A few words from Dale before you start...

For as long as I can remember I have loved local history! I find great joy in sharing my research; in guiding visitors about town who want to see where their ancestors lived; and “talking it up” to anyone who seems interested.

In 1985 I helped establish the Readfield Historical Society. Since 1989 I have volunteered as a historical interpreter – first at Norlands Living History Center in Livermore, and subsequent to that as my own 4th grandmother, Relief Savage Gordon. In between working and raising two sons I grabbed some moments to research the evolution of Readfield, my own family - and others - whenever I could. All the while it was never enough to satisfy my soul. I yearned to do more of what I love – dig deep, long and hard into my roots- which are ten generations deep in Readfield.

Now that I am retired I am able to do just that. Not only am I researching and writing more, but I have also started Readfield History Walks. These augment my research but more importantly I get to share some of my morsels in person.

Thank You for joining me on this journey. I hope you will enjoy your discoveries as much as I do!

This is a work in progress where I am gradually posting information about two-hundred fifty of the earliest families who settled in Readfield.

Alice Dudley and Will Gordon
Readfield Town Meeting 1950

The following pages are dedicated to the residents, teachers, town officers and officials who have given their time, energy and talents for and to the people of Readfield.

Thank you to the many, who have taught, mentored, protected our interests and carried this town, which we love, through some challenging times.

Their wisdom, expertise, patience and foresight have been a gift!

Pictures of many residents who lived in Readfield, and served in various capacities, will be seen throughout the following pages. I wish to express my sincere thank you to those who shared pictures for this purpose. In the interest of space and time I have not credited every person who contributed those photos – unless they requested that. I hope that by seeing the pictures of parents, grandparents and other people we have known and cherished, all the contributors will feel satisfactory appreciation.

Cover photo: Quilt made by Readfield residents in recognition of the American Bicentennial in 1976 on display at Maranacook Community School. Squares and names of their creators will be identified throughout the following pages. The key to the entire quilt is located on page 145.

Alice Dudley, Myrtle Townsend, Fred Walker and Maurice Springer in the 1950's.

Hilary Clinton once said it “takes a village to raise a child.” Well, it takes a LOT of people to raise and manage a village too! In reviewing the town reports from 1908 – 1976 I was awestruck as I compiled all the names of those who have served Readfield in various capacities over the years. I might add – not only was I in awe of how many people’s names appear, but also of the thirty various committees and positions. I have done my best to include all of those names (alphabetically) below as well as the time span these committees existed. I have not included the years or number of times when people served. Some of them served many terms over a period of decades. Please forgive any errors or omissions.

EDUCATION

In the time span covered in this book (1908-1976) Readfield experienced incredible growth and changes in its school system. Students went from attending one room school houses in their neighborhoods, to grades K-8 under one roof when Readfield Elementary School opened in 1955. There was no high school in Readfield until 1976. For those who chose to gain a secondary education before that Kents Hill School or Winthrop were the most common choices. Readfield students were well prepared for a secondary education by an outstanding group of teachers and staff.
