents of Augusta, Me., whose life has been closely identified with the history of that city, died at an early hour on Wednesday the 7th inst., aged 72 years 3 months and 28 days. He was born in Clinton in 1810 and educated in Gardiner, where he also studied law and was admitted to the bar. He practiced in Clinton (now Benton) until 1845, when he removed to Augusta, where he has since resided. Augusta has honored him with many offices. He ably represented the city in the Legislature on several occasions, was the first President of the Common Council in 1850, was elected Mayor in 1857, '58, '59, '60 and '61, and again in 1874. He has been connected in various capacities with the banking interests of the city, and was President of the First National Bank for over three years, resigning last summer on account of failing health. He was a man of the strictest integrity. His faith in the future of Augusta never wavered, and he went promptly at work after the fire of 1865 to erect a new and more beautiful business street on the ruins of the old. Some of the finest blocks in the city are his monuments. He was a firm friend of the cause of popular education, and supported the city schools with vote, voice and money. He was the author of a history of Augusta, which occupied many years of his life.

Hon. James Nash died at his residence in Gardiner, on the 9th inst. The deceased was a man widely known throughout the State through his connection with politics and temperance. He had received all the political honors possible for his fellow townsmen to bestow; had been Mayor for several years and a prominent member of the State Legislature. As a business man he was enterprising, and his loss will be greatly felt. The immediate cause of his death was pneumonia. The deceased was about 63 years of age, and leaves a widow and two sons.

HERBERT LEACH.

A New York correspondent of the Ellsworth American had an interview with Lieut. Danenhower, in which the latter spoke in the highest terms of Herbert Leach, whom he left at Irkutsk, with those that remain to continue the search after "Chipp." He said "Leach was one of our best men, and tell his father I congratulate him on having such a noble man for a son. I can't speak too highly of his heroic conduct during over twenty-one months of suffering and disaster." Before leaving Irkutsk, Lieut. Danenhower had Leach promoted to Boatswain on the new steamer, and said he, "I shall do all I can to further his promotion which he so fully deserves." During the conversation Lieut. Danenhower further stated that Leach had entirely recovered from effects of his exposure, and frozen feet and limbs, and from a photograph of him shown me, taken at Irkutsk, I should judge he was well and enjoying himself as well as could be expected in that far off land.

IN GENERAL.

Superintendent Tucker says there is not the slightest foundation for the statement that the Maine Central contemplates leasing the Eastern Railroad.

Dr. Albert F. Murch, one of the graduates of the last medical class at Bowdoin College, has been appointed assistant surgeon at the Maine General Hospital.

Elmer Littlefield, son of James Littlefield, Supt. of the Boston & Bangor Steamship Co., has been admitted as a partner in the firm of W. A. Greenough & Co., the well known directory publishers of Boston.

Some Thomaston parties have been made happy by receiving the news that the President has signed the Geneva Award Bill. Seven eighths of the ship Glenavon, which was taken and burned by a rebel cruiser, were owned in that town.

The Maine Homœopathic Medical Society in session at Augusta, chose the following officers: President, S. E. Sylvester, Portland; Vice-President, W. M. Harris, Ellsworth; A. P. Piper, Thomaston; Recording Secretary, W. F. Shepard, Bangor; Corresponding Secretary, C. H. Barr, Portland.

Bugler Ira Lewis made at the Adjutant General's office by the legal representatives of the following officers in the Mexican war: Capt. Moses E. Merrill 5th, U. S. Infantry, and Capt. Charles J. Montgomery, 4th U. S. Infantry. There is said to be a legacy awaiting their heirs, and the proper persons should communicate with the Adjutant General at once.

The funeral of Joel Barry, the champion fat man of Maine, occurred Monday week. He was many years a resident of Machias, and was said to have been the heaviest mass of humanity in the State. His weight, which in health fluctuated between 350 and 400 pounds, is thought to have materially increased during his peculiar sickness. The body was of such huge dimensions that it was found necessary to remove it through a window before enclosing it in the casket, which was of enormous size. The bottom was made of planks fastened together with iron plates. Ten men acted as pall bearers. The deceased was sixty years old.

The Executive Council have assessed the following tax on the express companies doing business in Maine: American Express Company, $1,325.00; Canadian, $187.50; Hoyt & Co., $15.00; Merchants, $71.42; Chas. O. Milliken, $30.00; Prince's, $56.91; Sandy River, $9.75; Saco, Biddeford and Boston, $22.50; U. S. Mail and District, $15.00; Swett & Co's, $37.35. Total, $1,564.58.

The old board of officers of the Bangor Theological Seminary has been re-elected, viz: Rev. Benjamin Tappan, D. D., President; George A. Thatcher, Esq., Vice President; Joseph S. Wheelwright, Secretary.

Gen. Sickles was the central figure of the Gettysburg gathering. "I haven't seen you for nigh 20 years," said an old veteran from Maine with one wooden leg, "but I love you as well as ever. Wasn't it hot in the peach orchard? I lost my leg, general, in your bout with Longstreet there."

Among the Cadet midshipmen who graduated at Annapolis last week is H. H. Eames, of Maine.

The Greenback Congressional District Committee for the counties of Lincoln, Knox, Waldo, Hancock and Washington have called a convention to nominate a Congressman at Rockland, Friday, June 23rd.

The shoe factory at Warren, owned by Edwin smith, was burned Saturday. The factory was run by Rice & Hutchins, of Boston, and employed 125 hands. The building and machinery were insured $8000; large amount of stock on hand, probably insured in part.

It is reported that the tanneries of Wm. Plaisted & Son, in Lincoln and Princeton, have been sold to the Shaw Bros.

Jeremiah Tolman, of Rockland, who has kept run of the weather for 36 years, says that but two seasons have been as backward as this and those were 1861 and 1877.

The spool mill at North Waterboro was struck by lightning Thursday and entirely destroyed. Loss from $4000 to $6000. The mill was owned by Hon. John Lynch, of Washington; the machinery by Elliot & Bartlett; insured.

The Mt. Desert Herald says: The wife of Joseph W. Worcester, of Columbia Falls, gave birth, on Monday last, to triplets. Two boys and a girl, all nice healthy children. The combined weight of the three was eighteen pounds, three ounces. Mrs. Worcester, who is a young woman of thirty-five and the mother of eight children, is doing nicely, and it is needless to say that the father is feeling nicely.

The wheat crop all over the world promises to be very large this year. India exported $35,000,000 worth of wheat in 1881. This staple must continue to recede in price if the present prospects of an abundant harvest are realized.

President Arthur's son tells the following story of his father's man servant Aleck: Some one asked him, "Well, Aleck, how do you like Washington?" to which Aleck responded dramatically: "Oh, I'd rather be a yaller gas lamp in New York than the brightest electric light in Washington."

The Ohio Republican convention re-nominated Hon. Charles Townsend for secretary of State, and made nominations for supreme court judge and member of the board of public works. The platform contains a resolution for a constitutional amendment giving the people control of the liquor traffic.

Lieu. Danenhower has received information by mail from Irkoutsk to the effect that letters from Engineer Melville, giving particulars of finding of the bodies of Lieut. DeLong and men have reached there by courier from the Lena Delta. In a memorandum found on DeLong's body and bearing date Oct. 18th, it is stated that four of the party are dead and Collins dying.

The Portland Convention.

The Republican State convention held at Portland on Tuesday last more than met public expectation. The Portland Advertiser says of it, that "it was the biggest convention ever held in Maine, and one of the most swift and orderly in the transaction of its business." With so good a parliamentarian as Senator Hale in chair there could be no mistakes. The material of which the convention was composed was of the very best, and a finer looking or more intelligent body of men it would be difficult to find. The assemblage was harmonious and enthusiastic. A true appreciation of the requirements of the occasion was shown in the speeches, nominations, and platform, and the campaign has opened with the assurance of a victory at the polls in September. Maine's next Governor, so far as human agencies can prevail, will be Frederick Robie, of Gorham, and the delegation that will represent Maine in Congress for two years from the 4th of March next will consist of Messrs. Thomas B. Reed, of Portland, Nelson Dingley, Jr., of Lewiston, Charles A. Boutelle, of Bangor, and Seth L. Milliken, of Belfast. Our State has always maintained a high position in Congress, and does so now, despite the dead weight of Ladd and Murch. Senators Frye and Hale, and Representatives Reed, Dingley and Lindsey are alike conspicuous for their industry and ability, and are a power at the national capitol. The new apportionment reducing Maine's representation from five to four, has caused the retirement of the latter gentleman; but the two new members, Messrs. Boutelle and Milliken, who will take the places of Ladd and Murch, will bring the delegation up to its former estate, and make it second to none in the national legislature. Of Mr. Reed's eminence it is not necessary to speak, while few if any, new members have done so much for their constituents, or won such distinction, as has Mr. Dingley in the short time he has served. Both Mr. Boutelle and Mr. Milliken are well known as ready and effective speakers and as men of capacity and special aptitude for public station. It is hard to see how this ticket could be improved upon. The candidates are not only popular at home, but throughout the State, and they will appeal directly to the State pride, for our people like to feel that they are well represented at the National Capitol, and are desirous of displacing the two men who have misrepresented them during the past four years.

In this section the nomination of Mr. Robie as the candidate for Governor is particularly gratifying. The choice lay between Thomas and Robie, and either would have been cheerfully supported. Mr. Thomas was certainly worthy of the honor he sought, and his defeat in no way reflects upon him. A majority of the delegates thought, however, Mr. Robie was the strongest candidate to present to the people, and in this decision the Republicans of the State will cheerfully acquiesce. The platform is as strongly to be commended as the candidates, and will also meet public approval. With such a ticket and declaration of principles, defeat is impossible.

Mr. Blaine's letter declining to be a candidate for Congress at the coming election seems to be giving the so-called independent newspapers a great deal of trouble. They keep turning it over and over, and trying to read between the lines things never dreamt of by its author. It is indeed a plain, straightforward document. Mr. Blaine said what he intended to say, and means what he did say. That is all there is to it.

"The appearance of poor Jack Cole and of his semi-sightless commander, Danenhower, is an eloquent argument against any more Arctic expeditions," says the Cincinnati Enquirer. Cole is insane and Danenhower has lost the sight of one eye permanently and may lose that of the other. The Enquirer is right, and if Congress takes any steps towards another expedition it will be in defiance of public sentiment.

And yet the slaughter does not appear to be very great. Indeed, the duels have generally been bloodless, although one man was wounded the other day.

Persons who are honestly elected to the United States Congress have, it seems, the least show of securing seats in that remarkable body. [Cincinnati Enquirer.

The Enquirer refers to Southern Democrats who obtained their elections by the tissue ballot frauds. Its ideas of honesty are peculiar, to say the least.

The hay crop of Maine in 1880 was worth $16,436,700—about three times as much as all the other field crops of that year. Dr. Reynolds, of Auburn, says that grass is more profitable in Maine than wheat growing in the West, and he is undoubtedly correct.

Hon. Alex. H. Stephens announced in 1859 his retirement from public life. He has been in office ever since, and is now anxious to run for the Governorship of Georgia and will be nominated. His "fare xell" is about as long drawn out as that of a prima donna.

The Agricultural Outlook.

The Kennebec Journal recently did a clever bit of journalistic work in interviewing Hon. Z. A. Gilbert, of Turner, Secretary of the Maine Board of Agriculture, upon the general agricultural outlook in this State. That Mr. Gilbert is well informed on this subject goes without the saying. He is not only a practical farmer himself, but a student of and writer upon agricultural matters, and his relations with the Agricultural Society, extending over more than a dozen years, have brought him in communication with the leading farmers of the whole State. Our Kennebec contemporary naturally found Mr. Gilbert a perfect bonanza of information; and we are glad to note that it was of the most encouraging kind. In reply to the question, "How are the farmers of Maine prospering?" Mr. Gilbert said: "Nicely. There hasn't been a more prosperous year for farmers for many years than the last. Prices of all kinds of farm produce have been high, and farmers are making money. We are full of courage for the future. A larger area will be devoted to crops this year than ever before. Farmers are purchasing improved machinery and spending more money on the hired man. Improvements are going on all around. New houses and barns are being built, and the paint brush is more liberally used on the old buildings." To show how Maine farmers are benefiting by the business boom Mr. Gilbert quoted the prices which have been paid for produce: Potatoes from 81 to $1.20 a bushel; apples from $2.50 to $3.00 a barrel; butter, 30 cents a pound; fat cattle, $11 a hundred on the foot, dressed weight, and other things proportionately. Farmers have more ready money than formerly, and the tendency among the most progressive agriculturists is to work up the raw product on the farm; to transmute the hay, corn, and coarser feed into beef, mutton, wool, pork, and dairy products. The failure of the potato crop in some counties last year Mr. Gilbert thinks was more than compensated by the enormous apple crop. He regards the potato crop as generally profitable, but says it does not do to rely upon one crop exclusively, and that to maintain and increase the fertility of the soil there must be rotation. He is of the opinion that the Colorado beetle has come to stay and must be warred upon, but "Paris green and patience will conquer in the end." With regard to apple raising, Mr. Gilbert is an enthusiast, and recommends farmers to put in all the trees they can take care of; the more the better. He says: "Apples are the best paying crop produced from the land. Many a mortgage has been lifted by the bountiful apple crop of the past two years." Mr. Gilbert reports more attention given to the raising of sheep and swine than formerly, with a marked improvement in breeds. He thinks sheep quite profitable, and says that under the best system of keeping them it pays to raise hogs. Hogs naturally suggest the corn crop, of which Mr. G. says: "More acres are being devoted to corn every year. It is now grown in large fields and cultivated by machinery. Up in Dover last year I saw one cornfield of 50 acres. To raise corn you must manure your field freely, and the soil feels the advantage of this fertilization for years." It is a fact not generally known that Maine raises more than half of the entire canned crop of the country.

Of the agricultural capabilities of the Aroostook region Mr. Gilbert speaks in warm praise. He thinks a man can do better there than in the west, and that more would go there if it was as well advertised as the lands along the western railroads. He thinks that farming is not retrograding in the older counties, but that, on the contrary, Maine farmers are improving their farms every year and making them yield larger returns; and he finds a tendency among them to own big farms and to conduct them on business methods. In conclusion we give Mr. Gilbert's reply to the question, "What is the outlook for Maine farmers?"

Most excellent. Prices must range high. There is a big boom in business, and everybody has money. Farmers share in this general prosperity as much as any class. The crops last year were not large, and the country is short of the great staple products. It has been short of dairy products right along. You can't raise a cow, or a steer in less than three years, and all this time the demand for butter, cheese and beef is increasing. A million immigrants are pouring in from Europe annually who cannot become producers at once, and who must be supplied with food. Then there is the immense foreign draft on our productions. It is inevitable that prices must range high this year and that Maine farmers will gather another golden harvest.

For weeks, yes, months, the Prog. Age has been laboring to bring Greenbackers into the Democratic camp, and has declared that the Greenback party has practically ceased to exist. It has now suddenly changed its tune, and in an article on the Plaisted Convention says that all appeared to think that the Democrats "would endorse any nominations that might be made," and that the Democratic party "has ridden behind so long that its existence as an organized party seems to have almost gone out of mind." Politically the Age man seems to resemble the Irishman's flea.

Mr. S. A. Berry, of Auburn, otherwise known as "Dear Sam," has been deposed from the chairmanship of the Greenback State Committee. In last week's National Inquirer, Mr. B. publishes an open letter to the Greenbackers of Maine, in which he thus alludes to the matter—

At the State convention a very small representation of my county saw fit to remove me. I have been guided by the sentiment that cropped out of the honest, true-blue Greenbackers of my county and of the State, and I thank God that those men are with me to-day.

The Camden Herald thinks the recent Plaisted convention at Bangor demonstrated that "the Greenback party has become a permanent element in our politics." You just wait, Perry, until the Democrats get in their work at Lewiston on the 27th. There won't be a vestige of the Greenback party left then, save that portion which follows the fortunes of Solon Chase. It will be swallowed, hide, hoofs, horns and tail.

Neal Dow, consistent prohibitionist though he professes to be, is getting ready to support Thomas, Robie, or almost any other Republican who may be nominated. [Portland Globe.

That proves his consistency. If he should lead a movement against the Republican party, the party of temperance, to aid the Democratic party to score a victory, it would be inconsistent with his prohibition principles.

A. C. Buell, editor of the Washington Critic, charged certain leading correspondents with having received bribes from the whisky ring; and when called before the investigating committee said it was all a joke. It would be a good joke to kick Buell out of the editorial chair he disgraces. Come to think of it, however, the Critic is the organ of the star route thieves, and it is fitting that a black-guard should edit it.

In commenting on the statement of the Prog. Age that all who attended the fusion-greenback convention, at Bangor, appeared to think that the Democrats would endorse any nominations that might be made, the Lewiston Gazette says:

To judge from last year's experience in this district, it wouldn't be wise to act on this supposition.

The Camden Herald says "the Republicans of Maine are better united than they have been for a long time," and that "while Greenbackers have been office-seeking, Republicans have been uniting their forces." It thinks the Republicans mean to carry the State, and we can assure our Camden contemporary that that is just about the size of it.

The Aroostook Republican calls Governor Plaisted a "heathen Chinee" probably because he holds the winning cards. [Portland Item.

Yes, he's got them up his sleeve, too. But as he has only stocked the cards against the Greenbackers, he will not win the Gubernatorial game.

It is not much use going fishing for a fifteen year old trout, is it. A fish that has had its eyes open for fifteen years must be pretty wide awake.

The Republican State Convention.

A LARGE AND HARMONIOUS MEETING.

Col. Fred Robie Nominated for Governor, and Messrs. Reed, Dingley, Boutelle and Milliken for Congress.

The Republican State Convention met at City Hall, Portland, at eleven o'clock Tuesday morning. Long before the hour delegates, who were admitted by tickets, began to fill the main hall, while spectators crowded the galleries. The weather was fine and everything favorable to a full convention. At 11.05 Senator Frye, chairman of the State committee, rapped for order, which was obtained after five minutes. Prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Fenn, of Portland. The main hall, which holds 1800 people, was now quite full, with more continually entering. Mr. Frye read the call of the convention, and nominated for temporary chairman, Hon. Eugene Hale, who was received with enthusiasm.

SENATOR HALE'S SPEECH.

Mr. Hale said: "One of the largest conventions ever held in Maine, attests the undying vigor of the republican party in Maine. They march in like veterans, and well they might, for Maine has been the battle-field—the Belgium of America; and this campaign must end the contest. It will be a battle worth winning—Governor, Congressmen, Senator and County officers to be chosen.

You do not want Gov. Plaisted to be continued in his seat, but you do want my distinguished and eloquent colleague to retain his seat in the Senate for six years more. [Great applause.] He spoke of the faithful labors of the republican party in Congress, and the persistent opposition of the democrats, alluding to their lately announced opposition to confirmation of a tariff commission, to opposing the bill suppressing polygamy, to opposing distribution of the Alabama award, and to delaying seating properly elected representatives until vanquished by the republicans, under the lead of the distinguished representatives of Maine. He next alluded to state affairs, the attacks upon the Judiciary, and disputes about messengers. He then alluded to the death of President Garfield and its effect upon the country. [A voice—"How about Arthur?"]

Mr. Hale answered, eulogizing his tender solicitude for the dying President, and his straightforward truthfulness and faith to the republican party. He believed he was trying to bring all shades of the republican party into accord.

He has a difficult task but he has discharged it wisely. He noticed that he has left undisturbed Judge Robertson, whose appointment occasioned such a disturbance. He concluded with an exhortation to diligent labor.

THE ORGANIZATION.

It was voted that each county delegation report forewith, the name for vice-president, committees on permanent organization, and resolutions and State committee. They were announced and accepted as follows: Vice Presidents—Androscoggin, Hon. Rufus Prince; Aroostook, Hon. Albert A. Burleigh; Cumberland, John J. Perry; Franklin, Hon. J. L. Morrison; Hancock, A. H. Buzzell; Kennebec, J. R. Bodwell; Knox, F. S. Wall; Lincoln, David Chamberlain; Oxford, H. M. Bearce; Penobscot, Hon. Chas. Shaw; Piscataquis, E. J. Hale; Sagadahoc, Gen. T. W. Hyde; Somerset, Judge W. Augh; Waldo, W. H. Hunt; Washington, Stephen Longfellow; York, Jno. Hall.

Committee on permanent organization—Androscoggin, E. M. Shaw; Aroostook, C. W. Porter; Cumberland, Benjamin King-bury; Franklin, Hon. H. B. Prescott; Hancock, C. McCadish; Kennebec, Joseph S. Berry; Knox, M. L. Shepherd; Lincoln, Dr. Alden Blossom; Oxford, Hiram A. Ellis; Penobscot, Thomas J. Peaks; Piscataquis, Levi McCusick; Sagadahoc, Thos. Sprague; Somerset, C. L. Morrill; Waldo, Philo Hersey; Washington, V. L. Coffin; York, Leonard Andrews. Committee on resolutions—Androscoggin, F. M. Drew; Aroostook, Rev. E. M. Parks; Cumberland, Geo. W. Woodman; Franklin, P. H. Stubbs; Hancock, A. T. Hinkley; Kennebec, Alden Sprague; Knox, O. G. Hall; Lincoln, A. K. P. Smith; Oxford, Geo. A. Wilson; Penobscot, J. S. Wheelwright; Piscataquis, Charles L. Dunning; Sagadahoc, N. S. Purington; Somerset, Hon. Stephen Coburn; Waldo, Daniel O. Bowen; Washington, C. B. Round; York, Mark F. Wentworth. State committee—The State committee is as follows: Androscoggin, George C. Wing; Aroostook, Frederick A. Powers; Cumberland, Fred N. Dow; Franklin, Hon. James Morrison; Hancock, J. D. Hopkins; Kennebec, J. H. Manley; Knox, E. Sprague; Lincoln, S. S. Marble; Oxford, James S. Wright; Penobscot, C. A. Boutelle; Piscataquis, Wm. P. Young; Sagadahoc, J. W. Wakefield; Somerset, L. L. Walton; Waldo, Hon. Joseph Farwell; Washington, Austin Harris; York, B. F. Hamilton.

The State committee as committee on credentials reported 1317 delegates out of a total of 1390. It was voted that the chairman of each county delegation act as a committee to receive, sort, and count votes in all balloting. It was voted to ballot for Governor at 12.30 o'clock.

ELOQUENT SPEECH BY SENATOR FRYE.

Senator Frye was then called upon and spoke eloquently on the history of the republican party, what it had done during the rebellion, and its determined stand against the over-issue of paper money; he dwelt upon the clemency to vanquished rebels.

He pictured the position of the finances at the close of the war, and the wonderful results accomplished in the payment of the debt since that time, as well as in the reduction of taxation. That party has accomplished a feat never equalled in the history of the world.

Our country proposed as no other country has in the last 20 years. In the name of that great party he demanded that the convention to-day should approach its duties with unprejudiced minds, and after the nominations were made should return to their homes, and diligently work till they had rolled up a majority of 10,000 to redeem the State.

He eulogized the Supreme Court of Maine, who saved the State from anarchy, [applause,] and alluded to the act of the Governor in striking at the judiciary, regarding the reappointment of a judge.

At 12.40 he gave way for a ballot. A. A. Strout, Esq., of Portland, presented the name of Hon. W. W. Thomas, Jr., as a nominee for Governor.

Hon. Enoch Foster, Jr., of Bethel, arose amid applause, and eloquently seconded Mr. Thomas' nomination.

Mr. Grindell, of Hancock, also endorsed Mr. Thomas, nomination.

A humorous delegate from Waldo arose and remarked that Waldo had Gov. Lamson, but as for him, he would offer, as a candidate, before the convention, three names on ballots which had been handed him, viz: Mr. Robie, Mr. Thomas, and Mr. Drummond!

Great merriment greeted this sententious speech from Reading Waldo.

Judge Waterman, of Gorham, then ably presented the name of Col. Robie. He said he spoke in behalf of the farming towns, and thought that their voice should be heard in this convention. The announcement of Mr. Robie's name was received with shouts of applause that shook the hall. D. N. Mortland, of Rockland, said his delegation had come up out of the middle of the State to nominate a Republican—a man that will be elected. The cross-road delegates would select the name, and that name is Frederick Robie.

The convention proceeded to ballot for a candidate for Governor.

At 2.10 the committee to receive, sort and count the votes, reported as follows:

|---|---|
| Whole number of votes, | 1327 |
| Necessary to a choice, | 664 |
| Scattering | 7 |
| J. H. Drummond, | 38 |
| W. W. Thomas, Jr., | 592 |
| Frederick Robie, | 690 |

The announcement of Mr. Robie's nomination was received with tremendous cheering.

A. A. Strout, Esq., moved that the nomination be made unanimous.

The motion was adopted by a rising vote.

A motion to adjourn for one hour was voted down.

The convention proceeded to ballot for four Congressmen.

J. S. Wheelwright, of Bangor, chairman of the committee on resolutions, reported as follows:

RESOLUTIONS.

1. The right of every qualified voter to cast his ballot and have it honestly counted is a fundamental principle of Republican government, which must be maintained by law impartially enforced. The majority must determined must rule and the minority must submit.

2. Free schools must be maintained and universal education secured as the basis of national security and prosperity.

3. American industries and labor should be protected against the unjust competition of the product of cheap foreign labor by a protective tariff.

4. American shipping and ship building should be encouraged by the restoration of our navigation laws so as to discriminate in favor of, and not against, shipping interests, and by such other assistance as the government may properly render a great national interest. We protest against the persistent effort of the friends of free trade, or misnamed "revenue reform," to grant American registry to foreign-built ships, as certain to destroy our ship-building industry.

5. The only full legal tender money authorized by the constitution to be coined or issued in time of peace is gold and silver. The dollar of the one should be coined so as to possess the same intrinsic value as the dollar of the other, and all paper currency should be redeemable in the one or the other. We deprecate the efforts made to overthrow the present banking system of the nation, securing as it does to the people a currency convenient, uniform, elastic in volume, of equal value in all the States, and absolutely safe from loss in the hands of the holder.

6. The rapid payment of our war debt while debts of other nations are increasing, affords conclusive proof of the wisdom of our financial measures, and calls for a continuance of the same policy until every dollar of this debt shall be paid.

7. We are unalterably opposed to the abolition or reduction of the internal revenue tax on liquors and demand that all possible reduction of taxation shall be made on necessaries and not upon luxuries.

8. While we insist upon the strictest economy in public expenditures, we favor liberal pensions and bounties to the Union soldiers and sailors of the late war, their widows and orphan children, in token of our recognition of the priceless services rendered.

9. We refer with confidence and pride to the general record of the Republican party in support of the policy of prohibiting the traffic in intoxicating liquors, the wisdom and efficiency of which legislation in promoting the moral and material interests of Maine have been demonstrated through the practical annihilation of that traffic in a large portion of the State, and we favor such legislation, and such enforcement of law as will secure to every portion of our territory freedom from that traffic. We further recommend the submission to the people of a constitutional prohibitory amendment.

10 As an independent non-partisan judiciary is the palladium of justice and liberty, we emphatically condemn the attempt of Governor Plaisted to supersede and thus punish Associate Justice Libby for rendering such opinions in the counting out proceedings of 1878-80 as commended themselves to his judgment and conscience although not in accord with the policy of the party with which he was then and is now connected. We heartily approve the course of the Executive Council in refusing to allow so able, so conscientious and so acceptable a judge to be set aside for partisan personal reasons, which should have no place in judicial appointments, and which would tend to destroy the independence of the judiciary.

11. The thanks of the people of Maine are due to the Republican majority in Congress for their firm stand against the tissue ballot frauds which have heretofore made a solid south; for the united opposition to polygamy, for their resistance to the persistent efforts made to abolish or reduce the tax on whiskey; for taking measures to distribute the balance of the Geneva award to actual losers; and for measures looking to a reduction of taxation, and a revision of the tariff.

12. In the untimely death of our late beloved President, James A. Garfield, we recognize a great national calamity, and we rejoice that his administration during its brief existence gave assurance of its success. We tender to President Chester A. Arthur, our assurance of confidence in his administration, and our approval of the moderate and patriotic course pursued by him amid the embarrassing circumstances inevitably attending such a national crisis.

13. We pledge our hearty and undivided support for the nominee of this convention, Hon. Frederic Robie.

The resolutions were adopted without dissent. The result of the ballot for Congressmen was reported as follows:

|---|---|
| Whole number of votes, | 1181 |
| Necessary for a choice, | 591 |
| Reed, | 1180 |
| Dingley, | 1181 |
| Lindsey, | 399 |
| Simonton, | 113 |
| Milliken, | 779 |
| Boutelle, | 1053 |

Messrs. Reed, Dingley, Boutelle, and Milliken were accordingly declared the nominees of the convention for Representatives in Congress.

THE CANDIDATES CALLED FOR.

A motion to adjourn was defeated and Mr. Robie was called for. A committee of five was appointed to wait upon Mr. Robie and inform him of his nomination. At 3:23 the committee appeared and introduced Mr. Robie, who was presented by the chairman as the next Governor. He briefly returned thanks for the nomination, promising to fulfil his duties to the best of his ability, if elected. He quoted words of Garfield at Chicago in accepting that nomination and applied them to the present occasion. He noted with pleasure the presence of so many farmers and that he recognized in the Convention the friends of agriculture, of manufacture and of commerce—all sustain the Republican party. He paid a tribute to his brother Maine soldiers and felicitated them that after many sights they had looked upon in wars they now all looked upon an undivided country. Trusting they would unite and secure a glorious victory, he closed amid applause.

Hon. Seth L. Milliken was called for and briefly thanked them for the distinguished honor conferred. He also thanked his competitor for the honorable and manly way in which he had conducted his canvass. From the unanimity and enthusiasm of the Convention he predicted a through triumph in the coming election. He alluded to the inception of the Republican party in his youth when Hannibal Hamlin led the fight against slavery, and said it its mission had not been glorious, it had been a party of convictions and it had never failed to take a square position upon every great question which had arisen. He alluded to the grand success in paying off the enormous debt of the war. He closed with a glowing description of the party saying he believed Maine would be honored for having contributed to it Hannibal Hamlin and James G. Blaine.

Calls were made for Mr. Boutelle, but he did not respond, and the Convention adjourned at 3.45 P. M.

The Journal for the Campaign.

In compliance with numerous requests we have decided to make special rates for subscribers to the Republican Journal for the coming political campaign. The paper will be sent as follows, one copy to each address that may be forwarded to us. FROM JUNE 15 TO SEPT. 14, INCLUSIVE, FOR THIRTY CENTS. The cash must in all cases accompany orders. Friends of the paper, and of the Republican cause, are requested to aid in extending the circulation of the campaign Journal.

The handsomest advertising book we have ever seen has not an advertisement in it. It is called the "Picturesque B. & O." and gives an account, beautifully illustrated, of a trip over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad in a special car. The party go from New York to Washington, and thence up the Potomac Valley to Harper's Ferry and westward across the Alleghanies. The illustrations, nearly one hundred in number, were especially drawn for this work, and are by well known artists, including Thomas Moran, Sol Eytinge, W. L. Sheppard, and Hamilton Gibson. There are views in Baltimore, on the Potomac, of the wild Cheat River region, and of the noted summer resorts in Virginia and Maryland, all of which are familiar to the writer, who can testify to their accuracy as well as to their beauty.

A London despatch says: John Scott Russell, the famous engineer, is dead, aged 74.

Mr. Russell was the first to put into practice (in 1835) the "Wave System" in the construction of ships, and it was carried out in the famous steamer Great Eastern, designed by Mr. Brunel. It was the result of an investigation of the laws by which water opposes resistance to the motion of floating bodies, and the system has steadily made its way in Great Britain and in this country.

FISH AND FISHING. The Portland Press of Friday last says: Mr. Charles A. Dyer's schooner, the Eddie Pierce, returned Wednesday from a Southern mackerel trip, and claims "high line" of the Maine fleet, having stocked over $6,000. .....The Executive Council, Thursday, voted to confirm F. Simpson, Portland, inspector of fish. .....Donald R. Lord, formerly of Surry, in company with three others, is erecting a factory for the canning of salmon on Frazier river, British Columbia. The company has invested about $10,000 in buildings and fixtures, and with a fair run of luck expect to can about $75,000 worth of salmon during the present year.....It is reported from Penaquid that the catch of fish is very limited this spring compared with last. The fishermen say the fall off will be about $5,000 to that place.....A. J. Darling, game and fish warden for Maine, writes to the Mining Journal as follows: The State is now trying to stock our waters with fish; let us, one and all, try to protect the same, and in a few years they will be quite plenty. We have hatched the past winter, for the State, some 200,000 river salmon, 23,000 lake salmon and a few thousand California trout, and they are all doing nicely; will be ready to deliver in a few days and will be put into the head-waters of the Penobscot and its lakes. They were hatched in Cold Stream water, near Enfield. The loss of eggs while hatching was quite small; a few hundreds were lost by the wire screens being too coarse, until we got fine wires to save them. Since then quite a number have died by being smothered; 16,000 to 20,000 small fish is a great plenty to put in one trough, as too many together will surely cause the death of a large number..... Hon. Wm. P. Frye and F. D. Sewall of the Internal Revenue, were recently, at Rangeley, enjoying quiet life and big trout suppers.....The Bangor Whig says: A large shad was caught recently in the river below the Water Works with a rod and line, while a person was fishing for perch. Several salmon have also been caught in Carter & Co. are at work on the keel of a three masted schooner to be built for Capt. T. G. Bartlett, of this city.

POLICE COURT. State vs. Fred Stevenson, of Belfast. For assault with a slung shot on the head of Otis Walker on Monday June 12th. Ordered to give bond with sureties in the sum of $200 for his appearance at court. Committed.

The annual examination of the High school will begin Wednesday morning, June 21st, and continue through Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The essays of the Juniors will be given on Thursday afternoon, those of the Seniors on Friday afternoon. Instead of having exercises by the graduating class on the evening that school closes, as heretofore, there will be at Hayford Hall on Monday evening, June 26th, the awarding of diplomas to the graduates by the committee, and an oration before the alumni by Dr. Geo. W. Field, D. D., of Bangor. The subject of Dr. Field's address will be announced in our next issue.

THE CIRCUS. On Monday last Nathan's circus gave an afternoon and evening performance in this city. The weather was favorable and the attendance large, but the ring performances were given under difficulties, owing to the softness of the ground, caused by the recent heavy rains. This rendered it impossible to make a sure footing for men or horses, and marred what would have otherwise been excellent preformances. The show was generally satisfactory, however, and the trained ponies, dogs and goats delighted the juveniles and amused the older people. The management did the best they could under the circumstances.

RUNAWAYS. As Zenas Ellis, of Swanville, and Seth Ellis and daughter, of Belfast, were driving down Church St. Monday forenoon, with a young horse, the breeching broke, and the horse started into a run, upsetting the wagon near the Alden house and throwing the occupants out. The horse cleared himself from the wagon, and with the forward wheels, ran down into Custom House square, and after colliding with two or three wagons was stopped nearly opposite the Journal office. Mr. Zenas Ellis, who is an old man, was quite severely injured, having both shoulders dislocated. He was carried into Dr. Johnson's office and his wounds attended to. Mr. Seth Ellis was bruised about the wrist and experienced some other slight injuries. His daughter was unharmed. ....James Twombley's horse became run from the upper side of the shoe factory across the street and into the side walk in front of J. Gilmore's store, knocking down a lamp post and breaking it into three pieces, but doing no other damage. Mr. T. had detached the outside horse and gone into a store for feed when they started. Melrose Weed's horse started from the front of the Farmer's House and was telescoped by a passing truck team. The carriage broke, clear, but manages to get together. George Walker's team ran away and collided with another team, but without injury to either. This completes Monday's record so far as the Journal is advised.

WAYNE COUNTY AT THE CONVENTION. Every town in Waldo county was fully represented, and all the hall had the best seats assigned them, those of the front immediately facing the president's chair. Mr. Milliken had his quarters at the Falmouth Hotel and received many attentions before, during and after the convention. On Tuesday morning a delegation met at parlor 2 Falmouth Hotel, at 8 o'clock. Tuesday morning and organized. The delegation was presided over by J. W. Black, of Searsport. O. W. Pitcher, Esq., of Belfast, was elected chairman for the ensuing year. The following were elected as officers of the State convention—W. H. Hunt, Liberty, vice president; Philo Hersey, Esq., of Belfast, on permanent organization; Daniel O. Bowen, Morrill, on resolutions; Joseph Farwell, Esq., of Unity, was chosen a member of the state committee. On the ballot for governor the county voted 35 for Col. Robie, 22 for Mr. Thomas, and 3 for J. H. Drummond, Esq. We think the county went solid for Milliken. The only unfavorable event of the day was made by Mr. Belcher, of Freedom, who addressed the president as "Mr. Moderator." He said that the county had no moderator of its own to present, but that Dunton and Carmichael two in the past, ex-Gov. Daniel F. Davis and J. H. Drummond, Esq., of Bangor, had presented the names of Col. Robie, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Drummond, and left the convention to choose between them. A portion of the delegates arrived home on the special train Tuesday night, the others followed next day.

CHURCH NOTES. The annual meeting of Maine Universalist convention will be held at Augusta on June 27th, 28th and 29th. One fare tickets will be issued over railroads. Rev. Mr. Goodenough, of Bethel, will speak in the forenoon of the 28th upon "The Influence of Universalism upon Character."....The Directors of the Maine General Hospital, in making their annual appeal to the clergy and laymen of the state for the observance of Hospital Sunday, state that 196 patients were received, either wholly or in part, on the free list during the past year, that the number could have been doubled if they had had the means for their support, and that the demand for free beds at the present time exceeds, as never before, the financial ability of the Hospital to supply them. The small contributions, such as will come within the means of all who may sympathize in this truly philanthropic measure, will be gratefully received and carefully appropriated for the benefit of the sick and suffering poor....The Board of Managers of the American Bible Society have undertaken the fourth general supply of the United States with the Holy Scriptures, and have issued an address respecting it, in which the magnitude of the work and the methods of distribution are set forth. The time is regarded as propitious and the call for the Bible among the five millions of freedmen, and from destitute families urgent....Next Sunday will be Flower Sunday at North Church. Mr. Rossmorning sermon will be addressed to children, subject, "Lessons from the flowers." In the evening a Sunday School concert.....Rev. Mr. Ross attended the Waldo County Conference at Rockport on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.....Three persons were baptized and received into the M. E. Church of this city last Sunday.

On Wednesday evening of last week Mr. At Gilmore who has a weir between this city and Searsport caught six salmon. One was marked with a metallic tag attached to the dorsal fin and numbered 1156. This indicates that it was one liberated from the Bucksport breeding works. The fish when caught measured 35½ inches and weighed 17½ pounds. It was sold to A. E. Durham, in this city, who subsequently sold it to C. B. Hazeltine who forwarded it to Mr. Stillwell, fish commissioner, at Bangor. In reply to a note, requesting the history of this salmon, Mr. Chas. G. Atkins, of the fish works at Bucksport, has furnished the Journal with the following interesting communication, under date June 12th—

I have examined the record of salmon tagged in 1880, and find that a number of errors crept into the record, and among them one affecting this very number 1156. There are two salmon recorded numbered 1156, one Oct. 22, 1880, a female measuring 30 in. long, weighing 7½ lbs., the other Nov. 1, 1880, a female measuring 31 in. long, weighing 8¼. The fish that was taken with the tag 1156 must have been one of these, and I think therefore have been a small female fish from which we took spawn in 1880, and which we turned loose in Nov., 1880. She has therefore been gone 19 months, and gained 9 or 10 pounds in weight. About the length I cannot speak until I know whether the measurement given (35½ inches) was from nose to the middle of the tail or to the tip of the tail. We always measure to the middle of the crotch of the tail. To the tip is several inches more, the slight weight of the fish at the time of tagging is owing to their having just completed the spawning process, which took from them over two pounds of eggs, and reduced their flesh materially besides. Probably the fish in question weighed 11 or 12 pounds when taken in by us in June, 1880. If any further specimens bearing tags are captured, I should be glad to have the fish sent to me at Bucksport, with the tag on, and I will pay market price for the same and a bonus of $2 for each fish. In every case a statement should be sent of the time and place of capture, the name of the captor, and the name of the person claiming the reward.

THE WOMAN'S CHRISTIAN TEMPERANCE UNION CONVENTION. The convention met Tuesday evening at the Universalist church and was called to order by Mrs. Burrill. The exercises were opened by a voluntary from the choir and reading of the Scriptures by Miss Esther Frye. An eloquent and fervent prayer was offered by Miss Starrett. Mrs. Burrill, in the course of some introductory remarks, said she had expected to see more present and wondered if there were one half or one-third, or even 75 women in Belfast who had reached out their hand or were in sympathy with the movement. She was in doubt if there were so many; if they knew they would come in and be one of us. After mention of the presence of Mrs. Stevens, President of the W. C. T. U. of the State, Mrs. B. introduced the Rev. S. Goodenough, who spoke briefly. He said among other things: You have come for a purpose of your own in which you alone are qualified to perform, and in that work you are my peers, you rank me in the work. I have thought of a good many things to say but they are not appropriate here, they will keep and I shall say them before some audience some time. There are some men and some women that deal out liquor, go on in your work in the spirit of Jesus and I bid you Godspeed. There is another thing that I will speak of and that is that the churches ought to feel a Christian spirit in the work. There is not so great a foe as intemperance; it is the Christian's greatest foe to-day. Mr. Weir was next called upon and made a few stirring remarks after which a beautiful poem was read by Mrs. Emery, of Stroudwater. The meeting then adjourned. The convention reassembled at half past nine yesterday morning. An address was delivered by Mrs. Stevens, and a paper on temperance work was read by Miss Starrett, of this city. The paper is highly praised. After some remarks from Mrs. Burrill a general discussion closed the morning session. The convention reassembled at 2 p. m. and at 4½ p. m. the children of the public schools were present and were addressed by Mrs. Stevens. In the evening the same lady gave an account of the work of the W. C. T. U. in this state. We are unable to give a fuller report of the proceedings.

PERSONALS. Mr. and Mrs. A. Clement, of this city, have gone to Seal Harbor, Mt. Desert, to take charge of their summer hotel, the Seaside House. ....Fred S. Walls, Esq., of Vinalhaven, formerly of Belfast, has bought out the livery stable business of Berry Bros. at the former place....Charles B. Hazeltine, B. P. Hazeltine and Joseph Jones have gone to Moosehead Lake on a fishing tour....Miles Staples, Esq. of this city is at Rome, N. Y., where he is being treated for cancer....Cyrus J. Hall, of Belfast, has received a patent for a machine for polishing stone....H. N. Lancester arrived home Monday evening from Rome N. Y., where for the past five weeks he has been under treatment for cancer. The cancer, which was in his right temple, was taken out, and Mr. Lancester is feeling and looking well and thinks he has been successfully treated.

A NEW ENTERPRIZE. Mr. C. J. Hall, in addition to his foundry and granite business, has brought to Belfast a new manufacturing enterprise. Mention was made in the Journal recently of Mr. Hall's visit to Salem, North Carolina, to inspect a saw mill which is having a great run at the south. The factory at that place being unable to supply the demand, the proprietor of the mill wanted to secure an enterprising man to manufacture for the northern section of the country, and has closed a contract with Mr. Hall by which the latter will have exclusive control of these mills in New England, the Northwest and the Canada's. The mill is known as Hege improved circular saw mill, with universal log beam and set works. These mills, exclusive of saws and beltings, cost from $700 to $950, according to size. The carriage averages from twenty to seventy feet in length. It is said that experience has proved this to be one of the most durable, fastest running and inexpensive mills manufactured. Mr. Hall has begun to make the patterns and will perform all the work, both wood and iron, at the foundry. The second floor, formerly occupied by Pottle in the manufacture of kits, will be used for the woodworking department. The manufacture of these mills will require a considerable outlay of capital, and employ a large number of men. Mr. Hall has already received 250 inquiries concerning these mills and believes that he can sell as many as he can manufacture. In addition to this, Mr. Hall is shipping from his quarries at Mt. Desert, quantities of granite which will be dressed at his works here. One order is for 1500 feet of coping to be used at Boylston park, Boston.

THE CROPS. The Home Farm of last week published a review of the present appearance of the crops in Maine, including reports from Belfast, Freedom, Montville, Unity, and Winterport. These are generally favorable as to grass with the exception of Montville. It was too early to report on corn, wheat, and other grain. The amount of land in crops is an average as compared with average years, and the season is reported as late and backward. Farm wages are given as "high" in Freedom and Winterport; $16 to $18 per month in Montville, and $17 to $20 in Unity. The condition of farm stock is reported below the average in Montville and good in Unity. It may be added that, save in exceptionally favorable localities but little special planting has been done. Much seed has rotted in the ground, necessitating replanting. In some cases grain has made a good start. The grass needs warm, sunshiny weather to ensure a good crop. Farm and garden work is generally three weeks behind. The indications are that the acreage of potatoes in this county will not be largely, and may not be as large as that of last year, which was much below the average. Beans will be more extensively planted than usual. In commenting on the statistics it presents the Home Farm says:

One thing noticeable from studying the table of reports, is the high price of farm wages, and in many places the real scarcity of help. The help, too, is of a better class than usual, and they are receiving "Yankee" wages to work. This shows a better condition of the general business of the country, and the real prosperity of the farming interest.

Our reports universally speak of the high price of hay. This results from the fact that the very cold, cold spring made a long feeling time. Stock was turned to pasture before May 17th, and a great deal not till the 23d, while milch cows were fed all through the month with provender. And while stock, with the exception of sheep, are reported in good condition, many have been brought through at an increased cost to the farmer. Sheep have suffered from the cold, wet spring, and many flocks been quite heavily decimated by losses.

Another point worthy of notice, though not fully represented by the table, is the high price of stock, especially neat cattle, and more especially anything that is suitable for beef. How fortunate, had our farmers generally taken occasion to check farming in the past, and had some to sell at the now high figures. Is anything safer, and will it not teach us a lesson?

CASTINE. W. G. Sargent and wife are with their friends in Massachusetts.....Master James A. Webster, who has been very sick for one hundred and thirty days, is now recovering, and has ridden out.....The Rosier mine has struck a rich vein....Gardners are mixing their seed with mud....The new boarding house at the Head is progressing finely.....Deputy sheriffs have been causing trouble and unhappiness for a day or two past.....Aaron has had better success in getting salmon this week.....There is a queer looking craft being built at Dresser & Sargent's wharf.....John Rogs' new spar is fine looking.....Mackerel have been taken in our harbor this week.....The Grand Officers of the Grand Lodge of Maine, passed on the City of Richmond Saturday, on their way to Bar Harbor, to institute a new lodge at that place Saturday evening, June 10th.

THORNDIKE. The County Commissioners met, pursuant to notice on June 6th, to view the roads as set forth by petition to locate a road around the Rich hill. They decided the change was needed, and would be a great advantage to the traveling public, and will lay out the road sometime within a week.... On Thursday last a party of some nine Indians pitched their tents on the banks of the Half Moon stream near this place. With them was one white woman, the wife of one of the Indians. They seemed to be very industrious and were neatly dressed, especially the children. They left here on Saturday and pitched their tents in Freedom..... Herbert Comforth, a young man who left here last spring for Mexico, writes home that times are good there and wages high. He is employed on a railroad as time keeper and has charge of the supply department, &c. He is a fine young man and will sometime fill a more responsible position. He has sent home some very handsome specimens of rocks that he has picked up on the mountain side.

PENOBSCOT. In looking over some old account books we find that the first Methodist church in Penobscot was built at the joint expense of Col. Jeremiah Wardwell and Capt. Thatcher Avery in 1801. The most astounding part of the affair is that on the dedicating of the church they were obliged to furnish twenty-nine gallons of rum that the large concourse of brethren and sisters expected to be present on that day might be suitably entertained. This is a mere striking circumstance, from the fact that for more than fourteen years not a drop of intoxicating liquor of any kind has been sold within the limits of this town. To Rev. Theodore Hill, M. E. clergyman, are we indebted, under the Providence of God, more than to any other man for this very happy condition of things.....Merrill P. Hinckley has sold his 4 years old colt to Everard H. Gregley, of Ellsworth, for $300. Mr. Hinckley has one on hand now superior in many points to the one sold. Benj. L. Condon has a span of matched horses for which he has had an offer of $600. We have many blooded horses and cattle in town and none better understand the value of such than Messrs. Hinckley, Condon and Noah F. Norton..... Superintendent Smith, of the Hercules mine has moved his family from Nova Scotia to this town and will become a citizen of the U. S. Mr. Smith's example will be followed by five more families that are expected this week. You are welcome, ladies and gentlemen, .....Mr. Pearson will resume work on the Colton mine this week.....Mr. Horace Mixer is thoroughly repairing and enlarging his house preparatory to taking boarders ....Plenty of work at good wages, and men are scarce. Many having gone to the grand bank fishing, the mining and brick business render it necessary to send away for laborers.

BUCKSPORT. The new steamer Penobscot made her first landing at this port at about half past one P. M. saturday. A large number of our people gathered on and around the wharf to witness the new arrival, and a good display of bunting was made. Everybody was pleased with the fine appearance of the new steamer.....The cantata "Queen Esther," which has been for some time in preparation under the direction of the Musical Department of E. M. C. Seminary, is to be rendered on Wednesday and Thursday evenings June 21st and 22d at Emery hall. Mr. N. D. Clifford has been conducting the rehearsals, and the drill has been a most thorough one. Our people are much interested in the affair and a full house on both evenings is expected. It will be given in oriental costumes, obtained from Geo. E. Hagden, costumer, Boston. Cast of characters as follows: King Ahasuerus, R. B. Stover; Queen Esther, Miss E. O. Morrill; Haman, F. E. Reed; Zerish, Miss Cora H. Mill; Mordecai, N. D. Clifford; Mordecai's sister, Mrs. A. F. Page; Prophetess, Miss Lottie Folsom; Scribe, J. F. Knowlton; Harbonah, W. Snowman; Herald, C. O. Page; Guards, Isaac Homer, A. L. Chase, C. H. Stephenson; Maid of Honor, Miss Lizzie B. Emery; Queen's Attendants, Miss Grace Blodgett, Miss Crinnie Swazey; Zerish's Attendants, Miss Linnie Benjamin, Miss Phebe Hooper; Hegai, J. L. Chase; High Priest, J. M. Parker; King's Pages, Charlie Shute, Rodney Ginn; Queen's Pages, Mamie Genn, Lillie Swazey; Haman's child, Lizzie Genn; Pianist, Mrs. Mary E. Hopkins.....The following is the programme for the Commencement exercises at the E. M. C. Seminary: Sunday, June 18th, Annual Sermon, by Rev. Geo. Forsyth, former pres.; Monday, (P. M.) Tuesday and Wednesday, Examination of Classes; Monday, 7.30 o'clock P. M. in Emery Hall, Prize Declamations; Tuesday, 8 o'clock P. M. in Methodist church, Annual address by Rev. O. A. Brown, of Boston; Wednesday, 21st, 10 o'clock A. M., Annual meeting of the board of Trustees; Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Annual concert in Emery Hall, at which the Oratorio of Queen Esther will be rendered under the direction of the Musical Department of the Institution; Thursday, 10 o'clock A. M., Commencement Exercises in Emery Hall.

Searsport Locals.

The new steamer Penobscot, was visited by many of our citizens on her first arrival here and was much admired.

The foundation of Capt. Phineas Pendleton's new house is completed and the lumber is on the ground for going on with the building.

Ship Louis Walsh, Capt. John G. Pendleton, was spoken, May 28th, ten days out, in lat. 42-40, long, 40, bound from Belfast, Me., to Liverpool, by ship St. Nicholas, Capt. Phineas Pendleton, Jr. The latter had been in the ice for 24 hours, and the Walsh was just entering it. On Monday a cable despatch was received announcing the arrival of the Walsh at Liverpool, after an excellent passage of 23 days.

A curious old bell taken from the barque Moon, beam of Searsport is to be seen at the store of Flintner & Co., Commercial street, Boston. It was made ten years before the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth and is thought to have been brought to Boston shortly after that period. The inscription, "Ave Gratia Plena," and other indications, warrant the supposition that it was originally taken from a convent near the Mediterranean.

MARINE NOTES. Bark Clara E. McGilvery, Capt. Warren Griffin, arrived in Philadelphia June 10 from Cardenas ...Ship A. J. Fuller, Capt. Theodore P. Colcord, sailed from Liverpool, June 3rd, for New York....Bark Endeavor, Capt. A. T. Whittier, arrived in Philadelphia, Pa., June 3rd, from Cardenas....Schr. James T. Morse, Capt. Wm. Tupper, arrived at Bath, Me., June 5th, from New York.....Bark Clara E. McGilvery, Capt. Warren Griffin, sailed from Cardenas, May 31st, for Delaware Breakwater....Bark Grace Deering, Capt. Charles Salvage, was in Iloilo April 18 bound from Hong Kong to Sidney, N. S. W....Schr. Jennie R. Morse, Capt. A. D. Colcord arrived at Boston, June 8th, after a six days' passage from Beaufort, S. C. ...ship Charter Oak, Capt. Lincoln Gilkey, sailed from Hong Kong April 29th, for Victoria.

Judge Emery Sawyer, whose illness from a large carbuncle on the back of his neck, was mentioned last week, died on Sunday last, aged 61 years. His sufferings, although at first intense, were borne with wonderful patience and resignation, and he passed peacefully away. His son, the Rev. J. E. C. Sawyer, of Albany, N. Y., who arrived on Wednesday, was at the death bed. Judge Sawyer was born in Brooks, Me., March 6th, 1818. He studied for a time at Bangor with a view to the ministry of the Congregational Church, but relinquished a theological course on account of a supposed tendency to pulmonary disease. Though he has been stout during recent years, he was very delicate in youth. In September, 1841, he married Margaret A., daughter of the late James Cochran, Sr., of Monmouth, Maine, by whom he had four children, two of whom survive him. For several years he pursued the trade of a ship carpenter, and in 1854 he went into shipbuilding business on his own account at Calais, Maine. The following year he removed his business to Quincy Point, Mass., but was financially wrecked in the panic of 1857, the last vessel built by him being the ship Richard Busteed. Of the various vessels modeled by Mr. Sawyer, the most famous, perhaps, was the clipper barque Comet, whose first passage from Boston to San Blas was the fastest on record when made, and which for many years plied as a regular packet between San Francisco and Honolulu. In 1858 he removed to Searsport broken in fortune, but bravely commenced life anew. He studied for the bar, and was admitted to practice in 1866, and for the last twenty years has been Trial Justice. His services were much sought for as a conveyancer, on account of the thoroughness with which he drew all legal documents. He took great interest in agricultural matters, and bestowed much care upon the cultivation of his place. He will be greatly missed in this community. The funeral took place on Monday last.

BURNHAM. Mr. George Hancock of this town is very sick, and is not expected to recover.... Baptism last Sunday, at F. B. Lane's shore. There were seven baptised, four men and three women. It was a beautiful day, and many people were present on the shore and in boats.....The wet weather has put the farmers back, in this section, with their planting. Very few have planted their corn yet....The Treasurer of the W. S. Y. Co., was in town Monday, looking over the property, which is under the management of H. B. Weed. He intends to have the little Steamer Dart on the Lake by the 25th of this month....The cemetery in this town has been refenced and looks nicely.

LINCOLNVILLE. Messrs. Coombs & Day, of Camden have contracted to build a three masted schr. of about 400 tons for Capt. I. S. Adams of this town. She is to be ready for caulking in November ....Wm. H. Cates, of the Beach House, has been making some necessary repairs about his house and stable. This house under the management of Mr. Cates is becoming quite popular with the traveling public. He will probably have all the summer visitors he can accommodate....Capt. M. E. Drinkwater, of Schr. Nellie, will remain at home this trip. The vessel will be commanded by his brother Wilder.....Capt. E. P. Drinkwater has been placed in command of the Brig Georgia .....The farmers in this town are nearly discouraged about doing their usual amount of planting. Many of them have been unable to do much yet.

JACKSON. One of the oldest citizens of this town, Mr. Ezekiel Boothby, died on Wednesday the 7th inst. He was born in Limington in 1797, and was, therefore, 85 years of age at his death. He moved to Jackson when a young man and bought a lot of new land in the westerly part of the town, on which he built a log house that served him for an abiding place for many years, until he was able to erect a more pretentious domicile, where he lived the remainder of his days, and where, by industry and frugality, he accumulated a comfortable property. He was a member of the Friends society, and a very worthy one. Honest and upright in his dealings, he had the respect of his townsmen. Mr. Boothby was but once married, and survived his wife ten years. He leaves a son and four daughters to mourn his loss. The son and two of the daughters now reside on the old homestead farm. Funeral services from the Friends meeting house Thorndike on Friday last ..Mr. J. M. Larrabee is erecting a new carriage shop.... Epiphalet Pease is confined to the house by erysipelas in the face.

WINTERPORT. Mrs. John Holt has been to Boston and returned with her son, E. A. Holt, who is sick....The Jubilee Singers gave us an excellent entertainment last week, and we gave them a crowded house....Our Dr. Cleveland's father died last week....Mr. Wm. H. Baker has been very sick with pneumonia, but is now convalescent....Mr. E. A. Mansfield, Jr., will soon be ready to occupy his store, recently damaged by fire....Complaint is made that certain boys are killing birds and robbing nests. It would be well for these bird killers and nest robbers to know that there is a fine of five dollars for every swallow, robin, sparrow, &c., killed between the first day of February and the first day of September. If this thing is persisted in, the names of these boys will be published....The wife of Hon. T. Cushing is in very poor health ..."Children's Day" at the Methodist church last Sunday forenoon and evening, was a very interesting occasion for both children and adults. The church was very elaborately trimmed, displaying much good taste, and gave evidence of much labor on the part of the ladies in charge. The address by the pastor in the forenoon and the concert by the children in the evening were interesting and profitable. The singing was in charge of Mrs. T. A. Snow.

CAMDEN. The Methodist society are making vigorous efforts to improve their church property. Among the improvements contemplated is to move the church edifice from its present site to a lot near by, remodel it, and have the church vestry and parsonage all on one lot. Rev. B. C. Wentworth, the pastor, is the principal mover in the work....The Primary and Intermediate departments of our schools have suffered much from the measles, as also have the High and Grammar departments to some extent, yet they all continue and are model schools. Now that the measles are abating among the children, the cats are having them....We had a hail storm last Friday ...Charles Keirons, baggage master on steamer Lewiston, is at home on a vacation.....J. F. Stetson is building a new barn....Four doctors think of locating in Camden, to fill the place of Dr. Paine, deceased....Rev. Mr. Chapin, a former pastor, preached at the Congregationalist church last Sunday....B. F. Adams has a new riding outfit for his black pony....Your correspondent was the recipient last week of a basket of fine strawberries from the well stocked fruit and confectionery store of J. S. Cleveland ...Two new summer houses are being built on the shore, one by Mr. Gardiner, of Philadelphia, just south of the Portland steamboat wharf, and the other one by a Bangor man, on Metcalf's Point....Rose Brothers opened their soda fountain to the public last Saturday. The service was as rich to the palate as the fountain is to the eye....Delegates to the Republican State Convention left for Portland last Monday. The vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Paine, was to be filled at Portland....There were shipped last week 2,069 casks of lime to Jacksonville, Fla.... Henry Alden is doing substantial work on the stone steps in front of his house.....A citizens meeting was held at the hall last Monday evening to arrange for a 4th of July celebration.....J. H. Parker has shown a commendable business courage and zeal in enlarging his baking business.

The receipts at the Patent Office from January 1 to June 1, 1882, amount to $428,965. This is an increase over the corresponding five months of last year of $64,623.

The American horse Foxhall has won a great victory on English turf. The winning of the gold cup at Ascot was a triumph to be proud of. With the exception of this victory American horses have not made good records in England this season.

Farmers, Attention!

I am handling larger quantities of

Farm Implements

than ever before. My sales of

Meadow King Mowers

up to June 1, 1882, were more than my entire sales for 1881. Last year I could not fill my orders by over 100 mowers. My agents in their several localities will be pleased to show the MEADOW KING, and also our HORSE RAKES.

I have a large and fine stock of Improved Tools, Forks, Hoes, Rakes, Cultivators, Plows and Harrows.

I propose to sell FIRST CLASS GOODS at LOW PRICES, and shall have low priced goods to suit.

STEEL HOES, only 32c.; HAND RAKES, 3 for a quarter; IRON FRAME CULTIVATORS, way down low; SCYTHES, all prices and "right good goods;" RUBBER COATED & SOLID CAST STEEL SCYTHES; CLIPPER CHINA STEEL, &c.

☞ Come and see me and get a look at the good trades.

Woman's Triumph.

A Severe Surgical Operation. It is Endured Without taking Ether. Subject, Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, N. Y.

[From the Correspondence of the Kingston, N. Y., Freeman.]

The case of Mrs. Edward Myers, of Rondout, New York, furnishes an apt illustration of woman's power of endurance. This lady had been treated for months in the usual way for Erysipelas of the hand, without benefit. Not until her hand had become a mass of putrified flesh did she turn to Dr. Kennedy, proprietor of the "Favorite Remedy" for help.

He at once informed her that it was impossible to save the hand—it must be amputated. She received this terrible intelligence quietly, declined to take ether, stipulating merely to hold her husband's hand during the operation, and underwent the painful process without moving a muscle or uttering a groan. Dr. Kennedy then gave "Favorite Remedy" freely to cleanse the blood and prevent the return of the disease, and Mrs. Myers now lives and rejoices in her great deliverance.

"Favorite Remedy" is fast becoming a trusted household friend in all cases of Female Weakness and diseases of the blood. One dollar a bottle Your druggist has it. 1m24

It Stimulates the Ptyaline in the Saliva, which converts the Starch and Sugar of the food into glucose. A deficiency in Ptyaline causes Wind and Souring of the food in the stomach. If the medicine is taken immediately after eating the fermentation of food is prevented.
It acts upon the Liver.
It acts upon the Kidneys.
It Regulates the Bowels.
It Purifies the Blood.
It quiets the Nervous System.
It Promotes Digestion.
It Nourishes, Strengthens and Invigorates.
It carries off the Old Blood and makes new.
It opens the pores of the skin and induces Healthy Perspiration.

It neutralizes the hereditary taint, or poison in the blood, which generates Scrofula, Erysipelas, and all manner of skin diseases and internal humors.

There are no spirits employed in its manufacture, and it can be taken by the most delicate babe, or by the aged and feeble, care only being required in attention to directions.

Buckspport, Hancock Co., Me.

This is to certify that I had Chronic Diarrhœa for fifty years, and have used all the medicine I have heard recommended, tried all the doctors within thirty miles, and paid out over two hundred dollars, all to no purpose. I procured from an agent, some of Dr. Clark Johnson's Indian Blood Syrup, and it helped me immediately. The disease has now entirely left me, and I consider myself well. I advise all sufferers to try it. WILLIAM GRANT.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

A Never-Failing Cure for Burns, Scalds, Bruises, Cuts, Sores, etc.

After forty years of trial, Perry Davis' Pain Killer stands unrivaled. It is safe! It acts immediately! It never fails!

Editor of the St. John (N. B.) News, says: In flesh wounds, aches, pains, sores, etc., it is the most effectual remedy we know of. No family should be without a bottle of it for a single hour.

From the Cincinnati Dispatch: We have seen its magic effects, and know it to be a good article.

From I. S. Potter, U. S. Consul at Crefeld, Rhenish Prussia: After long years of use, I am satisfied it is positively efficient as a healing remedy for wounds, bruises, and sprains.

W. W. Sharper, Valdosta, Ga., says: It is a panacea for all bruises and burns.

From R. W. Adams, Saco, Me.: It gave me immediate relief.

R. Lewis says: In forty years' use it never has failed me.

W. W. Lum, Nicholville, N. Y., says: I use your PAIN KILLER frequently. It relieves pain and soreness, and heals wounds like magic.

J. W. Dee says: For scalds and burns it has no equal.

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER is not a new untried remedy. For forty years it has been in constant use; and those who have used it the longest *are its best friends.

Its success is entirely because of its merit. Since the Pain Killer was first introduced, hundreds of new medicines have come and gone, while to-day this medicine is more extensively used and more highly valued than ever before. Every family should have a bottle ready for use. Much pain and heavy doctors' bills may often be saved by prompt application of the Pain Killer. Unlike most medicines, it is perfectly safe even in the hands of a child. Try it once thoroughly, and it will prove its value. Your druggist has it at 25c., 50c, and $1.00 per bottle.

WHEAT BITTERS.

THE BEST AND The Richest BLOOD, BRAIN and NERVE

-F-O-O-D-

CAREFULLY PREPARED, THOROUGHLY TESTED, ACCEPTABLE AND RELIABLE.

The Phosphates of the Wheat are its most valuable food property, and are, when properly prepared, the most acceptable nutriment with which to build up the system.

The Blood, Brain and Nerves are the forces which bear the strain of every day work and life, and in order to save sickness it is wise to BUILD FOR HEALTH.

Wheat Bitters are prepared, not by fermentation but by solution and are richest in the Phosphates, while the starch and impure matter are eliminated. These make in themselves a basis, to which is added the best and choicest medicinal qualities, necessary to make it a tonic and bitter. It is at once healthful, pleasant to the taste and must not be confounded with the thousand and one cheap alcoholic bitters which are sold as cure-alls. Medicine is doubly effective when used with food, so as to nourish while it corrects.

The King of the Plough.

BY PAUL H. HAYNE.

The sword is re-sheathed in its scabbard,
The rifle hangs safe on the wall;
No longer we quail at the hungry
Hot rush of the ravenous ball—
The war-cloud has hurled its last lightning,
Its last awful thunders are still,
While the Demon of Conflict in Hades
Lies fettered in force as in will;
Above the broad fields that he ravaged,
What monarch rules blissfully now?
Oh! crown him with bays that are bloodless—
The King, the brave King of the Plough!

A King! ay! what Ruler more potent
Has ever swayed earth by his nod?
A monarch! ay, more than a monarch—
A homely, but bountiful God!
He stands where in earth's sure protection
The seed-grains are scattered and sown,
To uprise in serene resurrection
When Spring her soft trumpet hath blown!
A monarch! yea more than a monarch,
Though toil-drops are thick on his brow;
Oh! crown him with corn-leaf and wheat-leaf—
The King, the strong King of the Plough!

Through the shadow and shine of past ages
(While tyrants were blinded with blood,)
He reared the pure ensign of Ceres
By meadow, and mountain, and flood—
And the long, leafy gold of his harvests
The earth-sprites and air-sprites had spun,
Grew rhythmic when swept by the breezes,
Grew royal when kissed by the sun:
Before the stern charm of his patience
What rock-rooted forces must bow!
Come! crown him with corn-leaf and wheat-leaf—
The King, the bold King of the Plough!

Through valleys of balm-dropping myrtles,
By banks of Arcadian streams,
Where the wind-songs are set to the mystic
Mild murmur of passionless dreams:
On the storm-haunted uplands of Thule,
By ice-girdled floods and floes,
Alike speeds the spell of his godhood
The bloom of his heritage glows;
A monarch: yea, more than a monarch—
All climes to his prowess must bow:
Come! crown him with bays that are stainless—
The King, the brave King of the Plough.

Far, far in earth's uttermost future,
As boundless of splendor as scope,
I see the fair Angel—Fruition,
Outspread his high heralds of Hope:
The roses of joy rain around him,
The lilies of sweetness and calm,
For the sword has been changed to the plough-share,
The lion lies down with the lamb!
O angel majestic! We know thee,
Though raised and transfigured art thou—
This lord of life's grand consummation
Was once the swart King of the Plough!

A Tale of the Sea.

THE STOCK FROM WHICH CAPT. ALBERT C. BURROWS DESCENDED.

A letter from Mystic, Conn., says: Capt. Albert C. Burrows, of the steamer Rio Grande, is at his home again, in this village, after the perilous voyage from Galveston to New York. Capt. Burrows comes honestly by his coolness, self-possession, and courage in time of great peril or danger. His father, Capt. Brutus Burrows, now living near this village, and his grandfather, Capt. Ambrose Burrows, who died here a few years ago, were both sea captains, at home upon the ocean as almost their native element. They were once both captured by pirates. Capt. Ambrose Burrows sailed in the brig Frederic, from New York, bound for Lima, Jan. 24, 1823, his son Brutus with him. On their return voyage, off Quilca, on the Pacific coast, Dec. 27, 1823, the Frederic was captured by a pirate brig mounting a dozen 12-pound carronades, a long tom amidships, and two heavy brass bow chasers, with a complement of 700 men, the Frederic being unarmed. They placed Capt. Burrows and his son on board the Frederic, as they lacked navigators, but allowed none of his own crew, but instead a prize master and nine armed men. When he first returned on board he secured the pistols of himself and mate, and began to revolve in his mind the scheme which resulted in his recapture of the vessel. He found a way to say to his son secretly, "You stand by me, Brutus, for this means liberty or death." At 1 o'clock in the afternoon, Jan. 4, 1824, having all things ready, with his belt secure around him, his pistols in prime order, and his cutlass by his side, he sent Brutus, a lad of seventeen, to invite the prize master into the cabin where he was.

As the man entered he saw the table covered with pistols, and Capt. Burrows, a tall man, standing before it, fully armed, ready for action. The prize master's countenance indicated that the table was furnished not exactly to his taste. Capt. Burrows told him that he must stand neutral, or he was a dead man, that he wanted no assistance. He agreed to remain neutral. Then furnishing his son with pistols, and placing one in his belt, and taking one in each hand, Capt. Burrows told his son to follow him on deck, with a word of caution to be firm. Brutus was equal to the hour. He turned first to the man at the wheel and told him to remain at his post or his life would pay the forfeit on the instant. The long boat was turned up amidships, four men reclining each side. Not a moment was to be lost. Brutus went, pistols in hand, one side and Capt. Burrows the other. In a loud voice he commanded the men to go into the forecastle. They went, and, having fastened them down, he then ordered them one at a time, beginning with the most formidable, the stout boatswain, to come on deck. He obeyed, and they bound him, and so the rest, all but two, whom the Captain ordered to help navigate the brig. He put the others into a strong whale-boat, gave them oars, and told them where they would find the land. He brought the Frederic back to Callao, and eventually got back safe to New York. He made the acquaintance during this eventful cruise of several of our naval officers who greatly admired his courage, and his name and adventures made him famous, and many honors would have been tendered to him had not his modesty caused him to decline publicity and notoriety. This is the stock from whom the Captain of the Rio Grande has descended, and accounts somewhat for his firmness and courage in time of danger.

There have been 15,087 visitors to Mt. Vernon during the past year, and $13,500 have been expended for repairs. Mrs. Swett, the Vice Regent for Maine, has deposited in the library two volumes presented by Loring, Short & Harmon, of Portland. One is an illustrated history of the Bunker Hill Monument Association, and the other a life of Washington in French.

Ex-Senator Thurman's friends in Ohio are talking about nominating him for Secretary of State on the democratic ticket this year. If elected, they will nominate him for Governor next year, and if elected again his nomination for President in 1884 will be a foregone conclusion. It is suspected that this programme may not appear so nice to Senator Pendleton's friends.

Dyspepsia, heart-burn, nausea, indigestion, etc., are always relieved by Brown's Iron Bitters.

A Delightful Novelty.

Ladies prefer Floreston Cologne because they find this lasting combination of exquisite perfumes a delightful novelty.

Brown is very proud of his argumentative powers. "I always carry my p'int," he says. Fogg thinks he has seen Brown when he was carrying a good deal more than that.

A Leap Into Popular Favor.

It is not always that the world acknowledges what is right and best; but BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS, by universal acquiescence, have been awarded the premium for cleansing the blood, curing indigestion, constipation, regulating the bowels, and toning up weak nerves. Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents. For sale by R. H. Moody, Belfast.

"I want a little change," said Mrs. B. to her husband yesterday. "Well," was the heartless response, "just wait for it. Time brings change to everybody."

Worth Remembering.

Now that good times are again upon us, it is worth remembering that no one can enjoy the pleasantest surroundings if in bad health. There are hundreds of miserable people going about to day with disordered stomach, liver or kidneys, when a bottle of Parker's Ginger Tonic would do them more good than all the medicines they have ever tried.

The Secret

of the universal success of Brown's Iron Bitters is simply this: It is the best Iron preparation ever made; is compounded on thoroughly scientific, chemical and medicinal principles, and does just what is claimed for it—no more and no less.

By thorough and rapid assimilation with the blood, it reaches every part of the system, healing, purifying and strengthening. Commencing at the foundation it builds up and restores lost health—in no other way can lasting benefit be obtained.

I have been a great sufferer from a very weak stomach, heartburn, and dyspepsia in its worst form. Nearly everything I ate gave me distress, and I could eat but little. I have tried everything recommended, have taken the prescriptions of a dozen physicians, but got no relief until I took Brown's Iron Bitters. I feel none of the old troubles, and am a new man. I am getting much stronger, and feel first-rate. I am a railroad engineer, and now make my trips regularly. I can not say too much in praise of your wonderful medicine. D. C. MACK.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS does not contain whiskey or alcohol, and will not blacken the teeth, or cause headache and constipation. It will cure dyspepsia, indigestion, heartburn, sleeplessness, dizziness, nervous debility, weakness, &c.

Use only Brown's Iron Bitters made by Brown Chemical Co., Baltimore. Crossed red lines and trade-mark on wrapper.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake, with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood purges out the lurking humors in the system, tha undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcers and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHAS. MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"Inventors cannot employ a person more trustworthy or more capable of securing for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office." EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

BOSTON, October 19, 1870.

R. H. EDDY, Esq.—Dear Sir: You procured for me, in 1840, my first patent. Since then you have acted for and advised me in hundreds of cases, and procured many patents, reissues and extensions. I have occasionally employed the best agencies in New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but I still give you almost the whole of my business, in your line, and advise others to employ you.

Yours truly, GEORGE DRAPER.

MISS BEECHER'S

Hair or Whisker Dye

For Hair and Whiskers. Will change light or gray hair to a jet black, dark brown or auburn color. It contains no sulphur or lead, or other deleterious ingredient. It requires but a single application to effect its purpose. Washing is required after dyeing, as in the case of other dyes. It is not two separate articles (as are most hair dyes), but a single combination, and experienced wholesale druggists, who have handled all the various dyes, pronounce it the best single preparation for changing the color of the hair which has been brought to their notice.

Price, 50 cents. Satisfaction guaranteed in every case, or the money refunded. Prepared only by DR. G. W. THOMPSON, Rockland, Me. Sold by all dealers.

I sell extensively by ladies, many buying as high as a dozen bottles at a time. 1yreow16

MANHOOD

HOW LOST. HOW RESTORED!

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure of SPERMATORRHŒA or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, IMPOTENCY, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, CONSUMPTION, EPILEPSY and FITS, Induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, &c.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post-paid, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. Address as above. 1y13

LADIES Are you aware that most of the low-priced SPOOL COTTON is either short in length, or only two-cord, and possibly both?

What is labelled 200 yards does not contain over 130 yards.

Dealers sell it because they can buy it cheap, and do not expect the cheat to be discovered.

You should insist upon having HOLYOKE THREAD, every Spool of which is warranted three-cord, and to contain 200 yards.

It is cheaper for you
