COUNTY OR RIGBY PARK ROAD.

In expending this appropriation your Selectmen, thinking that a more judicious expenditure could be effected by expending the money under their direct supervision, we hired men and teams by the day ; we made the change in the road to conform to the new location made by the County Commissioners last June to connect with the road in Cape Elizabeth, and completed the road, except opening the short piece of ditch at the Cape Elizabeth line, which, owing to the amount of water at that time, we thought best to let go until there was less water, the unexpended balance will more than pay the cost of finishing the ditch ; we covered the entire length of the road, except about ten rods where we thought the material good enough for a road, with about eight inches of gravel taken from the road bed on the top of Leonard's hill, the road bed widened and the hill lowered about three feet at the highest point. The following is a list of the expenditures :

Greatest number of inmates at the farm during the year, 6.
 Present number 6.

There have been two deaths at the farm during the present year, Thomas Burnham and Annie Tibbetts, and the same has caused an increased expense at the farm. There have been one hundred and fifty tramps sheltered and fed at the farm during the year. The administrator appointed to settle the Lois Libby estate has paid the treasurer two hundred and fifty-one dollars and two cents, leaving only fourteen dollars and ninety-eight cents expense for the town to pay for the support and burial of Eunice and Lois Libby, who were sick and died at Oak Hill last winter.

School Districts.

In compliance with an act passed by the Legislature of 1893 your Assessors on the 12th day of March last commenced the appraisal of all school property in the town, taking as a basis upon which to work the suggestion of State Superintendent Luce, that the school property should be valued at a fair cash value. This we have tried to conform to. We found that the value of the school property in the several districts would not effect the tax of persons in the districts to so great an extent as the valuation of the taxable property within the limits of the several districts would; for instance, the School District at Black Point we found the best school house in town, but owing to the large valuation of property within its limits, amounting to $234,473, the rebate tax was very low per thousand, and in District No. 13 at North Scarboro, where we found a comfortable school building, which we valued at a nominal sum, the exceeding small valuation or amount of property within its limits being only $25,114, caused an exceedingly large rebate tax. While we do not question the wisdom of the departure from the old school district system which we were obliged to adopt, still we realize that the citizens of the town in some districts have been obliged to bear a burdensome tax and it almost seems an injustice to be obliged to pay for advantages and not receive any benefit from them. The value of the new system future experience will prove. We are under great obligations to Capt. Cyrus F. Moulton, Robert McLaughlin, B. F. Carter, William Merrill, Johnson Libby, John H. Seavey, Henry S. Jones and Randolph McKenney and others for their valuable assistance in helping us locate the lines of the several districts, for which we wish to express our sincere thanks, and would respectfully submit the following valuation of real and personal estate, together with value of school property and rebate on real and personal estate in each school district per $1,000, rate of taxation on account of school property $7.30 per $1,000 ;

	Value of real and personal estate as per school dis- trict.	Value of School property in each dis- trict.	Rebate on real and per- sonal estate in each dist. per $1,000.

In presenting the foregoing report we have tried to present the condition of the town in its exact condition in regard to the tax deeds in the hands of the Treasurer, which we must consider as availabilities and at their face value until the town takes some action to realize their exact worth. We would respectfully recommend that some action be taken at the annual meeting in regard to them. We instructed the Treasurer to take up three thousand dollars' worth of notes. The same has been done. One note for one thousand has been taken up, and in addition the four thousand dollar note bearing five per cent. interest has been taken up by paying two thousand dollars and issuing a new note for two thousand dollars at 4½ per cent. interest.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

REPORT

OF THE

Supervisor of Schools.

It has been my pleasant duty for the past year to have under my care the schools of our town. No subject secures my attention more quickly than the question of right education for children. I think I can say that our schools are in the most flourishing condition of my remembrance. The conscientious and painstaking efforts of the teachers, united with the careful and earnest work of the students, have met with great success. The teachers of the several schools have carried into their work patience, energies and abilities, for which I cannot too highly commend them. The students have seen at once that there was to be no sham work, and have nobly performed their part in thoroughly preparing each task allotted to them.

Students should first acquire the principles of good penmanship, spelling and reading aloud, which includes a clear and distinct enunciation.

If they fail to do this they will be forever after hampered by the deficiency,

In these branches taught there has been a great improvement.

In arithmetic it has been our great object to have the students thoroughly understand each subject taught before advancing to the subsequent subject.

Mathematics is the one science that is completely logical and trains the mind in precise and exact habits of thought that cannot be found in any other branch of the common school course.

Much attention has been given to grammar, for I think with President Eliot of Harvard University, that "the great object of all education is to learn how to speak and write well the mother tongue."

The students made good progress in geography.

United States History has received a large share of attention, and each student has been taught to be proud of being an American child.

From time to time the schools have had declamations. The great object of life is the formation of character, and the time to shape and mould that character is in youth.

To inspire the young to make the most of themselves must be done by teaching them the characteristics of representative men and women, who have been great and noble.

In connection with this work I have introduced into the schools during the year two books—Ethics of success No. 1 and No. 2, a work which commends itself.

The minds of teachers and students have been in school work, and I have found orderly schools at my visits.

In the choice of teachers it has been my purpose to select those who possess the greatest abilities and dispositions suitable for governing.

I am proud to say that I have been successful in securing teachers within our own town, and have endeavored to fill the positions with our own teachers,

The necessary repairs have been made on the school houses during the year. Next year there will be many necessary repairs on the school building, as the ceilings will have to be whitened, etc., and other necessary repairs in order to protect the health of the students.

In the purchase of supplies it has been my object to buy where I could the cheapest and for the general interest of all concerned. The amount appropriated at the last annual meeting for supplies was rather scant. There are many things which the schools really need in the way of supplies and which must be purchased the coming year.

The salaries of the teachers have been fixed according to the amount of work involved. Each school has received the same number of weeks, giving the students of each and every school a fair and equal opportunity.

At the last annual meeting the town failed to elect truant officers, as required by law, and said officers were subsequently appointed by the municipal officers. I have given instructions to the truant officers and labored to accomplish the objects of the law of compulsory education, in which I think we have been successful.

It is very gratifying to state that the financial condition of our schools for the present year is excellent. There will probably be a fair surplus left from the appropriation after all debts are paid. We recommend for the coming year that the town raise the same amount for the support of common schools.

The success of the new school law is not to be questioned. It has already, during the first year of its existence, accomplished many of the advantages which the authors of the act so plainly and clearly foretold.

The instruction of the high school has been under the care of Mr. George H. Stoddard, whose earnest and faithful efforts deserve the highest commendations.

It has been our object to establish that course of study which will be most practical to the students after their school days are finished and they enter upon their vocations of life. Written examinations of each term's work have been given to all the students, and they have been required to attain a certain percentage upon the work of each term, for the general welfare of the students and that the school might attain its present high standard.

The work of teacher and students of this school deserve the highest praise.

To-day we have a High School in the Town of Scarborough, of which all wise and conscientious citizens may well be proud.

In conclusion I wish to state that each and every school within the town has done good and faithful work; there being no disturbance in any school to my knowledge. I am pleased to give to each school individually this excellent report.

Thanking the citizens of Scarborough for the courtesy shown me by them, and for their loyal support, hearty cooperation and assistance given me while in the discharge and performance of my duties.

I am your obedient servant,
