GORHAM'S ARLENE GRAFFAM IS CROWNED SEA GODDESS OF '56

Pictured is the colorful coronation ceremony at the Public Landing Friday evening which saw the selection and coronation of pretty Arlene Graffam of Gorham as Maine's Sea Goddess.

Each of the Sea Princesses and the Sea Goddess were escorted by midshipmen of the Maine Maritime Academy at Castine.

Members of the Knox Theatre Guild took the parts of maritime characters of fact and fiction in the Royal Court of the Sea, headed by Ralph Stone as King Neptune.

The Port O'Rockland Junior Drum and Bugle Corps lent much to the colorful event which held a massive crowd spellbound for almost an hour.

The tiered stages of the coronation scene, all decorated in brilliant covering and cutouts of fish, lobsters and other sea life, beautifully lighted, made a scene such as the festival has never seen before.

The presence of governors of two states and a representative of a third, plus many Maine officials and patrons of the Festival seated on the Memorial Pier gave dignity to the proceedings which led to the selection of the reigning lady of the state's maritime empire.

The crowd packed all available space in and around the pier and extended to cross the roadways and back to the tented area near the waterfront. Every available vantage spot was taken.

OUTDOOR CORONATION DRAWS THE GREATEST OPENING NIGHT CROWD IN HISTORY, FUN AND FEASTING CONTINUES OVER WEEKEND

The Maine Seafoods Festival got off to the most auspicious start in its 10 year history Friday evening. Pleasant skies and a just-cool enough evening lent a Maine coast charm to the event which exceeded all its predecessors.

Pretty Arlene Graffam became Maine's new Sea Goddess and a beautiful reigning lady she made. Equally beautiful and gracious were the eight ladies of her court and the retiring Goddess, Marjorie Hart of Rockland.

The selection of the Sea Goddess took place before an estimated 10,000 people at the Public Landing. The Maine Fishermen's Memorial Pier was decorated in a marine theme emblematic of the state's vast seafood industry, of which the old seaport city of Rockland is the center.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the largest crowd in years waited at the serving lines for their share of Rockland's choice dish, Maine lobster boiled to a delicious red in the world's largest boiling kettles.

Color, pageantry and enthusiasm at the start of a glorious weekend on the coast was evident everywhere. The public responded with appreciation to the out-of-doors coronation and the numbers present were many times any previous opening night crowd.

The big seafood feast continues today and Sunday as all accommodations between the Kennebec and Penobscot rivers are jammed to the doors with visitors.

A continuous round of feasting and entertainment is planned both days.

At 10:30 this morning the main Festival parade, complete with a wealth of floats, musical units, ancient fire engines and comics will wind through the business section.

At noon, the serving lines will open to remain open until late evening.

At 1 p. m. members of 13 hantub companies from all sections of New England will nimbly strike their pumps and hose lines and strive mightily to outdistance one another with streams of water.

The site will be the Festival grounds.

At 1 and 7 o'clock, the Cliquot Club Aquarama will perform feats of diving and precision swimming off Capt. Henry's Wharf in view of the Festival area.

A square dance and vaudeville will be highlights of Saturday evening.

Sunday, festivities open at noon and the serving lines will be in operation for Sunday dinner.

The memorial service to all men lost at sea will be held on the Fishermen's Memorial Pier at 2 p. m.

The Lanplighters of Augusta will sing at 2:30 and will be followed by a concert by the Camden War Memorial Post Legion Band which will also play prior to the memorial services.

At 5 o'clock, King Neptune and his court will return to the sea in colorful ceremonies which will officially close the pageantry of the Festival.

However, feasting will continue and the midway and rides will be open through the evening.

BOARD OF ZONING APPEALS TO HEAR PETITION OF N. E. T. & T. TO BUILD IN RESIDENTIAL AREA

The possibility of the construction of a $300,000 two-story office building at 70 Broad street by the of Camden received an estimated $125 damage to its right front fender, grill and radiator when it came into collision with a 1956 Chevrolet coupe driven by Louis Axt, 16, of Williamstown, Mass., on Main street.

Axt's car sustained an estimated $200 damage to the rear fender and bumper area, police said. Neither driver was injured.

Police said the accident occurred as both cars were headed south on Main street about 7:20 p. m. The Axt car stopped suddenly in traffic and the girl's vehicle came into collision with the rear of his car.

Thursday morning, cars operated by Pearl Fairfield, 70, of Islesboro and Doris Sawyer, 50, of Camden collided on Main street causing about $70 damage to the Sawyer car, police said. The Sawyer car was being driven past as the Fairfield vehicle pulled from the curb, police said. No damage was reported to the Fairfield car.

At 11:45 a. m. the same morning, a collision occurred between cars operated by Bernard Krumins of South Boston, Mass., and L. G. Poillon of Princeton, N. J., on Main street as both cars were headed north. Minor damage was reported to Krumins vehicle.

New England Telephone and Telegraph Company will be decided at an Aug. 14 meeting of the Rockland Board of Zoning Appeals.

The application for a building permit for such construction, submitted to city building Inspector Wesley Knight, was referred to the board by him after Knight had ruled against the construction.

Fire Chief Knight laid the final decision of such a construction to the board after discovering the property specified in the application is situated in a residential "B" zone. The city ordinances rule against any structure in such a zone that does not conform with the appearances of other zone "B" structures.

It would be permissible for such a public building structure to be constructed in the residential zone if the building complied with the description of residential dwellings.

The company plans a building that will house business offices and dial equipment. Inside equipment and permanent fixtures would bring the total value well over a million dollars, the city building inspector reported.

No trucks will be used in the area and no repair or storage will be carried out at the location, according to the specifications of the application.

The company, business offices, now located on School street, will be temporarily moved to the Bicknell Block on Main street as announced by the company officials recently. The offices will be located there pending construction of a new office building.

The telephone company has taken out an option on the Broad street property contingent on the city's approval of the site for construction. Stanley Taylor, district manager for the company, said.

The property is owned by Manuel Carrillo.

Members of the zoning board are Chairman Christy Adams, Frederick M. Newcomb, Blaine P. Merrill and James M. Pease, alternate.

HOSPITAL BUILDING FUND DRIVE REACHES $72,080 THROUGH GIFTS OF MEDICAL MEN AND TRUSTEES

The first progress report issued by the chairman of the Knox County General Hospital Building Fund shows a total of $72,080 already subscribed against the hospital's ultimate goal of $800,000.

Cost of the hospital's building and modernization program which includes completely new diagnostic and therapeutic facilities and the addition of 20 beds to the 60-bed institution, is estimated at $675,000 of which $75,000 was available before the campaign was announced.

Campaign chairman Robert W. Hudson announced today that the $72,080 thus far subscribed was pledged largely by the hospital's Board of Trustees and medical staff. The Memorial and Special Gifts' Committee, headed by Seth Low, and the Corporate Committee under the direction of John Pomeroy report several subscriptions which help swell the total.

Active solicitation for memorials and special gifts has been under way for about two weeks.

Under the Memorial Plan, the drive chairman explained, individuals, families and businesses have the opportunity of creating permanent memorials in the hospital by subscribing amounts required to construct and equip sections of the proposed hospital.

Several units have already been selected by area residents and one by a local corporation. These include a private room in the new wing, $5,100; a waiting room, $3,600; a clean-up room in the new maternity section, $2,400; an equipment storage room in the new surgical suite, $2,100 and a bed in the new pediatric department, $1,800.

Maine Sea Goddess Arlene Graffam
Arlene Graffam, an 18 year old brunette from Gorham, was crowned Maine Sea Goddess in a colorful coronation ceremony at the Maine Fishermen's Memorial Pier Friday night to reign over the 1956 Maine Seafoods Festival. Placing the coveted silver-starred crown upon the overwhelmed greenish-blue eyed beauty was Maine's Gov. Edmund S. Muskie, special guest of the Festival. Assisting him was Governor Dennis J. Roberts of Rhode Island and Governor's Executive Councilor Parker Merrill of New Hampshire. The winner will join King Neptune in his three day rule of the gala Rockland festivities that will conclude Sunday afternoon when the King will return to the sea for another year. Miss Graffam was chosen by a board of three judges over eight other pretty contestants. She is a graduate of Gorham High School in June of this year and plans to attend the Maine Medical Center in Portland for an eventual nursing career. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Nicholson of Gorham. The new Maine Sea Goddess, who has never appeared in a beauty contest before, has one sister and a steady boy friend. At high school, she was an eager participant in sports, especially softball and basketball and includes in her sports interests, bowling and swimming. Other contestants were: Mary Grispi, 18, of Rockland; Joan Hewes, 18, of Rockport; Linda Johnson, 17, of Glen Cove; Judy Chick, 20, of Westbrook; Maureen Quinn, 18, of Thomaston; Evelyn Crockett, 18, of Camden; Cynthia Palmer, 18, of Owls Head; and Marie Ann Poland, 17, of Round Pond. The winner, who is summing in Rockland, was sponsored in the contest by the lobster dealers of Knox County who included: Atwood Brothers of Tenants Harbor, William Burge, Penobscot Fish

Company, Independent Lobster Company, H. W. Look, A. C. McLoon and Company, Rockliff and Witham, Regal Lobster Company, Thorndike and Hix Company, Spruce Head Lobster Corp. and Maine Coast Seafoods Corp. Judges for the Maine Sea Goddess contest were: Ralph Ferguson, vice president of the Boston Deposit Trust Company; Dr. Herbert Wagner of New York City, regional medical consultant for the National Polio Foundation and Frank Coffin, Lewiston attorney. Camden Bumps Come In Threes Three vehicle accidents within 24 hours on Main street in Camden resulted in a total of $500, in property damage, Camden Police reported Thursday. The accidents occurred Wednesday night and Thursday morning. On Wednesday, a 1950 Chevrolet sedan operated by Sylvia Lane, 22,

Skin Divers To Elect Wednesday

An introductory meeting of the skin divers club of Knox County area, drawing nine people, including one woman, was held Wednesday evening at the Farnsworth Museum.

It was decided to meet again Wednesday evening, Aug. 8, for the first business meeting and the election of officers. Any interested person in the area, 16 years or over, is invited to attend the meeting. Equipment and instruction will be made available to members announced.

The group plans to attach their chapter with the Northeast Skin Divers Council.

Projects that might be undertaken by the group were discussed.

Rockets Riot, Clippers Suffer

Behind the four hit performance of Don Hanson and a 15 hit attack by their own batters, the Rockland Rockets ran riot over a helpless Thomaston Clippers squad 17 to 1 in a scheduled Knox-Lincoln Twilight game Thursday night at South Field.

Don McLellan and Don Hanson each knocked out two run home runs in the six run fifth inning for the winners. McLellan picked up three other singles in the game to lead the Rocket batting along with Dean Deahon who also collected four hits.

The win was Rockland's ninth of the season.

DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMAN RELATES POSITION ON "NO POLITICS" IN FESTIVAL PARADE LINE

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Distortion of the facts seems to be a consistent policy of some people. But I think that Honesty is still the best policy and the people of Knox County should know the true facts in regard to the controversy about floats in the Lobster Festival.

1. In the first place, I personally contacted the general chairman, Jasper Akers, about a week ago about entering a float in the Festival. He referred me to the chairman in charge of floats and the parade, who stated to me that he greatly welcomed the float and it could be entered. (The float was also a civic thought in that it was to depict our form of government under which we live and to display our great American Flag with other features, totally dis-associated with any political party or theme. No names of political candidates of either party was to appear or displayed, and no political gestures or speeches whatever were certainly not to be made). When a float cannot be entered in such a civic project as this Festival in order to display to the people our Flag and our form of government, then it's a sorry state of affairs, especially at the crucial times we are now living when we must do all we can to demonstrate and instill in the minds of the people that the American form of government is the best in the world.

2. When the chairman of the floats and parade brought the list of floats to be entered to the general chairman, this particular entry was questioned, and what do you think the "Festival chiefs" did? They called a prominent Republican to see if the Republicans were going to enter a float, and when he answered "no," then and there the policy must have been made that this particular float could not be entered.

3. In my opinion, there never was a policy made about types of floats allowed or disallowed since the Lobster Festival began, and this is 10 years. The president of the Festival stated to me that a policy was made several months ago. If that was a fact, then certainly the committee in charge would have known it, and also certainly a prominent Republican would not have had to be called.

4. The real reason, in my opinion, why this particular civic float was disallowed was not because of any previous policy made, because there was no actual policy, but it was disallowed only because of the reason that the Republicans were not going to enter a float, and therefore, any entry sponsored by the Democrats, regardless of what type of float it was, would not be allowed.

5. I will let the public think over these facts and let it decide the merits of this matter, and also who it thinks is actually the head or "chief" of the Festival who makes the policies.

6. To conclude this, I would like to state another fact. The president of the Festival personally telephoned me over a week ago asking me if I would volunteer my services at the Festival grounds on the serving line. . . . I happily and heartily agreed to give my services for this great civic project. My policy is this: Even though I know of many Republicans who are not volunteering their services for this civic project, I, a Democrat, will still be at the serving line contributing my share. I also believe that this civic float sponsored by the Democrats should have been allowed even though the Republicans

Thomaston Yard Launching Today

A 42-foot twin screw cabin cruiser, Sheila Ann, will hit the water in a launching ceremony scheduled for this morning from the Newbert and Wallace Boat yard in Thomaston.

The cruiser, built for Capt. Henry Klimm of Woods Hole, Mass., will be used as a charter craft for deep sea fishing in the Cape Cod area and will travel to Florida during the winter months.

The twin screw craft is powered by a General Motors diesel and was designed by Dwight S. Simpson and Associates of Boston, marine architects.

It has a three and one-half foot draught and a 14 foot beam. The craft was constructed with Philippine mahogany planking and Everdure fastenings. Control is from a flying bridge through a hydraulic twin steering unit.

It has been under construction since the middle of January at the boat yard and built at a cost of about $30,000.

Receipt From Days of Seven Cent Milk Found

A documentary example of the price changes of foods in the Rockland area during the past half century was brought to light Wednesday when a receipt, tucked inside the attic flooring was discovered by Ernest King of 7 Granite street.

The receipt, dated March 1, 1896, was written in payment of 30 quarts of milk for a one month period at a cost of seven cents a quart. Total cost was $2.10.

The current price of a quart of milk averages 24 cents which would bring the 30 quart bill to $7.20.

The receipt was made out to the Austin Milk Farm of Rockland and paid by one, A. F. Heald. It had been printed at The Courier-Gazette Press.

King found the aged paper beneath the attic flooring while chasing a ball lost by his three year old son, Mark.

Troopers Warn D-D-D

D-D-D "Don't Drive Drunk!"

State Police records show that the drunk driver has become one of the major problems of this motor vehicle age.

Drunk drivers have been directly responsible for motor vehicle crashes which have sent many innocent people to violent premature deaths and which have condemned countless others to life sentences of pain and helplessness.

Experience has taught us that we just cannot afford to drink and drive! No one can afford to gamble that he can drive "under the influence" and avoid trouble. If he wishes to avoid the remorse and regret which must be part and parcel of the life of every drunk driver who has been responsible for the death of another human being, he must make it a rule never to drive after drinking!

CAST YOUR VOTE FOR WILLIS A. TRAFTON, JR., FOR GOVERNOR

TRAFTON IS A NATURAL

One of the remarkable features of the present hectic political wars has been the development of Willis A. Trafton, Jr., Republican candidate for governor, as a campaigner second to none.

Trafton started his drive for election cold, that is, he had had little or no experience in the difficult art of political in-fighting. He had a natural gift for easy speech but was not a trained public speaker or debater.

Yet Trafton has taken to campaigning like a duck to water—He has shown the natural tact which is the first essential of a hard fought campaign, he has developed a gift for effective public speaking that gains great weight by his natural earnestness and sincerity, and finally he has shown an almost superhuman capacity for work, running his experienced campaign managers ragged and always ready for one more talk and one more trip, no matter how long his day has been. Three and four speeches a day is nothing unusual for him, and he takes 12 hour days of hectic travel in his stride with no apparent diminution of his vigor.

The greatest asset of the Republican gubernatorial candidate is that he likes "people." He never wearies of shaking hands or meeting folks or talking issues.

In the vernacular, Trafton is a "natural" when it comes to campaigning.

WISCASSET OPEN HOUSE DAY

Wiscasset, now a quiet Maine-coast village with abandoned sailing ships rotting at its crumbling, once-busy wharves was once the busiest port east of Boston.

Most of the beautiful old homes in Wiscasset were built in the early 1800's by ship builders and sea captains.

It was long a tradition to open these magnificent old homes and some of the more historic buildings for one day each summer, and this year that fine custom is being re-established with August 15 as Wiscasset Open House Day from 11 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

The public is warmly invited to visit these priceless homes through the courtesy of their owners for the benefit of the Lincoln County Cultural and Historical Association.

COMMERCIAL FISHERIES COME INTO OWN

Too great importance cannot be given the move, originating with Senator Payne and vigorously championed through its course by him, which creates a Commercial Fisheries Bureau under a Commissioner of the Department of the Interior.

Previously the fisheries had labored under a great disadvantage and no recognition as a separate industry under the Fish and Wildlife Service, thereby losing standing, and to suffer under the resulting lack of government priorities.

The new status will be of great value to the commercial fisheries which will now receive proper recognition as the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries and make possible a great new development in research and market developments.

Senator Payne—our thanks to you!

THIS IS THE SEASON OF "17 YEAR LOCUSTS"

There may well be grave annoyance ahead for all of us shortly with the advent of the "17 year locusts" so-called, for this is their year. These nauseous insects make their appearance at 17 year intervals over the northern part of the country.

The noisy pests likely to plague us along with the rest of the North, have a cycle of dormancy covering 17 years and at the end of that time un-numbered millions of them creep out of the earth as though at a pre-arranged signal. They obscure the skies at times like the locusts of Biblical lore, though our pests are cicadas rather than true locusts. Few of them were seen and heard in the east on their last appearance, but with prevailing winds in the proper quarter they could appear in vast numbers, cover everything and everybody and scrunch underfoot when one walks on the sidewalks.

Let us hope we escape this cicada invasion as lightly as in 1939.

TIME FOR A CHANGE!

From the reputable and highly proper Reader's Digest comes this one.

The increasing number of North American tourists with little or no knowledge of Spanish visiting Puerto Rico has prompted the Department of Tourism to request a San Juan furniture store to change its window display. The window contained several comfortable-looking beds with a sign "Sin Pronto."

Many of the visitors didn't know that this is a Spanish colloquialism for "no down payment."

Average Wage Of Maine Labor Shows Increase

The Maine Employment Security Commissions reports that the average workweek for production workers employed in Maine manufacturing industries has remained constant at 40.1 hours per week during the past three months, but, compared with June 1955, this year's June average was down 0.9 hours.

Average hourly earnings, on the other hand, have been increasing steadily during the past several months, rising to an all-time peak of $1.533 in June. This was more than 12 cents per hour above the June 1955 average of $1.431 and 25 cents per hour higher than the June average five years ago.

Production workers averaged $62.25 a week last month as compared with $58.71 in June last year and $51.60 for the same month five years ago.

Van Baalen Workers' Wages Increased 10 Cents; Added Benefits Granted In Contract

Union negotiators, company officials and members of the union local shop committee present during the signing of the contract Thursday noon at the Camden street firm are, front row, left to right: Guy Capizzi, union business agent; David Connelly, superintendent of the plant; Joseph Salerno, New England regional division representative of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, AFL-CIO; and Louis Yaden, plant manager. Rear, from the left, are: Thornton, vice president of the local; Mrs. Lydia McClure, president and Miss Edith Wall, secretary-treasurer.

The Van Baalen & Heilbrun Co., Inc., and the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, AFL-CIO signed a two-year extension of their union agreement Thursday, covering over 200 employees of the company in Rockland, Maine, Joseph Salerno, New England director of the Clothing Workers announced.

The union contract calls for a 10 cents per hour wage increase for all employees effective Sept. 4. It also provides for increased insurance benefits for the union workers and their families and higher old age retirement pensions.

Disability insurance benefits will be increased from $20 to $24 per week, hospitalization benefits are increased from $9 to $11 a day and the period for which hospitalization benefits will be paid is raised from 30 to 60 days with surgical benefits increased from $200 to $250.

The union old age pension will be raised from $35 to $42.50 per month in addition to government social security.

All insurance benefits are paid for by the employer and cover the families of the members.

The new agreement provides that any future increases in pay will be effective June 1 of any year with the union having the right to reopen the agreement for this purpose 120 days before June 1. This brings the short and cotton garment agreement in line with those in effect in the men's clothing industry.

In announcing the agreement, Salerno paid tribute to the peaceful labor-agreement relations which have characterized the relationship between the union and competition in this branch of the company. "Despite Southern industry, both the workers and the company have made tremendous gains because of the mutual co-operation. The future looks quality bright."

Representing the union in the negotiations was Salerno, assisted by Business Agent Guy Capizzi and the following union shop committee: Mrs. Lydia McClure, Miss Flora Thornton, Miss Edith Wall, Mrs. Arlene Kimball, Marie Dean, Lillian Wotton, Neil Brown, Belle Roberts and Ruth Farrell.

Representing the company were Superintendent David Connelly, and Louis Yaden, plant manager.

County Extension Associations in Maine hold their annual meetings in October or November. They're open to everyone interested.

Robert E. Smalley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Smalley of Rockland and now of Merrimac, Mass., has been promoted to supervisor of plating of the Clarastat Mfg. Co., Inc. It is a highly important position in electronics. Mr. Smalley graduated from Rockland High School in 1942 and did advance work at Franklin Technical Institute in Boston. He served in the U. S. Navy and since 1947 has acted as control chemist and supervisor in several electroplating concerns. He is married and has two children.

As usual, weather permitting, seats will be placed on the big double lawns of the Davis Funeral Home, that friends may view the Festival parade from that vantage point.

Red faces were showing among the management of the W. H. Glover Company hardware store at 453 Main street Wednesday night after they received a call from Rockland police Headquarters. It seems the store was locked up tight at closing time Wednesday night securing the merchandise against any possible theft and the employees headed contentedly toward home. However, they forgot a large rack of valuable garden tools sitting outside the door on Main street containing several pieces of new merchandise which patrolman Albert Smith noticed on a routine check of doors. He notified the owners who came down, opened the door and moved the rack to a proper place inside the store. One wonders why no passerby helped themselves to the apparently abandoned tools unless such equipment as garden rakes, trowels, spades and watering cans reminded them of too much work.

New Honors For Andrew Sides

Andrew Sides

Andrew Sides, well-known "down-easter" from Rockville, has been elected a director of the World Trade Center in New England. It was announced today.

Mr. Sides is active in the Maine Port Authority, and is a member of the New England Governor's Committee on Public Transportation. A former president of the New England Shipbuilding Corporation and General Manager of the Todds Erie Basin, Brooklyn, N. Y. Sides is presently a director of the Bath Iron Works.

Rufus F. Hale, president of the World Trade Center, announced the appointment following a directors meeting. "We are particularly pleased to have Andrew Sides as a director of the Center," said Hale. "His experience with international trade problems will make him a most valuable representative from the State of Maine."

Mr. Sides was a Lt. Commander in the U. S. Coast Guard during World War II. He was also associated with C. H. Sprague and Sons for several years until partially retired.

A Portland man, Henry S. White, 32, is being held by city police for arraignment in Rockland Municipal Court this morning on a charge of indecent liberties taken against a 12-year-old Rockland girl Thursday night. White, who is employed by a carnival unit visiting in this area, gave the girl a ride in his car Thursday to Rockwood where the act was committed, Rockland Police Chief Bernard Thompson said Friday. The girl was with another companion at the Public Landing at the time they were offered the ride.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all of our neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness, their messages of sympathy and the beautiful floral tributes sent during our time of sorrow.

Mrs. Charles Collins and Janet Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Collins and family.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Walter E. Teel, who entered the spirit world Aug. 5, 1955.

There's a chair now that is empty. There's a voice we hear no more. And the hands that were always busy.

Have ceased to toil as of yore. They are folded so quiet and peaceful.

Now that their life's work is o'er. Still in memory, you are with us. As you always were before.

Softly stars are gleaming. Upon a precious grave. Where you sleepeth without dreaming.

One we loved, but could not save. The gates of Heaven opened. And God took you home to rest. In our hearts your memory lingers.

Sweetly tender, kind and true. There's not a day, dear Daddy. That we do not think of you.

Lovingly, his wife and daughter, Jennie and Babe, granddaughter, Suzanne.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Municipal Court

Beverly Glendenning, 29, of 15 Birch street pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $5 and $6 court costs on a charge of operating a motor vehicle with no inspection sticker in the only Rockland Municipal Court action Thursday morning.

The complaint was brought by Rockland police who stopped her on Main street Wednesday.

In Municipal Court action Friday morning cross charges of two counts of assault and battery brought against a Rockland woman by her neighbors and a charge of threatening to commit an offense against her brought by her against one neighbor were continued to Aug. 7 upon request of counsel.

Two charges of assault and battery were brought against Mrs. Gwendolyn Ranquist of 15 Rockland street, one by Frank Springer of the same address and the other by his wife, Marion Springer.

In turn, Mrs. Ranquist brought a charge of threatening to commit an offense against the husband. The charge alleged that Springer had threatened to assault her and her minor children and to burn the house on July 30.

The charges against the woman alleged she had committed the assault and battery against both parties on July 30.

Court Recorder Charles Dwina continued the charges.

John M. Richardson

Complete and Accurate Steamboat History
Of Bangor, Beginning With 1838, Compiled
By Capt. Walter E. Scott

This is the big Eastern State, which ran a number of years Boston to Bangor.

(Second Installment)
Deer Isle, Maine, July 24.
Dear Steamboat Editor:—

The following is a continuation of my article of July 23d:

July 1853, steamers Boston, Capt. Sanford, Penobscot, Capt. Flowers, ran opposition this year; steamer Governor, ran in opposition to the Daniel Webster, steamer Lawrence, ran between Bangor, Belfast and Ellsworth, commanded by Capt. Deering.

Nov. 29, 1853: The steamers Daniel Webster, Boston, and Eastern State, were caught in the ice, also the tug Terror, and 60 sail of vessels, all lumber loaded and ready to sail. The ice left on Thursday, Dec. 1, and the steamers and vessels left the river.

Steamer Daniel Webster, Capt. Samuel Richard, steamer Penobscot, Capt. William Flowers, steamer Boston, Capt. Thomas B. Sanford, made their regular trips and steamer Secor also ran on her old route. Capt. Charles Deering commanded her.

On Thursday, July 29, steamer Admiral was wrecked near Quoddy Head, on Aug. 5. Steamer Governor, near Mt. Desert, while in thick fog, ran into Schooner Arabella, and sank her. She was loaded with paving and she sank at once. Capt. Perry and one man perished on her. A woman on board was saved by the buoyancy of her clothes. The Governor had her stern carried away, causing her to leak so badly that she was beached on the inside of Cranberry Island where she remained during the day but was repaired and was able to proceed to Eastport.

On Nov. 1, steamer Gen. Knox took the place of the Penobscot to run to Boston during the winter months. Steamer Daniel Webster made the regular trips to Portland in 1855 with steamer Boston, Capt. E. H. Sanford, and Gen. Knox. Capt. Lewis Winchenbauge. The steamer Eastern State was sold by her owner, Capt. R. F. Loper to a company who proposed to run her between Boston and Yarmouth, N. S. Steamer Kennebec began running to Boston in connection with the Steamer Boston. On April 5, 1856, the steamer Menemon Sanford, Capt. E. H. Sanford began running between Boston and Bangor, and Frankfort, steamer Daniel Webster began running between Portland and Frankfort.

April 9, 1856: the steamer Secor, er, called the Falcon, began running between Bangor and Castine in 1856, connecting with the City of Richmond. On July 22, 1866, steamer Milton Martin, Capt. Albert Wood, began running between Bangor and Portland. Steamer Eastern City made a few trips while the Milton Martin was undergoing repairs.

On Aug. 28, 1867, steamer Cambridge came to Bangor, taking the place of the Katahdin, while she was undergoing repairs. In the spring of 1868, steamers William Tibbets, and Katahdin, ran between Winterport and Boston. Steamer Deering began running April 28, May 25, 1868, steamer Cambridge, Capt. J. P. Johnson, and Katahdin, Capt. Henry A. Rich, ran on the Boston and Bangor Line, Sanford's independent line, Capt. W. E. Dennison, took command of the steamer Richmond. Steamer Katahdin ran during the winter of 1868-1869.

Steamers Katahdin, Cambridge, and William Tibbets, ran during the season of 1869. Steamers Alliance, Capt. T. R. Schute, City of Richmond, Capt. Dennison, Katahdin, Capt. Rich and Cambridge, Capt. Johnson, ran during the season of 1870. In 1871 steamers Cambridge, Capt. Johnson, Alliance, Capt. Schute, Katahdin, Capt. Rich, were running between Boston and Bangor. Aug. 1, 1871 steamer Alliance made her last trip.

In the spring of 1872, the steamer City of Richmond, Capt. C. Kilby, steamer Katahdin, Capt. William R. Roix, Cambridge, Capt. Johnson, ran to Bangor. In 1873-1874, steamers Katahdin, Capt. Roix, Cambridge, Capt. Johnson, and City of Richmond, Capt. C. Kilby, ran to Bangor. In 1875, steamers City of Richmond, Capt. C. Kilby, Cambridge, Capt. C. B. Sanford, Katahdin, Capt. W. R. Roix, ran to Bangor. On April 10, 1876 steamer City of Richmond began running from Bangor to Portland, steamers Katahdin, Capt. Roix, Cambridge, Capt. Johnson, Steamer Lewiston came to Bangor to take the place of the City of Richmond that was slightly damaged in an accident. In 1878 steamers Cambridge, Capt. Johnson, Katahdin, Capt. Roix, Lewiston, Capt. Deering, began one trip a week.

In 1879 steamers City of Richmond, Capt. Kilby, Cambridge, Capt. Otis Ingraham, Lewiston, Capt. Deering, ran one trip a week to Portland; 1880, steamers Cambridge, Capt. Otis Ingraham, Katahdin, Capt. Roix and City of Richmond, Capt. William E. Dennison, New Brunswick, Capt. F. C. Hamer. In 1881, steamer Cambridge, Capt. Otis Ingraham, Katahdin, Capt. Roix, and City of Richmond.

Steamer James A. Gary, Capt. Goodwin began running between Bangor and New York. Also the New Brunswick. This was the year 1882. In 1883, Cambridge, Capt. Ingraham, Penobscot, Capt. Roix, Steamer Katahdin had a close shave from foundering, on January 9, 1886. She reached Portsmouth, N. H., in a damaged condition.

Steamer Cambridge became a total loss when she struck the Old Man Ledge, Feb. 10, 1886.

In 1887, Steamer Kathadine in command of Capt. Pierce, Penobscot, Capt. Ingraham, also in 1887, Steamer City of Gloucester, Capt. Young, steamer Lucy P. Miller, Capt. Rogers, arrived June 6 to run from New York to Bangor.

Four Go To Knox Hospital For Accidents
A two year old Owls Head youngster is hospitalized at Knox Hospital after swallowing a small portion of rat poison at his home Thursday night.
Condition of Edward J. Benner, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Benner of Ingraham's Hill, was reported as "good" by hospital attaches Friday. The boy, who is the grandson of Capt. Frank Elliot of Owls Head, resides with his grandparents.
Esther Starrett, 70, of Warren was admitted to the hospital late Wednesday night suffering contusions of the left hip and leg and possible fractured hip as the result of a fall at her home.
John Tripp, 23, of South Thomaston was treated Thursday night for a laceration of the right inner wrist which he cut on a broken pane of window glass. Tripp, who was treated and released, was taking out the broken glass at the time.
Doris Dow, 16, of Owls Head, received treatment for a lacerated left index finger received while cutting fish at the Green Island Packing Company Thursday, where she is employed.
Love may make the world go 'round, but it isn't always able to make both ends meet.

Tenants Harbor Truck Takes A Dive
Resting precariously with its front wheels on the wharf and the body's heavy weight on the float above seven feet of water, the truck awaits a crane to hoist it back onto the wharf. The truck was driverless when it rolled 25 feet back off the side of the wharf.

A two ton van truck owned by a Tenants Harbor lobster firm truck carrying only empty lobster crates at the time, is owned by the Atwood Brothers, Inc., of the Tenants Harbor Fish Company Wharf Wednesday morning.

The truck's plunge was stopped when the rear end hit a heavy, small craft float. The front wheels of the truck were still resting on the wharf.

Workers in the area quickly ran a pulley rig from the vehicle's front axle to the base of a small storage shack in an effort to prevent the truck from slipping over the edge as the tide, ebbing out of the harbor, dropped the float lower with each passing minute.

The truck, a 1952 Chevrolet van, truck carrying only empty lobster crates at the time, is owned by the Atwood Brothers, Inc., of the Tenants Harbor Fish Company Wharf Wednesday morning.

Its cab was empty at the moment it rolled with its operator, Arthur Daniels of Tenants Harbor, standing talking about 30 feet from the vehicle.

Seeing the truck rolling toward the water, Daniels and Allison Morris, operator of the fish company wharf, raced for the vehicle but were too late to enter the cab safely and stop it.

The truck dropped over, partially smashing a rampway and striking the end of the float that arrested its descent. Several of the lobster crates fell from the truck. Damage to the rear of the truck or to the float and ramp were difficult to determine before the truck was removed but did not appear to be extensive.

Hoisting of the truck by a crane from the Alton Prock and Sons contracting firm of Waldoboro was scheduled to take place Friday afternoon.

Daniels was on the wharf preparing to load an empty mackerel barrel and had parked the truck with the rear facing the side of the wharf. The brakes had been left on and the truck in low gear but the vacuum type brakes had evidently failed to take, observers reported.

the chorus of the Summer Concert at the third rehearsal, Monday evening. The chorus was pleased to greet Robert Wyllie as regular accompanist. Mrs. Wyllie was also present. Mrs. Wyllie will be taking part in the concert as a member of the Barnes Trio, from Carbu.

The Warren Grange, Circle, will meet, Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock with Mrs. Nancy Benner.

On July 31, the Warren Wonder Workers held a picnic at Walter Starrett's shore at Crawford Pond. After a business meeting, they enjoyed boating and swimming. Mrs. Annie Lehto gave the girls instructions in first aid and swimming rules. The club held a meeting July 24, with their leader, Mrs. Mildred Gammon. Each girl took part in the exhibit of either cooking or sewing articles or both projects. The food brought, was served as refreshments. Nancy Starrett, demonstrated the freezing of foods. Mrs. Esther Lunden, brought Finnish Bread, with the recipe and explained the process of mixing and baking. The next meeting will be Aug. 13, at 1:30 p. m.

Scout Troop Activities
Four members of Scout Troop 224 went to Camp Bomaizeen for one week, July 22 to July 29. They were Dana Smith, 2nd., George Lehto, Terry Overlock and Linwood Stetson. During the week Dana Smith and George Lehto passed all the requirements for First Class Scout and several merit badges toward Star Scout. Dana Smith, 2nd. earned the following merit badges: Public Health, Forestry and Cooking. During the summer he also earned Woodcarving, Art and Painting.

George Lehto, earned the following merit badges: Forestry, Pioneering, Cooking and Public Health. During the summer he has earned Woodcarving, Masonry and Painting.

Linwood Stetson, earned the following merit badges: Cooking, Forestry and Public Health. Terry Overlock, earned most of the Second Class requirements.

The entire troop is planning another overnight hike. This time with salt water fishing and lobster and clam bake next week.

CLINIC For Polio Shots
There will be another clinic for polio shots at the Congregational Church, Monday, Aug. 6 at 10 a. m. This will be as before for the ages six months through 19 years. Any child not having yet received the first shot is urged to come. All having received the first, will be given a second shot. Dr. Fred Campbell will be assisted by Health Nurse, Mrs. Esther Long. Members of the Health Council will be in attendance.

FARM AND GRANGE NEWS OF INTEREST IN KNOX AND LINCOLN COUNTIES

ELECTRIC CABLE USED IN POULTRY DISPOSAL PIT

Extension Poultryman Harry Wheldon and Extension Engineer Mardis Warner worked with County Agent Gil Jaeger this past week preparing for studies of poultry chore times. Disposal of dead birds and other problems concerning both of these specialists were items under discussion.

A demonstration poultry disposal pit at Bob Clark's farm in Thomaston was checked. This demonstration, started last fall, is a 500 gallon septic tank, insulated with styrofoam on top, bottom, and sides. It is heated with soil heating cable on a thermostat set to shut off at 100 degrees F. Another demonstration pit is heated with regular stock-type water heaters.

It is hoped that almost complete breakdown of the dead birds will be found in about two weeks after the bird is put into the pit with the possible exception of some of the keel bone and the feather quills. These should then rapidly disappear. Results show that when the tank is properly installed, the decay bacteria will produce enough heat to hold up the temperature to a point where the soil cable is not needed, using the cable as a means of speeding up the start of the process, but

Christmas Tree Group In Try To Improve Quality

Committeemen met at the University of Maine last week to plan the organization of the Maine Christmas Tree Association. The Christmas tree producers and forestry officials prepared a proposed constitution and by-laws.

The organizational committee announced that the next statewide meeting for all Maine Christmas tree producers has been postponed until Thursday, Aug. 23. The session is tentatively planned for Evergreen Farms, owned by Robert Schultz, in Jackson, Waldo county. A field meeting is scheduled for the late afternoon, followed by supper and an evening meeting. Notices will be sent to all Christmas tree producers.

One objective of the new Association will be to improve the quality of Christmas trees exported from Maine. Another will be to develop Christmas tree grades and seek their adoption. Thirdly, the Association will seek to exchange information and ideas regarding the production and marketing of Maine Christmas trees. Also, the group will suggest research and education which would be for the betterment of the industry. Other objectives have also been listed.

Committee members present were Stanley Floyd, of Milo; Roger Wiley, of Ellsworth; Robert Schultz, of Jackson; Carleton Hodges, of Albion; Robert Sprague, of Bangor; Lewis P. Bisell, of Brewer, Extension Service forestry specialist; and Edwin R. Grove, of East Machias, farm forester for the Maine Forest Service.

Also present were Forest Commissioner Albert D. Nutting, of Orono, and Supervisor Robert Dinneen, of Bridgton, both of the Maine Forest Service.

Also present were Forest Commissioner Albert D. Nutting, of Orono, and Supervisor Robert Dinneen, of Bridgton, both of the Maine Forest Service.

The Dutch Neck Fair of the St. Paul's Chapel was held on Thursday afternoon with a good attendance. The proceeds were most gratifying, and the evening's entertainment was very well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Mord of Lincolnville, were Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Davis and family.

Knox-Lincoln County Green Pasture entries were judged Thursday.

Schuyler Hawes of Union was named county winner, and his pastures will be entered in the state contest, by the judges who were the other entrants in the contest. County Agent Gil Jaeger accompanied the judges.

Ralph Pearce and Sons, Hope, were named second. Wallace Spear and Sons farm in North Nobleboro, was third, and Chesley Cripps of Camden, was fourth.

Judging was on the basis of a complete forage crops program including the amount of milk produced from feed produced on the farm as well as the use of labor, land, and all of the items which make for a complete farm program. This year, the efficiency of management was given a more prominent place in the scoring than in previous years.

State and county winners receive a two day trip to Vermont to study forage programs in that state. The trip is sponsored by the New England Green Pastures Committee.

Did you know that Maine produces more blueberries than any other state? So with blueberries all around us why not take advantage of them and pick up some of your everyday dishes. Here are a few suggestions which I am sure you can add to.

Blueberry Pancakes

Add one cup of fresh or frozen blueberries to a batch of pancake batter after all ingredients are well mixed. Unthawed frozen berries do not streak the dough as do those which have been thawed.

Blueberry Muffins

To the regular recipe for plain muffins fold in 2/3 cup of clean, washed fresh or frozen berries. Some like to double the amount of sugar in the recipe. Bake in regular muffin tins or cake tins.

Blueberry Waffles

To a basic recipe of waffle batter add one cup of fresh or frozen blueberries.

Blueberry Fritters

To a regular recipe for fritter batter add 1/2 cup of fresh blueberries. Fry in deep fat. When done, remove from the fat and sprinkle with confectioner's sugar or pour fruit sauce over the fritters.

Blueberry Cookies

To any drop sugar cookie recipe add one to two teaspoons grated lemon rind. Omit the vanilla. They add 1/4 cup of fresh blueberries.

Blueberry Cake

Prepare a one-egg-cake recipe. Pour half of the batter into the cake pan. To the other half add one cup of fresh blueberries which have been dusted with flour. Pour over the rest of the batter. Bake in a moderate oven 30 to 40 minutes.

Dust the top with powdered sugar. Serve warm with or without butter. A variation of this is to pour half the batter into the prepared cake tin, cover with blueberries, and then pour the rest of the batter over blueberries.

Blueberry Batter Pudding

Place a thick layer of blueberries in the bottom of a greased baking dish. Pour cottage-pudding batter over the berries. Bake 30 minutes in a 375 deg. F. oven.

Recipe For The Batter

One half cup sugar, 1/4 cup shortening, 1 egg, 1 1/2 cups all purpose flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup milk. Cream shortening, add sugar, salt, and well-beaten egg. Add milk and flour sifted with baking powder alternately.

Blueberry Crumb Coffee Cake

Two cups all purpose flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3 teaspoons double acting baking powder, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup shortening, 1 egg beaten, 1/2 cup milk. Topping 1: 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 2 cups blueberries. Topping 2: 1/3 cup sugar, 1/3 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 cup tablefat.

Sift flour, measure and resift three times with the salt and baking powder. Cream the shortening and sugar. Add one egg and beat until light. Add milk and sifted dry ingredients alternately. Beat well after each addition. Pour into a greased pan lined with wax paper. Pour lemon juice over blueberries and place them on the batter. Then combine sugar, flour, and cinnamon. Add butter and mix to a crumb the size of peas. Sprinkle crumbs over blueberries. Bake in moderate (350 deg. F.) oven about 60 minutes. Serve warm.

Blueberry Cookies

To any drop sugar cookie recipe add one to two teaspoons grated lemon rind. Omit the vanilla. They add 1/4 cup of fresh blueberries.

Blueberry Cake

Prepare a one-egg-cake recipe. Pour half of the batter into the cake pan. To the other half add one cup of fresh blueberries which have been dusted with flour. Pour over the rest of the batter. Bake in a moderate oven 30 to 40 minutes.

Warren

The meeting of the Warren Wonder Workers was called to order by Cynthia Spear. Following their regular meeting they went on their club tour beginning with Gracie Lehto to see her skirt and blouse. Other calls and products included: Joyce Kinney, drawstring bag; Cynthia Spear, blouse; Diane Lunden, halter; Jean Starrett, halter; Nancy Starrett, shortie pajamas and blouse and gingerbread; Sandra Mank, dress; Nancy Spear, sandwiches; Mary Jane Richards, cookies; Judy Kinney, stuffed eggs and cookies; Cynthia Wotton, cake; Caroline Wiley, gingerbread. Mrs. Esther Lunden demonstrated how to make Finnish sweet bread. Nancy Starrett showed the correct way to freeze strawberries.

Hope

The community project for the Hopeful Homemakers was to clean the church. July 21, five of them with their leader, Joye Pearce, completed the job. Afterwards, they cut out 4-H's for the float for Old Settlers' Day.

Each member will be doing their project. Those taking part will be: Margaret Carr, sewing; Ruth Carr, chick raising; Maxine Libby, baby sitting; Bernice Gamage, canning; Juanita Johnson, sheep; and Marcia Durkee, foods.

Simonton's Corner

The Arishyre Dairy held a meeting at Cecil Annis home. Three demonstrations were given by Dick Nash, Sam Pendleton, and Roy Drinkwater. Next meeting will be Aug. 9.

North Warren

White Oak, having completed their work for this year, reorganized for '57. The election of officers was as follows: President Kathleen Wyllie, vice president Cary Jane Moody, secretary Rae Ingraham, treasurer June Stimpson, club reporter, Jean Kigel; cheer leader and color bearer, Linda Stimpson.

After the meeting the program of work for '57 was made out. Plans for their Union Fair exhibit was made. Beginning in September for their regular meetings each girl will be on the game committee when the club meets at her house. Next meeting will be Sept. 14 at Elsa Kigel's home.

Corn Borers Are Hatching

Corn borers should be hatching in factory corn. Small holes in the corn leaves are indications of borer infestation. A careful check of the underside of the leaves may show egg clusters whitish in appearance and about the size of a pin head.

An insecticide should be applied when the first tassels can be seen by looking down inside the whorl or about 10 days after the first egg hatches. For canning corn one application is suggested. For market corn, three applications five days apart are suggested. On early market corn applications should have been made earlier.

Direct the spray or dust down inside the whorl of the corn.

DDT 5 per cent Dust will give control as will 25 per cent DDT emulsion at the rate of two to two and one half quarts per acre. DDT is not recommended where stalks are to be fed to livestock.

Ryania is another material that can be used if available.

Follow directions carefully when using any insecticide on corn.

Chlordane An Ant Killer

By the Extension Service

Many inquiries have been received by the Extension Service for information on how to eliminate ants from lawns and flower beds.

Chlordane is a very effective insecticide for this purpose. It may be obtained in an aerosol bomb. A few seconds of spraying with it will be sufficient. Chlordane may also be obtained as a dust (5 per cent) that can be applied to the ant hill effectively.

In either case the worker ants will carry the poison to the queen. Once she is killed, no more eggs will be laid and the colony will cease to exist.

Late Blight In Potato Fields

County Agent advises that late blight has been found in potato fields. Weather is very favorable for its spread. Tops are growing fast and to keep them covered will require spraying or dusting every five to seven days. Keep close watch of your fields and if blight gets started spray that area every day or two until it dries up.

Any good fungicide will control blight, but it is very important to cover tops thoroughly and often enough to keep new growth covered. Spraying or dusting before a rain or wet period is more effective than after.

For recommendations on materials to use see Bulletin 289 "Spraying and Dusting Potatoes". So far, aphids have not been very troublesome. It looks like one application of Parathion or Malathion applied the first part of August will give adequate control. Those using DDT probably should include it with each fungicide spray.

Breeding Co-op Buys Show Bull

The Main Breeding Co-operative buys a show bull from a Maine dairyman. This four and one-half year old Holstein bull, Eudorwin Fobes Lochinvar was bred by Cummings Bros. of South Paris and purchased from Paul Thurston of Bethel. His sire and maternal grandsire were two of the best bulls ever used by the Maine Breeding Co-operative. This combination of Lochinvar and 45th breeding nicks well with previous and present bulls used by the Maine Breeding Co-operative.

YACHT ON WORLD CRUISE

Resting peacefully in Tenants Harbor during a still unfinished voyage that has already carried it 30,000 miles is the 43 foot Australian ketch New Flying Gull.

After a five and one-half year voyage from Sydney, Australia, covering 30,000 miles in their travels, an elderly Australian couple, operating the 43 foot ketch, New Flying Gull, moved into Tenants Harbor Thursday evening on their first visit to Maine.

The couple, Harry Scott and his well tanned wife, Oceana, will travel north up the coast of Maine taking them where the wind and their own will decree.

The couple left Sydney Dec. 22, 1947, aboard the small ketch launched in 1940 after Scott designed and built the craft. They traveled to New Zealand, the Cook Islands, Tahiti, Samoa, Fiji, the Phoenix Islands group, Honolulu and reached British Columbia in Canada July 30, 1952.

Traveling along the west coast of the United States and stopping over at various ports whenever their needs or desires compelled them to, they eventually passed through the Panama Canal and up to Key West, Florida, where they moored April 3, 1956.

The small yacht carries a main trysail commonly referred to as a wishbone rig with double spars. Under full sail most of the journey, the hardest portion of the long trip occurred on their 43 day passage from the Phoenix Islands group to the Hawaiian Islands in rough seas, the couple tell. The main mast snapped de-laying them, they reported.

Don't cry, little man, don't cry...

This unhappy little fellow is learning an important lesson—tears do not solve problems.

Life brings many difficulties to the average person, often heavy burdens of responsibility, grief, and pain that must be met without compromise.

But there is a wise solution for all of us if we fortify ourselves with qualities that will give courage, faith, and hope in the face of all trouble.

In hours of stress and anxiety, the Christian religion is a rock of refuge. In the Church you will find spiritual strength, guidance, and enduring comfort. Go to God's House and put your trust in Him.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

F.H.A. Loans In Maine During '55 Average $530.

John H. Magee, director of the Federal Housing Administration's Bangor office, said today that 5,474 loans totaling $2,899,000, insured by the Federal Housing Administration, were made in 1955 for repairs and improvements to properties in Maine. The average loan was $530.

In the following breakdown, the proportion of loans made last year in Maine for various types of improvements is shown as related to the comparable national figure.

Per cent of total number of loans: Additions and alterations, Maine, 4.9, U.S., 16.7. Exterior finish, Maine, 10.1, U.S., 10.7.

Interior finish, Maine, 4.4, U.S., 8.0.

Roofing, Maine, 6.2, U.S., 6.3. Plumbing, Maine, 8.4, U.S., 9.4. Heating, Maine, 18.5, U.S., 15.0. Insulation, Maine, 43.0, U.S., 18.3.

New nonresidential construction and miscellaneous, Maine, 4.5, U.S., 15.6.

Mr. Magee pointed out that this grouping refers only to major purposes of loans as reported to the FHA by lenders. Actually, part of a loan made for financing additions and alterations to a structure might be used for minor additional work — plumbing, painting, heating, etc.

According to FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason, property improvement loans insured in 1955 for the United States as a whole numbered 1,024,698 and amounted to $645 million, the average loan being $630. Since 1934 more than 19 million loans, totaling $9 billion have been insured under the FHA Title I program. Title I of the National Housing Act authorizes the FHA to insure qualified lending institutions against loss on loans on loans made to finance alterations, repairs and improvements to real property.

Scenes At The Festival Grounds Friday A.M.

Friday morning was a busy time as last minute details of the Festival opening were cared for. At the left of the picture above, Wendell Hadlock, president of the event dashes across the grounds with a 30 gallon coffee container. This was in one of his 'de moments'.

At the right, Cap'n Ote Lewis, Jim Grant and Bob Blake plot the routine of the serving tent. Ote is lending a hand to Bob who is serving chairman while Jim is the VP in charge of overall operation of the show.

In the pictures below: At the left, the huge lobster boiler is scrubbed as clean as Mother's dishes at home early Friday, preparatory to the start of lobster boiling at 4 o'clock. Herman Gross and Lou Cook pour liberal amounts of a well known liquid detergent into the hundreds of gallons of water in the tanks which were boiled out and scrubbed clean and then rinsed and re-rinsed before the first lobster water was started boiling.

At the right below: Ground Chairman Howard Edwards and Harold Halligan, Highway Department chief, discuss the last minute problems of tents, booths and cleanup of the grounds.

LOVELY JACKSON-STONE CEREMONY HELD AT OLD NORTH HAVEN CHURCH

The Old Baptist Church in North Haven was the scene of a lovely wedding Saturday, July 28, at 2 o'clock when Miss Eleanor Olive Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stone, North Haven, became the bride of Paul Livingstone Jackson, son of Mr. and Rev. Mrs. Chester Jackson of Norridgewock.

Rev. Ruth Jackson, mother of the bridegroom, performed the double ring ceremony, assisted by Rev. George R. Merriam, pastor of the church.

The church, decorated by Mrs. Maude Simpson, had a background of evergreen with baskets of white gladioli and gypsophylla and other white summer flowers.

Mrs. Carrie Woodworth played the traditional wedding marches. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length gown of white net over bridal satin. The basque bodice featured a Peter Pan collar of embroidered lace and her fingertip veil of net fell from a band of white flowers and net. She carried a white prayer book with a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Harriet Stone Pendleton, was matron of honor for her sister wearing a pink dress with pink roses and carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. Rev. E. Marvin Jackson, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man for his brother while Daniel A. Pendleton, brother-in-law of the bride, and Douglas A. Stone, cousin of the bride, ushered.

An outdoor reception followed the ceremony on the lawn of the bride's home with cut summer flowers being used for decorating.

The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Shirley Calderwood and cut and served by Mrs. Hope Crockett.
