Charles W. Fairbanks
OF INDIANA.

Bryan is campaigning for Wilson; but most people nowadays regard Bryan as a joke.

The line gale seems to have missed connection this season. Some people contend "there ain't no such thing."

A correspondent of the Boston Sunday Herald submits the following samples of interesting negatives used by the average Iowa threshing crew: "I don't want no light car." "Th'ain't none of them worth nothin'." "They can't never sell me none." "I don't never want none neither." This recalls a picture and text in London Punch fifty or more years ago. In the background of the picture a woman was gesticulating; in the foreground were two small boys and an old gentleman. The man says: "Boys, your mother is calling you;" and one of the boys replies: "Her ain't a calling we; us don't belong to she."

NEW ORLEANS, La., Sept. 19. Wreckers demolishing the old St. Louis hotel, one of the famous landmarks in the French quarter of New Orleans have unearthed a hundred rifles buried under the floor. The rifles are believed to have been placed there during the reconstruction troubles in 1874 when the building was occupied as the State capitol under Gov. Kellogg.

This is the building visited by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Dinsmore in their journey South and fully and interestingly described by Mrs. Dinsmore in a paper read before the Unitarian Alliance and later published in The Journal. The writer recalls the St. Louis hotel in the late sixties as dilapidated and unoccupied, but thinks it was open as a hotel in the fifties. In its day it was the leading hostelry of the Crescent City.

President Wilson thinks that the Progressive voters in New York will support the Democrats; but he has got another thing coming. As an exchange says "his formula for computing election statistics is, like his Mexican policy, beyond the reach of common minds." And further, as to the New York primary:

That the Progressive vote went to Whitman, the Republican candidate for governor, is not a Republican victory, inasmuch as a reunited Republican party was already a certainty; neither is it a Democratic victory. Nor is the defeat of Conway by McCombs for the Democratic senatorial nomination a very promising Democratic sign, for Conway was eminently the Wilson Democrat. All told, this is probably the greatest Democratic victory since the Republicans swept Maine last week.

It hardly need be said, at this day, that village improvement societies are of great benefit to the communities in which they exist, and that, locally and otherwise, they should be aided and encouraged. September 21, 1915, a village improvement society was started in Bluehill with one life member and between 150 and 200 yearly members. Now there are nine life members and about 200 yearly members. With but little money in the treasury no great work was undertaken, but under the inspiration and direction of the committee on schools of the society the school children procured a flag and pole, and many little things were done that helped to improve the village. A "clean-up" week in May was a great help; the lawn in the square was cared for by the society and the grass and weeds were cleared from the sides of the streets. Plans are now being considered for the development of the park and it is hoped to make it one of the most attractive places in town in the near future. The work of such a society, supplemented by individual effort, is of incalculable benefit to a community and to the State at large.

The conviction that the high cost of living is not wholly due to natural causes generally prevails among consumers and finds expression in Herbert Kaufman's page in the Boston Sunday Herald. He says:

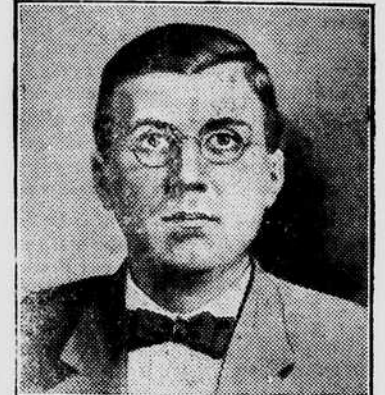

There is no valid reason, no honorable explanation, for the constant and outrageous price boosts in necessities.

Canned goods, with few exceptions, are still selling on their old basis. Extension is practically confined to perishables.

There seems to be a wide-spread conspiracy to manipulate the markets.

Vague rumors reach us of enormous surpluses stored in refrigerating plants, of carloads of fruit and vegetables permitted to rot on sidings, of huge consignments of chickens and fowl held on spur tracks. Eggs, butter and fish have been selling at maximum in the season of their greatest abundance.

This, if true, is not new. We have often heard of cargoes of perishable fruit dumped in New York harbor to prevent a lowering of prices by overstocking the market, and in New Orleans, years ago, and perhaps now, a cargo of fruit could only be sold to what would be called the fruit trust, and at their price. At one time in the late sixties ice was reported to be $30 a ton in New Orleans. It could be loaded on a vessel here for 50 cents a ton, and looked like a profitable speculation to make a shipment to the Crescent City. But, fortunately for themselves, the parties who contemplated making such a shipment found on investigation that on arrival at New Orleans the ice could only be sold to the trust at their own price, as they controlled the dealers, and it was of course impossible to peddle out such a cargo to consumers. Then as to eggs. Millions of dozens have been locked up in cold storage to keep up the price, and so with many other articles. The remedy is—what?

Crossing the Plains.

IV.
My next letter was written at the crossing of the Platte river under date of June 24, 1858, and it begins with the departure from Fort Kearney, and a march of only 12 miles to the Platte river. The next day was very hot and we camped at Plum Creek, in which were only little pools of muddy water, unfit for man or beast to drink. The troops came straggling into camp, both men and animals completely broken down. Some twenty or thirty men fainted in sight of the camp and wagons had to be sent out to bring them in. That day's march added forty to the sick list and there were two cases of sunstroke. I laid on the ground in the shade of the tent until the sun went down, and then mounted a horse and rode to the river and bathed in its cooling water; then ate dinner, and later went to bed to become the prey of innumerable mosquitoes.

The next day we made but six miles, and getting into camp early we went on a buffalo hunt in the foothills. Seven started, but three of the party, becoming weary, turned back, the others keeping on for eight or nine miles. We saw no buffalo but plenty of antelope and jack rabbits. The latter held the speed record on the Plains and can easily outdistance the antelope or the fleetest horses. At the top of their speed they can reverse or go off at right angles and thus get a good start while their pursuers on horseback are making the turn. Prairie dogs are numerous and their "towns" are the only ones on the Plains. They live underground and the holes that are the entrance to their dwelling places are a menace to the hunter, as a horse stepping into one is liable to have a broken leg and to give his rider a nasty fall.

Riding ahead of the command one day with a few others four black objects were seen over by the sandhills which we thought might be buffaloes, and we rode at full speed in that direction, but after going a mile or two discovered that they were men on horseback. Then we galloped off in another direction after a large white wolf, but he escaped us and we walked our weary horses back to camp.

One evening we saw an animal walking slowly toward the camp and it proved to be a buffalo bull. Soon three or four officers, mounted and equipped, rode off in hot haste, followed by a number of soldiers with muskets. As soon as the bull got wind of them he started off toward the hills at a lumbering gait, but one of the officers headed him, gave him two shots, which halted him for a moment, and another riding up delivered the death shot. The soldiers then gathered around as thick as bees. A wagon was sent out and hauled the carcass into camp and it was speedily cut up, each one carrying off a piece until nothing was left but the head. I ate some of the meat at breakfast and found it not so tough as the beef Uncle Sam provides for us.

Our camps were now all on the banks of the Platte river; a broad stream filled with islands; in some places three or four miles wide, but very shallow, with a sandy bottom. The water was not clear but much the color of the Missouri. We had plenty of fish—catfish and small white fish resembling a chub—and camping one night near a slough we caught sunfish by the palifall.

Riding into camp one afternoon we found six or seven Indians seated on the ground, who shook hands and saluted us with "how! how!" Soon after some thirty Indians and a like number of squaws rode into camp, dressed in all their finery. The squaws had beautifully embroidered saddle blankets, some worked in stars and stripes, and the men had embroidered leggings, gun cases, bow and arrow sheaths and other ornamentation. They reported that their lodges were filled with buffalo meat, and sent out some "bucks" who returned in a short time with a quantity of the meat. Having so much meat it was impossible to do much trading with these Indians, though for twenty silver dollars I could have bought a pony worth $50. They use the silver to make ornaments, but have no use for gold. Five or six cups of sugar and a like number of coffee would buy a handsome buffalo robe; but they were so common then that I did not get one. About sundown the Indians called on Col. Munroe, the Great Captain, as they called him. They seated themselves in a circle about the tent while the chiefs divided the hardbread, sugar, coffee, etc., Col. Munroe had ordered to be given them.

In the evening I rode out to their lodges—twenty-four in number, made of buffalo skins sewed together with sinews, and very picturesque in appearance. They had buffalo meat, fresh and dried, tongues and marrow bones, in great abundance. Meat is cured here, as in Texas, by cutting it in strips and hanging it in the sun. It never spoils, and even tongues are cured in this way. These Indians were of the tribe of Brule Sioux and were well whipped by Gen. Harney, who they called "White Beard," in the battle of Ash Hollow.

My pony becoming fonder of eating too much grass Capt. Paige let me have one of his extra horses, a blooded sorrel known on the race tracks as "Silver Heels." He was bought by the government but they had been unable to break him for cavalry use as no one could ride him with a saber on. In other respects he was easily handled, except that I could never get him accustomed to the Indians, the sight or smell of them setting him almost crazy. He could easily distance any horse in the command and I greatly enjoyed riding him.

At Cottonwood we found a mail wagon encamped and they told us that Col. Johnson had started for Salt Lake City, and two more expresses met in the course of a few hours told the same story.

The ninth day from Fort Kearney we reached the crossing of the South Platte, a distance of 175 miles. The river was high and not fordable, and the night before an ox train had lost several wagons and had three men drowned in attempting to cross. There were a few lodges of miserable half-starved Cheyennes at the crossing. We laid here four days, and the river having then fallen a few inches it was decided to attempt crossing. At the ford the river was at least a mile and a quarter wide, and when the companies were halted on the bank, they were got ready to march across in an undress uniform, which consisted of a hat and canteen. It took until noon to get everything across and we went into camp at the landing. The next day we struck across the sand hills for the North Fork, about 14 miles, descending into Ash Hollow, a wild looking place, where they had formerly to let the wagons down with ropes but where a new road had been made. This was the scene of Gen. Harney's fight with the Brule Sioux, when the Indians were driven into a ravine and shot down by the troops.

Near the river was a little trading post and mail station, and we had been there but a short time when the Salt Lake mail, this time from the city, drove up. They had met Col. Johnson 50 miles from the city, going in. We camped at the river, near the remains of an old mud fort, by whom or when built I could not ascertain. In the afternoon I climbed to the top of one of the sand hills and had a fine view of the river and encampment.

We now followed up the North Fork of the Platte river, a stream of the same character as the Platte and South Fork. A few days' journey brought us in sight of Courthouse Rock. Some of our party visited it and brought back specimens of the rock, a soft sandstone, easily cut with a knife. From the east Courthouse Rock closely resembled a building and reminded me of the State House in Boston, but as we proceeded the resemblance grew fainter. We could also see the slender shaft of Chimney Rock, and the next day I galloped off for a look at it, and found it of the same formation. It was said to be 300 feet high and that some forty or fifty feet had been broken from the summit.

We met several trains of Mormons returning to "the States," and they were a hard looking company. The men had long hair and beards and the women wore dirty calico gowns that hung in tatters around their bare feet. Broad-brimmed hats concealed their faces.

The Fourth of July was celebrated with a case of champagne, but even that failed to produce the usual effect—all were dull and stupid.

The next day we reached Scott's Bluffs and went through the pass. It was intensely hot and as the road went winding along through the sand hills, where no breeze could reach us, all suffered severely. There was no water on the way and when we reached the mail station near which we were to camp I

The Penalty for
a Good Reputation

When an article has been on the market for years and has given complete satisfaction when used in thousands of homes it creates for itself a valuable reputation, yet at the same time this good reputation has its penalty.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound enjoys a splendid reputation, for it has been used for three generations. Its fair name and high repute have created a demand for it, and to supply this demand at a greater profit imitations and substitutes are offered.

Purchasers who know the original cannot be fooled by any "just as good" offering and it is worth the effort of any one who wants a reliable cough syrup to insist upon the original and genuine Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, which has proven so valuable for the relief of coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough.

could hardly sit on my horse. The Salt Lake mail had just arrived and reported meeting Col. Johnson six miles from the city. We camped on a flat and digging for water found mineral water of various kinds—"water, water everywhere but not a drop to drink"—and had to go some distance to the river for water to use.

We camped the next day at Horse Creek, and at noon the following day were within 23 miles of Fort Laramie.

The next morning, after an early breakfast, Capt. Paige and the writer started for Fort Laramie. We rode out of camp when all were asleep, the faint notes of the reveille reaching us from a distance, and after two hours and a half of hard riding, mud-bespattered and with horses foam-covered, reported at headquarters at Laramie. The command arrived and went into camp the next day.

A Ride In The Country.

Without chart or compass the writer would have no difficulty in navigating the trackless waters of the bay, but he would be at a loss if landed from an airship many miles from Belfast, and the other day traversed in a Dodge car, by invitation of Mr. Thomas W. Pitcher, a section of Waldo county never before visited, and went over roads not seen for many years. The route was out Waldo avenue and it was noted that the houses and grounds on this thoroughfare were well kept and that a number of new cottages and bungalows had been built. Holmes mill and the houses at the Head of the Tide were more or less familiar, but beyond that all reckoning was lost. The road was overgrown with the most part shut in by trees and shrubbery on each side, the foliage so dense in places as to be impenetrable, and there were many charming vistas, occasional clearings and extended views of hills and valleys. The foliage had not assumed its autumnal tints, but here and there a touch of red relieved the varying shades of green. Goldenrod and wild asters bloomed on the roadsides. Many of the fields were green as in spring; others, newly cut, were brown or yellow, and at one place a rich crop of clover was ready to be hauled into the barn. The orchards seen indicated a very light crop of apples.

One of the objectives of the ride was Sanborn's pond, which the writer had never seen and which proved to be a most attractive sheet of water, surrounded by hills that are wooded to the waters edge. The road for some distance follows the shore, with occasional glimpses of the pond through the trees, but at one place there is a clearing from which the whole pond is visible, and surprise was expressed that there were no camps on its shores. But I was told later that the only fish in the pond were pickerel, which do not attract sportsmen, but they are fished for through the ice in winter. Just above is another pond (Duttons) which we did not see, but were told that it feeds into Sanborn's pond, and that the outlet from the latter supplies the water that makes the wheels of Holmes' mill go around.

On leaving Sanborn's pond I supposed we were headed for Swanville, and when told that a range of hills on the left was the Montville hills, and one was pointed out as Frye mountain, expressed my disbelief, thinking that Montville was miles away and in another direction. But we made a sharp turn to the left, ascended a long hill and the Montville hills were soon near at hand. We passed the fine farm of the late Jesse Frye and the George Frye farm adjoining, their cultivated fields extending up the slopes of the hills. Next was pointed out the attractive home of Volney Thompson, and his new garage, and then we passed his carriage shop, and a little farther on found the road to Center Montville closed for repairs to a bridge, and the car was turned for the return home through Morrill. A bridge on this road was undergoing repairs, but there was a way around it. It was the writer's first visit to Morrill and he found it a very pretty village. The people of Morrill have reason to feel pride in their church and their school building, both well kept and attractive in their architecture.

We were soon in the more or less familiar Poor's Mills district, where there are many fine farms, including the widely known Pearl Brook farm—three farms in one—developed by the late Maitland B. Smith; passed Hillcrest, the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Seekins, who have an extended view of the bay from their front veranda that is greatly enjoyed and admired by their visitors. In coming into the city the former Boulter farm, now owned by Mr. Slipp, was hardly recognized in its well kept appearance and newly painted buildings. Then it was noted how the new part of Grove cemetery was dotted with headstones and monuments, indicating that a further addition might be needed before long, to provide resting places for those who leave us. The new chapel, completed as to exterior, was conspicuous and is an attractive little building. It was much needed and it is due to the long continued efforts of Mr. Charles R. Coombs, aided by his associates on the board of cemetery trustees, that it stands today as a monument to their endeavors.

It was something of a surprise when the pleasant ride ended to find that we had been away from home only a little over two hours. Besides the careful and competent chauffeur sat a pilot who knew where everybody lived, and the writer was much interested in having pointed out the homes of people he had known for years. The roads were good without exception and part of the way was over a section of State road.

WEDDING BELLS.

RICHARDS-GRAY. Clarence Harry Richards and Miss Elsie Myra Gray, both of Rockport, were married, Sept. 21st, at 8 o'clock at the Methodist parsonage by Rev. D. B. Phelan. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Gray, and the groom is the son of Samuel Richards. Congratulations and best wishes are extended to the young couple by their many friends. —Camden Herald.

HENRY-BOWERS. A quiet wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Bowers, Sept. 24th, when their daughter, Hazel Frances, was united in marriage to Wm. Edward Henry by the Rev. S. E. Frohock. The couple were attended by Miss Helen Heaward and George Colomore of Lincolnville, Maine. The bride is a graduate of Camden High School, 1913 class, and Rockland Commercial College, and until recently has been Commercial teacher at the Castine High School. For the past five months she has been employed as head bookkeeper by the S. E. & H. L. Shepherd Co., Rockport, Maine. The groom has employment with the American Coal Company of Bicknell, Indiana. After a short trip to Niagara Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Henry will be at home at 108 North Main street, Bicknell, Indiana. —Camden Herald.

Used It Eleven Years.

There is one remedy that for many years has given relief from coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough. Mrs. Chas. Rietz, Allen Mills, Pa., writes: "I have used Foley's Honey and Tar for the past eleven years and I would not be without it." It promptly relieves hoarseness, tickling throat and wheezy breathing. Sold everywhere.

PRESIDENT DISCREDITED.

President Wilson has had no worse setback since he was nominated than the defeat of his candidate, Westcott, for the Democratic nomination for United States senator from New Jersey. Senator Martine has been opposed to many of the measures which have been backed by the administration, not having acted according to the dictates of the President. For this reason he incurred the hostility of the latter, who used the influence of his great office to defeat him in his reelection and nominate in his stead Westcott. But the Democrats of New Jersey refused to be coerced and have nominated Senator Martine, thus discrediting Mr. Wilson in his own State.

Gentle—But Sure.

Biliousness, sick headache, sour stomach, gas, bloating, constipation, dyspepsia—all these distressing consequences of retaining a mass of undigested and fermenting food in the stomach are avoided if the bowels are kept open and regular. Foley Cathartic Tablets are first aid to good health. Do not gripe. Sold Everywhere.

PITTSFIELD PERSONALS.

Edmund Frost of Belfast, who had been visiting relatives in Palmyra, returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sampson of Freedom were in town Sunday, guests of Mrs. Anna Stephenson and other friends.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. McCausland of Lowell, Mass., were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Chalmers, making the trip by automobile.

Postmaster and Mrs. S. H. Frost and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Frost returned Sunday from a two weeks' outing passed at Ocean Park.

Mrs. W. B. McGilvery and son, William, Mrs. S. R. Haines and Mrs. Caroline Spollett left Saturday in the McGilvery automobile for Jamariscotta. —Pittsfield Advertiser.

Asks $3 for Boasting Cat.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 26. For boarding her cat 53 weeks, William F. Pray insists that Edith M. Turner should pay him $53. In the Municipal Court today he told of an alleged contract to provide puss with food, shelter and diligent care at the stipulated sum of $1 per week.

Mrs. Turner said she loaned him the cat as a gracious favor, during her protracted absence from the city. Judge Bates was stumped after hearing both sides and reserved his decision for a week until he could look up precedents in cat cases.

POINTS FROM

HUGHES' SPEECHES

Reckless extravagance of the Democrats is an insult to the American people.

Deserving Democrats! Deserving in heaven's name of what? We have a splendid system of government, on paper, but we want that system vitalized.

The pork barrel bill brings a blush of shame to the cheeks of every American.

I am here because I have a vision of what America needs. An idle American will always feel uncomfortable.

America will not hold her own by high-sounding phrases.

We are not a nation great enough to have sufficient foresight to protect our borders in a sensible fashion by means of sensible preparedness?

If we state our rights in a firm and determined manner it should carry conviction. There should be no vacillation in connection with that assertion.

ORRINE SAVED HIM FROM DRINK

That Orrine really does bring quick relief to those tortured by the liquor habit, is the testimony of many mothers, wives and daughters.

This scientific preparation promptly kills all desire for whiskey, beer and other intoxicants. It can be given in the home secretly without loss of time from work. No sanitarium expense.

We are so sure that Orrine will benefit that we say to you, if after a trial you fail to get any benefit from its use, your money will be refunded. Costs only $1.00 a box. Ask us for free booklet telling all about Orrine.

Meeting of North Waldo Pomona.

North Waldo Pomona Grange met with Comet Grange, Swanville, Sept. 20th. The meeting was duly opened with Worthy Master A. T. Nickerson in the chair. The Assistant Stewards were absent and their stations were acceptably filled by Thomas Curtis and Minnie Thayer. After a selection by the choir, with Harriet Nickerson at the piano, several matters of business received the attention of the members. Five granges of this jurisdiction were represented and Waldo Pomona was represented by Worthy Master Charles Wood, Mrs. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Evans, Chas. Levenseller and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Levenseller. Mr. Evans and Mr. Wood were called upon and responded briefly with interesting remarks.

A recess was taken for dinner and all repaired to the dining hall, where bountifully spread tables awaited them. Full justice was done to the fine dinner and after a social hour the grange was re-assembled in the fifth degree and the choir sang again. Jennie Webb extended fraternal words of greeting and D. M. Kimball fittingly responded.

Under new business the Grange voted to have printed programs another year and that C. B. Latham shall look after the work, as in several years past. C. C. Clements was called upon and responded with a short talk on the live stock in Waldo county. He deplored the conditions now existing and the lack of an association in the county for dairymen or breeders. The next number was a reading, "The Inventor's Wife," by Minnie Thayer, which was well received. J. W. Nickerson was next called upon for a five minutes' talk and briefly reported farm conditions as he found them in this State and Massachusetts in his recent travels.

Nellie Rose was called upon and recited a beautiful selection, after which F. M. Nickerson gave a short talk on the value of a general education against a special education. He began by saying that a general education is one which fits us for life and enables us to live with our fellow beings, so that the world may be the better. It should begin at home when the child is very young, by wise parents, and be continued by wise and capable teachers. Mr. Nickerson stated that in his opinion many young people were sent to college who were better fitted for some other education. If they wish for the college training, and will profit by it, then it is best for them, but it should not be forced upon them by parents who wish them to specialize that they may have an easier time in life.

A piano solo by Harriett Nickerson and an encore were much enjoyed.

The question, "Resolved, That the rich man farming for pleasure is an injury to the average farmer," was read by the Lecturer, and the opponents in the opening argument were W. J. Nickerson and Clara D. York. They were followed by Worthy Master Nickerson, F. P. Webb, C. C. Clements, F. M. Nickerson, Irvin Harris, D. M. Kimball and Edward Evans. A vote was taken and the result was nearly unanimous in favor of the affirmative.

Remarks by T. J. Dill and the visiting members concluded the exercises and Grange was closed with the usual ceremonies and a song by the choir.

The next meeting will be with Sebastick Grange, Burnham, Oct. 11th, with words of greeting by Wentworth Pease and response by G. B. Dow. A Paper—Home Influence—by Ermine Davis and a topic with music and readings furnished by the host Grange comprise the program. A speaker is expected. C. D. Y.

YOU WANT PINK CHEEKS

Every woman wants pink cheeks. They mean not only beauty but health. Then put the color in your cheeks, not on them. The glow of health is the red of healthy blood showing through translucent skin. It is impossible to have a girl's color fade and she looks debilitated, is short of breath, when her heart palpitates after every slight exertion and she has pains in various parts of the body she needs Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. They are the remedy best suited to restore the blood, bring brightness to the eyes and put color in the cheeks and lips.

The only other treatment needed costs nothing. It is this. Give the patient plenty of sunlight, moderate exercise every day, not enough to cause fatigue, and use care in the diet because the food craved is often not the best for the condition.

Two books, "Building Up the Blood" and "What to Eat and How to Eat" give just the information that every mother of a growing girl needs. They are free. Write for them today to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills or you can send fifty cents for a full-size package.

TROY.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Harding of Belfast were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Hawes.

The Sunshine Society met with Mrs. T. P. Tyler Sept. 27th, and the Ladies Aid with Mrs. Fred Hollis Sept. 28th.

Benjamin Chandler of Lewiston, after a week spent with cousins at the Center, returned, Sept. 19th to Unity.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hawes, who had spent two weeks with relatives at the Center, returned to their home in Chelsea, Mass., Sept. 23d.

Mrs. Flora Watson Cone and son of New York city, who had spent several weeks in Northport, are now guests at Augustus Stevens'.

Dr. and Mrs. George A. Stevens of Stockton Springs and Dr. and Mrs. Eugene L. Stevens of Belfast visited their former home at the Center last week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. McCausland of Lowell, Mass., who are passing a vacation in Troy and vicinity, after spending a week in Pittsfield, in company with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Chalmers of Pittsfield visited her aunt, Mrs. T. P. Tyler last week. Mrs. McCausland, (nee "Mamie Estes") was born and passed her girlhood in her old home at the Center, where neighbors and friends are delighted to meet her and rejoice to see her in such perfect health after a serious illness in the hospital. "Ed," too, passed many years in Troy, where both have many friends.

As after years of absence the joy of home coming is often mingled with sorrow, so "Mamie" has our deepest sympathy, as since her marriage her parents have left the earthly home, which has passed into the hands of strangers. Yet, though friends have all gone, what precious memories linger in the old home and all its surroundings, and who does not hold them sacred?

Notice of Foreclosure.

WHEREAS, The Belfast Amusement Company, a corporation duly established by law and having its principal place of business at Belfast in the County of Waldo and State of Maine, by its mortgage deed dated April 29, 1913, recorded in Waldo Registry of Deeds, Book 303, Page 454, conveyed to Waldo Trust Company, a corporation duly established by law and having its principal place of business at Belfast in the County of Waldo and State of Maine, a certain lot or parcel of land, with buildings thereon, situated in and said Belfast, bounded and described as follows, to-wit:—Beginning at a point in the northeasterly line of High Street at the northeasterly corner of the store lot of Charles N. Black, formerly occupied by Horace Smalley, now occupied by Greene Brothers; thence northeasterly by the line of said lot of said Charles N. Black fifty feet; thence southeasterly by the line of said lot of said Charles N. Black three feet; thence northeasterly by the line of said lot of said Charles N. Black seventy feet; thence northeasterly parallel with High Street fifty-one feet to the line of a vacant lot, called the Angier lot; thence southeasterly in the line of said Angier lot, one hundred and twenty feet to High Street; thence southeasterly by High Street forty-eight feet to the place of beginning, being known as the Colonial Theater property.

Also all scenery, curtains, furniture, fixtures and goods and chattels of every kind and description belonging to or used in connection with the Colonial Theater; and whereas the condition of said mortgage has been broken.

Now, therefore, by reason of the breach of the condition thereof, the said Waldo Trust Company, by T. Frank Parker, its Treasurer, claims a foreclosure of said mortgage.

Dated this twentieth day of September A. D. 1916.

Notice of Foreclosure.

WHEREAS, Thomas J. Richards of Seaboard, in the County of Waldo and State of Maine, by his mortgage deed dated the eleventh day of October, A. D. 1867, and recorded in Waldo Registry of Deeds, Book 145, Page 277, conveyed to Horatio N. Woodcock of said Seaboard, a certain parcel of real estate situated in Seaboard, in said County of Waldo, being the same real estate conveyed to said Thomas J. Richards by said Horatio N. Woodcock on the day of the date of said mortgage, and said mortgage having been given by said Thomas J. Richards to said Horatio N. Woodcock to secure payment of a part of the purchase price of said real estate and as part of the same transaction, said real estate being bounded and described as follows, to-wit: Situated on the easterly side of the road leading from Albert T. Toothaker's corner past William H. Bryant's home place and bounded as follows, to-wit: Beginning on the line of the road at the southeasterly corner of land formerly of James Bryant; thence easterly on said James Bryant's line about ten rods to the stream; thence southeasterly by said stream to the upper mill dam; thence to the northerly end of said dam; thence south sixty degrees west six rods to a stake and stones; thence north thirty-three degrees west eight rods to said road; thence by said road to place of beginning; and whereas on the said eleventh day of October, A. D. 1867, said Horatio N. Woodcock, by his written assignment recorded in Waldo Registry of Deeds, Book 146, Page 150, assigned and delivered said mortgage to one Nehemiah Abbott; and whereas said Nehemiah Abbott has since deceased and Emma F. McDonald of Belfast, in said County of Waldo, on the twenty-second day of November, A. D. 1901, was the administratrix of the estate of said Nehemiah Abbott, deceased, and by her written assignment of that date recorded in Waldo Registry of Deeds, Book 252, Page 405, did assign and transfer said mortgage and the debt thereby secured to the undersigned, Ephraim M. Richards, by the name of E. M. Richards; and whereas the condition of said mortgage has been broken.

Now, therefore, by reason of the breach of the condition thereof, I claim a foreclosure of said mortgage.

Dated the twelfth day of September, A. D. 1916.

FOR PRESIDENT

Charles Evans Hughes
OF NEW YORK

FOR VICE PRESIDENT

Charles W. Fairbanks
OF INDIANA.The 2nd Maine is coming home from Texas. Wonder how many horned toads, rattlesnake skins and rattles the boys will bring.There was great jubilation in Germany last week over the arrival of the under-sea merchantman Bremen at New London; but she is not there yet and may be at Old London.Head line in an exchange: "Eliot lauds Wilson for his policies." Which ones?
He has been on both sides of every public question, changing whenever he thought it would aid him in his campaign for re-election.Dr. Ira Landrith, prohibition vice presidential candidate said in a speech last week at Price, Utah: "Bryan is the only man in this country who can keep both ears to the ground and keep marching on." We did not suppose they were so long at that.The Democratic Lewiston Sun says:
"Wilson has changed his mind, especially on preparedness, in a way to compromise one's faith in him"; and this campaign speech at Shadow Lawn last week that his "drag about the age of his Democratic party is not encouraging to one to become a Democrat."The Democratic delusion, if they really believe that Wilson is stronger than his party, is not borne out by the result of the primaries in Maine, New Jersey, New York and Massachusetts, in which the Wilson candidates were decisively defeated, although supported by all the power and patronage of the administration.The labor leaders strike in New York city did not develop as its promoters had planned. We call it the labor leaders strike because they "ordered out" men and women perfectly satisfied with their pay and hours of labor. The strikers are the sufferers in such movements, as they have to depend upon the funds of the union's and outside contributions for support, while the strike leaders continue to draw large salaries made up from assessments on the labor unions.WEST POLAND, Sept. 30. United States Senator-elect Bert M. Fernald, announced today the appointment of his office staff at Washington. Sam E. Connor, city editor of the Lewiston Journal, is to be private secretary, Miss Olive Boynton of this place, assistant clerk and Miss Josephine W. Davis of Searsport, messenger.
While conferring with the Lewiston Journal on the loss of its versatile, indefatigable all-around newspaper man, we must congratulate "Sam" on his prospective sojourn in "the most beautiful city in the world," with a fine winter climate and many attractions for the student of art, literature and mankind.With its output of two million copies a week, which gives it approximately ten million readers, the character of the reading matter in the Saturday Evening Post is of no little importance. In addition to the instructive matter it contains its readers expect a liberal amount of fiction, a feature that no doubt has been an important factor in building up a phenomenal circulation; but we do not believe that the constituency of the Saturday Evening Post approve of the Robert W. Chambers class of fiction or of such serials as "The Leopard Woman," of which mention was made in this column last week. We refer to it again as we have since read in E. W. Howes Monthly for September, under the caption of "The Imbecility of Type and Printing," a half column article condemnatory of this story. It includes a quotation from "The Leopard Woman," which certainly warrants the use of the word imbecility, and the story is referred to as "the awful mess that finds its way into print when no George Horace Lor-mer is on guard."If it was more generally recognized that good manners are a valuable asset there would be less rudeness on the part of many who do not mean to be rude but who have never been taught to be courteous and polite. That "times have changed" is evidenced by the fact that we hear occasional of a lady or gentleman of the "old school," and in the communities where they are found they are deservingly held in great respect. The home is of course the place where instruction in deportment should begin, and parental discipline today is not what it was in the past. There is less restraint and there are more "spoiled children." But we should not recommend the harsh, though no doubt effective, method of one Betty Clark, who lived years ago in a little home on the Northport campground. On one occasion she was sending her son—Albert we will call him, though that may not be correct—on an errand, and thus admonished him: "Now Albert, be sure and make your manners; make your manners, Albert, if you don't I'll whip you when you come home. Guess I'll whip you now, to make sure." And she did, and no doubt Albert "made his manners." Many years ago a lady called at a house and enquiring of the little girl who opened the door if Mrs.
Blank was at home was answered: "Yesm'am; no m'am; yes sir; no sir." She had evidently been taught her manners.
This recalls another old-time incident in which gratitude was expressed in original but heartfelt terms. As an errand boy for his grandmother the writer had carried some food to an elderly and needy woman, who thus expressed her thanks:
"Thank you for bringing on't; thank your marm for sending on't, and thank the good Lord for putting it into her head to do it." We doubt if like offerings today are received with such thanks.After the home the school is largely responsible for the deportment of our future citizens, and in this direction there has evidently been improvement in one respect at least. In the past a pugilist rather than a student was required to keep order in the country schools, as it was the usual thing for the "big boys" to attempt to "fire" the teacher, and they often succeeded. Many illustrations could be given of personal advancement and business success due to good manners, and if regarded solely from a mercenary standpoint it cannot be too strongly emphasized that Politeness Pays.September 15th, the prominent business men of Rockland met and formed a Good Government Association for the suppression of the liquor traffic and other forms of vice. Camden had previously formed a like association, and Vinalhaven has since organized for law enforcement.
The Rockland Opinion of Sept. 28th testified as follows to the good results of the movement in that city:The week of rigid enforcement that has followed the activity of the Good Government association has resulted in a rather surprising failure of the crop of drunks delivered at the police station, indicating that the crusade was complete and efficacious. Reports from many employers also indicate that their labor supply is more steady and reliable, while most of the merchants welcome the retirement of the slot machines and punch cards from the counters.The Rockland Courier-Gazette just before going to press with its issue of Sept. 26th received the following wireless message from Cribhaven:We, the undersigned inhabitants of Cribhaven, do positively refuse to allow any person or persons to bring intoxicating liquors of any kind to Cribhaven, for any purpose other than medical purposes. Any person or persons violating the above will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

[Signed] Inhabitants of Cribhaven.

In Vinalhaven T. E. Libby, a public spirited citizen, started the ball rolling by circulating a paper in the form of a pledge, whose wording implied that the subscriber was willing to support and back up the officers in an impartial enforcement of the law, aiming especially at violations of the prohibitory and gambling laws. A large number of representative citizens signed the document, including nearly all of the business men.At a meeting called later, at which many representative citizens were present, the object of the movement was set forth and the need of taking some drastic measures to curb the evils complained of emphasized. Every one present was called upon and all deplored the existing conditions and expressed a willingness to support the effort to remedy them.Word had been received that Sheriff Hobbs was willing to do his duty if it was clear to him that the citizens demanded it and it was voted to instruct the selectmen of the town, who were present, to communicate with the sheriff with view to the carrying out of the wishes of the meeting. An organization was effected by the election of the following officers: President, T. E. Libby; secretary, C. S. Roberts; advisory board, H.
T. Arey, M. P. Smith, H. W. Fifield, C.
E. Bogan and Dr. F. F. Brown. The organization is to be known as the Good Government Association.This movement in Knox county is no doubt due, in part at least, to the result of the State election Sept. 11th, when the people of Maine rendered their verdict, as they have many times before, in favor of law and order. Let the good work go on until Knox county becomes as clean as Waldo county has been under our Republican sheriffs, the late Amos F. Carleton and the present sheriff, Frank A. Cushman.

No other medicines possess such curative properties as these two great restoratives, Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pepsin Pills, working together.
They reach the impure, impoverished, poisoned, devitalized blood, and the worn, run-down, overworked, exhausted system. They awaken the appetite, aid digestion, purify and strengthen the blood, give renewed vitality to the whole body, produce sound, natural sleep, and a complete restoration to good health. Two dollars invested in these two medicines will bring better results than four dollars spent in any other course of treatment or attendance.It will be wise to get Hood's Sarsaparilla and Pepsin Pills today. They are sold by all druggists everywhere.
Accept no substitutes. 200 doses $2.

farm some distance from here he fell and dislocated his shoulder and was obliged to drive his spirited pair of horses nearly home before opportunity offered to shout for assistance from his wife and a neighbor. Dr. Kilgore was soon got on the wire, ether was administered and the shoulder set.Sept. 21st, the Ladies' Aid met at the beautiful home of Mrs. Lauriston Cilley, one mile from the village on the Monroe road. The day was ideal and a large number of ladies gathered, several gentlemen kindly offering the services of themselves and autos to convey them there. Confectionery was much in evidence during the afternoon, and at 6 o'clock the "men-folks" and numerous children arrived, at which time a most delicious picnic supper was served. Mr. Cilley entertained the guests at periods during the afternoon and evening with selections on the fine diamond point Edison, and there was vocal music with Mrs. Swift at the organ during the evening. It was a most delightful occasion, owing to the gracious hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Cilley.Sept. 28th the Ladies' Aid was invited to "The Oaks" at Lake Umbagog, as guests of Mrs. N. R. Cook. By 1 o'clock a large number had arrived in autos and teams, and dinner was served, the hostess preparing a steaming kettle of savory chowder, the visitors filling the table with an assortment of every good thing known to the cooks of this village, and when that is said it will be well understood that nothing was lacking which an epicurean could desire. After dishes were washed the ladies busied themselves with fancy work, and there was fishing and bathing. At 6 o'clock, many more guests having arrived, supper was served, and an hour later all members of the Brooks Cornet band under the leadership of Prof. Urew, trooped into the spacious cottage and dispo-ed themselves about the roomy porch overlooking the water, where a delightful concert of an hour was given and hugely enjoyed by all music lovers present. Meanwhile the bonfires were lighted and the whole country side appeared to be gathered at the annual corn roast held here. "The roads were full of teams" and general hilarity reigned. The genial doctor and his sparkling wife were everywhere present, both indoors and out, attending to every expressed or unexpressed sire of their guests. Some 35 or 40 partook of dinner and supper, and at the close of the band concert "the boys" were treated to sandwiches, assorted cakes and pies, finishing off with the roasting ears by the blazing fires. At a late hour the guests reluctantly began to depart for their homes, and there was the buzz of returning autos far into the night. It was estimated that about one hundred people were present, and all voted it one of the most enjoyable social events of the year.

Fall and Winter Millinery.

The Belfast milliners held their opening last Saturday. The styles were never more attractive and novel and are generally becoming, making the sales easy and mutually satisfactory. All showed the beautiful new favorite, velours, which are soft, stylish and simple—many models having only a very small ornament or self trimming.Mrs. B. F. Wells showed a large melon-shaped black velvet with the new biscuit pannelon; velvet facing, a sable band around crown and crossed at the front, the brim ornamented with a biscuit rose and one of crushed cherry color. A very large old rose felt with drooping brim, had a crown of old rose velvet and was simply trimmed with a cut leather band and ornament of old gold and French braid. A black velvet continental model had a facing of pail flame-red velvet and was ornamented with black lynx and pompoms finished with antennae aigrets. Several of the stylish tailored hats with silver and gold trimmings were sold.Mrs. A. B. Wyllie, Cedar Street, exhibited among her models a high turban of white moiré silk, shirred and curled, with wisteria velvet lining edged with narrow fur, and ornamented simply with a small cluster of wisteria velvet grapes and leaves at the front.
It was much admired. A Bobette sailor style was of dark plum mirror velvet, extremely wide on the left side, and two large ostrich feathers of the same tone falling gracefully over the front. Another of the season's novelties was a Dodge sailor in black mirror velvet, trimmed with gorgon black ribbon in flared design and yellow velvet grapes and leaves on top of crown and under the brim.

E. K. Brier &amp; Co.

This was the first opening of the firm in their new parlor in the Howes block and was in combination with the gift department in which many attractive articles were displayed.
Among their leading styles in millinery was a large black velvet portrait hat with simple trimming of large ostrich feather of mole-color, caught with a leather and steel ornament. An attractive Scotch tam of black velvet had a band of gold braid on the visor brim and a feather motif on the left side. Another style, greatly admired, was a modernized portrait in dull blue hatter's plush, with a band of moleskin around the crown, caught on the side with a mole and impen feather ornament.

Miss L. H. Ferguson.

At the Ferguson parlor were noted among the many late creations a black silk beaver, Rembrandt shape, with black velvet facing edged with fur and the popular metallic wheat motifs spaced around the crown. A large modernized portrait frame in gold was covered with heavy gold lace, a moleskin band around the crown, and a single silver and gold rose.
Among the small styles were two feather turbans, one of the impen band with wings spread over the crown; the other in white heckle feather and white velvet.

H. H. Coombs Co.

Among the leading styles at the Coombs store was a beautiful Quaker gray velour with large drooping brim trimmed with pink and gray grapes and leaves, while two strands of worsted were interlaced at the base of the crown and edge of the brim. A very dressy model was a large black velvet capeline with narrow black grosgrain ribbon on brim, ending in the very popular small bows at front and back, while on the side brims were the new embossed sprays of roses and leaves. A very pleasing style, which turned up directly in the back, was of peacock black velvet and trimmed on brim and in the back with single peacock feathers, the blended tones of green and blue giving a wonderful sheen.

The Electric Heating Pad

Oh warm, woolly Pad—you are Comfort Complete
You make me feel cosy from my head to my feet.

Always ready to serve—you cannot be beat—Simply turn on the current—no water to heat.

You're flexible too, like a soft piece of leather.
And the user will find you as "Light as a feather."

A water bag cools—and its warmth soon departs,
But your heat keeps a-coming from the time that it starts.

Your heat, too, can be—"Low," "Medium" or "High,"
At the choice of the user. Just give it a try.

Imagine a light, soft, woolly, eiderdown blanket, 15 inches long and 12 inches wide, which maintains an even, soothing heat, and you have a good mental picture of this pad.

THE WILSON ADMINISTRATION

Reviewed by Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Sept. 30.

Speaking to more than 12,000 persons who were packed in a cold circus tent here this afternoon, Theodore Roosevelt assailed the administrative record of President Wilson and urged the election Charles E. Hughes.He swept Michigan in the presidential election four years ago.
He declared that President Wilson's chief policy was the policy of vacillation.
He said the President, in 15 messages, letters and speeches made from Dec. 9, 1914, to Feb. 10, 1916, took 41 different positions about preparedness and the measures necessary to secure it, and each of these 41 positions contradicted from one to six of the others. The European policy of President Wilson, particularly in the Lusitania case, was referred to as "humiliating and ignoble."The Mexican record of the executive was called "treasonous to Mexico, dishonorable to ourselves and infamous from the standpoint of humanity."Discussing the Adamson bill, Mr.
Roosevelt charged that President Wilson in urging passage of the measure by Congress "took his orders from that one of the parties which he most feared." He added:"We have seen in this country few things more discreditable to our representatives and more ominous for the future of the nation than the spectacle of the President and Congress of the United States being required to pass a certain bill before a certain hour at the dictation of certain men who sat in the gallery with their watches in their hands threatening ruin and disaster to the nation if there was the smallest failure to satisfy their demands."The colonel referred to the torpedoing of the Lusitania by a German submarine as "the most colossal single instance of the murder of non-combatants, including men, women and children, that had been perpetrated by any power calling itself civilized for over a century.""I have been asked what I would have done if I had been President when the Lusitania was torpedoed," he shouted the speaker. "I would instantly have taken possession of every German ship inter-ed in this country and then I would have said: 'Now we will discuss, not what we will give, but what we will give back.' " This utterance received wild applause.When he began his attack on the Adamson bill, he declared that an in-crease of wages and not the eight-hour day was the real issue."Let President Wilson apply that sacred eight-hour day law to the servants in the White House and see how far he'll get," he said. "I believe in the eight-hour day as the general rule toward which we must strive, but I recognize that special needs must be met in special industries, and that in all such cases there must be a very careful consideration of all the conditions before final action is taken."He closed his address with a plea for the election of Charles E. Hughes. He urged the voters to "repudiate Mr. Wilson, because only by so doing can they save America from that taint of gross selfishness and cowardice which we owe to Mr. Wilson's substitutions of adroit election for straight-forward action."

IT is a common practice for most women to put on any "old shoe" for morning wear. Just because they are loose and flabby they think they are comfortable. They little realize how their feet are getting out of shape, how much more they need support at this hour of the day than at any other.

B. O. NORTON,

BELFAST,

MAINE.

Carl M. Hart and family will move next week from the Howard house on Charles street to the George W. Young house on Lincolnville avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. McLellan of Lexington, Mass., have given for use in the McLellan school a number of very fine records, including National airs, in appreciation of the unusual care of the house, lawn and grounds by the teachers and pupils. The shrubs and seedlings have been cared for even in vacation.

Richard Clifton of Winchester, Mass., was in Belfast last Friday and Saturday, the guest of Capt. J. W. Ferguson and family. Mr. Clifton is in the National Agricultural Department at Washington, D. C., and is in charge of the destruction of kypsy moths in the New England section. He travels in a U. S. auto with his assistants.

W. A. Macomber, who for the past three weeks had been in Islesboro assisting his brother, E. L. Macomber, in building a boat-house and doing other work at the summer home of G. W. C. Drexel of Philadelphia, returned home Saturday to haul out some boats, after which he will go back to Islesboro. The boat-house is for a recent addition to Mr. Drexel's large fleet of motor boats.

Last week we received a request from a man "somewhere out west" to send him a certain issue of The Journal as he had lost the copy borrowed from a neighbor. It did not occur to him to enclose stamps in payment for the paper, but it was sent as requested. If all those who borrow The Journal from their neighbors were subscribers we could build an up-to-date printing office or the much needed High School building.

Samuel B. Nobbs of Boston, one of the speakers at the Unitarian conference in Eastport, was in Belfast Monday, coming from Castine in the morning and leaving by the afternoon train for home. He was to have addressed the Men's Club at the Unitarian parsonage Monday evening, but had been away from home a month and was obliged to return. Because of this and the business engagements and absence of a number of the members the club meeting was given up.

Miss Mina Valentine is acting as temporary superintendent of the Waldo County Hospital, succeeding Miss Adelaide H. Percy, resigned. Miss Valentine graduated last April from this hospital and since that time has been doing private nursing in and about Searsport, making her home with her sister, Mrs. James A. Lee. Miss Valentine recently received letters from Miss Marian Hamblen and Miss Helen Dunn, both former superintendents at the hospital, and who are now in France with the Harvard Unit. Their time will be up in December, but both Miss Hamblen and Miss Dunn are considering staying another six months, although they had not fully decided when last heard from. Miss Dunn is doing night work and Miss Hamblen day work, and both are very much interested.

STEAMER NOTES. The six trips a week schedule for the Boston boats will be continued until Oct. 9th, at the least, the large freight business, the like of which has never been known to the Eastern Steamship corporation officials making it necessary to continue this schedule. As a rule at this time of the season the boats make but four trips a week, but the regular schedule will be in vogue later this season. Judge Putnam of the Federal Court, Portland, signed two decrees Sept. 26th in relation to the Eastern Steamship corporation. The main one deals with the disposition of the property upon which the trust mortgage was secured, and the other decrees takes up the disposition of property acquired after the execution of this mortgage. There is due the Old Colony Trust Company $6,534,597, principal and interest, on bonds. Three months are allowed for payment in full; otherwise a public auction is decreed for an alternative. All except the Union Wharf property, Boston, is to be sold at the Court-house in Bangor, and the wharf property at the Suffolk County Courthouse in Boston. The minimum for the various outside properties is $3,316,000 and for the wharf $200,000, and the court will ratify no sale made at less figures. Whatever the result of these legal proceedings it is safe to say that the present efficient service on the Boston and Bangor route will be maintained without interruption. The steamer Islesboro on the Bucksport and Camden route has discontinued the landings at Northport and Temple Heights, but otherwise the schedule remains the same. Steamer Golden Rod on the Belfast, Islesboro, Castine and Brooksville route is running on her winter schedule of one round trip a day. In an account of the waterfront improvements at Calais it is said of the Miner wharf: "The old steamer Viking, recently sold to parties on the St. John river, formerly landed at this wharf when she was placed on a service in opposition to the Frontier Navigation Company, and the old Pentagoet, sunk in the storm which wrecked the Portland, used to tie up at that dock when she was on the route between Calais and New York." The Viking and the Pentagoet were both well known at this port, the former employed in bay service and the latter running between this port and New York.

THE D. A. R. John Cochran Chapter, D. A. R., held their first meeting of the season Monday afternoon and evening at the Pitcher bungalow at the Battery, with Mrs. E. S. Pitcher and Mrs. Frank H. Mayo hostesses. About twenty were present. The decorations were garden flowers, red predominating. Misses Frances Walkley of North Belfast, and Gertrude Longfellow of Wintthrop, Mrs. Fred R. Poor and Mrs. Herbert L. Seekins, were special guests. Two large tables were spread in the living room for the six o'clock picnic supper, at which cold chicken and ham, hot rolls, olives, jelly, assorted cake, tarts and coffee were served by Mrs. Pitcher and Mrs. Mayo. At a business session, Miss Amy E. Stoddard, regent, presiding, Mrs. Annie M. Frost resigned as secretary on account of ill health and Mrs. Hazel S. Bowker acted as secretary pro tem. The resignation of Mrs. Frost was accepted with regret as she had been a very efficient and faithful officer. The regent will appoint a secretary before the next regular meeting. It was voted to invite Mrs. B. L. Davis to become a member of the chapter. The following were appointed to attend the State meeting Oct. 18th and 19th: Delegates, Miss Alice E. Simmons, Mrs. E. S. Pitcher, Mrs. Etta P. Savory, Mrs. H. L. Whittemore; alternates, Mrs. E. S. Bowker, Miss Millie Mitchell, Miss Florence Kimball and Mrs. G. D. Mahoney. Mrs. Field, State Regent, has appointed Mrs. Viola R. Redman chairman of the credential committee for the State Council. Miss Stoddard appointed Mrs. Hazel S. Bowker and Miss Emory Ginn, vice regent of John Cochran Chapter, as pages at the Council. The committee to meet the 12.01 train Oct. 18th is Mrs. E. P. Frost, Mrs. F. H. Mayo and Miss Emory Ginn; for the Wednesday evening reception, Mrs. Hazel S. Bowker, Miss Alice E. Simmons and Miss Emory Ginn. The regular meeting was opened with the roll-call, which was responded to by patriotic American women; reading, "Der Oak and Der Vine," by Mrs. Etta P. Savory; paper, The Woman's Rights Movement, by Mrs. Cora J. Bowker; reading, Miranda on Why Women Can't Vote, by Miss Alice E. Simmons.

For Rent

Down stairs tenement, six rooms and bath, hot and cold water. All hard wood floors, electric lights, veranda, cemented cellar, and garden spot. Central location. Apply at THE JOURNAL OFFICE.

The Daughters of Veterans Afternoon Club will meet to-morrow, Friday, afternoon with Mrs. Charles Ludwick, Primrose street.

Mrs. George W. Friess, who is confined to her home by illness, was made happy Wednesday, her birthday, by a shower of post cards and many gifts.

Miss Ida S. Carleton has resigned her position as bookkeeper with the Lubec Sardine Co., and Monday entered the employ of The City National bank.

ADVERTISED LETTERS. The following letters remained unclaimed in the Belfast post office for the week ending Oct. 2nd. Ladies—Miss Laura E. Foss, Mrs. Arthur Gilkes, Miss Nelly Kelly. Gentlemen—Mrs. Johnson.

Mrs. Sarah J. White, accompanied by Mrs. Flora J. Heath, went to Portland last week expecting to have an operation on her eyes, but was advised by a specialist not to have the operation. It was a great disappointment to her but she accepted the conditions uncomplainingly.

Mrs. Dora Jackson Bridges, patriotic instructor of Thomas H. Marshall Circle, Ladies of the G. A. R., presented silk flags to grades 5 and 6 of the McLellan school last Thursday in behalf of the Circle. They were accepted for the schools by Mrs. Ray I. Neal for the 6th grade and Miss Amy Sprague for the 5th, and the pupils gave the flag salute. The flags are for use in class exercises.

The Belfast Woman's Club met Oct. 2nd. Mrs. Carle presiding. The reports of secretary and treasurer were read and approved. The secretary read a letter from Miss Edith Bangs, chairman of the New England Branch of the American Fund for French Wounded, and it was voted that the Woman's Club be enrolled among the helpers. Voted to invite Mrs. Grace E. Wing to address the club and its friends the latter part of October. Mrs. O. A. Chase of Brooks was elected to membership.

WALDO COUNTY HOSPITAL. Wednesday morning, Oct. 4th, a daughter was born at the hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Stanley L. Wescott of Patten. Mrs. Wescott was formerly Miss Blanche Pitcher of Northport. Mrs. Myrtle Moore was brought to the hospital last Tuesday in a critical condition and was operated on by Drs. E. L. Stevens and S. L. Fairchild. She is now quite comfortable. Miss Hattie Bradley of Belfast, a medical patient, arrived Tuesday. Mrs. Nellie Foster and baby of Brooks are doing nicely and expect to return home this week.

SOUTH BELFAST. Miss Eulalia Greenlaw who is teaching school in East Searsport, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Abbie Greenlaw, in Northport. Mrs. Mabel Wadlin of Massachusetts is visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Wadlin in Northport. Mrs. Laura Robbins and two children of the city were guests of Mrs. A. W. Roberts Sept. 29th. Mrs. Mark A. Wadlin of Northport spent the week-end in East Searsport with relatives. Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Curtis entertained at dinner last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Curtis and daughter Ethel of East Belfast and Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Curtis and children, Mahlon and Viola. Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Cummings and son George from Union were Sunday guests of Mrs. Cummings' parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Black, in Northport.

Among those who will go to Bangor today to attend the Music Festival are Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Chase, Miss Charlotte W. Colburn, Mrs. Albert M. Carter, Mrs. Annie Pitcher, Mrs. Frederick W. Brown, Mrs. Mary Whitmore, Mrs. E. S. Mitchell, Miss Millie Mitchell, Mrs. John Jones, Hon. James P. Taliaferro and party of six, Miss Louisa A. Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Albion P. Goodhue and guest, Mrs. Edmund P. Brown and Mrs. S. S. L. Shute, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bradbury will motor up and remain for all three days, if Mr. Bradbury is able, and Mr. and Mrs. Ira M. Cobe, Miss Anne M. Kittredge and Madame Cars Sapin will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Blaisdell at the Bangor House. Some 20 or 25 members in the chorus will attend for all three days, and many will go up for one or two concerts.

CLUB HAS A GOOD TIME. The "Good Time Club" met Saturday evening, Sept. 30th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wilson, Poor's Mills. The program consisted of readings by Mrs. Chas. Woods and Mrs. Delbert Paul, an original poem by Mrs. Cora Wilson entitled "Nobody's Birthday," and a reading by Mrs. Ernest Bowen. A large birthday cake was presented to the club by Mrs. Frank L. Field, and ice cream, cake, sandwiches, salads and coffee were served. The club spent a very delightful evening. All the club members were present with the exception of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Bowen who were prevented by the illness of Mr. Bowen. The club dispersed at a late hour, after extending a vote of thanks to Mrs. Wilson for her charming hospitality. The next meeting will be on Halloween with Mrs. Frank L. Field.

FIVE NEW COTTAGE HOUSES. Dexter T. Clements is building a six-room house with bath for Amos M. Partridge on Lincolnville avenue near Main street. The house is plastered and ready for the finish. Mr. Clements has also begun on the cellar for a cottage at the corner of Congress and Pearl streets, which his son, Walter A. Clements, will occupy. Charles F. Wood is building three cottage houses on the extension of Charles street about two rods from where it will intersect with Primrose street, when the road is completed as surveyed. At present the street extends only to the first house, which is now ready for occupancy with the exception of the bath room, electric fixtures, etc. This house has six rooms, all with hard wood floors and finish. The cellar is cemented. It has a veranda 60 by 6 feet covered and sheathed. The second house is up and shingled and will be practically a duplicate of the first. The ground is broken and the lumber ready for the third, which will be between these two and of the same style. They are on the lower side of the street and will use the water from Mr. Wood's well just opposite.

Mrs. Ella Haynes Coombs of this city is seriously ill in Bangor, where she was taken several days ago for treatment.

The ladies of the North church will have a rummage sale of clothing, household goods, etc., in the vestry Oct. 10th and 11th, when the patronage of the public is solicited.

Miss Martha M. Pendleton has resigned as one of The Journal composers and entered the office of Hon. R. F. Dutton as stenographer. She is succeeded by Miss Margaret C. Logan.

The change of the railway schedule makes changes in the time for closing the mails at the Belfast post office. Mails now close as follows: At 6:50 a. m., 12 m., and 2 p. m. The general delivery closes at 7 p. m.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the Sons of Veterans will have a rehearsal at their meeting next Monday evening to prepare for the inspection to be held Oct. 16th. All members, especially the officers, are requested to be present.

Mrs. Lewis Jerome Johnson of Boston, chairman of the Massachusetts Congressional Committee of the National American Woman's Suffrage League, and one of the best speakers on the suffrage question in New England, will speak before the Belfast Woman's Suffrage League Wednesday evening, Oct. 11th, in Memorial hall and a cordial invitation is given to the public to attend.

POOK'S MILLS. Robert Comber of Philadelphia, Mrs. Julia G. McKeen and Miss Millie Mitchell were recent guests of Annabell Underwood. Mrs. Etta Brown visited friends in Islesboro and Temple Heights recently. Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Wilson have visitors from Massachusetts. Mrs. S. R. Lewis and daughter, Mrs. H. A. Schubert of Boston, were guests of Mrs. Underwood last week. Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Sheldon and Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Wentworth went to the Union fair last week. A number from this place went to the Belmont fair last Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Wilson have returned from camp and are at M. O. Wilson's. Mrs. Jane Cole and Mrs. Annabell Underwood went to Camden Monday and spent the day. Delbert Rolerson, John Brown and Leslie Payson are having their silos filled this week. Ross Cross is in this vicinity pressing hay. Harold Dutton has moved into the house recently vacated by Mr. Shaw.

The annual meeting of the Belfast Home for Aged Women Association was held last Tuesday evening at the home and the following directors were elected: Hon. and Mrs. Robert F. Dutton, Dr. Elmer Small, Charles R. Coombs, Clement W. Wescott, Mrs. Charles A. Plisbury, Mrs. Sarah E. Pierce, Mrs. Frances H. Murch and Miss J. A. Wiggins. The board organized with Dr. Small, president; Mr. Dutton, vice president; Mr. Wescott, treasurer, Miss Wiggins, collector, and Miss Sue M. Partridge, clerk. There are now six life members at the Home. Mrs. Laura J. Pease has been the efficient manager for several years. The deficit at the present time is $41, but the entrance fee of the last inmate admitted, $50, has been used in the expense account. The directors will not ask for a public benefit at this time, but sincerely hope that friends of the home may assist, if they see fit, by passing contributions to any of the officers. The real estate is owned without incumbrance and the association has the income of about $11,000.

BELFAST OPERA HOUSE. Tonight at two shows, at 7 and 8:30 p. m., Geraldine Farrar, most famous of woman artists today, is offered in a return engagement of "Carmen." Thrilling action, magnificent scenes, well constructed drama and a powerful characterization by Miss Farrar make "Carmen" a play that soon forgotten. Doubtless many of those who saw "Carmen" on its first presentation here will avail themselves again of the opportunity offered, while those who did not attend the first presentation should make it a point to attend one of the two shows at 7 and 8:30 p. m. The Belfast News and some comedy cartoons will round out this feature bill for Friday evening, besides Billie Burke in the latest chapter of "Gloria's Romance." Thos. A. Edison presents a five-part feature, "When Love Is King." The theme deals with the love affairs of a king and a young American girl whose daddy buys a kingdom, title and all, to make smooth sailing for the youthful monarch and his daughter. For Saturday matinee and evening, an intensely dramatic five-part feature, "Civilization's Child," together with a Keystone two-reel laughfest and a single reel drama will be offered. For Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday see advertisement in another column.

President Wilson and The Labor Unions

Most men, especially college professors and teachers generally, who write and talk freely and without hope or intention of becoming active in party politics, are apt to say things, or put words in the paper which rise to haunt them if fate decrees that they shall become prominent in national affairs.

This has been true in the case of President Woodrow Wilson, one time President of Princeton University, and now President of the United States.

When Mr. Wilson was a college president, and later as a college professor, he did not hesitate to speak his mind freely on all subjects, and it may be said that he was so left no room for doubt as to what he meant. There are few writers or speakers in America who have been better than Dr. Wilson the weight and force of good old English words, and with his pen he ornaments any theme which he attempts to discuss.

Since the passage of the Adamson bill, which will no doubt be made by the Congress of the Democratic campaign, it is a statement that Mr. Wilson has been a staunch friend of the workmen, and that this has always been true of him. Here, however, and unfortunately for Mr. Wilson, the record rises to haunt him.

Mr. Wilson made the baccalaureate address before the graduating class of Princeton University. Then, as he was a master of words, and as there were not great reasons of state which he should make any efforts to shade his meaning, he ordered his words to the minds of the young men, and to the audience, young men who were about to enter the great world's arena, and whom Doctor Wilson addressed wisely just as they were about to enter the threshold of their life's work.

It is not that the usual standard of the employee is in our day. It is a little as he may for his labor. Labor is standardized by the machine, and this is the standard which it is made to conform to. The worker is suffered to do more than his own hands can do, in some cases, and handicrafts no one is sufficient to do the least skillful of the fellows can do within the time of a day's labor, and no one can work out of hours at all or do anything beyond the minimum.

AFTER SIX YEARS OF SUFFERING

Woman Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbus, Ohio.—"I had almost given up, I had been sick for six years with female troubles and nervousness. I had a pain in my right side and could not eat anything without hurting my stomach. I could not drink cold water at all nor eat any kind of raw fruit, nor fresh meat nor chicken. From 175 pounds I went to 115 and could get so weak at times that I could not get up. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and in ten days I could eat and it did not hurt my stomach. I have taken the medicine ever since and I feel like a new woman. I now weigh 127 pounds and you can see what it has done for me. My husband says he knows my medicine has saved my life."

Mrs. J. S. BARLOW, 1624 South 4th St., Columbus, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contains just the virtues of roots and herbs needed to restore health and strength to the weakened organs of the body. That is why Mrs. Barlow, a chronic invalid, recovered so completely. It pays for women suffering from any female ailments to insist upon having Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE WOMAN'S TRAIN.

Cross the Continent this Month to get Votes for Hughes.

The Republican Women's Campaign Committee and Women's Committee of the Washington Alliance are sending across the continent in October a Hughes campaign train to get votes for Hughes. It has changed the slogan so long associated with all women's political activities from "votes for women" to "votes for Hughes," and has placed practical political activity forever ahead and beyond mere voting.

This is not a suffrage train. It is a Hughes campaign train. It will carry a dozen or more of America's foremost women writers and speakers and workers in the fields of work in Americanization, immigration, education, protection of women, prohibition, and not for what they believe on suffrage.

This train will visit 28 States, as follows: Connecticut, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana, Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Arizona, Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, Kansas, Missouri, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey.

MOTHER LOVE AIDS SON IN TRENCHES

It Brings Relief to Boy Standing His Watch Deep in Mud.

Once upon a time, only a few months after this terrible world war had begun, Private Bailey, a soldier in the ranks had stood for days in the trenches "somewhere in France." The cold rains soaked him to the skin; the mud was deep. He had had no rest. Weary and aching with rheumatic pains, he recalled the faith his mother had in Sloan's Liniment. He asked for it in his next letter home. A large bottle was immediately sent him and a few applications killed the severe exposure. He shared this wonderful muscle-soother with his comrades, and they all agreed it was the greatest "reinforcement" that had ever come to their rescue. At your druggist, 25c., 50c. and $1.00 a bottle.

Proof in a Belfast citizen's statement.
Mrs. G. L. Field, 2 Union street, Belfast, says: "For some time I had severe pains across my kidneys and the kidney secretions were unnatural. I tried several medicines, but got little or no relief. Finally, I used Doan's Kidney Pills and I soon noticed a change for the better. After taking one box the trouble left."

Doan's Always Effective.

OVER SIX YEARS LATER, Mrs. Field said, "Doan's Kidney Pills still have my hearty endorsement. They have given me relief on several occasions and I can't say too much in praise of them."

THE WRECK OF THE BAY STATE.

PORTLAND, Me., Sept. 26. Much freight was removed from the wrecked steamer Bay State by the Boston lighter Salvor, today, and the balance will be taken out Wednesday. Despite the havoc wrought by the rocks and heavy seas, the Bay State continues to rest right side up, with only a slight list to starboard. As mariners express it, the steamer's back is broken, her entire hold is submerged, but she is still so high on the rocks that even the flood tide does not reach her main deck. This is where her freight is stored. She has not been abandoned as yet. She will be stripped and probably the hull will be sold to some junk dealer who makes a practice of ripping up wrecks.

"I stand here today a captain without a ship," declared Levi Foran, master mariner, in his first authorized statement today, as he stood on the sloping deck of the passenger steamer Bay State, wrecked on the rocks off Cape Elizabeth while under his command last Saturday.

"This little piece of paper," he said, tapping the commission in his pocket, "for which I have worked 32 years, goes by the board. My life effort has been for nothing."

To the style of buoys in use in the vicinity of the wreck, Capt. Foran said, he laid the responsibility for the disaster. "I want to tell you and the public this," said Capt. Foran in conclusion, "if I could have heard the Cape Elizabeth foghorn, which we did not hear from the time our course lay north by east to the time this vessel fetched up west-west, round all that range of the compass, this thing never would have happened."

"Had the lightship been there, we could have heard her whistle and we could have heard any other properly constructed whistle that they might choose to put in her place, but we could not and did not on that night hear a sound of the whistle that the Government put there in the place of the lightship."

Capt. Foran stated that mariners had petitioned the Government to take notice of buoys which are sunk so deep in the water that they do not ride the waves, but whose sounds are muffled in the trough and cannot be heard any distance.

YOUNG FARMERS WILL CELEBRATE AT BELFAST.

Over two hundred Waldo County boys and girls, who during the past season have been raising potatoes, sweet corn, poultry and market gardens, will hold the second annual County Contest of Boys' and Girls' Agricultural Clubs in Belfast October 27th and 28th.

The results of the farming activities of these young people will be displayed in exhibits set up at the City building. The public is cordially invited to inspect exhibits and to attend the exercises on Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday morning, a program of which will be announced later.

Two hundred dollars in prize, given by the First National Bank of Belfast and the Belfast Savings Bank, will be awarded in the form of bank accounts during the session.

The meeting will be in charge of Mr. R. P. Mitchell, State Leader of Boys' Clubs, and the members of the Waldo and North Waldo Pomona Grange Committees on Extension Work. Belfast, Brooks, Jackson, Monroe, Searport, Freedom, Liberty, South Montville, and Winterville are the towns in which clubs are organized, and the adult local leaders of clubs in these towns will accompany the members to Belfast, where the keys of the city will be handed over to them.

REPUBLICAN SWEEP INDICATED.

If the straw ballots taken by the Cincinnati Enquirer in the States of the South and Middle West are to be relied upon the whole of the latter section will go overwhelmingly for Hughes next November, with better than an even chance that the Republican nominee will break into the South and carry Kentucky, Missouri and possibly Tennessee. The Enquirer is a Democratic paper but its elections canvasses are conducted strictly with a view to obtaining the facts and since it began them in 1896, it has obtained remarkably accurate results, never failing to forecast the trend of the voters.

RECENT DEATHS.

William R. Dyer of Kittery died Sept. 23d in the Portsmouth hospital, aged 84 years. He was formerly of Belfast, and is very well remembered here. He was born in Millbridge and was in the ship building business in Belfast when the shipping industry was at its height, moving away about 30 years ago. He was twice married. His first wife was Miss Ruth Trussell of Belfast, who died some time ago, and later he married Mrs. Sarah E. Dyer of Kittery, who survives him, with five sons and three daughters: Forrest A., Stephen, Charles A. and Ralph Dyer, all of Portland, Horatio L. of Somerville, Mass., Miss Ella V. Dyer and Mrs. Lilian Curtis of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Miss Mary E. Dyer of Kittery. One sister also survives, Mrs. Annie M. Locke of Belfast. Funeral services were held from the home of his son, Sullivan Dyer, in Portland, Sept. 25th.

The funeral of William Garcelon was held from his home in Burnham Sept. 18th. Rev. Wm. Snow of Unity officiating. The house was filled with relatives and friends of the deceased and the floral offerings were very beautiful. The song, "Isaiah's Lullaby," was sung by the choir. The deceased was a native of Massachusetts, and was a member of the Baptist Church of Belfast. He was a successful business man and a generous contributor to the community. He is survived by a widow, Mrs. Wealthy B., two sons, Eugene O. and George B., one daughter, Mrs. Dailey R. Chandler, and two sisters, Mrs. Sarah Peabody and Mrs. Eliza Cotton of Lewiston, besides many other relatives. The remains were taken to the two sons of the deceased, his son-in-law, Orison Chandler, and nephew, Harry E. Goodrich, interment was at Fairview cemetery.

Prohibition in Spokane.

Last year, up to Sept. 1st, 136 men were convicted in Spokane for failure to support their families. In the same period this year only seven cases have come to trial. On January 1, 1916, the State of Washington along with Idaho and Oregon, entered the prohibition column. In the first eight months of the dry regime, the auditor of Spokane county reports the county's business was conducted for $54,987 less than during the first eight months of last year. To September 1st last year the operating expense was $468,622. During the corresponding period this year the cost was $413,635. The bulk of the saving was made in the conduct of the jail, prosecutor's office, superior court, indigent relief and sheriff's office.—Spokane News Bureau.

Mrs. Samuel K. Peterson and children were visiting Capt. and Mrs. Frank A. Peterson, Amesbury Heights, Rockport, Maine, and not in Rockland, and were not exposed to infantile paralysis, which was reported here—Com.

In keeping with the program of the Maine State Sunday School Association the Methodist Episcopal church will observe "Go-to-School-Day" on Sunday, October 8th—"Daily Day" exercises will be held at 10:45 a. m.

Capt. Jeremiah Merithew was first officer in the ocean tug C. W. Morse, which sailed from New York about five months ago for Sierra Leone, Africa. She touched at San Juan, P. R., for fuel and has not been heard from since leaving that port and is supposed to have foundered at sea.

J. W. Brock and son, Harvey E. Brock, motored to Buckfield last week and visited the old homestead where his father and grandfather were born. His ancestors were pioneers of the town, coming from Pembroke, Mass., when Buckfield was a wilderness. The Brock family were very numerous in the town in the early days but today not one of the family could be found there.

It will be of interest to the people of our town to know that Miss Katie G. Nelson, a missionary of the Bible Society of Maine, is canvassing Searsport. She sells Bibles at cost and when it is necessary the poor will be supplied without cost. A careful religious census will be taken at the same time, and published for the benefit of the churches. The last similar canvass was made about seven years ago. The work is purely benevolent and un denominational. Its cost is borne by the churches. Every one will have an opportunity to contribute to its support in the course of the house to house canvass. Every house in the town will be visited in the canvass. This will be an excellent opportunity to procure a good copy of the Scriptures at a minimum price.

NOYES-BUTTERFIELD Simplicity and daintiness characterized the wedding of Miss Greata Butterfield to Dr. Allen Pendleton Noyes, which was solemnized last night in the A. E. Butterfield home at 8:30 o'clock. Dr. John H. Boyd officiated. Joseph Hammond attended. Dr. Noyes as best man, and the bride's two brothers, Albert E. Jr., and George H., were in attendance. Doris Clark was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Martha Hoyt and Miss Helen Platt.

The entire color scheme throughout the house was pink and green, hundreds of fluffy pink asters being effectively arranged in baskets, bowls and standards, tied with filmy pink tulle, and combined with delicate fernery. The huge bow window was banked with the asters and greenery, making an effective foil for the handsome gowns of the bride and her attendants diverging from the conventional time-honored custom of satin and dead whiteness, the bride choosing a simple gown of white silk net made over pale pink crepe de chine. It was minus a train, made very full and short, the tulle veil enveloping the fluffy gown. Her bouquet was a shower of Cecil Bruner roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaids' gowns were made alike, and were of pink chiffon taffeta and silver. Their bouquets carried out the color scheme, being large clusters of pink asters tied with broad silver ribbons.

Mrs. Butterfield, mother of the bride, wore a handsome gown of the amethyst shade of velvet, with lovely rose point lace embellishments, and a corsage of Cecil Bruner roses.

Mrs. Noyes, mother of the bridegroom, was adorned in a handsome gown of black satin and rare lace, and a dainty corsage bouquet of orchids.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held, and supper served. In the dining room, pink and green predominated in the floral decoration, the attractive table being presided over by Mrs. George Hoyt, Mrs. J. A. Martin, Mrs. August Klosterman and Mrs. C. S. Jackson. They were assisted by Misses Genevieve Butterfield, Gretchen Klosterman, Mabel Korell and Louise Boyd. The veranda was enclosed for the event, and the punch table placed in one corner. Strings of electric lights encased in pink shades and garlands of vinery made this spot most attractive. The decorations were charmingly done by Albert E. Jr., and George H. Butterfield, the bride's brothers.

Miss Sadie Noyes and Mrs. Jacob Gray Kamm presided at the punchbowl. The artistic effect was heightened by having the table placed close to the window, looking into the festive rooms, and permitting the strains of the stringed orchestra to float out to the assemblage on the veranda.

For a traveling suit, the bride chose an amethyst chiffon velvet trimmed with black lynx fur, a large black velvet hat with lynx trimming, and handsome lynx throw and muff.

Dr. and Mrs. Noyes left for a fortnight's wedding trip, and upon their return they will be temporarily domiciled with the Butterfield family until they get their house in order.

George H. Butterfield, who is at Camp Withycombe with the guardsmen who have just returned from the border, was fortunately able to be present at the wedding, and Albert E. Butterfield Jr., who will leave today for school in the East, was responsible for the wedding date being advanced a bit. A number of out-of-town guests attended the wedding, which was one of the notable ones of the season.

Dr. Noyes is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Noyes, and is a popular young physician, being a partner of Dr. F. J. Lahey. The young couple have been extensively feted since the announcement of their engagement.—Portland Oregonian, Sept. 16, 1916.

Dr. Allen Pendleton Noyes is the son of Edward A. and Ada (Pendleton) Noyes, both born in Searsport, but who have resided in Portland for many years.

Mrs. Georgia Page Ripley left Monday for Portland, where she will visit friends before returning to Bath. She had been the guest of her father for six weeks.

Harry Pierce has sold his place to Maynard Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Pierce have gone to Westbrook, Mass., where they expect to find employment in an insane hospital.

Mrs. Lizzie J. Osgood, Miss Emma Osgood and Frank Stover of Bluehill motored to Appleton Saturday via Bangor. Sunday they took a trip to Camden via the turnpike, accompanied by G. H. Page and his daughter, Georgia Ripley, whose guests they were in Appleton. They left for Bluehill Monday.

MAINE LEGISLATURE IN SPECIAL SESSION.

AUGUSTA, Me., Sept. 29. The revision of the Maine statutes was approved in a bill passed to the Senate by both branches at a special session today of the Maine Legislature.

The extra session was called primarily for that purpose. It was the fifth special session since Maine became a State in 1820 and the second since the Civil War.

An act to authorize the Harbor Commissioners of Portland to alter and modify the harbor lines of that city was passed to be engrossed.

At the close of the session, Governor E. E. Newbert, the State Treasurer, in reference to disposition of the public land reserve fund was referred to the next Legislature.

United States Senator Edward C. Burleigh and four members of the Maine House of Representatives, James A. Connellan of Portland, Henry W. Evans, Bridgton, Frank S. Lord, Ellsworth, and Frank Robinson, Bangor, who have died during the year.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Whereas, The Angel of Death has visited us and taken from our number a loved sister, Ellen M. Littlefield, therefore, be it Resolved, That we, members of the Industrial Club of Swanville have lost a sister that was ever deeply interested in our welfare, and whose presence will be sadly missed.

Resolved, That we extend our sincere sympathy to the bereaved family in the great loss they are called upon to bear and we commend them to Him, who alone can console them in their great sorrow.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be placed upon our records, a copy sent to the local papers for publication.

LULU N. PATTERSON, Committee on Resolutions.

ALICE N. NICKERSON, Resolutions.

A Distinctive Reason

What is the chief reason for the superiority of Royal Baking Powder?

There are several good reasons, but there is one which distinguishes Royal from other baking powders.

This reason, which every woman should know, is that Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, which comes from grapes. This means a healthful fruit origin. It means natural food as distinguished from mineral substitutes used in other baking powders.

There is no alum nor phosphate in Royal Baking Powder.

Mrs. Charles Cole, School street, left Monday morning to join Capt. Cole at Swans Island in the scho. Edith McIntire, who will probably reach Stockton next Sunday.

Capt. Elden S. Shute, Sylvan street, left Monday afternoon for Rockland to take schooler Emily S. Baymore to New York for Pendleton Brothers. He will probably be absent about a fortnight.

Capt. Edmund Hieborn and Messrs. Frank B. Jackson and Louis Hackey of our village accompanied Capt. Gilkey of Searsport on a motor trip to Union to attend the fair and horse trot last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Houghton of Bangor arrived Saturday afternoon and remained over Sunday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Staples, Church street. They left Monday afternoon by train.

Mrs. Grace W. Britto, after a few days spent in town, returned last Saturday to Boothbay, where business interests demand her presence for a few weeks, after which she intends returning to her West Main street home.

Mrs. Charles C. Park, summering in a portion of the Britto house, West Main street, was the guest last week of Mrs. Annie K. Harriman, East Main street, for several days returning to her rooms Monday morning.

Hon. and Mrs. C. S. Hieborn of Augusta were Sunday guests of his sisters, the Misses Hieborn, Church street, leaving Sunday afternoon on their return motor trip, having found the roads in very good condition for autoing.

A. M. Ames, Church street, and John H. Gerrish, West Main street, motored to Augusta last Thursday in the Gerrish car to attend the extra session of the Legislature. They returned Saturday in the late afternoon.

George Avery came from Orono Saturday for a week-end visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Avery, Middle street, returning by Saturday afternoon train to be ready for his studies Monday morning at the University of Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Griffin of Westbrook, Mass., who had been the guests for a week of his aunt, Mrs. Angie G. Mudgett, and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Hieborn, East Main street, took Saturday's boat for Boston, en route to their home.

The fall schedule for B. & A. trains went into effect Monday. They leave for Bangor at 6:15 a. m. and 1:50 p. m., and arrive at 9:50 a. m. and 5:00 p. m. by leaving earlier in the morning we trust that better connections will be insured at the Northern Maine Junction for trains going west.

Mrs. Warren F. Loud of Hampden, after a ten days' visit with her aunt and husband, Capt. and Mrs. Horace M. Griffin, Middle street, left Sunday by afternoon train for home. Mrs. Loud is well remembered by her many friends as Miss Clara Griffin of our village previous to her marriage.

Mrs. Albert C. Colcord, East Main street, is again at home, having returned Sept. 22nd from Rockland, where she had been for several weeks with her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Shute. Felicitations are extended to the happy grandma, who reports the young mother and little Harry D., Jr., as doing finely.

This is the week of the grand Maine Music Festival in Bangor, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and many Stockton people will undoubtedly embrace this opportunity of enjoying the great musical treat offered by this association. The well-known soloist, Geraldine Farrar, will be the leading soloist this year, with many other attractive singers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Hieborn, East Main street, accompanied by their guests, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Griffin, availing themselves of the beautiful weather of last week, spent several days at the camp of Dr. Herman G. Hieborn on the Sandypoint shore of Fort Point cove. Mrs. Everett Staples, Church street, joined them for clambacks and corn roasts on Wednesday and Thursday, and Mrs. Rufus L. Mudgett, Sylvan street, was their guest Thursday.

Walter Colcord of New York arrived Friday by car the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah C. Treat, Church street, and was their guest until Monday afternoon, when he motored to Bangor to accompany him on a visit to her aunt, Mrs. Treat. Mr. Colcord is the third son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Colcord (nee Miss Hattie Rich) formerly of this village.

Dr. Elmer Small of Belfast was again in consultation last Sunday with Dr. G. A. Stevens, Church street, on the case of Mrs. Herbert Mixer, Sylvan street. She was more comfortable Monday, having had a better night's sleep, following a bad one Saturday. Her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Barrett of Stone House farm, spent Sunday with her parents, remaining over night, being like her father, anxious about her mother's condition. Sympathy is extended by all friends with hope for improvement soon.

John McLaughlin, School street, with his son Archie as chauffeur, motored to Union last Thursday to attend the fair and horse trot, in which Mr. McLaughlin's trotter "Altimus," won the $200 purse, netting him $125; his time was 2:18. Mr. McLaughlin was accompanied on this trip by Messrs. B. B. Sanborn, Adrian Trundy and Walter F. Trundy. These gentlemen were greatly pleased by the winning of this Stockton-owned horse. Today, Thursday, this horse will trot in the races at the Harland fair, when Mr. McLaughlin will again be present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Flanders, East Main street, closed their house Monday and left by afternoon boat for Boston, en route to Waterbury, Mass., where they will visit their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Levine, and will go from there to Westfield, Mass., to visit her mother before going to the home of their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Flanders in New York. Having left Stockton permanently, because of the change of business here (Mr. Flanders was the agent of the Bull Steamship Co., under contract to carry the output of The Great Northern Paper Co. from the Cape Cod piers, to New York and Philadelphia, which contract they recently abrogated because of high freights to be obtained elsewhere) they are undecided as to place of future location. Stockton regrets their departure, they having taken an active part in the work of the Universalist parish, the social and literary clubs of the village. Mrs. Flanders was the President of the Current Events Club at the time of their leaving. The best wishes of the community go with them to their future home.
