State Valuation Commission.

The committee of the state valuation commission is visiting and quarrying has visited the slate district of Monson, Brownville vicinity, the Katahdin Iron Works, Bar Harbor, Sorrento, Southwest Harbor, Mount Desert, Machias, Machiasport, Hancock Point, and the granite quarries of Hancock county, in relation to the assessed value of those properties. The committee consists of Messrs. Franklin, Bartlett, of Somerset, and Dickerson, of Waldo, and they were accompanied by members of the Commission. About two weeks will be occupied in visiting the slate and granite quarries of Knox county, and will in the course of the rest of the important quarries of the state.

Serious Accident on an Electric Road.

A serious accident happened Sept. 20th at Cattle Hill, which cast a gloom over the meeting of the Grand Army encampment in session there. A heavy electric car, which was descending the steep hill, was thrown from the track by the current giving out, and, instead of holding the car, it shot it forward, and the car, striking a telegraph pole, was shattered to pieces, injuring everybody aboard to the passengers, including several, it is feared, fatally. Many of them were badly bruised, and the motorman had his left foot and leg so crushed between the car and the pole that amputation will be necessary. Fortunately for the passengers, the car, after striking the pole, was thrown from the track, and did not go over the steep embankment, as it would have done had it been going a few feet further.

Meeting of the Knox County Teachers.

Knox County Teachers' Association met in Rockland Sept. 28th and 29th. The following programme of subjects was discussed, among profitable papers read A. P. Marshall, superintendent of the Worcester, Mass., public schools, on an appropriate subject, which was highly enjoyed by all. There was a good attendance.

Brighton Cattle Market.

BRIGHTON, Sept. 24, 1889.

Receipts of beef cattle at market this week, 2,000 head; Texans, 600; Western cattle, 1,400; number of Western cattle at market to-day, 1,400; number of cattle ranged from $3.50 to $4.50 per cwt; Texans, $3.00 to $3.50. Cattle sold by dealers: Cattle poor grades sell at $2.50 to $3.00; fair to good steers, $3.50 to $4.00; choice to butchers. There will be a fair supply of cattle left over unsold, which will be sold at the opening of next week. Cattle in market for the week previous: The number of cattle in market were somewhat lighter than those of the week previous; the quality was fully as good. Yellow and Saturday's prices were ruled from those noted one week ago.

Small pigs sell at $3.50 each, or from 5¢ to 6¢ per lb.

"The Naked Truth."

Truth was one day bathing in a limpid stream, when she espied a gaudily dressed Child of Error on the bank of the stream, intending of exchanging his clothing for her attire, who came from the bath and put on the clothes of Truth, and went away. Truth, finding that no article here in public favor but would be thrown away, refused to take the clothes of Error, and went naked through the world. This is the origin of the expression—"the naked truth." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has no counterfeit to pass off on the public. It is entirely different from all other blood purifiers. Liver or Stomach, of long or short standing, will surely find relief by use of this medicine. Druggists sell, and 24 per bottle at it. It is a drug store.

From an obituary notice in the Dayville Bugle. He was a young man who always bore a spotless life, he never even had the measles."

Many young people become positively repulsive by reason of pimples on their faces. These disfigurements are needless, for all such affections may be speedily removed by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Young and old alike appreciate the wonderful benefits of this medicine.

Sir Edwin Arnold, author of "The Light of Asia," is said to be engaged upon another work, which, in interest, will rival regarding the comparative merits of the light of Asia and the electric lights.

Queen Victoria has a remarkably fine head of hair, for a lady of her age; but her son, the Prince of Wales, is quite bald. Had he used Ayer's Hair Vigor earlier in life, his head might to-day have been as well covered as that of his royal mother. It's not too late yet.

I suppose you are ready to substantiate any statement your paper makes?" said an angry looking caller to the editor. "Oh, yes, we have the exception to prove everything that is set up."

Facts Worth Knowing.

In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating. The medical profession has been slow to learn this. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with douches, snuffs, powders or sprays, because they are irritating, do not thoroughly reach the affected surfaces and should be abandoned as worse than useless. A multitude of people have suffered for years borne all the worry and pain that catarrh can inflict testify to radical cures wrought by Ely's Cream Balm. 2w39

"Another hunting accident." That seems to be the principal occupation of hunters—hunting accidents. And they find them frequently.

Advice to Mothers.

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP, for children teething, is the prescription of one of the best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. During the process of teething its value is incalculable. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhœa, griping in the bowels, and wind colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price 25c. a bottle. 1y48

Editor—"Yes, my dear fellow, by all means write just as much as you want. But don't print anything, for if you do you will be found fault with."

Buckien's Arnica Salve.

The best salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Fever Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chilblains, Corns and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by R. H. Moody.

A recipe in a household journal says that "lemonade is made from the juice of the lemon." It seems feasible, but the statement will astonish those persons who supposed that lemonade was made of the milk of the cocoanut.

News About Town.

It is the current report about town that Kemp's Balsam for the throat and Lungs is making some remarkable cures with people who are troubled with Coughs, Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. Any druggist will give you a trial bottle free of cost. It is guaranteed to relieve and cure. The Large Bottles are 50c. and $1.

How Nice

Mrs. Lauria Wells, of Lynn, Mass., completely covered with sores, says her own mother could not have been more kind and tender than Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla Wells' Lauria Wells' Health Renewer.

The Pulpit and the Stage.

Samuel Foster United Brethren Church, Mound, Kansas, says: "I feel it my duty to recommend Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, as I have used it in my family and it has never failed to relieve." Hundreds have testified to its wonderful cures. Trial bottles free at R. H. Moody's drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.00.

Manager Lucy's Funny Folks Com

A thoroughly practical company. Always a pleasure to attend Lucy's New Dime Museum. Good performance, good music, good order, good everything. Don't forget the entertainments thought I found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, was the best I ever used and well, gaining 2 pounds.

Epoch.

The transition from long lingering and painful sickness to perfect health is an epoch in the life of the individual. Such a remarkable event is recorded in the memory, and the agency whereby used. Hundreds have recorded the fact that Electric Bitters have restored them to health after all other remedies had been tried in vain. Electric Bitters do many feel they owe their lives to this medicine. For Kidney, Liver or Stomach disorders, or when run down, debilitated or otherwise, it acts directly on the vital organs, giving strength and new life to the whole system. Sold at 50c. and $1 per bottle at R. H. Moody's drug store.

Kennebec Coal.

Against the argument of scientists who maintain that it is folly to look for a coal deposit in the strata near the mouth of the Kennebec river, is offered the testimony of dwellers in that section, who have found coal on the beach that washed up on the beach for the past 125 years.

It has worked ashore in pieces as big as a half bushel measure, and with bits of rock attached to them. Oddtime blacksmiths used it, and a number of years ago a Dutch boy named Kelsand men of a later day in burned it to good advantage. These statements, in connection with the testimony of a Philadelphia expert who declares that there is no other coal like it in the country, and the report of the state geologist giving the Anderson of London the coal contracts on account of the Canadian Pacific competition.

Woodward Clifford, the Postmaster at North Edgecomb, was appointed under Postmaster General Amos Kendall Oct. 4, 1829, and has held the office ever since that date. It is very doubtful if there is another Postmaster in the country who can boast of a record exceeding a period of half a century.

D. H. Young, of Lincoln, Neb., formerly of Norway, has become interested in the manufacture of violins made from cocoanuts wood Young's home in Maine grew cocoanuts wood are now being made for Mr. Young in Germany. The violins made from this wood are the best in the world.

Labor Commissioner Mathews is now busy compiling the gathering of the reports on the granite industry and shipping. He is also engaged in securing statements of the condition of the lime industry. These will all be incorporated into his annual report which will be a very valuable and interesting document.

General Butler paid the Maine soldiers a high compliment in his speech at the banquet of the First Maine Cavalry at Boston. He said Massachusetts soldiers were not volunteers in the last war, and as the state should not claim it. All the Massachusetts militia went because they were already enrolled in the service of the country, and could not back out. But the men from Maine were unorganized up to the summer of 1861, when came the call for troops, and so were volunteers in the fullest sense of the term.

The Wreck of a Famous Clipper Ship.

The clipper ship South America, James Connolly commanding, was totally wrecked on the 15th inst., in Struys Bay, Cape L'Agulhas, Southern extremity of Africa. The crew are reported saved. The ship was owned by Henry Hastings & Co. of Portland. She was built by Smith & Townsend in 1856 at East Boston, and entered the service in November, 1858. The oldest officer in age and by entry into service is Second Lieut. Michael Moore, of the army retired list, who was born in South Brooklyn in 1796, and enlisted at Governor's Island, New York harbor, April 6, 1812."

PETER G. BRADSTREET DEAD.

Peter G. Bradstreet, one of the wealthiest citizens of Gardiner, died Sept. 17 at his residence in that city, after an illness of eight weeks. He was 68 years of age. During his life he was a prominent shipbuilder, and has largely interested in navigation, being a director in one of the Gardiner banks. several years ago he, with others, fitted out an expedition to South America, in search of sunken treasure, and it is said that he realized handsomely from the venture. Of late he was interested in a line of steamers on the Mississippi river, and in later years he was an owner in the steamboat line between Boston and the Kennebec. Mr. Bradstreet was never married. His private charities were numerous, and unostentatiously performed. He was a conscientious man, of the strictest integrity, and was very fortunate in the accumulation of wealth.

"TOO PREVIOUS."

The suggestion is made in the Portland Telegram that possibly the Maine Good Templars are a little fast in advertising as "runseellers," by name, all the individuals and firms who pay the U. S. revenue tax as dealers in intoxicating liquors, since many wholesale druggists and others pay this tax who object to being placed in that category. The intimation is made that the matter may be brought before the courts upon a suit for libel. This will be quite interesting and perhaps instructive, and the proceedings may possibly result in throwing light upon the mystery which has so long enshrouded this U. S. Revenue Tax system, under which hundreds of men annually walk up to the government office and pay the tax as dealer in intoxicating liquors, when, as a matter of fact, they haven't the slightest intention of vending the liquid aforesaid! [Waterville Mail.

THE FREE BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.

The Maine Free Baptist Association in session recently at Lewiston elected officers as follows: President, Dea. E. D. Wade, Dover; Vice Presidents, Rev. O. B. Cheney, D. D., Lewiston, Rev. W. W. Carver, West Peru, Rev. B. D. Nowell, Milo; Recording Secretary, Rev. J. B. Jordan, Augusta; Corresponding Secretary, Rev. W. W. Waldron, Saco; Executive Board: President, Recording and Corresponding Secretaries, and Treasurer; Rev. Dr. Summerbell of Lewiston, Rev. F. Starbird, West Farmington, Hon. B. F. Hinkley, Georgetown, Rev. H. C. Lowden, Canton, B. L. Jordan, Alfred, Alpheus Hilton, South Parsonsfield, Rev. S. C. Whitcomb, Pittsfield, Hon. J. Preble, Esq., Bangor, Rev. C. W. Foster, Presque Isle. The Home Mission Society held the closing meeting.

THE WINNER OF THE GREAT STALLION RACE.

Nelson is a handsome seven-year-old bay stallion 16 hands high, bred and owned by C. Anson Nelson of Waterville, Me., who developed his speed himself and has never been trained for a three year old of 2:26 3-4, which he reduced to 2:21 1-4 in 1887 when five years old, and to 2:14 1-4 the present season. He is bred from fast and speed producing ancestors on both sides, his sire being Young Rolfe, 2:21 1-4, he by Tom Rolfe, sire of several in the 2:30 list, and whose dam was the wonderful pacer Pocahontas, 2:17 1-4. The dam of Young Rolfe was Judith, by Draco, 2:28 1-2. Nelson's dam was the noted broodmare Gretchen, by Gifford, son of Rysdyk's Hambletonian, Gretchen's dam being Kate, a great road mare, by Vermont Black Hawk, sire of Ethan Allen, 2:25 1-2, and 2:15 with running mate.

THE KITTERY NAVY YARD.

Commodore Wilson, in pursuance of the order of Secretary Tracy, visited the Kittery navy yard Sept. 16th to ascertain the advantages possessed by the yard for establishing an iron plant and depot for supplies. It is understood that the Commodore heartily favors the project, appreciates the advantages possessed by the yard, and will set forth this matter in his annual report to the secretary. He believes that the government should put the navy yards on the Atlantic coast in condition to build their own ships, without being dependent upon private yards. It is estimated that $500,000 will establish an iron plant and construct new patent dry docks.

Maine Matters.

NEWS AND GOSSIP FROM ALL OVER THE STATE.

A MARITIME RELIC.

The Bee was favored with a call the other day from Major John Harward of Bowdoinham, who brought into the sanctum a curiosity in the shape of a model of the first ship that was built by the Major's father, Thomas Harward. The ship was named the Canton, and was built in a field near what is now known as Harward's wharf in Bowdoinham. This was in 1851, and the Canton, of 291 tons burthen, was at that time believed to be the largest ship with one exception, owned in the State of Maine. She was full-rigged, and carried a complete set of studding-sails. Winthrop Farrin, an uncle of George H. Farrin of this village, superintended her construction, and she was rigged by the veteran rigger Ranks, of Bath. At the beginning of her career the Canton was commanded by Captain Thomas Harward, a brother of her owner. Captain Edmund Eaton of Bowdoinham also sailed in the position of chief mate, the second mate's berth being filled by Captain Lorenzo Parker. The late Captain Thatcher Harward of this village, with the late David Reed of Perkins, and Daniel Morrison of Dresden, were shipped as second in the Canton, and made the voyage in her from Bath to Charleston, S. C.

It was late in the fall before the ship was ready for sea, and the harbors and bars were full of ice when she left Bowdoinham and bore away to the southward on her long voyage. The old hooker made what in those days was considered a quick passage, arriving at Charleston at the time of the multimillion outbreak. When the excitement was at its height, the ship was towed out of range of the Federal States sloop of war Natchez, so that the latter could open fire on the city if necessary. On her return passage the Canton picked up one of the Nassau boats—a little craft which did good service for many a year afterward.

Major Harward cannot say what end the Canton made, but he remembers that she was long-lived, and that she was at one time commanded by the late father of our friend William Riley. William officiating as third mate. The model, which deserves to be treasured among the heirlooms of the Harward family, represents a full-bowed, keel-bottom craft, with a long, low sheer forward and aft. As a grandchild view her stern appears straight and old-fashioned, yet it is lean under water, and accounts for the fact that she was considered a fast ship, and is known to have made several quick passages. Judging from her model, the Canton was a craft built to carry cargo, and, though wherever they found room on her narrow decks to coil down her running gear, is a mystery calculated to puzzle a modern sailor. [Richmond Bee.

A GREATLY DUE CONDITION.

Belmont is a delightful city if the three daily papers tell the truth about it, but if it was only a few weeks since that the city was cursed with innumerable rum shops which were proving a menace to its citizens. The authorities were induced to close up the nuisance, and but a stop to the death dealing traffic. Not all, by which the other two papers snickered and the officials did nothing. Then the other morning paper came out and denounced the courts as a farce and said that the judge and jury were corrupted and the jurors bought. To this the other papers pretended to be highly indignant and the accused judge said it was the most remarkable article he ever read and told the County Attorney to fix the paper if he dared to. The paper is still published.

Not to be outdone by its contemporaries the evening paper came out last week and openly charged that a poor friendless girl who sought the protection of the Justice of the Peace was outraged by the landlord and as a result was taken to the Insane Asylum a raving maniac. One paper denies this, the other is silent and the officials do nothing, although the case is complicated and, otherwise, it is unusual.

Comment on such a remarkable condition of thing is wholly uncalled for. [Fairfield Journal.

The Bangor News copies the above and adds: Now this may seem to be an exaggerated statement, but it is not. It takes something very much in the nature of an earthquake to stir Bangor officials out of their accustomed sobriety.

Kennebec Coal.

Still another enterprise has sprung up in the line of the Bangor & Piscataquis railway. An experienced slate worker from Providence, R. I., has bought a slate quarry in Blanchard adjoining the regular Blanchard quarry and has begun working on it, getting out some fine stock.

W. S. McDonald, M. D., for several years an instructor at the Bucksport seminary and when graduated from the Jefferson medical college in Philadelphia has gone to Fort Scott, Kansas, leaving formed a partnership with a physician who has resided there many years.

It is possible that all the Allan and Dominion steamers may run direct between Liverpool and Portland this winter, without touching at Halifax. This is on account of the arrangements giving the Anderson of London the mail contracts on account of the Canadian Pacific competition.

A Romantic Region.

SIGHTS IN THE CITY OF GUAYMAS. WATER-WORKS LIKE THOSE OF ANCIENT PALESTINE. A CHILD OF THE SEA.

Correspondence of the Journal.

GUAYMAS, MEXICO, Aug., '89. Although essentially a child of the sea, occupying a narrow ledge so close to the water as to be perpetually in danger of tumbling into it, Guaymas appears to be owned and controlled, shaped and fashioned by the railroad. The latter owns every approach to the town, controls all the eligible harbor and coast sites, and has even run a branch of its track off to a distant headland, where it has built a wharf in water deep enough to float the largest steamers. And all this has been done by enterprising capitalists from the United States in anticipation of the mighty trade that is expected to spring up when the Trans-Atlantic line of steamers, running to Australia and China, shall bring travel and traffic by this course across our continent. There seems to be no present prospect of this much-desired consummation, however, especially now that San Diego, on the northern side of the line, has been decided upon as the half-way halting place.

To do this Sonora railway justice, it is indeed a splendid piece of work, though apparently wasted on an ungrateful region. Its five thousand foot long bridge and causeway, built over the waters of a broad and deep lagoon from miles out of Guaymas, is a marvel of architecture, well supplemented by the handsome station, which occupies the neck of an isthmus, terminating in a rocky promontory, half a mile from the town.

As to climate and environments, this section is much like St. Thomas, one of the Virgin Islands of the West Indies, whose crater-like port Charles Kingsley once called "A Dutch-oven of a place." Both are surrounded by blistering hills, and filled up, ankle-deep, with fine powdered dust. Guaymas, however, has the advantage of a somewhat freer circulation of air. Ninety-five degrees in the shade is considered remarkably cool here; and though all the windows and doors of the houses and hotels are kept wide open from sunset till sunrise, there is no use trying to sleep—unless one imitates the natives, who stretch their cots or spread their blankets in the streets, on the sidewalks, on the housetops, anywhere out of doors. Even the women and girls make up their beds and walk outside, for the inside temperature is as absolutely unendurable as that of a Sirocco blast.

The Mexican fashion of narrow streets prevails in Guaymas, and, as the town has a topography to the exigencies of the occasion, for here there is no room to spare, the city, which is only about a mile long, having nowhere more than a quarter of a mile between the magnificent bay and the mountains, bowed in the form of a crescent, and about three miles in diameter. The sidewalks are correspondingly narrow, and everybody walks about in the sand, unless his way leads along the line of the railway, which runs through the principal street, from the railroad station at one end of town to the wharf at the other.

The Guaymas "water-works," by the way, deserve more than passing mention, being as quaint and primitive as those of ancient Palestine. Within a stone's throw of the town there is a natural spring, which, after flowing for one hundred yards or so, is completely lost to sight, sinking into the ground and finding its way underground to the sea. Here it is intercepted by a dam, and forced up into a stone reservoir, built on the hillside, whence it flows through pipes to the town. The water is clear as crystal, and cold as ice-water, and is the only drinkable water in Guaymas, as it is brought to the houses and peddled in quantities to suit purchasers as we sell milk, and it brings about as high a price. All day long and far into the night the donkey-boys come and go, the little patient burro-footed fellows trotting their patient beasts without bridle or stick. The life-giving fluid may not be very clean and is certainly not cool; but then it is wet and your clothes lies between it and the brine ocean, and the hills, like the wells, are dry. In the wells in Western Mexico, has a brackish, unpleasant taste, and produces a temporary disease with those unaccustomed to its use. In this climate the wiser way is to drink as little as possible of it, and that little with wine. The dust, the intense heat, and the rapid evaporation causes a burning and gnawing thirst; but a tiny pebble held in the mouth, a grain of corn or bit of alum will relieve the parched throat better than a drink of the warm, brackish water, which instantly creates a craving desire for more.

In view of the picturesqueness of the thing and the fact that the present water system is an ancient one, the sights and situations, one has furnished life-long occupation for generations of poor people who would otherwise have nothing to do by which to ward off the wolf of hunger. I am sorry to say that the city water supply, as now conducted, the water works in operation during the year, the supply being brought from a mountain stream several miles distant. Thus does the march of improvement and the introduction of labor-saving machinery, mean suffering in the guise of blessing. Let us hope that the people, who are not left behind, will in due process, or be left to perish. It seems almost cruel to force new wants upon so contented a people, who have no desire to be awakened from their dreams of the delights of their fathers; but the inexorable law of progress is upon them—as on all mankind.

There is already an ice manufactory in Guaymas which makes the water more palatable for those who can afford it. There is also a shoe factory, an oyster-canning establishment, a soap factory, not much patronized, I regret to add, by those who need it most; and various other infant industries. Electric lights are talked of; the telephone and telegraph is in full blast, and the Wells-Fargo express system. There is a court-house and a first class hospital, and commodious theatre and a number of wholesale importing houses, besides the retail shops.

Situated as it is on the most commanding and beautiful point of the California Gulf, not to mention its unequalled connections with the United States, Guaymas ought to control all the trade of the Upper Gulf and Western Mexico. Though by no means coming up to the Acapulco standard, it is a somewhat attractive and picturesque town, and some of its merchants carry heavy stocks of goods. One would not suspect it, however, for in Mexico the goods are never arranged for show as in the U. S. On the contrary everything is kept boxed up and tucked away in dark corners, almost as though their possession were a crime, samples only being exposed. Doubtless the reason for this is because the intense heat and thrilling dust, would injure delicate fabrics; besides it is not the custombre, that most powerful of all reasons in Mexico, where generations of merchants stick to the old slow ways of doing business, without the slightest change or modification.

Yet the average Mexican is not a bad trader, in his own way. As the older houses of Guaymas are all rich and firmly established they do business on credit to a great extent, and are well acquainted with the people throughout the country and knowing whom to trust. Native merchants often carry the large ranchmen for a year at a time, furnishing all the supplies for the season and a large return of interest, if the crops turn out well the merchant gets his money back, with interest, at the end of the season; if not, he must carry his customers over a second season.

Among the native merchants, who keep in stock a quantity of goods ranging in value from a quarter of a million to a million dollars, (Mexican money,) are the Aguayo Brothers, of Guaymas, who also enjoy an income of $25,000 from Fomento, a rich ranch in the mountains. Among the fortunate ones is a Mr. Graff, from New Jersey, who has only lived here about ten years, yet during more than half that time has enjoyed an income from his mining speculations equal to three times what the Governor of the United States receives. This willing exile from Jersey has a fine place at Guaymas, situated about a mile and a half from the water front, up a gulch in the mountains which gives one a touch of the old country. He has high enough to overlook the Bay, of which it commands a beautiful view, and is really a most desirable estate, notwithstanding the narrowness of the valley and the rocky and forbidding aspect of this immediate section. The house is a fine specimen of the typical architecture of the country, though built of red brick instead of the all-prevailing, much plastered and stuccoed adobe. It is one story in height, with barred windows and big, arched doors, enclosing over a great deal of ground and enclosing a flower-filled patio, or inner court yard, in the centre. Mr. Graff is the happy possessor of another thing, which all his neighbors envy, and that is a well of "sweet water," being still one in Guaymas except those above mentioned. There is a splendid orchard of full-bearing cocoanut palms on the Graff place—this being about the extreme northern limit at which that tree flourishes. The branches resemble those of the date-palm—long, fronds diverging, for the most part, from a common center, in a series of gentle curves, giving to the head of the tree the effect of a spread umbrella. The trunk is not rough, like that of the date-palm, and on the whole, the cocoanut variety is about the most beautiful of all the extensive palm family. The fruit grows in clusters at the base of the branches, and is just now fully grown, though not quite ripe.

There are three tolerable hotels in Guaymas, all of which are perpetually so crowded that it is often difficult, if not impossible, to secure any sort of accommodation within them. I know a gentleman from the north who came here on business, intending to remain some months, and later to bring his family; but being unable to find any place for them at the inns, (and boarding-houses there are none,) was compelled to telegraph them to remain at home. The Sonora railway company have long been talking of erecting a large and commodious hotel, near their depot. Consul Willard of the U. S. donated the ground for it, and the grading was done a year or more ago. But that is all,—and the "boom" having subsided, it is doubtful if the proposed American hostelry, will go up in your day, or mine, dear reader.

By all odds the finest building in Guaymas is the Custom House, which occupies a prominent position along the water front, with an open space all around it. Being two stories high, it is surrounded on the ground floor with wide verandas, with ample awnings. It is kept profusely decorated with the national colors; and close by is the newly-improved and really beautiful Plaza, the dirt in which it is trees and flowers are growing, having been brought here from a far distant valley. In this plaza music is nightly rendered, and here every soul in town, rich or poor, male or female, invariably comes to spend the evening.

Reunions of the Veterans.

THIRD MAINE REGIMENT.

The 15th annual reunion of the 3rd Maine Regiment Association was held Sept. 11th at Popham Beach, about 80 members being present. Quite a Massachusetts delegation had prepared to join their comrades in Maine, and had taken passage on the steamer Bunker Hill, but as that boat was detained in port until morning, they were kept away. A business meeting was held at 11 o'clock, Col. Henry Staples, of Augusta, was elected President; William McDavid, Augusta, George Hammond, Atlanta, Ga., and John H. Raymond, Bath, Vice Presidents; George Fuller, Hallowell, Treasurer; William McDavid, Augusta, Recording Secretary; Lewis Selding, Augusta, Corresponding Secretary; Chaplain, Rev. E. C. Preble, Worcester, Mass. The Secretary reported 425 names on the roll of the association and several deaths during the year. It was voted that the next reunion be held at Fort Popham on the second Wednesday in August, 1890. A committee was appointed to consider the offer of P. O. Vickery to give the association one of the most desirable lots at the beach for a reunion hall, should they decide to erect a building there.

FIRST MAINE CAVALRY.

The eighteenth annual reunion of the First Maine Cavalry Association was held at the Revere House, Boston, the evening of Sept. 17. It was the first reunion of the regiment ever held outside the limits of Maine, and augmented by the Massachusetts branch the attendance was unusually large. About four hundred sons and daughters of the Pine Tree State, accompanied by the Meguntticook Band, arrived at 1 P. M. At the business meeting the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Brevet Maj. Gen. C. H. Smith; Vice Presidents, Brevet Brig. Gen. Beckler, Recording Secretary, C. A. F. Emery; Corresponding Secretary, G. S. Haskell; Treasurer, Brevet Brig. Gen. J. P. Cilley; Finance Committee, Brevet Brig. Gen. J. P. Cilley, Maj. S. W. Thaxter, G. S. Harris and M. F. Ricker. The next reunion will be held in Boston during the annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic. Previous to the banquet an informal reception took place in the parlors of the Revere House, where the ladies and veterans were afforded opportunity to greet the Commander of the Regiment, General C. H. Smith, Major General Benjamin F. Butler, Lieutenant Governor A. G. A. Bracket, Mayor Hart and other prominent people. The banquet hall was elaborately decorated. Covers were laid for 500 persons and the tables presented a beautiful appearance. After the inner man had been made happy by Col. Drinkwater, Acting Governor Brackett, Mayor Hart and others.

Wednesday the veterans made a trip down the harbor despite the rain.

The First Maine Cavalry was organized in the fall of 1861, and served until its muster-out of service, Aug. 1, 1865. Its prond record is told on its battle-flag as follows:

In the above list is not included many skirmishes and minor engagements in which the regiment took part—as Louisa Court House, May 2, 1863; Beaver Dam Station, May 10, 1864; near Richmond, May 12, 1864, and various others well known to the veterans, in some of which the regiment suffered severely.

COMPANY B, 30TH MAINE INFANTRY.

The second reunion of Company B, 30th Maine Infantry, was held at Etna, Sept. 11th. The following officers were elected: President, F. I. Whiting; Vice Presidents, H. C. Coston and J. M. Bibber; secretary, S. J. Locke, Etna; chaplain, W. R. Locke, Dexter. Executive Committee, F. A. Chase, H. W. Coston and A. Burrell. The following members of the company were present: Hollis Smith, William R. Locke, Henry C. Coston, William H. Toward, A. M. Bartlett, George Knowlton, S. Edwards, Alonzo Burrell, C. L. Coffin, George W. Curtis, F. O. Leonadus Leathers, Samuel Philbrooks, John A. Vandeets, Samuel Haskell, Esbarn Nutt, George B. Fogg, James W. Bixby, E. L. Whiting, F. I. Whiting. At noon a fine repast was served in the dining room to which all did ample justice. A fine time was enjoyed by all renewing old acquaintances. At the close all went home well pleased with the meeting.

TWELFTH MAINE REUNION.

About 150 veterans, representing the Twenty-sixth and Thirtieth Massachusetts, the Ninth Connecticut and the Twelfth Maine Regiments of Infantry and the Third Massachusetts Cavalry, participated in the Camp Chase reunion at Lowell Thursday, Sept. 19. The parade was omitted on account of the weather. In the forenoon regimental elections were held as follows:

Twenty-sixth Massachusetts—President, John H. Balcom of Acushnet; Secretary, J. F. Upham of Lowell.

Thirtieth Massachusetts—President, Gen. N. A. M. Dudley of Boston; Secretary, Adams Emerson of Chelmsford.

Ninth Connecticut—President, Wm. Wright of New Orleans; Secretary, Wm. Gleason of New Haven.

Third Cavalry—President, E. J. Noyes of Lowell; Secretary and Treasurer, C. I. Taylor of Lowell.

Twelfth Maine—President, J. W. Thompson, of Bangor; Secretary, S. M. True of Concerning Canadian Coal.

The Democratic free trade organs recently had a good deal to say concerning Nova Scotia coal, which under the present tariff pays a duty of 75cts. per ton. They wanted the duty removed that the consumer might have cheaper coal. A one-sided report of the testimony of Mr. F. H. Odiorne before Senator Hoar's committee in Boston, sent out by the Associated Press, gave them a good deal of comfort, as Mr. Odiorne was made to appear an advocate for the free importation of Nova Scotia coal, without any restrictions whatever. That however was not Mr. Odiorne's position, as we shall show. In a letter to the North Sydney, Cape Breton, Herald, he says:

"All of our domestic bituminous coals are of higher commercial value than any coal from Nova Scotia mines, being comparatively free from sulphur, of greater steam making power, and smaller per cent. of ash. The difference of value on the present basis of cost of coals here is about 50 to 75 cents per ton in favor of the domestic coals. . . . . Your coals would meet a market here at about the same figures of cost, if free of duty, as our domestic coals of 50 to 75 cents per ton greater value. I have had very large experience in the sale of both Nova Scotia and our domestic coals during the forty years in which I have been engaged in the coal trade; and I cannot see that a removal of the duty upon your coals, would enable me to place an increased quantity here.

I wish it were otherwise, as it would then give me a large increase of business from my connections with the mining companies of Nova Scotia."

Mr. Odiorne writes as a business man, and not as a politician, and speaking from experience and with his own interests calling for a different solution of the problem, says that the removal of the duty of coal would be of no benefit to the Canadians while it would only give the American consumer an inferior article at the same price as domestic coal.

Mr. D. A. Smith, of North Sydney, who had argued that were the United States duty on coal removed, Nova Scotia coal could be sold with profit in Boston, found it necessary to write a second letter to make it known that he was not in favor of Canada's taking the duty off our bituminous coal in return. The Halifax Herald is no less decided in this direction. It says:

Were the duty taken off coal in the United States, we might possibly sell more coal in Boston than we do now; but it does not therefore follow that we would profit by reciprocity in coal, much less by unrestricted reciprocity. With coal reciprocally free we would lose our coal market in the upper provinces (where we now sell nearly 500,000 tons annually); with unrestricted reciprocity we would in addition lose three-fourths of our home market by the closing of all our factories and furnaces. In 1878, before the adoption of the policy of protection, the total annual coal consumption of the dominion was 1,000,000 tons. At present it is about 3,000,000 tons. Under unrestricted reciprocity or any other policy that would close our factories and blasting furnaces be adopted, and within a year the demand for coal in Canada would fall off to less than one third what it is to-day. And we therefore say that we might sell a few more tons of coal in Boston than we do now, it is evident that under unrestricted reciprocity it would not pay to work our mines, so that we would not be in a position to avail ourselves of even that small advantage.

Thus it appears, from expert testimony, that the American consumer would not benefit in the least by removing the duty from Canadian coal; and that Canada while quite willing, and indeed anxious, that we should admit her coal duty free, is by no means ready to make a like concession as to American coal. Mr. Odiorne's statement also disposes of the theory on which the repeal of the protective duties has been asked for, that the free admission of Canadian coal was essential to the preservation of the New England iron industry.

The Massachusetts Republicans held their State convention in Boston Sept. 25. The spirited contest between Crapo and Brackett for the Gubernatoria nomination resulted in a victory for the former, by a vote of 753 to 674 for Mr. Crapo, with only 11 scattering votes. Hon. W. H. Haile of Springfield was nominated for Lieut. Governor, Gen. A. Marden, of Lowell for Treasurer, Hon. Henry B. Pierce for Secretary of State, Andrew J. Watterman for Attorney General, and Charles R. Ladd for auditor. The best of feeling prevailed, the unsuccessful candidates taking their defeat gracefully. The speeches were in line with this feeling and foreshadow a united and aggressive movement in behalf of the ticket. The convention adopted a vigorous party platform heartily indorsing the national administration and especially commending the President's appointments.

The Boston Post has a very flenatured fling at the ovation given to Nelson the Maine trotter and Nelson the Maine man, at Beacon Park. The writer evidently put his money on the field, or Alleyon. It is not so very long since an effort was made to get Maine capital into the company which published the Post. That may have failed; and if our people are as shrewd as they are generally credited with being it did fail, and this may in part account for the Post's ill-nature.

The Republican candidate for Governor of Montana is Daniel Power, one of the pioneers of the Territory, and prominently identified with the steamboat and freighting interests. The Democratic candidate is J. K. Toole, recently Territorial Delegate to Congress.

More Power to the Republican candidate; the Democratic nominee is merely a Toole.

Dr. Geo. M. Steinburg, U. S. A., has returned from Cuba, where he has been continuing his researches with reference to the cause and prevention of yellow fever. In a lengthy report he says he has not yet found the yellow fever germ. When he does find it we hope he will shout it on the spot.

The Portland Herald recently stated that the Governor of Maine can stop the liquor traffic any time. This statement having been questioned the Herald makes the following retraction:

We find, upon consulting the Revised Statutes, that the Governor has but very little power to stop the traffic.

The New York Herald ought to know that it was Edwin and not T. C. DeLeon who was U. S. Consul General in Egypt. The latter contributes the novel—"Creole and Puritan"—to the September number of Belford's magazine and has won his spurs as a novelist and as a journalist.

The Democrats in Washington Ter., will support Eugene Semple of Tacoma for Governor and the Republicans E. P. Ferry of Seattle.

The Republicans have a Ferry good candidate, while the Democratic candidate is simply Simple.

Successful Fishermen.

The sch. F. A. Smith of North Haven, which landed the first fare of mackerel at this port this season, has met with more than average success all the season. A week ago Friday she made a haul of 115 bbls. extra large mackerel off Monhegan, which sold at Portland at $26 and $30 per bbl, packed. The captain reports that while sailing along just at night fall, they came plump upon a large school of fish, which they took to be porgies, and passing through it, soon came upon another and another. Finally one of the crew who was forward discovered that they were mackerel, and the seine was got out and a good haul made after the moon had risen. They had been sailing through mackerel for half an hour and might have filled the vessel had they known it earlier. [Cape Ann Advertiser.

The Four New States.

THREE COME IN SOLIDLY REPUBLICAN. MONTANA VERY CLOSE.

State and Congressional elections were held Tues-day in North and South Dakota, Montana and Washington. The following is a summary of the latest returns:

NORTH DAKOTA.

The returns received indicate the election of fourteen Republicans to the Legislature and two Democrats, and the other districts not heard from. Sixty-five legislative districts elect members favorable to Gilbert A. Pierce, U. S. Senator, more than sufficient to elect. Later. The Democrats get three judges and 23 members of the Legislature. The vote on prohibition is close.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

The Constitution and Republican ticket throughout is elected by a large majority. In the Capitol fight Pierre is in the lead and Huron next.

MONTANA.

Montana is close, with the probabilities in favor of the Democrats, who seem to have elected the Governor and Legislature. The Congressman is in doubt, Carter, Rep., running ahead of his ticket.

WASHINGTON.

Indications all point to the election of Ferry and the entire Republican State ticket, including Wilson, for Congress, by a majority averaging 4,000. The Legislature is also Republican.

The vessel slid quickly back into the water. There was no one on board, and for some time the bark was in danger of going ashore. She was finally secured, however.

The Georges Valley Railroad.

It now looks to be a certainty, says a correspondent of the Bangor Daily News, that the Georges Valley railroad between Union and Warren is to be built as soon as possible. The town of Union and Union citizens almost exclusively will furnish all the money. In town meeting Union has voted $25,000 for this road to run from this place to a connection with the Knox & Lincoln at Warren station, a distance of about eight miles. In addition to this $25,000, about $10,000 has been raised in Union by private subscription and the first assessment of the road in part is now being collected. Civil Engineer, H. A. Hancox of Worcester, Mass., with a corps of assistants has commenced the survey, beginning at Union Common, the northern terminus of the road.

The railroad commissioners will at once be applied to for a charter. The proposed route, running through South Union, will follow close near shore of the pond, crossing the Georges river near the lime quarries, about three miles distant from Warren station, and then to a connection with the Knox & Lincoln at this station. It is now anticipated that the survey will be completed next week.

The general character of the road is light and with few bridges. The principal bridges will be a span of seventy-five feet over the creek at South Union, and one of fifty feet over the South Union stream. It is thought that a road suitable for the business that is likely to be done will not require to be built for the low figure of $10,000 a mile. This is to be a standard gauge road. The work of construction will undoubtedly be commenced next spring.

It is a great undertaking for a town of this size to build a railroad of this kind. Union is certainly one of the most progressive towns of the county. Large lime rock quarries are located in the South Union stream. Officers and directors of this enterprise are I. C. Thurston, Union, chairman of board of directors; F. Wellington Bradley, Union, and Robinson, E. L. Thompson, Union, Joel B. Hills, Warren, W. W. Case, Rockland.

This town of Union, with its extensive and beautiful farming lands surrounding, is one of the most delightfully situated towns in the county. Union indeed may be truly said to be as lovely a town as there is in Maine. Besides being one of the best farming towns in the county, and especially famous for its great orchards and fine fruit, a considerable general business is carried on there. Union business men are enterprising, wide awake and ready to assist in all enterprises tending in any degree to build up the interests of the town.

Capt. John Conant Celebrates.

The Beaufort, S. C., Sea Island News of Sept. 20 says: Capt. John Conant, one of our old citizens, gray with the years of a well-spent life, celebrated his 76th birthday on Saturday last. He was born in Central Maine on the 14th of Sept. 1814. There he resided until 1835 and moved to Bangor, Me., where he stayed till 1858, when he moved to Camden, Waldo Co., and lived there until 1880, then he went to Aroostook Co., and lived until 1882. Then he returned to Bangor and there resided until 1861. When the war broke out he left his wife in Camden Town and raised a company, Co. "K" 8th Maine Regiment, and was at the attack on Hilton Head in 1861 going through the bombardment until 1862 when he resigned his commission and removed to Beaufort where he engaged in business. Since his residence in Beaufort he has filled many public offices with trust and fidelity. He was a marshal in 1866, was prominent in the affairs of the Freedmen's Bureau and captured and abandoned property, afterwards was Jury Commissioner, County Assessor, Board of Equalization, and filled other offices.

Special Constables to be Appointed.

At the meeting of the Governor and Council in Augusta on Friday last the petitions for appointment of an additional constable for Waldo county were considered and M. J. Dow, Esq., of Brooks spoke in favor of an appointment for the town of George E. Flies of Thorndike for the place. The council recommended the appointment of a constable. Three special constables will be appointed for Androscoggin County. The Governor will make appointments of constables in season for the session of the council in full next regular session. A pardon was voted to John F. Lawrence, serving a life sentence for murder, committed when drunk. He has served nineteen years time. It is claimed that Lawrence was unconscious when he committed the deed.

Talk of the Trotters.

Mr. C. A. Piper, of this city, entered his horse D. L. in the 2.38 and 2.40 races trotted at Sanford yesterday and to-day.

Elmbrook has returned to Maine and will trot at several places during the fall fairs.

The big 1800 pound Percheron stallion owned by Mr. Edminster, of Knox, attracted much attention at the park last week.

Mr. Horace Tibbetts, of Rockport, has a pacing stallion with a record below 2.20. He gave the animal an exhibition heat at the Belfast Park last week. The horse is a flyer.

Nelson's first record that was made by him as a two year-old, 2.50, was made at Maplewood Park in 1881.

The weather was not suitable last week for Nelson to attempt to break his record at Beacon Park, but Friday he trotted an exhibition mile in 2.20. The gray stallion Alcryon was speeded around the track making a mile in 2.16½, a half second slower than his best record.

Mr. Nelson denied the report that Nelson had been sold, but said to a Boston Journal reporter that he had been offered more money than had ever been offered for a trotting stallion in this country, on condition that Nelson should beat the stallion record. "I have considered the matter carefully," said he, "and have finally decided not to sell him." Nelson is now at Budd Doble's stables in Philadelphia to prepare for the coming races in Lexington, Kentucky, where he will try to beat the stallion record."

The proposed match race between Nelson and Alcryon at Mystic Park is said to be off. The owner of Alcryon said he was ready and willing to race at Fleetwood Park, but would not trot at Mystic.

Nelson is pronounced "king of the turf." Then Lizzie Miller, the fast filly which has just broken the yearling record at Livermore Falls, is entitled to be called the princess royal. The Maine horse has come to the front. [Portland Advertiser.

There was some good trotting at the Maine fairs last week. At Readfield Friday the race for 4 year-olds was won by Walter D., owned by B. F. Maxim, of Wayne, in three straight heats; best time, 2.48½. Rob Roy, owned by F. W. Severy, of Mt. Vernon, was second. Maggie, owned by Frank Horn, of Belgrade, third. The stallion race was won by Romeo, owned by A. L. Gordon, of Newman, in three heats. Bronze, owned by Charles Milliken, of Augusta, was second; Puritan Knox, third, and Walter D., fourth. The open race was won by Earnest L., owned by E. H. Hutchins, of Auburn.

At Calais Thursday three Olympus colts won the races. Love's Flora K., three-year-old; W. C. Eaton's Dukemont, 2.40, Mottamiss Chilmont, the three-minute class. C. H. Eaton's Rattler won the free-for-all.

At Cherry field Thursday the two-forty race was won by T. O. Tracey's chestnut gelding Beecher, of Ellsworth. Time, 2.38, 2.37½, 2.39½. Locke Cod fisherman is fitting out a vessel at Provincetown for an entirely new venture in mackerel fishing. Jackson Town Fair.

The town fair held Saturday, Sept. 28, was a very good one. The show of cattle, horses and colts was large and very creditable. Sixty-two head of horned cattle were on exhibition and would compare favorably with many of the county fairs, as would the horses and colts (21) shown. For the past few years more careful attention has been given to breeding for good, business horses, and the effect is thus early noticeable by the improved offspring. The exhibits in the hall were, in general, better than last year, more especially farm products. The greatest deficiency was in fruit, which was sparsely shown and of inferior quality. The weather was good and the attendance large, and the people of Jackson were glad to meet so many of their friends and acquaintances from the adjoining towns. Following is the

The 20th Maine at Gettysburg.

The 20th Maine Regiment is holding its reunion this week at Gettysburg, with quarters at the Springs hotel. This, Thursday, afternoon they will dedicate the monument erected by them on Little Round Top; also the monument erected for them by the State on Round Top. General J. L. Chamberlain will deliver the oration and Rev. T. Gerrish will make the prayer at the dedication of the 20th Maine monument. Capt. Howard L. Prince, of Washington, will present a history of the fight on Little Round Top; also Capt. O. S. Miller, of Waldoboro, a history of the fight on Round Top. Gen. Ellis Spear will make a report on the erection of the monuments. The business meeting of the regiment will be held in the parlors of the Springs hotel this evening. Among the members of the 20th Maine expected to be present are Mayor H. S. Melcher, president; F. M. Rogers, vice president; S. L. Miller, secretary; John M. Kennedy and Edwin Keating, of Warren, Capt. A. E. Fernald and son, Winfergard; Capt. W. Reynolds, and wife, Waterville, John L. Bradford, Union, I. R. Sylvester, Washington, A. Cunningham, Damariscotta Mills, Rev. Theodore Gerrish, Portland, O. P. Martin, Foxcroft. Gen. J. L. Chamberlain joined the party in New York.

A Tribute to Mrs. Helen N. Packard.

In a private note, from which we take the liberty of quoting, Prof. L. C. Bateman says:

Mrs. Packard says she and I must look to our laurels. No need of that in her case. In the audience of that noble woman both Comrade Beale and myself take off our hats and crown her with the poet's bays. The sacred fires of Parnassus descend only upon the favored few; but in that charmed circle her name shines with undiminished lustre. She will occupy a high niche in the Temple of Fame. God bless her.

HALLDALE. Mrs. Wolstencroft and Mrs. Seel returned to their home in Pawtucket, R. I., last week....Mrs. Carrie M. Shaw, of Lowell, Mass., is visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Stevenson....Rev. D. Brackett preached here last Sunday. The meeting was held in the meeting house, as the paint on the inside of the church was not dry. Mr. Brackett will preach here again Oct. 13th.....Quite a heavy frost in this section last Saturday night—the first noticed this fall.....Harvesting is about completed. The crop of potatoes is very light.....Mrs. E. D. Rafton is at North Vassalboro visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Stevenson....Rev. D. Brackett preached here last Sunday. The meeting was held in the meeting house, as the paint on the inside of the church was not dry. Mr. Brackett will preach here again Oct. 13th.....Quite a heavy frost in this section last Saturday night—the first noticed this fall.....Harvesting is about completed. The crop of potatoes is very light.....Mrs. E. D. Rafton is at North Vassalboro visiting her parents, Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Stevenson....E. M. Hamilton is painting his house outside, which will add much to its appearance....J. W. Deane, of Freedom, was in this vicinity last week and took views of the church and cemetery. Mr. D. makes very good pictures at very reasonable rates....Moody Norton is failing fast. He can live but a short time.

"So They Were Married."

The marriage of Emmons Blaine and Miss Anita McCormick was solemnized on Thursday last at Clayton Lodge, Richfield Springs, N. Y., the summer home of the late Cyrus H. McCormick, of Chicago, in the presence of the two families and a few personal friends. Mr. Walker Blaine was best man. The bride's costume was of white, and though free from elaboration and ornamentation was exceedingly effective. The entire front was of Valenciennes lace, meeting a train of white satin. The bodice was of white satin, with a fichu of lace a la Marie Antoinette falling softly about the throat The sleeves were also of lace, reaching to the wrists. The veil was caught up by a coronet of orange blossoms. Mrs. James G. Blaine wore a costume of old rose colored brocade, and the Misses Margaret and Harriet Blaine wore white brocaded silk dresses with high puffed sleeves. A reception followed the ceremony, and after that a wedding breakfast was served. The wedding presents in silver, gold and precious stones were simply too numerous for mention. The groom's present to the bride was a rich and handsome diamond ornament in the shape of a fleur de lis, valued, so it is said, at $14,000. The newly wedded pair are spending the honeymoon at Stanwood, the Blaine cottage at Bar Harbor.

Bowdoin Correspondence.

Roble, '89, was on the campus this week.

The Seniors will drill with folls under the able instruction of Prof. Whittier.

Williamson, '88, is with us for a few days. He enters Boston University to pursue the study of law.

Saturday the Bowdoins will go to Lewiston and cross bats with the Champions of the League, the Bates.

The Sophomores have abolished hazing in all of its forms, and the Freshmen have voted to do the same next year. Nevertheless no Freshman will be allowed to wear a tall hat or carry a cane, and he must stand during prayers in Chapel until Thanksgiving. Such is life among the students.

Some of the Juniors have been having great sport with two of the Freshmen. A notice was posted on the bulletin board asking candidates for the Glee Club from the class of '83, to report at a certain room in Winthrop Hall. Two Freshmen unusually inclined obeyed the summons and were put through a severe examination. Having passed this they were given certificates (?) and sent to the college tailor (?) to be measured for dress suits. It was very funny indeed and caused no end of merriment to all but the victims. Mount Desert Correspondence.

S. W. HARBOR. The steamer Islander is making daily trips between Somesville and Rockland, an arrangement greatly appreciated by the people in this vicinity as our steamboat service during the winter, after the City of Richmond hauls off, is very poor, leaving us only the one trip per week of the steamer Rockland.

The summer visitors have all left, and the hotel proprietors are now counting up the money they have made during the past season. It is reported that Mr. A. G. Murphey, of Philadelphia, who owns a cottage at Seal Harbor, is to put in a system of water works at this place another season, and will take the water from Echo Lake, a distance of some two and a half miles.

The report of the trip Our George took in the Schr. F. M. Bonney down in this vicinity, was very interesting and was read with interest. We should like to have had a call from him very much. We should judge from the writing that he must be very expert with the clam hoe, and no doubt he could get a good job to supply the several clam canning establishments at this place from the shores in this vicinity.

Transfers in Real Estate.

The following are the transfers in real estate in Waldo County ending October 1st: Benj. Ames, Thorndike, to A. E. Bradford, same town. Frances H. Cole, Thorndike, to Nelson V. Conforth, same town. Supplementary Note to "Two Regiments from Maine."

The following should have appeared last week, with the poem to which it refers: "The 31st Maine Regiment left the city of Augusta, Me., on the 18th day of April, 1864. It participated in thirteen battles and skirmishes and was mustered out on the 15th day of July 1865. Killed in action and died of wounds 154, died of disease 160, discharged for disability 218. Missing in action 26, total loss 558, deserted 118.

The 32d Maine Regiment left the city of Augusta with six companies April 20, 1864, and were joined by the remaining four companies May 26th. It participated in nine battles and skirmishes and was consolidated with the 31st Maine, Dec. 12, 1864 by orders from the War Department. Killed or died of wounds 70, died of disease 55, discharged for disability 11, missing in action 15, total loss 171, deserted 22. [ADJ. GEN.'S REPORT, 1866.

SOUTH MONTVILLE. John C. Robbins and wife, of Belfast, were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Simmons last week....Mrs. Emma Tasker, of Boston, Mass., started for her home last Wednesday. She spent her two week's vacation here, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Pottle.....Mrs. C. S. Adams, her little son Johnnie, and her sister, Miss Lucy Pearson, of Prince Edwards Island, with Bertha Adams and Mrs. Mattie Fuller started for the "Hub" and vicinity last Wednesday.....Mr. and Mrs. John Q. Adams and Mrs. Harriet Conner returned from Boston last Monday.....C. V. Follett, wife and son Billy visited Rockland last week.... Mrs. Hattie Prescott has gone to Howard, R. I., where her husband is at work....Mr. Ames and Miss Ella Adams, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nutt, of Freedom, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. B. Morse. The three women are the daughters of Noah Robbins, of Appleton.....Clinton Wing is very sick at Taunton Hospital, Mass. Silas B. Howes is also very sick at the Howard Asylum, R. I., and has sent for his wife.....Norton Pease has gone to Ellsworth on business relative to an increase of pension....Rev. G. B. Chadwick, of Belfast, preached at the church here last Sunday....Leonard Cooper is buying and shipping apples down east....Geo. F. Randall is digging a well on the hill above his house with a view to having running water at his house and barn....In our rambles last week we called on C. S. Adams, one of our enterprising young farmers, who has this summer had to add twenty-four feet to the length of his already large barn in order to get his crops under cover and make room for his stock. He has built five new horse stalls and the manure from these will be thrown into the hog-pen back of the stalls, where we saw two fine large porkers busy at work converting it into nice dressing. Then Mr. Adams took us across the road to see his colt, three months old. His sire was Rocomoco, the Newcomb horse, his dam a Morgan mare. He is strong and handsomely made up—a perfect young horse—and has attracted the attention of a great many passing along the road, who have stopped to make enquiries about him. He is dark bay with a star in the forehead, good size, and if nothing befalls him will be one of the flyers....Miss Mattie Noyes and a gentleman and lady friend of hers, from Lynn, Mass., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Randall....Mrs. S. A. Knowlton, who has been stopping with her daughter, Mrs. Keating, at McLain's Mills, Appleton, is at home....C. S. Adams went to Boston Tuesday....Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Neal, of China, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Collins last Sunday.

MORRILL. The grange hall and stable in this village were totally destroyed by fire, last Saturday night. The hall was occupied by the Grange, Lodge of Good Templars and the Morrill brass band, and the furniture of these bodies, with two good organs, the drums and part of the brass instruments of the band were a total loss. The lower story of the building was occupied by Mr. Leslie Lucy, Lettie and Phannie Pendleton and Mabel Griffin left by train Monday morning for New Gloucester, where they will attend school during the winter.

J. T. Eldridge of Milford, Mass., lost an overcoat between Searsport and Belfast last week. The finder will please leave it at the American Express office, and it will be forwarded to him.

Next Sunday morning the monthly contribution for the support of the pastor will be taken in the Methodist Church. There will also be preaching in the evening as is the usual custom the first Sunday of each month.

E. S. Cyphers has just returned from Boston with a large invoice of sole clothing, which he will manufacture. He has fitted up the building in Mechanics Hollow formerly used by the spool factory as a store house.

During the terrific thunder shower Wednesday morning the lightning ordered the house occupied by Mrs. Susan Bunker and she was considerably affected by the electric fluid, being severely shocked and stunned. At last accounts she was slightly improved and it is hoped she will fully recover.

A letter from Capt. Nathan Dunbar says that the ship William Mowlerey foundered at sea in latitude 44 south, longitude 83 west, and was not learned as stated. All hands were taken off by the English bark Norfolk, bound for Vancouver, B. C. Luther Grieves was part of the crew were land on at Ingrigt.

During the gale Tuesday both the up and down trains went by as again manifesting the immense necessity of a breakwater in front of our harbor. It is an ill wind that blows nobody good, however. Every Stmr. secured a harvest by transporting the many stranded rusticators, who for once in their lives got left for a short time.

James Bowen is the cause of no end of trouble to the fathers of the town. He was recently reported from Greenland as requiring assistance and was supposed to be, but left the same night and again showed up in the same town. He has again been secured, but is under close watching and will probably have to be sent to the Asylum at Augusta. P. S. He has again made his escape.

A. E. Nickerson, who has been in the hay business for a number of years, informs us that he has given up the business. He has bought about a thousand tons the past season, paying an average price of about fourteen dollars per ton. Schr. Avalanche had the last cargo, which went to the Castine company at Vinalhaven. There is an opening here for some man to strike a good business, as this region is noted for its fine quality of hay.

Messrs. Clement, Sullivan, Whitcomb and Curtis, who have been at Swan Lake the past week, were hardly successful as usual, having taken more than a dozen lakers to the camp. They say they never saw fish more plenty there, but they found it take the fly or worm. The entire party now are nursing for fire honey with the poison ivy, all alike smitten and hugely get a nibble. During the time they appeared a member who has interested.

MARITIME MISCELLANY.

Sch. Addie G. Bryant, sunk at Princess Bay, has been moved somewhat, and wreckers report the prospect favorable for floating her at next high course of tides.

A prize of $25,000 has been offered by the Marine Underwriters for the derelict barque Freya, which capsized off Cape Henlopen while bound from Savannah to London with a cargo of $75,000 worth of turpentine.

The three-masted sch. William C. French, which went ashore on Grover's Rock, near Seguin, last June, and was sold at auction to Arthur Sewall, was got off the rocks to-day by Portland parties. Boston wreckers had given her up after sinking $4,000. She will be repaired by Sewall at Bath, and is reported in good condition.

Sch. Charles McDonald, 54 tons, built at Essex, Mass., in 1850, has been sold to Messrs. Emery and Marcellus Griffin, of Boothbay, for $1,550. She was formerly owned by Capt. T. B. Baker, of Harwichport, Mass., from which port she sailed many years as a mackerel catcher.

Schs. Alameda Willey, of Thomaston, and Eliza B. Emery, of New York, were in collision in Vineyard Sound last Friday night. The Willey carried away her topmast and tore her spanker, sustaining other injuries forward. The Emery broke her jibboom, and was otherwise damaged. Both schooners made repairs and proceeded.

DISASTERS, Etc. Sch. Joe Carlton, of and from Rockport for New York, arrived at Vineyard Haven 30th, with cargo of lime on fire. She has been scuttled up. On the 27th, in a heavy blow, lost fore topmast....Sch. Carrie N. Pickering, Marshall, from Port Liberty for Gardiner, with coal, arrived at Vineyard Haven 30th leaking 300 strokes per hour....Sch. Harbinger, Bangor, with lumber, is reported to have sprung aleak near sandy Point and filled.

LAUNCHED. H. M. Bean, of Camden, successfully launched a handsome four-masted centre-board schooner Sept. 28, the Cornelius Hargraves, named after a Fall River (Mass.) man, and to be commanded by Capt. F. J. Allen, also of Fall River, a large owner. Work was commenced on the Hargraves the last of May. She is a schooner of 1331 tons, gross length of keel 200 feet, beam 45 feet, depth of hold 19½ feet. The frame is of Virginia white oak, oaken up with hard pine, and the upper deck or deck being of hard pine and the upper deck of white pine. The vessel is square fastened from keel to deck, and is built with especial care to making her strong, although the beauty of her model shows that no sacrifice of symmetry was made. She has four masts, made spars, 165 feet long. She carries two anchors, of the Adrian make, weighing 4467 and 4850 pounds, and a tested 2½ inch chain. Her windlass is Emerson's make, and of the largest size, with a six inch steel shaft. The windlass and three large wrecking pumps are operated by an engine of the Roberts make. There are three separate houses on deck, and three big hatches. Her cabin accommodations are convenient and even elegant. J. C. Dutch, of searsport, was master builder.....Launched at Rockport, September 25th, sch. Edward S. Sterns, 237 tons gross, named for Mr. E. S. Sterns, of Camden. She is one of the strongest vessels ever built at this place, is a beauty, and will no doubt be fast. She will be commanded by Capt. Luce Heal, and will carry lime to Jacksonville, Fla., and other southern ports, bringing back hard pine.... Schooner Dudley Farlin, owned by Damariscotta and Bath parties and by Capt. E. L. Dunton, of Bath, who will command her, was launched Sept. 28th at Damariscotta by Thomas E. Gay.....At Bath, Sept. 28th the handsome three masted sch. O. M. Brown, from the yard of Goss, Sawyer & Packard. This vessel is a centre-board craft: length, 187.2; breadth, 41.3; depth, 16.9; gross tonnage, 1051.21; net tonnage, 998.87. The vessel is owned principally by New Jersey parties. Her captain and managing owner is T. S. P. Brown of Matteapan, N. J. She is designed for the coal trade, and will carry a crew of ten men. When ready for sea she will probably load for Baltimore, if a good freight is available.

FREIGHTS. The Freight Circular of Snow & Burgess, New York, reports for the week ending Sept. 28: Higher rates in lumber and coastwise coal oil to China, Japan, etc., and rates in that direction show a bracing tendency. The River Plate trade, which has afforded a strong support to the market for sail tonnage all through the season, is unfavorably affected by the recent depression in financial affairs from the fact that contract engagements in that direction has become considerably curtailed in consequence. But as fortunately the vessels in the fight position are not over plentiful there has not, as yet, been any considerable decline in rates. Provincial Boat and Southern Timber Freights to trans Atlantic ports are very scarce, and the same is reported of the Coal, Stone and Tobacco trades. West India freights are firm, with rather more activity in consequence, also for the Windward Islands, and in Lumber and Coal for Cuban and adjacent ports. For sugar in bags, a steamer accepted 13 cents from North Coast Cuba to New York or Philadelphia. Coal freights from Turks Island to ports North of Hatteras remain about 5 cents. Wood Freights rather easier. The movement in full grain cargoes by steam continues moderate, and quite large offered appreciable change saw 44 for from Baltimore to Cork for orders. Cotton Freights from the Atlantic ports have held their own, whilst from the Gulf rather higher rates have been paid. There is a fair enquiry for small and medium size steamers and timber carriers for the wood foreign trade and one of the best figures recently paid. Coastwise Lumber Freights are irregular, and for the most part taxer shippers, whilst that of coal and other trades are quite firm. Charters: Ship San Josiah, Australia, 2,000 tons Refined to Japan, 38 cents. Ship Thomas Dana, from Hiogo to New York, $10,000, option of Boston, $10,500, or Portland, $11,000. Schr. Sallie Pon, from Sabine Pass to Cardenas, Lumber, 8.00. Bk. Edward Cushing, New York to Demerara, general cargo, $3,500, and back, from Trinidad, Asphalt, current rate, quotable $2.75 per ton. Schr. Z. Sherman, from Portland to Glen Cove, Scrap Iron, $1.50. Bark Fredk. A. Wilder, from Norfolk to Key West, coal $2.50 and from Appalachicola to Boston, lumber, $10.

Agonizing, Itching, burning, and bleeding Eczema in its worst stages. A raw sore from head to feet. Hair gone. Doctors and hospitals fail. Tried everything. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies for $5.

Cured by Cuticura.

I am cured of a loathsome disease, eczema, in its worst stage. I tried different doctors and been through the hospital, but all to no purpose. The disease covered my whole body from the top of my head to the sole of my feet. My hair all came out, leaving me a complete raw sore. After having everything I heard of, your CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using three bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, with CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP, I find myself cured at the cost of about $5. I would not be without the CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house, as I find them useful in many cases, and I think they are the only skin and blood medicines.

ISAAC H. GERMAN, Watrsboro, N. Y.

Burning and Itching

I was sick in the fall of '85 with a burning and itching so bad that for three weeks I was covered with a rash, and could not sleep nights or work days. Some doctors thought it might be salt rheum or eczema, and said there had never been any case like it before. I received no help from any of them, or from any medicine that I could get hold of until I tried your CUTICURA REMEDIES. After three weeks' use I was able to work, and kept getting better, until I am now entirely cured. I recommend them to all suffering with skin diseases.

C. E. OSMER, Bellevue, Vt.

Most Intense Itching

I have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES successful to my family, who was afflicted with eczema, and had such intense itching that we could not sleep of night. The itching is gone, and my baby is cured, and I now speak highly of your CUTICURA.

MARY SELLERMANN, Rochester, Ind.

Ayer's Pills. Small doses only are required, and these when taken according to directions, are positively painless in their effects. They stimulate the digestive organs into healthful activity, and restore the natural tone of the system. Ayer's Pills are the best of all cathartics for family use, and the only pills that can be relied upon when a cathartic is required.

Dr. John W. Brown, of Oconia, W. Va., writes: "I have for several years used Ayer's Pills in my practice, and find them excellent. They cured me of dyspepsia when all other remedies failed, and their wonderful action in the liver complaint is truly marvelous."

"Having had a severe attack of bilious constipation, I was induced to try Ayer's Pills. They relieved me promptly, and I am pleased to say that a few doses of these pills cured me entirely."—Thomas Hastings, Lincoln, Neb.

"I have used Ayer's Pills in my family for the past fifteen years, and have found them to be the best cathartic I have ever taken. They cured me of dyspepsia when all other remedies failed, and their wonderful action in the liver complaint is truly marvelous
