Andrus Again Little League President

Officials of the Rockland Little League held an election of officers and discussed the possibility of having a new Little League site this summer at a meeting in the Community Building Wednesday evening.

Re-elected president was Theodore Andrus. Other officers elected were: Joseph Crowley, vice president; Richard Fowler, secretary; and Vaino A. Johnson, treasurer.

A committee report, which was submitted by David Hodgkins and Joseph Crowley, stated that City Manager Lloyd K. Allen approved of a plan to allow the league to construct a diamond on the South School grounds for the Little Leaguers.

Allen also quoted as having remarked that the city will not only aid the league in constructing the diamond but also allow them to use the football bleachers to seat spectators during the baseball season.

Last summer, the Little Leaguers used the playground on the North School grounds for playing ball. The field proved inadequate in both playing conditions and size.

Officials also approved of a plan to reduce the league to four teams instead of the six that played last year, but still maintain the six sponsors.

They decided to establish a farm system with at least four teams for those youngsters who desire to play baseball but are not experienced enough for league competition.

SCHOOL BOARDS OF FOUR TOWNS NAME COMMITTEES TO MAKE SEVERAL PRELIMINARY STUDIES

The second meeting of the combined school boards of Rockland, Owls Head, Rockport and South Thomaston was held at the Owls Head Central School Thursday evening. The boards are engaged in discussions of the possibilities of a school district covering the four communities to allow them to take full advantage of all the provisions of the Sinclair Bill now in force in the state.

Bruce Kinney, superintendent of the Rockland-Rockport school systems and Keith Crockett, superintendent of the Owls Head and South Thomaston schools led the discussions and provided requested information.

Increased interest in such a school district was evident among those present, according to those attending.

The plan now being discussed, and which must be acted upon in each community at a later date, would establish a central high school and possibly a junior high school accommodating the seventh and eighth grades of the four communities.

Costs of such a plan would be based on state valuations of the communities involved and a pattern set up by the state school subsidy law.

As a preliminary step toward a complete study, a committee on enrollments was established to take a census in each community of pre-school children. Kinney commented that this was necessary in order that a school population picture for several years to come be established.

Serving on the committee are: Mrs. Marion Colby of Spruce Head, Dr. Bradford Adams of Owls Head, Mrs. Elvi Hudson of West Rockport and Sebastian Groder of Rockland.

Also a study as to the use now being made of existing buildings was instituted. Charged with this program were: Allard Pierce of South Thomaston, Mrs. Margaret Knowlton of Owls Head, Shirley Barbour of Rockport and C. Maxwell Ames of Rockland.

Another committee was named to study the possibilities of new buildings, and if such were found to be necessary, the location. Serving are: Harold Kaler of Rockland, Melton Sturgess, Jr., of South Thomaston, Mrs. Elizabeth Walker of Owls Head and Mrs. Elvi Hudson of West Rockport.

A third meeting is scheduled for the Rockport Elementary School the evening of Feb. 6 at which time the group will study high school curriculum.

Clough States At Chamber Dinner Knox County Center Of Maine's Mineral Search And Production

The Rockland Chamber of Commerce held its annual banquet Thursday evening with 110 persons attending the affair at the Thorndike Hotel. The event took the theme of a salute to local industry.

Speaker of the evening Fred A. Clough, Jr., head of the Department of Economic Development of the state, He cautioned his listeners not to ignore the existing industry, which is the backbone of the community's economy, in the search for new industry.

Speaking on the activities of the D. E. D., he described renewed interest of mining companies in Maine as the result of new claims and mining laws passed by the last Legislature.

Fourteen such concerns are engaged in explorations in Maine at this time, he said, noting that 48 per cent of new claims filed with the state as the result of explorations are located in Knox County.

Included are the Beers operations in Hope and Union and the Dow Chemical Co. explorations in South Warren and Cushing on State Prison Farm land. The core drilling to determine mineral deposits such as nickel and copper are continuing through the winter in Hope and Union while the search for lithium bearing apatite in Warren and Cushing is halted for the winter months.

Clough also noted that 55 per cent of Maine's mineral production is from operations within Knox County. The vein of limestone which extends from Waldoboro to Rockport supplies the Dragon Cement Company at Thomaston and the Rockland, Rockport Lime Company at Rockland. The Knox Lime Company operates at Union and granite quarries of Hocking Industries at Clark Island.

Test borings in the Rockland area by Alfred Black have recently been completed. Mr. Black has at times said he is planning the establishing of a second cement plant which would take advantage of water transportation in bulk shipments to major East Coast cities.

The speaker commented that mining explorations carried out to date in the state have cost an estimated $750,000 and include those in Arrostook County for manganese.

Results of a magnetic aerial survey of the state in a search for minerals by the D. E. D. will be made public in February. Clough indicated that the findings may lead to additional ground explorations.

He pointed out Senator Seth Low as the father of the Maine Factory Building Authority, which he observed was the state's answer to industrial expansion. Also, he commented Ralph W. Bartlett, executive secretary of the Rockland Chamber, for his work, and knowledge of the operations of D. E. D. Joseph Crowley, serving as master of ceremonies.

ter of ceremonies for the evening, introduced Clinton B. Gifford, the Chamber's retiring president. Mr. Gifford touched on the accomplishments of the organization the past year, commenting that it is difficult to measure the work of the Chamber, so varied are its projects and services to the community and the surrounding area.

"Rockland people should be feeling quite happy", he observed as he pointed out the year around operation of 40 Fathom Fisheries, Inc., the nearly full scale operation of the new Bonnar-Vawter printing plant, the harbor dredging, the new Rockland Port District piers and terminal, plus increased construction generally.

President Wendell Hadlock stressed the necessity of the Chamber publishing this year a brochure which would publicize not only Rockland but the communities surrounding it as well. He noted that Rockland is not a community alone, but the center of several communities, all of which contribute heavily to the city's business and cultural life.

Such a project was discussed at a recent meeting of the Chamber directors and will doubtless be undertaken in time to permit early distribution through tourist outlets in Maine and other states.

The invocation was given by Rev. Merle B. Conant of the Pratt Memorial Methodist Church.

Guests of the Chamber were President and Mrs. Clarence Waterman of the Camden-Rockport Chamber of Commerce and Executive Secretary and Mrs. Fred Crockett. Also, President and Mrs. David Holden of the Rockland Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Municipal Court

Judge Alfred M. Strout found probable cause in Municipal Court Thursday morning to hold Malcolm Reynolds of Washington for the February term of Knox Superior Court on a charge of assault and battery on Maynard Feltis Nov. 10 in Washington.

A $1000 bond was ordered posted for his release which the respondent was unable to furnish Thursday.

Edward J. Ball, III, 15, of Camden, pleaded guilty to speeding 55 miles an hour in a 30 mile zone on Washington street in Camden Jan. 22. He was fined $15 to the complaint which was lodged by Camden police.

Jenness L. Robbins, 29, of Searsport pleaded guilty in Municipal Court Friday morning to speeding 70 miles an hour in a 45 mile zone. He was stopped Jan. 23 by the Sheriff's Patrol on Route 131 in Union. The respondent was fined $25.

Car Demolished, Driver Hurt In Crash On 131

A 24 year old resident of Tenants Harbor was treated at Knox Hospital Friday for lacerations received when his car was demolished on Route 131 in Tenants Harbor about 11.15 a. m.

Trooper Lawrence Chapman reports that the 1953, two door Buick sedan, operated by Angelo M. Escorsio, 24, of Tenants Harbor, failed to negotiate a curve about two miles south of Wiley's Corner, heading south, and traveled about 360 feet after it went out of control before stopping at about 11.15 a. m. Friday.

The Buick traveled about 170 feet on the soft shoulder on the right hand side of the road, crossed back onto the pavement and traveled another 50 feet before going over to the soft shoulder on the left hand side of the highway, traveled 20 feet, hit a ledge, bounced back on the road and went about another 19 feet before coming to a stop.

Escorsio was treated at Knox Hospital for lacerations of his chin, nose and scalp and later released, according to the hospital supervisor.

The accident is under investigation by State Police.

Crash In Camden

About $175 damage was caused in a two vehicle collision Thursday night on Elm street in Camden, according to Camden Chief John Rainfrette. The accident occurred when a car, operated by Gilbert Laitte, 25, of Camden, was pulling out of a filling station on Elm street about 7.15 p. m. when it collided with a pick-up truck, driven by Lawrence Gray, 47, of Rockport, that was heading west. Damage to the truck was estimated at about $125 and about $25 to the car. There were no reported injuries, Rainfrette remarked.

that the Secretary of State will probably summons Robbins for a hearing to show cause why his driver's license should not be revoked.

Northeast Sets Up New Traffic And Sales Depts.

A reorganization of the Northeast Airlines traffic and sales department was announced Thursday by James W. Austin, New president of the company.

He named three of his former associates at Capital Airlines to serve in key executive positions under Nelson B. Fry, recently elected NEA vice president of traffic and sales. Fry, like Austin, joined Northeast on Jan. 1.

Appointments, which become immediately effective, follow:
James O. "Bill" Urganhart of Washington, D. C., becomes Northeast's general passenger service manager.

M. Willson Offutt, 3rd, of Westmoreland Hills, Md., has been named sales manager.

Maurice M. DeGoff of Falls Church, Va., will be general traffic manager.

Urganhart, Offutt and DeGoff, who were important members of Austin's successful sales team for a number of years, bring to NEA a wealth of airline experience, having an aggregate of 45 years in traffic and sales work. Offutt returns to the airlines industry after a year and a half in Washington real estate.

Urganhart has been active in the aviation field for 23 years. DeGoff had a record of 12 years and Offutt 10 years, all of which time the latter two worked closely with Austin and Fry. DeGoff specialized in ticketing and ticket sales and Offutt has been especially prominent in international and interline sales promotion.

Ward 4: Mrs. Christy Adams, captain; Mrs. George Gherardi, Mrs. Winola Ober, Mrs. Lawrence Carey, Mrs. Jeanette Small, Miss Margaret Albee, Miss Laura Fish, Mrs. Charles Grant, Mrs. Ernest Keywood, Mrs. Willard Pease, Mrs. Carl Stipphen, Mrs. Clyde Pease, Mrs. Francis Orne, Mrs. Helen Lawrence, Mrs. Ronald Packard, Mrs. Newell Hodgkins, Mrs. Bud Jordan, Mrs. John Duff, Mrs. John Lzwe, Jr., Mrs. Flora Spear, Mrs. Bessie French, Mrs. Raymond Gross.

Ward 5: Mrs. William Bodman, captain; Mrs. Albert Emery, Mrs. Neil Novicka, Mrs. Francis Mazzeo, Mrs. Donald Goss, Mrs. Benjamin Watson, Mrs. Frank McKinney, Mrs. Raymond Fogarty, Mrs. Maurice Lake, Mrs. Otis Fogg, Mrs. Sumner Philbrook, Mrs. Maurice Johnson, Mrs. Maurice Nute, Mrs. Leonise Delano, Mrs. Beatrice Brown, Mrs. Ralph Billings.

NEW HIGHWAY COMMISSION ROAD MAPS PICTURE COASTAL AREA

The Maine State Highway Commission has issued a new road map of the state which will shortly be available at offices of the Commission and at information bureaus.

Chambers of Commerce and through the Department of Economic Development. Locally, the Rockland Chamber of Commerce, the Camden-Rockport Chamber of Commerce and the Highway Commission office in Rockland will have them for free distribution.

The reverse of the colorful map has several pictures in full color which are the work of Commission photographers Guy Nicholas of Rockland and William Cross of Warren. Included is a winter scene of Camden harbor, the Dragon Cement plant at Thomaston, the Ridge Church at Martinsville and a scene of Monagan Island. The cover picture is one taken on Mt. Megunticook with Knox County below.

Major highway routes of the state are listed showing accumulative mileage between population centers and intersecting routes. Route 17 which starts in Rockland has a total length of 132.8 miles, ending in Readfield, Livermore Falls and Mexico to its terminus.

Route 1, starting at the New Hampshire line at Kittery, has a total length of 531.7 miles, ending at the Canadian border at Fort Kent. The distance is equal to that of Route 17.

All three men served in World War II.

Austin expects to make one more appointment to complete his new NEA sales organization next week.

Camden Police Hold Rockporter For Gun Theft

The case of a .32 caliber rifle, missing from a restaurant owner in Camden, may be solved in Rockland Municipal Court next week. Chief John Rainfrette remarked Friday.

It seems that Charles E. King, the owner of King's Dinetto, rented his .32 caliber rifle to a 22 year old resident of Rockport Oct. 31 for 2.

The Rockport resident, whose name the Camden police will not divulge at this time, signed a fictitious name on King's register and told him that he planned to use the rifle to go hunting.

Around the middle of November, the Rockporter, who is reported to be on probation for forging a check, sold the weapon to a Camden resident for $10. King valued his gun at $50.

On Jan. 20, the Camden police apprehended the Rockport person and the gun, after the Camden resident was told that the gun was stolen. He is being held in the

Hospital Chief Turns Tables On Staff

Knox Hospital employees entered the institutions dining room Thursday noon to find it transformed to an Italian style restaurant complete with bright checkered tablecloths, candlelight and soft music, and a pair of willing if not too efficient waiters who put in a frantic hour giving service to the entire hospital staff.

The "restaurant" was the idea of Administrator Henry X. Jackson who decided that the hospital staff needed a lift in spirits after working for 10 days with the hospital filled beyond its capacity.

The transformation of the staff dining room was timed with the arrival of new chairs which will be used there until the new dining facilities in the hospital wing now under construction is opened. Jackson,

Mrs. Elizabeth Moeling, his secretary, Alan P. Russell, hospital field secretary and maintenance man, Vincent Bickford brought the change in one hour Thursday morning and were waiting with starched apron and napkin over arm in proper fashion as the first employee entered the dining room.

Just before noon an invitation to all employees to attend the grand opening of the "Knox Kneapolton Kafe" (Tables for Ladies) was distributed throughout the hospital.

The invitation read in part: "A delightful luncheon will be served patrons in the newly decorated Venice Room of the Kafe at 12 and 12.30. Luncheon music in the Italian Style. Original paintings by some of the nation's great artists." The luncheon was not quite Italian, but fricassee chicken was referred to as gallina cacciatore and ice cream became spumoni for the day. Paintings adorning the walls of the room were some of those donated to the hospital last year by prominent Maine artists. A local music shop provided a record player for the occasion.

A perspiring pair of waiters agreed when it was all over and the last dish had been picked up that the results were well worth the effort.

"I think each member of the staff returned to the afternoon's work in better spirits and with the knowledge that the administration appreciates their wonderful co-operation of the past couple of weeks," Jackson said.

So efficient was the service that 35 cents in tips were found on the tables as the diners departed.

Two Camden Girls Basketball Team Players Injured

Two members of the Camden girls basketball team were injured this week, one as a result of playing in the Rockland-Camden tilt and another due to an icy sidewalk in front of the high school.

Ann Weymouth, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Weymouth, who plays left guard on the team, slipped on the icy sidewalk between Camden High and the Knowlton Street School when she was enroute to lunch. She received two broken upper teeth and a cut hand.

The other member of the squad, center guard Bonnie Robinson, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Robinson, was injured while participating in the Rockland-Camden game Tuesday afternoon.

She received a bruised collar bone when she was involved in a pile up during the contest.

Ricker Resigns Coaching Post

A summer resident of St. George, John Ricker, announced this week that he has resigned his post as head football coach at the Medford, Mass., High School.

Ricker, who has been assistant coach for 14 years, just served one season as the head coach. He will continue as English teacher at the school. No reason was given for the resignation.

Ricker was head baseball coach at Tufts University in Medford for several years until his resignation.

Guernsey Club Official Retiring

Charles M. Cummings

Charles M. Cummings, who has helped formulate many national dairy programs, retires on Feb. 1 after 38 years service with the American Guernsey Cattle Club in Peterborough, N. H.

For 26 years, Mr. Cummings headed the official testing program of the Guernsey association. Since 1946, he has served as assistant treasurer and office manager.

Mr. Cummings, who is known from coast-to-coast as "Chuck," was graduated from the University of New Hampshire in 1917. He was one of seven children, all of whom received UNH degrees. He was awarded a Master's degree by Pennsylvania State University two years later.

Mr. Cummings became director of the AGCC's official testing program in 1920. During the quarter-century he headed this work, he introduced the 305-day twice-daily milking class, the popular Herd Improvement Registry testing program, the economical one-day test period, and helped write the first unified rules for testing accepted by all the dairy breed associations.

Active in local affairs, Mr. Cummings served for a number of years as a representative to nation four years ago.

Ricker, who brings his family up to St. George from Medford every summer, has umpired Knox-Lincoln baseball games and played on the St. George Torpedo baseball squad.

He has also given his time in a coaching capacity in the St. George Little League program.

Judges Named For Winter Green Pastures Program

Three judges for the Maine Green Pastures in Winter Contest have been selected and will begin work on Monday, Feb. 3, announces Ralph A. Corbett, Extension dairyman, University of Maine.

Maine judges will be 1957 Green Pastures winners Vaughn Hurd of Thomdike, or his partner, Robert Goodale; Ernest Addition of Greene or his son, Eldon; and Raymond Hall of Mt. Vernon. Corbett will accompany the judges as advisor.

They'll select the three best entries in the state, inspecting the farms of county winners in the 11 or 12 counties taking part. Forage production, management, and use will be considered.

Judging by county committees will begin in most counties Monday, Jan. 27. County agents of the Extension Service have selected outstanding dairy farmers to do the judging. State judging will take place the following week and the New England Green Pastures judging committee will begin its trip to the three top farms in each of the six states in the region on Feb. 18. Maine will have one representative on the six-man N. E. judging committee.

Judging is being done in the winter instead of the summer this year for the first time. The New England Green Pastures Committee and the various state committees had decided that more emphasis should be placed on quality of the silage and hay being fed dairy animals during the barn season from October to May. Maine farmers are learning more about producing, storing and feeding high quality forage both by judging and being judged in the Green Pastures in Winter program.

Union Vacation Changed To Fit Court Playoffs

Union schools will have their February vacation a week earlier than originally scheduled, Harold A. Wiggins, superintendent of schools, announced Friday.

The vacation will start at the close of the school day Feb. 14 and continue through Feb. 23. Classes will be resumed Feb. 24. The original school holiday was Feb. 24 to 25. The April recess will not be affected by this change.

The superintendent explained the change so the vacation will not interfere with the basketball playoffs, particularly since the Union Eagles are heading for a double championship in the Medomak Valley league.

He also remarked that the new vacation schedule will conform with the vacation of several other communities in Knox County.

HERE'S TO YOU—FREDERICK PAYNE!

The entrance of Senator Frederick G. Payne of Waldo-boro into the race for nomination for United States Senator in the June 16 primaries changes the whole political outlook for Maine.

Where the Republicans have been a weak and vacillating group, leaderless and quarrelling among themselves, they now face up to a wholly different situation.

Senator Payne is a born leader of men, a superb speaker and a campaigner of the purest ray serene, proven time and again in the heat of political battles.

Where the Republican on the street, when you could find one, was listless and highly critical of the leadership of his formerly powerful party, now, with Senator Payne in the race, the average Republican is a totally different man. He can see a real chance for success of his party, he can see a strong hand at the party helm, he can see that the ancient dead wood and self seekers of the Old Guard will be cleaned out and young men of strength and vigor rally behind the GOP banner, he can see an end to disorganization and bickering. He can see a real chance of Republican success at long last.

Here's to you—Frederick Payne!

HIGH TIME TO CONSIDER LOCAL SCHOOL MERGER

The Sinclair Bill, given final approval at the recent special session of Maine's Legislature, has completely changed the thinking of the people of the State on the matter of education and educational facilities.

For a decade or more the school boards of this area have had in the back of their minds the advantages of wholesale school mergers but financial problems so plagued all the towns and this city as well that the merger plans were largely in the form of wishful thinking.

Now comes the Sinclair Bill which not only extends great financial aid in the construction of large consolidated schools, sub-primary through high school, but provides generous subsidies for operating expenses.

This changes the whole educational picture for Knox County with its possibility of bringing all the schools of this area under one roof with vastly improved teaching staffs and equipment.

A long time since, the Thomaston area began its study of the consolidated school for that area which reached the stage of a first consideration by the voters.

The schools of the North County area are already carefully organized and studying their merger problems, costs, benefits, etc., under chairmanship of William Spert, and now it is very evident that Rockland, Rockport, Owls Head and South Thomaston mean business in their study of a merger of the schools in these towns.

It is all too evident that were it not for the educational wonder drug in the form of the Sinclair Bill with its manifold advantages that Rockland faced a very serious problem in what to do about its high school.

The ancient building already built and added to and further rebuilt is so crowded with High School age young people that it is bulging at the seams. It has all the hazards of life and limb of its students, such as narrow corridors, shaky balconies and far from satisfactory fire escape arrangements. Its laboratories are already crowded far beyond the limits of safety or efficiency as are its shops.

Certainly it is beyond any possibility of doubt that if the merger were not being studied under School Board Chairman Alan Grossman, this city would be forced to do something about its High School and at once. The old structure bearing the title date of 1865 as originally built would have to be further enlarged and rebuilt and when that enlarging and rebuilding was completed at great cost to the city all it would have would be an ancient, ramshackle monstrosity unsuited to educational purposes and a constant danger to the lives of our boys and girls.

The study group headed by Mr. Grossman is highly intelligent and dedicated to the great task they have in hand. Though the need for relief is great these men will not be hurried in making a complete survey of the needs and possibilities of the area, not only for the present but for decades ahead for which they will be building.

We have full faith that this study group will come up with a practical and sensible answer for they are men dedicated to the education and well being of this area's greatest assets—its boys and girls, sub-primary through high school.

Army Pvt. Marvin O. Welt, son of Melville O. Welt, Spear street Rockport, recently was assigned to the 40th Transportation Battalion at Fort Eustis, Va. Welt entered the Army last August and completed basic training at Fort Dix, N. J. He is a 1953 graduate of Rockport High School and a 1955 graduate of East Coast Aero Technical College in Bedford, Mass. The 23 year old soldier is the son of Mrs. Muriel Halford, Route 1, Richville, N. Y. His wife, Elizabeth, lives in Williamsburg, Va.

Ground Observers Receive Final Awards

At the meeting of the Rockland unit of the Ground Observer Corps Wednesday night at the Farnsworth Museum, T/Sgt. Robert E. Brooks of the Bangor Filter Center, presented pins to several members of the unit for the number of hours spent on duty. Receiving the pins were: Elmo Crozier and Percy Young, 500 hours; Mrs. Lillian Young, 250 hours; Robert Burns, Miss Ruth Fairbanks, Mrs. Virginia DeMass, Lloyd Argyle, Richard Argyle, and Mrs. Ann Hopkins, 100 hours. In the picture seated from left to right are: Mrs. Ann Hopkins, Mrs. Virginia DeMass and Mrs. Lillian Young. Standing from left to right are: Elmo Crozier, T/Sgt. Robert E. Brooks, Robert Burns and Percy Young. All Ground Observer units went on an inactive status this month as new Air Force sky searching equipment went into operation.

GOOF OFFS, HAWKS AND TROTTERS Warren Girls Lead RECREATION COURT LEADERS Whip Alumni As Boys Drop Game

In the High School Division of the Courier-Gazette-sponsored basketball leagues, the Goof Offs took over the top slot when the first place Trotters lost a close one to the Celtics 44 to 43 Jan. 16. The Goof Offs pushed past the Black Hawks 34 to 32 Jan. 20.

The Hawks continued to romp in the Seventh and Eighth Grade division and overwhelmed the Bobcats 29 to 4 Jan. 16 for their third win. The Rams chalked up their second win Jan. 20 when they outscored the Misfits 52 to 17.

In the Fifth and Sixth Grade Division, the Trotters romped over the Tyler School Tigers 61 to 6 Jan. 15 and 14 to 10 over the Terriers Jan. 18.

The second place Court Kings had a field day Jan. 15 when they racked up a score of 43 to 0 over the McLain School Bears. Their Jan. 18 tilt against the North School Braves was a bit more difficult as they pushed past the Braves 19 to 13.

The Eagles dropped a close one Jan. 15 to the Terriers 20 to 18 but bounced right back Jan. 18 and slaughtered the McLain School Bears 45 to 8.

The McLain School Tigers, who dropped a one sided contest on Jan. 15 to the North School Braves 14 to 3, pushed past the Tyler School Tigers 8 to 6 Jan. 18.

Junior Red Cross Leaders Guests Of County Chapter

The teacher-sponsors of the Junior Red Cross program in the schools of Knox County were entertained at tea at the Knox County Chapter headquarters Friday.

The chairman of the Junior Red Cross, Miss Elizabeth B. Leavens, presided at a short meeting at which program plans for the remainder of the school year were discussed.

The teacher-sponsors then received American Red Cross Junior Sponsor pins from Mrs. Reita Holden, executive secretary.

The teacher-sponsors are: Mrs. Joseph Moody, Appleton; Miss Cordelia Barnard and Mrs. Gertrude Callahan, Camden; Mrs. Evelyn Brown, Hope; Mrs. Priscilla Crockett and Mrs. Joan Brown, Thomaston; Miss Margaret Freethy, Union and Mrs. Edgar Lebbe, Warren.

Tea was served by two members of the Junior Red Cross Committee, Mrs. Solon Wilder of Warren and Mrs. Clifford Lucas, Thomaston.

World War I Vets Called To Join New Organization

All veterans of World War I are invited to attend a meeting of Barracks 996 World War I Veterans at the Grand Army Hall in Rockland at 7.30 Tuesday Feb. 4.

Temporary officers of the newly formed organization are now serving and building membership to the point where an election of regular officers may be held.

According to Commander Ervin Curtis, the organization is designed to bring together the now thinning ranks of veterans of the Kaiser War for the mutual enjoyment of all. He comments that it is an excellent opportunity for veterans to meet and talk over the days of the war and their military service.

Theatre Guild To Stage Play For Wading Pools

Approached at their monthly meeting for aid, the Knox Theatre Guild responded to the citizens recreation program by offering their services for a three act melodrama.

Proceeds from their efforts will be donated towards the purchase of wading pools.

The selection of a play, casting date, committee appointment, and other details were assigned for reports Tuesday by a steering committee.

Harold Look, Jr., has been assigned the job of directing the play.

The Knox Theatre Guild has been asked to present a one act play before the Council of Little Theatres, at their state convention in the late spring.

In other business it was decided to invite the dramatic instructors of the Knox County schools to the Feb. 19 meeting at which time Dick Savage of Camden will present high school dramatic talent.

A man can be narrow-minded and still never travel the straight and narrow path.

Whip Alumni As Boys Drop Game

The Warren boys basketball squad went down to another defeat Thursday night, 49 to 38, at the hands of the Rockland Baptist club at Glover Hall in Warren.

The Warren five vainly tried to get back into the game with a nine point rally in the third period and a 14 point outburst in the final quarter.

However, the big lead that the Rockland group had at half time, 21 to 13, was just too much for the varsity squad.

Joe Paulin paced the Baptist five with seven hoops for 14 points. Roy Pecee of the Warren squad had eight baskets for 16 points and his teammate Paul Wood had five baskets and one free throw for 11 points.

In the opening tilt, June Stimpson tallied for 29 points, and her teammate Julia Weston for 28 points as the Warren lassies thumped the alumni team 96 to 57. Betty Philbrook had 17 points to lead the graduates.

Camden Lassies Wallop Crosby

The Camden lassies put on a shooting contest Wednesday afternoon when they overwhelmed the visiting Crosby High sextette 39 to 15.

With a lead of 15 to 6 at the end of the first period, the Camden coach, Laurence Dailey substituted freely, giving his whole squad a chance to play.

Alice Roper and Shirley MacDonald paced the Camdenites with nine and eight points respectively during the game.

Elks To Initiate Five On Tuesday

The Rockland Lodge of Elks will hold initiation ceremonies for five new members at the Tuesday evening meeting. The event will be preceded by a New England boiled dinner to be served at 6.30.

Members of the Bath Lodge of Elks will conduct the degree work which will initiate the following: Morris B. Perry, 2d and Gordon Anderson, both electricians by trade; John L. Knight, attorney; and Vita W. Murgita and Capt. Ernest J. Kavanaugh, both commercial fishermen.

G. Ronald Smith, lecturing knight of the lodge, has tendered his resignation as business requires that he now make his home in Portland.

THE WEATHER

For a number of years it has been our custom to write a "weather" notice so that our people in warmer climes would know what was going on here winter-wise and congratulate themselves on their wisdom in going "South."

However thus far in '57-'58 our Rockland winter has been absent and the cold weather reports have come from other sections, including Miami, where they froze their oranges to the core. We have no snow at the moment (Friday), our lakes and wells are filled and so far no rough weather worthy of the name. Even the staid Maine Farmers' Almanac is far enough off the beam to claim Washington's Birthday fell on Jan. 22. But, and here's the rub, we have a hunch that here and now, Jan. 24, Old Man Winter is done fooling and is going to prove himself the tough guy he used to be. Hope we are wrong.

Mrs. Leona Bonner was a member of the troupe of Swinging Beavers who entertained hospitalized veterans at the Togus Hospital Monday evening.

City Manager Lloyd K. Allen and Rockland Fire Chief Wesley H. Knight will be guests of the Maxim Motor Company of Middleboro, Mass., Tuesday. The purpose of the trip will be to examine the latest fire fighting equipment.

The Kowa Bowmen will hold a shoot at the Spruce Head Community Hall Sunday which will benefit the Polio Fund through the donation of entry fees paid by shooters. Last Sunday, a shoot was held with items of pastry being awarded the winners. Seth Batty shot a 495 and won a mince pie. Kenneth Drinkwater was awarded a cake for his 420 in the first bowman class. First archer winner Arthur Stanley settled for cup cakes and a score of 275 while Mable Batty, shooting a 355, won an apple pie.

Trooper Harvey Childs reports that he was summoned late Wednesday night to Stickney's Corner on the complaint that two men tried to gain entry into the Raymond Packard general store. The store owner remarked that after the two men had pounded on the front door and shouted to him that they wanted to purchase beer, they broke three windows in the side of the building with a shovel that was near the store. When the trooper arrived, both men had fled.

The Thorndike Hotel dining room has been listed in the new edition of Duncan Hines' Adventures in Good Eating.

A two vehicle collision at the corner of Broadway and Rankin Street about 1.05 p. m. Wednesday caused about $650 damage and injured three people. Rockland Police reports that a 1952 Buick, operated by Frank L. Sisson of Port Clyde collided with a Ford truck driven by Harold W. Thompson, 54, of 25 Hill Street, Rockland. Damage to the truck was estimated at about $150 and about $500 damage to the entire right side of the car. Elmer Sorenson of Port Clyde, a passenger in the car, was treated for contusions and abrasions on her left leg at Knox Hospital. The other two passengers, Gladys Sisson and Marian Percy, both from Port Clyde, were just shaken up, the hospital supervisor reported.

Rockland Fire Chief Wesley H. Knight will attend the meeting of the advisory committee on the State firemen training program at Augusta Jan. 29.

Four hubcaps, valued at about $60 were taken sometime Wednesday night from a 1954 Oldsmobile parked on Summer Street, near the Rubenstein antique store, according to Rockland Police. The owner of the vehicle is Harold Stanley of 56 Camden Street, Rockland.

Lewis J. Edwards, 26, of 5 Temple street, Rockland, was treated at Knox Hospital Friday morning for lacerations of his forehead. Hospital officials report that he was struck by a swinging door on the Perini barge, which is dredging the harbor. Edwards was later released.

Roderick Montgomery of Cushing only had minor troubles when he entered Knox Hospital the other day for a blood test preliminary to minor surgery. Once the test was over the 44 year old man started to leave the room where the blood sample was taken. A moment or two later, he was the center of attention with a doctor and nurses gathered around when he regained consciousness. The heat of the room and the experience overcame him as he entered a corridor and he fainted, toppling into a wall and door jamb and receiving scalp lacerations and facial bruises.

The Independent Egg Producers' Association was represented at the Boston Poultry Show at Mechanics Building Wednesday by Carl Erickson and Henry Teague of Warren, and Charles Hudson and Herbert Alexander of Rockport. They were especially interested in a panel group discussion on the subject, "Poultrymen Take a Look At Self-Help Plans," Joseph Fletcher of Wentworth, N. H., and Henry W. Bradford, U.S.D.A. Farm Co-operative Service, were two of the panel speakers.

Joseph Fletcher of Wentworth, N. H., who is well known to Maine poultrymen due to his frequent visits here last year in the interest of his self-help plan, suffered a rather serious injury a few days ago when his right hand became caught in the moving chain of a mechanical feeder at his farm while he was attempting to make a repair. Twenty stitches were required to close the wound.

Polished Mahogany And The Brass Rail At Sullivan's Stirs Captain Scott—Also The Penobscot Appears

The Famous Foster's Wharf so dear to thousands of Down Easters.

The Penobscot would roll guards under on a day like this, but she was at her best in heavy river ice.

Dear Isle Maine, Jan. 20.
Dear Steamboat Editor:

The top picture in our Steamboat column in The Courier-Gazette of Saturday, Jan. 18 is a historical masterpiece to jog the memories of those old timers now living who rested their elbows on polished mahogany and rested one foot on the brass rail and between drinks walked over to the free lunch counter for a pig's foot and a pickle. Going back to the bar they blew the froth off the tall five cent glass of Pabst and picking up the crooked cotton book that laid beside the glass, put it in their back pocket and walked out the door leaving footprints of saw dust on the paved sidewalk that led through this arch back to their station stowing freight in the starboard gangway of the Penobscot.

This famous picture shows directly back of the couple on the corner the windows of the old famous Sullivan Brothers Bar. On its edge standing between two large green urns was a large red ledger known as the "Roustabouts payday Curfew." This ledger contained the names of every trusty from Fosters to Union wharf whose credit was without question.

If a roust-about had made too many visits to Sullivan's during the day which they could easily do when the doors were piled with freight without being detected by the mate, by 2 o'clock in the afternoon most generally the seat of his overalls was full of gangplank splinters, and his freight truck generally came on board the Penobscot without him to land upside down against the boilerhead. In most cases such as this, Joe Brown the mate or

Tom Birmingham or perhaps Dick Birmingham, who was generally mate, would hand him the little white slip. After taking this to the purser's office to redeem it into paper with a negotiable content he would walk out the passenger gangplank aft feeling too good even to speak to the social hall watchman. Bucking a strong cross tide to Sullivan's, his thumbs were all fingers until he could find the right combination to the door latch. He was recognized by Dave Sullivan the moment he entered. If he was within Dave's category of a trusty, the big red ledger was opened as soon as his cash reserves had run out. When the departing whistle of the Penobscot blew this old trusty would wave his arms and announce to the brass rail congregation "That they would miss him in Rockland at 4 a. m. tomorrow morning."

As the evening wore on he would be the honored guest of this palace of Pabst until the curfew hour of closing time had arrived. Dave would watch him fumbling the pockets of his dungarees; without a word Dave would hand him twenty cents, which would get him an un-air conditioned sleeping compartment in that famous Commercial street hostelry where you were honored by having your bunk number on a chain hung on your neck for safe keeping. You had an unobstructed view of the Quincy Market Cold Storage warehouse, and music by the shuttle train of the Boston Elevated throughout the night. He was awakened by brilliant sunbeams of the morning shining through the silken cobwebs on the upper sash danced on the walls of his bunk compartment.

Sullivan's famous hangover prevented him from enjoying nature's picture before him. He quickly donned his dungarees, and again headed for Sullivan's where he could partake at the self-service free lunch counter, and Dave Sullivan had already taken down the big red ledger and entered a new date for the beginning of the day for this roust-about. One of those colorful old trusties who made Atlantic avenue famous as the steamboat paradise of the Atlantic Coast.

One of Atlantic avenue's most famous of all roustabouts was old Dan Doherty. He trucked freight on the Katahdin and was on her when she went into Portsmouth in a disabled condition. He was longshoreman on Atlantic in the days of the Horatio Hall.

He was sealed in the paddle box of the City of Rockland at Bucksport after he had chopped a foul line of her wheel. George Williams was mate. Billy Casey the second mate thinking Dan had come out of the wheel box, ordered it closed by the door over the wheel shaft on the gangway. Dan's absence was not discovered until the man throwing the aft heaving line at Winterport heard his cries through the grating over the paddle box on the hurricane deck. Dan had climbed the "A" frame and clung to the top and held his mouth to the Hurricane deck grating to get air as tons of water was thrown over him by the revolving wheel buckets. Dan was nearly 80 years of age when he trucked freight for me on the Kennebec Line. He was later killed by falling down a flight of stairs at a roust-about hotel on Commercial street.

This old veteran was king of all Atlantic avenue roustabouts for well over half a century. He remembered well the beautifully carved paddle-boxes of the earliest-side-wheelers. It was most unfortunate he selected that particular vocation for a livelihood. His mind was as keen and fresh in old age as it was in youth. Dave Sullivan had in his bar an album of poems in rough manuscript form that Dan had written. He wrote a poem about every steamboat he ever served on.

The following is one of Dan's poems he wrote when he trucked freight on the City of Bangor before she burned in 1914.

"K-E double N-E-see spells Kennebec.

You can talk about the Boston or the St. John,
Or any other boat that you had decked on,

K-E double N-E-see is the line,
If you are on the roust-about
And want to pick your route
It's the Kennebec for mine."

Shadows gradually fell over those old days until that black curtain closed it from view forever. I rubbed elbows with Dan and all the old time roustabouts of Atlantic avenue. I helped them over many a crisis. They helped me many times. No body of men ever lived more faithfully, regardless of what their outside appearance might have served to make them seem, rough and without pride. They more than offset this by bigness of heart, faithfulness, and their good will toward all men. My ideas differed somewhat from theirs, so did my ideals, but I was a roust-about myself. I was one of Atlantic avenue regulars who lived with steamboats and loved it. If I could not look back to being an associate of these men, then much of the color would fade from my early steamboat life.

The Sullivan brothers emigrated to this country from Ireland by working their way on a cattle boat in the days of the one stack Cunarders. They had no more than cleared customs on arrival when they joined the regular Longshoremen's force at the old Hoosic tunnel docks in Charlestown. They first started their bar room at Foster's Wharf arch and only opened it evenings, putting in the daylight hours in the handles of trucks at the Hoosic Tunnel Docks until they were financially able to devote full time to their bar-room which, through the years, had become an institution on Atlantic avenue.

There was a back entrance to their bar on the Foster's Wharf side where the old gray helmeted Boston Police officers could sneak into the back room for a shot of "Green River" as a booster to shorten those lonely hours after the last steamboat had departed for the night, leaving Atlantic avenue in silence except for the thundering of the shuttle train overhead.

They would also drop in for a chat with Old Tom O'Keefe, the veteran night watchman at Foster's wharf. Here in the passenger office they could sit by the warm radiator and watch up through the Arch and see if the Police Chief might be coming to check on them during the hours of their beat.

This was all a part of the Old Atlantic avenue. If you wanted a cop in a hurry in those days you would always find one in Sullivan's, or one visiting Tom O'Keefe at Foster's wharf, or Dinnae O'Brien the watchman at India wharf.

These men were the honor guards of Atlantic avenue, the gateway to the steamboat thoroughfare of the world. These men all passed many times through this masterpiece in masonry, the arch at Foster's wharf, so did old Dan Doherty, Tom O'Keefe, Eddie Collins, Scully Mulligan, Thomas Meehan, and the rest of that long list of roustabouts. These men made Sullivan's Bar an institution on Boston's Atlantic avenue where there was as much coal dust on the floor from the bunkers of the Penobscot, as there was saw dust.

That part of Atlantic avenue that was these boys' environment is now buried under the overhead expressway of modern progress. Atlantic avenue is the foundation of this modern Marine Corps Recruiter, S/Sgt. Joseph W. Pratte announced Friday that Roger A. Williams, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Williams of 30 Prescott street, Rockland, will leave by train Monday for boot camp at Parris Island, South Carolina.

Williams, who has enlisted for three years, will take infantry training for four weeks at Camp Lejeune, N. C., after completing the 12 weeks of boot training.

Wheeler Explains Circumstances Of Refund Delays

Whitney L. Wheeler, district director of Internal Revenue for Maine, revealed today that in a survey of the Revenue Service operation for the past year, especially in the field of inquiry correspondence, Maine federal income taxpayers had anticipated their refund checks sooner than it was humanly possible to perform the necessary function before the refund could be certified for payment. He stated that beginning last year, and in increasing numbers this year, thousands of perfect income tax returns are forwarded to a Service Center where these returns are processed and refunds certified for payment. At this point he emphasized that a return improperly and inadequately prepared would delay a taxpayer's refund as such returns would have to be perfected in the Augusta Office before shipment to the Service Center for refund action.

Mr. Wheeler further stated that he and his entire staff regretted any inconvenience caused Maine taxpayers by not receiving their refunds when expected and assured them that everything humans and machines could do was being done to expedite them. He pointed out, however, that there are many factors beyond the control of his office which delay the prompt payment of refunds such as certain returns being selected for audit prior to refunding, unexplained exemptions claimed, illegibility, lack of signatures and other omissions.

In view of these explanations, Mr. Wheeler stated that he was sure the taxpayers affected would be patient, understanding and exercise greater care in the preparation of their returns to aid in minimizing the delay.

achievement and will be a monument to these colorful men. Nothing else will remain as one by one the wharves crumble where they lived, loved and toiled.

FARM AND GRANGE NEWS OF INTEREST IN KNOX AND LINCOLN COUNTIES

ERIC JOHNSON TO AGAIN HEAD MAINE BROILER FESTIVAL SET FOR JULY 11-12 AT BELFAST

Plans for Belfast's biggest summer attraction got underway Monday, January 20, as the 1958 Maine Broiler Festival Committee held an afternoon meeting at the First National Bank to begin mapping plans for the big event which will be held for the 10th consecutive year.

Selected as dates for the '58 show are Friday and Saturday, July 11 and 12. An educational program directed at poultrymen will again highlight the Friday events, while the World's Largest Outdoor Chicken Barbecue and colorful Maine Poultry Queen Coronation take top billing on Saturday.

Re-elected general chairman of the Festival Committee, for the second consecutive years, was Eric Johnson, of Belfast. Co-chairmen of the '58 show will be: Arthur Hoffman of Albion and Percy Freeman of Waterville.

Named to head special sub-committees were: Horace Bond, Bangor, publicity; Frank Reed, Orono, educational committee; Claude Clements, Belfast, entertainment; Frederick Baird, Bangor, tickets; Queen Contest: Donald Constable, Unity, pit and serving committee. Also, J. S. Holmes, Belfast, traffic; Norris Clements, Winterport, tent and table committee; Laurence Dow, Belfast, reservations and banquet; Raymond Smith, food trade committee; Jack Maloney, Lewiston, special features committee; Harry Wheldon, Orono, 4-H Club Contest; and Arthur Hoffman, Albion, rainy day committee.

THE GRANGE CORNER

Ocean View Grange

By June Watts

The meeting of January 20 saw Past Master Montford Hupper in the master's chair as Master George Fay was ill with the flu.

The third and fourth degrees were conferred on three candidates: Elizabeth Carter, Joyce Stanley and Mary Jane Myrick. Nancy Link was at the piano during degree work.

A "Country Store" will be held at the lecturer's hour at the next meeting. Members are asked to bring an article to be sold.

Clyson Coffin is ill at his home. Sister Mary Jones were reported as not so well.

Nancy Link is assisting Chairman Virginia Fay in the Home Economics program.

A donation is being mailed to the State Grange Home.

The literary program was omitted. The lecturer's march was held and won by Edward Ervine.

Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served in the dining hall, table decorations of Grange colors with the numerals three and four were used for the degrees worked.

Weymouth Grange

By Olga Burkett

The chicken supper served to the poultrymen of Knox County netted $34.86. Master Lawrence O'Dell thanked all who worked on the supper.

Weymouth Grange takes this opportunity to thank Gatekeeper Edward Graffam for all he has done for the benefit of the Grange. For the benefit of those who are not acquainted with Brother Graffam, he is past 80 years of age and has done all of the janitor work and snow shoveling for the past two years besides almost all of the dishwashing so that the ladies could go home earlier.

The third and fourth degrees are to be worked Monday evening, January 27.

Evelyn Davis was appointed chairman of the refreshment committee for January 28 when the Independent Egg Producers' Association meets at Weymouth.

First and second degrees were conferred upon Dorothy Watts and Winnifred Slader last Monday evening with Past Master Earle Maxey acting as initiating master. Malcolm Watts and Fernand Roy have been reinstated.

Gladys Keating resigned as lecturer and was appointed chairman of the Home and Community Welfare Committee.

Past Master Earle Maxey commended Sister Keating on the excellent work she did last year as chairman of the committee.

Extension Offers Farm Analysis Through Agent

If you are interested in doing a better job of managing your poultry or dairy farm, you will find it worthwhile to participate in the farm business analysis and summary activities carried on by the Maine Extension Service. In addition to an analysis of your farm business as group summary is prepared which provides you with an opportunity to compare your business with other similar businesses. Individual information is held in strict confidence.

Forms are available for you to complete, with or without the assistance of the county agent at your farm.

The summary will be returned personally by the agent and he will, if you request, use it to help you consider and solve business management problems.

Sturtevant And Hubbard Top Egg To Chick Contest

Sturtevant Farms of Halifax, Mass., and Hubbard Farms, Inc., of Walpole, N. H. took top honors among the entries in the egg-to-chick show at the 110th Boston Poultry Show at Mechanics Hall this week.

Edgar Spear county agricultural agent of Plymouth County Extension Service, Brockton, Mass., chairman of the Egg-to-Chick Show said that, "The contest was divided into two classes of production and meat type birds, with Sturtevant Farms placing first in the production class and Hubbard Farms, Inc., taking top honors in the meat division."

Other placings in the production class, according to Spear, "were second, Parmenter Reds, Inc., Franklin, Mass., third and fourth honors went to A. C. Lawton & Sons, Foxboro, Mass., and fifth place to Parmenter Reds, Inc., "Hubbard Farms, Inc., of Walpole, N. H., took top honors in the meat class," Spear said, "with Hall Bros. Hatchery of Wallingford, Conn., placing second."

Entries in the show were judged on egg quality, hatchability, and chick quality.

Judges for the contest were Prof. Luther Banta, University of Massachusetts, Robert Hawes, University of Massachusetts, and Prof. H. O. Stuart, University of Rhode Island.

Painter To Explain The Income Tax To Poultrymen's Assn.

The Knox County Poultry Improvement Association will hold a meeting of timely interest to all poultrymen on Tuesday, January 28, at 8 p. m. at the Weymouth Grange Hall in Thomaston.

The speaker will be Lloyd M. Painter of the Rockland office of the Internal Revenue Service. He will present information aimed at assisting the poultryman in the preparation of his income tax return. For most farmers these returns must be filed by February 15.

Refreshments will be served after the meeting. All farmers in the area are cordially invited to attend.

Salminen Wins Blue Ribbons At Lewiston Show

Richard Salminen, 4-H member of Amateur Farmers in West Rockport won a blue ribbon with eggs he entered in the 4-H Egg Show at the Lewiston Trade Show last week.

Richard had eggs entered in both the exhibition and commercial classes winning blue ribbons in both. Richard has been a 4-H member for six years in the poultry project. He also takes other projects and this year has garden and junior leadership.

Camden Grange Polio Benefit On This Evening

Darius D. Joy, Jr., chairman of the polio benefit being sponsored by the members of Megunticook Grange and the merchants and businessmen of Camden and neighboring towns announces that the stage is set and the players ready for the event today at the Megunticook Grange Hall.

This polio fund raising event consists of four major events: the public supper from 5 p. m. to 6:30 p. m.; the party starting at 7 p. m. and continuing until 10 p. m.; the auction starting at 10 p. m. and continuing until all prizes remaining from the party are sold.

Supper ticket chairman, Mrs. Lucia Hopkins, has reported that 150 tickets have been sold.

This year there is planned a low-bid auction between the supper hour and the starting of the party in the upper hall. During this time he will auction approximately 20 grab bags with items ranging from baby rattles to spasm salts and aspirin.

Following this, the purchasers will have an opportunity to carry out a swap or sell session with their neighbors.

Over 100 prizes have been donated for the party and auction. It will be a problem for the winners to choose their prizes from the valuable assortment.

Faith enables a man to close his eyes to his faults, and imagine his neighbors can't see them.

Haggett And Calderwood Herds Lead DHIA

Pictured from left to right are officers of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association: William Pearce of Hope, president; Leroy Brown, North Nobleboro, vice president; Herbert Spear, North Nobleboro, secretary-treasurer, and Eben Haggett of Damariscotta Mills, the retiring president.

The annual meeting of the Knox-Lincoln County Dairy Herd Improvement Association was held in North Nobleboro, Jan. 12. President Eben Haggett presided.

Officers elected for 1958 are:

William Pearce, Hope, president; Roy Brown, North Nobleboro, vice president; Herbert Spear, North Nobleboro, secretary-treasurer. Directors are: Otto Irvine, Warren; Willis Moody, Jr., Warren; and Frank Calderwood of Union.

Twenty nine herds are now on test in the county. Nineteen finished a year's work. High milk production was in the herd of Frank Calderwood and high butterfat production was in the herd of Eben Haggett.

Honor roll herds, and the production per cow for the year, were awarded seals and certificates.

Following are the Gold, Blue and Red Seal winners for the year in the Association. Following is the name of each dairyman, the number of pounds of milk is given and then the number of pounds of butterfat.

Roy Brown & Son, North Nobleboro, 9732, 361.

Wallace Spear & Son, North Nobleboro, 7244, 361.
Willis Moody, Jr., Warren, 9570, 358.
Arthur Hall, Waldoboro, 9742, 357.

12,000 pounds of milk or 450 pounds of butterfat and that, despite the increase, almost the same number of cows made the honor roll this year compared with last year; 119 cows from 17 of the 19 herds finishing were listed.

The four highest cows in 305 day production were a Schuyler Hawes cow with 18330 pounds of milk and 641 pounds of fat; a Round Top cow with 17360 pounds of milk and 772 pounds of fat; an Eben Haggett cow with 19310 pounds of milk and 756 pounds of fat; and a Frank Calderwood cow with 22230 pounds of milk and 818 pounds of fat.

During the year, the association produced 2,678 tons of milk, 106 tons of fat worth $271,255. To do this, the 19 herds used 874 tons of grain, 1,998 tons of silage, and 916 tons of hay.

The average production per cow was 10,195 pounds of milk and 402 pounds of fat. There was an average of 28 cows per herd.

Extension Dairyman, Norman Ness discussed the free brucellosis control program, the mastitis control program, and the centralized bookkeeping program.

Dr. Bruce Poulton of the Dairy and Livestock Department of the University of Maine discussed dairy cattle feeding.

Egg Panel Produces Lively Discussion

Officers of the Independent Egg Producers' Association gather around the rostrum for some preliminary planning at the Warren Grange Hall Thursday night. From left to right: Fred Hynd of Cushing, secretary; David White of Warren, treasurer; Carl Erickson of Warren, president; and Charles Hudson of West Rockport, vice president.

That the 100 members of the Independent Egg Producers Association are ready to fight for the right to remain independent businessmen was evidenced Thursday night at a meeting of the Association when the pros and cons of the formation of a bargaining group to sell eggs were discussed.

The six members of the panel, all of whom could be termed experts in their fields, included Herbert Alexander of Rockport, moderator; Frederic Hynd of Cushing; Charles Hudson of Rockport; Ralph Hunt of Lincolnville, all hatching or table egg producers and members of the Association. Joining with them were Gilbert Jaeger of Camden, Knox-Lincoln County Agent, and Frank Reed of Orono, Maine Extension poultry and egg marketing specialist.

The meeting attended by over 40 members and guests was held at the Warren Grange Hall. Refreshments were served by Grange members.

Illustrating his point with charts, Hynd pointed out that most of the power is now in the hands of the few Boston egg buyers. He thought this could largely be changed by forming a bargaining group.

Jaeger pointed out that one of the chief causes of integration in the broiler industry was the necessity for a constant supply of good quality birds needed to keep dressing plants in operation. He thought the highest possible quality in Maine eggs was needed to keep the State's egg producers in a good competitive position.

Hunt took a look at a possible gloomy side of the picture by pointing out the possibility that too much aggressiveness on the part of the producers might induce the egg buyers to seek their eggs elsewhere. He thought Maine's better producers did not need to pay into a bargaining group to get full returns for their eggs.

Hudson was of the opinion that going into a bargaining co-operative was no guarantee that it would work, but if there was a genuine need for such an organization, it would certainly go all right. The speaker drew on his experience as an officer in the formation of a bargaining group to sell eggs were discussed.

Grevis Payson, both of Union, for one year terms. Officers re-elected were: Carl Erickson, Warren, president; Charles Hudson, Rockport, vice president; Frederic Hynd, Cushing, secretary; David White, Warren, treasurer; directors for two years, Herbert Alexander, Rockport, and Irving Smith, Owls Head. Henry Teague, Warren, continues as a director for another year.

President Erickson reported that he had conferred with the representatives of the three principal egg buying firms by telephone during a recent trip to Boston and found them all receptive to the idea of a quality egg control group. He also talked with Henry Bradford of the USDA farm co-operative division and Mr. Bradford informed him that his department would be glad to aid the Association in the formation of a bargaining co-operative to handle the sale of quality eggs for its members.

February 15 is the deadline for the filing of farmers' income tax returns, so this subject will be the main topic of discussion at the next meeting of the Knox County Poultry Improvement Association at the Weymouth Grange Hall in Thomaston next Tuesday, January 28, at 8 p. m.

KNOX-LINCOLN FARMERS' CO-OPERATIVE Annual Meeting
WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29
7:30 P. M.
At U. C. F. Store in Rockland

Home Service by Eleanor Spear of Central Maine Power Co.

Have you ever baked a cake in your Sunbeam Frypan? It's easy, economical and fun. Your cakes will not brown on top but if you frost the cake, it won't make any difference.

In baking packaged yellow or white cake mixes directly in bottom of frypan, preheat with cover to 280 deg. until light goes out. Brush bottom and partially up sides with unsalted shortening. Sprinkle with flour, then blend shortening and flour with pastry brush so as to coat entire surface.

Add batter which has been mixed as directed on label. Cover, bake at 280 deg to 300 deg., depending on consistency of batter (thin batter at higher temperature) about 30 minutes or until cake springs back when touched with finger. Loosen around sides with a spatula. Let stand about two minutes, then turn on cake cooler rack—to do this, turn frypan upside down. Cakes may be cut in half and used as layers or cut in squares to be used as shortcake or cottage pudding or other dessert base.

Basic Two Egg Cake
Temp: 300 deg. Time: about 40 minutes. Serves 12 to 16.

Two and one-fourth cups sifted cake flour, 1 1/4 cups granulated sugar, 1 tsp. double-acting baking powder, 1 tsp. salt, 1/2 cup soft shortening, 3/4 cup milk, 1 1/2 tsp. vanilla extract or 1 tsp. grated orange or lemon rind, 1/4 cup milk, 2 medium eggs, unbeaten.

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into large mixer bowl. Add shortening and the 1/4 cup milk and flavoring. Beat on No. 3 speed (medium) for 2 minutes, scraping bowl. Start preheating covered frypan. Add the speaker. Mr. Painter will speak on this timely subject and will answer questions concerning the preparation of income tax returns as applied to the poultry business. Refreshments will be served.

batter may be used for upside down cakes, puddings, etc. Cake may be cut in half and used as layer cake.

Jesus loves me
...this I know

I still remember the happy words, and the easy tune. It was the first hymn I ever learned. More important, I remember the certainty with which I sang "This I know!" That was faith... My faith, firm... undoubting. Have I outgrown that faith? No! But I have grown out from it. The ever-widening circle of experience has been drawing me away from the Center of life. And when I heard little Janey singing her happy hymn just as I once sang it... I knew it was time to get back to the Real, the Unchanging. And I've found that the Church is the one place in all this world where a man's heart—free of dread, fear, uncertainty—can sing "THIS I KNOW!"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Rev. R. O. Johnston Heads Local Clergy

Rev. R. O. Johnston

On Jan. 23, a meeting was held in the Rockland Clergy Association, in the Tower Room of the of the Community Building by the local Rockland Clergy, in which Rev. R. O. Johnston was elected president. The group met for the purpose of establishing an active city fellowship that would have a voice in civic, and religious activities of the community. Rev. Charles R. Monteith acted as the temporary chairman of the group, and those in attendance were, Rev. Merle S. Conant, Rev. R. O. Johnston, Rev. Charles R. Monteith, Elder M. Neil Pitts, Rev. William J. Robbins, Elder Wendell H. Shepherd, Rev. Chester M. Staples. The organization will be known as the Rockland Clergy Association and will be made up of the local Rockland Clergy. Rev. Mr. Johnston will act as president of the association, and Elder Pitts was voted secretary and treasurer for the group.

The purpose for the association will be to provide better fellowship among the city clergy, and to provide a way in which the clergy of Rockland might act as a group concerning many matters of business that might concern all religious denominations, that the clergy might act as a group, and make decisions that will be representative of the viewpoints of the religious leaders of Rockland. This association will be holding meetings as often as the need arises, and will hold definitely scheduled meetings in April and October of each year. This association will be a means by which the clergy may be able to better express themselves as a group in an effort to better serve the community in the bond of fellowship and unity that will be strengthened as a result of the forming of the Rockland Clergy Association.

At the First Universalist Church on Union street the Sunday service of worship is held at 11 a. m. This week Rev. William J. Robbins will preach on the topic, "Hopes and Achievements". Special music will be provided by the choir under the direction of Esther Rogers and with Ruth Dalton as organist. The anthems are to be "The King of Love My Shepherd Is" by Shelley and "Seek Ye the Lord" by Roberts. Robert Stackpole will assist as tenor soloist. This service is broadcast over Station WRKD for the benefit of the sick and shut-ins of the community.

The Church School meets at the same hour under the leadership of Sam Collins. A child care service is provided in the nursery and kindergarten so that parents of young children may attend the morning service. Members of the AUW are requested to meet in the vestry for about 10 minutes after the morning worship.

Appointments for the week include the following: Monday, 3, Girl Scouts; 6:30 Boy Scouts; Tuesday afternoon, Chapin Class at the home of Mrs. Adelaide Lowe, 51 Masonic street; 7:15, choir rehearsal at 10 Claremont street, Thursday, 3, Brownie Scouts.

BURKETTVILLE

On Jan. 21 was a very special day at the home of Edward Pierpont as the day was his birthday with his family and close friends around. It was his day off from his duties as fireman at the Bangor State Hospital, where he has worked for the past 12 years. The afternoon and evening was spent in the traditional way with cards, refreshments of birthday cake, sandwiches, coffee and ice cream were served. He received many nice gifts.

Theta Rho Girls met Thursday night and appointed Bonnie Rackliffe as the chairman of a ways and means committee. She will be assisted by Susan Eaton, Eunice Winslow and Lenda Mae Jackson. The committee will comprise a list of suggestions and present them at the next regular meeting. It was decided by the group to vote on the advisability of changing the election of officers to run from January to January of the following year instead of the six months period now in the bylaws. It was also decided to invite a group of women from Waterville to attend the meeting when a member of the Youth Committee makes her official visit in order for them to observe the procedure in preparation for forming a Theta Rho group in the Waterville area.

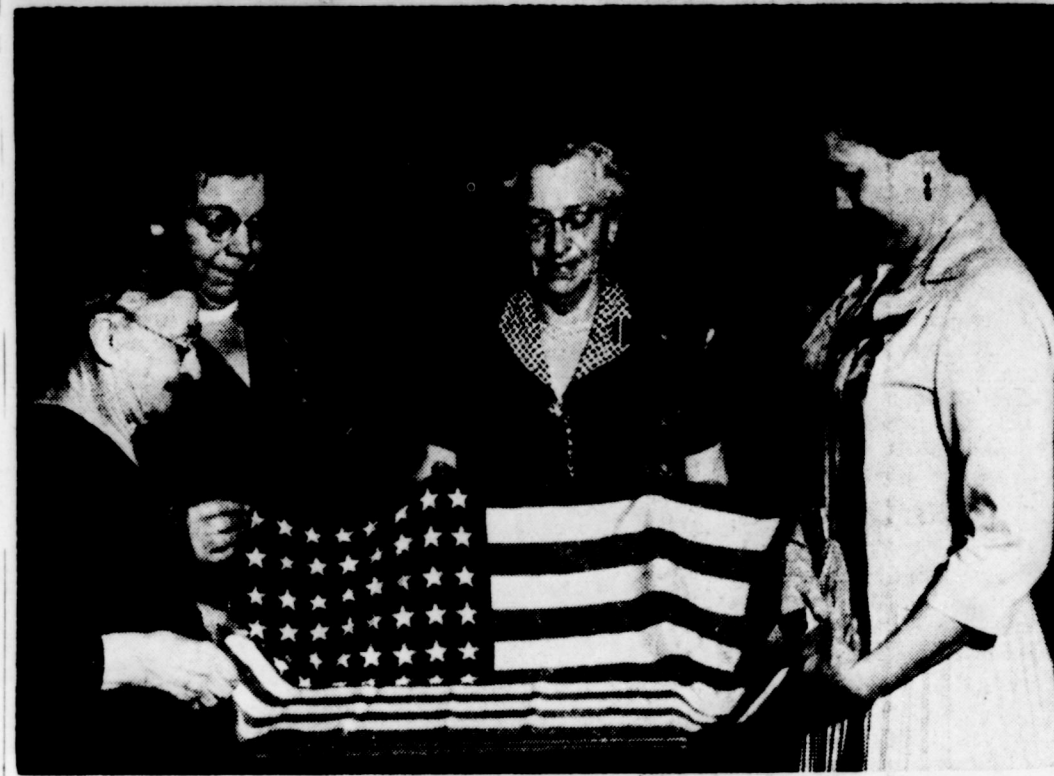

The National Security Committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club presented their program at the Farnsworth Building on Wednesday. Special guest speaker was Donald Rogers, Commercial representative of the New England Tel. and Tel. Co. of the Augusta-Waterville area, who gave a most informative talk of the building of the distant early warning system by the Bell System in cooperation with the department of defense. He complimented his discussion with a film depicting the progress made and developing the sights in the Arctic for the system. During a brief business meeting which preceded the program, first vice president, Miss Eva Rogers and second vice president, Mrs. Barbara Griffith, were appointed as directors of the 1958 Seafoods Festival. It was announced a workshop would be held at the Museum on Feb. 4 in connection with the Community Achievement project and a board meeting would be called for Feb. 7 at the home of Miss Ruth Emery, club president. Miss Annie Rogers of Warren, chairman of the National Security committee, served refreshments at the close of the meeting. The next regular scheduled meeting will be at the home of Miss Eva Rogers, Amesbury street.

The Glorious Day Of Resurrection

One of the most glorious messages in the Scriptures is the story of Christ's resurrection.

Shortly before Jesus was crucified He told his disciples that He would be resurrected. In the Gospel of John 2:19 we read "Jesus answered and said unto them, destroy this temple and in three days I will raise it up". Even though Christ had told the people this event would take place, many were extremely surprised to see Jesus in the flesh. One of the better accounts that can be used to support this statement can be found in the 24th chapter of Luke verses 36-39. "And as they thus spake, Jesus himself stood in the midst of them, and saith to them, peace be unto you. But they were terrified and affrighted, and supposed that they had seen a spirit. And he said unto them, why are ye troubled? And why do thoughts arise in your hearts? Behold my hands and my feet, that I am I myself; handle me, and see for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as ye see me have". This account gives evidence that the Saviour's body of flesh and bones, or his temple was raised up in three days as was foretold by Christ, himself. After the Son of God was resurrected, He spent 40 days teaching and preaching to the inhabitants of the Holy Land. After this 40 day period Christ ascended into Heaven with the same body as it tells us in Acts 1:9-11. "And when he had spoken these things while they beheld, He was taken up; and a cloud received him out of their sight. And while they looked steadfastly toward Heaven as he went up, behold two men stood by them in white apparel; which also said, Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into Heaven? this same Jesus which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into Heaven".

Christ gave us the pattern whereby all will be resurrected as it says in Acts 24:15, "And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and the unjust."

There would be very little room at the top if those who do reach it were half as big as they think they are.

Parental Support Over Protection Studied By YMW

Dr. John Chantiny, Extension family life specialist, discussed "Parental Support—Over Protection" at the January meeting of the Union YMW.

Dr. John brought out in his talk such leading questions as: What is Parental Support? What can be expected from a child at any given time? How can you know what your child is capable of? What about the question of limits? Why do some children need so much attention? Does fear play a large part in a child's behavior? Do parents need to study themselves?

Meetings are planned to continue this study workshop on Friday, February 28, Friday, March 28, and Friday, April 25.

Dr. Chantiny will be present at these meetings to carry on the discussions and help with problems.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burns and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark are leaders of this YMW group in Union. Others attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Durkee, Union; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie McAllister, Union; Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Hardie, Union; Mr. and Mrs. Allan Samuelson, Union; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smith, Union.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hawes, Union; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown, Union; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Webb, East Union; Mr. and Mrs. Weston Keene, Nobleboro.

Also, Mrs. Gertrude Hupper, Tenants Harbor, home economics chairmen of Knox-Lincoln Women in Extension; Miss Gene M. West, home demonstration agent, and Mrs. Loana S. Shibles, Knox-Lincoln 4-H Club Agent.

League Of Women Voters Is Needed

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—Home wasn't built in a day... neither was our city. In Rockland and in 1000 other communities across the nation, the League of Women Voters—a non-partisan organization—works constantly to strengthen the foundation of self-government, to build a better place in which to live.

Because of the deep conviction that self-government is not only worth talking about, but is worth doing something about, the League of Women Voters of Rockland strives to:

Supply objective information about candidates' qualifications and voting records.

Distribute simple basic facts on important issues.

Encourage more people to take responsibility in political parties.

Observe firsthand the way in which our city is run and share what we learn.

Inform our representatives locally, in the state capitals and in Washington, on action we would like to have them take in the public interest.

We cannot afford to have our citizens know little and care less about government. Our city needs a group whose concern is to help all citizens become informed and active partners in government. The League of Women Voters of Rockland is such a group, and at this time is having a finance drive. We hope you are able to

Union Parents Queried On Moral Hour In School

Parents of Union school children have recently received questionnaires from the Union Central School Committee on the question of whether or not they wish to have one hour a week devoted to moral education for their children.

Superintendent of Schools Harold A. Wiggin remarked Friday that the committee is just conforming with the state law that states that a local school committee may conduct a survey on whether the parents approve of having an hour set aside in school for moral instruction.

Clergymen from the town's churches have indicated that they will participate in such a program if the parents indicate their approval, Wiggin said.

It will be up to the school committee to decide on what percentage of approvals will constitute a favorable vote in establishing the one hour a week for moral education, the superintendent continued.

Preliminary planning called for the program to benefit only the pupils in grades one through eight.

The questionnaires were so worded the parents need only send them back to indicate their approval.

PROJECTS OF MAINE'S 4-H CLUBS VALUED AT HALF MILLION PLUS

Four 4-H club projects carried on by young people throughout the State of Maine in 1957 were valued at more than half a million dollars. The exact total was listed today as $553,977.27.

Miss Margaret F. Stevens, assistant state 4-H club leader, Maine Extension Service, said that 4-H dairy projects accounted for nearly half of the total, followed by beef, poultry, clothing, gardens, and potatoes.

Maine 4-H club members raised 1,335 dairy animals, some 148 beef animals and nearly 8,200 poultry. They made 13,484 articles in the clothing project, and renovated nearly 800 more. The young people raised more than 36 acres of gardens and nearly 78 acres of potatoes yielding more than 20,000 bushels.

In other project work, Maine 4-Hers raised nearly 58,000 pounds of snap beans, canned nearly 26,000 pints of food, raised nearly 17,000 chicks, and raised more than 166,500 pounds of sweet corn. They also made 624 articles in the 4-H electric project, prepared more than 61,000 foods and served nearly 74,000 meals, and froze nearly 28,000 packages of food.

In the home improvement project, 4-H members improved nearly 600 rooms and made more than 1,300 articles. In 4-H forestry projects, they cared for about 190 acres of woodland, set out more than 3,600 trees, cut 177 cords of wood and 700 Christmas trees, made 153 articles, and produced four gallons of maple syrup.

The state 4-H project summary for the past year showed that club members raised 557 sheep, did carpentry on 104 rooms, made nearly 4,500 articles in woodworking, and cared for 73 horses. Other projects completed by 4-Hers were with pigs, apple trees, bees, blueberries, cucumbers, goats, leathcraft, lobsters, oats, rabbits, raspberries, strawberries, and turkeys.

Robin Visits Bird Feeding Station In Appleton

Guests at the bird feeder at the home of Hugh McCarrison in Appleton last week, included a plump robin.

He evidently hadn't heard the predictions of an unusually rough, hard winter, or else he had a way of his own, of knowing that Maine and Florida would have much in common this season.

Success builds the name—and the name brings more success.
