NEWSPAPER HISTORY
The Rockland Gazette was established in 1846. In 1874 the Courier was established, and consolidated with the Gazette in 1882. The Free Press was established in 1885, and in 1891 changed its name to the Tribune. These papers consolidated March 17, 1897.

The art of conversation consists as much in listening politely as in talking agreeably.—Atwell.

When recently in New York, a dinner was given to Oscar Straus, in honor of his distinguished career as secretary of commerce and labor and ambassador to Turkey, former President Roosevelt was present and naturally he was asked to say a few words in the after-dinner speaking. "Believe me, gentlemen," he said, "when I called Mr. Straus to my cabinet, I was considering no questions of religion or race or station. I was considering only his fitness for the office to which I had elected him. Mr. Straus called to my cabinet, but simply as the man most fitted for the position." The next speaker was Jacob H. Schiff, who is a bit absent-minded and deaf, and when he slowly began he said: "My friends, Mr. Roosevelt wrote and asked me whom I considered the best Jew for the position."—Exchange.

The bulletin of manufactures just issued from the census bureau shows Portland as the leading manufacturing city in Maine. Its value is second, having been unable since 1904 to regain the supremacy wrested from it at that time. The relative importance of manufacturing in the seven largest cities is as follows: Portland, $11,950,367 with 4,002 wage earners; Lewiston, $10,475,374 with 6,788 wage earners; Biddeford, $9,011,606 with 5,076 wage earners;

Auburn, $8,426,209 with 3,452 wage earners; Augusta, $4,662,174 with 2,006 wage earners; Bangor, $3,345,717 with 1,327 wage earners; Waterville, $3,178,080 with 1,812 wage earners. Every city for which comparative figures are given, except Bangor, shows an increase in value of products from 1904 to 1909, and all show increases from 1899 to 1904. In general, the percentages of increase were greater from 1904 to 1909. During this later period the greatest relative gain, 8 per cent, was made by Auburn, this being due chiefly to the increased activity in the boot and shoe industry.

The nation's stars and stripes were rearranged and rearranged on the Fourth of July. The United States upon that day threw out to the breeze as its official flag a banner that has never been seen before. The flag for this is the division of two new states, Arizona and New Mexico, into the Union. This necessitated the addition of two new stars to the flag, and so it became necessary to make over the old banner in accordance with the enlarged Union. As the nation was born on the Fourth of July, so has it become the custom to make that date the birthday of the new flags. When ever, during the last century, a state had been admitted into the Union, a new flag, with the rearrangement of stars, has been born on the Fourth of July that followed. The flag that has been official since July 4, 1907, following the admission of Oklahoma, was on July Fourth out of date. Instead of that banner, with its 46 stars, arranged in irregular lines, there appeared the new flag, with its block of stars in six lines of eight stars each.

Methodism in Rockland

Being a History in Brief of One of Our Most Progressive Denominations.—First Church Erected in 1828

Note: The following article is republished from the East Maine Conference Year Book, to which we are also indebted for the illustrations:

Methodism appears to have come to that part of what was then the town of Thomaston, and is now the city of Rockland, via Vinalhaven, where a Methodist class was formed July 14, 1797. The first Methodist sermon in Thomaston was probably in September, 1793, for at that time Jesse Lee paid a visit to the town and it is hardly probable that he did not remain long enough to deliver at least one sermon. Thomaston was included in the Bath Circuit which was the fourth circuit established in Maine.

Among the converts of Lee on Cape Cod was a blacksmith by the name of May, or Mayhew who removed to Vinalhaven and not long after Jesse Lee's first visit in 1796 and was appointed class leader. He held meetings there and occasionally at the Shore Village (now a part of Rockland) and at Goose River (now Rockport) and Camden. There was a powerful reformation in this part of the State in 1800.

After the war of 1812 the population of Thomaston increased rapidly, and in 1820 the first meeting house was built in what is now Rockland. It was located on what is now Lime Rock Street near the residence of Jeremiah Brown and was a brick building, four-square, with a hip roof. It had neither bell nor belfry. In its old fashioned high pews with doors it would seat between 300 and 400 people with galleries. The pews were sold to help defray the building expenses. Although the Methodists were a considerable part of the community they do not appear to have had much, if any, control of the building. The church was really a Union Church, and was used by several denominations. Samuel Plummer was appointed to Thomaston in 1820 and appears to have been the first Methodist regularly preaching in this church.

It is a matter of history that a Methodist class was formed in Thomaston as early as 1801, probably by Reuben Hubbard (appointed to Bath and Union), although possibly by Aaron Humphrey, who located in 1799 and was living in Vinalhaven. The class consisted of Nathaniel Fales, 2nd, and his wife; Samuel Brown and his wife; James Partridge and his wife; Hannah Loring and William and Lucette Brown. In 1811 the class is said to have been composed of thirty members but the records have been lost. Again in 1827 there is said to have been a class of 34 members under the leadership of Joseph Colson, and mention is made of a class of nine under the leadership of Samuel Albee in 1837.

Samuel Plummer was followed in 1821 by Ebenezer F. Newell (then in the prime of life). He was of course appointed to Thomaston, and although it is impossible to state just what portions of the town were favored with his ministry, it is altogether probable that no small part of his ministrations was in the brick meeting house just erected. The appointments for the next few years were as follows: 1822, John S. Ayer and Roswell C. Putnam; 1823-24, Stephen Lowell; 1825, Samuel Plummer; 1826, Philip Munger and Rufus C. Bailey. In 1827 Thomaston was connected with Belfast and Philip Munger and Greenleaf Greely were appointed; but preachers appointed to Thomaston had long paid regular visits to Belfast and had gone up river as far as Frankfort. This was a year of considerable revival. Forty-seven members were added to the Church at Thomaston and a Society was formed in Searsmont, the revival being almost continuous from September to May. It was near the end of the Conference year of 1827 that the Methodists decided to build a meeting house of their own at the Shore Village. On March 1st, 1828, a committee was appointed to estimate the cost of building. The committee consisted of Joseph Colson, Virum B. Robbins, Benjamin A. Gallop, Samuel Albee and Joseph Partridge. The Maine Conference met that year in Vienna on the 14th of August and Jesse Stone was read off for Thomaston and Vinalhaven. It was during his ministry that year that the first Methodist Church was erected in what is now the city of Rockland on the lot where the present building stands. The land was given by Andrew Ulmer.

The records show that in 1831 the society was regularly organized in accordance with the provisions of the Discipline, and that there were Baptists, Congregationalists and Universalists among the number. Thirty-one signatures are attached to the document. The names follow:

not occur until 1833. It was a difficult enterprise to manage with the limited means of so many of its supporters. The church had a steeple and a bell and the whole undertaking was a credit not only to the Methodists but to many of other denominations who were so largely interested in it and who gave it generous support. I have not been able to find any published or written account of the dedication of this building. The pastor was Caleb Fuller, who served during the years 1832-33, having succeeded Ariel Ward, 2d, of South Portland. Far from being weary by his long earthly existence he still enjoys life as much as ever, and believes that anybody can who has the disposition to do so.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyer asked to be remembered to Knox county friends. They have two sons—Marion, who is in the employ of Cook, Everett & Pennell, South Portland, and Starr, who resides in Newton Centre, Mass.

Up-Hill
Does the road wind up-hill all the way?
Yes, to the very end;
Will the day's journey take the whole long day?
From morn to night, my friend,
But is there for the night a resting-place?
A roof for when the slow dark hours begin?
May not the darkness hide it from my sight?
You cannot miss that inn.
Shall I meet other wayfarers at night?
Those who have gone before,
Then must I knock, or call when just in sight?
They will keep you standing at the door.
Shall I find comfort, travel-sore and weak?
Of labour you shall find the sum.
Will there be beds for me and all who seek?
Yea, beds for all who come.

an inviting field for Brother Pratt. It was not long before there was a sweeping revival and scores were converted. During its progress, at one of the evening services six master mariners were kneeling at the altar seeking pardon.
It was a grand sight to see Brother Pratt in a revival service; it was such a joy to him. One writes of him "I always thought of a general marshalling his forces for conquest. The inspiring hymn of Heber's always seemed appropriate to the occasion (The Son of God goes forth to War)." Brother Pratt remained here two years (1851-52). At the end of his first year he reported 150 members (an increase of 25) and 97 pro-

ACTIVE NONAGENARIANS
Nathaniel Dyer and Wife of Cape Elizabeth Were Former Rockland Residents—He is a Survivor of Relief Lodge, I. O. O. F.

During the latter part of March The Courier-Gazette published a list of the charter members of Relief Lodge, I. O. O. F., with the statement that Capt. Mark L. Ingraham was the only surviving member. Rising to dispute this statement is Nathaniel Dyer of Cape Elizabeth, who, on the 24th of August, will be 95. He formerly worked on a railway in this city, and was one of the original subscribers to The Courier-Gazette. He did not retire from active work until he was 86, and would have "kept on farming" had he not fallen through a platform and injured one of his hips. He joined Rockland Lodge of Masons in 1855 and still attends Masonic meetings occasionally. He goes into the city to order whatever he needs, and still shaves himself. He has voted in every Presidential election since 1840. Mr. Dyer attributes his long life and his hale and hearty old age to total abstinence.

It is not often that a man attaining the age of 94 still possesses his domestic partner, but here, happily, is an exception. Mrs. Dyer was 93 last month, and last September they celebrated their 71st wedding anniversary. The Thomaston lady to whom we are indebted for this information, recently visited the venerable couple. She found Mrs. Dyer sewing patch-work and was proudly informed that the latter had made 13 quilts during the past winter. She is the oldest member of the Pythian Sisters in Maine, if not in the United States, belonging to Myrtle Temple, No. 22, of South Portland. Far from being weary by his long earthly existence she still enjoys life as much as ever, and believes that anybody can who has the disposition to do so.

Mr. and Mrs. Dyer asked to be remembered to Knox county friends. They have two sons—Marion, who is in the employ of Cook, Everett & Pennell, South Portland, and Starr, who resides in Newton Centre, Mass.

TO SUBSCRIBERS

It has been the custom of The Courier-Gazette to continue a subscriber's name upon its mailing list until ordered by the subscriber to discontinue. Sometimes this results in an arrearage, but we have found that in a great majority of cases the subscriber preferred to remit at his convenience and not to have the regular visits of the paper interrupted.

The Postoffice Department is purposing to enforce its ruling whereby copies of the paper more than a year in arrears must pay a rate of postage four times greater than the usual rate.

In order not to suffer in this connection The Courier-Gazette desires to bring its subscription accounts to a cash basis. An agent will wait upon patrons easily accessible. Subscribers living at a distance will be interviewed by mail. Will our friends kindly help us to effect settlement at as early a moment as possible.

Please note the date printed on the wrapper of your copy of the paper, showing time to which subscription is paid, and send remittance in settlement to the present year.

The two great political parties have held their national conventions and present their candidates upon platforms embodying political principles to which those parties now stand dedicated. The Republican convention for a second time named for its standard bearers William H. Taft and James S. Sherman, upon a platform that stands at once for that which has made the party's record glorious, reinforced by declarations setting forth a line of progress in keeping with the greatness of this nation and the wholesome growth that it hopes to continue. The Courier-Gazette purposes to lend what assistance it can to the success of this ticket and platform, but there is a work for Maine Republicans to accomplish that precedes any campaign having to do with the election of a national ticket in November. Next September we are to pass upon the stewardship of the Democratic party in the State. Whether Maine stays free or becomes the appanage of the brewers of the United States is to be decided then, along with other questions affecting the well-being of our people. The national issues should not enter in to disturb us until this State campaign is fought and decided.

With the summer season arrives the fly. Are the efforts at "swatting" him producing any perceptible diminution in his ranks? We are tempted at times to reply, in the language of the day, not so that you'd notice it; but it is well to keep up the campaign of education, resting upon the assurance of the scientific sharps that it is possible for the fly completely to be exterminated. The Christian Herald pertinently remarks in this connection:

If existing laws were enforced, all our large cities would be as free from flies in summer as they are in winter. If the farmer—who is often the keeper of a summer boarding-house—were to take half the precaution with his manure-heaps that he does to secure boarders from the city, his veranda, his table and his living rooms would not be infested with a perpetual fly plague. Lime, properly distributed and frequently applied to a stable pile, will not only destroy fly larvae, but it will add to the value of the compost as a fertilizer. If the people who manage stables in the cities and farmers who save stable fertilizer were to take proper precautions—precautions requiring but little expenditure of time or money—the fly plague would soon disappear, and many of the diseases which afflict humanity, particularly typhoid fever, would lessen, if indeed they did not vanish. Now is the time to prepare for a long, persistent, and it is to be hoped, a successful campaign for the extermination of the disgusting disease-carrying fly.

One drunk. Fine—Bath Times. Better stop with that. You won't find the next one so joyous.

Fourth of July was celebrated at the state prison, thanks to Warden Wiggins. A report of the festivities will appear in our Tuesday issue.

WEAR HUB RUBBERS This Winter

How did our friends, the Maine Democratic leaders, maintain their loud and extravagant pre-election promises to economize? It will be interesting for the tax-payers to review some of Democracy's performances. They cut down the appropriations for charitable, benevolent and educational institutions nearly one-half. They made no appropriation for free high schools for the year 1912. This will necessitate an emergency bill early in the next Legislature for approximately $120,000. They referred twenty-eight State pauper bills, amounting to nearly $18,000, to the next Legislature. They referred nearly one hundred other bills to the next Legislature, thus illustrating their ideas of the application of "good business principles." They did no new construction worthy of mention.

They called a special session of the Legislature, which enacted just one bill into law. This bill provided that the Secretary of State should furnish a ballot box for each voting precinct in the State, over 600 in number, with a suitable lock and key to each. These boxes were to be sent by express, and the whole expense is to be paid by the state. The bill further provides that within twenty-four hours after an election the ballots cast shall be sent to the Secretary of State and that the express charges shall be paid by the town. If a recount, or an examination of the ballots, is desired in any town a journey to Augusta will be necessary at the expense of the persons whose interests are involved. They passed an appropriation bill amounting to $78,451.13. They passed an order for the delivery to each member of a bound copy of the record of their important proceedings. This is a book of 266 pages, printed in double columns of very fine type. They then drew their mileage and per diem and adjourned. The whole performance was a political whistle, which cost the state for primaries, printing, elections and the direct expenses of the Legislature itself, about $20,000.

The Courier-Gazette is squarely in favor of any attempt to enforce the laws for Sunday closing and wishes to lend every encouragement to the authorities whose duty it is to uphold such laws. We do not think it is necessary to keep open shop on Sunday. For the most part those who do it are actuated by the principle of gain and not the public's convenience. We are well aware of the ramifications surrounding the question and the arguments that can be aroused touching upon the various aspects, but it is easy to keep one or two points in mind. Both the law and good business sense are on the side of closing on the seventh day, and those who seek to oppose law and good sense are not likely to receive the support of public sentiment.

A COMMUNICATION

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—In Saturday's paper the little item in relation to the piece of road at the Northend, Rankin block to Perry's Corner interested the writer. I am glad to have you assure the public that someone is interested in that section of the city. It has been a source of wonder to the writer why something was not done there. The road is very bad. For three years about nothing has been done that would help the travel. Last summer all the autos that passed had to travel on the electric track. All the autos that go through the section to Belfast, Bangor and other eastern towns pass over this piece of road.

We know that sometime in the near future this will be put in nice shape, but what is to hinder doing it before then. A few hours' judicious work with the road machine would smooth off the hummocks and fill the hollows. North Main street to the head of Warren street needs the acquaintance of a steam machine.

KNOX TROLLEY LEAGUE
Rockland celebrated the Fourth by two overwhelming victories of Oakland Park. In the morning she defeated Thomaston 16 to 4, and in the afternoon took Camden-Rockport 17 to 1. The Limerock City lads certainly had their batting tons, but the team of education, resting upon the assurance of the scientific sharps that it is possible for the fly completely to be exterminated. The Christian Herald pertinently remarks in this connection:

If existing laws were enforced, all our large cities would be as free from flies in summer as they are in winter. HER 88TH BIRTHDAY
Mrs. Eliza W. Bills of Hope was Old-Time Choir Singer.
Mrs. Eliza W. Bills of Hope celebrated her 88th anniversary June 29, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Adelia Goding, with whom she makes her home. Her daughter, Mrs. Nellie Wilkins, came from Greene to visit her mother at this time. Her only grandchild, Mrs. Margaret (Hewitt) Robbins and sons, Clifford and Roland Robbins were also guests. Mrs. Bills had a shower of birthday cards.

Mrs. Bills belonged to an old-fashioned family of 11 children, being the daughter of Deacon Job and Mrs. Betsy (Crane) Pendleton. Her husband, Warren Bills, was one of the 14 children, died 18 years ago. Mrs. Bills has always lived in Hope. She used to belong to the choir when there were at least 20 in it, and her sweet voice could be distinctly heard. She has been a member of the Baptist church for many years. Mrs. Bills is a well preserved woman and has a fairer face than many women at 70 years.

KNOX COUNTY'S SHERIFF CONTEST

The frame of mind in which a large and influential element of the Democratic party finds itself this year, may be judged from an article which appeared in last week's issue of the Rockland Opinion—a newspaper which seldom admits that there is any virtue in the Republican party, but which does not hesitate to show up some of the shortcomings of its own party. The Opinion article was as follows:

An Appleton Democrat, who says he has never yet split his ticket but is going to "rip it up the middle" this year of grace, writes to inquire: "What kind of a man is Mr. Linnell, the Republican candidate for Sheriff? Is he well fitted for the position—honest and able? Do you advise Democrats to vote for him?" Well, now, (the editor of the Opinion adds) you don't know anything about Mr. Linnell, and we are not going to try to find out. We never have seen him, and don't want to see him. We are going to vote for him anyhow, and we have always noticed that when one makes up his mind to vote for a candidate, the less he knows about him the better he feels about it. He is probably a cheap skate; most Republican candidates for sheriff are. On that presumption, he ought to be elected over Tolman. "Any stick is good enough to beat a dog with." If he proves to be a great and good man, so much the better. As for advice, we have none to give. When folks accept and follow several tons of advice we have already lavished on them, we will see about flinging out another chunk. Besides, we do not care two cents how anybody votes on sheriff, and we are not interested in county politics this year anyway; the more weighty problems of state and national politics are resting heavily on our mind, and it will be time enough when we have saved the rest of the country to instruct the voters of Appleton and other towns as to the qualifications of Republican candidates for sheriff. Please let us alone while we elect the state and national tickets.

The Courier-Gazette will answer the Appleton Democrat's query by referring him to the people of Mr. Linnell's home town of Thomaston where the character of the Republican candidate's citizenship has never been questioned. He is everywhere held in the highest esteem, and the voters of Knox county will have no occasion to regret their choice if he is elected to the office for which he has been named by the primaries.

Wilson and Marshall

Ticket Named After Long Wrangle at Baltimore—Underwood's Withdrawal, Without His Knowledge, Made Wilson Victory Possible—Other Politics.

Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey was made the Presidential nominee of the Democratic national convention at the afternoon session Tuesday when on the fifth ballot he received 990 votes. The Missouri delegation, which had remained faithful to the end, then moved that the nomination be made unanimous. Only four ballots were necessary Tuesday to reach a nomination. When the convention adjourned Monday night the convention had seemed to be in an all but hopeless deadlock. Wilson had begun to lose ground and Champ Clark had more and more temporary gains. This encouraged the Speaker to rush over to Baltimore from Washington in the hope of still further turning the tide. When he reached Baltimore, however, he learned that the Illinois delegation had decided to switch from Clark to Wilson. This meant a change of 58 votes. As had been anticipated, the vote of Illinois marked the beginning of the end. The Virginia joined hands with Illinois in going over to Wilson on the 43rd ballot, the first case of break.

Wilson jumped from his final vote of 404 Monday night to 602 on the first ballot Tuesday. The 275 votes of the Missouri delegation, which had been directed the second call of the day—the 44th of the convention. The most important change on this ballot was on the Colorado delegation which had been voting 11 for Clark and one for Wilson. This time Colorado divided to 2 in favor of Wilson. Altogether the ultimate nominee gained 27 votes on this ballot. Then came the 45th. It was disappointing in a way, for Clark held his own and Wilson made a gain of only four. There were few in the hall at this time who did not believe Wilson would win, but they feared it would take a long while for him to attain the 725-3 votes necessary to nominate. It was realized that there must be a decided "break" in the Underwood vote.

The 46th ballot had been ordered when Senator Bankhead of Alabama was seen making his way to the stage. There was a confusion of applause and cheering. Senator Bankhead for a long while before he could proceed to release the Underwood delegation. He had uttered only a few words when the meaning of his remarks became clear and there was frequent interruption of applause and noisy demonstration.

The only display of temper marking the nominating session came from some of the Missouri delegates. They demanded to know of Senator Bankhead why Mr. Underwood had not withdrawn when Clark appeared to have a chance for the nomination, and accused the Underwood delegates of "faking." Senator Bankhead paid no heed to the questions. He said Mr. Underwood desired the success of his party above everything else and would not lend himself to any plan to prevent a nomination. Senator Stone of Missouri, who had been in consultation with Speaker Clark, climbed to the stage and when he could make himself heard, released in the name of the Speaker all of the delegates who had been pledged to him.

"As for Missouri, however," he added, "she will cast her 36 votes for old Champ Clark to the end." It was a foregone conclusion what the result would be as the last call of the states began. Alabama, which had started every other call with 24 votes for Underwood, changed to Wilson and state after state followed suit. It was just 1:35 P. M. when the solid 70 votes of Pennsylvania carried Wilson over the winning line, making his total at the time 733 votes.

The stamped did not end until 9:00 of the 108th votes in the convention had been cast for the nominee, Missouri with her 36 had been joined on the last ballot for Clark by 24 of California's 26 votes, by five delegates from Florida, two from Louisiana, six from Nevada, four from New Jersey, the home state of Gov. Wilson, six from the District of Columbia and one from Ohio. The ballot stood as follows:

Wilson 990, Clark 84, Harmon 12, absent 2.
Gov. Thomas R. Marshall of Indiana was nominated on the second ballot for vice president, receiving 635 votes to 387 1/3 for Burke and 12 1/3 for Chamberlain.

lahan, Lewiston, 31,865. Congress—1st district, Asher C. Hinds, Portland, 8,836; second district, William B. Skelton, Lewiston, 6,333; 3d district, Forest Goodwin, Skowhegan, 5,017; Hannibal Hamlin, Ellsworth, 4,233; 4th district, Frank E. Guernsey, Dover, 10,607.

The act passed by the 75th Legislature at the special session, providing for uniform ballot boxes for all municipalities, and the return of the ballots to the office of the secretary of State within 24 hours after the State election, will be submitted to the people of the state for a referendum vote. The referendum petitions upon the measure, which were filed, Tuesday, at the office of the secretary of State, contains 11,268 signatures, including 334 from Knox county.

WANTS TO EXTEND

Rockland, South Thomaston & St. George Railway Also Wants to Make Bond Issue for Improvements.

At the office of M. A. Johnson in this city next Tuesday, at 10 a. m., there will be a hearing on the petition of the Rockland, South Thomaston & St. George Railway asking that the railroad commissioners issue a certificate to allow the company to extend its road in the near future and also add further equipment. The expense of these equipments and extension of road is to be $60,000. The petition is asked in accordance with Chapter 48, Section 23 of the Revised Statutes, as amended by the Public Laws of 1909, Chapter 149.

The railroad also asked for permission to issue a series of bonds to the sum of $100,000, the rest of which will be used in improvements on the road at a later date.

An extension of the road to Port Clyde, ultimately, is the purpose of the corporation.

County Attorney Howard returned Wednesday from the Baltimore national convention, where he had the satisfaction of voting 46 times for Woodrow Wilson. He says Bryan was the star of the convention, and had the pleasure of several chats with the great Nebraska man, who is in this ideal in the political world. In Baltimore he met, among others, A. E. Walden, Scott W. Kittredge and Walter T. Prescott. Mr. Walden's motor car was often at the disposal of the northern delegates, who thoroughly enjoyed his hospitality. Mr. Prescott contemplates locating in Baltimore, and will soon come to Rockland on a visit. Scott Kittredge will be home the moment Congress adjourns.

The current issue of the Dry Goods Economist devotes the better part of a page to an article on stamp-deterred cards, descriptive of the methods used in this sort of advertising by J. S. W. Burpee for the Fuller-Cobb Co. The Economist does not make a practice of reproducing such devices, but this collection seemed exceptionally good, and it was impelled to do so because of the general interest it had for readers. The editor calls attention to the sample cards reproduced, which, he says, were aptly chosen in each case. He adds: "Our readers will readily agree that they more than double the attractiveness of the cards, thereby more than doubling their value as an advertising medium." Mr. Burpee has dabbled with this sort of work for several years, and this praise from a trade journal like the Dry Goods Economist is naturally very gratifying to him.

The Carbon-Copy Test that Proves the Superiority of the work produced by the Monarch.

Try this experiment: Take several sheets of writing paper with carbons between; place them on a flat surface and drop a lead pencil, point down, from a height of 18 or 20 inches. Note the clearness of the dot, even on the bottom sheet. Now make a dot by pressing the pencil into the paper, and then examine your carbon copies. The top one will show clear enough but the others will be faint and blurred.

Monarch Light Touch

This simple demonstration illustrates the light touch principle of the Monarch Typewriter. The action of the Creeping Fulcrum of the Monarch type bar is such that it throws the type face against the paper with a quick tap—not a slow push. This means clear impressions on the maximum number of carbon copies.

Monarch "Light Touch" is more than a mere talking point. It is a mechanical fact, and is one of the recognized features of the Monarch Typewriter. We are always glad to demonstrate this and other valuable features of the Monarch, and request those interested to write us for illustrated, descriptive literature.

We can arrange for a demonstration of the Monarch in your own office.

CARE OF SWINE

A Practical Agricultural Discussion Which Has Nothing to Do With the End-Seat Hog.

"The situation and Care of Swine in the state" is the subject of the June bulletin of the Department of Agriculture. "There is no reason," says Commissioner of Agriculture John P. Buckley, "why the farmers of this state cannot raise swine with a good profit. At the present price of pork and the high prices that are paid for pigs, there is no animal that can be grown on the farm that will turn the owner a handsomer profit than the hog and better utilize the waste products of the farm, if he is properly fed and given a fair chance."

Commissioner Buckley advocates a good supply of pure water, a chance for exercise and fresh air and a comfortable bed for the hog, the pigs that young pigs with their mothers should not be kept in a cold, bleak place without shelter, as this causes bowel trouble, which is often mistaken for hog cholera. "It is another mistake," says the bulletin, "to have pigs come before the first of April, unless some artificial heat can be procured. Hogs can be kept to good advantage in orchards if they are not kept in too small a range and they assist in consuming the fruit that drops from the trees and loosening up the earth around the roots of the trees, and are of more or less assistance in fertilizing the orchard."

A considerable portion of the bulletin is devoted to hog cholera and swine plague. Suggestions for the prevention of hog cholera include, clean and dry pens, regular and proper feeding, comfortable sleeping quarters, plenty of sunshine, the pens cleaned and disinfected regularly and the hogs themselves dipped every few weeks when the weather is fit. The following mixture is fed at regular intervals by many hog raisers to aid digestion and prevent worms, especially where the animals are confined to a small lot: Wood charcoal, powdered, 1 lb.; sulphur, 1 lb.; sodium chloride, 2 lbs.; sodium hypophosphate, 2 lbs.; sodium sulphate, 1 lb.; antimony sulphide (black antimony), 1 lb.

In disinfection it is recommended that all straw, cobs and litter should be removed, and if cholera is present, burned, and a strong solution of some good coaltar dip or crude carbolic acid, about one part of the dip to 20 of water, used on all woodwork and floor of the pens; slaked lime scattered over the ground and floors of the pens every few days will help to keep them clean.

The matter of hog cholera serum in detail is taken up in several pages of extracts from recent publications of the Michigan State agricultural experiment station.

IOWA WOMAN WELL AGAIN

Freed From Shooting Pains, Spinal Weakness, Dizziness, by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Ottumwa, Iowa.—"For years I was almost a constant sufferer from female troubles in all its dreadful forms; shooting pains all over my body, sick headache, spinal weakness, dizziness, depression, and everything that was horrid. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors. I feel it my duty to tell you these facts. My heart is full of gratitude to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my health."—Mrs. HARRIET E. WAMPLER, 624 S. Ransom Street, Ottumwa, Iowa.

Consider Well This Advice. No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

POINTS FOR MOTORISTS

Danger of Leaving Small Articles in Envelopes—Use Does Not Injure Tires.

In fitting an inner tube care should be taken that nothing remains in the envelope. Tire men not infrequently suffer criticism for supplying inferior tubes when the fact is that it is the motorist who is at fault. The Michelin Tire expert, says that frequently owners leave dust caps, washers and other articles inside an envelope and then complain when the inner tube punctures from "no apparent cause" after a few miles of traveling.

Keep dust caps and other parts removed for tire fitting on a bit of waste on the step or on the seat of the car or in some other place where they can be found when wanted and where they cannot get inside the tire by any possible chance.

Use does not injure tires. Like the human family it is idleness that destroys them. An inner tube hanging in a garage all winter will be ruined by spring. Its companion tube which is working daily remains flexible, elastic and fresh.

It is the same with an envelope or casing. A tire neglected on the roof of a limousine exposed to the sun is baked and ruined, but the envelope on the car has nothing to fear from the same sun rays that destroyed its idle neighbor.

The signature of every man who fought in Maine regiments in the Civil War is preserved on the regimental rolls he signed when he enlisted and forms a part of a complete though short record of his career in the service. Upwards of 72,000 men were received into the Union service from Maine during the war and the records of their service are priceless.

After nearly 20 years of painstaking and most skillful labor, these regimental rolls are now protected by transparent cloth and mounted on heavy paper, are bound in books. The work has cost many thousands of dollars, but the result is highly satisfactory. The rolls are now kept in huge wooden cases in the office of the adjutant general, at the state house, but as soon as money can be provided they will be placed in heavy steel cases that are fire proof.

You can enter the Boston Globe's contest today, or at any time while it is in progress. The contest consists of a series of 77 pictures, to be published in the Globe, one each day, the first having appeared on July 1. Each of these pictures represents the title of a book, not the contents of the book, but merely its title.

All that contestants have to do is to begin saving the pictures and the coupons they fill in the name of the book they believe the drawing represents, their own name and address, and save them until they have the 77 pictures. When they have the 77 pictures solved, the contestant sends to the Booklovers' Contest Editor, Boston Globe, Boston, Mass., all 77 pictures and their answers in one flat package, and the board of judges, made up of well-known Boston men, will decide the names of the winners.

Every picture is drawn to accurately represent the title of the book it is meant for. There are no catches, no subterfuges. The contest calls for no soliciting or canvassing. It is really a most enjoyable game that you can play in your own home, and by doing so win one of the many splendid prizes.

If you have not already entered the contest, you can obtain back pictures at the office of the Boston Globe.

When they have the 77 pictures solved, the contestant sends to the Booklovers' Contest Editor, Boston Globe, Boston, Mass., all 77 pictures and their answers in one flat package, and the board of judges, made up of well-known Boston men, will decide the names of the winners.

Every picture is drawn to accurately represent the title of the book it is meant for. There are no catches, no subterfuges. The contest calls for no soliciting or canvassing. It is really a most enjoyable game that you can play in your own home, and by doing so win one of the many splendid prizes.

If you have not already entered the contest, you can obtain back pictures at the office of the Boston Globe.

REMARKABLE SWORN STATEMENT OF A NEW BRUNSWICK DRUGGIST.
Have sold your Swamp-Root for twenty-eight years and have known its valuable curative qualities for the past twenty years. For kidney, liver and bladder troubles, I have never known a single case where it has failed to relieve and cure. Right in my own household Swamp-Root cured my wife of catarrh of the bladder, while it cured me of liver and bladder troubles.

Numerous cases have come under my personal observation, which has made me very enthusiastic about recommending Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root to anyone suffering from kidney, liver and bladder troubles, and I have the greatest confidence in its merits. Have never heard any customers who have given Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root a trial speak of it but in the highest terms.

Yours respectfully,
JOS. F. BRADLEY, Druggist,
172 Hamilton St., New Brunswick, N. J.

Subscribed and sworn to before me this 16th day of July, A. D. 1909.

A Bunch of Violets

By CLARISSA MACKIE

It was one of those uptown cross-streets whose dividing line is Broadway. No. 87, west, was one of many handsome stone dwellings, while No. 87, east, was merely a shabby boarding house given over to the accommodation of working girls.

Esther Mason wearily climbed the stairs of No. 87 east, and paused as Mrs. Beggs' shrill voice called her name from the hall below.

"Here's something for you—a boy left it a few minutes ago—flowers, I guess. Suppose you best send 'em," said the boarding house mistress as Esther descended the stairs.

The girl's face flushed as she took the square box and examined the address on the violet and gold cover. "Miss Esther Mason, No. 87 East—sixth street." Surely it must be for her, and yet—who would send her a box of flowers on her birthday? Save for the few persons in the office where she was employed she had scarcely an acquaintance in New York—and as for the home people? Esther swallowed a little sob and with a murmured word of thanks to Mrs. Beggs she ran lightly up the stairs to her little room and tossed the box on her narrow bed.

When she had removed her outdoor things she bathed her face and brushed her dusky hair into satin smoothness before she sat down.

All the home folks had passed away to another and more beautiful country two long years before Esther had taken her small patrimony and gone bravely to the great city to make her way among thousands of wage-earners. The investment of her money had brought her a business education, and she had slowly worked her way upward until now she could look forward to the time when an increased salary might permit of a more congenial home. In the meantime the little bank account must grow larger.

This was her birthday and she alone knew it. It was a strange coincidence that some one—some new-found friend might send her some flowers on that day.

She lifted the cover and gazed with delight upon an immense bunch of violets. Their fragrance filled the tiny room and Esther felt a certain sense of luxury in their possession.

Still mystified and yet with a feeling of relief that she might not be obliged to return the gift to some unrecognized donor, she arose with the quick decision that was characteristic of her and changed her gown for the pretty pale gray that was her best.

When the large gray hat with its single long gray feather was perched on her pretty head and the fragrant violets were pinned at her waist, Esther ran down the stairs and knocked at the door of Mrs. Beggs' sitting-room.

"I am going out to dinner, Mrs. Beggs," she called softly, and then, before the older woman could

HAPPY POMONA PATRONS

Session at North Haven Last Saturday One to Remember—A Word for the Lecturer.

Saturday, June 29, was not just such a day as the Patrons of Knox Pomona Grange ordered for their monthly meeting, but who ever heard of a true Patron of Husbandry staying indoors for a few drops of rain? This particular meeting was to be with North Haven Grange, and the Patrons in the surrounding towns having many miles to ride were early on the road that they might reach the boat, which was due to leave the wharf at 8:30 a. m. Long before some of the members left their homes the rain began falling, and rain coats, rubbers and umbrellas were brought into service, and when sailing time arrived 60 Patrons were on hand, and the boat was bay was greatly enjoyed and by the time they landed at North Haven the sun had broken through the clouds and the fog cleared away. There they waited until the boat of Pleasant River Grange, Vinalhaven, with teams for the ride to the hall. There were also a goodly number of Patrons from Limerock Valley and Pomona and the Knox Pomona members were glad to have them as guests.

When the master was ready for the fall of the hammer there were nearly 100 Patrons there. At the roll call all but three officers of Knox Pomona were ready for duty, and every subordinate Grange was reported but one, either by letter or telegram. Miss Mabel A. Fuller, secretary of White Oak Grange, North Warren, supplied as chaplain, and although called upon unexpectedly and wholly unprepared, she did her part in a very creditable manner. There was not a sound in the hall as she pleasingly gave the beautiful charge to the candidates.

The degree was conferred upon a class of 17, after which they marched to the dining hall, Mrs. Eva Taylor of South Hope at the organ. Before the Patrons left the table it was an undisputed fact that it was not necessary to leave the sea to furnish good appetites. In spite of the fact that some of the Patrons ate their breakfasts at the "peep o' day," the island Grangers were prepared for just such appetites and none left the table hungry. The tables were left with plenty of food, to which many of the members helped themselves before returning to the boat.

After the noon hour the regular order of business was taken up and the Grange voted to attend church in a body Sunday, July 14. Rev. B. Russell, pastor of the Methodist church at Union, will speak to the Patrons.

The order of business having been completed the meeting was then placed in the hands of the Lecturer, and was greatly enjoyed by all present. The Lecturer, Mr. H. H. Payson, of Hope, is one of the pleasant features of the meetings. The many hundred Patrons throughout the county understand how much time their lecturer spends in making his programs profitable, and the many months she has been in the chair the Patrons have all been true to the promise made her, giving her their loyal support.

After the meeting the regular order of business was taken up and the Grange voted to attend church in a body Sunday, July 14. Rev. B. Russell, pastor of the Methodist church at Union, will speak to the Patrons.

H. H. Payson of Hope sang several pleasing songs. Miss Jennie Beverage gave the history of the entertaining Grange which was very interesting. Alvin Carver read the future of North Haven Grange. Rebecca gave an excellent recitation with music by Mrs. Alice Sampson; Miss Constance Carver gave a recitation in so pleasing a manner that she was three times recalled and after giving the Sixty time to breathe she was again called to the floor. She is a very obliging little sister, and when the Patrons go again to her island home she will not be forgotten.

In connection with this job it is intended to have the street a uniform width—33 feet from curb to curb—and to build a concrete retaining wall from a point opposite the Elks' Home to Crockett block.

Manifestly a task of these proportions could not be done by the city in a single year, and in this connection Rockland has been extremely fortunate to have the intervention of such a public-spirited citizen as David Talbot. Not only has he raised a large sum by private subscription, but it was largely his influence which brought about an appropriation of $3000 for the state and a donation of $500 from the Maine Central Railroad. The Street Railway is to pay 20 per cent of the entire cost. The city's appropriation of $2500 is small in comparison with the amounts above raised.

The state road work from the Perry store to Mavorick square will stand the city $1200 and the state $800, the balance being raised by private subscription. When these two links are completed there will be a splendid piece of highway from the South Thomaston line to the iron bridge in Rockport.

Still another important task which will be undertaken by the street department this year is the building of a permanent road on Park street, from Main or Union to the old depot. The plans are not fully developed as to what kind of material will be used, or what proportion of the street will be done this year. Private subscriptions are to pay for the work.

EMPIRE THEATRE

Management Adopts a New Amusement Policy, Commencing Next Monday.

Starting next Monday at the Empire there will be a new policy. Manager Engley has made special arrangements with the United Feature Picture Co., and there will be nothing but feature picture plays shown at the Empire. The vaudeville will be omitted and in its place will be a concert orchestra. This will give amusement seekers the greatest line of picture plays ever shown in Rockland, and will be made up of all the world's best makers. Each play will be in two, three, four and five reels according to the picture, and that it will prove to be one of the greatest picture attractions in the history of pictures is a certain fact as it has been in all large cities.

The feature picture will be changed Monday, Wednesday and Friday, giving the public three different picture-play productions every week, together with the orchestra, at no advance in the price of admission.

The opening feature Monday will be the great three-reel feature picture play "The Call of a Woman," to be followed Wednesday by the great play "The Crisis," and "The Land of Darkness."

ROCKLAND THEATRE

In following up the usual high class standard attractions as Manager Rosenberg has been securing for his patrons, such as the world's greatest actress "Sarah Bernhardt," in Camille has won for this popular play house an abundant amount of credit. The Bernhardt pictures are not all of the good things in the line of entertainment, but two excellent vaudeville acts opened their three days' engagement yesterday to big houses.

Heading the bill was Clerie, Keller & Grogan Trio, who presented a variety of musical novelties. Miss Clerie is a harpist of great talent; Mr. Keller has a remarkably imitative gift, his calls of all the birds are perfectly reproduced, while Mr. Grogan, who is totally blind, is a marvel on the piano.

Coming next week the world's known star "Nat C. Goodwin" as Fagin in Oliver Twist, in a five-reel picture.

CAMDEN

A meeting is called of the Congregational Ladies' Circle for next Wednesday afternoon, July 10th, at the chapel at 3 p. m., to make plans for the annual sale.

The Sunday School picnic to Oakland of the Congregational church, planned for last Saturday, will be held tomorrow (Saturday). The church bell will be rung at 8 a. m. if the picnic is to be held. Cars will leave the chapel for Oakland at 9:30 a. m. All members of the Sunday School, Home Department and Parish, are cordially invited. Let them not forget to bring coffee cups. If stormy Saturday, postponed to Monday the next fair day.

The water office across the bridge on Main street will be open next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, July 8th, 9th and 10th, for the collection of water rentals. Don't forget to go in and pay your water bill when it is the handiest time to do it.

MORSE IN CANADA

Rockland Boy Writes from Region Where Bears and Wolves Abound.

The Courier-Gazette is privileged to publish the following letter, written from Carleton Place, Canada, by Roy Morse, a Rockland boy who is rail-roading there, to his brother:

Have just come in from a run, and will take this opportunity to let you know what I am doing. I am, at present, in the C. P. R. bunk room, which is a one-story building, containing a kitchen, an eating room and a smoking room. I got my supper, tonight, at the "Pig's Ear," a restaurant just across the yard, where I found some good old-fashioned ginger bread like mother makes, and as that is the first thing I have found that tastes like home I made a supper on it.

This is a great place to spend one's vacation, as there are all kinds of game. The other day my engine struck a bear and ground him into pieces. At the next station I told an Indian guide about it and he went back and brought five cubs. They were the cutest things you ever saw; just like kittens and nearly as tame. I played with them an hour on my return, and could have had one if I had had a place for it. Just east of here is a lumber village of half-breeds and there are six half-grown bears there that run around with the children like dogs. One day when I was stopping there I was sitting on a log when one of them ran up behind me and jumped on my back. As that was the first I had known of them I experienced a whole lot of real fright for two or three seconds but when I saw that it was only a cub, I was laughing I caught on and played with him. Last Friday I got into Chap-leau at daylight and saw a full grown one behind a box, and while I was looking the box tipped over on him, covering him up. My fireman, anticipating some fun, ran to the box and began to pound on the bottom of it and all at once Mr. Bear struck the side of the box and smashed it into pieces, and was about to see that fellow run. He climbed onto a pile of ties, and the bear followed, but he got away by trimming it to the top of a freight car. The animal ran up to the car and stopped, and then, if I ever saw an animal laugh, that bear seemed to; he turned summersault, stood on his head, then skipped for the woods.

Last week we had a bad wreck, caused by one of the girl operators falling asleep. Two trains came together at full speed, killing two engineers, two firemen and one brakeman. I was running on a passenger train that night and it was fierce. There have been quite a number of wrecks here during the winter. Just as I was pulling out of the yard yesterday, a tramp, a young fellow, attempted to jump a passenger train and making a miscalculation, fell under the wheels and both legs were cut from his body.

I wish you could see the town of Sudbury; you have read of tough towns in the West, but I will wager that none of the Western towns can touch Sudbury in that respect.

There are lots of otter in Spanish river and they are so tame they will let you come within five feet of them before they dive. You can look up Spanish river on the map. In some places it is 150 feet deep and runs like a mill race, and it is quite a sight to see the Indians shoot the rapids in their boats.

I stopped at Amegota Mountain station and siding a short time ago, and saw three Indians and two big squaws chewing tobacco. One Indian had a game bag on his back, and what looked like a powder horn hanging at his side, but informed me that he carried it to call moose with. He blew on it and it sounded like a moose as I sometimes hear them early in the morning; sometimes we can call them near us with the whistle, when at a siding.

This is about all for the present. There is a boy outside leading a full grown wolf, which he caught in a trap, and he is trying to sell him. He has a steel ring fastened around the wolf's nose.

CHARLES A. CANDAGE

The large circle of friends who had known Charles A. Candage, and honored him for his splendid manly qualities, were saddened by the news of his death which occurred at the home of his brother, B. W. Candage, of Seal Harbor, Me., June 17. Mr. Candage was born in Rockland July 30, 1850. Like the granite rocks of the coast on which he spent his life, his character was made of those enduring virtues which give solidity and stability to life. Those who knew him best loved him most. Free from the cares of family life he gave himself with hearty good will to his friends and relatives, and shared with them a life that was rich in the qualities of friendship and the virtues of brotherhood. Mr. Candage was a member of the Odd Fellows, Encampment, and the Rebekahs. A large delegation of brothers and sisters attended the funeral from Northeast Harbor and Seal Harbor. After prayers at the house the body was borne to the church by four nephews of the deceased. Uncle Charlie, as they loved to call him, was a wise counselor and loving companion of these boys from their youth, and it was with great tenderness that they laid him to rest. A quartet from Seal Harbor sang appropriate selections at the house and church. The service was conducted by Rev. A. M. MacDonald of Seal Harbor. The beautiful funeral service of the Odd Fellows was held at the grave.

Unrest

Play me a tender tune, tonight,
My spirit longs for rest;
This world is but a dreary place
And life has lost its zest.

Play me a tender tune, tonight;
Its cadence, soft and slow,
Will fall upon my weary heart
Like loved words whispered low.

Play me a tune with minor chords,
Through which the sweet refrain
Seeks the listening senses
As happiness comes through pain.

A tune whose air falls gently,
Healing the heart's distress,
And raising its aspirations

A tune whose only merit
Lies in its power to cheer,
To raise the drooping spirit
And check the falling tear.

So play me a tune, while twilight fades
And merges into night,
And as the music ebbs and flows
Unrest will take its flight.

—NETTIE ROFFE.

ECZEMA ALL OVER BODY

Extract from letter of a prominent citizen in Maine who suffered torment with eczema all over his body:

"I tried every thing, consulted physicians, specialists, and was about discouraged until I began using HOKARA. My doctor said it would be phenomenal. HOKARA cured me. A few applications quickly relieved, and in a short time HOKARA worked a wonderful cure of my trouble." (Name on request.)

If you have any skin trouble, why not get a jar of HOKARA today and see how quickly it effects a cure? Guaranteed by C. H. Pendleton, local agent.

Lateral jar 25c, larger sizes 50c and $1.00.

If you are a housewife you cannot reasonably hope to be healthy or beautiful by washing dishes, sweeping and doing housework all day, and crawling into bed dead tired at night. You must get out into the open air and sunlight. If you do this every day and keep your stomach and bowels in good order by taking Chamberlain's Tablets when needed, you should become both healthy and beautiful. For sale by Norcross' Drug Stores, Rockland, and McDonald's Drug Store, Thomaston.

Your Five Cents

Don't toss a nickel down carelessly and say: "Give me a cigar." That may get you a good one, but it may not.

Your nickel entitles you to Pippins—the greatest cigar value for a nickel that you will find anywhere.

Say to the dealer: "Give me a Pippin"—get the full worth of your five cents.

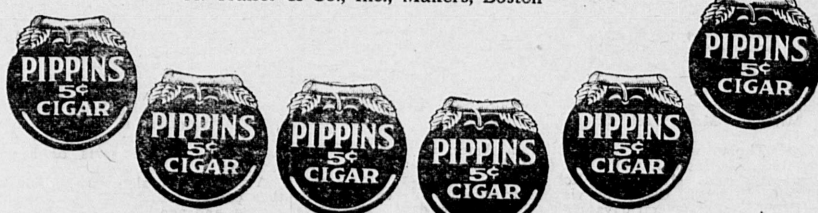

Dealers Like to Sell PIPPINS

Pippins cost the dealer a little more than other five-cent cigars, because there is more real value in Pippins. Yet wide-awake dealers who are anxious to please their trade prefer to sell Pippins, because each sale means a satisfied customer.
