MLA Cooperative, Inc. Accepted By Attorney General; Start Made On Locations For Buying Stations

The MLA Co-operative, Inc., was given official approval of the Attorney General's Department Wednesday. On Thursday, President Leslie Dyer was negotiating for a site for the Co-op lobster plant in Rockland and was going to Southwest Harbor where fishermen have asked for a branch plant as soon as possible.

He said the Maine Lobstermen's Association will continue to operate and will serve the MLA Co-operative, Inc., as a promotional and legislative agency.

The incorporation papers of the co-op were being recorded Thursday at the Knox County Court House. They are then due to be recorded by the secretary of state and with the state banking commissioner.

Once the filing is completed, the co-op will be in a position to offer stock to MLA members and start actual operation with funds received from stock sales. Dyer said Thursday that stock will be offered to Maine Lobstermen's Association paid up members at $10 per share of common stock. The number of shares will not be limited, but a member will hold only a single vote regardless of the number of shares held.

Preferred stock will be offered to the general public at $100 per share with a six per cent return guaranteed.

VANDALS SMASH WINDOWS AT I.E.P.A. ARBORETUM HEADQUARTERS

Trooper Lawrence Chapman, left, and Carl Erickson, president of the Independent Egg Producers Association, examine Friday some of the results of vandalism that were caused to the association's headquarters in Warren.

State Police are investigating a recent outbreak of vandalism at the former Knox Arboretum, now the headquarters of the Independent Egg Producers Association in Warren.

Carl Erickson of Warren, president of the IEPA and building owner, noted Friday morning that the acts of vandalism occurred sometime between Sunday when he was in the area and Tuesday night when his uncle, Edwin Erickson, discovered the property damage.

Apparently the vandals started their work by throwing several rocks in one of the front windows and smashing several panes of glass and the sash. They continued to the other front window, broke the lower panes of glass with sticks, and went around to the side where they removed the lower portion of a gutter and smashed other windows, Erickson said. The estimated damage was set at $100 for approximately 20 panes of glass, sashes and a gutter. Erickson also remarked that State Police found tire marks when they investigated Tuesday night on the property and an empty axle bottle, believed to have been thrown from the vandals' car.

The association president remarked that groups of members have been at the headquarters this week helping to clean up the building and grounds in preparation for the group's second annual chicken barbecue August 16.

The headquarters was dedicated at the association's first barbecue last year. Prior to that the building had been vacant for about 15 years.

Erickson, who owns the building along with his brother-in-law, Leroy Norwood, remarked that vandalism last year destroyed most of the panes of glass in the building. Also, a chain and sign from the entrance to the property and several auto parts were stolen.

Knox Hospital Building Fund Receives $50,000 Of Federal Money; Total Cost Up Sharply

The Knox Hospital Building Fund has received an added allocation from the Hill-Burton Funds, according to President Robert W. Hudson. He said Friday that the sum of $50,000 had been granted by the Hospital Advisory Council of the Maine Department of Health and Welfare which administers the federal monies for hospitals in this state.

The allocation brings to $352,724 the total allocated Knox Hospital's expansion program by the Fund.

Hudson also revealed that unexpected costs have raised the estimate which the entire project will need for completion to $1,025,200. The Hill-Burton grants have reduced the funds to be obtained by public subscription to $672,476. The fund raising drive produced $497,000 in cash and pledges. Remaining to be raised is $175,476.

Hudson said Friday that he felt certain the estimate of top costs is a correct one and one which will not be exceeded. He commented that he and the trustees would bend every effort to see that the line was held on the total announced.

Laurel First Craft On Scene Of Fiery Tanker Crash Off Newport; McCann Directs Rescue Fleet

The Rockland-based Coast Guard buoy tender Laurel played a major role in rescue operations Thursday morning when two gasoline tankers collided and burned in fog shrouded lower Narragansett Bay off the Rhode Island shore near Newport.

In collision about 7 a. m. were the tankers Gulfport and S. E. Graham. The Gulfport was outbound from Providence. The 10,000 ton tanker had discharged its cargo at Providence and was headed for Port Arthur, Texas to reload. The Graham was inbound from Providence. The cargo of 650,000 gallons of gasoline from Newark, N. J.

The wheelman on the Graham said that the other ship loomed out of the fog and struck his tanker just aft of the forecabin on the port side.

Gasoline spewed out from the ruptured forward tanks and caught fire as it spread over the water, soon surrounding both ships.

The toll of dead was set at 15 with three men unaccounted for late Thursday. Thirty-six crewmen of the two tankers received burns and other injuries and were sent to hospitals as rescue craft took them from the water.

A total of 50 men were rescued by the Laurel and the other craft under McCann's direction. Swift action on the part of the Laurel and her crew in moving to the disaster scene unquestionably saved many lives for the greater part of the men in the flame covered water had no life jackets and many were injured.

The Laurel's commanding officer, Lt. Cmdr. John D. McCann, was named commander of rescue ships on the scene which included a 64 foot utility tug from Bristol, picket and lifeboats from Castle Hill Lifeboat Station and other Coast Guard craft from Bristol, Point Judith, Block Island, New Bedford and Woods Hole. They were joined by Navy tugs from the base at Newport.

Ross Bosworth, editor of the Bristol, R. I., Phoenix, who covered the disaster, reports that the Laurel was preparing to set a buoy in the area of the Dumpings in the passage from Narragansett Bay to the Atlantic when the crash was heard nearby.

McCann dispatched small boats from the Laurel to pick up survivors and alerted search and rescue services of the Coast Guard at Boston and Rhode Island stations by radio, meanwhile moving his 185 foot ship toward the craft which were by then a flaming inferno.

The Laurel was on temporary duty at the Bristol Coast Guard Base, taking the place of the buoy tender Spar which is now engaged in supplying DEW Line stations via the Northwest Passage. The local cutter is expected back at its home base next week.

The Gulfport ran aground at Fort Adams and the Graham, seriously ablaze, went ashore at Rose Island. The Laurel and the 64 foot tug eventually freed the blazing Graham, but tides and winds drove her ashore on Little Island, as fire fighting craft were clustered about the blazing hulk in an effort to knock down the flames and protect Newport Harbor from the fire on the surface caused by the spreading gasoline.

As other craft of the rescue fleet were withdrawn, the Laurel was ordered to stand by the still blazing Graham. It was likely that she would remain until the tanker's cargo of gasoline was consumed.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES MAKING A DAY OF IT IN COUNTY TODAY; RALLY ON PUBLIC LANDING AT 7.30

Town committees from several Knox County communities are planning special events in conjunction with the Republican County tour today. Senator Frederick Payne, former Governor Horace Hildreth and Congressional candidate Neil S. Bishop will stop at virtually every town in the county.

Rockland people will have two opportunities to meet the candidates. They will gather at county G.O.P. headquarters on Main street in Rockland at 8.30 in the morning and devote an hour to meeting those on their way to work and appear at an evening rally.

Camden's "Miss Blueberry" will be crowned by Hildreth in the afternoon following a tour of Warren and Thomaston in the morning. Mrs. Charles Kigel will entertain Hildreth and State Representative Carl Stiphen of Rockland at a 10.30 a. m. coffee at her home. A stop at Norwood's Store in Warren will precede a tour of Thomaston's Main street.

After two hours in Camden, Hildreth will leave for Hope via Megunticook Lake for an appearance with the other two major G. O. P. candidates at the Hope Corner Grange supper.

Senator Payne will fly to Vinalhaven from the Rockland Port Terminal at 9.30 and he will be taken on a tour of Vinalhaven and North Haven by the town committees. He will fly back to Port Clyde and he will have Edwin Maddox of Vinalhaven, legislative candidate, with him.

Payne, who will be guided by Sheriff Willard Pease, will make stops along Rt. 131 to Thomaston. After a visit at Rockland's Public (Continued on Page Three)

ROCKPORT CUBS TAKE SUBURBAN CHAMPIONSHIP SIXTH OUT OF SEVEN SEASONS LEAGUE IN PLAY

The Rockport Cubs captured the Knox Suburban Little League title for the sixth time in seven seasons as they blasted past St. George 13-0 Wednesday night. The victory gave the Cubs the second half championship which, coupled with a first half pennant, gave them the season championship without a playoff.

Two Rockport pitchers hurled hitless ball in the four inning game which was called because of darkness. Billy Wieners and Bobby Wood turned the trick. The winners started fast with seven first inning tallies. Bruce Woodward started things when he singled, then the next two men went out and with two away the champs got going. Terry Costa and Billy Wieners singled to load the bases and Jay Barrows hit a long triple to clear them. Four consecutive bases on balls followed and two more runs scored. Buzzy Barrows then doubled in the final two scores.

Buzzy and Jay Barrows, Terry Costa and Billy Wieners all had two hits for the Cubs. Rockport 751 0-13 9 2 St. George 000 0-0 0 3 Wieners, Wood (4) and T. Costa; Davis, Leppanen (2) and Stuart.

The St. George boys had journeyed to Camden before the Rockport game to complete a game with the Camden Knockers which had ended in seven inning 10-10 tie on June 23. The Camden team came out on top 11-10 after the long delay.

Twilight Games See Waldoboro Lengthen Lead

Waldoboro's Townies came through with four runs in the last of the eighth inning Wednesday night to come from behind and defeat the Thomaston Clippers 8-7.

The loss dropped Thomaston into a second place tie with Damariscotta and gave winner Waldoboro a one and one-half game lead over both clubs. The four winning tallies came after one was out. Dennis Graffam singled and scored on a double by Stan Hanna. Then, after Chuck Begley singled, Catcher Fred Burnham hit a three run homer over the left field barrier to sew up the victory.

Five home runs, four by Thomaston, enlivened the contest. Red Norwood with two, Gary Seavey, and Doug Miller hit for the circuit blows.

Thomaston 400 000 21-7 10 6 Waldoboro 000 112 04-8 12 2 Norwood and N. Hodgkins; Halliwell and Burnham.

Thomaston scored four unearned runs, one to knot the score in the sixth, as they tied St. George 6-6 Thursday night.

The run which deadlocked things in the sixth came as Floyd Johnson walked, Gary Seavey singled, and Newt Hodgkins walked to load the sacks. Then, Red Norwood hit a ground ball and on the play at the plate an error allowed the run to score.

Seastrom, Leppanen, Thompson, and Mosher all had two hits in a well balanced St. George attack. Red Norwood had three hits and Bob Tweedie homered for the Clippers.

St. George 013 200 0-6 9 3 Thomaston 101 121 0-6 7 2 Mahoney, Kinney (6) and Seastrom; John and Hodgkins.

The game will be played off at 2 p. m. Sunday, August 31.

In a second game Thursday night Waldoboro stretched its league lead to two and one-half games over Thomaston and Damariscotta as it edged out Damariscotta 2-1.

The Townies scored the winning tally in the top of the eighth in a Redleg "home game". The score came when with two out, Chuck Begley reached on an error, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on a Will Halliwell double. Waldoboro 100 000 01-2 4 2 Damariscotta 000 010 00-1 7 3 Crabtree and Burnham; Paine and Pendleton, Grover (2).

THE FAMILY REUNION

This is the season of one of New England's finest traditions, the family reunion. Possibly the custom is more prevalent in Maine than elsewhere but it is of great social value wherever found.

These reunions are the only gathering of the family clan during the year and bring about close knit family ties and the retelling of family traditions long forgotten otherwise.

A heavily laden dinner table is the highlight of all reunions which are often held at a lakeside or cottage and serve to bring closer to the clan many who have for years been out of touch with other members of the families. An important part of the business meeting is always the report of the family historian who brings to light family heroes and greets of one sort or another long forgotten.

These family gatherings are looked forward to for a whole year and fill an important niche in community life.

STRANGE REASONS WHY!

Looking back over the "battle of Alaska" some strange reasoning comes up with New Hampshire's Senior Senator H. Styles Bridges in the van.

New Hampshire's Bridges has revealed that one of the reasons he voted against statehood for Alaska was because he felt the admission of the territory would set up a dangerous precedent of admitting other territories that are not contiguous (adjacent) to the United States.

The Senator added, however, that he also was opposed to the heavy lobbying by flag manufacturers in Washington. The argument on contiguous territories was the most logical one voiced by opponents of Alaska statehood.

The fear that flag manufacturers are going to make a lot of money producing 49-star flags is more difficult to understand. This is a little like being opposed to 1958 model automobiles because they'll replace older models and make money for the manufacturers.

One would assume that the production of millions of new American flags would give substantial aid to the textile industry, provide additional employment, and in general give the nation's sagging economy a welcomed shot in the arm.

Perhaps a better clue to the Senator's underlying sentiments, however, is provided in his comment "in passing", that Alaska will probably send a couple more liberal Democratic Senators to Washington.

OUR CHAIRMAN IS A GO-GETTER

When this column announced Paul Dillaway of Warren as chairman of the Republican County Committee we had no misgivings in calling him a "Go-Getter" and predicting that a lively campaign by Knox Republicans was assured. Events have proven that Mr. Dillaway is a driver and a dyed-in-the-wool Republican whose interest in the G. O. P. is not confined to Knox County but to Republican success everywhere over the State, though his primary interest is in Knox County's victory in the fall election.

A giant step forward was seen Wednesday noon in the opening of Republican County Headquarters at 439 Main street which will make it possible to keep the organization functioning with ease and provide a meeting place for Republicans not only to gather in formal meetings, but to get together informally and talk things over.

A "Meet the Candidates" session will be held Saturday when all the candidates in the county group and also Senator Payne, gubernatorial candidate Hildreth and ever-busy G. O. P. Congressional candidate Neil Bishop will all be on the job. Just how interested Senator Payne is in the islands is shown by the fact that with characteristic consideration he will cross the bay by plane to meet the island folk rather than expect them to make the trip to the mainland to see him. Meantime State Senatorial candidate Carl Stipphen will be presenting former Governor Hildreth to local voters and all other candidates will be hard at work. This all goes to show our County Chairman has stirred up plenty of Republican action already.

PROGNOSIS (GUEST EDITORIAL)

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:
In this grim hour one recalls the prophecy of Alexis de Toqueville, toward the end of the nineteenth century, that inevitably there must come a showdown between those giants of the earth, the United States and Russia.

Premier Khrushchev's recent mouthings, before and after his furtive session with Red China's Mao Tse-tung, provide but little hope, except among the glib and vulnerable delegates of the United Nations, that a "summit meeting" between President Eisenhower and the jovial peasant now bossing the U.S.S.R.,—except in mockery of any reliable settlement.

Whatever satisfaction may be derived from this grisly fact must lie, paradoxically, in the circumstance that even were such a meeting to occur the outcome would be wholly without significance because, it has so long and so often been demonstrated, there is not even vestigial integrity in the word of Russia's rulers.

Hope for peace survives alone in belief that Russia would be doomed, and is aware of it, with whatever unpredictable consequences, in a hot war with the United States. For God only knows what might be the aftermath of this cataclysmic event.

New postcard billing forms will replace the conventional envelope enclosed bill in August for some quarter of a million electric customers of Central Maine Power Company, according to a statement by William F. Wyman, company president.

The power company expects the change to post card billing will save a postage increase of at least $30,000 per year. CMP presently mails about 2,800,000 bills annually to electric users in southern and central Maine.

This is but one of many ways in which the Maine utility is trying to hold down operating expenses in this period of rising costs, Mr. Wyman explained. The shift to post card billing was approved by the Maine Public Utilities Commission.

The new bills will include all information which was carried on the previous bill form with which CMP's customers are familiar. Eventually the company will be able to include on the same bill form all accounts for appliance repairs and other services. The large power users of electricity will not be affected by the change.

Post card billing for various utility services is not new. Scores of utility companies and their customers throughout the nation have found the system speedy and effective as well as economical. CMP has been studying the system for some time and now finds the change desirable, particularly in view of increased postage charges.

Courier-Gazette classified advertisements do get results. Mrs. Ronald Green of North Main Street, wife of Maine's commissioner of Sea & Shore Fisheries, lost her watch at the Festival. She pretty much gave up hopes of recovery, but placed an ad in the Tuesday issue. Thursday, she had a call from a woman in Portland who had seen her ad and who announced she had the watch and was going to mail it to her.

As of Friday afternoon, the drive of the Port O' Rockland Junior Drum and Bugle Corps to finance their trip to New York City August 17 has reached $875. This includes $300 from the State of Maine Promotional Fund and $50 from the Knox County Republican Party for the corps' services tonight at the Republican Rally at the Public Landing.

Poultrymen At The Crossroads

Maine poultrymen stand at the crossroads, points out newly published Maine Extension Service Circular 336. They can plan expansion of their operation at once or they can improve their present operation and hope to expand later.

County agents of the Maine Extension Service are now mailing this timely circular to poultrymen. Persons interested may get copies from their county agents or by writing to the Bulletin Office, Extension Service, University of Maine, Orono. It's Maine Extension Service Circular 336, "Poultrymen at the Crossroads."

Harry C. Whelden, Extension poultry specialist, and Frank D. Reed, Extension poultry marketing specialist, wrote the eight-page circular. They point out that in spite of present favorable conditions for Maine poultrymen, prospects are that in the year ahead things may not be as rosy. They suggest, "Get your financial house and poultry house in order with the indicted 'better profits' of '58."

Caution in expansion is urged. Expansion may be sound or unsound depending upon the individual's financial position, the size of his present operation, and his ability as a manager.

Improvements in the present poultry operation may pose advantages fully as great as expansion alone, say Whelden and Reed. Growth and expansion can be good, but it must be based on efficiency and sound financing.

Improvements in sound financing will make money at "no expense," say the poultry specialists. Improvements in better efficiency may permit expansion within the existing buildings. In fact, the greatest potential for the immediate growth of the Maine poultry industry lies in improved poultry house environment. As a result, an increased number of birds may be kept in already existing buildings.

"Explore the road to improvement first," concluded Whelden and Reed in Extension Circular 336.

lie Beach at Chickawaukie Lake, Payne will travel to Hope via Route 17.

Neil S. Bishop will leave Rockland Saturday morning for the northern communities of Knox County guided by County Attorney Curtis Payson. He will stop at the Rockland Golf Club, West Rockport and on Union Common.

Bishop will return to Rockland for lunch and two hours meeting people at county G.O.P. headquarters and on Main street. He too will attend the Hope Corner bean supper.

The day will conclude with an old fashioned political parade and rally. Both the Port O' Rockland Drum and Bugle Corps and the Camden By the Sea Corps have been hired for the parade which will start at Park street, down Main to Limerock, then up to Union and back down Park to the Public Landing.

Each of the major candidates will speak at the landing following a drill by the color guards of the two corps. Rockland's color guard will perform the drill it will use at the National V.F.W. competition in New York later in the month.

The parade is due to start at 7.15 p. m.

The Epic Story Of The H. F. Dimock And The Yacht Alva Crash

By Captain John S. Blank, III
Marine Consultant and Pilot
Box 904, 1000 Islands Park, N. Y.
[An effort is being made to secure a picture of the steamer H. F. Dimock.—Ed.]

January 9, 1958

Dear Steamboat Editor:

It is always a great pleasure to read your's and Capt. Walter E. Scott's excellent articles. Steamboat fans are blessed, and former crew members and shipmates are fortunate in having two such fine gentlemen with keen memories, recording the glorious era of the paddlewheel and coastwise passenger vessels.

Of particular recent interest to me was your December 28, last, column regarding a collision, long before I was born, between the H. F. Dimock and the yacht Alva. My attention was aroused as during the winter of 1927-28 I made one round trip as mess boy on the H. F. Dimock, then running between Boston and New York; Capt. Corning, Master, and Mel Wentworth, Chief Officer.

In the December 28th column, Elwin M. Eldredge corrected Capt. Scott on the matter of the date of the collision. Without offending either of these gentlemen, I must state that I became more confused, not regarding the date, but the location of Alva as outlined by Mr. Eldredge. He states that Alva departed "Bar Harbor late Saturday afternoon." I take this to mean about 5 p. m. Continuing Mr. Eldredge says "She had been favored with clear weather, passing Highland Light soon after midnight." This suggests 12.15 a. m., Sunday, July 24. The distance from Bar Harbor to Highland Light is roughly 185 miles which would give Alva a speed of 26 knots?

The term "rounding Monomoy Point" would I think be more correct if referred to as "passing", as this point being on a tip of a sand spit running seven and one-half to eight miles SxW from the heel of Cape Cod, is passed on the course WxS at the inner or western end of Pollock Rip Slue Channel. Just after coming abeam on a steamer's starboard, the course is changed away from it to SWxWxW, therefore it is not "rounded", but left on the starboard quarter, or astern.

However, the next to last paragraph of Mr. Eldredge's letter and the preceding one leave a question of doubt that Alva ever passed Monomoy Point. Captain A. Coleman of the H. F. Dimock is quoted as stating "we were feeling our way for Pollock Rip Slue Bell Buoy," and Mr. Eldredge states "Alva was struck just off Pollock Rip L. V." which is about seven miles ExN from Monomoy Point and the Bell Buoy is about three and one-half miles East of Monomoy Point.

If the Alva was anchored anywhere between the eastern entrance of Pollock Rip Slue Channel and the Bell Buoy or lightship she certainly was in the freeway of steamboat and vessel traffic, and a very poor anchorage as the tidal current is rotary, changing direction every hour. She must have been anchored in the area to have been sunk there.

But going back to the paragraph about "Alva's rounding Monomoy Point." It not only gets foggy afloat but in my mind. From the letter I quote the completely confusing course of Alva—"After rounding Monomoy Point she ran into a light fog, and the course was laid well offshore in cunnings for Vineyard Sound. By 6.15 a. m. when on Nantucket Shoals and a few miles Southwest of Hyannis, a dense fog shut in. Anchors were let go at 6.30."

The first question I raise is about the suggested course of Alva—"well off shore". As I was not around in 1892 I must ask if the Nantucket and Vineyard Sound Channels, that is the route Pollock Rip LV through the dredged Pollock Rip Slue Channel to Stone Horse LV thence to Handkerchief Shoal, Half Moon Shoal Gas Buoy, Cross Rip LV, Hedge Fence LV, and on to Nobsha Point Gas Buoy, was not the normal steamboat route.

There was an inshore route from off Monomoy Point up past Bishop and Clerks Lighthouse and there via various buoys to Nobsha Point. While yachts do use this route, local knowledge or a pilot is required and I doubt if the H. F. Dimock sailed it. The Alva would have had to if as claimed she was several miles southwest of Hyannis at 6.15 a. m. Unexplained also is how 15 minutes later she anchored 20 miles east of this position.

Another misnomer is "when on Nantucket Shoals" as used. Nantucket Shoals is the correct name for the shoals lying South and Southeast of Nantucket Island, marked by Nantucket LV off the Southernmost group. The waters and shoals between Vineyard Haven, Woods Hole, Chatham and Nantucket are collectively known as Nantucket Sound. At least they so read on my pilot's endorsement. Captain George W. Eldridge of Chatham, the first chartographer of New England waters so called them. Every chart and road map refers to them in a like manner as Nantucket Sound. Steamboat men have, however, referred to the route from Gay Head to Pollock Rip as "going over the shoals," which may be the cause of the writer's reference to "Nantucket Sound as Nantucket Shoals."

It would seem therefore that the Alva departed Bar Harbor at about 5.30 p. m. and made 16 knots rather than 26 knots, undoubtedly her captain planned to make Highland Light at daybreak which on July 24th is about 4.24 a. m. EST. If he passed Pollock Rip LV at 6.15 a. m. it checks this theory as it is about 32 nautical miles or two hours run. Captain Morrison probably desired to pass into Pollock Rip Slue Channel during daylight. Visualizing a very hot July 23rd ashore, the early sun, a slight onshore Southeasterly breeze, brought fog and disaster.

In closing, I should I think say, I might have if in Europe on a foreign yacht, done likewise, and anchored in an unsafe place. I have always felt very strongly about the command of American yachts being given to non-citizens. We have one of the finest maritime heritages in the world. Maine alone has built and manned more ships per capita than any state in the Union. The excuse often used that certain foreign sailors are better, is sheer poppy-cock. They might be better "browsers and scrapers", but not better seamen, nor with superior integrity. But of course this was all before the days when one had to come from Deer Isle to get aboard a good yacht. How well I know, I was refused a berth on the Constellation at Law-ley, because I came from elsewhere.

Respectfully,
John S. Blank, III.

Municipal Court

Judge Alfred M. Strout continued fugitive from justice charges against John Howard of Camden again for 10 days in Municipal Court Thursday morning. He was released on $2,500 sureties.

Camden police brought Howard into court July 18 on the warrant after they were informed by the Miami, Fla., police that Howard was wanted for a breaking, entering and larceny charge at the home of Frank Ryan of Miami June 29 where $818 worth of furniture was removed.

Judge Strout told the respondent that this will be the third and final continuance in this matter. The court was informed that positive steps are finally being taken to have Gov. Edmund S. Muskie sign an extradition warrant.

Richard Gardner, 21, of Lawrence street Rockland, pleaded guilty to driving to endanger on Route 105 in Camden Tuesday night and was fined $25.

Camden police said that Gardner's vehicle failed to negotiate a left hand curve on Route 105 about 9.41 p. m. Tuesday, and went over to the left hand side of the road. The trailer carrying a 12 foot rowboat, which was being hauled by the car, struck a power pole. The vehicle, after narrowly missing the same pole, skidded 92 feet and landed in a garden.

Roy N. Linscott, 17, of Rockland was charged in Municipal Court Friday morning of operating a truck on Old County Road in Thomaston August 5 without an operator's license.

Judge Alfred M. Strout filed the complaint upon payment of $5 court costs. State Police were the complainants.

A charge of speeding 70 miles an hour in a 50 mile zone on Payne Avenue in Rockland was levied against Alan Sowell, 17, of Thomaston by Rockland Police. The Thomaston man pleaded guilty and was fined $20.

Malcolm Reynolds, 23, of Warren pleaded guilty to operating a vehicle after his license was suspended and was fined $25.

State Police stopped him August 1 on Route 17 in Union. The Secretary of State suspended his right to drive August 20, 1954, on a speeding charge of May 24, 1954, and on other motor vehicle violations.

Merrill A. Jackson, 33, of Waldoboro was found guilty of second offense driving while under the influence of liquor and was fined $300 and sentenced to three months in jail.

VINALHAVEN WOMAN WRITES STRONGLY CONCERNING LARGE BOAT

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:

The article appearing in The Courier-Gazette July 31 about the Vinalhaven Ferry Petition was evidently based on misinformation.

There are over 300 signatures to the combined letter and petition. There are around 800 voting residents of Vinalhaven. Of those to whom the petition was shown only about 25 did not wish to sign it though some took exception to some of the points in it. Virtually all of the summer taxpaying residents who are here signed it and most of them are also members of the Vinalhaven Development Association.

About two-thirds of the taxes of Vinalhaven are paid by these summer people as well as two-thirds of the income of Island Community Medical Services. They are good friends of the island people and most of us know and appreciate this.

This petition was intended to find out how the people of this island feel about the proposed 140 foot ferry, which has been rejected by North Haven. These signers feel that the proposed ferry is too large. They feel that it is unsuitable to these waters.

They feel that the probability of 20 cars for two or three trips a day even in July or August is unlikely.

The probability of more than two or three cars and possibly one or two trucks taking the trip either way each day in the ten off season months is so unlikely as to suggest a huge deficit.

Who is to pay the deficit? Taxpayers of Maine. We islanders are also taxpayers.

As manager of the Galamander Shop which collects and sells our island handicrafts mostly to summer people, I would like to point out that though trippers are more likely to buy at our shop than any other (except food and drink). They are more likely to have empty beer cans and broken bottles than money here.

Easy transportation to the mainland will be more of a threat than a boon to our local merchants. Who will buy gas here when it's cheaper ashore?

Why should we not go ashore to buy our meat, dry goods, cars and hardware? This has happened in Islesboro.

The signers of the letter and petition want a reasonably large boat suitable for these waters. They hope for a steady but healthy growth of summer business as well as local industry for the whole year.

Sincerely yours,
Elizabeth C. Roberts,
Manager of the Galamander Shop.

GRANGE NEWS OF KNOX-LINCOLN COUNTIES

By Henry Teague

This is a busy month for poultrymen of this area and other parts of the state as well. The big event for this section will be the second annual chicken barbecue and meeting Saturday, Aug. 16 at the Knox Arboretum, just off Route 131 between Warren and Thomaston. This event is sponsored by the Independent Egg Producers Association. Service will be from 5 to 7 p. m. and the meeting will start at 8 p. m. The public is invited.

This Saturday, many poultrymen from Knox County are planning to attend the Cumberland County Extension Association field day at the Cumberland fair grounds. The program will include speakers, panel discussions, machinery displays and a chicken barbecue.

Wednesday, Aug. 13, the new four-state egg producers group will meet at Portsmouth, N. H. The Independent Egg Producers Association will be represented by President Carl Erickson, Warren; vice president, Charles Hudson, West Rockport; secretary, Henry Teague, Warren; and directors, Herbert Alexander, Rockport and Reino Erikila of Warren.

Friday, Aug. 15, President Erickson and Secretary Teague have been invited by George Hunter, farm editor of the Portland television station WGAN-TV to appear on his program shortly after 9 a. m. to tell about the barbecue to be held at Warren the following day.

Members of the Independent Egg Producers Association are invited to attend the annual meeting of the New Hampshire Poultry Growers Association Wednesday, Aug. 20, at the Belknap Mountain Recreation Area at Gilford. Any wishing to attend should get in touch with Secretary Teague of I.E.P.A. for further particulars.

Frank Reed, Maine Extension poultry marketing specialist will be moderator of a panel discussion on quantity and quality control of eggs.

One of the chief speakers of the day will be Wheeler McMillen, vice president of the Farm Journal, who will discuss "Who is Going to Control Farming?"

Poultry Day at the University of Maine will be held Wednesday, Aug. 27. The program will include speakers, panel discussions and a chicken barbecue at noon.

Dr. E. P. Singen, poultry chief at the University of Connecticut will discuss "Controlled Feeding for Layers." Announcement was recently made in poultry publications that Dr. Singen has completed two years of testing flocks on a 25 per cent restriction of feed. The second year test just completed has confirmed the findings of the first year test that it is possible to feed a flock on this basis and achieve favorable results. However, it is not a hit or miss proposition and it is said that Dr. Singen will soon announce tables keyed to temperature, production rate and other factors.

A panel discussion in the morning with Frank Reed as leader includes Don Carter of Mount Desert and Herbert Alexander of Camden, both egg producers; Richard Crabtree, H. P. Hood and Son, Waldoboro and Kenneth C. Latham, Kennedy and Co. Boston.

Winthmore Poultry Chat has just published some rather startling figures on feed savings on four farms which are not named. These savings were accomplished by regular feed checks. Farm No. 1 showed a saving of $25 a week on 2900 birds or $1,350 a year.

The owner of farm No. 2 found that his 4000 flock was eating at the rate of 36 pounds a day. He was able to reduce this to 31 pounds. The saving has amounted to $8.64 a day; $60.48 a week and $3,144.96 per year.

Farm No. 3 was able to reduce his feed from 34.4 pounds on a 3000 bird flock to 29.55 pounds. The saving was $1,629 for 40 weeks. Since the farm normally carries 9000 birds, loss due to feed waste could have amounted to $4,887 per year.

Farm 4, a large commercial market farm of about 20,000 layers saved 703 pounds a day by checking feed. This amounts to a saving of $10,235 a year.

The bulletin cautions that one should not attempt to reduce feed intake only by limiting the amount placed in the feeders. Use of the proper feeding equipment adjusted to the proper height is essential. Other suggestions include the selection of a strain of birds known for high production and low feed intake; raising pullets on a controlled feeding program; raising birds free from disease and parasites; avoidance of extremely low pen temperatures by use of insulation.

Many poultrymen in this area have gone on a feed checking program and there are already many favorable reports of feed saved.

Pullorum Testing Service Changes

Pullorum testing and poultry breed improvement work under the National Poultry Improvement Plan in Maine are now under a new administration. These functions have been transferred from the University of Maine's bacteriology department to the department of animal pathology. Dr. J. Franklin Witter, head, re-

F. H. A. OFFICIALS IN CITY FOR STATE SESSION

A two day conference covering up to date aspects of farm financing and accompanying management and supervision needs was concluded Thursday at Rockland. C. Wilder Smith, state director of the Farmers Home Administration, was in charge.

"Present day farming is undergoing many vital changes that are the natural result of tremendous technological advances in the growing, processing and marketing of our daily food supplies. Farmers and others serving farm people have a responsibility to keep abreast of these changes, if our agriculture is to be able to meet the demands of the future.

"Currently we are witnessing a change from traditional methods of farming to a business requiring heavy investment, complicated management, and increasing specialization — a business in which science and technology are loomed even larger. The opportunities in agriculture today are far greater than a generation ago, but the qualification for success are also much more exacting.

"It is only natural that the responsibilities associated with an adequate farm credit program will become greater as modern trends carry our successful farmers up to these higher plateaus. It must be determined beyond any doubt that the people with whom the Farmers Home Administration work have the basic managerial ability and technical knowledge needed to succeed before consideration can be given to the extending of the proposed credit. Following this initial determination careful and constructive supervision of the operation must properly follow if the agency's credit program is to be helpful."

Training material advanced at the conference covered the modern concepts of security servicing, farm supervision and management advice and proper handling of legal cases.

Members of the State Staff participating in the final day's discussion were: Henry F. Lowe, Sheldon Ward, Benjamin Curtis, Herman Lamoreau and Mae D. Plourde.

Paul Blanchard, Office of General Counsel, Harrisburg, Penna., talked on the legal aspects of current financing and Sidney Aronson, Washington, D. C., discussed important aspects of county office audits as disclosed by field surveys.

Rodney Martin, consulting engineer, Hood Foundation of Boston, reviewed in detail modern dairy barn construction, milk handling methods and indicated future trends in the dairy industry.

The social highlight of the conference was a banquet held Wednesday night for all F.H.A. personnel and guests. At that dinner Mrs. Helen Moirs, county office clerk,

The Christmas Fair was a big success if the number of people present is an indication. There were 230 people who came to the Fair and they were from as far away as Texas. Five states besides Maine were represented and three counties outside Knox-Lincoln.

These include Furniture Refinishing; Know Your Calories; Bread Specialties; Stretching the Food Dollar; Chair Caning; Skirt Making; and Better Use of Time.

Union Fair Completes New Racing Stable

A new stable, measuring 200 feet in length and 20 feet in depth, containing 50 stalls and covered with an aluminum roof, has been completed after a month's work by the Butler and Russell construction firm in Union on the Union Fair Grounds. The new building is located on the southern end of the fair grounds, near the third turn of the race track. The structure represents the newest construction on the fair grounds since the cattle stalls were completed three years ago. President of the Fair, Robert Heald of Union, remarked Thursday that he expects the cost of construction will be kept under $3,000. Union Fair opens Tuesday, Aug. 19 and continues through the 23d with a full racing program in addition to the midway, exhibits, horse and oxen pulling and other attractions.

Johnson Named Green Pastures Committee Head

Chester Johnson, Kittery dairyman, was named chairman of the State Green Pastures Committee at its meeting Wednesday at the Maine Breeding Co-operative farm in Vassalboro. Johnson was 1958 state champion in the Green Pastures-in-Winter program.

Johnson succeeds Philip Andrews of Fryeburg as Green Pastures Committee chairman. Avery Fides, Jr., of Bowdoinham, continues as secretary-treasurer. Other members of the 1958-59 Committee include: Alvin Lindsay of Carroll; Robert Hill of Fryeburg; Vaughn Hurd of Thorndike; Ray Hall of Mt. Vernon; and Ernest Addison of Greene. All five are dairymen and state Green Pastures winners in 1957 or 1958.

Discussion centered around plans for the 1958-59 Maine Green Pastures program and the score card to be used in judging farm forage programs this winter. Johnson, Lindsay, Hill, Hurd, Hall, and Addison, along with Extension Dairyman Ralph Corbett of the University of Maine, were appointed to serve in developing the score card for use this winter.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

State Highways
Used 12 Million
Gallons of Tar

Tarring of Maine's trunk line highways has been completed. Despite the wet weather that has prevailed much of the season, the work was completed at about the same date as last year—which was finished in record time. Several portable truck driven steel rollers were purchased last year and put into service at the start of the present season. About half of the tar crews were supplied with these rollers which compacted the paving material rapidly providing a hard, smooth riding surface for traffic and more quickly than in the past.

About 12 million gallons of tar and asphalt are used each year by the State Highway Department on maintenance work—over 11 million gallons have been applied to date. The remaining quantity will be used for treating the lesser traveled state aid roads and for the application of a stone seal on sections of the state highway system.

MLA Coop, Inc.

Cliff Island, second vice president; Alfred Fredette of Owls Head, treasurer and A. Alan Grossman of Rockland, corporation clerk.

Directors of the new venture are: Raymond Smith, Jonesport; Warren Fernald, Islesford; Robert Davis, Port Clyde; Vernon Bryant, Round Pond; Henning Thomsen, Portland; and Justin Foss of Cape Porpoise.

All officers of MLA Co-operative, Inc., are officers of the Maine Lobstermen's Association. All co-op directors are regional delegates to the MLA governing board.

The filing of incorporation papers followed by one day the settling of government action against MLA on price fixing charges which arose from a coastwide lobstering tieup in July and early August or 1957.

Judge Edward T. Gignoux of the U. S. District Court in Portland, sitting in civil action against MLA, ordered a permanent injunction against the lobstermen joining in attempts to fix prices or control trap hauling activities. Previously, in a criminal case, the MLA and Dyer had been found guilty and fined $5,000 and $1,000 respectively. Both fines were remitted.

Several lobster dealers paid fines ranging from $250 to $1,000 on nolo pleas in federal court on charges alleging price fixing. No dealer chose to go to trial.

Dyer had previously said that the co-op would not be designed to eliminate lobster dealers, but would serve as a buying agency which would sell to dealers who supply national markets.

In June, at the annual meeting of the MLA held in Rockland, members of the group voted unanimously to form the MLA Co-operative, Inc. At that time, an agent of the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries showed them the steps to take in establishing a co-op and has continued to assist.

Everyone hopes for the best, but only a few expect to get it. A Maine dairyman caring for a 25 cow herd may be lifting at least 500 tons and walking more than 1,100 miles in a year. Hospital Fair Leaders Named

A goal to complete a $15,000 pledge was set for the fifth annual fair sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of Knox County General Hospital at a luncheon meeting held Tuesday at the Tillson Farm home of Mrs. Kennedy Crane, Jr., general chairman.

More than $6,000 toward the $15,000 pledge to equip a hospital coffee shop was raised last year as a result of the annual benefit, so the goal of this year's fair on October 2 is set high.

Present at the meeting were: Auxiliary President Mrs. Gilmore Soule, Mrs. Earle Perry, Mrs. Lawrence Miller, and Mrs. Frederic Bird, all members of the fair advisory board, and Miss Madeline Philbrick, publicity chairman.

Town booth chairmen named were: Mrs. Albert Emery and Mrs. William Butler, novelties, Rockland; Mrs. Edward Morse and Mrs. Frank Kibbe, fall foliage, Camden; Miss Edith Grimes and Mrs. Joseph Headley, hand puppets, Vinhaven.

Mrs. Henry Teague and Mrs. Leroy Norwood, Finnish bread, Warren; Mrs. Clayton Dennison, Jr., novelties, South Thomaston; Mrs. Clarence Leonard, Country Store, Union.

Miss Nora Seaver, toddlers' booth, Thomaston; Mrs. Kennedy Crane, Jr., novelties, Glen Cove; Mrs. Bradford Adams, candy, Owls Head.

Other booth chairmen include: Mrs. Cheever Ames and Mrs. Rhema Philbrick, aprons; Mrs. Frederic Bird and Mrs. Roland Ware, cooked food; Mrs. Frank Carkley and Mrs. Nathan Berliawsky, white elephants.

Mrs. Almo Sulin and Mrs. Lawrence Lord, dolls and dolls' clothes; Mrs. John McLoon and Mrs. Theodore Bird, grabs and popcorn; and Mrs. Gilmore Soule and Mrs. Robert Hudson, restaurant.

Mrs. Lendon Jackson will be in charge of the supervised play area, and Mrs. Lyford Ames will serve as music chairman.

Increased community participation has been evidenced this year by the increased number of local groups and organizations that have already volunteered their services to assist fair committees.

Trouble, Trouble

In a lighter vein, here are a series of events not recommended for the use of your sick leave. A British newspaper quoted, as an example of "stoicism" the following unsigned letter, ostensibly from a bricklayer in the Barbados to his contracting firm.

"Respected sir, when I got to the building, I found that the hurricane had knocked some of the bricks off the top. So I rigged up a beam with a pulley at the top of the building and hoisted up a couple of barrels full of bricks. When I had fixed the building, there was a lot of bricks left over. I hoisted the barrel back up again and secured the line at the bottom and cast off the line.

"Unfortunately, the barrel of bricks was heavier than I was and before I knew what was happening the barrel started down, jerking me off the ground. I decided to hang on and halfway up I met the barrel coming down and received a severe blow on the shoulder. I then continued to the top, banging my head against the beam and getting my finger jammed in the pulley. When the barrel hit the ground it burst its bottom, allowing all the bricks

David Leek Jones celebrated his fourth birthday with a outdoor party. The big attraction was playing on the "Play Sphere". Many games were played with the winner receiving a prize. Refreshments were served by his mother. Guests present were: Paula and Toni Goodridge, Bobby and David Cunningham, Graham Hanna, Beth, Meg and Chipper McLellan, Sammie May, David Turner and Laurie Jo Fisher.

The Rockland School Board, to spill out.

"I was now heavier than the barrel and so started down again at high speed. Halfway down, I met the barrel coming up and received severe injuries to my shins. When I hit the ground I landed on the bricks, getting severe painful cuts from the sharp edges. At this point I must have lost my presence of mind, because I let go the line. The barrel then came down giving me another heavy blow on the head and putting me in the hospital.

"I respectfully request sick leave."
