

J. CLARKE SCATES OF WESTBROOK.

BEGONE! ye cobwebbed methods
 Crawl out from dusky nooks.
 See what a modern man can do
 In way of keeping books.
 Strong medicine perhaps they'll say
 To turn about the plan
 But who should give us potions strong
 If not the druggist man?
 Whate'er you give us for our ills
 To help the pain endure,
 We'll always know are as your life
 Most useful, clean and pure.
