Fire Loss Estimated At Nearly $20,000 In Warren Poultry Barn

Smoldering ruins remain of what less than an hour before this picture was taken was a five-floor poultry barn on the property of Russell Orff, North Union Road, Warren. As Warren firemen overhauled the blaze, a section of the cellar continues to burn early Wednesday morning. The fire flared up during the day and kept firemen busy. Water from a farm pond made it possible for firemen to protect the house and outbuildings from the intense heat at the height of the fire.

WARREN — Loss unofficially estimated by a poultry expert at $20,000 was caused by a farm fire, early Wednesday morning, which flattened a 40 by 60 foot, five floored poultry barn on the property of Russell Orff. Warren firemen prevented the roaring flames from reaching the farm house and outbuildings which are located about two miles from Warren village.

Orff said he had about 4,400 laying hens in the barn which had been converted from a dairy operation. A small building near the barn also was burned. Firemen used water from a farm pond on the property to prevent the searing heat from igniting buildings near the house. Siding on the end of a building near the house was melted but no fire resulted.

A neighbor, Edward Davis, was awakened by the glare of the flames and alerted Orff and summoned firemen about 3 a. m.

The new Warren fire truck made its first official run and supplemented the farm pond by carrying water in its 500 gallon tank.

Towering flames could be seen from miles around as the buildings, known as the Charles Dolham place, are located on a hill.

As the wind and sun dried out the ruins, the fire sprang up several times during Wednesday and occasionally spread to grass ground near the barn. Firemen with back tanks kept the grass fires under control.

Fire Chief Richard Butler estimated loss of the barn at $10,000. He said the cause and where the fire started were unknown Wednesday afternoon. He said pumping from the farm pond lowered the level two feet.

Thomaston Float Prize Winners Are Announced

THOMASTON — First prize in the Thomaston Fourth of July parade competition was awarded to St. John's Episcopal Church. It is announced by Hazen Cook of Williams-Brazier Post, American Legion, parade chairman. Second prize went to the Assembly of God Vacation Bible School, and third to the Chamber of Commerce float.

The St. John's float featured children from the church as did the Assembly of God group in a covered wagon. The latter was pulled by horses. The Chamber float had a boating theme.

Honorable mention went to the Maine State Prison float which was built voluntarily by the inmates. It depicted a Revolutionary War cannon as it might have stood in a fort.

Judges were Dr. and Mrs. Lester Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Feyler.

About a dozen units participated in the parade but not all were eligible for prizes.

Dumping Trash In Streams and Lakes Unlawful

Although most people, visitors and natives alike, are considerate, area officials have issued a reminder against dumping rubbish along roadsides and in lakes and streams.

The law reads:

"Chapter 141, Section 11: Solid domestic waste such as rubbish, refuse, debris, trash and garbage shall not be placed or deposited directly into or on the banks of any river, stream, lake or pond or similar watercourse or tidal waters or on the ice thereof where such waste material may fall or be washed into said watercourse or tidal waters. Whoever violates the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $100, and costs, for each offense."

Rockland Starts To Take On a Festive Air

Rockland began to take on a festive air which will last until Seafood Festival time, this week, as street banners went up announcing to one and all that the big event will take place Aug. 5, 6, and 7. Bumper stickers also went into action to carry the message far and wide.

Members of the Rockland Area Zonta Club shortly will start distributing lobster pin identification tags which retail store and motel and restaurant workers will wear to welcome visitors to the festival.

FREE BOAT SAFETY INSPECTION TO BE CONDUCTED SUNDAY BY WAWENOCK POWER SQUADRON

The Wawenock Power Squadron will hold a full scale boat safety program at Morse Island Sunday, starting at 10 a. m. The island is located at the confluence of the Georges and Medomak Rivers off Friendship.

Col. Seward S. Mains of South Thomaston, safety officer for the Power Squadron, has arranged for all manner of safety demonstrations and courtesy inspection of boats by the Coast Guard.

The safety officer commented this week that every person now handling a small boat could benefit from attendance at the event which is actually being held for them.

Persons with trailer boats may launch in the Georges River at Thomaston to make the run down river to Morse Island. Those wishing to run along the coast to the island off Friendship may launch at the Main Deck Marina at the Public Landing in Rockland.

Co-operating with the Power Squadron will be the Red Cross which will give water safety demonstrations, Boy Scouts and Girl

Crowds Enjoy Vinalhaven Fourth Celebration

Children of the Sutcliffe Nursery School parade down Vinalhaven's Main Street, Monday, in the annual ICMS tag day celebration. The children used a circus theme. Hundreds of mainlanders made use of the new ferry Everett Libby to join islanders for a full day of fun, all to the benefit of the Island Communities Medical Service. Many floats and island musical units made a gala affair of the morning parade. Miss Georgianna Hansen ruled over the day as Health Council Queen. As such she will represent the islands in the Maine Seafoods Festival, August 5, 6 and 7.

Shakespeare Theater To Open July 26

Actors double in brass at Camden's summer theater which will open July 26. With lighting man Michael Latham are members of the acting company who turned to, Tuesday, to set up lights and prepare the Camden Opera House for a five-week season. Working on the stage are, from left to right, James Vann of New York City, Ken Atkatz of New York City, Latham of Philadelphia, Pa., and Arthur Rozen of New York City. The beards are being grown to save makeup in the Shakespearean plays which will be produced.

CAMDEN—For the first time in the history of summer theater at Camden, a repertory group will present Shakespearean theater.

The five week season will open with "Macbeth" on July 26, produced by Richard C. Sewell of Liberty. To break up the season, three one-act plays by Russian playwright Anton Chekhov will be presented during the next two last week. A 20 man company has moved into Sewell's Liberty home to begin rehearsals while the Camden Opera House is being readied.

Col. Mains noted that all boat owners are invited, pleasure craft operators as well as lobstermen and other owners of commercial fishing craft, power boats and sailing craft.

A picnic will be held at noon. Persons attending are advised to bring their own lunches.

The event will climax National Safe Boating Week and will be the easternmost demonstration in the United States.

Col. Mains noted that all boat owners are invited, pleasure craft operators as well as lobstermen and other owners of commercial fishing craft, power boats and sailing craft.

Telephone operators serving Chinese patrons must memorize the names, addresses and phone numbers of all customers, as the Chinese language has no alphabet.

Read The Courier-Gazette.

The acting troupe, consisting of some 20 young actors from New York to California, arrived in Maine a few days ago to begin rehearsals.

During the summer, they will live at the Liberty home of Director Sewell's mother, the men quartered in a large barn and the small contingent of women in the house.

Sewall, an instructor in dramatics and English at High Mowing, a private school at Wilton, N. H., will be manager and director of the summer theater.

He assembled his troupe in New York during the past two months after extensive auditions.

During the season here, the company will present performances Tuesday through Saturday evenings and a matinee each Saturday afternoon.

Paula Cohen of Boston, the company's publicity director, said Tuesday that the matinee performance of "As You Like It," the second Shakespeare play on the schedule, may be held outdoors in Camden's famous amphitheater overlooking the harbor.

Following "Macbeth" and "As You Like It," three one-act plays by Chekhov will play for a week. The three are "The Brute," "Swan Song," and "The Harmfulness of Tobacco."

Then Shakespeare will return to round out the season with a week each of "Measure For Measure" and "Julius Caesar."

Miss Cohen said lead parts in the various plays will be taken by several different actors rather than having certain individuals star in all the productions.

All evening productions will begin at 8 o'clock. At the matinees, the curtain will rise at 2 o'clock. Tickets will be sold individually or for the complete season.

Manager Interns Work On Parking Layout

LEFOREST A. THURSTON

In the passing of Leforest A. Thurston this week the community lost one of its more able citizens. He served the city as mayor for a span of years and took his share of responsibilities in civic affairs over his active years. Even in retirement, he still retained his interest in the life of the community and in his chosen field of endeavor. He served the community and its people well.

TIME FOR BOATING SAFETY

It is time that the state and the Coast Guard started to bare the teeth of the boating laws which are now in effect on salt as well as fresh water areas. News reports indicate that these new-born mariners who are bringing boating to an all time high are knocking themselves off at a record pace just because they do not know the first rudiments of boating safety. They are doing it in spite of many opportunities to learn proper boat handling and safety measures, such as through U. S. Power Squadron classes and the Coast Guard Auxiliary. The most of them feel that as long as they can pull or depress a throttle and move a tiller or wheel they are boatmen of the first order. They are not. They are just insisting on learning the hard way.

For those who want to learn and live to enjoy their boating experiences the U. S. Power Squadron is holding a safety demonstration and field day all day Sunday at Morse Island at the mouth of the Medomak and Georges Rivers in Friendship. An article on the demonstration is in this edition and gives full details. The sponsors, all experienced boatmen, are dead serious in their efforts to train new boat handlers and invite all who are interested in keeping alive to enjoy the boating season just opening.

NINTH INNING HOMER GIVES TOWNIES WIN OVER REDLEGS

WALDOBORO—A solo home run in the bottom of the ninth by Waldo's Lloyd Hodgkins gave the Townies a 6-5 win over the Damariscotta Redlegs Monday and pulled the Townies to within a game of the league leading Redlegs.

At Thomaston, the home team dropped a 3-1 decision to the St. George Torpedoes and dropped into the league cellar as a result. Waldo's Hodgkins led the lead until the eighth in the game here, when Damariscotta scored three to tie it. Don Bowman, making his first start of the year for the visitors, allowed Waldo's eight hits but made a fast ball too good for the pull hitting Hodgkins who found the range of the short left field fence to win it. Previously, Bowman had smacked a bases empty homer in the second to account for the first Redleg run.

Charlie Mahoney, who recently shifted to St. George from Thomaston, held his old mates to five hits and was in command all the way, except for the third when the Clippers managed one run on singles by Lou Cook and George Alex, along with a fielder's choice. Two damaging errors opened the gates for St. George in the second when they scored two, aided by singles by Harry Melquist and Don Holmstrom.

Check Safety Before Swimming

The biggest playground in America today is—the water! Virtually every major adult summer sport centers around water, the National Safety Council points out. And one of the biggest sports of them all is swimming.

Unfortunately, swimming fun all too often is spoiled by drowning.

About 2,300 Americans drown annually swimming or playing in the water. One out of 15 fatal accidents is a drowning.

A reported 30 million-plus Americans swim, sometimes in the nation's estimated 250,000 swimming pools, more often in rivers, lakes and ponds.

Swimming fun probably reaches a peak over the Memorial Day and Fourth of July holidays.

Anyone can learn to swim, the experts say. As one writer put it, "All you need is water, a swimsuit and the willingness to enjoy yourself."

You can't enjoy yourself, of course, if you're afraid for your life.

Safety in swimming means keeping in mind such tips as these from the Council, hub of the safety movement in America and concerned with all forms of safety:

1. Learn to swim.
2. Be sociable—never swim alone.
3. Stick to the beaches with lifeguards around. Look before you leap. Don't swim or dive in unfamiliar waters.
4. Know your limitations. Don't swim so long you become tired, overheated or chilled. Take it easy.
5. Don't swim right after eating. Give your meal time to digest.
6. Don't rebel if your muscles cramp—relax for a moment in a face-down float and massage the muscle.
7. Swim parallel to shore if you want to test your endurance.

Spanish explorers report that Inca "runners" delivered messages from Quito to Cuzco, 1,250 miles, in five days, all over very rough mountains. This speed far exceeded that of the Pony Express, and was accomplished by having each runner sprint for one and one-half miles, pass message on to the next runner.

Fun For All For Clowns Ball Game Monday

Top calibre baseball will be only part of the menu that holds sway at South Field in Rockland on Monday evening, July 11, when the fabulous Indianapolis Clowns meet the classy New York Royals nine in a 6 p. m. rival game and rollicking fun show extravaganza.

The primary aim of the Clowns is not to provide the fans with topnotch baseball, but to keep the stands in laughter at the same time. To do this, the "Funnymen of Baseball" live up to their reputation of being, not only Negro baseball's world champions, but also the funniest team ever to cavort on any baseball diamond.

It is just this policy that has brought large crowds out to greet the Clowns all over the country—such as the over 7,000 attending their game at Griffith Stadium, Washington, D. C., on a weekday night in mid-June this season.

The Clowns are considered the best drawing card in barnstorming baseball and they've been touring the nation for the last 31 years. It's the quality of baseball plus comedy that's enabled the Funnymen to be the attraction they are over this quantity of years.

Last season the Clowns played to over half-a-million people. This season, their busy 150 game schedule takes them on their present tour of 40 states and Canada. Monday evening's game is being sponsored by the Port O'Rockland Junior Drum Corps.

SHUT OUT CONTINUES CAMDEN RUTHERS UNBEATEN RECORD, WHILE ROCKLAND WINS ANOTHER

ROCKPORT—The Camden Babe Ruth team continued undefeated as they shut out Rockport 3-0 here Tuesday night behind the fine pitching of Bob Whitely. The Rockland team continues in contention in second place with a 13-3 win over Thomaston in the other Tuesday game.

Whitely fanned 13 and yielded only two hits, by Buzzy Barrows and Skip Pound, and the home team never seriously threatened. A two base error and a single by McLain accounted for the first Camden run in the third, and they scored the other two in the seventh when Ken Hibbert doubled and Wayne Hansen and McLain belted singles.

Nate Peasley fanned eight in a good losing mound performance for the losers. Rockland had a big night at the expense of Thomaston at South Field as they batted around in the first and third innings and blasted 15 hits off three Thomaston pitchers. Carleton Willis held the Clippers to four scattered hits while teammate Hal Condon nearly matched this total with three for Rockland.

July 25—Open house at the Knox Mansion in Thomaston honoring General Knox's birthday.

Waldoboro—About 60 members of the Knox-Lincoln Sheep Growers' Association and dog owners of the area met at the Waldoboro Municipal Building Tuesday evening to discuss the problem of sheep killing dogs. Both factions aired their views and it was decided to give the matter as much publicity as possible in the hope that owners of the offending dogs might take corrective steps. It is thought that the dogs killing sheep are the same ones that destroyed a large number of deer in the early spring. The group was also addressed by Sam Dorrance, State livestock specialist.

Around the County—On Tuesday morning jet planes flying over Rockland broke the sound barrier with such a resounding crash that one of the large lower panes of glass in the bathroom at the home of Lucien K. Green, 17 Chestnut Street, was shattered.

Rockland—A strong odor of gasoline in The Courier-Gazette building, Wednesday, was traced by Fire Chief Wesley Knight, Highway Superintendent Harold Halligan and City Engineer George Traflet to the Maritime Gulf Station some 500 feet away where a gasoline storage tank in the ground was seeping. Chief Knight ordered all electrical devices in the station shut off, and said no work could be done in the building until the tank was pumped out. Some gasoline seeped into the sewer system which empties into the brook under Main Street. The brook empties into the harbor at the rear of The Courier building.

West Side Story At Lakewood

LAKEWOOD—“West Side Story,” America's most exciting musical hit production, will play at the Lakewood Theatre, opening Monday evening, July 11, and play through Saturday night, July 16.

“West Side Story,” after a national tour, is playing in its second full year on Broadway, and is a popular hit in England.

“Roman Candle,” the space age comedy hit, which features Martha Randall, Wayne Carson and Tom Goers is the current attraction at the nation's oldest summer theatre, and concludes Saturday evening.

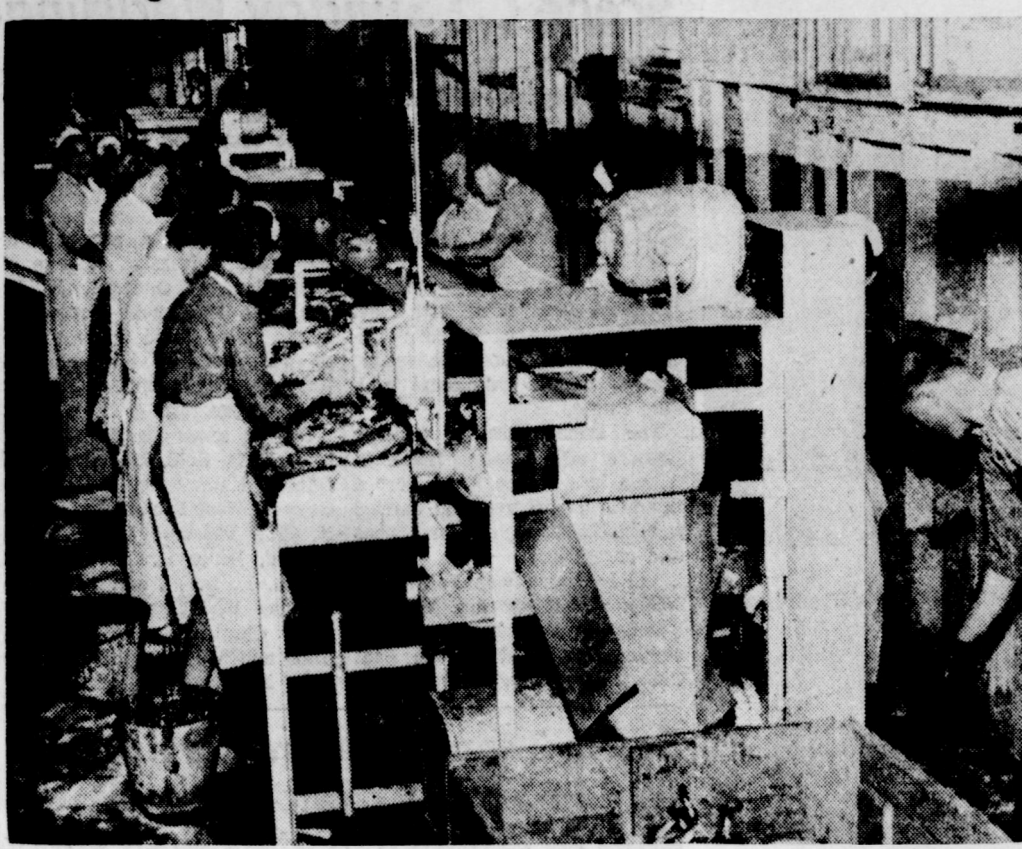

Leonard Bernstein's great music from “West Side Story,” already familiar to large segments of the public, includes such memorable song numbers as “Maria,” “Tonight,” “I Feel Pretty,” “Something's Coming” and “I Have a Love.”

Arthur Laurents book and the lyrics by Stephen Sondheim, combined with Bernstein's music, based on a conception by Jerome Robbins, have cleverly updated the beautiful love story of Romeo and Juliet, and placed them in the explosive setting of Manhattan's melting pot, the West Side.

Byrne Piven, who Maine audiences recall from last season's popular musical offering, “Say, Darling,” will play Tony, the modern day Romeo, as well as directing the proceedings. Lovely Gerriane Raphael will play the twentieth century Juliet, the lovely Maria. Miss Raphael left the lead role in the New York musical hit, “Earnest In Love,” to play the coveted role of the betrayed lover.

Noel Schwartz has choreographed the production and Robert Proctor is the musical director. Tom Jewett, again, has created the sets for the Lakewood production.

Whiting Pack Starts In Rockland Plant

Whiting began to run through the 40-Fathoms processing line, Tuesday evening, as the whiting season opened with two boats arriving from waters in the Boothbay area. The picture above shows the cleaning line at the 40-Fathom plant. The whiting process is under the supervision of Arthur N. Thurston, Jr. A crew of 89 began the first night's work on round fish and fillets. More people will be added as the whiting run begins in Penobscot Bay. This is the third year that 40-Fathoms has processed whiting. Because some of the red fish processing facilities are used, whiting is processed at night.

Brothers Half Century Apart

Floyd Young of Bronx, N. Y., and Ken Feyler, brothers separated for nearly a half century, chat at Ken's filling station in the Southend as Ken attends to the needs of one of his customers.

They have met twice in a half century. In fact one wasn't quite sure that the other existed until two years ago. There had been rumors that each had a brother, but no one pinned it down for a certainty.

Last Friday, Floyd Young of the Bronx in New York City spent a day with the brother he discovered two years ago, Kenneth Feyler of Old County Road in Thomaston, who operates a filling station on South Main Street in Rockland. They are unlike in physical appearance and trades. Floyd is a lithographer in New York, a skill he has followed since his youth. Ken has operated filling stations in Rockland all of his adult life. Ken is slim, tipping the scales at a possible 160. Floyd is about the same height, but will weigh in at 200 or better. One is a typical Downeaster while the other is as typical of New York as his brother is of Maine.

Floyd was adopted when an infant by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Young of Rockport and never saw his family to know them as he grew up. Neither Ken nor Floyd were ever informed that they had a brother until an old settler in Thomaston let the information drop one day several years ago to Ken. Even then Ken did not know where his brother was, or by what name he was known.

Floyd was told by foster parents in his high school days in Rockport. At their first meeting, two years ago, he told Ken that he had watched him play baseball many times and wanted to make himself known, but hesitated, not knowing what the reaction might be. Floyd's moving to Philadelphia, and 30 years ago to New York, prevented their meeting until Floyd drove into Ken's filling station two years ago and made himself known.

Both were sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Feyler of Thomaston. The Youngs took Floyd in infancy and Ken's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frazier Feyler of Thomaston, brought him up. They are now deceased. Young's foster father once operated the Highland Square Garage in Rockport. Mrs. Young is still living and makes her home in Lunenburg, Nova Scotia.

The towns northwest from Kansas City on the Union Pacific railroad seem to have been named alphabetically — they are Alexandria, Belvidere, Carleton, Denver, Edgar, Fairfield, Glenval and Hastings.

County Law Enforcement Equipment Drew Interest Of Knox Centennial Visitors

Exhibited in the office of Knox County Sheriff P. Willard Pease during the county's recent centennial observance was emergency equipment maintained for use by his department. In the above picture Deputy Sheriff Lionel Heal of St. George shows some of these items to three interested youngsters, Lawrence Coffin and Bryan and Richard Harden.

Among the many interesting things to be seen at Knox County Court House during the centennial observance was an exhibit of police equipment available to the county's emergency force in event of serious trouble.

Attractively arranged in the office of Sheriff P. Willard Pease were such items as photographic equipment available for mug shots of persons apprehended or for on-the-scene photographs of accidents, crimes, etc. Another item attracting much interest was the fingerprint file and the gear necessary to take, read and classify prints. The file contains prints, pictures, and personal descriptions of all arrested persons.

The guns shown would fill a fair-size arsenal. There were riot guns, shot guns, high powered rifles of various calibers; also gas pistols and shells, gas guns for more distant shots, signal pistols capable of firing Very light shells to furnish brilliant illumination at night, as well as loading machines for shells of various calibers, enabling replacement of ammunition, expended in practice at a low cost. Magnetic loud speakers, or bull horns, to enable members of the sheriff's department to broadcast by voice over great distances.

family spent the Fourth of July weekend with Mrs. King's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Libby.

Scott and Gregory Parmenter of Springfield, Mass., are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Parmenter, Sr.

Bert Smith of Portland visited relatives in town over the weekend.

Miss Lora Sanchez, daughter of Professor and Mrs. Antonio Sanchez of Madison, Wis., is a guest of her aunt, Dr. Ruth Eissler at the Ames farm.

Miss Betty Dearborn of Meriden, Conn., is spending her vacation at her summer home.

Mrs. Pauline Schofield of Rockland visited her sister, Miss Eliza Patterson, over the holiday.

One piece of armor plate attracted much attention. Made of three-quarter inch steel plate and shaped roughly to the outline of a man it could be used to furnish maximum protection to an officer attempting to disarm a person firing at him. While the thickness is not sufficient to deflect a direct hit from a high powered rifle, it is effective against pistol, shotgun, small bore rifle and would greatly reduce velocity of even the .30 caliber rifles so prevalent among sportsmen.

Of course none of the items shown are of much value unless there is trained personnel to use them. Sheriff Pease prides himself in the knowledge that all of his deputies have been trained in their use and are competent to do so.

Many others visiting the court house were impressed with the completeness of the gear available to the county's police force in time of emergency. Knox County is also a station in the radio network connecting the various sheriff's departments and police forces of the State of Maine. With an officer on duty 24 hours daily there is complete coverage for all possible contingencies.

ROCKPORT COMMUTER

Boston University's "Mr. Maine": Maine's number one citizen at Boston University is Dr. Lewis H. Rohrbaugh of Rockport.

ROCKPORT — Boston University's first citizen in the State of Maine is an energetic Rockport man, Dr. Lewis H. Rohrbaugh, who commutes more than 350 miles round trip between his home by the harbor and his job as the University's vice president for academic affairs.

For the past 10 years, Dr. Rohrbaugh and his family have made Rockport their permanent home even though his work as an educator has taken him as far afield as Baghdad and the Peruvian interior.

By comparison, working only as far away as Boston is easy, Dr. Rohrbaugh says. He spends his busy weekdays in Boston at the Charles River Campus, where he has responsibility for the University's 15 schools and colleges, for research, libraries, registrars, institutes and so on. But Friday evenings he heads home to caulk or paint a boat, to work on his lawn and make household repairs like any other homeowner.

Prior to joining Boston University in 1959, Dr. Rohrbaugh spent five years as vice president and provost at the University of Arkansas, with time out for advisor work in Peru for the World Bank. Before that, he had been a special associate to the President of the American Council on Education in 1954, and had headed the U. S. State Department's technical cooperation mission to Iraq from 1951 to 1954.

Throughout this mobile decade, the Rohrbaughs had only one home base: the two-story, 125-year-old house at 2 Sea Street, Rockport which they bought in 1950 while Dr. Rohrbaugh was director of the Graduate School for the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The board-and-batten house, with its ship-lap front, is the sturdy work of a Rockport shipbuilder who "would undoubtedly turn in his grave to hear our Boston friends call it 'Cape Cod' style", Dr. Rohrbaugh says.

Here the Rohrbaughs' three children gather when they are home from school: Steve, 22, who will soon be entering Harvard Law School; Lewis, 19, who begins his sophomore year at Amherst this fall; and 17-year-old Joanna, who was just graduated from Westtown School in Pennsylvania and will enter Pembroke College in the fall. At home, the children may spend a summer camping, or working in a fish cannery or helping out in their mother's "Old Blacksmith Shop" in Rockport Village.

Mrs. Rohrbaugh, known professionally as Ruth Bunker, her maiden name, is a leading silversmith who designs and makes original jewelry, and edits a national monthly tabloid called the "Cross Country Craftsman". She also keeps house in Rockport and, as a faculty wife, does her share of commuting to Boston.

Dr. Rohrbaugh is not a native of Maine, but a "native by marriage". His wife's roots in the state reach all the way back to 1627, when her ancestors, then called "Bon Coeur", landed at Kittery and moved on to Bar Harbor. Mrs. Rohrbaugh reports that he was sold on the state at first sight, when they spent their honeymoon there in 1936. They decided then that they would eventually retire to Maine.

Long before retirement time, the Rohrbaughs found the house at Rockport. The charm of age, of a cold running spring in the cellar, a central chimney in the old kitchen, and a view of the harbor more than made up for the lack of such frills as modern plumbing. "Why wait?" they decided. They bought the house, and have been slowly "fixing it up" over the years.

At 52, Dr. Rohrbaugh is still a long way from retirement. In addition to his work as vice president of the University, he is consultant to the North Central Association of Colleges and Universities, the American Council of Education, consultant on administration to the World Bank (International Bank for Reconstruction and Development) and others. He has been in some phase of education or public service since his first job as director of boys' work at Philadelphia's Webster House in 1932.

His positions have included social service secretary for the University of Pennsylvania, 1933-34; director of education and recreation for the Federal Transit Bureau, 1934-35; and director of education and recreation for the Philadelphia Board of Public Education and Federal Works Agency from 1935 to 1940.

In 1941, Dr. Rohrbaugh joined the U. S. Department of Agriculture, as field superintendent for the Farm Security Administration. After heading the Department's professional and scientific training program from 1942 to 1943, he became head of its Graduate School. He held this position until 1954, with leaves of absence in 1944-45 for two UNRRA missions to Egypt and to Greece, and in 1951-54 for his State Department mission to Iraq.

The Maryland-born educator took his bachelor of philosophy degree, majoring in biology, at Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pa., in 1930. Then after graduate work at Cornell University and the University of Pennsylvania he took his doctor of philosophy degree at the latter institution. He also holds an honorary doctor of science degree given by Dickinson in 1954.

A world traveler known throughout the education world, Dr. Rohrbaugh admits that for the first few years in Rockport he was known to many only as "Mr. Bunker". The town's long familiarity with his wife's family name, coupled with his own frequent absences, made it hard for him to establish an identity for himself.

But since he came to Boston University, things have changed. "Parents, even grandparents of young people come to me with questions now," he says. "They want to know all about the University: What grades will Johnny need to get in? Do you teach physical therapy there? What about the Law School, and so on. I spend a lot of time as an unofficial counselor—and I enjoy that."

"There were almost 350 Maine students at the University last year and I meet many more people who know the University through a relative, a friend or favorite teacher who went here. All of this gives me a real place in my adopted state, and makes living there more pleasure for me than ever before."
