NEWSPAPER HISTORY
The Rockland Gazette was established in 1846. In 1874 the Courier was established, and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1880, and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1897.

Unless a tree has borne blossoms in spring you will vainly look for fruit on it in Autumn.—Hare.

Here is one of the pronouncements of the Democratic platform: "The credit of the State, which has been entirely exhausted by Republican extravagance and mismanagement, has been restored."

Let us consider that statement in the light of their own figures. In his inaugural address, Governor Plaisted stated that the amount due on State taxes, Dec. 31, 1910, was $1,771,649.68. The report of the State treasurer stated that the cash balance in the treasury, at the close of business, Dec. 31, 1910, was a little over $136,000. Thus we find that the Plaisted administration started off with more than $1,900,000, with which to pay existing claims and accounts.

Does that look as though the credit of the State of Maine had been exhausted before Mr. Plaisted became Governor? For a State whose annual appropriations are about $4,000,000 is not $1,900,000 a pretty good start on which to do business? And yet our readers will remember that Governor Plaisted publicly proclaimed such nonsensical statements as led people in other states to believe that the State of Maine was on the verge of bankruptcy. Every month State Auditor Stevens has repeated this clap-trap about financial conditions, always giving the people to understand that the State was bankrupt on Jan. 1, 1911, but that the bills are being paid in some occult manner of which only a few Democratic leaders have the key.

What are the facts? Here they are, and we invite State Auditor Stevens or any other juggler of figures and phrases for campaign material, to disprove them: The Plaisted administration started in the year of 1911 with $136,000 in cash and $1,771,649.68 in unpaid taxes. It had the State tax of 1911 amounting to $2,712,641.88. It had revenue from other sources of more than $2,000,000. The total is more than $6,620,000.

The net claims, accounts, and demands against the state accrued prior to and remaining unpaid on Jan. 1, 1911, were, as shown by the deficiency resolve passed by the Legislature, $320,783.30. This sum was included in the appropriation for the year 1911, the total of the appropriation being $4,566,499. From the total resources for 15 months, $6,620,291, deduct appropriation, $4,566,499 and there remains $2,053,792. With this large available surplus, it is not strange that the Democratic administration is on easy street.

Dr. Wiley's retirement from government service removes one of the most useful officials that the country has ever had. An implacable foe of fraud and deceit, he has for years stood between a more or less helpless public and the vested interests that have developed to a science the business of adulterating foods and drugs, thus in many ways threatening the public health. On every debatable question regarding the wholesomeness of foodstuffs, Dr. Wiley was consistently on the side of the people. It will be difficult to find a successor who will battle so earnestly for the public good. Dr. Wiley becomes contributing editor to the Good Housekeeping magazine, where he will continue to carry on the aggressive campaign against food abuses and kindred abuses. More power to his pen and to the periodical that engages him. The "plain people" need just such warfare carried on in their behalf.

TENANT'S HARBOR DAYS

Some Schoolmasters' Recollections of Old Ways of Teaching.

XCI.

"Uneasy lie the heads of all that rule. His most of all whose Kingdom is a school." Probably many of the readers of this article have read the "Hoosier Schoolmaster" and know of his trials and tribulations, but that personage "had nothing on" the schoolmaster who taught the "destrick" schools in the good old Pine Tree State 40 or 50 years ago. My friend Howard Owen of Augusta wrote me some time ago of his experience in going to school in the old schoolhouse (that was) on the banks of the Androscoggin river in Brunswick.

"It was situated by a grass-grown graveyard," he writes, "and out through the roof you could see the stars on spelling school nights. Most of the teachers were Bowdoin College students who came to practice upon us and earn a few dollars to help them through college. If we didn't like a teacher we just quietly organized and carried him out of the schoolroom and ducked his head in the snow.

That was deemed sufficient notice to the committee to send us a new teacher. And he was always sent, and no questions asked. It was a question of the survival of the fittest. If the schoolmaster had the muscle and fighting qualities to subdue the unruly ones, all well and good. He could teach the term out; if he had a fair amount of knowledge and could impart it to the scholars, so much the better. But the first qualification was that of discipline, without which all the knowledge in the universe would be of no avail.

Many of your older readers will remember how in their school days it was not uncommon to put out two or three teachers in one term of school. The school authorities knew full well who the trouble makers in the school were, but they were never expelled or brought to task for their misdoings. The master was hired to fight, and if he couldn't, why, he had to go.

While down home in the summer of 1910 I called on a former schoolmaster in Rockland, Dr. Eben Alden, who taught at Tenant's Harbor about 1875 or '76. We had a good long talk about the old school days. He told me that he taught one term at Herring Gut (now Port Clyde) before teaching at the Harbor.

"I was queer," he said, "how I came to take that school. My father was down at the Gut and the school agent was telling him what a hard time they had to get a teacher for the winter term of school. The boys had put out two or three teachers the winter before and they couldn't find a man who was capable of keeping the boys under subjection."

"I have a boy," said father, 'who will teach the school for you.' 'Send him along,' said the agent, and we will pay him his own price."

"It was queer," he said, "how I came to take that school. My father was down at the Gut and the school agent was telling him what a hard time they had to get a teacher for the winter term of school. The boys had put out two or three teachers the winter before and they couldn't find a man who was capable of keeping the boys under subjection."

"I don't know as I want to teach it," I said.

"Oh, I think you will," replied father; 'they tell me it is a hard school to teach—they put out two or three teachers last winter—but I

Chats on Books.

He that loveth a book will never want a faithful friend, a cheerful companion, an effective comforter.—Isaac Barrow.

It is announced that publication of Winston Churchill's new novel, "The Inside of the Cup," has been postponed until the spring of next year.

G. A. Birmingham, the Irish clergyman whose novels are beginning to be widely read by the discriminating, lives on the sea coast of Ireland, in the remote parish of Connacht, where civilization is still in the rough, and the types of fifty years ago remain untouched.

Rowland Thomas, the young Harvard graduate, whose Philippine story, "Fagan," won the Collier $5,000 short story contest several years ago, has sailed for the Orient and will spend the cherry blossom season in Japan. Mr. Thomas is now at work on another novel.

Just a year ago Jeffery Farnol leaped into the literary limelight with his first successful book, "The Broad Highway." On the anniversary of its publication his publishers announce that 130,000 copies have already been sold, and that it promises to be one of the popular novels of 1912.

Appropos of the successful dramatization of Louisa M. Alcott's "Little Women," it is stated that over 3,000,000 copies of Miss Alcott's books have been sold in the United States alone, and that the sale of "Little Women" throughout the English-speaking world exceeds 1,000,000.

Bernard Shaw has just finished a new dramatic sketch. The scene is laid in the time of Nero, and early Christians and gladiators, as well as Nero himself, are among the characters. As might have been anticipated, Mr. Shaw's knowledge of boxing and pugilism is turned to good account.

"Through the Postern Gate," a new novel by Florence L. Barclay, author of "The Rosary," will be published during the present month. This has been appearing serially in the "Ladies' Home Journal" with the title, "Under the Mulberry Tree." Of Mrs. Barclay's three previous books, it is said that over 700,000 copies have been sold in America.

As usual, pictures in color and fine illustrations are a distinctive feature of the April Century; and Timothy Cole's wood engraving of Sir Joshua Reynolds' portrait of "Lady Skipworth," owned by Henry C. Frick, is one of the finest of his series of engravings of "Masterpieces in American Galleries." The color frontispiece is a characteristically idyllic "decoration" by Maxfield Parrish.

"I was eighteen years old when my first story was published, and only twenty when my first novel appeared. I have therefore had more than twenty years of story-writing, and the first thing which occurs to me to say about it is that I don't think there can be another profession in the world which maintains its hold upon its disciples to such an extraordinary extent," says E. Phillips Oppenheim, the fertile English author, whose new story, "Peter Ruff and the Double-Door," was one of the first novels of 1912.

Charles Johnston, author of the just-published book "Why the World Laughs," comments upon the fact that American literature, which has discovered the child for its purposes, has not yet given a sister to its famous boy characters. "There are no little girls of the first magnitude in American literature. Perhaps the English Alice in Wonderland is the highwater mark among little girls." But Mr. Johnston finds her adventures and atmosphere very different from "the broad river bosom, the sweet-smelling woods, the echoing hills and the nights under the stars, where Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn play their parts."

In Victrix

Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.
In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud,
Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody but unbowed.
Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds, and shall find me, unafraid.
It matters not how straight the gate,
How charged with punishments the scroll,
I am the Master of my Fate,
I am the Captain of my Soul.

The Courier-Gazette

TWICE-A-WEEK.

CIRCULATION AFFIDAVIT

Personally appeared Neil S. Perry, who on oath declares that he is president in the office of the Rockland Publishing Co., and that of the issue of The Courier-Gazette of April 9, 1912, there was printed a total of 4,054 copies. Before me: J. W. CROCKER, Notary Public.

There were 242 more Roosevelt than Taft delegates at the Bangor convention and so Maine will send to the Republican national convention that meets in Chicago next June, twelve delegates favorable to the nomination of Col. Roosevelt. There is no feeling of bitterness growing out of the contest entertained by those who find themselves in the minority. The Republicans of Maine are in harmony upon one basic proposition, namely that they propose to elect a Republican Governor and Legislature next September, and in November choose electors who will be favorable to the nominee of the Chicago convention, be he Taft, Roosevelt, La Follette or some man as yet only incidentally mentioned. The great attendance of delegates, the largest in the party's history, the harmony upon all party measures and the enthusiasm and determined spirit that marked the convention are promises of victory that cannot be obscured.

The platform adopted by the Maine Republicans in convention rings true from beginning to end and we recommend all citizens to read it, that they may know where the party stands upon matters that are to be under discussion in the campaign just ahead. The paragraph having to do with the temperance laws is brief, clean-cut and conclusive:

"The people by majority vote have declared against the abrogation of the amendment of the constitution relating to prohibition. We accept the verdict of the people, and are emphatically opposed to all attempts to reopen this question in any form. We demand that the statutes be strictly and honestly enforced. Ours is a government of law. The law must be respected."

There is no equivocation in that. The Republican party meets the Democratic party squarely upon the issue and the voters of the State can declare themselves without uncertainty.

Mr. Wilson, the London secretary of the Dickens centenary committee, announces that the appeals for funds in aid of the five grandchildren of the great novelist is now closed, the grand total amounting to over $60,000. In England there was raised $47,000. The American contributions amounting to $13,000. The money obtained, Mr. Wilson says, is going to be invested by Lord Strathcona in Canadian securities. These will yield such a handsome rate of interest for the next five years that each of the five grandchildren will be assured of an income of $750. At the end of that time annuities will probably be bought which will bring the total annual amount available for each recipient to $850.

The output of our shipyards for the nine months ending March 31, 1911, 341 gross tons, is a pretty poor showing for any nation to make which aspires to a place in the maritime procession. Better days, however, are said to be ahead. Maine shipbuilders are receiving inquiries for construction prices, and those on the Delaware have a number of orders on hand. The completion of the Panama Canal ought to give a great impetus to the development of our merchant marine, but much depends upon the action of Congress which, by overstrict legislation, might cause the cancellation of orders for new steamships.

ROCKLAND THEATRE

A program rich in novelties with a liberal sprinkling of comedy is what is being offered for the week-end bill, and the Rockland people are thoroughly appreciating the exceptionally fine list of features that Manager Rosenberg has secured. The Demos, novel Roman ring experts, offer a silent act that ranks among the highest class, consisting of a young lady and a gentleman, who perform some of the most dare-devil stunts, which is highly appreciated by those who watch them closely. They are very graceful in all their variety of turns, and pleased everybody at yesterday's performance and will surely please all who will visit this theatre today and Saturday.

LeOra Venette, a charming young lady, presented a character change specialty impersonating some well known celebrities, such as Eva Tanguay, Eddie Foy and a number of others. Her act pleased from start to finish.

The motion picture program arranged for today and tomorrow will meet with the hearty approval of all lovers of good clean wholesome silent dramas, including the following features: "The Little Organist," tells of a courtesan of a young minister and a pretty girl visitor to the town who responded to his call for a volunteer organist; "A Southern Boy of '61," a great Civil War drama; "Two Old Pals," a remarkable animal comedy in which a huge elephant is the principal actor. A fine bill of Keith's feature vaudeville has been arranged for next week.

SOCIETY VAUDEVILLE

Following is the program for the Society Vaudeville entertainment at the Empire Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings:

Great Republican Gathering

Maine Sends Unbroken Roosevelt Delegation to National Convention—Delegates at Large Not Instructed—Enthusiasm and Harmony—Honors to Gov. Cobb.

By a vote of 739 to 497 the Republican state convention in Bangor Wednesday elected four delegates favorable to the nomination of Col. Roosevelt. They were not instructed, but are unmistakably in the ex-President's column. The Roosevelt victory was made even more complete by the election of delegates favorable to his candidacy, from the Second, Third and Fourth districts. The First District had previously elected delegates of the same persuasion, so that Roosevelt gets the entire Maine delegation—12 votes in all.

The Bangor convention was the most remarkable gathering of Republicans this state has witnessed since Gov. Cobb was nominated from the same platform. The rivalry was keen but the best of feeling prevailed and there was every evidence that the two factions will be found shoulder to shoulder fighting for the success of the state ticket in September, as well as for the Presidential ticket in November.

The delegates entitled to seats, 1302 were present. The convention lasted 5½ hours, closing a few minutes after 8 o'clock. Conducting the business under the provisions of the new primaries law was slow and often some confusion prevailed. It was not until 5.10 that the balloting for delegates in the state and district conventions began and not until 7.40 that it was concluded.

Secretary Henry H. Hastings of the State committee called the convention to order shortly after two o'clock. Rev. C. A. Moore of Bangor, offered prayer and so the convention was opened. The delegates to the Warren C. Philbrook of Waterville, destined to be chairman of the state committee, was made temporary chairman and the secretaries were announced to be Arthur G. Staples of Auburn, Frank B. Nichols of Bath, Harry M. Bigelow of Portland, W. H. Hennessey of Bangor, W. T. Titus of Lubec and Frank A. Winslow of Rockland.

Judge Philbrook's speech—a splendid keynote of Republican achievement—aroused the convention to a high pitch of enthusiasm and attention. He called attention to the gallant Kennebec leader whom the state is waiting to honor again at an early date. His references to Taft and Roosevelt—impartial references—aroused a demonstration the delegates will not soon forget.

The selection of candidates for electors of President and Vice President was first in order—one from each district and two at large. The districts selected Dr. John C. Stewart of York, Joseph W. Perkins of Wilton, William M. Ayer of Oakland and William E. Parsons of Foxcroft. There was considerable confusion attending the choice of electors-at-large. Gov. Cobb was nominated by one man, but declined to serve, and the choice finally centered upon Benjamin W. Blanchard of Bangor and Joseph Wyman of Milbridge.

Then came the election of four delegates at large to the Republican National convention, and the election of two delegates each by district conventions. The result was as follows: Morrill N. Drew, Portland; Aretas E. Stearns, Norway; Charles S. Hichborn, Augusta; Halbert P. Gardner, Bangor, delegates-at-large; Jesse M. Libby, Mechanic Falls; William B. Kendall, Bowdoinham, 2d District; Edward N. Merrill, Skowhegan, Harvey E. Merrill, Monmouth, 3d District; A. E. Irving, Presque Isle, Edward M. Lawrence, Lubec, 4th District.

Alternates were elected as follows: William A. Connellan, Portland, Arthur G. Staples, Lewiston, Charles L. Morang, Ellsworth, J. P. Briggs, Caribou, at large; Eugene E. Andrews, Norway, George E. Pastorius, New-Castle, 2d District; Reuben Snow of West Gardiner and L. C. Morse of Liberty, 3d District; D. C. French, Jonesport, L. B. Waldron, Dexter, 4th District.

In the Second District the vote was 180 to 104 for the Roosevelt ticket; in the Third District it was Roosevelt 157 to 95, and in the Fourth District it was 184 to 75.

The district committee named in the Second District was as follows: Fred W. Wright of Rockland, Edgar M. Briggs of Lewiston, Alton C. Wheeler of South Paris, Chester D. Hall of Nobleboro and W. F. Dunham of Richmond.

The platform adopted by the state convention will be published in our next issue.

Knox County was well in evidence at the convention, its quota of 51 delegates being filled. The delegates for the most part went to Bangor and returned by steamer. How they were divided at the last, after vacancies had been filled, upon the matter of Taft and Roosevelt is not known. The completed delegation not being polled but it probably would have split about even. In the organization of the convention W. W. Case was one of the vice presidents and A. S. Black of the committee on resolutions. Herbert L. Shepherd of Rockport was elected to the state committee, and the county committee, which the new law is elected by the state convention, was made up as follows:

H. M. Brown, Ivan L. Trueworthy, Rockland; H. L. Shepherd, Rockport; F. A. Washburn, Thomaston; T. E. Libby, Vinalhaven; S. V. Weaver, Warren; Albert J. Rawley, St. George; F. Ernest Holman, South Thomaston; J. A. Mitchell, Union; S. N. Simmons, Appleton; E. S. Vose, Cushing; Sidney Humes, Washington; F. C. Marden, North Haven; J. H. Ogier, Camden.

A great compliment was paid formally to Governor Cobb by a large body of delegates to the Second Congressional District, who after a conference waited upon him and desired him to become their candidate for congress. While duly sensible of the honor and the friendly spirit governing the request, Gov. Cobb was obliged to decline, for the same personal and business reasons that governed his announcement made some time ago that he should not enter the contest for senatorial honors. During the choice of electors the name of Gov. Cobb was put in nomination from the floor of the convention. Briefly speaking from his seat on the stage he stated that it would be impossible for him to accept any honor from the delegates—but it was easy evidence how high the Rockland man stood in their regard and on his taking his seat among other spectators upon the stage their appreciation was expressed in loud applause.

The candidacy of S. Thayer Kimball as Congressman for the Second Maine District received much favorable mention from delegates interested in the politics of this section. So far as could be ascertained no other candidate seems likely to contest in the primaries for the nomination and Mr. Kimball's strength is increasing daily.

Theodore Roosevelt defeated President Taft in the preferential primary in Illinois Tuesday by approximately 10,000 votes. Speaker Clark received a majority of over 140,000 over Gov. Wilson of New Jersey.

The Republican party of New York state at its convention Wednesday declared for the renomination of President Taft and adopted a resolution urging the state's delegation to the Chicago national convention to vote to that end.

Of the eight Vermont delegates to the Chicago convention two will go instructed for Taft and two for Roosevelt, while the four delegates at large chosen Wednesday are unpledged, although all four express a personal desire for President Taft's renomination. The convention endorsed the administration of President Taft and condemned some of Roosevelt's principles.

William M. Tripp of Wells, who was Senator Gardner's private secretary up to last Saturday, is no longer around the First District, with a view to seeking the Congressional nomination.

The Illinois primaries Tuesday declared overwhelmingly in favor of Roosevelt.

EMPIRE THEATRE

It is one of the best bills of vaudeville of the season that Manager Engley introduced to his patrons yesterday. The famous "Fossatti," eccentric accordionist, is a headliner of the extraordinary sort, and this visit of the famous performer will doubtless attract greater interest than the coming of any other artist which might be mentioned. Fossatti has won much fame in the vaudeville field as a musical artist of the highest rank and all who hear him will be loud in their praise. Deery and Carter in the comedy and singing skit yesterday made an impression on local playgoers which is bound to make them one of the most popular pair of vaudeville artists to visit our city this season. Their skit is full of good comedy which keeps everyone laughing from start to finish. Special mention should be given the four great feature pictures, "The Long Arm of the Law," a great Mexican story; "His Wife's Secret," a Biograph dramatic play that is a picture of the highest order, and two good comedy pictures, "Who Got the Reward" and "The Joke on the Joker." Remember three shows every Saturday night.

LIMEROCK VALLEY POMONA
Limerock Valley Pomona Grange met with Pleasant Valley Grange, April 6. The Grange was called to order with Worthy Master Brazier in the chair. The order of business was taken up, after which a fine program was enjoyed. A violin solo by Herbert Farnham and a vocal solo by Robert Adams were especially fine. Questions were discussed. A fine supper was served to all present, after which the degree was conferred on to candidates and one dismissed member. In the evening the local Grange presented a farce, a fire-drill and vocal and instrumental solos also a character song by two talented young ladies.

In spite of the weather all enjoyed a good time. The next meeting will be held at Wiley's Corner; date to be announced later.

Are you fond of your dog? If so prove your affection by having him licensed. The time limit is already up, but City Clerk Knowlton has decided to extend it until June 1st, after which he will issue warrants for the destruction of all unlicensed canines.

"Do it now," Mr. dog-owner.

Dr. Walter D. Hall and William E. Brennan were in this city yesterday in the interests of the large cold storage plant which is to be erected there this spring. As a matter of fact the power house—a building 31x75—is already completed, and ground has been broken for the cold storage building. The latter structure will be 45x65, four stories high, and will be constructed of wood, with cork insulation. It will be completed June 15, and will have a capacity of 6000 barrels of fish, being the most complete and modern cold storage plant on the Maine coast, it is claimed.

Charles E. Bicknell has the contract for building the storage plant and M. J. Paulson has the contract for furnishing the machinery. The corporation is also to do general fish and ice business. Looks like things would boom at Port Clyde this summer.

Landscape gardeners are re-sowing the public library lawn and otherwise putting it in condition for spring.

The store in the Frye building, formerly occupied by Duncan's market, has been leased by Parmenter, the shoemaker, who will remove to the location within a few weeks.

At the Y. M. C. A. meeting for boys Sunday at 3 o'clock short speeches will be made by the committee who have had charge of the meetings during the season, consisting of Carl Moran, William Healey, Richard Fuller, Albert Holbrook and Charles Ross. All boys in the city should be present.

Chairmen of the ward committees in the several political parties are requested to call at the city clerk's office at the common order, and to all who missed it was a lost opportunity which Rockland is not likely soon to afford again. From any standpoint of good taste, esthetic, ethical, academic or all-around "first of knowledge," Mrs. Duryea's performance was of appealing interest. The World's Peace Foundation is fortunate in having among its advocates a woman at once so good to look at and so vitally interesting to hear.

The lecture on the World's Peace Foundation, given before the Methuen Club by Mrs. Annie Sturgis Duryea, was a discourse quite out of the common order, and to all who missed it was a lost opportunity which Rockland is not likely soon to afford again. From any standpoint of good taste, esthetic, ethical, academic or all-around "first of knowledge," Mrs. Duryea's performance was of appealing interest. The World's Peace Foundation is fortunate in having among its advocates a woman at once so good to look at and so vitally interesting to hear.

Fifty front row ringside tickets will be on sale at Call's drug store Monday morning, at 75 cents each, for the Lannigan-Handy bout. These are the only seats checked in the hall. All others 50 cents.

The Easter concert at the Littlefield Memorial church Sunday evening was greatly enjoyed by the large congregation present. The church was prettily decorated with spruce boughs, pussy willows, lilies and potted plants. The children all did justice to their parts and deserved much praise as does also the committee in charge.

A letter from Lewis H. Johnson of Bloomfield, N. J.—son of M. A. Johnson of this city—contains the following interesting information: "I have within the last few days been very interested looking over the specifications for the common battery telephone switchboard for Rockland, my interest having been whetted by the discussion in The Courier-Gazette. I had the pleasure of approving the circuits and equipment for the Western Electric Company and the engineering work is nearly completed now. Yours for a bigger, better, busier Rockland."

The spring schedule of the Eastern Steamship Co. went into effect this week. The Boston boats are now making four trips a week, leaving this port for Boston at 6 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday. Arriving from Boston the boats will connect with steamers for New York (via Stonington and other landings) and Bluehill (via Dark Harbor and Reach Landings). The Tuesday and Friday boats for Bar Harbor and Bluehill make all landings going east, but returning stop only at Stonington, North Haven, North Deer Isle and Sargentville. The sailing time for Portland is 5.15 on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

The Moose Minstrels gave their third local performance at the Empire Theatre Wednesday night, and it was thought by many to excel the previous entertainments. A number of new jokes were introduced and well known local personages were thumped—not too roughly, however. The witrep which appeared in our Tuesday issue was incomplete in several respects. It failed to give credit to two members of the cast whose solos were a feature of each performance. One was William Savage, whose fine tenor was not only heard in solos but greatly strengthened the chorus. The other was Miss Althea Thompson, the diminutive ballad singer, who apparently has a future in vaudeville if her family chooses to permit it. Francis Maguire's solos were a source of great pleasure to all who have heard him. Mr. Maguire sings professionally in Boston and has delighted many large audiences. The Moose Minstrels played to an enthusiastic audience in Vinalhaven Thursday night.

Entertainment seekers are talking about little else these days than the society vaudeville bill which is to be presented at the Empire Tuesday and Wednesday nights. It is already well known who the principals are to be, but such an excellent array of artists will stand repetition—Clarence A. Pendleton, Mrs. Philip Howard, Mrs. M. R. Pillsbury, Mrs. Agnes Shaw Galpin, Joseph Emery, George F. Dickinson and Miss Gladys Jones. The E. B. Mandolin Club, comprising Miss Lena Thorndike, Miss Mabel Lamb, the Misses Hix, Miss Ethel Clifton and Miss Beulah Lawry; the Apollo Club, comprising Miss Marion Perry, Miss Beatrice Henderson, Miss Martha Robinson, Miss Helen Thompson, Miss Jessie Hall and Miss Doris Crockett, will furnish popular instrumental music. The ghost chorus, which will be heard in connection with some of the solos will comprise Miss Dorothy Bird, Miss Madeline Brown, Mrs. Madeline Lawrence, Miss Katherine Spear, Miss Blanche Henshaw and Miss Kathleen Ingraham. Tickets are on sale at Maine Music Store and Miss Barnard's millinery store, or may be obtained from members of the committee. The proceeds are for the benefit of the Universalist church.

This is another of those 10-page issues and additional Talk of the Town and other good matter appears on the inserted pages seven and eight.

Tax Collector H. M. Brown was back at his desk Thursday, after an illness of about two weeks. Mr. Brown has always enjoyed remarkably rugged health, and his first sick vacation was not at all to his liking, especially when it compelled him to miss the Bangor convention to which he was a delegate.

Saturday at Whitney's 17 Sweet California Oranges for 25 cents. Fresh Assorted Chocolates 20 cents per pound, and 3 Florida Grape-Fruit for 25 cents.

Tulip shoots are showing up in the local flower-beds—but they're getting a pretty cool reception.

The public library lot is the first to receive spring rolling and general clean-up this week. A good example to follow.

Dr. W. B. Sherman was sent to Lincolnville by the Camden Board of Health recently to inspect a horse suspected of being diseased. He found no trace of glanders.

The regular meeting of the Baptist Men's League will take place next Wednesday evening, and will be followed at 8 o'clock by a lecture on "Wordsworth Country," delivered by Prof. Mitchell of Bowdoin. The lecture will be illustrated by 85 lantern slides. Members of the other men's leagues in the city are invited, together with their ladies.

Deputy Warden True C. Hayford was in the city yesterday on his return from Belfast, where he attended the opening of the new opera house. With the exception of the Jefferson in Portland it is said to be the finest in the state, and our neighboring city has every reason to congratulate itself. The opera house was dedicated with a home talent minstrel show, about which Mr. Hayford is very enthusiastic. One of the end men, by the way, was a former Rockland boy, Elton B. Gilchrist.

ALBERT W. CUNNINGHAM

Albert W. Cunningham, who had been confined to his home the past five or six years, as the result of paralysis, died Wednesday at the age of 63 years. Deceased was a native of Swanville and had been a resident of this city since 1885, when he came here and engaged in the grocery business with A. I. Mather as partner. Subsequently he engaged in the florist business. For some years prior to the time when he was stricken with paralysis he had employment as janitor of the Limerock National Bank. Mr. Cunningham's genial nature won him many friends, who manifested their sympathy in various ways during his long period of invalidism.

Mr. Cunningham is survived by one brother, Edward R. Cunningham of Washington, D. C.; and two sisters, Mrs. A. C. Mather and Mrs. G. W. Berry. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this Friday afternoon from the residence of G. W. Berry on Pleasant street. The remains will be placed in the receiving tomb and later taken to Belfast for interment.

TAFT INSISTS ON AID TO FARMERS

Says Department of Agriculture Work Must Go On.

LABORS FOR CONSERVATION.

Far-reaching Legislation Administered by Scientists of Rank Brings Good Results to Tillers of Soil—Food and Drugs Act Upheld to the Letter.

In his inaugural address President Taft called attention to the deficit then existing in the revenues and the consequent necessity for rigid economy in expenditures. However, the president singled out the department of agriculture as an exception. He said, to quote his exact words, "In the department of agriculture the use of scientific experiments on a large scale, and the spread of information derived from them for the improvement of general agriculture must go on."

This view of the president has steadily maintained, and repeatedly has urged appropriations for the work of the department.

In his comprehensive message on conservation President Taft said, "The future that transcends all others, including woods, waters, minerals, is the soil of the country, and that all means at the government's disposal should be used to conserve the soils, adding, 'a work of the utmost importance to inform and instruct the public on this chief branch of the conservation of our resources is being carried on successfully in the department of agriculture.'"

Reports made recently to Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture by the heads of his bureaus justify this solicitude on the part of the president for the department. In calling for these reports the secretary asked that they be brief and that they mention notable achievements of the last five years only, inasmuch as that period is really the period of fruition in the department, the period during which, owing to the broad foundations previously laid by the training and grouping of many corps of scientific men, by securing far-reaching legislation, by gathering together masses of statistics and other information, by providing scientific and other equipment, it has been possible to produce most marvelous results for the common good of the people.

Taft for Conservation.

In his conservation message President Taft emphasized the importance of the maintenance of the forests and urged their scientific treatment "so that they shall be made to yield a large return in timber without really reducing the supply," and in other messages he pointed out the necessity of reforestation. In accordance with these views much available work has been done in protecting the national forests and by researches in the laboratory of the department at Madison, Wis., and in the past five years the work of reforestation burned over areas has proceeded at the rate of 15,000 to 30,000 acres a year. The department takes justifiable pride in its forest work, considering the administration of 100,000,000 acres of land protected and managed for the public benefit a great achievement.

Since Jan. 1, 1907, when the food and drugs act went into effect, more has been done to provide a good, clean food supply than in all the preceding life of the nation. A wonderful change has also been effected in the character of the drugs on sale. The department has a trained force of inspectors and chemists doing excellent work in all parts of the country in behalf of pure foods and pure drugs. This salutary law, however, needs amendment, as the supreme court held in May, 1911, that its provisions, to quote President Taft's words in his vigorous message to congress a month later, "do not cover the knowingly false labeling of nostrums as to curative effect."

The president added: "An evil which menaces the general health of the people strikes at the life of the nation. In my opinion the sale of dangerously adulterated drugs * * * constitutes such an evil and warrants me in calling the matter to the attention of the congress."

Work of Soil Mapping.

Of importance to the farmer has been the work carried on in the past five years of soil mapping and classification, so that now the area included is 407,000 square miles, or nearly 41,000,000 acres. The value of this work is incalculable.

Disseminating the valuable information acquired by the department has proved a wonderful work. Practically 200,000,000 publications have been distributed since Secretary Wilson assumed control of the department, and more than half (103,598,100) of that number have been distributed within the past five years.

Other work accomplished by the department includes a comprehensive system of weather warnings and forecasts, the most inspection service in which 2,500 experts are employed, who see that every pound of meat sent interstate is fit for human food, protection of live stock, the checking of rodent pests, the destruction of noxious insects, the conservation of water supplies, the building and care of public roads and the policy for better farmed houses, so that every dollar expended in the prosecution of this work in its numerous phases has brought back a hundred fold to the people.

TAFT MAKES GOOD LABOR PLEDGES

Administration's Record Squares With Its Promises.

MANY NEW LAWS ENACTED.

Postal Savings Banks, Workmen's Compensation and Employers' Liability Laws Passed—Eight Hour Law Upheld—Labor Recognized on Commissions.

From the day three years ago when it placed its interests in the keeping of William Howard Taft to this hour labor has critically scanned his every act, and with discriminating mind it is judging him as one who, without clamor or demonstration, has kept the faith.

On Sept. 9, 1908, Theodore Roosevelt, then president of the United States, wrote a letter to Conrad Kohrs on the issues of the campaign and, addressing himself to the laboring men, said:

"If there is one body of men more than another whose support I feel I have a right to challenge on behalf of Secretary Taft it is the body of wage-workers of the country. A stancher friend, a fairer and truer representative they cannot find within the borders of the United States. He will do everything in his power for them except to do that which is wrong. He will do wrong for no man and therefore can be trusted by all men."

Mr. Taft Labor's Friend.

The workingmen of the country judged Mr. Taft in 1908 by a record of twenty-seven years as a statesman, administrator of national affairs and presidential adviser, and they helped to give him the magnificent majority which put him in the White House.

During the three years he has been president his excellent record has been maintained so splendidly that the laboring men have been confirmed in the belief that they never had a better friend in the White House.

The establishment of the postal savings banks, which was recommended by President Taft, was one of the things that organized labor favored. The $16,000,000 now on deposit in these depositories represents the savings of the wage earners.

Taft's Personal Interest.

President Taft approved a law on May 30, 1908, to compensate workmen for injuries received while in the employ of the United States. After the passage of this act a number of workmen in the employ of the federal government were killed, and their families, not being familiar with the provisions of the law, failed to file affidavits within the specified time. The secretary of commerce and labor had no power to set aside the provision of the law and was therefore obliged to disapprove the claims.

The matter was taken up by the president, and he satisfied himself that justice was not being done to the families of the men who had been killed. He sent a special message to congress recommending that a general act be passed allowing all such claimants compensation if their claims were otherwise meritorious. This was an instance that proved the president's labor favoring and anxious to aid the workingmen in any way that he could.

An employers' liability act approved June 11, 1906, was on January 8, 1908, held to be unconstitutional. Another of this sort was passed on April 22, 1908, which as yet has not been tested in the courts. Through the efforts of the president a commission was appointed to make an investigation of the subject of "employers' liability and workmen's compensation."

Labor Men Appointed.

The report of the commission, the evidence taken before it and the draft of the bill prepared as a result of the findings of said commission have been transmitted to congress, accompanied by a special message by President Taft, in which he recommended the passage of the proposed measure. In their deliberations the members of the commission had the benefit of frequent consultations with the president. It is believed the act will stand the test of constitutionality.

In order that the commission might have the benefit of the experience of a practical man President Taft appointed as one of its members Daniel L. Carse, the editor of the Railroad Trainmen's Journal, the official organ of the railroad trainmen. Mr. Carse has devoted the best years of his useful life to the cause of labor. The president also appointed experienced labor men as inspectors under the locomotive boiler inspection law. They were John F. Ensign of Colorado and rather think you will be able to manage them all right."

"Well, then my fighting blood was up, so I decided to try it. I rode down from Thomaston to the Gut with Eck, Watts, the stage driver, and I found out what the trouble was in the school. The boys in the village went to sea or fishing in the summer and attended school in the winter. They were a husky lot, tough and rugged, used to fighting and able to make it very unpleasant for the schoolmaster. They usually attended the winter term of school as long as the law would allow them to do so, that is, until they had attained the age of 21. I wanted the superintendent of schools to examine me and give me a certificate to teach, but he told me to go ahead and teach for a week and then come to him."

"I soon found out that there was work ahead for me. I hadn't been there but a day or two and I saw one of the larger boys was not studying, so I said to him, 'Fred, take your book and go to studying.' Fred laughed. I repeated the command, and he grinned again. I took him by the seat, and as I reached for his coat collar to pull him out of it, he stood up and struck me a blow on the shoulder that nearly knocked me down. Then I was mad. I had a ruler in my hand and I struck him a blow across the back of the neck that dazed him. Then I yanked him out of his seat and out into the floor and thrashed him well. Then I sent him home and he was not able to come to school for a fortnight."

"A few nights afterwards I was at the postoffice and Fred's father took me to task for licking his boy. I said to him, 'Yes, I did lick him, and if you say any more to me I'll serve you the same as I did the boy.' That ended that argument. I found out that an older brother was expected home from sea soon and was going to make it hot for me. I was on the lookout for him. The first day he came to school we had some words. I didn't wait for him to hit me, but I hit him one on the point of the jaw and that ended that fight."

"I had to fight my way all during that term of four months and when it ended I was as thin as a rail. When I took my $30 to deacon Robert Long, the town treasurer, he said, 'Seems to me that $30 a month is a good deal of money for teaching that school.' I replied, 'Well, sir, you wouldn't teach that school for $30 a week, and I wouldn't teach it for $30 a minute.' I certainly earned my money that winter," continued the doctor.

Schoolmasters of those days were "up against" a stiff proposition. Intellectual and pugilistic qualities were expected to be combined in one individual.

"On my trip I stopped at the Bay View House in Camden. While conversing with mine host Allen I found that he was also a pedagogue in his younger days."

"I was a husky youth," he said, "very nearly as big as I am now. (he must weigh in at about 240 pounds), and I enjoyed a good scrap. My home was at Hope and I had my share of fighting at school. When I heard that a teacher for the winter term at Fitchburg applied for the job and got it, I had heard that it was a hard school to teach, but I was looking for trouble as well as the scholars, so that didn't worry me any back on this long trip in coming. The first week I discovered one of the larger boys in some mischief and ordered him to come out into the yard. I saw the boy's father coming up the road; I said to myself, 'Now you are in for it.' When he knocked I went to the door and said to him, 'How do you do, what can I do for you?' He replied, 'You gave my boy an awful licking the other day.' 'Yes, I did, and he deserved it.' 'Well, if he don't behave himself after this, I'll kill him,' said the father. 'I felt better after that. After a few fights I got the boys straightened out and we had a very good school—and we had discipline. The last week of school the boys came to me and the spokesman said, 'Now, Mr. Allen, we want to make you a present before you leave; what will it be?' 'Well, boys, I replied, 'you know I came from the country. It's a long way from salt water and clams are scarce, so if you will dig me a few clams to take home with me, I'll be greatly obliged.'"

"They said they would do so. I had my own horse and pump, so when I got ready to start they put seven bushels of clams into the pump for me to carry home. The citizens of Hope enjoyed a feast of clams for some little time after. Those were the happy days—but not for the schoolmaster."

"Supreme he sits; before the awful form That bends his brows the boldest eye goes down; Some tingling mortals recall the fear, But to forgive him, God forgive us all."

Boze.

Safe Treatment for Headache.

The rational treatment for headache is to get at the cause, if possible, and remove it. Headache is only a symptom of trouble somewhere in the system, and dosing with tablets or powders containing acetanilid or other coal-tar derivatives which stop the pain temporarily but weaken the heart, is at once unsafe and unwise. The headache may come from your eyes, then a good oculist can help you at once with proper eyeglasses; but if it comes with furred tongue, loss of appetite, nausea, and constipation, it is usually the result of disordered digestion, and a torpid liver, and one or two doses of L. F. Atwood's Medicine will speedily help you by carrying off impurities and restoring the clogged digestive organs to their normal activity. In using this reliable remedy, you take no chances of weakening the heart's action. It has a record of sixty years as a safe headache remedy. The "L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.

Are Microbes in Your Scalp?

It Has Been Proved That Microbes Cause Baldness.

Professor Unna of Hamburg, Germany, and Dr. Sabouraud, the leading French dermatologist, discovered that a microbe causes baldness. Their theory has time and again been amply verified through research experiments carried on under the observation of eminent scientists. This microbe lodges in the Sebaceous glands, the natural hair oil, and when permitted to flourish it destroys the hair follicles and in time the pores entirely close, and the scalp gradually becomes a shiny appearance. When we back up this statement with our own personal guarantee that this remedy called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will be supplied free of all cost to the user if it fails to do as we state.

It will frequently help to restore gray and faded hair to its original color, providing loss of color has been caused by disease; yet it is in no sense a dye. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic accomplishes these results by aiding in making every hair root, follicle, and pigment gland strong and effective, and by stimulating a natural flow of coloring pigment throughout the hair cells.

We exact no obligations or promises—we simply ask you to give Rexall "93" Hair Tonic a thorough trial and if not satisfied tell us and we will refund the money you paid us for it. Two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain it in Rockland only at our store, The Rexall Store, P. H. Call, 364 Main street, Rockland.

TAFT'S RECORD AGAINST TRUSTS
Sherman Law Enforced Without Fear or Favor.
EXCELS HIS PREDECESSORS.
Both in Civil and Criminal Prosecution Taft Administration Breaks All Records—Legal Accomplishments of Five Presidents Compared.

TAFT'S ANTI-TRUST RECORD.

Under the last five administrations, prosecutions under the Sherman anti-trust law have been brought as follows:

	Crim. suits.	Civil suits.	Total.
Under Harrison (three years).....	4	3	7
Under Cleveland (four years).....	5	2	7
Under McKinley (four and one-half years).....	18	25	44*
Under Roosevelt (seven and one-half years).....	22	40	62

*One property seizure.

The ratio of prosecutions, allowing for length of time in office, of the Taft administration as compared with the records of its four immediate predecessors is approximately as follows:

Taft over Harrison.....	9 to 1
Taft over Cleveland.....	12 to 1
Taft over McKinley.....	30 to 1
Taft over Roosevelt.....	4 to 1

President Taft's administration has broken all records for prosecutions brought and won under the Sherman anti-trust law. Without fear or favor it has brought to the bar of justice corporations and persons engaging in illegal combinations in restraint of trade, the ultimate purpose of each combination being to create a monopoly and to raise the prices on its products. In two years and eleven months of his administration President Taft has caused to be brought four more civil suits and fifteen more criminal prosecutions than Mr. Roosevelt brought in the seven and one-half years of his administration.

Until Mr. Taft became the president the administration of Mr. Roosevelt held the record in both particulars. Thus has President Taft, who was Mr. Roosevelt's right arm during his last administration, kept his pledge to the American people to uphold and maintain the policies of his predecessor in punishing the criminals and undesirable element in the big business of the country.

In the Republican national platform of 1908 reference was made to the prosecution of evil trusts and monopolies as one of the great accomplishments of the Roosevelt administration, and the platform declared that the Sherman anti-trust law had been a wholesome instrument for good in the hands of a wise and fearless executive. In his speech of acceptance Mr. Taft pledged himself to the enforcement of this law and has kept his promise.

Problems Confronting Taft.

Stripped of controversy as to the exact meaning of certain language of the Sherman anti-trust act, the questions that had to be determined by those in administrative authority and those who judicially determine their acts were, first, how effective the law was to reach the great aggregations of formerly competitive producers and dealers, individual and corporate, who through intercorporate stockholding mergers, consolidations and otherwise, had acquired so great a control over a particular line of industry as to enable them to dominate it and to exclude or admit competition as they might choose upon their own terms.

Secondly, to determine whether the construction of the law was correct which had been given to it by some of the judges of the circuit court in New York in the tobacco case and in the opinions of some of the justices of the supreme court in other cases to the degree or admit competition as they might choose upon their own terms.

In the three years of the Taft administration all of the sixteen cases left pending by the previous administration have been disposed of except two, which have been argued and submitted to the supreme court of the United States. Of the remaining cases the standard Oil case was argued early during the present administration and, after an appeal, decided entirely in favor of the government. The same was also true of the tobacco cases, with the ultimate result of the disintegration of that big trust into four separate and distinct corporations. This, it is believed, will effectively prevent a continuance of the monopolistic conditions complained of.

Taft Anti-trust Record.

During the Taft administration up to February, 1912, twenty-two civil suits have been brought and forty criminal indictments found under the Sherman law, making in all sixty-two proceedings. As a result there were fifteen indictments, and eleven of these involved eighty or more defendants. Eight out of twelve defendants were convicted on one indictment after trial by jury and their conviction confirmed by the court of appeals, and thirteen criminal prosecutions are pending.

A brief review of the cases brought under the anti-trust law during the administration demonstrates clearly its value to the American people in their protection of that equality of opportunity which is declared by the platform of the Republican party to be the right of every citizen.

Reference to a few of the anti-trust cases brought by the Taft administration gives an excellent idea of the hardships some of these illegal combinations entail upon consumers. In the prosecution of a case against a number of individuals who attempted to corner all the free cotton remaining of the crop of 1912 it resulted in a raise in the price of that commodity to the spinners, prevented some from making any purchases and was therefore restraining interstate commerce.

In like manner the government took cognizance of the pooling in the wire industry, with the result that nine indictments were found in New York against eighty-three persons engaged in that business. It was an illegal restraint of trade, and when the court proceedings had been finished the various defendants were fined in amounts averaging $1,000 each, with the exception of the supervisor of the pool, who was fined $45,000.

One of the most outrageous cases of combination in restraint of trade and a notable violation of the Sherman law was that of the hand blown window glass industry. Practically all of the manufacturers (eighty-three in number) formed a company which controlled the entire output of hand blown glass. As a result the price was advanced 100 per cent within less than a year. The indictment of the men responsible, the imposition of fines and the restoration of the business upon its former lines were followed by a substantial reduction in the price of hand blown glass.

The federal government is prosecuting suits against the beef trust and the lumber trust with every promise of victory.

Talk of the Town

Rockland Encampment will work the Royal Purple degree this Friday night.

The Sullivan-Morris house on Broad street is being painted by G. M. Tibbets.

With coal retailing at $9.25 some folks are wondering if real spring is ever coming.

Claremont Commandery will have work on the Order of Temple and Malta next Monday night.

The Eastern Star Sewing Circle meets with Mrs. Minnie Mills, Ocean street, Tuesday afternoon at 2.

A chorus of 25 high school students will furnish music for the Knox county teachers' convention, which meets in this city April 26.

Representative Arthur B. Packard is a man of unfailing good nature, but we are not sure that it is safe to ask him about "that hat."

During the seven weeks' engagement in New York City Miss Lottie McLaughlin is a pupil of Oscar Sanger, an eminent voice teacher.

A new express business between Rockland and Camden has been established by J. V. Norwood, with Rockland headquarters at H. H. Cric & Co.'s store.

Capt. John Berne's name should have been included in the list of Rockland automobile owners, recently published in this paper. Apologies to the gallant skipper.

The Pine Tree State March, composed by Cecil S. Copping, is being played by the Rockland Theatre orchestra this week, and is proving one of its most popular numbers.

A crew of stalwart telephone workers boarded the steam lighter Sophia Wednesday morning and sailed away for Bucksport where they will take up and repair a submarine cable.

The corner room of W. H. Glover Co.'s office which was long used as a private office has been merged into the main room with the result that the company's general offices have been greatly improved.

Don't call it vodderville. The correct pronunciation is vod-vel with the 'o' long and accent on the first syllable. Or, if you wish to put on frills, give it the French pronunciation which is vod-vel, with long 'o' and 'e' accent on first syllable. But please don't call it vodderville.

Miss Emma Alperin who graduated from the Rockland Commercial College this week was engaged next day as bookkeeper and stenographer for J. F. Gregory & Son, Commercial College students are much in demand, and are seldom long out of employment after receiving their certificate.

Members of Golden Rod Chapter, O. E. S., who have occupied the positions of past matron or past patron are interested in the meeting which will be held this Friday evening with a view to organizing a past officers' association. It is understood that all the Chapters in Knox county are to be concerned in the matter.

The Argentine battleships Rivadavia and Moreno, which are at present the largest in the world, will be tried on the Rockland course the latter part of the coming summer. They have a displacement of 28,000 tons, and are one-quarter larger than the U. S. dreadnoughts Utah and Florida, which are the largest ships in our own navy. The Argentine battleships are built in American yards and will be given an exhaustive series of trials under the direction of Argentine naval officers.

The following have recently graduated from the Rockland Commercial College: Anna E. Donohue of Thomaston; Walter B. Pillsbury and Lyla Warren of Lincolnville; Ocarita F. Rose, Emma L. Alperin and Walter B. Knowlton of this city. Miss Jane A. Thomas of Thomaston, who has been taking a post-graduate course in stenography, left school for a while to have a position in Boston. Ella D. Field of Islesboro, 12, has a position with the Seabright Woven Felts Co., Camden.

The Knox County Medical Society held its regular meeting at the Thorne hotel Tuesday, and listened to an interesting report from its president, Dr. W. F. Hart, who was a delegate to the recent meeting of county representatives in Portland. After the transaction of the necessary routine business the members adjourned in a body to attend the funeral of the late Dr. Woodside, in whose memory resolutions were drafted.

Harry M. Robinson of Warren, who has been clerking in a winter hotel at New Smyrna, Fla., arrived home Monday, reporting an excellent season. He remembered brother Charlie with a live alligator which will doubtless be taught several cute tricks if Charlie can spare sufficient time from his perusal of the sporting news in the Boston papers. Harry Robinson will have his usual position as clerk at Asticou Inn at Southwest Harbor this summer.

Funeral services of the late Dr. Albert Woodside were held at the family residence on Middle street Tuesday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Allen of the Universalist church officiating. There was a large attendance including many Knox county physicians. Rockland Lodge, F. & A. M., had charge of the services and Claremont Commandery, K. T., furnished an escort. The many evidences of sorrow and the beautiful floral offerings were a touching tribute to the love and esteem in which the deceased was held. The remains were taken to Brunswick Wednesday morning for interment, accompanied by the members of the family.

AUTOMOBILE POINTERS

Poor quality of gasoline or too rich a mixture are very common causes of carbonization. Don't blame the oil always.

Many car-owners have condemned the oil they were using and then found that their trouble came from some entirely different source. Make sure what is wrong before you try to correct it.

A little bran or corn meal fed in through the filling nozzle, will often stop a radiator leak long enough to get you home.

To avoid accidents from back-firing when cranking, place the thumb against the index finger and take the handle between the four fingers and the palm of the hand. The hand thus opens readily should a back-kick occur. Always crank up, never down.

If the radiator is cold and the water jackets extremely hot, the water is not circulating, owing to a pump stoppage or an air-lock. Overheating often causes pre-ignition.

A good freezing mixture is one part glycerine to three parts water in moderately cold weather. In extreme cold mix one part glycerine to two parts water. Too much glycerine tend to clog the tubes. Chemically pure glycerine is not necessary. Price does not make the oil any more truly than clothes make the man.

Prejudice—honest and dishonest—is responsible for much expensive and usually poor, lubrication. If you don't believe that Old Owl Auto Oil is the best oil used, ask Oliver Pette.

COMMANDED "BIG FOUR"

Capt. Amsbury's Death First Break in Ranks of a Quartet of Famous Shipmasters.

Capt. Amsbury's death is the first break, we believe, in the ranks of those masters of the famous "big four," those magnificent four-masted wooden ships with which Arthur Sewall & Co. wound up the career of their house as builders of wooden ships. The Rappahannock, 3,185 tons; the Shenandoah, 3,407 tons; the Susquehanna, 2,745 tons; and the Roanoke, 3,530 tons, the first of which was launched in 1890, and the last in 1892, were the last world in the wooden ship construction and were the largest and finest square-riggers of that material ever built.

Sailing under the flag of the Bath firm they were a unique squadron and added fame to the Bath name. Wherever they went, they were individually and collectively the admiration of the maritime population all over the world. One of them is now left. The Rappahannock was burned off the west coast of South America on a voyage around the Horn with coal.

The Roanoke was saved from the same fate through the ingenuity and foresight of Capt. Amsbury, but only to be burned at last in a port of New Caledonia where she was loading chrome ore; and the Susquehanna, which was in the same port on the same errand when that catastrophe occurred, succumbed on the homeward voyage to stress of weather and the tremendous weight of her heavy cargo. The Shenandoah was cast down into a coal barge about a year ago, after lying idle for two years, simply because there was no business left for that type of craft, a fate which doubtless would have been shared by all the others of the quartet had they survived the perils of the sea. Capt. J. A. Dickinson of the Rappahannock is living in Phippsburg, Capt. J. E. Murphy of the Shenandoah is at home in Bath, and Capt. Chapman who succeeded him in that ship has settled in the West, while Capt. Watts of the Susquehanna makes his home over East.

All of the commanders have survived not only their ships but the entire deep sea merchant marine, which perished, not because we hadn't the best seamen in the world, but because we lacked enterprising owners, but because a short-sighted Government declined to protect them against the government-fostered competition of other nations. We had the best ships, the best masters and the most tenacious and enterprising owners, all inspired by the splendid traditions of a service which had once dominated the ocean trade routes, and we had still have a vast trade seeking over sea transportation. It is therefore the shame of our statesmen that the ships are no more, the officers laid on the shelf and the shipyards and offices for the most part closed—Bath Times.

IT IS NORDICA

Director Chapman Names Prima Donna Who Will Sing at Next Maine Festival.

Madame Lillian Nordica, Maine's great offering to the world of song, will be the prima donna at the next Maine Music Festival, the negotiations to bring about this desired result having been successful.

The completion of the new Portland city hall, as the new home for the festival in that city, gives a new interest to the plans for the 16th annual festival. The magnificent organ, also furnishes an extra opportunity for musical effects. Director Chapman has long expressed the wish that Madame Lillian Nordica, the world-renowned Queen of Song, should dedicate this new auditorium. She is the greatest artist ever produced in this state, which has given several prominent stars to the musical world. Mr. Chapman has just received the contract signed by this famous prima donna, and is glad to announce to the music-loving patrons of Maine that Madame Nordica will sing the first solo notes in this grand auditorium. After the chorus has sung the Hallelujah Chorus with organ and orchestra as usual on the opening night, she will sing the glorious aria, "Let the Bright Seraphim."

This will, indeed, be a gala night, an opening night that can never be equalled, and will go down into history as one of the musical events of this generation. It will be remembered that Madame Nordica was the star who dedicated the Bangor Auditorium, when it was completed the first year of the festival, and her return will be most welcome to Bangor, as well as to Portland music lovers. Other artists of musical prominence are under negotiation, as usual on the first of May. Director Chapman will give the entire list to the public. He has selected with great care the chorus numbers for this festival, and the Song of Thanksgiving, the coronation hymn for the centennial celebration, at the Melbourne Australia festival, was especially chosen for the dedication of this new building.

IN SPORTING CIRCLES

The sporting editor is in receipt of the following communication from James Doherty:

"Ever since John Lannigan put Hart out, and the fellow from Camden, he has had a swollen boco, and I guess he thinks he can put anyone out. He has been telling around that he can put me out in one round with one of his hands tied behind him. I don't think he can, but I am willing to give him a chance to try it at any time and place—the sooner the better. And I am willing to make a side bet of any amount, winner to take all."

Mr. Lannigan authorizes the sporting editor to say that Doherty's challenge is accepted and that the meeting cannot take place any too soon to suit him. Now it's up to somebody to complete the details.

Horace Lamb of Rockland is substitute infielder for the Lowell Textile team this season and had the satisfaction of playing a portion of the first game, in which "Tex" defeated Cambridge Latin 16 to 2. His work was very satisfactory. The Textile team has a first-class coach in Frank Brady and Lamb writes that he will be satisfied to have learned how to play baseball even if he doesn't make the squad this year.

Horace expresses considerable solicitude about the Oakland Park League, which this season, and wants to know if it is true that Carver the outlaw leaguer is going to play again this year. I think it is time he had his release and became manager of some bush league," writes Horace. But of course he wouldn't want Jimmy to know that he feels that way about it."

The Knox county fans have had no particular occasion to feel interested in the New England League for some years, but this season will be an exception if "Bush" Ladd makes good behind the bat for Fall River and Carl Gottrell matriculates in the box for Springfield.

HAVE YOU ENROLLED?

Information Affecting Primary Elections Which Every Voter Should Know.

Do you intend to vote at this forthcoming primaries?

Do you live in a city or town of 2000 or more inhabitants?

If your answer is "yes" to each of the above questions you must bear in mind that under the new law a voter must not only be registered but must sign enrollment papers. The latter proposition is so little understood in this city that less than 100 Rockland voters have filled out the blanks which are ready for that purpose at the city clerk's office.

Section 102 of Chapter 6 of the Revised Statutes provides that "Any person who is a legal voter may enroll himself as a member of any political party by filing with the clerk of the town of which he is a legal voter a declaration, signed by him, substantially as follows: 'I being a legal voter of _____, hereby elect to be enrolled as a member of the _____ party. The following statement of name, residence, place of last enrollment if any, is true.' A new enrollment may be made at any time, but the person making such new enrollment shall not vote in any political cause within six months thereafter if he designates a different political party from that named by him in the preceding enrollment."

Failure to enroll within the prescribed time will not disfranchise a voter but it will put him to the inconvenience of enrolling on the day of the primary election by subscribing to an oath before a ballot clerk. The form of this oath so taken at the polls, the ballot clerk's endorsement thereon, and the subsequent disposition of such enrollment, are as follows:

STATE OF MAINE

City of _____ ss., 191—
I, _____ do solemnly swear that I am a qualified voter in the City of _____ and in Ward _____ and have the legal right to vote in a caucus of the _____ party. I am a member of that political party and intend to vote for its candidates at the election, next ensuing. I have not taken part or voted at the caucus of any other political party in the six months last past.

Signature _____
Subscribed and sworn to before me _____
Ballot Clerk of Ward No. _____
I hereby certify that the above named person voted in the primary election held in said Ward No. _____ 191—.

_____ Ballot Clerk.
The ballot clerk before whom the above named person subscribed and swore to the foregoing statement shall sign the above certificate to the effect that said person voted in the said primary election, and within one week thereafter the said ballot clerk shall return said statement with the endorsement thereon to the city clerk, and the city clerk shall thereupon enroll said voter in the enrollment list of the party designated by him. (Primary election law.)

"In plantations and towns of less than 2000 inhabitants no enrollment is required. In such places registration alone is necessary, and any voter legally qualified to vote therein, shall upon giving his name and party affiliation, be given a ballot of his party, his name checked upon the voting list, and he shall be admitted to the voting booth and vote." (Primary Election Law, Section 13.)

DID GOOD WORK

Revenue Cutter Woodbury Still in the Game—Season's Record.

The old revenue cutter Woodbury has made a record for the winter of which any of the newer ships in the service might well be proud. She cruised 95 days out of the 120 in the schedule and in that time assisted 26 vessels, valued at $2,104,000, and had 90 persons on board. The cutter actually saved two lives, boarded 629 vessels and reported 12 for violation of the law. She cruised a total distance of 5065 miles. On January 1 alone the cutter saved vessels and cargoes valued at $481,210.

Jan. 8 two fishermen were picked up on Jordan's, where the winter motor boat had been stranded and where they must have perished but for the cutter's appearance. Jan. 29 a fleet of scallop fishermen was freed from Rockland harbor; Jan. 30, the Steamer Maudslowi was freed from Rockport harbor, and Feb. 8 a coal famine was prevented at Center Harbor, when a channel was cut for the schooner Ida Gibson, which had a supply for that port. Feb. 18, fifteen lobster craft were freed from Winter Harbor and property saved worth $15,500.

Crawford Ranges

When you "dump" your old fire do you dump it into an ash pan? And then strew the floor and the cellar stairs with ashes when you carry it away?

Wouldn't a deep Hod—big enough to hold the ashes, easy and cleanly to carry—be better?

Crawford Ranges have the Ash Hod. It catches all of the ashes and can be emptied without spilling. Same size as the Coal Hod beside it. This feature is patented and only Crawford Ranges have it.

The Single Damper (patented) and the Oven heated in all parts alike by the scientific Cup-Joint heat flues are other Crawford trouble and money savers. Send for the illustrated pamphlet.

Our Decorative Department

OUR DECORATIVE DEPARTMENT is the growth of an idea.

A great many people who appreciate and want artistic homes, are not able to select the materials or the harmonious combinations of color which make a home a place of rest and good taste. Busy with other interests, few have had the opportunity to investigate possibilities of scene decoration. Thorough knowledge of materials and subject is necessary.

We are in position to give you the services of highly paid architects, expert designers and decorators. If requested, we will gladly plan the kind and color of your furnishings, and they need not be necessarily expensive. We will help you plan a single room in simple style or give you color schemes for the painting of the exterior of your home.

No matter what you may have to finish or re-finish, we will be pleased to offer suggestions to make the work a success and satisfactory to you. This service is furnished free of cost to you.

HOUSE CLEANING—A word about SOAP. In going over painted or varnished surfaces, avoid alkali and strong chemicals which in removing dirt, destroy the life of the finished surface. FLAXOAP is made of pure Linsed Oil and will do the double service of cleanser and polisher. With FLAXOAP it is not necessary to "rub and scrub to death" either the varnish or yourself.

AUTOMOBILE POINTERS

Poor quality of gasoline or too rich a mixture are very common causes of carbonization. Don't blame the oil always.

Many car-owners have condemned the oil they were using and then found that their trouble came from some entirely different source. Make sure what is wrong before you try to correct it.

A little bran or corn meal fed in through the filling nozzle, will often stop a radiator leak long enough to get you home.

To avoid accidents from back-firing when cranking, place the thumb against the index finger and take the handle between the four fingers and the palm of the hand. The hand thus opens readily should a back-kick occur. Always crank up, never down.

If the radiator is cold and the water jackets extremely hot, the water is not circulating, owing to a pump stoppage or an air-lock. Overheating often causes pre-ignition.

A good freezing mixture is one part glycerine to three parts water in moderately cold weather. In extreme cold mix one part glycerine to two parts water. Too much glycerine tends to clog the tubes. Chemically pure glycerine is not necessary.

Price does not make the oil any more truly than clothes make the man.

Prejudice—honest and dishonest—is responsible for much expensive and usually poor lubrication. If you don't believe that Old Owl Auto Oil is the best oil used, ask Oliver Pettee.
