LAW OF MAINE.

In the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty-one.

AN ACT directing the method of laying out, and making provision for the repair and amendment of High-Ways.

Concluded from our last.

SEC. 24. Be it further enacted, That the Courts of Sessions in the several counties in this State, whenever application shall be made to them to lay out any new highway through any such tract, township or plantation last mentioned, or for an order thereof to amend and repair any highway already laid out in the same, the said Court shall cause notice thereof to be given, by publishing the substance of such application three weeks successively in one of the newspapers printed in the town of Portland, and such other paper as the said Court shall direct, in order that the proprietors of said lands may appear before said Court, at such time as the Court shall therein prefix, and show cause why such highway should not be laid out or amended, as the case may be. And if such proprietors do not appear and show cause, to the satisfaction of said Court, that such highway ought not to be laid out or made, or amended at the expense of said proprietors, then the said Court may proceed to lay out such highway in the manner prescribed by law, and to order the same to be made or amended at the expense of the said proprietors, as the case should require; and shall cause an assessment to be made on such tracts of land, township, or plantation, at so much per acre as they shall judge necessary for making or mending such highway and defraying the necessary expense attending the same; and the proprietors of the said tracts, townships, or plantations last mentioned, where the lands therein are held in severalty shall be severally assessed their respective proportions in every tax which may be ordered for making or repairing the highways therein: Provided, such proprietors shall previously furnish said Court with proper documents for that purpose; and the Treasurer of the county where in the land so assessed may lie, shall forthwith cause such tax to be advertised in manner aforesaid, requiring each and every owner or proprietor of any part of the tract, township or plantation last mentioned, to pay said tax; or if the assessment is made in severalty, his part thereof to said Treasurer within six months from the first publishing said advertisement, and notifying such proprietors, that unless the same shall be paid within the time specified, so much of the said land will be sold at public vendue, at a certain day and place in the said advertisement to be expressed: And when any proprietor or owner of any part of such tract, township or plantation last mentioned, (the parts thereof not being severally assessed) shall pay his proportion of such tax, he shall take a receipt therefor, describing the land for which he shall pay such tax, and so much of the remaining part of such land for which said tax shall not be paid before the expiration of the said six months, shall be sold by the Treasurer aforesaid, or his successor in office, or such committee, as the Court of Sessions aforesaid shall appoint for that purpose, at the time and place set forth in the advertisement, as may be necessary to pay the remaining part of said tax, with incidental charges. And the said Treasurer or committee are hereby authorized to adjourn the time of sale of such land from day to day, if he or they shall judge it necessary, not exceeding three days, and make a good and sufficient deed or deeds of such lands, allowing the same time of redemption, & subject to the payment of the like interest as is by law allowed in the cases of land sold for taxes; and the money so raised shall be applied by said Court, or by a committee to be by them appointed for that purpose, to make and repair said highways: And a similar method shall be taken from time to time by said Court for keeping in repair all highways leading through such tracts, townships or plantations last mentioned, in case the owners thereof shall neglect to keep said highway in sufficient repair: And the owners and proprietors of any such tract, township or plantation last mentioned, are hereby authorized to call meetings for the purpose of raising such sums of money as they may judge necessary for making and repairing such highways, and for choosing officers for assessing and collecting the same.

SEC. 25. Be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for any person to pull down and remove any gate, rails, bars, or fence upon or across any highway or county road, unless such gate, bars, or fence, have been erected or continued by the leave and licence of the Court of Sessions for the county; and if any such incumbrance be in or across any private way, the same may be removed by the order of some justice of the peace of the same county, unless the gate or bars were erected or continued by the leave of the town or the person or persons for whose particular use and benefit the private way was laid out: And any person aggrieved by the removal of such gate, bars or fence, shall be relieved at the Court of Sessions for the same county; if upon examination it shall appear, that the same were erected or continued by licence or leave, as aforesaid: And when any logs, lumber or other obstructions shall, by any person be unnecessarily placed or left on any highway, it shall be the duty of the surveyor within whose limits the same may be so placed, or left, or in his absence, of any other surveyor within the town forthwith to remove the same: and the person so removing the same shall not be liable for any loss or damage happening thereto by such removal, unless such loss or damage was occasioned by gross negligence or design: and on conviction of any person having obstructed any highway in manner aforesaid, before any Court of competent jurisdiction he shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five dollars to the use of the State, and double the expense of the removal of such obstruction, to the use of the person who shall have removed the same, or such person may recover the double of such expense to his own use in an action on the case; Provided nevertheless, that nothing in this act shall be so construed as to give power to any surveyor or other person to remove or pull down any fence which may be lawfully set up or erected upon or across any way for the purpose of preventing the spreading of infectious disorders.

SEC. 26. Be it further enacted, That when any building, fence or other incumbrance, erected or continued on any town or private way, or on any public highway, a common training field, burying place, landing place or other piece of land, appropriated for the general use, ease or convenience of the community at large, or the inhabitants of any county, or town, shall by any Court, having cognizance thereof, be adjudged and determined a nuisance, and ordered to be abated, in case the materials of such building, fences or other incumbrance, upon a public sale thereof at auction, shall be insufficient to pay the costs and charges of prosecution and removal; the Court from whence the process for removal shall issue shall and may order the deficient sum to be raised and levied from the goods and chattels of the person or persons who shall be convicted of erecting or continuing the same.

SEC. 27. Be it further enacted, That where buildings or fences have been erected fronting upon, or against any training field, burying place, common landing place, highway, private way, street, lane or alley in any town in this State, where from length of time or otherwise the breadth or quantity thereof is not known, or can be made certain by the records, or by any other boundaries; and such buildings or fences have been upheld, maintained and continued for more than forty years, such fences or buildings shall be deemed and taken to be the true ancient boundaries thereof: but no length of time (under threescore years) shall justify the continuance of a fence or building on any town or private way, or on any public highway, a common training field, burying place, landing place or other piece of land appropriated for the general use, ease or convenience of the community at large, or for the inhabitants of any particular county, town, or parish, but the same may be removed by order of the Circuit Court of Common Pleas, or the Supreme Judicial Court, as a nuisance, upon the presentment of a grand jury.

New Singing Book.

JUST received and for Sale at Folsom's Book-Store, Sign of the Bible, the second edition of the WESLEYAN HARMONY, or a compilation of choice tunes for Public Worship, adapted to the various metres in the METHODIST HYMN BOOK now in use, with a table of the particular metre hymns, and names of the tunes annexed in which they may be sung—designed for the Methodist Societies, but proper for all denominations. By Col. HENRY LITTLE.

The first Edition of the above work has been published but a few months, and it has become necessary to publish a 2d Edition to supply the demand for the work. The price is $5 doz. and 50 cents single and contains 144 pages; and printed on a new type, and fine paper. There will be found in it a sufficient number of different metres for the use of every society: and the tunes are of indisputable merit and excellence. — Probably 3-4ths of the tunes in books which retail at one dollar each, are seldom if ever used, and of course (if not used) are useless, and some of the books are swelled to a size which is very inconvenient. It is believed this work is sufficiently large and will be found to contain the most valuable tunes which are inserted in more expensive works. The particular metre tunes are distinguished by figures showing the number of syllables in each line, which is of great convenience and is well adapted to the Psalm and Hymn Books used by the several Denominations of Christians; and by the introduction of this work one half of the expense for singing books will be saved. The tunes are so arranged as almost to preclude the necessity of an index; and the Amateurs of music are invited at least to give the work a perusal.

From numerous and highly respectable recommendations, we select the following report of the Committee appointed by the New-England Methodist Conference to examine the work.

In June, 1820, a few copies of the first edition of this work were forwarded to the New-England Methodist Conference for examination. A Committee was appointed for that purpose, and made their report, which was read and accepted. No copy has been received by the compiler; but the chairman of the committee has politely given the following from recollection; viz. "Your committee for the examination of the merits of the WESLEYAN HARMONY, have attended that service, and beg leave to report, that they are of opinion that it is a chaste and judicious selection of sacred Harmony, entitled to public patronage and from its peculiar adaptation to our Hymn Book, has a claim to the patronage of this annual Conference."

(Signed)

"ASA HEATH, Per Order."

DEAR SIR,

The undersigned having examined the WESLEYAN HARMONY are happy in this opportunity of expressing their approbation of so valuable a work; and do not hesitate to say that, in their opinion, it is the best Collection, of the same number of pages, they have ever seen. Fully convinced of the utility and value of the first edition, from the correct musical taste there observed, and its adaptation to the various Particular Metres, now in use among the different denominations of Christians; and confident that all necessary improvements will be made in the second, they cordially approve of the design, and hope the arduous exertions of the Compiler will be amply remunerated by a discerning public.

Yours respectfully,

MANLY HARDY, THOMAS TREADWELL.

AGRICULTURAL.

On the importance of Ashes as a Manure.

NOTE.

Mr. WATSON—Observing your design to devote some part of your paper to the dissemination of agricultural improvements, I am induced to submit for publication, and for the use of my brother farmers, some remarks on the importance of ashes as a manure for Indian corn, on gravelly or loamy land. The year before last, I ploughed up three acres of green sward; the soil was dry and somewhat gravelly, it had never been manured, and had been occupied as a pasture for a number of years. I drew on to the 3 acres only 12 cart loads of coarse barn yard manure, and put a small portion of it into each hill; the corn was planted the last of May, and when it came up, and indeed after the first hoeing, it looked miserably languid, which I attributed to the coarseness of the manure and the dryness of the soil; in fact, the whole field looked the most forbidding of any I ever saw. The general remark was, by those who saw it, "you won't have your seed." After the first hoeing I put on to the 3 acres about 30 bushels of good house ashes, which was a pretty large single handful to each hill, which seemed literally to raise it from the dead; it now grew very rapidly, and in a short time was as large as my other corn that was planted early with a large quantity of manure spread on the land, and the utmost pains taken in planting and hoeing it, without applying any ashes. The field on which I put the ashes, not being weedy, I hoed it only twice, but it yielded as much, or more, to the acre than my early planted corn which was hoed four times: I had at least sixty bushels to the acre from three acres, with very little labour.

I attributed this successful crop almost solely to the influence of the ashes for it was very apparent, that the ground was so dry, and the manure so coarse and light, that it was impossible for the corn to grow; but as soon as the ashes were applied to the hills, I observed the moisture collected around them sufficient to cause a fermentation of the manure, which makes me incline to believe when ashes are used on corn, the best method is to drop unfermented manure into the hills, because the fermentation of the manure which the ashes will cause on dry lands, is of great importance to the growth of the vegetable, and would be entirely lost were it suffered to ferment in the barn yard. In moist lands, coarse manure will ferment without the aid of ashes, which accounts for their being worthless when applied to such lands. From observations made on some hills of corn in the aforesaid field around which there were no ashes applied, I have no hesitation in believing, that the 30 bushels of ashes increased the crop more than one half.

To improve the quality of the Potato.

MOREFIELD, Feb. 18, 1821.—I heard many years, that the best way to improve the potato, was from the seed of its own apple. About five or six years past I made the trial—I gathered a handful of the apples off the blue potato, when fully ripe—I mashed them, and washed out the seed and dried them. In the spring I sowed in drills—they came up very thick, having the appearance of some small weeds. In two or three weeks they put out leaves, having the appearance of potatoes. I then thinned them, and worked them as I thought right. In the fall I had seed of many kinds, white, blue and red, of various shape and complexion—I selected four or five kinds in the spring, and planted each separate, and found I had improved my potatoes very much as to flavor—and also, some of the kinds I selected were very productive, so much so, that I planted no more of my old seed, and do still consider the change advantageous.

ABEL SEYMOUR.

Larceny.—A curious case of Larceny, occurred a few days ago in the Municipal Court of Boston. A man named Charles Perry was put to the bar charged with stealing certain articles of furniture belonging to Eliza Mac Gilvery, who was represented by the Counsel for the Commonwealth to be a young woman who had been led by her affection for the prisoner to consent to become his wife; that the day was fixed for the nuptials, a house hired, and the articles mentioned in the indictment, which belonging to the bride, placed in it. No sooner was this done than her faithless swain caused the furniture to be carried to an auction room, and converted into money for his own use. The lady having now made some farther enquiries respecting her intended helpmate, ascertained that he was already a married man, and had served three years in the state prison.

In defence, it was stated among other things, by the counsel for the prisoner, that there was a view of the case which would ensure his acquittal, and rather puzzle the jury to determine which of the two, the prosecutrix or the defendant was the worst character. The counsel for the government had drawn in glowing colours the picture of a young and interesting female the victim of her sensibilities, and a prey to the artifices of an insinuating and unfeeling sharper. He had represented her as yielding in an incautious moment to the soothing flatteries of the defendant—but when the whole testimony was spread before the court and jury, it would be found that these were not the first accents of love which had saluted her ears—not the only blandishment with which she had been assailed, for she had then living an affectionate husband, who was within the walls of the court house, and would in a moment be on the stand to prove the marriage, claim his wife, establish his title to all the endearments which it was in her power to bestow, and trip up the present indictment alleging the property in the goods to be in Eliza Mac Gilvery, when they should have been alleged to be the property of John Mac Gilvery, her husband.

The fact of her marriage having been proved by the best testimony in the world, that of her husband, the Judge, Dawes, remarked to the Jury that the prisoner must be acquitted. But upon this case he could not help observing, that though the sentiment of the great dramatic poet might be true, that "All the world's a stage,

And all the men and women merely players," yet he hoped and believed, notwithstanding the specimens before him, that they did not at all act alike. American Statesman.

SATURDAY, JUNE 2, 1821.

FORT SULLIVAN, in Eastport, is to be garrisoned by a full Company of Artillery, commanded by Capt. MASON, with Lts. DANA, BRENT, WALKER, and TONE.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

Capt. BRASS, who arrived at St. Andrews last Monday, from Bristol, brought a London paper (Sun) of the 20th April, with which we were politely favoured a short time.

The "TIMBER DUTIES BILL," as will be seen by the following, has PASSED the House of Commons.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, APRIL 19.

The Order of the Day having been read for the third reading of the Timber Duties Bill, Mr. Wallace moved that the Bill should be read a third time.

Mr. Gurney made a few observations on the Bill, and said, that if it were not too late, he would propose an alteration in the rate of duties, as they related to the admeasurement of the timber.

Mr. Monck said, that the best hope he could entertain respecting the Bill was, that it would be wholly inoperative, for if operative, it would do mischief. He proceeded to argue against the measure at considerable length, contending, that for the benefit of one class, the ship owners, a heavy tax was laid on the rest of the community. He trusted that a pledge would be given by the advocates of the measure, that it would not be a final one, but that the subject should again be bro't under the consideration of the Legislature.

Sir J. Coffin briefly restated his objections to the bill.—Mr. Phillips argued against the bill, and trusted it would not be a permanent measure.

Mr. Wallace said the measure was considered rather one of necessity, arising out of present circumstances, than one of principle. The object was merely to bring Canadian timber into a fair competition with that of the Baltic.—The bill was then read a third time and passed.

Paris papers of the 17th April, received in London, state that it is probable there will be a junction of the Russian army, in Volhynia, with the Austrians in Lombardy, about the beginning of May.

It is reported that an Austrian corps is to take possession of Genoa, in the name of the King, VICTOR EMANUEL.

The Bill for the restoration of Papery, in to our political constitution (says the Sun) has FAILED; and it is hoped it will be long before the Roman Catholics will again make any resolute efforts to renew their claims to participate in legislative authority.

A private Letter received in London from Turin, contains an account of a bloody affair at Novara, between the Constitutionalists and the Austrians. The former was finally put to flight.

The Director-General of Police, at Naples, has published a Decree prohibiting the publication of any newspaper, or printed books, without his previous sanction.

From Rome it appears that the Austrians have established a Commission, called Staludaria, which is to proceed to Milan, Modena, and Naples, to try persons accused of State offences.

French Funds.—Ap. 16, Five per cents, 82½ c. Bank Stock, 15½—c.

The interest of the British National Debt amounts, as nearly as possible, to £60 every minute.

General Began has given up the fortress of Gaeta.

Considerable is said respecting the contemplated visit of His Majesty to his Hanoverian dominions, but not a word is mentioned of his beloved Consort.

A Revolution has just broke out in Moldavia. Russia and Austria have determined to take each precautionary measures as circumstances require.

A Vienna paper of the 5th April, says, "It is believed that the Revolution in Naples and Piedmont will at least have the good effect of leading to the introduction of a Constitutional Government in the Italian States."

The Coronation is fixed for the 19th of June.—The new Crown, which is much larger, loftier, and more magnificent than the old one, was deposited in the Jewel house of the Tower on Tuesday. The young Gentlemen who is to represent the Champion of England, on the occasion, is now taking lessons of horsemanship for the purpose at Astley's. The bill for his Majesty's coronation robes exceeds, it is said, £20,000, of which £11,000 falls to the Furrier's share. For the black spots on the inside of the robes, no less than 26,000 Astracan lambs' feet have been required.

The Prisoners, who broke Gaol at Machias, and advertised in our last paper, have been apprehended, and are again, we trust in safe keeping. We are told that they broke into a dwelling-house, in Jonesborough, and stole some provision, &c. SPENCER, (better known, perhaps, by the name of Dandy Thief, says he only got out for the sake of taking an airing!

Gen. Jackson arrived at New-Orleans on the 3d of April and was honored with a Municipal Address, a Public Dinner, and an appropriate performance at the Theatre. He left N. O. on the 27th, for Pensacola.

MUNICIPAL ADDRESS.

SIR—An event which your valor had prepared, brings you again in this city, after an absence of many years—years not wasted in the sterile enjoyment of your well earned fame; but devoted to your country. After serving it in times of peril, when it required the exertions of those high virtues that save or elevate empires, you consent now to consecrate talents interests the talents which your experience had given in civil life, thus imitating in peace, as you had imitated in war, those renowned men of an ancient republic, who knew alike how to command victorious armies, to negotiate important treaties, and to direct the establishment of infant colonies.

Like them you have also felt, that unrivalled services could not shelter the great and the virtuous from the hatred and envy of those who find it an easier task to hate and to envy, than to emulate great actions; but you have triumphed over their intrigues as you did over the armies of England and the hordes of the Seminoles.

You tread here on ground consecrated by the memory of your exploits. The wealth, the prosperity that surround you is your work—but for you, and the brave men who fought under your banners, a heap of ashes and scattered ruins would have been all that would have remained of New-Orleans. The spectacle which you now behold, contrasted with the disasters you averted, is a recompense worthy of a mind like yours. Though accustomed to look to posterity, as the best rewarder of illustrious deeds, you cannot be insensible to the gratitude of a people, who, through the organ of their magistrates, proclaim you their deliverer.

With hearts filled with the same sentiments which we have expressed in the name of the citizens of New-Orleans, we welcome you within the walls, which your valor rendered impregnable to our foes; and we invoke on you the choicest blessings which can be bestowed on man by that Divine Providence which sent you forth in the days of our calamities to work our deliverance.

MISCELLANEOUS.

WISCASSET, May 4.—The Exhibition at Bowdoin College was on Tuesday last, and was attended by a more numerous and respectable auditory than usual. The Medical Lectures closed about a week since.

The number of College Students is about 100, and nearly 30 Medical Students. The Medical College has commenced under the most favorable auspices, and it cannot be matter of indifference to the friends of this rising seminary, to witness its increasing prospects.

The United States contains about 10 millions of inhabitants—Spanish America 18 millions.

An English Clergyman asserts that he raised as good crops of potatoes by planting the skins or parings which he got when preparing that excellent for food, in the kitchen, as are obtained when the tubs are either planted whole, or cut into sets to the ordinary way.

Charles G. Loring, has been appointed to deliver the Oration, at the Municipal celebration of Independence in Boston, on the 4th of July next.

The Press.—No maxim is more true than this, "that no liberty can survive the liberty of the press." It breathes a soul into the body of a people; it forms their manners, and by teaching them their duties, and their rights, and inspiring them with sentiments of virtue, and courage, by which both are to be enforced, introduces the empire of reason to the universe; it is the vestal fire, upon the preservation of which the fate of nations depends, and the most pure hands, officiating for the whole community, should be incessantly employed in keeping it alive.—Sentinel of the Press.

A tragical occurrence took place at Gloucester, Mass. on the 16th inst. MEMORANDA.

MELANCHOLY SHIPWRECK.

By the brig Xenophon, capt. Byas, from Bristol, we received the London Sun of the 20th April, containing the following melancholy account of the loss of sch. Three Brothers, belonging to Indian Island, with the whole of her crew (7 in number) excepting one man. Of those that perished, were Wm. H. HUTCHINGS, master, æt. 47, belonging to Indian Island, by whose untimely death a numerous family is bereft of a kind and indulgent father, and society of a valuable member;—MR. ROBERT MCNIEL, mate, aged 20, son of Mr. John McNiel, of Deer-Island, & Mr. Tho's HUTCHINGS, son of capt. H. both very promising young men. Munson, the person saved, is a native of Manlius.

DEATH, April 16.—Arrived this morning, the Lapwing, Captain GENTIL, in twenty-seven days from Saint Domingo. On the 2d instant, in latitude 36, 50. long. 50 42, the Lapwing fell in with the schooner Three Brothers, Capt. W. Hutchings, of St. Andrew's, fr. Indian Island, &c. for Berice, laden with staves. At the time the Lapwing fell in with the Three Brothers, the latter was a complete wreck, and had on board one individual, J. Munson, whose situation was one beyond the powers of human description. The account which he has furnished will in some degree enable you to conceive the horrors to which he and his fellow-sufferers were exposed. The Three Brothers sailed on the 22d of February, and proceeded smoothly in her course until the 2d of March, when she experienced a dreadful squall early in the morning. The violence of the storm increased so rapidly, that in less than two hours the water was upon the cabin floor, and shortly afterwards the staunches were all carried away.—The exertions of the crew from that time to day-break, on the following morning, were all that could be expected from men who had no prospect of life but from the most unwearied labour; but, alas! all were useless; the light of the common day only served them to discern their fate, and a cruel death more terrible. At this awful moment a tremendous sea burst upon them, and ere they could utter a prayer to God, the vessel capsize, and was soon filled with water. The Captain, who was at the time endeavouring to right the ship, was washed into the sea, and sunk forever. The vessel then lay on her beam ends, and her mast and bowsprit were instantly carried away. There remained on the wreck six persons, one of whom was the Captain's son, a fine youth, whose situation may be easily conceived.—This young man survived until the 23d day, during which the crew were just able to keep life within them by means of some beet-root and bread, half a barrel of flour, part of a cask of water, which they had been able to keep by them; but, unfortunately, the water got mixed with sea water, & they suffered exceedingly by that circumstance, signs of ulceration soon began to show themselves. On the 25th of March, just as they were ruminating on their fate, and mourning the loss of the Captain's son and the Mate, Mr. Neil, who had died; when, in fact, every hope had escaped them, and they were looking upon each other with horror, their chance of life was revived by the appearance of a brig. As this vessel came near them their hopes increased, and they hailed her as long as their strength would allow them; indeed, she came so close to them at one time, that they were fully convinced that they were seen; but they must have been mistaken, for she passed by them without notice, and they were plunged into all the horrors of despair. It would be any thing but Christian-like to suppose that they had been discovered by the crew of the brig: for what man could have seen and not relieved them? On the following day, three more of the little crew died, and one was washed overboard, leaving only James Munson, who, by an extraordinary providence, remained alive until the 2d instant, when the Lapwing fell in with the wreck, and brought him to this place to relate the melancholy catastrophe which befel his suffering companions."

Sch. Horns of Salem was picked up at sea, 15th inst. and towed into Kennebunk, where she got ashore on entering the harbor. She was lumber laden, and full of water having no person on board—cables, anchors, sails and most of her running rigging gone.

At Newburyport, sch. John Brown, 18 days from Port au Prince.—The following singular circumstances occurred on board the John.—25th January, William Brown was washed overboard from the main chains—got the boat out, and after 30 minutes got him on board nearly exhausted.—Scarcely had the boat been stowed when Charles Dawsett fell overboard from the waist, but by immediately throwing a rope from the stern, saved him. On the 25th in a gale, James Lane fell from the jib-boom and the schooner passed over him, got out the boat, and recovered him after he had been over about 40 minutes. May 6th, in furling the foretopsail in a heavy squall, Charles Dawsett fell from the yard and was drowned.

THE OLIO.

From the Literary Gazette.
PITY.

How lovely in the arch of heaven,
Appears yon sinking orb of light,
As darting through the clouds of heaven,
It gilds the rising shades of night;
Yet brighter, fairer, shines the tear,
That trickles o'er misfortune's bier.

Sweet is the murmur of the gale,
That whispers thro' the summer's grove;
Soft is the tone of friendship's tale,
And softer still the voice of love;
Yet softer far the tears that flow
To mourn—to soothe another's woe.

Richer than richest diadem,
That glitters on the monarch's brow;
Purer than ocean's purest gem,
Or all that wealth or art can show,
The drops that swell in PITY'S eye—
The pearl of sensibility.

Is there a spark in earthly mould,
Fraught with one ray of heavenly fire;
Does man one trait of virtue hold
That even angels must admire;
That spark is PITY'S radiant glow;
The trait, the tear for other's woe.

Let false philosophy decay
The noblest feeling of the mind,
Let wretched sophists madly fly
To prove a pleasure more refin'd—
They only strive in vain to steal
The tenderness they cannot feel.

To sink in nature's last decay,
Without a friend to mourn the fall;
To mark its embers die away,
Deplored by none—unwept by all.
This—this is sorrow's deadliest curse,
Nor hate—nor hell can form a worse.

Take wealth—I know its paltry worth;
Take honor—it will pass away;
Take power—I scorn the bounded earth;
Take pomp—its trappings soon decay.
But spare me, grant me PITY'S tear,
To soothe my woe—and mourn my bier.

THE WORM.

—"Out venoms all the worms of Nile."

Who has not heard of the Rattle-snake, or the Copper-head? An unexpected sight of either of these reptiles, will make even the "lords of creation" recoil, but there is a species of worm, found in various parts of this state, which conveys a poison of a nature so deadly, that compared with it, even the venom of the Rattle-snake is harmless.

To guard our readers against this 'foe to human kind' is the object of the present communication.

This worm varies much in size. It is frequently an inch through, but as it is rarely seen except when coiled, its length can hardly be conjectured.
It is of a dull, lead color, and generally lives near a spring or small stream of water, and bites the unfortunate people who are in the habit of going there to drink. The brute creation it never molests.

They avoid it with the same instinct that teaches the animals of Peru to shun the deadly Coya.
Several of these reptiles have long infested our settlement, to the misery and destruction of many of our citizens. I have, therefore, had frequent opportunities of being the melancholy spectator of the effects produced by the subtle poison which this worm infuses.

The symptoms of its bite are terrible. The eyes of the patient become red and fiery, his tongue swells to an immoderate size and obstructs his utterance, and delirium of the most horrid quickly follows. Sometimes in his madness he attempts the destruction of his dearest friends. If the sufferer has a family, his weeping wife and helpless infants are not unfrequently the objects of his frantic fury—in a word, he exhibits to the life, all the detestable passions that rankle in the bosom of a savage, and such is the 'spell' in which his senses are locked, that no sooner has the unhappy patient recovered from the paroxysm of insanity occasioned by one bite, than he sucks out this destroyer for the sole purpose of being bitten again.

I have seen a good old father, his locks white as snow, his step slow and trembling, beg in vain of his only son to quit the lurking place of the worm. My heart bled when he turned away, for I knew the fond hope that this son would be the "staff of his declining years," had supported him through many a sorrow.

Youths of Missouri, would you know the name of this reptile? It is called the worm of the still, Missourian.

The steam-boat Gen. Robertson had her boiler bursted lately, near Eddyville, on the Cumberland; by which accident, a part of the cabin and deck were carried away, and several of the passengers killed and others dreadfully scalded.

It is stated that Laguardette, who was lately murdered in Norfolk, had been the leader of a band of robbers in the Pyrenees. It is also said that a considerable amount of watches and jewelry stolen in 1820, from William Watson, of Philadelphia, had been found among his goods.

The old Theatre, in the Southern Liberties of Philadelphia, was destroyed by fire on the 9th inst by the hand, it is said, of an incendiary.

A smart shock of earthquake was experienced on the banks of the Penobscoot, a few days since.

Considerable damage has been sustained by fire lately, at St. Albans, Vt.
The loss by the late fire at Surinam has been estimated at over $3,000,000.
