BAIRD FIGHTS BACK AT DYER AND GROSSMAN OF M.L.A. WHO ACCUSE HIM OF LETTING DOWN FISHERMEN CONSTITUENTS

Representative Sherman Baird of North Haven states in a letter to The Courier-Gazette that he has been accused of betraying the lobster fishermen of his district in voting for an increase of one sixteenth of an inch in measure in his official capacity as a member of the Sea & Shore Fisheries Committee of Legislature.

He relates that Leslie Dyer, president of the Maine Fishermen's Association, and Alan Grossman of Rockland, legal counsel for the Association were in Augusta Thursday and made the accusations.

Mr. Baird, who represents the towns of North Haven, Vinalhaven, Isle au Haut and St. George in Legislature submits the following comments in defense of his position.

State of Maine
House of Representatives
Augusta, Maine

April 25, 1957

"Les Dyer and Alan Grossman have been here today and have accused me of betraying the fishermen in signing the 'Ought to Pass' report on the lobster measure bill.

"I tried to remain absolutely neutral until we had our executive session, apparently this neutrality led them to believe, or they assumed for some reason that I would be against it because the association was against it.

"I will try to give the reasons I decided this way in spite of the fact that Messrs. Grossman and Dyer have told me 90 per cent of the fishermen I represent are against it.

"I realize it will cut down the catch this year and hurt a little, but it is possible and probable that a better price would offset the loss of catch, depending on the area fished and the percentage of small lobsters usually in the catch. However, we have enforced grading of sardines, apples and potatoes and if this enforced grading will help the industry then I must vote for it as being beneficial in the long run.

"The representatives of the association said it would be a good thing if Massachusetts would go along and put on a maximum size to coincide with Maine. I think it is a good thing if this takes place, it will be a good thing now, and a step in the right direction. I hope Massachusetts will put on the maximum five inch size but do not feel our refusal to come up on the lower side as a retaliatory measure would be a wise move.

"I believe in a few years we will be asked to come up another sixteenth of an inch. The only reason this is unwise now is because the full eighth of an inch increase (Continued on Page Three)

Camden Selected As Filming Site Of "Peyton Place"

The byways, business buildings and private dwellings of the seacoast village of Camden will be viewed by movie audiences all over the country if plans by a film company to use the town as a story background follow through.

The Camden-Rockport Chamber of Commerce reported Thursday that movie director Mark Robson has selected Camden as the town for the film setting of "Peyton Place", controversial best selling novel penned by a New Hampshire housewife.

Representatives of the movie firm, Robson, and unit production manager Henry Weinberger of 20th Century Fox, have toured the Camden and Rockport area looking over streets and private homes in which to place their characters in the toned down movie version of the epic novel.

The people of a Vermont community turned down the company's offer to film the history there because of the questionable decency of the book. Camden officials said they would receive a copy of the script this weekend to read but have been assured that the motion picture is nothing "offensive or obscene."

Company officials have indicated interests in such Camden streets as Bayview, Chestnut, Elm, Pearl, High and several others in Rockport. They have looked over the Knox Woolen Mill for possible background but will seek releases from all property owners before using their buildings in the picture.

The movie will feature Lloyd Nolan and Lana Turner and is based on the novel written by Grace Metalious. The story is set in a small New England town in the early 1940's.

SIX TEACHERS RESIGN POSTS IN CITY SCHOOL SYSTEM; CONTRACTS EXTENDED TO THREE NEW TEACHERS

The resignation of six teachers from the Rockland School system were accepted by the School Board at a Thursday night meeting. Three teacher appointments were made to help fill the vacancies.

Leaving in June for various reasons are: Richard Seymour, South School instructor, who will teach in San Diego, Calif.; Elisabeth Philbrook of Warren, high school social studies teacher; Miss Elizabeth Pierce of McLain School's staff who will also teach in San Diego; Vaughn Ellis, North School teacher; Dale Patchell, social studies teacher at the high school; and Mrs. Marie Blair, also a social studies teacher at the high school.

Appointments made included: Miss Alice Crie of Rockland, a 1956 graduate of the University of Maine, who has been teaching the past year in Berwick; Kenneth Hutchinson of Canton, who will graduate in June from the University of Connecticut; and Miss Janice Upton of Cherryfield, teacher in Cape Elizabeth for the past four years.

Miss Crie will teach home economics on the high school staff. Mr. Hutchinson will teach English and social studies at the high school and Miss Upton will join the South School staff where she will teach the fifth grade.

The city school board members

Miss Alice Crie

will meet with the school committees of South Thomaston and Owls Head sometime in May, it was decided at the meeting.

A pre-school kindergarten registration is scheduled for May 24 at the South, McLain and Tyler schools when all children who will enter school next September must be listed by parents. Children must be five years old before Oct. 15 to be eligible to enter school in the fall.

It was announced that Ashton McLain of Rockland has been employed as janitor of the South School.

SHIPYARD WORKERS' CONTRACT TALKS WITH 40 FATHOM END WITH TERMS AGREED BY BOTH

The International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders, Blacksmiths, Forgers and Helpers of America and 40 Fathom Fisheries, Inc., have established a pattern for a labor contract for workers at the shipyard.

Arthur Thurston, head of the firm's Rockland operations states that all agreements leading to eventual signing of a contract have been made. Chick Moran of Boston represented the union in the discussions this week.

Thurston said that 22 men are now covered by the agreement, most all key men of what he hopes will be a much larger labor force in the future.

The yard is returning to general ship repair work and building after a lapse of several years during which Birds Eye turned away all work other than that of the company. Also, they are returning to machine shop, engine, electronic and electrical job work for the general public.

The wage scale paid by Birds Eye has been retained but no increases were proposed as the yard has some months, and possibly years, to reach the peak of general job work it used to do.

DYER DEMANDS GAS AND OIL DISCOUNT OF SOCONY DEALERS OR NO STATE VEHICLE BUSINESS

Service station operators in Knox County handling Socony products will refuse almost unanimously a recent request from the State Purchasing Department for a two cent discount on all gas sold to state operated vehicles.

The request, signed by State Purchasing Agent John R. Dyer, was made by letter to Socony dealers all over the state and was described by a Rockland operator as "dictatorial."

A Tenants Harbor garage proprietor, criticized the request as unfair and reported that he would give the requested discount if the state would grant him a similar "cut on all taxes."

Earlier this month, the purchasing agent notified the dealers and retail outlets that the state had entered into a contract with Socony for their gas and oil purchases and credit cards have been issued state vehicle drivers. He explained that he recognized Socony was not in a position to dictate the prices the dealers charge the state and that it was not the state's intention to set the prices.

However, Dyer felt that other New England states enjoyed discounts and the two cent cut would represent a savings of thousands of dollars in state funds each year.

He asked that the dealers agree to a two cent cut on gas and a five cent discount on oil. He explained that trading stamps were not acceptable to the state and that all discounts would have to be from the prices posted at the time of delivery but not higher than the prevailing prices of the area.

The letter went on to explain that should the majority of dealers agree the state would reserve the right to purchase from discount stations only.

One Knox County service station operator explained this week that should he not sign the agreement it could mean a sales loss of 10,000 gallons of gasoline a year.

Most county operators contacted agreed that the request coming at this particular time when the current gas war has taken prices to 29.9 cents a gallon could "break the back" of many small retailers should they comply. Their gas would then be sold at a loss.

Should they not comply, the result for many would be a loss in the volume of gas and oil sold annually and could affect many stations adversely.

Several service station and garage proprietors, contacted by The Courier-Gazette, all reported that they would not comply with the request.

Mild Quake Hit Coastal Area Early Friday

The Coastal Area of Maine experienced a mild earth shock at 6:51 a. m. Friday, according to reports from residents of the area and Fordham University where the quake was recorded by Seismograph.

The late Anna Coughlin used to explain to her classes that this area came within the Fundian Fault in the earth's surface which laid inshore from the edge of the Continental Shelf and extended from the Bay of Fundy southward. The shock was felt by persons in South Thomaston and Camden and several in Rockland.

Suck quakes have been experienced in past years and have been followed by two or three similar ones at intervals of a few days.

HOUSE OVERRIDES WINCAPAW AND GIVES PASSAGE TO LOBSTER BILL; BAY FERRY BILL SOON TO BE REPORTED OUT

The Maine House Friday afternoon passed the bill to increase the minimum legal length of lobsters to three and three sixteenths inches in first and second readings.

Legislators swept aside a motion of Representative Ralph Wincapaw of Friendship to table the bill for further study until Tuesday.

On motion of Representative John P. Tarbox of West Gouldsboro, chairman of the Sea & Shore Fisheries Committee which returned an "ought to pass" report on the bill, the House voted to concur with the Senate which had previously accepted the committee report.

The bill had reported out of committee with eight of the 10 man committee signing the "ought to pass" opinion. Those signing the minority report, George D. Rankin, Jr., of Southport and Jotham L. Andrews of Jonesboro, made no request for tabling or debate.

Representative Sherman Baird of North Haven signed the majority report with seven other members.

The vote on the floor was heavily in favor of acceptance of the bill as reported.

One more reading is scheduled in the House for the bill to be engrossed after which it will lay over one day for enactment and then go to the Senate for final enactment and the governor's signature to make it law.

Debate on the bill is possible as it again comes up in the House, but is thought by legislators to be unlikely.

Bay Ferries Bill

While the Highway Committee is still studying the bill which would pave the way for adequate ferry service to North Haven and Vinalhaven, a new ferry for Islesboro and the establishing of a service from Swans Island to Mt. Desert, it is expected out of committee next week. Some venture that it will be reported Tuesday, others think somewhat later in the term. A member of the committee has (Continued on Page Three)

JAYCEES TO SEEK CONVENTION FOR ROCKLAND NEXT YEAR

A trio of Rockland Junior Chamber of Commerce members were named as delegates to the Jaycee state convention May 17-19 at Presque Isle during a Wednesday night meeting.

David Holden, John Billington and George Scott were elected delegates with Everett Spear and Dale Lindsey as alternates. The group will be authorized to discuss the possibilities of a 1958 convention in Rockland.

Preliminary written tests for qualifications of student applicants to participate in the 1957 Road-E-O Contest sponsored by the Jaycees will be judged Wednesday night. The contest will be held at the Public Landing on May 4 with registration for the event at 9.30 a. m. Students from more than a dozen high schools in Knox and Waldo counties are expected to participate.

The all-day Saturday car wash by the Jaycee members netted a profit of $80, it was announced. The wash was held at a Rockland service station.

Guest speaker at the Wednesday night meeting was Joseph Crowley, district manager of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, who discussed recent improvements in his field and showed a film, "Speechless by Mistake."

LIME COMPANY EMPLOYEES ASK 40 HOUR WORK WEEK WITH SAME PAY NOW RECEIVED FOR 48 HOURS

Quarry and plant workers of the Rockland Rockport Lime Company are asking, through their union, for a 40 hour work week with the same pay they are now receiving for 48 hours labor.

President Ardrey Orff of the company pointed out Friday that the 65 men involved are now paid straight time for 40 hours work and time and a half for eight hours. It amounts to 52 hours straight time pay.

Two meetings have been held between company and union with a National Labor Relations Board conciliator, Samuel Creighton, sitting in on the second. Efforts to reach an agreement have so far been unsuccessful. However, workmen have agreed to continue to work on the scale set by the old labor contract as discussions continue. There is no evidence of strike at this time.

Mr. Orff observed that the Lime Company is fully as anxious to have its crews on a 40 hour week as are the men. However, until the company finds itself in a more favorable position, such a move would not be wise.

Meanwhile, Orff said, company officials are preparing the very best offer possible for approval of the board of directors, and if approved by them, for presentation to the employees.

There are minor issues which he believed had been settled, or could be settled with little difficulty.

The company has gone on record that it would be prepared to talk on reduction of working hours next year and to recommend to the directors that a token increase be given to indicate sincerity.

A third meeting of union and company representatives is to take place shortly after May 1.

Liquor Stolen From Port District Wharf

Thieves looted the Vinalhaven Port District building at the A. C. McLoon Company wharf of a case of pint bottles of liquor and 28 cents sometime Wednesday night or Thursday morning, Rockland Police reported.

Police Chief Bernard Thompson said Thursday that his department had recovered the case of whiskey with 21 bottles intact. The case was found a short distance from the building. Further details were not immediately disclosed by Thompson.

Entrance was gained through a side window that was smashed and the window unlocked. The break was reported by Ralph L. Brown, port district manager.

ANDREW OLSON 96 TUESDAY

Andrew Olson, born in Finland 96 years ago, celebrated his birthday Thursday at the Smith Nursing Home on Pleasant Street although the actual birth date was Tuesday. Several cakes baked for the former Clark Island quarry worker, were not received until then. Above, he counts his candles, finding he is missing about 90 to them. Olson has been a patient at the home for nearly a year. He stayed in East Friendship previously. Olson, the father of five, operated a farm in Cushing for 35 years after coming to Maine. Still living are his son, Edward of Washington, D. C., and two daughters, Mrs. Ingrid Falk and Mrs. Elsie Johnson, both of Massachusetts.

Camden YMCA Cadet League Awards Made

The Cadet Basketball League of the Camden YMCA held a basketball awards night Wednesday featuring the presentation of team championship trophies and other awards before a gathering of 40 players, friends and families at the YMCA building.

Making the presentations was Frank Milliken, volunteer league basketball coach and instructor. Coach Milliken reviewed the season's work in a short talk given at the meeting. He was presented a gift purse by Capt. Neil Welt of the championship squad on behalf of the entire league in appreciation of his services.

A Good Sportsmanship Award went to Peter Strang while Wayne Hansen was presented the Outstanding Player Award.

W. Peirce Harley, YMCA executive secretary, gave a short talk commending Milliken for his excellent work and the players for their fine exhibitions.

The Cadet League is made up of four teams of youngsters of the fifth and six grade age group. Several practice games were played during the past season to acquaint the players with the game's fundamentals and an elimination tournament of three games each determined the league championship.

Maine Central Lists Schedule Of Summer Trains

One hour later departure of the morning train from Rockland plus other minor changes in schedules are shown in the new spring and summer timetables of the Maine Central Railroad made public today. New schedules become effective next Sunday with the advent of Daylight Saving Time for 1957. Timetables will be available for public distribution at ticket offices on Friday of this week.

Maine Central trains, the new schedules show, will leave Rockland weekdays at 8.45 a. m., Wiscasset at 10.11 a. m., Bath at 10.33 a. m., arriving at Portland at 11.35 a. m. and Boston by connecting train at 2.05 p. m. The Two Sons with Capt. James L. Brown brought many guests to the wedding on Saturday noon; but due to the weather and number to go, the North Haven made the return trip after the wedding.

Emery Wooster and Lewis Haskell are reported to have a few potatoes planted. Frank Beveridge at 96 has forked up some ground for later planting. Fish Hawks, although late, are here, and dandelion greens are being dug to by young and old.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Curtis left on Friday for a trip to the mainland after her father.

Miss Cornelia Staples and Miss Alberta Wallen of West Hartford, Conn., came Friday to their North East cottage for their vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Joy and son David of Portland came Saturday for the Beveridge-Hopkins wedding, leaving Sunday morning.

Mrs. Parker Crockett and son Ronald of Portland are spending the week with her mother, Mrs. Mellic Gillis, and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Hurd.

Mrs. Pauline Quinn was honored on her 80th birthday at the home of her daughter, Easter Sunday. Delicious refreshments were served. Invited guests were Mrs. Leslie Dickey, Mrs. H. T. Crockett, Mrs. Alice Sampson, Mrs. Emery Wooster, Mrs. Lillian York, Mrs. Clarence Waterman, Mrs. Frank Sampson, Mrs. Bessie Grant, Rev. and Mrs. George R. Merriam, Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Brown and Stanley Quinn and family.

WE HOPE FOR PASSAGE OF SINCLAIR BILL

In all the years in which we have had a healthy interest in education we have yet to find any legislation comparable with the Sinclair Bill, possibly better known as the Jacobs Bill, which will be taken up by the Legislature Tuesday morning next at ten o'clock.

We urge all our readers to urge their legislators to support this bill which is wholly fair and written with great vision for education in Maine.

CAMDEN GIRL IS HONORED

One of the pleasing facets of editing a county newspaper like this is that we are privileged to give a kindly word of praise to any of our boys and girls who distinguish themselves in one way or another.

In Maine's history there have been but two women who have been made assistant attorneys general. The second of these outstanding individuals is a capable young Camden woman who has for some time been law and legislative librarian in the State Library.

Attorney General Frank F. Harding of Rockland said in connection with the appointment, "Miss Hary has been very helpful to our department in her capacity as law librarian."

OLD FRIEND, WE MISS YOU

We often fail to truly appreciate people until they are no longer among us. This has been particularly true of Mrs. Lillian Copping who has moved to California to make her home with her son Cecil.

Mrs. Copping was a veteran newspaper woman as well as unusually talented as a musician. It was in her field of newspaper lore that we received frequent valuable communications or found answers to problems of yesteryear that would otherwise require hours of searching our old files.

Walking up Limerock Street seems scarcely the same without Mrs. Copping. To be sure this year her lovely front lawn garden is gay as usual, but with next year's construction, that too will be gone.

Old friend, we miss you.

THAT PROSPERITY CHORUS

A long-time jovial citizen of Rockland, not at present residing here, possessed among many other civic ideas the habit of calling the sardine factory whistles lifting their voices over the city, Rockland's prosperity chorus.

There is much truth in his thought for the blasting of the heavy steam whistles of the fish factories mean an echo shortly afterward of jingling cash registers in the stores of local merchants. The first notes of the 1957 chorus that reached our ears came Wednesday when the beautifully-toned whistle on the North Lubec Packing Company plant gave a couple of giant whoops, probably testing its vocal chords.

Many older citizens recall the time some bright mind took the then Lawrence whistle, then cold, off the plant and mounted it in place of the City's diaphone — came six o'clock and all the air tanks could produce from the huge whistle two gurgling moans. That ended that, but any day now the great whistle, still Lawrence, will raise its mighty voice hourly in Bob Lindquist's "prosperity chorus".

THE MATTER OF TEMPORARY SCHOOL HOUSING

The shockingly high educational housing budgets bring pause to many citizens of slender means who wonder repeatedly just where the tax money will come from. They look upon the present necessity for vastly increased school house construction as an emergency just as real as war housing.

It would seem to many that one-story, sprinklered structures of inexpensive material and designed for ten years of service in place of the expensive brick buildings which are out of date in twenty years would be a more sensible approach. These are emergency times and could well be met by emergency measures with inexpensive but fireproof temporary school buildings.

Temporary school buildings would not be permissible except under emergency conditions and in many cases would not suffice at all.

This suggestion came from a well-known, thinking citizen.

Zoning Board To Hear Ames' Appeal

A hearing before the Rockland Board of Zoning Appeals will be held May 9 at 1.30 p. m. to consider an appeal by Bradford Ames of 15 Ocean Street from a decision by the city building inspector not to grant him a garage construction permit.

Ames asked the permit to build a two car garage at the rear of his property on Ocean Street that runs 126 feet from the road.

Inspector Wesley Knight was forced by city ordinance to refuse the permit. Ordinances under residential zone B call for construction to be either 20 feet or 20 per cent of the lot depth from the back lot line, which ever is less. Ames' garage was planned to have been constructed 11 feet from the back lot line, Knight said. Ames' house presently occupies part of the lot.

Tigers Scheduled For Waterville This Afternoon

The Rockland High School diamond squad's season opener against Waterville, after two postponements, will be played this afternoon at 3.30, weather permitting.

The game was regularly scheduled for Thursday but was postponed to Friday afternoon because of rain. Friday's rain caused the second delay.

The squad will leave from the high school building at noon for Waterville.

Members of Knox Lodge of Odd Fellows and Miriam Rebekah Lodge will observe Anniversary Sunday by attending the Pratt Memorial Methodist Church tomorrow.

All members are requested to meet at the Odd Fellows Hall at 10 a. m. Sunday, daylight saving time, and proceed to the church in a body.

On Monday, Knox Lodge will confer the First Degree on a class of candidates with refreshments following the meeting.

RED SOX WIN CAMDEN YMCA BOWLING CHAMPIONSHIP; 300 CLUB TOURNEY NOW UNDERWAY

Captain "Tiger" Richardson and his team mates won the Camden Y.M.C.A. Men's Bowling League championship from the Senators, captained by Rollo Gardner. The totals are as follows: For the Red Sox, K. Wellman 471, Ball 448, Richardson 440, Talbot, Sr. 485, G. Boynton, Jr. 422, G. Boynton, Sr. 470, total 2736.

For the Senators, Reed 402, Gardner 426, Claytor 484, Knight 450, Dearborn 432, Freeman 477, total 2671.

"300" Club Under Way
The "300" Club Handicap Elimination Tourney got underway Tuesday night of this week with the following results: N. Magee over Stevenson 282 to 281; Redman over Heal 325 to 280; G. Boynton, Sr. over J. Talbot, Sr. 305 to 302; Freeman over G. Boynton, Jr. 275 to 264; Bailey over Green 259 to 246; Dearborn over Stone 280 to 259.

Results of Wednesday night contests were not available at press time. Semi-finals will be bowled off Monday evening and finals on Tuesday.

The annual banquet will be held at Lincolnville Grange Thursday, May 9 at 6.30 p. m.

Lions Trophies To Be Awarded
The trophies, which are awarded annually to the winners of the Elimination Game Tourney held at the Y.M.C.A. each year by the Camden Lions Club, will be given out next week to those in the grade schools. These awards are on display in the show room formerly known as Prince's, Inc. Other trophies will be awarded to the older boys and girls as soon as the winners are known.

Cadet Sports Night
Frank Milliken held his first Cadet Sports Night at the Y this week. This was the climax for 21 boys who participated in the Cadet Basketball League this winter.

Y.M.C.A. Ladies' League
The Y Ladies' Bowling League is drawing to a close and their banquet will be held on May 10 at the Colonial Inn in Belfast. May 3 is the last match night for the league. Bowlofts will be held the following week.

UNDERDOG DUCKS SHATTERED THE MIGHTY GANDERS IN TITLE CLASH ON VINAHAVEN ALLEYS

The Ducks, underdogs to take the championship for the season in the five string bowl off held last Tuesday evening at the Cascade Alleys, confounded the critics and dumfounded the Ganders, when they allowed the Ganders to win but one string and walked them to the tune of 84 pins, in the key of "see".

Clint Smith was the big surprise, his high of 112 and total of 508 being several degrees hotter than anything he has produced for a long time and Capt. Pool's 495 and Joe Nelson's 472 were both better than anything the Ganders could show.

There were glimmers of hope for the Ganders in the fourth string when they totaled a 470 to gain 21 pins but they went out the window in the fifth as the Ducks put on steam to roll their best string of the five and give it to the Ganders where the chicken got the axe.

There was considerable talk at the beginning about who would "pete out" during the match as the five string idea was new to both teams, but the score sheet soon showed who was doing the "peteering" and it was not the Ducks.

The Old Goose managed to lead his flock with a 470 but that was only good for fourth place and did nothing to relieve the strain on his pocketbook.

A farewell supper to the season of 1956-57 is planned and it might well be that in the heat of argument, and stimulated by roast turkey and all the trimmings, someone may be brash enough to challenge someone else and the battle would be on again, but to date the only thing planned is the awarding of the bowling "Oscars" and the conversational "Emmys".

Among those nominated for an Oscar is the Goose for his green coolness under the running fire of comment on his poor bowling this year; another to Capt. Grimes for the worst performance on the alleys since he wore short pants; and another to Wesley Peacock for his range and versatility in going from the highest to the lowest, not once but several times.

There is no record of the conversation classics, they being so hot and pungent that they melted all ribbon tapes and records faster than they could be made, so it will be a case of this being made from memories rather than memories being made from this.

Score Ganders vs Ducks:

| Ganders   |     |     |     |     |     |      |  |  |  |

LITTLE LEAGUE FINDS HOME AT NORTH SCHOOL FIELD AS CITY AGREES TO PREPARE THE LOT

A new playing field for the sell Connors, George Robinson and Maurice Miller. Coaches are: Fred Madore, Norman Kallach, Bud Compton, Lincoln Johnson, Fred Harden, Jr., Ken Roes and Fred Clough.

Umpires will be Lester Raye, Elmer Perkins, Ken Orcutt, Maynard Wiggins, Jim Burns and Dick Fowler.

Leo Dostie will be scorer while Vaino Johnson is in charge of collectors at the games.

Urgently needed are two more managers, three coaches, four more umpires and four more scorers. Fathers of players in the league are being forced out of the regular Schofield-White Park playing site due to the planned construction of a transit shed and terminal wharf in that area.

The league will begin practice sessions on May 1 and teams will be selected on May 8 with the first game scheduled for May 13. Teams competing are sponsored by the American Legion, the Kiwanis Club, the Odd Fellows, the Lions Club, the Elks Club and the Rotary Club.

The season will be split into two halves with each team playing 10 games a half. Winners of both halves will play off for the season championship.

Managers volunteering at a Wednesday night meeting of league officials at the Community Building were: John Dugan, Rus-

Kangas To Open Electronics Firm

Reino O. Kangas announces the opening of a marine electronic sales and service organization in this area. The new firm called Electronic Labs is located at 688 Main street.

Electronic Labs is the authorized Raytheon Marine Dealer in this area. Radio-telephones, Fathometers, and Radar will be sold and serviced.

Mr. Kangas is a native of Rockland, has a varied experience in electronics. Licensed as amateur radio operator in 1939, served six years in the navy, attaining the rating of chief radioman.

He graduated from Massachusetts Radio & Telegraph School in Boston, and served as radio officer for four years on various merchant vessels. He has completed a course of instruction in television laboratory practice at the L. I. Agricultural and Technical Institute in Farmingdale, N. Y.

He recently returned to his native state after spending the past three and a half years employed in the transmitting station of Press Wireless, Inc., New York City.

Reino holds both radio-telephone and telegraph licenses with radar endorsement. He recently completed a refresher course with Raytheon radar engineers in Boston.

It is expected that Electronic Labs will enter the medical electronic field very soon.

Mr. Kangas is married to the former Anna Heino. They will reside on the Thomaston road upon the completion of their new home.

TALK OF THE TOWN

April 26—Daylight Saving Time starts. Set clocks ahead one hour.

Barbara Teel, 18 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Teel of 55 Lawn Avenue was treated Friday at Knox Hospital for a lip laceration received when she fell against a chair at home. She was released.

Attending the Silver Tea at the Blaine House in Augusta for the Cancer Fund from this area were: Mrs. Alden Perry, Mrs. Earle Perry, Miss Pearl Borgerson, Mrs. Isidor Gordon, Mrs. Christopher Roberts and Mrs. Jeanette Small.

Sandwiches, coffee and doughnuts were served the firemen on duty at the Glen Cove fire Monday night by the following Red Cross volunteer canteen workers: Mrs. Leon Fickett, Mrs. Thelma Stanley, Mrs. Leroy Chatto, Mrs. Kenneth Feyler, Sr., Mrs. Alfred MacFarland and Mrs. Kenneth Feyler, Jr.

Fishermen along the Eastern Shore of Nova Scotia are experiencing a light catch due to cold water. Lobsters of "good size" are selling from $1 to $1.50 as lobstermen are busy setting thousands of traps as the season opens.

Things became a little confusing at an Extension Service meeting to the Eastward a few evenings ago. It was a special meeting for the discussion of taxes. Meeting time came and there were just a few on hand. Two dignitaries from the University of Maine were present, the local representative and three other men in the corridor. Anxious to get started, and thinking others would soon show up, the agent rounded up the three and guided them into the meeting room. A tax expert through his talk and had just stopped when a harried deputy sheriff rushed into the room—spotted two of the three who had been herded in from the hall—and yelled "Hey, I thought I told you two jokers to wait in the hall!" The pair rose and shuffled out to meet their bondsman for whom they had been waiting to bail them on charges of poaching brought by game wardens. Just one lone farmer was left to listen to the next speaker on taxation.

Herbert Simmons of the Rockland Awning Co. now has the telephone installed in his shop on Rockland street. The number is 1036-M.

WIDOW AND SEVEN CHILDREN HOMELESS AFTER CAMDEN FIRE

Flames completely gutted a one and a half story, four room home on Washington street in Camden Thursday morning leaving a widow and seven children homeless.

Mrs. Lawrence Erskine who owned the small wooden frame home situated at the bend of Meganticook River on Washington street was forced to race a quarter of a mile to a phone for aid when she discovered the fire. She called from the home of Arthur Herrick of Molyneux road.

Three fire engines and a ladder truck were summoned to battle the blaze that burned through the four rooms and broke out on one end of the roof.

Fire Chief Allen Payson said the fire started in the kitchen partition next to the stove pipe. Mrs. Erskine, her eight year old daughter, Linda, and a small son were at home at the time. The rest of the children were out of the house. Several of the older children work.

Payson said Mrs. Erskine had smelled smoke for some time and finally spotted it pouring from the wall corners.

When firemen arrived the building was ablaze. A washing machine and several smaller articles were saved but the greater part of the family furniture and belongings were lost.

The small house was owned by Mrs. Erskine whose husband had died about three years ago.

The building and furniture were not insured.

The family is being housed temporarily at the Meganticook Lake summer cottage of Mrs. M. Anna Libby of Camden.

Fire Chief estimated the loss at about $1000.

indicated that the report will be made soon.

The bill calls for the lending of state credit to a $250,000 bond issue which would construct new car and passenger ferries to serve the islands. The proposal made at a committee hearing in March was that income from the ferry service would serve to pay the bond issue off in 25 years and still meet operating costs.

At first, the bill proposed that the State Highway Commission operate the service. Later, the Maine Port Authority was proposed as the operating agency and that body agreed to take the responsibility. It is understood that an amendment will be made to the bill to permit the change.

Two Bills Tabled
During the week, the Sea and Shore Fisheries Committee of 10 members divided evenly on two bills. One was for repeal of the two inch clam law and the other was to return jurisdiction of clam flats to communities.

Both bills had the approval of the Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries, which is headed by Ronald Green of Rockland, and the Legislative Research Committee.

Both were tabled for consideration at a later date.
The Senate gave approval to an apprentice lobsterman's bill over an adverse report returned by the Sea and Shore Fisheries Committee, 8 to 2. The bill covers youngsters under 18 years of age who wish to learn the trade.

would result in so large a loss in the catch that the average fisherman would be unable to stand this loss which could not be offset by a higher price.

"I do believe a fishermen's organization is a good thing. I appreciate advice as to how the membership feels about certain legislation.

"However, I do feel I should use my own judgement in making up my mind. If you will examine my record as to legislation introduced and passed during my two terms here you will find more than two thirds is fisheries legislation, mostly of benefit to the lobster fishermen alone. One item in particular is the pet of Otis Lewis and is to prevent hauling traps after dark.

"I am sorry if I misled them in any way in my efforts to keep neutral and open minded, or if they thought I owed them a political debt. I do believe this will benefit everyone concerned."

Sherman Baird
It must be pointed out that during the hearing on the bill at Augusta that strong delegations of lobstermen voiced a preference for the new measure. Included was the Hancock County group which matches the catch of Knox County, as well as portions of other county delegations.

The Maine Lobstermen's Association went on record as opposed to the increase. The Association has approximately 2,000 members along the Maine coast out of 5,000 plus licensed lobstermen in the state.

Lobster dealers supported the increase, as they have done consistently for three legislatures past, having first made the proposal.

This was the first legislature during which large segments of the thousand of lobstermen joined the dealers in asking an increase.

The Old Penobscot Gets Into Big Trouble Just Who Was Bill McKee?

Here is the husky Penobscot under more pleasant circumstances than those detailed in Capt. Scott's story. Photo, unused before, made off Fort Knox.

Deer Isle, Me., March 1, 1957.
Dear Steamboat Editor:—

As spring approaches we all have that house cleaning urge. This overtook me this morning and I turned the drawer of my desk upside down and overhauled a pile of left-overs from my winter's labors. Among this debris was my badly worn book of notes with only one or two unused jottings. These I will send along to you that you might be able to use them in the future. With all the notes in this book recorded I will tie it in the bundle of my precious documents and put back on the shelf between the rafters of my unfinished attic.

May 3, 1884: Capt. David Robinson the first and only master of the Mt. Desert up to this date was retired with half pay for life.
Wednesday, March 25, 1891: Steamer Manhattan was launched at the New England Shipbuilding Co. yards at Bath. Among those present was Capt. J. B. Coyle of the Maine S. S. Co. The Manhattan is a duplicate and sister ship of the steamer Cottage City, launched in 1890.

Sept. 1, 1905: I was trucking freight on the steamer Calvin Austin and saw the new Graves Lighthouse lighted for the first time. This light is the extreme guide-post for the entrance to Boston Harbor. Its flashes are 2-2-2.

1886: T. F. Cassidy of Bangor who operates a steam roller mill for grinding corn into meal, shipped one of his grist mills to Boston on the steamer Katahdin. The steamer had to jettison her cargo after suffering considerable damage from that memorable gale of that year so the mill was thrown overboard and lost. Mr. Cassidy had a new mill shipped from Boston on the steamer Cambridge. This mill went to the bottom with her valuable cargo when she was wrecked.

Wednesday, July 12, 1899: The steamer Horatio Hall of the Maine Steamship Co., ran aground on Middle Ground Shoal in thick fog. The tug Gypsum King went to her assistance. The tide was on the ebb so the tug pulled with no avail. She let go her hawser when Capt. Bragg of the Horatio Hall decided that they would have to wait for the next tide. As the tug was about to leave, the steamer slid off by herself with no damage to her hull. She carried 300 passengers.

May 6, 1886: The Eastern Steamboat Company of Bath sold its popular steamer Sasanoa, her length, 84' breadth 15', engine non-condensing Cyl. 18x18. This was one of the first steamers to run on the Bath to Boothbay route, in increase of passenger traffic demanded larger and faster boats.

The second steamer Bangor was launched in May 1844 she was built by Betts, Harlan & Hollingsworth of Wilmington, Del., for the Bangor Steam Navigation Co., her hull was formed by bar iron ribs secured by wrought iron clamps, her planking was put on in the lapped or "Clinker" style instead of the modern "inside and outside" method of arranging the sheets. She measured 231 tons burden, she was 120 feet in length between perpendiculars; 20 feet beam moulded, nine feet depth of hold for base line amidship. On deck she was 131 feet overall, all passengers were carried aft on deck in a house fitted up in a style of elegance unusual of those days.

Her machinery consisted of independent twin screw propeller engines, having cylinders 22 inches in diameter by 24 inch stroke of piston. Her propellers were of the "Loper" type, eight and one-half feet in diameter. Her boiler was placed in the hold and was of the iron type 20 feet in length, and was known as the drop flue type. On her trial she averaged a speed of 11.57 miles per hour.

On her second trip from Boston to Bangor, she caught fire off Castine and burned to the water's edge, on Aug. 31, 1845. An insurance settlement was effected and she was towed to Bath. She was rebuilt and ran on the line until December, 1846, when she was purchased by the U.S. Government for $28,975, and renamed the Scourge at the time of the breaking out of the Mexican war. The Government supplied her with three guns, and the cost in her change from a merchant to a Government steamer was $15,885.

After two years of war service she was, on Oct. 7, 1848, finally sold by the Government through their agent, Vespasian Ellis of New York City, to John F. Hertz of Lafayette, La., for the sum of $2300.

July 2, 1903: The new steamer Calvin Austin arrived in Boston from her builders at Wilmington, Del., in command of Capt. Pike of the St. Croix. The arrival of this new ship for the International Line resulted in a turmoil of shifting of officers of various steamers of this line. Since Capt. Pike went down to Delaware after the Calvin Austin, the St. Croix is in command of Capt. Thompson of the Penobscot. Capt. Charles Mitchell was shifted to the Penobscot but later went first pilot on the Calvin Austin after she went in commission on the International line. The Penobscot was hauled off to be used as a spare boat. The State of Maine is in command of Capt. Allen formerly of the Larchmont that ran from Providence to New York for the Joy Line.

Friday, Dec. 29, 1906: The steamer Penobscot collided with the fishing schooner Shepard King while on her way down Boston Harbor enroute to Bangor. The schooner struck the Penobscot head on which smashed many of the planks of the steamer below the waterline. The Penobscot took the schooner in tow and both vessels returned to Boston. On arrival at her dock the Penobscot had listed badly from water that had covered the fireroom floor. Her freight was unloaded with great difficulty, and it was necessary for two tugs to come alongside and pump constantly to keep her afloat. She was taken to the Marine railway in East Boston and hauled out. Her extreme weight with her hull full of water crushed blocking her starboard side and only her paddle wheels bearing on the railway platform prevented her from crashing from the supports. She eventually had to be launched again to right her for new and more solid blockings.

Incidents of this nature would have little effect on grand old Bill McKee, and his foreman Jim Green was the same type. They both were cool and went about the process of hauling a sidewheeler with little if any commotion. Foreman Green would stand at the head of the railway to give signals to the engineer in the powerhouse. Bill McKee would walk back and forth watching the blockings and the list of the ship as she dried his super-structure.

The construction and handling of sidewheelers was a past master's gift in the life of Bill McKee. His office at the Atlantic Works in East Boston had decorated walls of sidewheel blueprints. His desk was a cluttered mass of rough pencil drawings that meant nothing to anyone but himself. His silent partner George Eaton looked after the financial end of the business but had nothing to say with the general operations.

During the many times I have sat in Bill McKee's office he has related to me how he built up his operations from scratch on a site which was a part of the mud flats of Chelsea creek. At the time of his death he left behind the most colorful fleet of sidewheel steamers in the world, while all of them were from the plans formulated by the brain of a genius, and drawn by the most capable hands of that era.

FARM AND GRANGE NEWS OF INTEREST IN KNOX AND LINCOLN COUNTIES

MRS. FOLSOM RESIGNS HDA POST; STUDY TO BE MADE IN EFFORT TO CONSOLIDATE AGENT'S DUTIES

Mrs. Mabel Folsom

Mrs. Mabel Folsom, home demonstration agent for the Extension Association in Knox and Lincoln Counties the past two years, tendered her resignation to the Executive Board of the association Thursday. She indicated to the board that she wished to be relieved on July 1 as she planned to be married during the summer.

The Board, in its annual session, re-elected County Agent Gilbert Jaeger of Camden and Mrs. Loana Shibbes of Martinsville, the 4-H Club agent.

A meeting of the Association officers was held at the Knox Hotel Thursday morning with members of the board joining them for lunch and the afternoon business meeting. Attending the sessions was Richard Dolloff of Orono, state county agent leader.

President Ralph Keene of Damariscotta presided, with Herbert Spear of North Nobleboro reading the secretary's report and Irving Smith of Owls Head the treasurer's report. Each of the agents, Mrs. Folsom, Mr. Jaeger and Mrs. Shibbes, reported on the progress made in their departments the past year.

It was brought out at the meeting that the fields of agriculture have broadened so rapidly in recent years that it has become almost impossible for a single county agent to care for all programs in two counties, such as is the case with Knox and Lincoln.

There were indications that a survey would be made with the possibility that some minor programs might be deleted in order that more time could be spent with those needing the attention. Such a revision of programs would give the agent an opportunity to consolidate his efforts, it was observed.

A membership committee was appointed and it includes Mrs. Gertrude Hupper of Martinsville, Henry Teague of Warren and Eben Haggitt of Damariscotta Mills.

Named to serve on a committee which will arrange for the annual association meeting next fall were: Otto Irvine of South Warren, Theodore Ross of West Alna and Mrs. Esther Gross of Waldoboro.

Tuesday, April 30, at 7 p. m., is the date set for the Knox-Lincoln County 4-H Style Show at the Waldoboro gymnasium, when the county blue ribbon winner will be announced.

All 4-H girls in the clothing project are eligible to model in this show, the articles they have made this year.

Fifty senior girls and over 200 junior girls are enrolled in clothing in the counties and many of these 4-H members are planning to enter this county-wide style show.

A chance to compete in the State 4-H Dress Revue will be the award for the County Blue Ribbon winner.

Corsages or wristlets will be awarded the senior blue ribbon winners by Dean's Flower Shop in Rockland.

Blue and red ribbons will be awarded the girls making dresses while green and gold participation ribbons are to be given to all others taking part.

Dresses To Be Judged
All dresses will be scored Monday, April 29, at the North Nobleboro Community Hall at 6:30 p. m. and placed in blue and red ribbon groups. The announcements of all placings and ribbons will be awarded at the show, Tuesday night.

Mrs. Mabel K. Folsom, home demonstration agent, and Mr. Esther Gross, Knox-Lincoln County clothing leader, will be in charge of judging and will be assisted by Extension Association members.

By Henry Teague

This is another down week for poultry prices. As predicted eggs dropped off sharply after the pre-Easter rise. Broilers reached a low of 17 cents a pound early in the week. Apparently relief is not around the corner, in fact it appears to be several corners away.

It has been interesting listening to many opinions expressed by poultrymen now that Joseph H. Fletcher has visited the area in person and told many of us about his self-control plan. I have not heard one word against Mr. Fletcher's idea, but doubt has been expressed by some as to the possibility that the plan can actually be put through. This doubt does not concern the quality of the plan, but rather the massiveness of the idea.

It would seem certain that poultrymen looking for quick and immediate profit would be doomed to disappointment. Such an undertaking would necessarily incur much expense at the start and those going along with it would need to take a long look ahead.

One might say that poultrymen have so many bad gambles at the present time that they are hardly in a financial position to take any kind of an additional gamble. If the Fletcher plan can be put along to a point of organization, poultrymen may have more available funds by that time if predictions hold true.

The table egg segment of the industry cannot continue to exist under the conditions we have most of the past three years. Mr. Fletcher's plan before us can at least hope that this is solution. It would seem to be lot better than the surplus-scar plan we now have.

When you come right down to it there is no other item of food that faintly resembles an egg. The production of an egg is one of nature's greatest marvels but it is not produced by nature alone, but rather the massiveness of the plan, but rather the massiveness of the idea.

It would seem certain that poultrymen looking for quick and immediate profit would be doomed to disappointment. Such an undertaking would necessarily incur much expense at the start and those going along with it would need to take a long look ahead.

Knox-Lincoln Has Three Outstanding Homemakers

Mrs. Florence Peck of Waldoboro, first to receive the Outstanding Homemaker Award in recent years. She is a sister of Albert E. MacPhail of Owls Head.

The Knox-Lincoln area has established a record in Extension Association circles in that it has had three women selected as Outstanding Homemakers by the University of Maine in three successive years. As far as is known, no other local Extension group has attained this standing.

First to receive it was Mrs. Florence MacPhail of Nobleboro in 1955. She was followed last year by Mrs. Gladys E. Keller of West Rockport and only three weeks ago by Mrs. Gertrude Hupper of Martinsville.

All three women have devoted much time to various Extension projects in their Extension communities and county groups.

Not only has their work been in Extension projects, but it has extended to community life and public service in Sunday Schools and churches as well as 4-H Club work.

Mrs. Mabel Folsom, home demonstration agent for Knox-Lincoln Extension Association, points to the achievements of the three women in her area with pride as National Home Demonstration Week opens.

The home demonstration agent works closely with community Extension groups in all towns of the two counties and helps them establish and carry out educational programs in homemaking in general.

Mrs. Peck has served as a trustee of the Maine Extension, chairman of the Women's Division of the state and has represented Maine at two national and one international gathering of home economics leaders.

Mrs. Keller has been for years an active worker in Extension and 4-H Club work in her community, and on a county level. Her work has extended to community affairs, church, school and Sunday School programs, in addition to taking part in the operation of a busy dairy farm.

Mrs. Hupper is currently president of the Knox County Poultry Improvement Association and operates a poultry farm, producing both market eggs and meat birds. She too has been active in 4-H work, on occasion serving as leader of two or more clubs at one time.

Over the years, she has provided foster homes for some 100 children whose periods of living with the Huppers have ranged from two to seven years with as many as five residing there at one time.

She is currently vice chairman of the Women's Division of the state and chairman of the group for Knox-Lincoln Extension. Coupled with all her home and community projects, she served 10 years as master of Ocean View Grange of Martinsville, and is program chairman for the Ridge Church.

The highlight of Home Demonstration Week is to be a meeting and tea on Thursday, May 2. Lincoln County Extension groups will be hostesses this year at the Knox-Lincoln meeting which is being held at the North Nobleboro Community Hall starting at 1:30 p. m.

Included in the program are: A welcome and business session presided over by Mrs. Gertrude Hupper, chairman of the Women's Division of Extension Association; report of the secretary-treasurer by Mrs. Mary Dyer. Also recognition of outstanding leaders and Maine Outstanding Homemaker for 1957, by Mrs. Loana S. Shibbes, charge of refreshments. The table decorations will be provided and arranged by Mrs. Florence Peck.

Chairman of the tea committee is Mrs. Eugene deGroff of North Nobleboro and her committee members are: Mrs. Rose Weston, Waldoboro; Mrs. Julia Burgess, Waldoboro; and Mrs. Florence Peck, Nobleboro. She will also be assisted by the North Nobleboro Extension group.

All Extension Association members are urged to attend. The meeting and tea are open to the general public and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

During Home Demonstration Week, April 29-May 4, displays, posters, and exhibits of various kinds are being shown in each community to acquaint the general public with the work the Extension Service is doing through its home demonstration program.

Plans were discussed for an auction which may be held either the 17th or 24th of May.

Megunticook Grange
Charles White of Winthrop, past treasurer of the Maine State Grange, was present as special deputy for inspection. The first and second degrees were conferred on three candidates, and Mr. White gave an instructive and interesting talk on Grange matters.

It is expected that at the next meeting, May 1, the third and fourth degrees will be conferred by an invited degree team, but it is not yet fully decided.

Seven Tree Grange
By Aubrey Hawes
Seven Tree Grange met Wednesday evening with Nelson Calderwood occupying the master's chair.

Donations were voted during the business session to the Cancer Drive and to the Grange Cottage. The Eastern States Farmer's Exchange will hold their local membership meeting in the hall Thursday evening, May 2 and the Grange will furnish refreshments.

The Lecturer's program featured music as its subject. The Juvenile Grange was cancelled this week owing to school vacation.

The next Grange meeting will be May 8. The Circle will meet in afternoon to make cancer dressings. Supper will be served at the usual hour after which the brothers will lay the new floor covering on the stage.

Ocean View Grange
By Olivia Verrier
At a recent meeting two 50 year Golden Sheaf members were present, Brothers Fred Hooper and Harold Hupper.

Four Grange brothers gave their amusing version of an Easter fashion show.

On Monday night, the third and fourth degrees were conferred on two candidates.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Peri were visitors from Gardiner Grange.

During the lecturer's program Brother Peri entertained by singing and playing the piano and the harmonica.

It was voted that we hold a dairy supper in June. Donations have been given recently to the Educational Aid Fund, Maine Cancer Society, Grange Cottage and the new Wells Grange Hall, Wells.

Any action taken for spite is usually about as successful as it deserves to be.

MANCHESTER AND JAEGER FINDING SEVERAL FARM FOLKS ELIGIBLE FOR SOCIAL SECURITY PAYMENTS

Extension Economist Allen Manchester and County Agent Gilbert Jaeger, have been working with some of the older farm people in the county in an effort to help them improve their financial position during these later years of life.

Jaeger comments that this has been one of the most gratifying programs he had worked with. "We will do our best to work with any of these people who are not now receiving Social Security benefits and who may be eligible. We have found several who did not know that they are eligible but who did have more than enough income to be eligible," he stated.

If anyone would like to have these men call, or knows of someone they might assist, please contact Jaeger at the Rockland Extension office.

WE ALL HAVE OUR DREAMS

Yes, we all have our dreams. Perhaps sometimes, they are mere projections of our selfishness . . . hopes unfair to others . . . ambitions dangerous to ourselves.

But often, they are healthy, honest aspirations . . . opportunities which zeal deserves . . . victories which justice demands.

Is it wrong to dream such dreams? Does God frown on honest hope and love?

Of course not! Rather, God has given us minds able to dream, and souls courageous enough to seek the difficult—even the impossible.

But the Divine Architect helps man to model his castles in the air, and provides the tools for their building. With faith and the guidance of the Church a man may realize hopes and aims which a cynical world calls futile.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Poultry Notes

plan is to control at least half of them.

The vastness of such an enterprise is almost unbelievable. The buildings, machinery, personnel would rank with the biggest businesses in the country. In a way, every poultry farmer would be a stockholder and at the same time his farm would be an integral part of the co-operative.

While each farm would be an independent enterprise, it would be controlled by the Plan as far as number of birds were concerned and the farmer would be required to sell 100 per cent of his eggs to the co-operative.

At present there is no poultry and egg co-op in Maine, so the first one would probably be located in Knox County, the hub of Maine's table egg industry. I think it possible that a move in this direction will not be long in coming if other New England co-ops favor the Plan.

How about all the vast machinery already set up for marketing eggs in this country. From the poultryman's viewpoint, this system is not working well at all. Sure, it is taking all the eggs offered, but that is not enough. Poultrymen feel as a whole that the fixed markup on eggs is keeping retail eggs too high. They want to see the stores give the consumer a break so as to move the surplus eggs faster.

Presumably there will be opposition to the Fletcher plan from the present marketing organizations. This might be healthy as far as the poultryman is concerned. Even if the plan did not go through, it might cause some needed adjustments in favor of the egg producers.

It seems to me that egg producers will do well to follow the progress of the Fletcher plans very closely. It's big in fact gigantic, but at the same time it is aimed directly at giving the egg producer a break and that's something that we have got to have.

Race Issue In America." At 7 p. m. the evening hymn sing is planned with Rev. Mr. Busch leading. Won't you make every effort to attend service this Lord's Day.

The regular monthly meeting of the Rockland Garden Club was held in the Farnsworth Museum on Tuesday with president, Mrs. Sherman Rokes, presiding. The speaker of the afternoon was a newcomer to the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Game, in the role of Conservation Education Director who proved to be an interesting speaker. Following his informative talk the club voted the sum of $25 to be used toward a scholarship at one of the three Teachers' Conservation Workshops being started this summer, two at Christopher Lake, near Bryant Pond, and the other as part of the University of Maine's regular summer schedule. If any local teachers are interested in the free scholarships at any of the workshops, they should communicate with Ermo Scott, State House, Augusta, at once, as the first workshop opens June 24 and runs until July 12 with no class meetings on Saturday or Sunday. Larry Stuart, the Conservation Educator, showed colored films entitled, "To Conserve Our American Heritage." In Maine we have an abundance of natural resources and their destiny lies in the hands of our future citizens. Conservation is a way of life concerned with fundamental human needs. It attempts to strike a balance between nature's laws and man's needs, leading to the wise use of natural resources for the greatest good of all. The headquarters of this new department is located at 184 State street, Augusta, between the Blaine Mansion and the Augusta House, where teachers are requested to stop in.
