The Victory Chimes which sank at her Lermonds Cove moorings Sunday night was pumped out Thursday and floated by the combined efforts of several pumps which had a total capacity of 3300 gallons per minute.

The $45,000, three masted cruise schooner has suffered damages from nearly four days under water which may reach $2,000.

As she was pumped out, it was determined that someone's error in leaving out a drain plug in a galley sink forward led to the accident. The sink trap had been drained and the plug not replaced, which left a two inch opening for water to enter through the drain which came out of the hull below the water line.

Apparently, she took enough water to settle her at the bow and bring her down to where three open portholes between midships and forward let in water which filled her during Sunday night.

She was noticed a little down at the head Sunday by watchers from the Rockland Port District pier, but it was laid to the fact that the ship's fresh water tanks aft had been drained for the winter and altered her trim slightly.

Skin diver, Harry Goodridge of Rockport went down outside the hull about 9:30 a. m. and found the three portholes open. He sealed them with plywood and signaled the pumps to start.

The herring scale boat Caroline owned by Weston Thompson of Owls Head dropped a suction line into the main cabin area and took out water at the rate of 1800 gallons per minute. Two fire department trailer pumps, which had been swung aboard the Mary A. and Quickstep II by the using the boom of the Vinahaven II, moved 1000 gallons per minute between them and two portable pumps from the Coast Guard and Fire Department accounted for another 500 gallons. By 11 a. m. the cabins were nearly cleared of water and the lines were dropped through holes cut in the cabin floor to pump out the bilges.

Directing the operations were Capt. Frank Elliott, the owner; and the master of the schooner, Capt. Freeman J. Cotton. Firemen on the scene included Deputy Chief Louis Phillips, Bertram Snow, chief of the volunteers, and driver Walter Boland. Capt. Stuart Ames of the Mary A. and his crew aided as well as the crew of the Quickstep II directed by Clayton Witham.

Capt. Elliott started the task of cleaning up and drying out the ship Thursday afternoon, first replacing the burner in the hot air heating system to get heat into the cabins before the water could freeze.

Two electric generating systems for the ship's lights and motors will have to be overhauled and the craft generally refinished inside, a

SCHOOL BOARDS OF WALDOBORO AND FRIENDSHIP MEET 15th IN EFFORT TO RESOLVE PROBLEMS

Superintendent of Schools Earle Spear of Waldoboro has called a meeting of the school boards of Waldoboro and Friendship at his office Dec. 15 for the purpose of discussing mutual school problems.

The announcement of the meeting was made Thursday morning on the heels of the statement made by Superintendent of Schools Norman Moulton that he intends to dissolve School Union 72 by July 1.

Moulton explained that the three remaining communities in the union, St. George, Cushing and Friendship, do not have the required number of teachers in their schools to warrant a continuation of the union. The other two communities of the union, Owls Head and South Thomaston, are now part of Administrative School District 5 with Rockland.

Moulton explained that St. George and Cushing have indicated a desire to seek entry into Administrative School District 5 but so far, the Town of Friendship has not presented or suggested any possible plan which might solve their school problem.

The Waldoboro superintendent called the meeting in the hope that the school problem of the adjoining communities could be worked out.

The Waldoboro School Investigating Committee recently suggested that solution to the overcrowded conditions now existing at Waldoboro High School, would be to refuse all tuition students, starting with the school year 1959-1960.

Presently, Friendship is sending 10 students of high school age to Waldoboro High School and such a move would leave the town without an accessible high school. If such an instance would happen, the Town of Friendship, would give the students a choice of any high school in the State in which they are accepted, and pay their tuition, but not their transportation costs.

The town presently supplies a bus from Friendship to Waldoboro to transport the students to the high school.

The Town of Friendship was one of three communities that recently voted down the formation of an administrative school district with Waldoboro. The other communities involved in this study were Washington, Jefferson, Bremen and Nobleboro.

IN APPRECIATION

The kindness of the people of the city and of the men who make up its public services was really brought home to me this week on the occasion of the sinking and the subsequent raising of the cruise schooner Victory Chimes.

Help was offered from many sources as soon as word got around that the schooner had settled in her berth.

Special thanks go to the Rockland Fire Department, the Coast Guard, Capt. Stuart Ames of the Mary A., Clayton Witham of the Quickstep 2nd, Weston Thompson of the Caroline, and to Harry Goodridge, Rockport skin diver.

Examination of the ship shows damage to be at a minimum. Rebuilding of motors, generators, the heating system and a cleaning and repainting will put the Victory Chimes in perfect condition for next summer's cruising.

Cause of the sinking was a sink drain trap left open by accident. There was no damage to the hull of the ship. Again, my deep appreciation to all who helped and to all who expressed concern over the situation.

PARDON PETITION OF FRIENDSHIP LOBSTERMAN DENIED AT AUGUSTA AS STRONG OPPOSITION APPEARS

The Governor and Executive Council turned down a petition for pardon entered by Melvin E. Burns of Friendship at a session held Thursday.

Burns, a veteran of 40 years of lobstering, had been convicted in Rockland Municipal Court Sept. 18, 1957, of molesting the trap of another fisherman. The conviction carried a $200 fine and loss of his fishing license for three years. The offense and conviction took place 15 months ago. He faces another 21 months without the right to go lobstering.

Lauriston E. Davis of Friendship appeared as spokesman for a group of 16 lobstermen from the community who opposed the easing of the restriction placed upon Burns by the Department of Sea & Shore Fisheries.

Representative Ralph E. Winchester of Friendship spoke for Burns, commenting that prior to the conviction that Burns had had a fine reputation for honesty.

Stanley Tupper, Augusta attorney, who appeared for Burns, observed that other traps had been molested since Burns' license was suspended. He commented that there must now be a poacher in the area.

Tupper attributed opposition to a possible feud, hostility and a natural jealousy.

The fishermen opposing the granting of the pardon sought by Burns refuted the allegations.

Six Community School Planners Meet Wednesday

A general meeting of all the committees connected with the study for an administrative school district for Camden, Rockport, Hope, Appleton, Union and Lincolnville, has been called for 8 p. m. Wednesday at the Hope Corner Elementary School.

The purpose of the session will be for the committees to report on the advancement on their particular topics. So far, the only group to have completed their report is the population survey committee. The study group has been functioning since the start of school in September and meets every two weeks at the Elementary School in Hope Corner.

Thursday Crashes Injure Several

The icy and slippery conditions on the highways Thursday resulted in six accidents in this area, causing several injuries and extensive property damage.

Trooper Robert M. Hofacker reports that a 1950 Chevrolet sedan, owned by Eleanor Bolan of Camden was heading north on Route 1 between 11:45 p. m. and midnight Thursday when it went out of control in Glen Cove, near the intersection of Old County Road.

Identified as passengers in the vehicle, which was considered demolished, were: Charles A. Bolan, 20, and Lewis A. Snowdeal, 23, both from Camden.

Both were rushed to Knox Hospital where they were treated for injuries. Bolan sustained extensive lacerations on his face, a cerebral concussion and lacerations to the corner of his eyes. An operation was performed on

Annual City Budget Hearing Set For Monday Evening; Council Also To Establish Economic Department

A public hearing on the proposed budget for 1959 will be one of the items on the agenda at the Monday night session of the Rockland City Council.

The Council will also vote on the final reading on an ordinance establishing a department of economic development and a director and advisory board for the department. The proposed city budget for 1959 will be an increase of $16,337 over that of this year.

One of the items that will warrant this increase is another member of the Rockland Police Department. Chief Maurice Benner said that this new man will be responsible for the operation and maintenance of the city's parking meters. At present, the police handle this matter, in addition to their many other duties.

Another new item will be the appropriation for a new vehicle for the fire chief. The present automobile, which is four years old, has already had several major motor repairs.

Another item calls for the spending of $6,500, to complete payment on the new 1,000 gallon pumper for the fire department. Chief Wesley Knight said Friday that he has received word from the manufacturer that the truck will probably arrive this month, instead of after the first of the year, as was previously planned.

Also included in the budget will be $1,200 for a full time caretaker for the city dump and an additional sum of $1,600 for the Welfare Department.

The Council will vote on the final reading on the ordinance which will establish a five member board, to be known as the Department of Economic Development. An economic director, to head the department, and the board to be appointed by the city manager. The chairman of the board will be elected by the members.

Beavers 51 Points Up On Warren In Thursday Game

The Rockport Beavers used 12 men Thursday night as they crushed the Warren five at Warren 81 to 30.

An early lead of 28 to 7 in the first period clinched the game for the Rockporters as Warren was unable to score more than 10 points during any of the four periods to become a serious threat.

Lawrence Frye, George Pinkham and Keith May were the big guns for the visitors as they sunk a total of 37 points during the contest. Frye dropped in seven baskets, Pinkham six hoops, and May five two pointers and a lone free throw.

For Warren, Paul Wood drove in for five baskets and two foul shots for 12 points and Arthur Heathcote found the range for five baskets.

The game was comparatively free of miscues as only five points on both teams were accredited to foul shooting.

The win puts Rockport in undisputed possession of the top slot in the Medomak Valley League with a perfect state of three wins.

Rockport Girls Conquer Warren

In an unusual move in Thursday night's contest at Warren, two girls on the Rockport team, who normally play guard were shifted in the last quarter to play forward positions. Rockport easily won their third league victory by a score of 53 to 34.

Ruth Ann Erickson and Gail Frye were moved from their guard positions to play forward slots on the Rockport squad in the last period.

High scorer for the evening was Rockport's Gail May with seven baskets and four free throws for 18 points. A point behind Gail was Warrenite Janet Kinney, who dropped eight hoops and a foul shot for 17 points.

Municipal Court

Court Recorder Domenic Cuccinello continued a charge of operating a vehicle after suspension of license against Everett C. Carlson, 21, of Talbot Avenue, Rockland, to December 12.

Rockland Police arrested him November 28 on Main Street. The Secretary of State suspended his driver's license January 19, 1958, for failing to comply with the Financial Responsibility Law.

Carlson stated in court that his vehicle is covered by insurance but he had neglected to inform the Secretary of State. At the time he was stopped by the police, he continued, he was using his brother's license.

Robert J. Davis, 25, of Eau Gallie, Fla., paid a fine of $15 after entering a plea of guilty to speeding 65 miles an hour in a 55 mile zone on Route 1 in Camden. State Police stopped him December 3.

Rodney E. Cook, 16, of Thomaston pleaded guilty to operating a vehicle without a driver's license on Beechwood Street in Thomaston November 28 and was fined $25.

State Police said that the youth's vehicle skidded out of control and turned over on Beechwood Street, causing extensive damage to the vehicle. A teenage passenger in the car, Kenneth Brazier, was later treated at Knox Hospital for a fractured leg.

ONE OF ROCKLAND'S FIRST NEEDS

Word that the Public Works Department is presently connecting a new sewer line which will serve residents of Center Street is of more than passing interest.

The City's jumbled sewer system has long been felt to be inadequate by flooded cellars during any period of heavy rains and high tides which find the system unable to handle the extra burden of surface water pushing into all catch basins.

It is readily seen that any sudden expansion of home building would so overload the system that conditions far from desirable would ensue.

Thus it can be said that the building of a new sewer system, possibly of the type to encircle the city, or at least the rebuilding and enlarging of the present system is a must to put an end to the health menace resulting from scores of frequently flooded cellars. It is equally evident that Rockland should thus prepare herself for any rush of home building as the result of the boom we all so fondly hope will come to pass.

AN ASSET ALMOST LOST

We viewed from the windows of The Courier-Gazette shop the fine three-masted cruise schooner Victory Chimes with the water over the tops of her houses, and the sight brought us utmost dismay.

We felt keenest sympathy for Capt. Frank Elliott who has put the vessel in perfect condition during the years of his ownership and built up a very large following. Then too we knew failure to float the Chimes would bring an end to one of the City's valuable business assets, for Captain Elliott's ship and the scores of guests she carries, means thousands of dollars annually to the City and its merchants.

Glory be—the next morning we saw the Chimes water borne, afloat as graceful as a swan.

We are happy for Capt. Elliott with his fine vessel afloat with minor damage, and we are happy for the merchants who will continue to profit from the venture.

Good luck, Victory Chimes.

LOOKING TOWARD THE FUTURE

School officials and citizens of this area are becoming school-minded to an amazing degree as evinced by the general movement of neighboring towns to work out affiliations with some school district or other. This movement is spontaneous and is based on the idea of improved education for our young people, rather than financial gain for the towns concerned.

St. George and Cushing are taking steps looking toward joining District 5 along with Rockland, South Thomaston and Owls Head. The towns of Warren and Thomaston are actively working for a District membership and the town of Rockport is engaged in a study group with Camden, Union, Hope and Lincolnville and a desire to join District 5 is indicated.

This wholesome spirit of education advancement which can only be had through the means of District membership augurs well for the future of our boys and girls.

NOT A PLEASING PROSPECT

There is little to cheer about in the Labor Department's prophecy that four and a half million Americans will be jobless by mid-winter, a condition the Department's experts expect to continue through most of 1959.

These prophecies seem far out of line with the optimistic reports received from men high in the industrial world of increased production and much stronger business activity. The trouble is that in spite of the acknowledged business upswing the number of re-employed will be limited by the more general use of labor saving machinery in industry and the appearance of some 790,000 newcomers into the labor market.

All government experts fail to take the pessimistic view of the Labor Department but feel the down-turn of employment will not be severe.

It is hoped the last group is correct in its thinking.

ROMANCE IN HIGH PLACES

The United States and all other Western friends of Japan are delighted with the announcement that Crown Prince Akihito is to marry a commoner, daughter of a wealthy Japanese industrialist.

This breaks a tradition 25 centuries old and is a great forward step in the democratization of Japan. The Imperial Household Council approved the match with no opposition and many other obstacles to romance have been removed.

This marks a wholly new attitude for the Japanese and indicates that the roots of democracy are striking deeper.

Hughes Sees Need For Expansion At State Boys' School

The superintendent of the State School for Boys at South Portland, William H. Hughes, told the Rockland League of Women Voters Wednesday night at the Farnsworth Museum that the institution is asking for $7,000,000 in its two year budget for added facilities and operation.

He explained that the school has expanded from originally caring for 100 boys to the present number of 375. The overcrowded conditions, Hughes continued, have forced the school to release boys, although in many cases, they are not ready to re-enter the community.

In citing the lack of inadequate equipment at the institution, the superintendent pointed out that a modern gymnasium is situated on the school's grounds, but it has no equipment and no instructors. He also brought out the lack of a library and facilities for the study of science, such as physics and chemistry laboratories.

However, he did point with pride to the fact that the school has received this year for the first time a provisional grade B accreditation. He went on to state that the school is as good as any one of its kind in the country.

Hughes has also requested the State for additional social workers to assist the single one who now works with the 375 boys at the institution. The national standards call for one social worker for every 30 people.

Although the school operates with only two registered nurses, the superintendent continued, he is not requesting any additional nurses. The two nurses handled 4,700 injuries last year.

On the topic of juvenile delinquency, Hughes attributed the basic cause of it to an environment, usually centered on a broken home. He said that considerable conversation has been given on the national, state and local levels on the subject, but not much has been done about it.

The population of the school has increased 28 per cent in less than 12 months time and the number of boys handled has increased several hundred per cent. Hughes considered this rise as not an increase in juvenile delinquency, but in the improved work by law enforcement agencies in that field.

FIRST SNOW

The first snow of the season! What excitement—what delight is written in her shining eyes! To her, the world has suddenly become a wonderland of white enchantment—a miracle.

A child accepts the miracle, and finds in it pure, unblemished joy. An adult finds it increasingly difficult to accept anything as miraculous—and his joys are dimmed by life's myriad complexities.

Yet, within every adult's grasp is the greatest miracle of all—the story of Christ and the message he left the world. This is the inheritance of every man and woman who will reach out to accept it. It waits for you . . . in the Church.

Go to church this Sunday. Discover, again, what Christ did for you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

CITY TO REBUILD ITS ANCIENT CELL BLOCK IN POLICE STATION

Police Chief Maurice Benner inspects a section of steel flooring in the cell block which has come loose and turned up to present a hazard to prisoners. Each cell accommodates two prisoners on steel bunks, minus any bedding.

The cell block at the Rockland Police Station is to get a long overdue rebuilding. City Manager Charles Haynes said this week that the nine cell establishment will be entirely rebuilt next week by workmen from the Department of Public Works.

Its battered, unpainted and unsightly condition has caused police chiefs for the past dozen years to appeal for rebuilding.

The steel cages were constructed with steel floors raised off the floor and closed in at floor level in such a way that it was impossible to properly clean and care for them. The years have resulted in some of the flooring coming loose and presenting a safety hazard.

The steel frame bunks have long since succumbed to the battering of countless drunks and are in bad condition.

The plan calls for a refinishing of the cell block room and rearranging of the cells into an L-shaped pattern so that all cells can be seen by the attending officers at a glance. Now, the eight men's cells are back to back in a dimly lighted, almost airless room in the city hall basement.

Concrete floors which can be hosed down and easily kept clean will be installed in the new block. The women's cell, which is in a private section, will be rebuilt and refurnished.

Liquor and Malt License Bids To Be Heard Monday

A public hearing will be held by the City Council Monday night on the applications of several establishments in Rockland for liquor and malt beverage licenses.

In addition to the four hotels in Rockland, the Thorndike, Oasis, Bay View, and the Rockland, and the Elks Home and the American Legion, a new application will appear before the Council. Napoli's Pizza House on Main Street is applying for a license to sell beer and ale under the malt beverages law accepted by the voters at the September election, allowing restaurants to apply for a license.

The Council is also expected to act on two orders. The first one will be to permit the Central Maine Power Company to install and relocate utility poles on Camden, Pleasant and Maple streets. The other order will allow the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company to lay underground conduit locations on Lime-rock street, at the corner of Union street. This installation will be for the new telephone building at the corner of Limerock and Union streets, which is expected to be completed by May of 1959 and convert the telephones in this area to dial.

Kiwanis Christmas Tree Sale Starts Sunday Afternoon

The Kiwanis Club will open its Christmas tree sale on Sunday at 1 p. m. Sunday and will continue afternoon and evenings until Christmas. The store is in the Spear Block between Goodnow's Pharmacy and Newbert's Restaurant. The space is loaned by Rhama Philbrick.

Members of the club will cut trees Sunday morning and the following Sunday to insure a fresh supply for customers, plus a wide range of sizes. Orders will be taken also for trees of sizes to a customer's liking if they are not in stock.

All proceeds of the sale of trees are used for Christmas baskets for the needy of the area. The club has operated the program for several years past and many families depend on Kiwanis to supply them each year, rather than going on a tree cutting expedition themselves and running the risk of cutting trees on private property.

Smokey the Bear Recruited For Sardine Publicity

Smokey the Bear, Little Smokey and Specs have been doing some sardine fishing in Maine and 40,000 people will read about their adventures soon.

This happened on a sunny day last summer when the lovable trio set out from a coastal town in their skiff with outboard motor to fish and eat sardines—only it really happened on the drawing board of their cartoonist originator.

The Maine Sardin Council's Executive Secretary Richard E. Reed said today that the episode would be featured in a half page colored comic strip in 90 metropolitan Sunday newspapers in January.

He said that his office had collaborated with the producers of the widely syndicated cartoon strip in development of the idea and the script.

The series of drawings depicts Smokey taking his pale on a tour of the sardine fishery and explaining the many interesting phases of the operations.

"We are fortunate to have such a nice and popular way to bring our industry and its products to the attention of the Nation," Reed stated.

Thursday Crashes

Bolan's eyes early Friday morning and is expected that he will not lose his eyesight. His condition was reported as "satisfactory" by hospital officials Friday afternoon.

Snowdeal was treated for lacerations on his lower lip, abrasions on his face and a fractured jaw. He was reported in "good" condition Friday afternoon.

From the marks at the scene of the accident, Hofacker surmised that the vehicle skidded across the road, near the Charles Jillion residence, traveled for a distance of about 500 feet and struck the rock formation, just south of the intersection.

The accident is under investigation by State Police.

Hofacker also investigated another accident Thursday which happened on Route 1 in Rockport at 9.25 p. m. Thursday.

The trooper remarked that a vehicle, operated by Leland H. Trask of 67 Park Street, Rockland, skidded on the icy pavement on Route 1, near the Ballard Park section, slid sideways into several rocks, bounced off, struck a log and went up against a State Highway Commission vehicle, parked in Ballard Park.

Damage to the vehicle, which is owned by the Seaview Garage in Rockland, was estimated at $1,000. Trask escaped injury.

Trooper George Massie reports that another accident occurred also on Route 1 in Rockport about two hours earlier. He said that a car, driven by Marion Cuppock, 67, of Camden, skidded out of control, hit a stump and went into a ditch.

Damage to the vehicle was estimated at about $100 and the driver escaped injury.

About 7 p. m., Mrs. Lorna Tower of Warren, applied the brakes of her car on Route 1 in Warren, near Bob's Restaurant, spun around in the highway and went into a ditch.

Trooper Paul Hooper estimated the damage at about $125. Mrs. Tower escaped injury.

Another accident which happened Thursday, took place about 7 a. m. on Main street in Waldoboro in which the vehicle driven by Mrs. Marjorie Freeman, 38, of Waldoboro, almost went into the Medomak River.

Trooper Carey Thing said that Mrs. Freeman, who was heading toward Waldoboro Village from Kaler's Corner, began to apply her brakes on the top of Cobb's Hill, spinning the vehicle around and colliding with an iron abutment on the bridge, near Medomak Terrace.

The vehicle careened off the abutment and stopped next to a concrete block on the bridge, with the front wheels over the bridge.

Mrs. Freeman was rushed to the Miles Memorial Hospital in Damariscotta by a Flanders' ambulance where she was treated for bruises and contusions about her face. The vehicle was demolished.

How would you like to go Christmas shopping with me?

There are so many electrical appliances on the market this year that it's almost impossible to decide what to give to your favorite people.

The electric blanket is one of my favorite gifts to give to those special names on my Christmas list. Safe for young and old, with a choice of size, color and single or double control.

Don't overlook the possibility that a lamp offers—so many different sizes and shapes to choose from. How about a pin-up lamp for the daughter's bedroom, or perhaps a good reading lamp for the man of the house.

For a son or daughter that's planning to go to college, what could be more perfect than a travel alarm clock. Give a living-room clock kitchen clock, alarm clock, or a clock with the shape of tomorrow for those hard to please relatives.

Hive I given you any ideas for your Christmas? Read on, and you'll find more suggestions.

The small appliances have grown by leaps and bounds—many have such a delightful color and shape that they look good with any table setting. Mother would enjoy one of the many appliances that lets her relax while entertaining.

Nothing can replace the old stand-by, such as the toaster, coffee pot, steam irons, etc.—but many of the new appliances are worth looking into—the frypan, saucepan, grille and rotisserie. Many of the new rotisseries can do everything your range can do and more.

I've named many small appliances, but don't overlook the happiness a brand new range or refrigerator can bring to the receiver.

How about surprising the spouse with a washer or dryer, or even going hog wild and purchasing both. They are practical, convenient and beautiful, and you'll never regret it.

This Christmas in 1958, let's "Live Better Electrically" and also, "Give Better Electrically."

By Henry Teague

We are being told very frequently these days that it is healthful to drink at least four glasses of milk every day. One of the objects of this campaign is undoubtedly to make us healthier and happier. Quite possibly the primary purpose of this advertising is to sell more of this excellent basic food.

While the "eat more eggs" campaign is apparently not as widespread or as heavily financed, there is such a campaign in progress much of the time. The best that can be said for the efforts in behalf of the egg is that it may slow the downward progress of egg consumption.

Admittedly, milk has it over eggs in that it is very simple to open a bottle of milk and pour a glassful. A few hardy individuals can down an egg right out of the shell about the same as one would eat a raw oyster, but this is not a generally accepted practice and probably never will be.

Neither eggs, nor milk are considered delicacies in their basic state, although both are very necessary ingredients of many of our most delicious foods. But there is a way to make eggs and milk into a delicacy by simply combining them into a food drink known as eggnog.

I am not referring to that rich mixture that appears around Thanksgiving and Christmas which is generally mixed with an alcoholic beverage. I mean that delicious and healthful drink which can be easily and quickly concocted with a cup of chilled milk, one egg, sugar and vanilla to taste. A sprinkle of nutmeg on top does no harm.

This recipe can be varied in numerous ways by the addition of honey, maple syrup, grated orange or lemon rind, pineapple or even prune juice. Now, there is a combination of two of our most valuable foods. It is a delicious beverage for any time from breakfast to bedtime. Not only does it taste good, but it is good for you.

The chocolate and cocoa people are always advertising their products as valuable and delicious additions to a glass of milk. This advertising has been so successful that it is probable that many millions of glasses of chocolate milk are drunk every day. Certainly a chocolate eggnog is on a par with a chocolate malted.

You can order a quart of chocolate milk delivered at your doorstep, but the only time of year you can order a bottle of eggnog is the holiday season and for me that is not a real eggnog. Also, that kind of an eggnog is pretty expensive compared to the one I have been describing.

Americans are great ones for downing health drinks such as buttermilk, sauerkraut juice, combined vegetable juices and what have you. Many are willing to drink some of these concoctions for the simple reason that they think such drinks are good for them. Undoubtedly they all do have some value, but I doubt if they have the value of a glass of eggnog.

Orange juice, coffee and tea are standard fare in practically every American home. Let's take orange juice as an example of high powered advertising. Not so many years ago you were buying your first can of frozen orange juice. Before that many of us ate oranges or drank juice that we squeezed at home. Canned orange juice was used to some extent too. But today the orange industry has zoomed via that little can of frozen concentrate into one of the most successful food industries in the country.

Due to the freeze in Florida last winter, the price of this beverage is at least doubled, yet it is being sold just the same because people not only like its taste, but they have been educated to the idea that it is practically a necessity for life itself.

We are told repeatedly that many housewives will turn away from the egg counter when prices go up. But they certainly do not turn away from the orange juice display as has been proved this year. I have recently read that this is the most profitable year in the history of the orange industry. Evidently skilled advertising ex-

County Agent's Corner

Dear Poultryman—and all other farmers interested in what the future holds:

This letter was supposed to be the first article on Automation which would discuss the subject matter. Namely, this was to start a discussion of automation as related to chores.

However, in discussing the situation with poultrymen, it seems advisable to run down the thoughts behind the project "Plan Poultry House Automation".

Having apparently entered a period of low egg prices, we are confronted with several logical problems. First, would be the reluctance of any businessman, at this time, to spend money that might be needed to carry the business along regardless of how worthwhile the spending might be. Next, we might think of the availability of any money for improvements. Do we have the cash; can we borrow; can we pay back what we've borrowed for these improvements out of added earnings? Thirdly, what is our own particular future in this business of farming, anyway?

The reasoning behind the project then becomes evident. Poultrymen have been asking, "What is the future in poultry housing and equipment?" They have also been asking, "How can we make more money in this business?" And poultrymen have been asking, "How can we evaluate new equipment, new housing ideas?" or "How does this idea stack up against that thought?"

Our first goal in this project will be to develop an understanding of what automation is and what it can do. Our second goal will be to encourage you to plan your future in this business of Re-tooling Poultry Houses. Then, and only then, will we really step out and encourage the use of these practices and pieces of equipment we will have been talking about.

We feel that there are several barriers to the use of automation, that these hold true in most types of farming. First, questions arising from the newness of the idea—What type and what kind of equipment to invest in? What changes are going to be made? Will automation give me a fair return in my investment? Secondly, a need for, and yet a definite lack of, real planning. Thirdly, barriers to the actual use of automation. These are: financing, the poultryman's status and the bank's status; the newness of the idea; present buildings which do not fit due to size, shape, construction, or condition; and particular size of business needed or desired for a specific family and its specific farm.

When we get done with these articles, we hope you will understand and will be using automation, either in the form of equipment or practices or both, so that it will give you a larger profit margin on your investment or that it will increase the size of your business to give you a greater total profit at your present margin; or both. Little Red Hen and all the rest. Watch the eggs roll off the nest. Work, and feed, all in a measure "Automation," they cackle, "is such a pleasure."

Sincerely,
Gil Jaeger,
County Agent.

and musically. It was his pleasure to spend the weekend in New York, and as guest of Community Concerts a most outstanding musical weekend. On Friday evening Phil Wentworth and the writer were guests of Community Concerts at Carnegie Hall, where we heard the National Symphony Orchestra. Howard Mitchell directing, and guest soloist, Jorge Bolet, pianist. Many may recall that Jorge Bolet presented a Community Concert here in Rockland eight years ago. On Friday evening he played the World Premiere of John La Montaine's "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra." This was very well received by the near-capacity audience, and when the orchestra and Mr. Bolet came out for applause the audience called for "composers." To say Phil and I were surprised, is to put it mildly, when in the row directly in front of us Mr. La Montaine rose and went to the stage to receive his just recognition. Mr. La Montaine is a 38 year old composer from Washington, D. C., and needless to say when he returned to his seat, I obtained an autographed program from him.

On Saturday evening the writer attended the closing party of the Community Concert Conference held at Steinway Concert Hall. Here he was guest of Gerald Devlin, vice president of Community Concerts and William Alexander, the popular representative of Community Concerts, who was here last year and is returning again this year. Between these two gentlemen I was privileged to personally meet numerous stars of the music world. Among these were some names you will recall as appearing here through the years, others who may yet appear and some who are beyond our budget. I should like to list a few of the many artists I met at this party: Eileen Farrell, Mary McMurray, Albert Da Costa, Richard Tucker, Walter Cassel, George London, Edwin Steffe, William Warfield, Carroll Glen, Yi-Kwie Eze, Stanley Babin, Leon Fleisher, Ozan Marsh, Grant Johannessen, Whittmore and Lowe, Roman Totenberg and Vladimir Ashkenazy, Soviet pian-

Rockland Lions To Sell Bulbs For Sight Program

Plans for the annual light bulb sale of the Rockland Lions Club, which will start Sunday afternoon, were completed Thursday night at the meeting of the club at the Thorndike Hotel.

Nelson Turner of Bridgton, executive secretary of the Maine Sight Conservation Association, spoke to the members on the function and the work of the Association. Proceeds of the bulb sale will go toward the sight program.

The main feature of the evening was a panel discussion on the topic concerning the differences between the English and American system of education and what plan would best suit the modern day needs in the schools.

On the panel were: Harriet Ladd, Robert Plummer and Elizabeth Sulides, undergraduates at Rockland High School who placed high in the recent Bates College Debating League, which had representation from high schools throughout the State.

Reference was made, by the panel members as to what they considered important in the curriculum of schools as such as the board of directors of Administrative School District 5 may establish.

The program for Dec. 11 will be a movie presented by Alfred Wallen of the industrial development division of Central Maine Power Company, entitled "Gold Mine on Main Street."

The movie will suggest several ideas on how a community can improve their industrial potential and attract new industry.
