In order to police the town, with the reduced number of men made necessary because of the reduced appropriation, it was necessary to ask every man who was employed to do a great amount of extra work, and give extra time, for which they received no remuneration, and to these men at this time I wish to express my thanks and appreciation for this gratis service. Were it not for this it would not have been possible to remain as close to the money appropriated as was done. I feel doubly grateful to those men who worked with me, because of the record that was established during the Summer season. There was not an accident recorded, through any fault that might be considered theirs, and this record was established in a year that presented greater problems than ever before because of the largest number of people, and the largest number of cars being handled in traffic than had ever been handled in previous years. We were complimented by the officials of the Boston and Maine R. R. for the careful and competent manner, the vast crowds of their excursionists were handled during the season, without an accident of any kind. This work was under the direct charge of Capt. L. M. Fowler. This compliment was supplemented by several others in letter form from tourists that visited us during the season and while there may have been instances of tired officers, whose patience had been tried on several occasions during a hard day, by unreasonable autoists, these instances were but few, when compared to the kindly things that were reported to me concerning men on traffic duty. I therefore feel, that our organization, small as it was, and hindered to quite an extent through unavoidable illness on the part of some of the men during the season, should be judged on the record it made, and the amount of work done, as shown by the following tabulations:—

During that period from Jan. 1st, 1929, to Dec. 31st, 1929, there were one hundred and sixty-one arrests made by the Department and disposed of in the local court. The arrests were made for the following causes:

LIFE GUARDS

During the season of 1929, the Life Guards were placed under the jurisdiction of the Police Department, and in addition to their work guarding the beach, they also acted in the capacity of Police to maintain order.

This organization was under the command of Capt. Lawrence Dow. He, with Messrs. Briggs, Paul, Burnham, Matthews and Craig, covered the beach from Ocean Park to beyond Walnut Street. The work of this Department was excellent as shown herewith:—

Complete rescues made by the corps.....	25
Assistance rendered to bathers in water.....	46
Covered accidents on the beach.....	1
Found lost children and brought to police station....	9
Persons acting in a disorderly manner ordered from Beach	37
Recovered dead body in water.....	1
Life lost by heart failure in water after rescue had been made	1

Largely through the vigilance of the Life Guards, there was no actual drowning at Old Orchard Beach during the season of 1929. Daily drills were conducted by Capt. Dow, and the organization kept to a high standard of efficiency.

A comparison covering the amount of work done by the Police Department during the regular Summer season, and the work done during the balance of the year, shows as follows:

Total Number of Calls made upon the Police De- partment for the year.....	1831
Calls answered and attended to Jan. 1st to July 1st	473

May I express my sincere thanks to every member of the Police Department and Life Guards for the favors extended the town, for which they received no pay for the extra time of employment, and for their hearty co-operation and willingness to cover every assignment, thereby creating the general record that was made by the department.

I also wish to extend especial thanks to Judge Wesley M. Mewer, for his cooperation and assistance at all times, and for the harmonious relationship between his Court and this department, I retain the most happy remembrance.

To the gentlemen to whom this report is rendered, let me express my heartiest appreciation for their aid and cooperation in carrying out the work of the department.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. O'BRIEN,

Chief of Police.

School Report

To the Board of Education and the Citizens of Old Orchard Beach:

There has recently appeared a newspaper review of progressive projects completed during the past year by which Old Orchard Beach is making forward strides in civic improvement. The achievements of the year have been gratifying. It is even more gratifying to note that Old Orchard Beach is not content to stop with completed improvements, but at all times is working out details of other improvements and envisioning still others for the more distant future.

We are happy to note that the newspaper review included among possible future improvements the building of a gymnasium or community center for the benefit of all local organizations. The value of such a center to the young people in and out of school was emphasized in our report last year. It was pointed out that "this is a proposal for the education,—in the broadest sense,—of the whole community. On the other hand,—and this is the reason for including it in a school report,—such a center would provide much needed facilities for school activities." The opportunity for health-giving physical activities, including athletics, for our students is limited. And yet this is the one element now missing which would provide for our boys and girls a well-rounded program of public education. It is hoped that during the coming year progress will be made on the realization of this important project.

But to return to the reason for starting with mention of that newspaper review. The forward-looking spirit and attitude with which the community is seeking civic improvement in general, is the same spirit with which those to whom you have given responsibility for the maintenance of the educational program should and do approach their duties. And they approach their problems with the knowledge that they represent the people of the community in educational matters. They must have, and are gratified to have, the thoughtful, constructive assistance of the community which they represent.

So reviewing past achievements, we note especially that by making a start in manual arts for boys we have rounded out a program of education which offers exploratory possibilities for boys and girls of various types of aptitudes.

As an immediate forward step we urge consideration of the possibility of increasing the usefulness of our school plant by extension of instruction through evening classes.

The two above paragraphs will be reviewed more in detail later in the report.

As a needed improvement,—not for immediate detailed study but envisioned for the future,—we point to the approaching need for a new high school building which will more adequately provide for an increasingly useful program. The increase of school population has been slow but continuous. The greatest has been, as in all other parts of the country, in the high school years. However, it is not the increase of the pupils so much as the increasing demand for a broader and more co-ordinated program for grades six through twelve which prompts us to speak of this future building program.

This proposal is an improvement closely allied with the proposed community center, public library, and other developments looking toward a complete community center, and may well be considered in conjunction with them. Our present high school building was erected in 1883. At that time the modern conception of a high school which served all the people (not merely those who are planning to go to college) was not thought of. Incidentally, like all other old buildings, the expense of its upkeep becomes greater as the years pass. Educationally, if we are to keep pace with the modern educational program followed by other communities of our size, the building becomes increasingly inadequate.

As stated previously, this is not proposed as an immediate need, but we would be remiss in our responsibilities if we did not point out that before many years the need will be urgent. It is more satisfactory and less expensive to plan at leisure than under the pressure of a crisis. Before the problem becomes pressing it should be thoughtfully considered and plans made at a leisurely,—but not neglectful, speed.

Achievements During the Year

As indicated earlier the most gratifying achievement during the past year has been the establishment of manual arts for boys of the intermediate and high school grades. The start was small and made at comparatively little expense to the community. We were fortunate to obtain an instructor who could make instructional projects of some of the work of providing the initial quarters and furniture and who was himself able and willing to do other work which was beyond the ability of pupils. Thus the cement floor was extended to include all the basement, the walls were sheathed with sheets of building board material and painted in good taste, and benches and wall cases have been made. Very satisfactory quarters have thus been provided. All of this was accomplished with little outside labor cost.

In manual arts, classes are provided for boys from grade six through high school. Owing to the individual nature of such instruction each boy can proceed according to his individual aptitude. In this work the boy sees more clearly the need for achievement in academic subjects,—such as ability to use arithmetic, read and understand directions clearly, etc., and thus gets greater incentive for better work in other classes. Through actual manipulation in mechanics he also gains some idea whether his future life interests are along that line. Finally he obtains, because of the general mechanics nature of the course as organized, ability to perform those jobs of home repair which every householder finds around the home place.

Incidentally, since many of the projects undertaken are for the use of the school, this work is indirectly inculcating a spirit of social, community usefulness in a very practical manner and impressing the pupil with the importance of careful treatment of school property.

In its relation to the general educational program, this course rounds out our vocational trial offerings. During the school course it is now possible for a boy or girl to determine, through actual participation in the field, whether he or she has aptitude along academic lines which will lead to college or normal school; whether, aptitude in business practice which indicates that to be the future line of development; or whether, aptitude toward mechanics or home-making which promises success and happiness along those lines.

Another development of importance has been the renewal and expansion of our dental program. Through cooperation of the Oral Hygiene and Public Instruction Committee of the Maine Dental Society and the personal assistance of Dr. Albert W. Foss, the teeth of all children in grades one through twelve have been examined and in cases where necessary and desired by parents, cleaned. The dental defects found were rather startling, but cooperation of parents, teachers and interested organizations in remedying these defects will materially alter this situation.

The physical examination of pupils by the school doctor and the nurse of the York County Public Health Association is well begun and will be complete and thorough. Some of the actual results of this health program are outlined in the accompanying report of the nurse.

It cannot be emphasized too often that the public school system is the community's best source for discovering health defects and by early correction it can lay the basis for an increasingly healthy community. Its efforts along this line should be given adequate financial and community support.

Athletics must necessarily be an important part of our physical education program,—always with an eye to the benefit of the participant and not to athletic achievement as an end in itself. In this field the opportunity has been furnished the high school boys through enrollment in the Boys' Club and the girls in the regular basketball team. The achievement and promise of both teams under somewhat discouraging circumstances have been pleasing.

Our musical program, under the inspiring influence of Mrs. Dolley, is being continually improved and perfected. The musical clubs have continued to stimulate the work in this field, enjoying, as during the preceding year, our affiliation with the State Federation of Musical Clubs.

The institution of the sub-primary grade for the youngest children has produced benefits far beyond our fondest hopes. Being handled in conjunction with the first grade,—a plan forced on us at first purely by lack of space and personnel,—proves to be a most happy combination. It makes possible the formation of social attitudes in the little folks which are of advantage when they themselves become members of the first grade. It also makes it more possible to adjust the entrance of a child into the work of the first grade in accord with abilities discovered in the sub-primary.

The general level of academic achievement we are happy to note is continually growing better throughout the system.

A Desirable Extension.

For the greater use of our facilities during the coming year, it seems worth while to consider the possibility of starting evening classes in our schools. These classes might include regular grade work in the intermediate and high school grades for those boys and girls who for various reasons have left the day schools and now see the need for further education. For such, these classes would be "the school of the second chance." With our new equipment and excellent instructors, classes might also include mechanical instruction and home economics. The instruction would be developed along whatever lines the demand warrants. Possible fields are wood-working, mechanical drawing, blue print reading, home mechanics, foods, clothing, and home nursing.

We are using our plants to the limit during the day. To use them more at night would mean greater return to the community. The additional cost is practically only the salaries for the instructors, and two-thirds of this cost would be met by a state financial grant for such purpose.

Along similar lines, summer classes in academic subjects may well be considered as another extension of the service of the public schools. Such classes might be held for three hours in the morning, five days each week for six weeks, and include those grades or subjects for which demand is found. In such classes, the pupils in our schools might, under a system of individual instruction, remedy weaknesses which had been discovered during the regular school year or prepare for more rapid promotion. Such a school would also offer a valuable service for summer residents whose children need special study to prepare for their work in the fall in their home schools. This would naturally increase the popularity of Old Orchard Beach as a summer home. Of course all attendance at such summer courses would be optional with the parents of the pupils. Communities which have started such classes have found that the demand is greater than the beginning facilities will meet.

Appreciation

In closing I wish to express my most sincere gratitude for the friendly and cooperative spirit shown by the entire teaching staff and the janitors.

I also wish to express my appreciation of the attitude of the Board of Education toward the many business problems. They have rendered careful and prudent management of your school funds as may be seen from the financial reports. The school plants have been kept in good condition. Equipment, such as typewriters, have been replaced to the best financial advantage of the town. The Board has always endeavored to apportion the available funds in a way which has given a maximum return for the money expended.

Finally I wish to extend my thanks to those citizens who individually and in organizations have shown thoughtful interest and given support to the school program throughout the year.

Respectfully submitted,
F. H. B. HEALD,
Superintendent of Schools.

To the Superintending School Committee:—

The year which has just past has been a most successful year in all respects. Our registration has continued to increase resulting in the largest enrollment in the history of the school. Our attendance has maintained an excellent average.

The number of cases of sickness has been comparatively small. This in some measure is due I believe to the excellent work of our County Nurse, Miss Ferguson. Health work still is, and I believe should be, a very important part of the school program. The health examinations which are given regularly under the direction of the county nurse together with dental inspection by a dental hygienist lend themselves to make healthier boys and girls. Healthy boys and girls are of first importance if a good school is to be maintained.

Our curriculum this year has been adapted to meet the needs of the existing student body. We have endeavored to offer courses that will furnish a satisfactory preparation for the particular individual with due consideration for the group as a whole.

An excellent start has been made on a course in manual training in conjunction with home and shop mechanics, under the efficient direction and supervision of Mr. Frank Roberts of Northeastern School of Engineering. A room for this purpose has been finished off in the basement of the elementary school building. It has been partly equipped with benches and tools. The boys are already working on individual projects. The urgent need is for more equipment and it is hoped that this will be forthcoming in the near future. The addition of this course has brought about a much better balanced curriculum.

The need for a new high school building with modern equipment becomes more apparent each year. The increase in registration has made a crowded condition which is a serious handicap to all of the school work. In some cases the recitation rooms are not large enough to hold the classes conveniently so that it is impossible to obtain the best results. Our laboratories and their equipment are far from modern. Education has changed so completely in the past few years that these handicaps stand out more plainly than ever. They offer a very serious problem to the members of the teaching staff. Recently a member from the State Department of Education, while inspecting the school work, commented very unfavorably on the condition of the building and equipment under which the secondary work is being carried on.

A report would hardly be complete without expressing my appreciation for the splendid spirit of loyalty and helpfulness which has existed among student body, faculty and officials.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANK H. JEWETT,

Principal.

Total of 355 inspections were made in 1929.

By inspection is meant that every pupil has had their eyes and ears tested according to the state regulation, the condition of the teeth, throat, skin, posture, and hair is observed and a note of the defects is sent home to the parents urging them to take the child to the family doctor, dentist, or oculist for treatment.

There were 164 corrections in health made during 1929. A health record is kept of every pupil from the time that they enter until they leave school, and it is from these records that we are able to detect defects and corrections.

There is still a great deal of work to be done in the schools; the most marked defects are the condition of the teeth and throats.

Five children were admitted to the diagnostic clinic held at Biddeford. None of these children were found to have tuberculosis. Twenty home calls were made to the parents of school children to give advice and instruction about diet and home sanitation.

There are 188 defects to be corrected during the coming year. There are 74 pupils who are apparently in perfect physical condition, and 132 pupils need medical attention.

Time spent in Old Orchard during 1929 was 123 hours or 15 days and 3 hours.

Hoping that this report will meet with your approval, I am,

Yours respectfully,
KATHARINE FERGUSON, R. N.,
York County Nurse.
