ILLEGAL FISHING.

Men Arrested at Middledam For Fishing Rapid River.

[Special correspondence to MAINE WOODS.]

RANGELEY, Sept. 17, 1902.

Messrs. A. C. Davies and M. W. Thompson of Boston were arrested at Middledam by Deputy Warden H. L. Pratt, Tuesday, and arraigned this morning before Trial Justice Herrick. They were charged with fishing in Rapid river, which is closed to all fishing and has been closed for six years.

It appears that these gentlemen, who have been stopping at Upton, with Truman Durkey, were fishing Rapid river when Dr. Norfolk, who is stopping at Middledam, and his guide, Will Laughlin, saw them. The doctor left his guide to watch them and went back to Middledam and complained to the warden.

Warden Pratt went down and arrested the two Boston men, but as Durkey was not fishing did not arrest him.

They were taken to Rangeley where a hearing was held.

The men said they should not have been there, but their landlord at Upton told them it was a good place and, though closed to fishing, none would be likely to catch them.

They were each fined $25 and costs for illegal fishing. They were charged with taking three salmon and were fined $3 for each fish. They paid and returned to Boston by the noon train.

There has been considerable illegal fishing here recently and the people at Middledam are bound it shall be stopped. The deputy warden, H. L. Pratt, is right after violators of the law and will have no mercy to any who may be caught there.

WHITE OUT OF CAMP.
Maine Woods Reporter Interviews Him In Camp.
Has Finished His Vacation and Gone Home.

Fred H. White, son of J. J. White of 136 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, N. Y., who has been reported as lost in the Maine forests has been a guest at Deer Pond Camps. He is but very little concerned about the reports of his disappearance and is probably one of the happiest sportsmen that have visited this region.

He is a great friend of the proprietor of the camps, Mr. A. B. Douglass and it was easily arranged to keep him posted in search of his son.

The reporter, who was sent up there by MAINE WOODS last week to interview the people concerned in this story, was able to see Fred and found him to be a jolly fellow who thoroughly enjoys the Maine lakes and woods. When the reporter reached Eustis and inquired for a buckboard to Deer pond, the suspicions of the people were aroused and it was soon reported that a sheriff was on his way to arrest young White and take him to his father in Brooklyn.

The mail man, who travels on horseback, hurried off and reached Deer Pond Camps far ahead of the reporter. On arriving at these camps Fred White was nowhere to be seen and no one there would mention his name.

For a half a day it was impossible to find anyone who would talk at all. At last a supply of good cigars warmed the heart of one of the laborers until he admitted that Fred White was somewhere about the camp but he didn't know where. After a social time among the campers the reporter got a guide and went out fishing, so that if confidence had been restored, it would give them a chance to bring Fred out from his hiding place. On getting back to the camp after an hour's fishing Fred was there and was introduced to him.

Young Mr. White said, "I don't like so much talk about a little vacation. There is absolutely nothing to make a story about except that I came up here for an outing and my father is determined that I shall go home. I intend to go home in a few days and to enter college."

Fred White was dressed in sweater and golf trousers and enters into the life of these campers in a thoroughly sportsmanlike manner. Nearly every day he walks to some of the neighboring ponds and streams and when word is brought him that his father is coming he takes a trip away for a day. He said, "Last year I was here with my father and he didn't have a good time, nor would he let me. This year I promised to pay his bills at the Poland Spring House if he would stay there and let me stay here. He agreed, but in a few days after my arrival here he came up and wanted me to go home. Since then I have simply evaded him."

Mr. Douglass is a genial man and knows how to give his guests a good time. He is in sympathy with Fred and said, "I am not, as Mr. J. J. White believes, advising his son to stay here, but I like his company and I know enough of the circumstances to believe that he deserves this outing and is doing nothing wrong in taking it."

Fred White and his friend Maurice Henry came out from Deer Pond camps

Sunday afternoon and spent the night at Eustis. Monday morning they separated, White going to Deer River station and taking the Phillips & Rangeley train there, while Henry took the Franklin & Megantic for Kingfield and Strong. White took dinner in Phillips, then crossed the street, subscribed for MAINE WOODS and went to the station.

He was here called up by his father over the long distance telephone and given some advice. He was advised to take a parlor car at Farmington thinking, possibly, that might bar the poor reporters.

At Strong White and Henry met and entered the car talking earnestly and completed the trip to Farmington on the Sandy River railroad.

The boys say they have had a fine time in the woods; that they have tramped, camped and fished to their heart's content. They said they were out on a trip when White's father came into camp. White tramped and reduced his weight materially, while Henry fleshed up.

On their trips they took two blankets and two puffs and made bough beds where they found the fishing good enough to warrant their remaining over night. They enjoyed it. They saw much game on their trips—immense deer, two moose, several bear and many partridges. They say hunting will be good up there this fall.

When they came out Sunday they had rather an exciting time. In fact they put a pretty full day in Sunday, anyway. They went to Spencer and secured horses for the ride out. Then after starting, they had a little runaway and a slight breakdown.

White says he will go to the Lawrenceville school this year and will go to Harvard next year. Henry will study medicine in Columbia.

The boys were met by White's father before they reached Danville Junction

Emblen.

A large moose, was seen here last week.

Deer are plenty and the hunters are practising target shooting.

MOOSELOOKMEGUNTIC HOUSE.

[Special correspondence to the MAINE WOODS.]

MOOSELOOKMEGUNTIC HOUSE,
HAINES LANDING, Sept. 17, 1902.

The most successful season in most respects in the history of this resort is now drawing to a close. In the course of two weeks' time the majority of visitors will have returned to their homes. Only the permanent residents and those who came here for the last of the fishing and the hunting will then be found here.

There have been more deer seen during the past few days than any previous year for some time.

So prosperous and satisfactory has the present season been that already plans of considerable magnitude are being formed for the coming year, having in view the betterment of the transportation facilities between here and Boston.

Mr. N. L. Edwards and family of Bridgeport, Conn., Mrs. E. C. Dean and Mr. Edward Clarence Dean of Washington, D. C., Mr. Robert Strebeigh of New York are among those who went home the past week.

Mr. Berkeley H. Edwards of Bridgeport, Conn., who has been stopping at the Mooselookmeguntic, took a nice string of fish from the wharf in front of his camp last week. They ran from 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 pounds each. The entire catch was 19 1/2 pounds.

A few days ago Mr. Malcomb B. Faile of New York landed a string of fish, among which was a 3 1/2-pound trout.

Mr. Roland Jackson of Swampscott, Mass., landed a beautiful 7-pound trout one day last week. The monster put up a good fight and Mr. Jackson was more than twenty minutes in landing him.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Gage of Swampscott, Mass., are also having excellent luck. They bring in fish almost every day.

Monday, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. V. Faile of New York City were out fishing. They had fished some time without having a strike and Mrs. Faile decided to do some needle work which she happened to have in the boat. She had scarcely begun her work when she had a strike that seemed to be a 5 pound salmon, but after Mrs. Faile landed him it proved to be a 3-pounder which gave her a lot of sport.

Mr. Ira Richards of North Attleboro, Mass., with his wife and daughter, Miss Mammie, are here for a few days' stay. Mr. Richards came well prepared for the fall fishing and will no doubt remain the rest of the fishing days. He is a regular spring patron of the Mooselookmeguntic and has a good record.

Another good catch was made last week by Mr. H. B. Holland of New Bedford, Mass., with R. E. Taylor as guide. He landed a nice string of trout and salmon, the largest a 7 1/2 salmon which he is having mounted by Nash.

Mr. J. N. Wells of New York who is stopping at the Mooselookmeguntic House went into Seven ponds, Monday, for a few days' stay. Mrs. Wells did not accompany him on this trip as formerly.

Landlord Page has added a new two-hundred-light gas machine to the house, which will furnish lights for all the new camps recently built. Other necessary changes and improvements will be made for the benefit of the house.

Mr. N. L. Edwards saw four deer on the carry between Haines Landing and Oquossoc station a few days ago.

Late arrivals are:

D. S. Wing, Geo. O. Fry and wife, Mrs. John P. Thomas, John P. Thomas, Jr., Portland; K. M. Gillman and wife, Geo. J. Lemone, J. W. Archibald, Miss N. A. Twombly, Boston; F. E. BEAVER POND NOTES

[Special correspondence to the MAINE WOODS.]

BEAVER POND, Sept. 17, 1902.

The gossipers was glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Durfee of Middletown, Conn., to Beaver pond this year. This is Mrs. Durfee's first visit here. They are guided by Emery Haley of Rangeley.

The weather has been delightful the past few days and the new moon resting over the mountains makes a beautiful scenic effect. The moonlight evenings are taken advantage of by canoeing parties.

A very enjoyable whist party was given Thursday night in camp Beaver Terror, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Durfee. Four tables were represented which made a merry party. The game began at 8 30 o'clock and twenty hands were played. At the finish the first ladies' prize was awarded to Mrs. Harry P. Page and first gentlemen's prize to Mr. T. M. Durfee. The ladies' booby prize was presented to Mr. J. H. Haines, who acted in the capacity of a lady, and who played in extremely hard luck throughout the evening. This prize was a beet freshly plucked from the garden. The gentlemen's booby prize was presented to Mr. Benj. Coates, who is of Mr. Haines's party. This gentleman was presented with a rubber soap dish. The evening passed very pleasantly, refreshments being served after the game.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Ball have returned to Rangeley. They will later visit Haines Landing, Billy Soule's and surrounding sporting resorts before returning to Boston.

Mr. F. J. Phelps and friend, E. K. Lyman of Holyoke, have returned home after a ten days' visit at Beaver Pond.

Monday morning was gladly welcomed by hunters as being open season on partridge, and many parties of gunners donned their hunting rigs and tramped through the brush in search of the brown winged chickens of the woods. Sad to relate, not a great many trophies of the hunt were brought in as these birds have an aggravating way of sneaking into the underbrush when the sportsman appears gun in hand.

Among the late arrivals are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Durfee, Middletown, Conn., Alexander M. Bing and Irving Blumenthal of New York. These two young men have been camping in Camp No. 1 on Kennebeco lake. They tramped through Saturday having an extremely wet day. They are guided by Herbert Lufkin.

LOON LAKE CAMPS.

[Special correspondence to the MAINE WOODS.]

YORK CAMPS, Sept. 16, 1902.

The hunting and fishing with the clear bright days and cool nights make this the most delightful season in camp. The fishing has been excellent this week, both trout and salmon readily taking the fly. Some handsome catches have been made. The guests were all on the lake fishing yesterday and all were successful. Mrs. L. W. Jackson held the record for the day.

Hon. C. Frank Parkhurst and family of Providence left camp this week. This party of six, having been here two months and being composed of delightful camp mates, is greatly missed.

Mrs. Augustus Champlin and daughter of Portland, returned to their home Tuesday.

Mr. J. S. Farlee of New York, who has hunted in many sections of the United States, is here for partridge shooting. Mr. Farlee saw twelve birds Monday, but some of them he "never touched."

Recent arrivals are:

Mrs. J. H. Barnes, Miss Jean St. Crie, Portland; Mrs. Robert Mallory, Eunice Mallory, Brooklyn; Mrs. P. K. Dexter, Weld; Miss Maud, Joseph W. Sharp, Jr., Benj. Coates, J. H. Haines, Philadelphia; Mr. W. E. Weld and wife, James Ross, guide; Mr. E. P. Bliss and wife, Boston; Miss Karr, Miss Frances Karr, New York; Miss Mary E. Bliss, Italy; Fran Van Neustiz, Marie V. Neustiz, Dresden; Mr. J. S. Farlee, New York; Dr. H. E. Rice, Boston, guides in camp, John Collins, Jim Ross, Ebenezer Hinkley, Frank Porter, Charles Hearn.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1902.

THE question has often been asked if it would be well to stock the Rangeley lakes with white perch. The friends of the perch say it would be an excellent move as the perch are not antagonistic to the other fish and they would afford good summer fishing.

MAINE WOODS would be very glad to publish opinions in regard to this question, for and against the idea.

BIRD shooting is on. Grouse and woodcock are not safe now unless they are in hiding in the underbrush. Many sportsmen rather hunt for birds than for the deer, moose or bear. To them these crisp September days are full of pleasure and interest. It is rather too early now to say how many birds will be shot. No matter if many are seen before the season opens, when the law goes off it may not be so easy to get the grouse or woodcock.

To the hunters of feathered game, Maine and MAINE WOODS extend a welcome.

When Lost in the Woods.

As this is the season of excursions into the country, mountain climbing etc., a few valuable hints are herewith reproduced from St. Nicholas which may prove valuable to parties who design penetrating into the forest recesses of the state:

When you discover that you are lost, first stop and pull yourself together. Recall the direction in which you started from camp—whether you went north, south, east or west. You can always do that if you try. The next step is to fix the compass points. When that is done you will be able to go in the general direction you wish.

Find a mature tree that stands apart from its fellows. Even if it is only slightly separated it will do. The bark of this tree will be harder, drier and lighter in color on the south side. On the north it will be darker, and often at the roots it will have a clump of mold or moss. On the south side of all evergreen trees gum which oozes from wounds or knotholes will be hard and amber colored; on the north this gum is softer, gets covered with dust and is of a dirty gray. In fall or winter nests of insects are in the crevices on their south sides.

A tree which stands in the open will have its larger limbs and rougher bark on the south side. You have many evergreens in your part of the country, cone bearing or coniferous trees—firs, spruces, cedars, hemlocks, pines. They ought to be good compasses. Hardwood trees—the oak, the ash, elms, hickories, mesquites, etc.—have moss and mold on the north. Leaves are smaller, tougher, lighter in color and with darker veins on the south; on the north they are longer, of darker green and with lighter veins. Spiders build on the south sides. In the south tiny plants attach themselves to the north sides. Cedars bend their tips to the south.

Any sawed or cut stump will give you the compass points, because the eccentric rings are thicker on the south side. The heart of the stump is thus nearer to the north side. All these things are the effects of sun. Stones are bare on the south side, and if they have moss at all it will be on the north. At best, on the sunny side only a thin covering of harsh, half dry moss will be found. On the south side of a hill the ground is noisy underfoot. On the north side ferns, mosses and late flowers grow. If you are on a marsh, small brushes will give you the lesson. The leaves and limbs show the same differences. Almost all wild flowers turn their faces to the south. There are many other signs, but I reckon you will find these enough.

Letter to Sandy River Creamery, Phillips, Me.

Dear Sirs: No man has more need of a quick and open mind for good new things than a grocery man. The whole town looks to him for advice to buy this, and not to buy that, among 1001. It's his business to know what is good, to find out quick what is better, to drop the good, and sell his neighbors the better.

Our paint is not new—we are ourselves 145 years old—it is new to some. Read what we guarantee:

"If you have any fault to find with this paint, either now in putting on or afterward in the wear, tell your dealer about it."

"We authorize him to do what is right at our expense."

This is our short way of saying the paint is good. It is better than good; it is best; the only good paint.

Old-fashion painter's paint, lead and oil, is not good any longer—wears out in three years. Ours lasts six years, seven years, eight years, ten years, fifteen—in favorable conditions.

Devote lead and zinc is the paint.

Yours truly,
F. W. DEVOR & Co.

KINEO CLUB ELECTS.

At the annual meeting of the Kineo club these officers were elected: President, Dr. T. U. Coe, Bangor; vice president, Harvey Rowland, Jr., Philadelphia; secretary, Wilder M. The annual handicap tournament of the Northward-Ho! Golf club filled in last week, giving the golfers many close and interesting contests. There were cups for the winners and runners up in each class and events for men and women, with a consolation class for men. The cups were presented by Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Hoyt of New York City. There were also medals for the best net and the best gross scores made in the qualification rounds by both men and women.

Roger D. Lapham of New York City, a member of the Appewamus club (scratch) won the finals from A. H. Shaw of Wellesley, Mass., (18) 2 up and 1 to play. Mr. Shaw was a formidable opponent from the first, a too liberal handicap giving him a decided advantage. He tied for the best net score in the qualification round with J. Henry Hentz, Jr., of Philadelphia and he won his matches down to the finals with apparent ease, but in the last match he was not in his usual form and Mr. Lapham won out in a close fight which was watched with keen interest by a large gallery.

The consolation class was composed of those who failed to qualify in the first rounds of match play and in the list were some of the best players of the club who were put out of business by liberally handicapped men. As a result this class was not without interest. The finals developed into the closest kind of a contest between Enos Wilder, Jr., of Madison, N. J. (scratch), a member of the Morris Country club and Lewis H. Lapham of New York City, (6) a member of the Appewamus club. Wilder won 5 up and 4 to play and in doing so lowered the amateur record of the courses from 84 to 82, making the rounds as follows:

Out, 8 5 5 4 5 5 4 4 5—45
In, 4 3 4 3 5 4 5 3 6—37 82

Mr. Lapham played splendid golf, making the rounds in 47 and 39, two strokes each round behind his opponent.

The women's cup was won by Mrs. Henry Feuchtwanger, (42) of New York from Mrs. F. M. Jones, (21) of Noroton, Conn.

The qualification rounds resulted in the following scores:

J. Henry Hentz, Jr., Philadelphia,	105	84
A. H. Shaw, Wellesley, Mass.,	102	84

THE BANGOR LETTER.

[Special correspondence to the Maine Woods.] BANGOR, Sept. 16, 1902.

Game Warden George Houston was in Bangor last week and while he could not say that there are more deer in the woods of northern Maine at this time than ever before, he seemed of the opinion that they had not decreased to any material extent. He gave it as his opinion that, with good weather, there would be an excellent hunting season in Maine and that sportsmen of experience would be fairly certain of securing as much game as they would want. Sportsmen of little experience, but lots of patience, would, too, he thought, secure a liberal amount of game.

Discussing the question of caribou turning to the state in large numbers, Mr. Houston said that he scarcely looked for them to come back so long as deer remained as plentiful as they now are. Said he:

"It has been said that the deer drive the caribou, of that I can not say from a positive knowledge, but have to speak from what, in a court of law would be called circumstantial evidence. This evidence certainly does indicate that the increase in numbers of the deer is responsible for the decreased numbers of caribou to be found in Maine today.

"Look at Penobscot county. It is not so many years ago that the northern part of it was largely infested with caribou. Most any kind of a hunter, who had only the slightest idea of the habits of the animal, could go out and shoot one, providing he was capable of shooting anything. At that time you had but few deer here. It is said that there were more caribou than deer, but as to that I cannot say and, personally, am inclined to doubt it. Still the ratio of deer over caribou could not have been very large. Then the deer began to multiply and in the course of a few years it was noticed that the supply of caribou was decreasing. People wondered at this fact and laved it to the migratory habits of the animal.

"Now this last may be the cause, but subsequent events, as I am about to relate them seem to contradict it and to indicate that the increase in the numbers of deer is what is really responsible for the going of the caribou.

"At the time the caribou were so thick in Penobscot they were also plenty in Aroostook and when they left Penobscot there was a noticeable increase in the latter county. Now deer were thick in Aroostook and they increased as they had in Penobscot. As the increase in the number of deer became apparent it was also apparent that the number of caribou was decreasing. This was kept on until all the caribou are practically gone from the state, while, without doubt, there are more deer here than there were for years previous to four years ago.

though every year a number of deer are shot in there.

While he was discussing the quickness of deer Mr. Houston told the following story which is interesting:

"Some years ago an up-river man, a guide, and one who should have known better received an offer of $10 for a live deer. Not long afterwards he was out in the woods and came upon a small doe. It was in the winter time and the man was on snow shoes. The deer was stuck in the snow. He thought he would earn the ten, so with a stout cord he secured the little fellow's feet and slung him across his shoulder, the cord from the fore to hind feet passing under his (the man's) chin. Having secured his load, he started for home.

"They had progressed but a short distance when the doe became tired of that kind of transportation and kicked. It was not only a literal but an actual kick, for despite the fact that her feet were secured she managed to do a great deal of threshing. The man's hat was kicked off, his head and face cut, coat torn and finally, the struggles threw him. Being on snowshoes he couldn't rise and he couldn't get the deer free, so that he was in a very serious predicament. How long he could have survived is hard to ing in number.

"If this means anything it is that the deer drive the caribou.

"Now some folks would think that the caribou being the larger animal it would be the opposite, but let me tell you that a deer is the smartest animal that is to be found in the woods. If they were half the size of a moose they could whip them. The only thing that saves the moose is his size."

In connection with the disappearance of the caribou from Penobscot upon the increase of the deer the following is corroborative. Out in the town of Holden, about six miles from Bangor there is what is called Hungry meadow. It is a large tract covering a great many acres and the old men of the neighborhood and of the city, who enjoyed hunting in those days say that thirty or forty years ago it was alive with caribou, while a deer was seldom seen there, but that after a time the deer began to multiply until it has been years and years since a caribou was seen in that locality, say, but fortunately a crew of wood-choppers heard his cries and went to his assistance. He was confined to the house for nearly two months as a result of the kick which the tied animal administered to him.

Friends of Dan Cummings, proprietor of the camps at Square lake, will regret to hear that for the past three months he has been ill with a felon upon his hand. Though he has had the very best of medical treatment it has only been within the past few weeks that he has shown any improvement.

The report that the Island camps at Fish lake had been burned was incorrect. It was a smaller camp at Chase lake, owned by the proprietor of the Island camps and used for the accommodation of parties stopping at the main camp who desired to make a trip to Chase lake.

DEER IN CUMBERLAND.

Abundance of Deer Around Sebago Lake This Year.

"Linc" Daniels, formerly of Portland but for the past few years a resident of Sebago, was in that city recently for the purpose, as he said, of "getting a new shooting iron." He makes home near the lake and acts as guide for hunters and fishermen when they need such services. He reports that deer are quite plentiful in the woods near Sebago lake and he intends with his new gun to get a couple as soon as the season opens the first of next month.

Mr. Daniels says that he has frequently seen deer during the past month, being as near as 30 feet of one no longer ago than last week. This was a big buck which evidently knew that he had no gun, for the deer looked at him without much fear and trotted off very leisurely. It was not long ago that he saw a buck swimming across the lake and watched him until he was nearly out of sight. Later the deer came back and swam ashore near his camp, so near in fact, that some ladies who were staying there at the time had a good chance to see the animal as he climbed up the bank.

The shooting season in Cumberland county is short, lasting only through the month of October, but in that time there will be many hunters in the woods around Sebago lake, and it may be that they will meet with just as good success as those who journey to the remote regions of the more northern counties. The hunting near Sebago is attended with a great deal more comfort than in any part of the state, as the sportsman does not have to travel so far for a shot.

BALD MOUNTAIN CAMPS.

[Special correspondence to MAINE WOODS.]

BALD MOUNTAIN CAMPS, HAINES LANDING, Sept. 16, 1902. This is the time of the year when we must say goodbye to our guests and never have our friends left more reluctantly, for this is one of the best months in the year to be in the woods.

The fishing has been very good the last week and some large ones have been landed. Mr. H. L. Stearns of Medford, Mass., has one 8-pound salmon, one 4-pounder and several small trout to his credit.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Boston Stearns have returned home. This is their second season here and they have engaged their camp for the entire season next year.

Mr. Fred M. Treat and Mr. J. H. McMurray of the Prudential Life Insurance company of Newark are with us. They are both experts with the camera and have secured some splendid views.

Mrs. Lucy T. Wilson and Miss Harriett E. Wilson of Portland spent a week with us and say they never found a lovelier spot. We hope to see them again, for they were charming guests.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Foster Clark of North Attleboro, Mass., will be here the rest of the month. Mr. Clark is an old timer in this section, although it is five years since he was here. He says he got the Maine fever and could not stay away any longer. He is here for the shooting. The birds had better be on their guard for he is an expert with the gun.

Among our new arrivals are the following: Joe H. Leighton, John D. Beatty, Philadelphia; John E. Stephens, Rumford Falls; Mrs. Olin Rowe, Miss Hazel Rowe, Rangely; Miss Eva Fish, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Higgins, Miss Rhoda A. Higgins, Mr. R. Armstrong, New York City; Miss Harriet E. Wilson, Mrs. Lucy T. Wilson, Portland; Fred M. Treat, So. Orange, N. J.; Jas. H. McMurray, Vailsburg, N. J.; E. O. Noyes, Boston; J. M. Bennett, Portland.

Some Fishing Catches.

People talk about large bass but it is pretty hard to estimate their weight correctly, and sometimes fishermen prefer to guess.

There was a bass taken at North pond the other day which was 19½ inches in length and 5½ inches in depth from back to belly. Almost any weight might have been assigned to this by guessers, but the exact weight was 34 pounds. This fish was part of a day's catch by Frank Champlin and R. F. Morgan. They also took that day nine other bass, a pickerel weighing 4½ pounds and seventy perch.

A party stopping at Mrs. Gleason's cottage caught in Ellis pond Friday a salmon weighing 4 pounds and a large number of fine white perch, weighing 1 pound apiece. It was a big catch. One of the party lost what was estimated to be a 5-pound trout.

An Unapproachable Trout Pond.

A North Saco man who was in Biddeford recently said that in spite of the thorough search made by local fishermen there is one pond well stocked with trout that but few people know about, even though it is within three miles of the city. The pond, he went on to say, is in the middle of the Great Heath and is so well stocked that it will never be in danger of being fished to death, for the reason that it cannot be approached. The surface of the heath is covered with thick moss, this being in some places many feet deep. The pond is in the middle of the heath and in order to get to it one must pass through this soft moss, so yielding that one would sink so far that he could not get out alone.

Because the pond is so surrounded it is never fished and therefore forms a perfect breeding place for the trout. It is well known that every stream that flows out of the heath is a trout brook and it is believed that this due to the pond in the center.

KING AND BARTLETT.

[Special correspondence to MAINE WOODS.]

SPENCER, Sept. 15, 1902.

King and Bartlett has only two vacant cabins at the present writing so that anyone wishing to pay us a visit would do well to write at once to secure accommodations.

The fishing has been somewhat better the past week and a number of good catches have been reported. Lowell Lincoln, Jr. and Robert Hathaway, with Guides Otis W. Ham and Joe St. Ober, returned from our Spencer Lake camp yesterday with a fine lot of trout.

Henry Hathaway, with Guide Billy Myers, fished Baker brook yesterday and returned with a fine string of the speckled beauties.

Mr. J. Harry Bratton, wife and Miss Edith Mustin are arranging to camp for a few days at Spencer Stream camp.

On Thursday last Harry Pierce rode down to the Spencer Stream camp to see about making some improvements there. He left his horse to graze in the field while he looked around the cabin. He had not been gone long when a cry of alarm from the horse brought him back in time to see a large bull moose stalking by as unconcerned as could be.

It continued on the road until it reached the bridge where it halted on the main span and gazed around. It was a sight to delight an artist and Harry says he would have given ten dollars for the loan of camera just then. It was the largest moose Mr. Pierce had ever seen and he has seen a great many.

The arrivals for the week are: Mr. Robeson, wife and daughter of Springfield, Mass., with Billy McClintock guide; Harry C. Russell, W. M. Watkins, A. Hamilton Backus of Boston; J. E. Jenkins, wife and daughter of Lynn, Mass.; Chas. and Wm. J. Epting of Philadelphia.

Last Day of the Fair.

Thursday's Races.

The 2.30 class was called promptly at 2 o'clock. William H. drew the pole, with Raven Wilkes second, Scrap, third and Marcia T. fourth. A slight delay was caused by a breakage in the harness of William H. They were sent away with but little scoring. The horses came under the wire at the mile with the same positions in which they started.

Time, .35, 1.12, 1.45, 2.24. The 35 class was held up for a short time on account of an accident to the sulky of Robert T. Robert was somewhat afraid of the band music, reared and fell, staying up the sulky quite badly, but injuring neither horse nor driver.

Hiram H. drew the pole in the .35 class; Iona, second; Black Ledo, third, and Robert T. fourth. "We have had some delay now, so get away as soon as you can, gentlemen," said Starter Horn to the drivers. "I don't want to make you fellows contribute anything to the society, but I'll have to if you don't come to the wire as you ought to." They scored down several times without being sent away, when Black Ledo's near sulky wheel was found to be broken and another delay was necessary. "We'll be here till dark if they are all like this deal to get away," said Mr. Horn, complacently. The sulky was soon exchanged for another and scoring commenced again.

First heat, .35, 1.12, 1.51, 2.36. Black Ledo, first; Robert T. second; Iona, third; Hiram H. fourth.

The second heat in the .30 class was very exciting. Marcia T. came in first, William H. second, Raven Wilkes, third, and Scrap, fourth.

Time, .35, 1.10, 1.47, 2.24. When the horses in the .35 class came up for the word in the second heat, Starter Horn gave the drivers some good advice and not much scoring was done. Black Ledo took the lead and held it easily to the finish, coming under the wire handsomely amidst cheers from the grand stand.

Time, .30, 1.15, 1.53, 2.37. Black Ledo, first; Iona, second; Robert T. third; Hiram H. fourth.

Third heat in the .30 class: Time, .34, 1.00, 1.45, 2.24.

William H. first; Marcia T. second; Raven Wilkes, third; Scrap, fourth.

"That was a good one," said all the judges, referring to the third heat in the .30 class. "And the next heat in the .35 class will decide that race unless the white one tumbles down," remarked Starter Horn. "Take that little girl off from the track or she'll be killed," sang out some good Samaritan from the grand stand.

In the third heat of the .35 class, J. R. Toothaker got up behind Robert T. and was told he need not weigh.

Time, .30, 1.16, 1.50, 2.30. Black Ledo, first; Hiram H. second; Iona, third; Robert T. fourth.

Black Ledo took first money; Iona, second; Hiram H. third, and Robert T. fourth. Dennis Soule at this juncture cheered for Crosbyville. He called for a tiger but the band played. This was a horse race that the crowd enjoyed.

Starter Horn called the 2.18 class, announcing that Elder Boone had drawn the pole and Cyril H. second position. These two horses scored down three times and were sent away.

Time, .38, 1.19, 1.53, 2.31. Cyril H. first; Elder Boone, second.

In the fourth heat of the .30 class the horses were sent off with but very little scoring. At the quarter the four were well bunched, but at the three-quarters they broke away separating at the half and having plenty of distance between them at the mile. William H. came in first; Marcia T. second; Scrap, third, and Raven Wilkes, fourth.

Time, .35, 1.15, 1.40, 2.29. William H. won first money; Marcia T. second; Raven Wilkes, third, and Scrap, fourth.

This finished the .30 class. The crowd had been well catered to and all seemed satisfied. At ten minutes past five but one heat of the 2.18 class had been trotted off, but the people were anxious to see this race and although a good many had left the grand stand they lingered on the grounds. At nineteen minutes past five Cyril H. and Elder Boone were ready for business in the second heat. After they had scored twice, Pottle's sulky was disabled and another had to be substituted. This heat was a fairly good one, Cyril H. coming in ahead.

Time, .30, 1.12, 1.40, 2.26. It was necessary to wait for the next heat and as there were no other classes to sandwich in, the time hung rather heavily. Those who stayed were willing, for they wanted to see it out, although a good many remarked, "I would like to see another man put onto Elder Boone's sulky." The horses got the word at two minutes of six and were sent away the first time down. Cyril H. won the heat and race.

Time, .37, 1.14, 1.52, 2.30. Timers, S. L. Withee, A. C. Scribner; starter, A. D. Horn; judges, A. D. Horn, F. E. Carville, Geo. W. Harris.

Words of greeting, Rev. Charles Harbutt.
Hymn, Pastor.

Benediction, Pastor.
At 7:30 in the evening the ordination services began. A good congregation was present, and the exercises were listened to with marked attention.

The speakers of the evening and others, both members of the council and those who were not, spoke many words of commendation, congratulating both Mr. Peterson and the churches in Phillips and Strong upon the settling of this pastor.

In the three months that Mr. Peterson has been on these fields he has obtained a strong hold upon the people. His earnest words have inspired his hearers. He has shown himself to be a student and a thinker. His congregations have steadily increased and his hold upon the people is growing. Below is given his statement of belief as read before the council.

Statement of Christian Belief.

BRETHREN AND FATHERS IN THE FAITH:

It is most meet that a careful statement of my Christian experience should first have been given, for in and through it I have found cause to believe these principles, which I would call, not my systematic theology, but my living Christian belief. If the form of statement be a departure from accepted ways it is because the truth has come to me in a different form; and if the statement seem overfull it is not my aim to teach those who have been longer than I in the school of God, but that my faith and hope may be clearly presented.

I. I believe in God, the eternal self-existent ground and cause of all things; that he is personal spirit, holy, just, righteous, gracious, omniscient, omnipotent and omnipresent.

II. I believe that the world of phenomena which we call the universe is the eternal expression of God's life; that in it he is active and expresses his will by immanent causing of every force, movement and change, thus leaving nothing to be ruled from without; that this movement, a small fraction of which we discern in the evolution of the worlds, is the eternal working of his will.

III. I believe that in the evolution of this eternal process man has resulted as the supreme material expression of God's life; that in and through his physical organism a personal spirit, akin to God, endowed with self-determining will and with power over things, expresses itself.

IV. I believe that in the whole cosmic order there is a power we call evil, whose origin is veiled in mystery; that this power expresses itself in the free volitions of man when it is called sin; that under its influence man is at enmity with God, and with God, and with the true nature of his own being.

V. I believe that in the human person of Jesus of Nazareth, God, in a special, unique and mysterious manner, entered human life, provided for and revealed to man the way of redemption from sin; that in the divine economy this incarnation, in a manner hid from human understanding, is the center of all human evolution; that in the life and death of Jesus there was added to the warfare of good against sin a new factor mysteriously working with man and God.

VI. I believe that God works in human life, operating on thought, desire and will, not with causal compulsion, but with free spiritual influence, leaving man to yield or refuse; that thus the spirit of man is in communion with God; that this activity of God is in Scripture called the Holy Spirit.

VII. I believe that the way of redemption provided and revealed by the Lord Jesus is the new life of the Christian; that this new life is a returning to the true condition of man from the influence of sin; that its beginning may be various, a gradual growth from childhood, a gradual growth in mature life, or a spiritual crisis usually called conversion; that it is begun and nurtured by the human spirit's yielding to, and fellowship with the spirit of God; that it inevitably produces a striving for purity, righteousness and truth; that it brings forgiveness and peace from God.

VIII. I believe that the normal expression of this new life is a visible fellowship with those who have entered the same, for its nurture and guidance and for its exercise in Christian love and duty; that the Lord Jesus commanded and established this fellowship as the Christian church among his own disciples; that such a church consists in a voluntary covenant of those who have chosen the new life; that its only Lord and law giver is Jesus Christ, under whom they are all brethren and equal; that for the good of the members of the church one or more of their number should be set apart as a minister under the Lord Jesus for their spiritual instruction and care and for the winning of other souls from sin.

IX. I believe that God has given to man special means for the fostering of the new life, namely the Bible, baptism, the Lord's supper and the Lord's day.

X. I believe that the Bible is a body of literature drawn out of a unique religious life among the Hebrew people; that through the religious consciousness of the prophets God revealed in the imperfect forms of human thought, eternal principles of religious truth; that in the national history of Israel God revealed also his mysterious provision for the redemption of man; that in the New Testament is given a true record and interpretation of the life and teachings of Jesus Christ; that this collection of books was written at sundry times and in divers manners, by men who were moved, but not ruled, by the spirit of God; that these books are to be interpreted according to the laws of psychological, historical and literary criticism; that their authority is vital, not formal, is spiritual, not legal; that when reverently and faithfully used they reveal the true nature of God, the nature of man and of his redemption.

XI. I believe that baptism is a symbol of spiritual cleansing and renewal, and yet since human life is wrought in symbols—it becomes through faith a mysterious reality, a means of entrance into the new life; that the mode and time does not essentially affect its value.

XII. I believe that the Lord's supper is a sacred memorial of our Lord's death and life, and a bond of union among his followers; that its divine symbolism sinks into the heart of the believer and brings spiritual communion with God; that it belongs to all who consciously use or who enjoy the new life.

XIII. I believe that the Lord's day is a divine provision for human need, sanctioned and hallowed by God's revelation; that it fills a physical necessity for bodily rest, and a spiritual necessity for the nurture of the new life; that its violation is a sin against our physical, social and spiritual natures.

XIV. I believe that the true end and purpose of human life is complete redemption from sin, and perfect growth in righteousness and truth into the likeness of God; that the new life brings gradually this redemption to individual believers by transforming their wills into harmony with God's will, by purifying their motives and desires with the grace of love, and by leading their understanding into the clear light of truth; that the result of this individual redemption must necessarily be a social redemption from all the influences of sin throughout human life, and the establishing of love, righteousness and truth.

XV. I believe that death is a stage in the infinite evolution of life, not the final arbiter of human destiny; that the dark mystery of sin is not destroyed by it, but the spirit of man is under its influence until redeemed by voluntarily choosing the new life; that God is eternally and unchangeably the Father of our spirits in love; that man is eternally and unchangeably a child of God; that these two truths demand and provide the possibility for the spirit of man to find God and choose him at all times and in all places; that it is also eternally in the power of man to choose and obey sin and to live in rebellious alienation from God.

XVI. I believe that the new life begun in this world will in our spiritual life after death completely redeem our spirits from sin, till in the full harmony of love and truth, we shall be glorified in the perfect likeness of God; that in this spirit life the self-conscious personality shall be freed from all the trammels of physical life; that we shall know and be known by all the spirits of just men made perfect; that in perfect knowledge and love we shall see, know and commune with the God of all love and truth.

These principles do not cover the whole circle of divine truth, but I believe they are concentric with it. They represent faithfully what to this day I have learned of God, and I firmly believe that they will grow into a deeper and clearer comprehension of that large life which God gives to his children. Because they are to me the truth as it is in Christ Jesus it is the aim of my life to teach these principles with all clarity and reverence, always seeking for a fuller light and for a better understanding of God's will.

FAIR AT FARMINGTON.

Agricultural Exhibit Franklin County Society's Park.

Races That Held Attention of the Bleachers.

[Special correspondence to MAINE WOODS.]
FARMINGTON, Sept. 18, 1902.

The weather Tuesday morning was propitious for the opening of the Franklin County Agricultural society's show and fair at Farmington. The people began to gather early and by 10 o'clock a good sized crowd was on the grounds. The program for the forenoon was exhibition of town teams, best and best matched oxen and steers, beef cattle, registered and grade stock and boys' scoring contest, trial of strength and discipline of oxen under 7 feet, trial of trained steers and exhibition of sheep, swine and poultry. The 2.50 and 2.30 races were called at 1 o'clock.

There were more gilt edge steers on the ground than for a number of years. The towns of Farmington, Wilton, Temple and Chesterville showed as fine large oxen as can be found in any section of the state. More cattle were on the grounds than ever before. Elegant herds of the different breeds were exhibited and attracted universal attention. Elbridge Dill drove in his famous Hereford herd, which were much admired. C. L. Green of Wilton showed his Herefords, fat as hogs. Dr. E. P. Turner's prize herd of Guernseys received many words of praise, which they richly deserved. E. P. Dyke's six yoke of 3 years-old steers, all Herefords except one pair, and driven in from Mr. Dyke's stock farm at Chesterville would be hard to equal by any farmer in Maine.

In fine, the long strings of heavy oxen and prime steers, the rich herds of registered Jerseys, Holsteins, Durhams, Guernseys and Herefords, together with the valuable grades of the different breeds, give one the assurance that stock breeding and dairying is certainly at the fore in Franklin county and not retrograding as some would have us believe.

The sheep and lambs shown in Franklin's shire on Tuesday were a credit to this industry, and many were the love of this profitable animal that gathered around the sheep pens during the day.

The exhibition of swine, both large and small, was excellent and the squeals and grunts elicited from the occupants of the pigpens were not those of hunger or homesickness, but of satisfaction at the nice quarters prepared for them in the new building recently built by the society.

The poultry came to the show in large numbers and long rows of coops containing biddies large and biddies small received their share of notice, judging from the large number seen at all times in the poultry building.

Taken altogether, Tuesday was a star day for the show and everybody went home at night feeling that it had been a day well spent.

In the 2.50 class there were five starters, viz, Lin Brino, owned by L. Morrison of East Livermore; Bird Wilkes, owned by Furbish & Butler, Rangeley; Hiram H, owned by E. F. McMullen, Kingfield; Twinkle, owned by F. G. Davis, Kingfield and Jack the Ripper, owned by W. F. Webb, Augusta. The horses got away without scoring, Twinkle owning the pole at the start, Lin Brino, 2d, Hiram H, 3d, Bird Wilkes, 4th, Jack the Ripper, 5th.

Bird Wilkes forged ahead and took the pole before reaching the quarter and kept it to the three-quarters, when she made a break lending the pole to Jack the Ripper which he held to the home stretch when Bird Wilkes took it again and kept it home coming under the wire easily in 2.32 1/2.

The 2.30 class being called these horses answered to the word, Marcia T, owned by T. M. Parker, Phillips; Raven Wilkes, owned by H. E. Skidmore, No. Anson; Fowler, owned by C. H. Simpson, Waterville; Nettie W, owned by F. E. Southard, Skowhegan. Raven Wilkes drew first position, Nettie W, 2d; Marcia T, 3d; Fowler, 4th. This was a good heat, with Raven Wilkes, 1st; Marcia T, 2d; Nettie W, 3d and Fowler, 4th.

The second heat of the 2.50 race was won by Jack the Ripper, Hiram H coming in 2d; Bird Wilkes, 3d; Lin Brino, 4th and Twinkle, 5th. Bird Wilkes came under the wire second horse but was set back on account of continual breaking.

Nettie W threw a shoe in the first heat and a delay was occasioned on this account before the second heat of the 2.30 class could be started. The horses came down just once for this heat and were sent away. Marcia T grasped the pole before the first quarter was reached and held it home being pressed at the stretch by Raven Wilkes. The heat was won by Marcia T, Raven Wilkes, 2d; Nettie W, 3d and Fowler, 4th.

The word was given with but little scoring in the third heat of the 50 class. This was a horse race, the contest being between Bird Wilkes and Jack the Ripper. These two made a grand fight for honors in this heat, while Twinkle, Hiram H and Lin Brino brought up the rear. It was a battle royal between these two horses but Bird Wilkes won out in 2.32 1/2, Jack the Ripper 2d, Hiram H 3d, Lin Brino 4th, Twinkle 5th.

A fine send off was given in the third heat of the 50 race. Marcia T led being hard pushed by Raven Wilkes, so much so, that Marcia T was forced to the rear, but only by a neck however, the horses coming to the finish with this position, Raven Wilkes 1st, Marcia T 2d, Nettie W 3d, and Fowler 4th.

The races so far had been started with very little scoring and the fourth heat in the 2.50 class was no exception. The race in this class was really between Bird Wilkes and Jack the Ripper, but at the same time Bird Wilkes was not hurried home in this heat, as had been the case in some of the previous ones, and he won the heat and race.

The fourth heat in the 30 class resulted in Marcia T falling back one point. Nettie W taking her place. This heat closed the race, giving the heat to Raven Wilkes 1st, Nettie W 2d, Marcia T 3d, and Fowler 4th.

Races Wednesday.

The races at the Franklin County fair this afternoon were hard fought and full of interest from start to finish.

The 2.20 class was won by Genevieve in three straight heats after the first, which was won by Commander. It was a question between Genevieve and Commander and Geo. Bonnalie's Al Pointer through the race.

The 2.27 class had six starters through the first three heats when Esther was drawn. Then there were five fighters. They were bunched quite a part of the time. Owing to the habit Nancy G has of going sideways in a break there was occasionally danger that somebody would lose a wheel. In the first heat Nelson's Modena was set back from 1st to 2d place for running. Although Mr. Nelson didn't go under the wire first in another heat there was a feeling throughout the race that he might do so at any time. Pottle showed very strong symptoms of winning first money and it is thought that he had to be content with second place in at least one heat on account of the unfortunate way Nancy has of breaking on the stretch.

A little Farmington girl, Miss Melcher, lost a wallet some time during the afternoon containing $6 or $8. The loss was announced from the judges stand and as the finder did not appear, C. H. Nelson started a fund with $2.00 for the young lady and very soon collected between $7 and $8 for her benefit. Starter Hatch called the young lady into the judges stand and made her happy by presenting her with the cash.

ATTEMPTED ESCAPE.

Prisoners in County Jail Plot to Regain Liberty.

Herbert Holbrook Attempts Suicide in His Cell.

[Special correspondence to the MAINE WOODS.]
FARMINGTON, Sept. 17, 1902.

A conspiracy which has been kept quiet since June has just been given out. The matter will be heard by the grand jury of Franklin county at their meeting on Tuesday next.

It seems that Claudius Hatch of Kingfield, who is in the Farmington jail charged with assault with intent to maim his father, and Harvey Leighton of Bangor, who was held on charge of assault and battery and attempting to resist arrest, tried to break jail. These prisoners were placed in the same cell next the back of the jail. A regulation iron bedstead was in the room. Hatch charged frequently for pepper tea and he was given the ingredients and allowed to make his own tea.

The prisoners were allowed the run of the corridors each morning for exercise. One morning Beard, who occupied a cell near Hatch, placed a bit of paper into Jailer Fowler's hand. It told him of the plan of the two to escape and that they were to use the pepper Hatch had been saving, if occasion required.

Mr. Fowler looked into the matter and found that they were planning to make an escape and that he had been warned just in time. The iron beds were then taken from the cells and replaced by hammocks.

A close watch was kept of the prisoners and it was soon discovered that several bricks had been taken out. The county commissioners then fitted the back wall of the cells with steel plates.

Herbert Holbrook, who is in jail here awaiting trial on charge of murdering his wife in Wilton a week ago, attempted to commit suicide by hanging, Tuesday night.

Holbrook has been in a bad physical condition since being committed to jail. He is said to have been a hard drinker and to have been addicted to the morphine habit. By not having these stimulants he became despondent. The prisoners sleep in hammocks. He took a rope from his hammock and tied it around the ventilator at the back of his cell. Then he knotted the rope around his neck, but the knot slipped up to his mouth instead of coming against his windpipe when he kicked his chair away.

The struggle attracted the attention of an attendant who had been placed in the corridor to watch him. Jailer Fowler and a physician soon arrived and let him down.

It is not expected that any serious results will follow. Holbrook suffered an epileptic fit Sunday.

MERRY PARTIES AT RANGELEY.

[Special correspondence to the MAINE WOODS.]
RANGELEY, Sept. 17, 1902.

A merry party of sixteen visited Moxley last Monday night and enjoyed a chicken fry. The party was composed of the following: Helen Haines, Nellie Lamb, Lena McLaughlin, Hazel Rowe, Eva Spencer, Leona Haines, Annie Spencer, Thorne Haines, Rev. R. S. W. Roberts, Dana Carlton, Read Ellis, Fred Carlton, Clifford Pillsbury, Harry Huntton, Ed Spencer, Will Spencer.

The down trip was much enjoyed, the party going in a hayrack, a turnout of Mr. Isaac Ellis. When the party arrived at Moxley ledge the cook, Rev. R. S. W. Roberts, soon began work, his assistant, the entire delegation of young men being of great service in the preparation of the feast. A rousing fire was soon started and the fun began. In a very short time the young men prepared a menu fit for a king, which they then invited the ladies to partake of.

The following is the bill of fare:

Fried Chicken	Fried Chicken.	Fried Chicken.
Bread.	Fried Chicken, Olives.	Butter.
Cookies.	Cookies.	Cookies.
Pears.	Peaches.

It was a jolly party that returned to Rangeley village that night. An impromptu quartet was formed which may have been composed of four, more or less, which furnished music both classical and modern.

A hulled corn supper was given in the Grange hall last Saturday evening under the auspices of the Grangers. It was well attended and a very pleasant evening was passed.

A party of twenty-five drove out on the Dead River road one night recently and had a corn roast. The usual amount of corn was consumed, regardless of its scarcity, this year, and the party pronounced the trip one of the successes of the season.

—M. W. Harden, one of the Phillips story tellers, relates the experience of an old gentleman who called at the local drug store one day several years ago when the late Tyler Lambert owned it. Mr. Lambert had just put in a soda fountain, the first one that had ever been owned in Phillips. Mr. Lambert hadn't had much experience in drawing soda and he only put in about ten drops of the syrup for a starter. He was mixing a soda to give to the old gentleman—who was about to drink soda for the first time. Mr. Lambert held the glass under the fountain and gave the knob a turn. There was a lively sizzle and the glass filled immediately. Mr. Lambert told his guest to hurry up and drink. This he tried to do but, as Mr. Harden tells it, he was "one swallow behind" all the time. As he tipped the glass it steadily evaporated a little to fast for him to drink any of it and it finally vanished. The old gentleman passed back the glass and with a subdued expression on his face said, "Waal, Tyler, that's the nearest nothin' that ever I see."

THE PRESIDENT

Of the City Council, Wilkes-barre, Pa., Cured of Rheumatism.

Col. Wm. J. Harvey, a president of Wilkesbarre's city council, who will long be remembered for his great work for the city, was once a mere physical wreck, torn in every muscle and nerve from the frightful pains caused by rheumatism. He consulted the best physicians, went abroad, took mud baths, and almost every known treatment for the disease. A friend had had a very similar experience and Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy had cured him, so he recommended this great kidney medicine to Col. Harvey and it is to-day a well man, hale and hearty. He writes straight to the point:

DR. DAVID KENNEDY,
Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I was permanently cured of rheumatism by the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

Wm. J. HARVEY.
Rheumatism is but another name for uric acid poisoning which is caused primarily by diseased kidneys. Cure your kidneys and the rheumatism disappears. For all diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood, rheumatism, dyspepsia and chronic constipation, as well as sicknesses peculiar to women, Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is unquestionably the greatest medicine known to the medical profession.

It is for sale by all druggists in the New 50 Cent Size and the regular $1.00 size bottles—less than a cent a dose. Sample bottle—enough for trial, free by mail. Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y.

Among the crew of men imported from Boston last week by Mr. Mitchell to work on the branch railroad at South Rangeley, one man, named Forbes, was found who didn't seem to know where he was or what he was doing. He imagined he could see dogs and cats and flower gardens anywhere along the track. Mr. Estey was sent for and he took the man to Rangeley and put him in the lockup. After being here he grew worse and will probably be sent to Augusta or back to Boston.

UP IN KINGFIELD.

(Special correspondence to MAINE WOODS.)
KINGFIELD, Sept. 17, 1902.

Saturday evening Mrs. W. S. Bailou entertained nineteen of the scholars of the Universalist Sunday school at the vestry. Notwithstanding the rain, a very pleasant evening was spent.

Rev. J. J. Hull of Pittsfield preached in the Free Baptist church Sunday morning and evening to large congregations. His sermons were very much enjoyed. Tuesday evening he gave another very interesting address on "Missionary Life and Work on the Frontier."

Sunday morning three candidates were baptized into the Free Baptist church and in the evening were given the right hand of fellowship.

At the town meeting Saturday the town voted to put up seven new electric lights, and determined the location. One is to be placed at the corner of Main and High streets towards New Portland; one on Maple street; two on Riverside street, and two between the residence of Oren Tufts and the Lord bridge.

The ball given by the young men Friday night was a very pleasant occasion. Not very many from town attended, but a special from Phillips and Strong brought over a good number from there. Supper was served.

The fire company is having hat hooks and a box for their fire clothes put onto the hose reel so that these accessories will be at the fire ready for any who are unable to get to the hose house before the reel starts out.

Mr. P. O. Miller is so far recovered from his illness as to be able to ride out. Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Brown of Bigelow were down to visit him Sunday.

Dr. and Mrs. O. W. Simmons went the first of the week to Massachusetts. The doctor has not decided whether he will locate in Lynn or Everett, but will decide when there. There is an opening in both cities.

Mrs. Thomas Bradbury has been quite ill for several days.

Mr. Will Dana of Lowell has joined his wife at the home of her father, L. Pullen.

Mr. I. C. Mayo of Wilton visited his mother, Mrs. J. B. Mayo, over Sunday.

Mr. L. W. Pottle spent Sunday in town. Mrs. Pottle returns to Livermore Falls this week.

Miss Mae Clark spent Saturday and Sunday at North New Portland.

Mrs. Martha Dolbier has broken up housekeeping and has gone to live with her daughter, Mrs. W. H. H. Small.

Mr. W. B. Small has rented the stand formerly occupied by the late Col. Wm. Dolbier and will move in soon.

Mrs. B. C. Webster has returned from her visit at Stratton. She has been sick the most of the time since she has been gone.

The frost of Sunday night did quite an amount of damage to the crops.

Worth Your While.

It will be worth everybody's while to visit Boston any time after Sept. 22.

That is the date of the opening of Mechanics Fair, which will continue until Nov. 1.

The Fair this year is the first that has been held in four years, and will undoubtedly be the finest exhibition ever given by this well known association.

Mechanics Building is already being crowded with enormous crates containing the most modern and delicate machinery of every description. This is fast being put in place, and by the twenty second of this month visitors will have the pleasure of witnessing not only the manufacturing of some of the most interesting products of New England and other States but also have the chance of viewing all kinds of rare productions that are the result of man's handiwork.

Besides this part of the Fair there will be many interesting entertainments continually in progress. One of the finest bands in the country has been engaged which will play afternoons and evenings. The management have also procured a wonderful educated horse that will give performances every half hour. The enormous stage in the building has been fitted up to accurately portray Niagara Falls. This will be an extremely interesting and natural scenic reproduction with real water pouring in a marvelous cascade from an enormous height into a genuine rushing river below.

When it is considered that only 25 cents admission will be charged and that will include everything, it would seem that the public had never had presented to them before the opportunity of enjoying so much and for so small an outlay.

Hardy Remmon.

The family of the late Orrin Hardy of Weld assembled at Chas. A. Hardy's of Webb, Sept. 2, and there partook of a bountiful dinner. After dinner the family took a ride to Centre Hill cemetery and from thence to the old homestead, where the pleasures of childhood were discussed and places of fond recollection viewed. This family consisted originally of thirteen children, nine of whom survive, eight married. There are sixteen grandchildren. Mrs. Mary Hardy, mother of this family, was present on this occasion and enjoys quite good health.

After having one of the pleasantest times in the history of the family, Mrs. C. F. Rowell was chosen president, and Miss Virgie Rowell, secretary. Both ladies reside in Wilton. The family then adjourned for one year. It is hoped that all that can will be present next year. The day was one of the pleasantest of the season. There were two double and eight single teams from Phillips, containing twenty relatives, all of whom enjoyed the ride very much. W. H.

MISS VIRGINIA GRANES

Graduate Nurse, and President of Nurses' Association of Watertown, N.Y.,

Tells How Much Doctors Use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Has Yet To Hear of Its Failure To Cure.

It is not infrequent that information comes to our attention proving that the medical profession in general prescribe large quantities of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in their private practise.

It is a fact beyond dispute that nowhere is to be found a remedy so universally successful in curing female ills, and the broad-minded physician of to-day is quick to recognize his duty to his patient, and does not hesitate to prescribe the best medicine he can find,—the medicine that is surest and quickest to bring relief to his patient; for this very reason thousands of the very best physicians are prescribing in their treatment of female ills Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, while not in the original bottles perhaps, but in plain prescription bottles with their own or druggists' name.

It is our pleasure and our privilege to publish a letter from a graduate nurse whose reputation and prominence in her profession lends much weight to her opinions, and whose testimony goes to prove our statements in regard to the high esteem in which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is held by our leading physicians and trained nurses.

MISS VIRGINIA GRANES.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Twelve years continuous service at the sick beds in some of our prominent hospitals, as well as at private homes, has given me varied experiences with the diseases of women. I have nursed some most distressing cases of inflammation and ulceration of the ovaries and womb. I have known that doctors used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when everything else failed with their patients. I have advised my patients and friends to use it, and have yet to hear of its first failure to cure.

"Four years ago I had falling of the womb from straining in lifting a heavy patient, and knowing of the value of your Compound I began to use it at once, and in six weeks I was well once more, and have had no trouble since. I am most pleased to have had an opportunity to say a few words in praise of your Vegetable Compound, and shall take every occasion to recommend it."—Miss VIRGINIA GRANES, 444 So. Spring St., Los Angeles, Cal. [Present address.]

Be it, therefore, believed by all women who are ill that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the medicine they should take. It has stood the test of time, and it has hundreds of thousands of cures to its credit. It should, therefore, be considered unwise to experiment further.

Mrs. Pinkham, whose address is Lynn, Mass., will answer cheerfully and without cost all letters addressed to her by sick women.

$5000 REWARD.—We have deposited with the National City Bank of Lynn, $5000, which will be paid to any person who can find that the above testimonial letter is not genuine, or was published before obtaining the writer's special permission. Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.
