Gas Explosion Injures Owls Head Woman, Damages Kitchen

The power of a petroleum gas explosion can be seen by the damage done to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellery T. Nelson, Crescent Beach, Owls Head. The window at right had its sash blown out with only the upright left. Mr. and Mrs. Linwood Hooper, next door neighbors are shown helping to clean up the mess. Mrs. Nelson suffered a deep laceration and shock when the stove blew up when she tried to light it.

OWLS HEAD — An explosion ripped through the kitchen of Mrs. Ellery T. Nelson at Crescent Beach, Owls Head, Tuesday night knocking her into a corner of the room. She picked herself up in a dazed condition after sustaining a cut over the left eye. The accident happened when Mrs. Nelson struck a match to light her gas stove in preparation for supper shortly after 6 o'clock.

Linwood Hooper, a next door neighbor, later reported hearing a blast which he mistook for a jet aircraft breaking the sound barrier. The force of the blast smashed windows on all three sides of the Nelson's kitchen. All four panes of a porch window were shattered, the door between the kitchen and the porch being open at the time. Two windows facing the back yard and one facing the far side were blown out. The oven door itself was badly twisted and everything on the kitchen stove was scattered around the room. According to her husband, Mrs. Nelson was struck by a fragment of a large glass tea kettle that was blown off the stove.

After the mishap, Mrs. Nelson was able to pick herself up and in a dazed condition went to the home of Dr. Emory Howard, a local dentist, next door. Her husband arrived home shortly after the explosion occurred and found the kitchen damaged. Alarmed at not finding his wife at home, he went next door to the Hooper's to find out what had happened. Together, they found his wife, Florence, at the doctor's home and from there took her to Knox Hospital where six stitches were required to close the wound over her left eye.

Neighbors pitched in to clean up the debris and glass that was strewn over the kitchen floor, porch and back steps. Mr. Nelson said his wife had been using gas for over 20 years without incident and he was thankful that she was alive. She returned home shortly before 8 o'clock after being released from the hospital.

It was presumed that the gas had been accidentally turned on in the oven some time before Mrs. Nelson lighted the unit to get supper. Wednesday morning, a person familiar with the use of gas said that the room must have been filled with gas to have done the damage which resulted from the explosion.

The Nelsons spent the night at the home of friends and were back in their home, which they have sold preparatory to building a new house, Wednesday morning.

Grossman Sworn In As Judge of Probate

Judge A. Alan Grossman, at right wearing a hat, is congratulated on his new post as Knox County Judge of Probate by Executive Councilor William Silsby of Ellsworth. Silsby presided at the swearing in aboard the Sea and Shore Fisheries patrol boat Guardian, Wednesday morning. At left holding Judge Grossman's commission is Gov. John H. Reed. Other members of the Executive Council are gathered around.

Top Brass of Phone Company Visit Rockland

The vice president of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, C. K. Neilson of Boston and R. J. Davis of Portland, general manager for Maine, and other Maine area officials visited Rockland, Wednesday, to discuss company operations with local management.

Among the subjects discussed was the Rockland-Belfast community relations survey made by telephone employees during the week of March 29 to determine customer attitudes toward the company, its services, and reaction to local participation in community activities.

It was pointed out local telephone management's prime responsibility is to provide the best possible telephone service in the area.

Top telephone company officials meet with local management frequently to discuss and review the entire scope of company operations.

The Executive Council approved the nomination by Governor John H. Reed of A. Alan Grossman of Rockland as judge of Knox County Probate Court, Wednesday morning, and within minutes the new judge was sworn in by Councilor William Silsby of Ellsworth. The action took place on the fantail of the Sea and Shore Fisheries boat Guardian at Rockland before the group left for Matineus.

In a quiet drizzle, Governor Reed called the meeting to order about 9:45 as the Guardian lay at the Rockland Port Terminal dock. Grossman's nomination and a number of others were approved without discussion.

A vacancy was created by the resignation of Judge Charles T. Smalley who left the seat to pursue private practice in the probate field.

Judge Grossman is the Republican nominee for the post. He is unopposed.

The occasion was the annual summer junket of the Governor and Council aboard a Sea and Shore Fisheries craft. Designed for business and pleasure, the trip took the group to Matineus where it could get a first hand view of the island, its residents, and its harbor in regard to a request from islanders for state support of transportation.

Plantation officials have met with Knox County Legislators and with the Governor expressing a fear that transportation to the island might not be continued by private interests.

Camden Is Allotted $6,000 In Federal Funds For Town's Extensive Planning Program

CAMDEN — Town Manager Sterling Morris received word this week that Camden was among six Maine communities to share a $30,000 federal grant for the present comprehensive planning program in progress under the direction of the J. W. Sewall Company of Old Town. Around $6,000 has been allotted to Camden itself.

The J. W. Sewall Company, planning consultants, has already made available to the Planning Board and Selectmen the recently completed aerial photos at a scale of 300 feet to the inch. Also completed as of this date is a traffic count on major roads leading into Camden. Presently in progress is the door-to-door survey of all private homes and businesses.

The J. W. Sewall Company will be making periodic phase reports to the Camden Planning Board over the next 12 months. The final report will be completed during the summer of 1961.

Morris also reports that Camden's planning consultants were the recipients of top honors for a recent planning report conducted in Brewer from the American Industrial Development Council. The report was one of 300 entries from all over the United States.

DOUBLE RESCUE SAVED LIVES OF TWO BOYS NEAR DROWNING AT O'HARA DOCKS WEDNESDAY

A four year old summer visitor is alive this morning because his 12 year old brother jumped in to save him after he fell off the Tillson Avenue docks of F. J. O'Hara & Sons about 7:30 Wednesday evening. The two lads are alive because of the rescue carried out by Harold Wiggins of 135 South Main Street.

The mother of the children, Mrs. Thordief Christiansen of Brooklyn, N. Y., said that the family had taken the lads to the docks to fish before returning to a cabin in Belfast where they are vacationing.

She recalled that she turned away from the edge of the pier to attend to the baby of the family in the car. Her husband was busy baiting a hook for another child. Little Armus tripped and tumbled overboard. Without an instant's hesitation, Thordief dove in after him. Armus was able to swim a little as the result of family lessons and training in water safety. Thordief was a stronger swimmer, but the effort quickly tired them both and they were in real trouble when Wiggins went overboard after them. Other persons in a boat tried to reach the trio as Wiggins held both children. However, the boat was delayed and Wiggins reached the pier ladder and passed the two lads up to waiting arms above.

The pair were rushed to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Buzzell at 147 North Main Street where the family had spent the afternoon. A short time later, the boys were dried out and in much better spirits than the parents and grandparents who realized the near escape from a double tragedy.

Coast Guard Helicopter At Thomaston

The answer to a prisoner's prayer was to no avail, Monday night, when a helicopter landed inside the prison walls at Thomaston. At 7:30 p. m., when the fog-bound Coast Guard helicopter was landed inside the walls for safekeeping, all the prisoners were locked in their cells. The 'copter took off Tuesday morning before the prisoners were released from their cells for breakfast. The 'copter was guided to a safe landing by the beacon lights on the State Police radio tower.

THOMASTON — There was quite a stir at the State Prison, Monday night, when a Coast Guard Sikorski, 10 passenger helicopter made an unscheduled landing within the confines of the 20 walls.

Lieutenant Edward Nelson of Salem, Mass., found the going too hazardous in the murky overcast and it was a choice between landing at the rifle range or the State Police barracks at Thomaston. The latter was chosen and with the red light from the radio tower to guide them Lieutenant Nelson and his flight engineer, AD2 Bruce Rol of Akron, Ohio, landed their bird in a field behind the barracks.

The helicopter left Salem, Mass., at 4 p. m. Monday destined for the Bar Harbor region on a mission to investigate Air Force stations and passed over the Thomaston barracks at 7 p. m.

Lieutenant Robert McKenney of the State Police and Warden Robbins were both on hand when the Guardsmen were besieged by reporters as they left prison to spend the night in Rockland.

DESOLATION'S DESOLATE FISHERMEN

Desolation Pond may be a desolate spot, but it is well known by a high percentage of the State's population today. The remote body of water evidently contains fish which just beg to be hooked to the point where the legal limit is exceeded. First, three members of the Executive Council were charged with violations of the game laws — and then a fourth — and then it came out that a city manager got in on the act — and then a municipal court judge and a companion. One councilor was an editor as well and another a candidate for the post of county attorney in his home territory. All were in positions which should lead them to uphold the laws at least a bit more than other men.

Then, the news of the violations and subsequent fines didn't become public until a reporter dug up the story several days later. As for the offenders, they are going to feel silly enough to punish them more than the dollars they had to pay in fines. But, it does bring up the matter of municipal court warrants, while not being refused to the press in some areas, just not being put out in the light of day. It has long been recommended that warrants of our lower courts be numbered and docketed as they are in the higher court system. In that way every one issued is accounted for and recorded and open to public scrutiny. One withheld, through misplacing or other reasons, immediately stands out like a sore thumb.

Inasmuch as the same inland fish and game warden made all of the arrests, it might be well to follow his future in his chosen field. He did the job for which he was hired in picking up a half dozen or so violators. In doing so, he could have aroused the ire of an equal number of the state's influential citizens who at some future date might have to rule on his future.

Jimmy Baker produced four runs. In the fourth, four walks, a Madore triple and Carleton Willis single brought in four more.

The two extra base hits of Madore made him the night's leading sticker and young Carl Woodman went the route on the hill for Rockland, holding the visitors to only two hits.

Tillson Scores At Unity Track

UNITY — In a thrilling two car race, Mac Tillson of Augusta beat out Dave Darveau, also of the capitol city, by just half a car length to win the stock car feature at Unity Raceway last Sunday. Harold Wilcox of Bangor, was a close third, this is exactly the same order that the same drivers finished July 10.

Sonny Ellis of Monson, a guest driver at the track last Sunday, was running well ahead of the local favorites when he struck the bank on number three turn and rolled over six times. Luckily Ellis escaped with minor injuries. Barry Lyons of Skowhegan, one of the high point drivers in the bomber class, won the bomber feature. Bill Carleton placed second and Albert Robertson of Fairfield took third.

Races will continue to start at 2:30 p. m. at Unity each Sunday.

One Man Show Opens Sunday At Lincolnville

LINCOLNVILLE — John E. Harris, who paints the Frenchman's Bay Area exclusively, will have an exhibition of his paintings at the Red Barn Studio, Belfast Road, Lincolnville, for one week beginning in the afternoon on Sunday. They will all be seascapes or marines from the Schoodic Point and Bar Harbor areas.

He has been called a "romantic realist". His canvases express the reality of life and nature but they are far from literal nature paintings. From the scenes depicted, he strains out the unessential details and focuses upon these aspects which have drawn him to the subject in the first place. He works in a broad, free flowing style with a limited palette of the unusual basic colors, preferring to mix his own particular hues. He attacks his paintings with a boldness and with a complete command of his paints, uncommon in so young painters.

Harris received his formal art training at the Wagner School of Art in Boston and the Museum of Fine Arts. In the January issue of "Good Business" appears an article by Omar Henry of Washington, D. C., of five pages, about the Barn Studio of John E. Harris. His paintings have been shown at the Farnsworth Museum, Portland Museum of Fine Arts, the Ogunquit Art Center, The University of Maine, and they are in several private collections. He is also a member of the Wilmington Society of Fine Arts.

VETERAN CANADIAN SEA DOG CHALLENGES WINNER OF MAINE RETIRED SKIPPERS' RACE

CASTINE—An old Canadian sea dog will challenge to a sailboat contest in Maine waters the winner of the ninth annual Maine Retired Skippers Race to be held Aug. 29 at Castine. Nine retired sea captains have already signed up for the Maine race.

The Canadian challenger, Capt. Stuart W. Benson, of Seal Cove, Grand Manan Island, N. B., Canada, indicated in a letter to John A. Merriman, secretary of the race committee, he intends to prove once and for all that Canadians are better sailors than Maine men.

"There are men on this island," said Benson, "including myself, who can still sail a boat to any destination and return without power." Benson added that he was reared on a diet of kelp and fish scales, to which he attributes his long life.

John Merriman of Sedgwick, announced the following retired skippers have entered the race: Leroy Greenlaw, 79, of Stonington, winner of last year's contest; Henry K. Morey, 76, of Deer Isle; John W. Allen, 66, of Brooklin; Vernon Haskell, 69, and Mace Eaton, 68, both of Castine; Frank A. Eaton, 78, of Orland; Freeman S. Young, 87, and Fred Haskell, 74, both of

Municipal Court

TUESDAY

William S. Widdecomb, 36, of Rockland faced a charge of driving with inadequate brakes in Rockland Municipal Court Tuesday. He was stopped on Route 1 in Rockport July 15. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $15.

Robert B. Tweedie, 31, of West Jonesport, whose case was carried forward from Monday paid

Rockland, and B. D. Farnsworth, 66, of Hulls Cove.

Greenlaw will sail the Contessa, a sloop; Morey, the Diane, a sloop; Allen, the Cirrus, a sloop; Vernon Haskell, the Tocata, a yawl; Fred Haskell, the Clio, a yawl; and Mace Eaton, the Fidelio, a yawl. The other skippers have not yet announced their selection of boats.

A new Captain Henry Whitney Challenge Cup will be offered by Francis Hatch, descendant of Captain Henry Whitney who sailed and lived in Castine. Captain Leroy Greenlaw of Stonington captured the cup permanently last summer when he won on the yawl Cirrus at Blue Hill Bay.

Spectators will be able to view the race from many points along the shore, chief of which is Fort Madison situated between the Light House and the town clock.

To qualify, skippers must be 65 years of age or over and native born Maine residents. Skippers planning to compete should address their applications to Merriman at Sedgwick. Sponsors of this year's race are Maine Maritime Academy, Castine PTA and Castine Yacht Club.

a fine of $25 for going the wrong way on Rankin Street July 10.

WEDNESDAY

Lawrence Wallace, 36, of Vinalhaven faced a charge of assault and battery Wednesday in Rockland Municipal Court. His wife, Norma Wallace, took the stand and told the court of her husband's attack. Wallace was found guilty by Associate Judge Domenic Cuccinello who imposed a sentence of 60 days in jail. An appeal was entered and bail was set at $100. He was released on payment of the bail. The incident took place in Vinalhaven Tuesday night.

Patrick L. Hoch, 19, of Waldoboro was charged with driving to endanger life, driving an unregistered vehicle, and illegal possession of whiskey. He was apprehended on Route 220 in Washington July 13 after his car narrowly missed a car owned by Carleton Weaver of Waldoboro, ran off the road and struck a tree head on. Richard Day, 17, of Waldoboro, a passenger in the car, was injured and the car damaged to the extent of $500 to $600. He was found in possession of two pints of whiskey at the time the accident happened. The evidence outweighed his plea of innocence and he was fined $35 on driving to endanger. His license also was suspended. For the possession of liquor he paid a $20 fine. The charge of driving an unregistered vehicle was filed on the payment of $5 costs of the court.

Not a single cracked egg since Chevy took over the route

That '60 Fleetside pickup you see takes whatever kind of road comes along, and makes about 250 stops a day delivering eggs house to house for Mr. Harry Hansen of Missoula, Montana. "With my previous truck," Mr. Hansen writes, "I always had some cracked eggs. Cargo damage always cut into my profits. But the new Chevy eliminated that problem completely. I haven't had one cracked egg with my new truck and I've had up to a ton of eggs in it without any difficulty. ... I didn't know a truck could ride so nice."

Chevy rides nice, all right; takes good care of fragile cargoes. But that's not even the half of it. Torsion-spring suspension also means longer life for the truck, extra thousands of working miles, because the sheet metal and body components take less of a beating. You can run off-the-road or over back trails at faster safe speeds, too; get in more trips a day, make more money. Those facts are as true of the big Chevrolet heavyweights as they are of the pickups. Any model you name. Get one on your job and you've got the world's most efficient, most economical way to haul any load over any road. Your dealer will be happy to prove that statement any day you say.

◀ "I'm getting close to 20 miles to the gallon," Mr. Hansen states, "and that's on stop-and-go delivery."

UNEXPECTED CATCH — Parker Jackson of South Thomaston caught a 28 inch, seven and a half pound Atlantic salmon with a rod and reel, while fishing for mackerel, Monday night, in the Edgar Post weir between Spruce Head Island and Rackliff Island. He was assisted in landing it by Fred Raye of Owls Head. The two men, not being prepared for a fish of this size and endurance, having no landing net with them, brought it aboard the boat with a boat hook. Jackson holds the sleek fish as Raye looks on.

Plans For Sixth Annual Fireman's Field Day Are Made At Lincolnville

LINCOLNVILLE CENTER — Two departments will have the opportunity to retire the Knox County Firemen's Association Field Day trophy which has been running since 1955 when the annual event is held at Thomaston on Sept. 11. Plans were laid at an Association meeting at Lincolnville Center, Tuesday night. The Knox County Mutual Aid Association held a meeting at the same place.

Rockland and Camden each have two legs on the three-leg trophy. Lincolnville has one. Rockland won the field day last year at Rockport.

The field day, featuring contests exhibiting the various skills of the trained fire fighters, plus several contests for children, will be held on the Thomaston mall, beginning at 1 o'clock in the afternoon.

The schedule of events for the firemen will include a hose rolling and a ladder contest, both for five man teams; a contest to see who can dress fastest to answer a night alarm; and a wet hose coupling contest for a six man team.

One of the highlights of the day will be a contest testing skills in handling charged lines. In this one various teams will attempt to move a basketball up a ramp into an open ended drum, using only a stream of water from a four inch hose to propel and control the ball.

Participants in the fire skills contest must be trained firemen 18 years of age or older. Interspersed among the events for firemen will be contests for the youngsters including such old standbys as pie eating contests and sack races. Refreshments will be served and the host for the day will be Thomaston Fire Chief Edwin Anderson of the Thomaston Fire Department.

The association voted to allocate $25 to the Thomaston department to help defray costs of the field day. They also set

Tent Meetings Open With 200 In Attendance

William Hoyt

ROCKPORT — The summer tent meetings sponsored by the Penobscot Bay Crusade for Christ began Sunday afternoon with a congregation of 200 under the tent on Route 1 in Rockport, just across from the Helm restaurant. The evangelist, Reginald F. White, gave a stirring message on "Prepare Ye the Way of the Lord", showing how Christians could prepare their lives for God's working in this area.

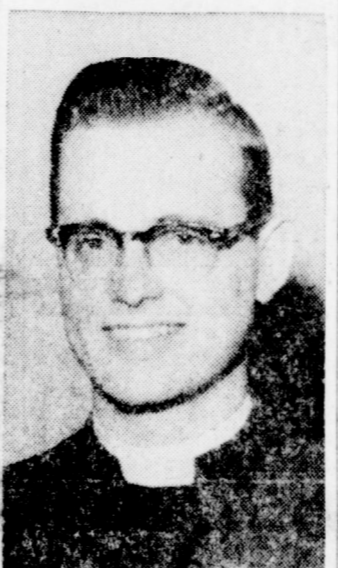

The soloist and song leader, William Hoyt, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., used his tenor voice to present the gospel in song in a way that touched the hearts of all his listeners. Hoyt has stated that he is a graduate of Barrington College in Rhode Island and Wheaton College in Illinois. He took graduate study at Juillard School of Music in New York, and has had private study with Gertrude Tingley of Boston and Bernard Taylor of New York City.

Besides his teaching ministry he has traveled extensively as soloist in city-wide campaigns, some of which have been abroad. He is under contract with Word Records and will be making new recordings this fall.

Other special music will be brought by musicians from the area churches at each service. Curtis Lowden of Washington, assisted in Sunday's service with his trumpet. Miss Miriam Dorman of the Littlefield Memorial Church in Rockland sang Monday evening, and the Advent Christian Church of Waterville sent their musical group for Tuesday's meeting.

Services will continue each week night at 7 p. m. and on Sundays at 3 p. m. through July 31.

Tenants Harbor Church Repair Fund Nears Goal

TENANTS HARBOR — Less than five weeks ago when a bolt of lightning demolished the steeple of the Tenants Harbor Baptist Church and tore out its electrical system, the expense of repairing the building seemed almost too large to contemplate. However, a month later the repair fund is close to its goal through the co-operation of friends of the church, suppers, sales, and contributions which kept the work toward the goal before the public.

A Mug Up supper held July 14 netted the fund $700. A rummage and food sale on July 16 added another $260. A special Sunday morning collection at the church brought in $500, mostly from church members, in one day. A total of $2,000 is needed to add to the insurance covering much of the damage, and it is no longer the question, "Can we do it?" but "We're going to make it!" that one hears in St. George.

A new list of contributors to the fund has been made public July 18. These include: Mrs. Helen H. Ditchett, a summer resident at St. George; Mrs. L. S. Springer of Rockland; Mrs. Louise Haskell of Massachusetts; and Elizabeth Boardman of Newburyport, Mass. Local residents contributing are: Mrs. Rose Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hanne-man, Clarence Dwyer, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Pratt, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Minzy, Miss Edith Harris, and the Senior Class of St. George High School, 1960. There are also many anonymous gifts.

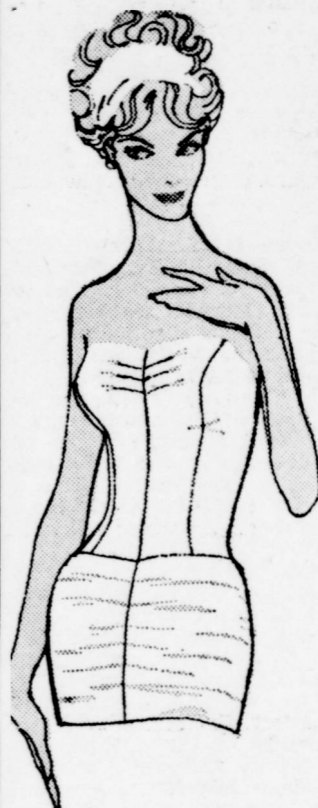

Everyone is invited to enter the contest, Crossman said. Homemakers, men, boys, girls, chefs, from any town, city or state may compete for the grand prize of $100. Crossman advised those who have no direct Grange affiliation to contact their local Grange for information.

Dates for local cook-offs will be announced soon by Subordin-

Hardy To Head Rockland Lions White Cane Days

At a recent meeting of the members of the Rockland Lions Club, Jasper Hardy was appointed chairman of the White Cane Days drive to be held on Friday and Saturday, July 29 and 30 this year. He will be assisted by members of the Lions Club.

As last year, the tiny white cane, symbol of blindness throughout the world, will be the "tag" of the two-day drive to raise funds to support the Maine (Lions) Sight Association in its year round fight against the blinding eye disease, glaucoma.

Hardy is quoted as saying that "The funds raised during last year's drive are almost exhausted but we (Lions) feel that a look at the record will show they have been well spent. As we promised," he continued, "all money raised here in Maine was spent on Maine citizens, and the results have encouraged us to continue our work."

He was referring to the series of "G-Day" Glaucoma Screening Clinics that were held throughout southern Maine this year. Over 1300 persons attended these clinics and over 50 cases of "probable" glaucoma were discovered. The screenings also uncovered nearly 125 cases of miscellaneous eye disorders as well as many cases of cataracts. The clinics were free to all citizens within easy travelling distance and were operated under the jurisdiction of the Board of Ophthalmologists of the Maine Medical Association. The medical eye specialists, who performed the exacting tests, donated their time to the clinics in order to determine the possible presence of the insidious eye disease, which blinds 2 percent of Maine citizens over the age of 40 yearly. The doctors have also expressed approval of the "follow-up" system which channels all cases of eye disease to proper care and financial assistance when needed. "The Maine Lions have received many commendations from high state and medical authorities," Hardy concluded. "Not only for the actual operation of clinics but for the educational program which is credited with making thousands of Maine people aware of the need for regular eye examination to prevent the possibility of disease impairing their vision."

"We feel sure that with the scheduled clinics in northern Maine and the establishment of regular annual 'G-Days' throughout the state, the inci-

Rummage Sale Theft Offset By Windfall

ST. GEORGE—Where but at a church rummage sale could a statement from the Bible be so appropriately true. Ecclesiastes the Preacher said in chapter 3, verse 4a, "A time to weep and a time to laugh", and both those times came to the weary ladies working on the rummage sale, last Saturday, to benefit the Baptist Church repair fund. The time to weep was the discovery of the theft of a money box left beside a display of books in the outer hall, unguarded because one of the women had to be home with her ill husband. Small items also were taken from different tables in the Grange Hall itself during the crowded part of the day. But the time to laugh came quickly afterwards when a local resident laid down his new hat which was immediately sold. It is believed the price was good. When last seen, he had purchased a baseball hat which he did not remove for the rest of the sale.

Despite the petty thefts, and perhaps aided by the sale of a good man's hat, the Ladies Circle of the Tenants Harbor Baptist Church made $270 to add to the Church Repair Fund.

The number of species of spiders in the world is unknown, but it is thought to be over 50,000.

Ingenuity Used To Solve Scout Water Needs

GORHAM — Water is a perennial problem to campers, but it was a king-sized headache to those planning the Pine Tree Council Jubilee Camporee to be held in Gorham, July 22-24. Some 2500 Scouts and their leaders from 10 counties in Maine are slated to attend the camporee marking the 50th Anniversary of Scouting. Their camp will be sprawled over some 100 acres of rolling field.

Figuring out how to supply the Scouts and leaders with water was no cinch. Piping it in was too expensive, what with a mile and a half of pipe needed to serve the area.

Hose was considered next, but that too presented problems. Finally the Civil Defense organization came to the rescue by providing four 3,000 gallon portable water tanks. But how do you fill these tanks?

It's a cinch when you borrow 2,000 feet of fire hose from the Forestry Department, plus innumerable portable water pumps. Well, said the Scout planners, that takes care of the wash and cook water problem, now what do we do for drinking water?

That, too, was easy once they found a concern which was willing to let them borrow a milk tank truck to transport drinking water to the individual troop sites for storage in smaller tanks there.

So, thanks to plenty of ingenuity, co-operation and just plain scrounging, water will be no problem at the Pine Tree Council Camporee in Gorham, July 22-24.

'Cutting War' Flares Up On Matinicus With 600 Lobster Pots Reported Lost

MATINICUS—The age old conflict among lobstermen over so called fishing rights apparently has boiled up again on Matinicus. Maine Lobstermen's Association President Leslie Dyer of Vinalhaven confirmed Wednesday that lobstermen are cutting each other's gear. Dyer said he received a report Wednesday that 600 pots had been out. This represents a cash outlay of about $4,800 and untold thousands of dollars lost in fishing potential while gear is replaced.

Although the courts have repeatedly told violators of State laws protecting lobster pots that the law does not recognize "fishing rights", trouble arises frequently when one or more lobstermen move into an area being fished by others.

The Sea and Shore Fisheries Department has been notified and is investigating. "The difficulty is", Dyer pointed out, "that the wardens actually have to catch these fellows in the act of cutting pots free."

Two years ago trouble flared up on Matinicus and several violators were brought to court. At that time part of the trouble was between lobstermen and herring seiners. Dyer said his information said somewhat the same was true again.

Dyer said Wednesday "Cutting wars", as they are called among fishermen, don't do anyone any good. Gear is lost, income is lost, ill feeling is created among otherwise law abiding people, and nothing is gained, Dyer stated.

Ignorance seems to be the threshold to the door of knowledge.

DRIVER WHO FORCED PATROL CAR OFF ROAD BROUGHT INTO ROCKLAND MUNICIPAL COURT

The driver of a car which forced the Knox County Sheriff's Patrol car off the road in Union July 14 was found guilty in Rockland Municipal Court Tuesday of driving to endanger. Rufus D. Butler, 18, of Rockland was released on bail while the case was continued for sentence. A companion, Robert Ames, 18, also of Rockland was found innocent of a charge of illegal possession of beer.

The Butler Ames case lasted over an hour due to lengthy testimony of the deputies and the defendants themselves. Butler was charged with illegal possession of alcohol and driving to endanger life. Both pleaded nolo to the charge.

Deputy Sheriffs Paul Ross and Lionel Heal gave evidence to chasing the Butler car after being forced off the road July 14 on Route 17 a mile from Union in the direction of Washington. During the chase two other cars also were forced to the side of the road. The deputies then told the court of finding three full and two empty bottles of beer in the rear seat of the car. The breath of the two was quite heavy from drinking but tests did not find them overly intoxicated.

The case against Ames was dropped as he had no knowledge of the beer, however, Butler was found guilty on both counts. The charge of illegal possession was continued for sentence on Aug. 19 on bail of $50. He was also put in charge of Parole Officer Harold Webb until Sept. 19 when his driving to endanger case will come up for sentence.

Ignorance seems to be the threshold to the door of knowledge.

Motorists Own Worst Hazard

Motorists literally are driving themselves to death.

"Too often they're ignoring traffic signs and signals, which are designed for their protection", Jack C. Trimble, head of the National Safety Council's Signs of Life program, asserted today.

Trimble emphasized that the sole purpose of traffic signs, signals, pavement markings and other devices is to state the law, to warn of hazards and to give assistance and protection to all street and highway users.

He cited these facts: One out of 10 drivers in a fatal traffic accident fails to keep to the right of the center line.

One out of seven ignores stop or warning signs, passes improperly or does not have right-of-way.

Three out of 10 drivers in fatal traffic accidents exceed speed limits or safe speeds.

Trimble said these and other facts on auto accidents, including those involving cars and trains, are contained in the annual report on the Signs of Life program by the Council's railroad-highway traffic safety committee.

He said that Signs of Life program has been especially valuable in preventing highway-rail crossing accidents.

"Steady education by the program, better crossing protection and improved enforcement of traffic laws — that and co-operation from drivers, of course — have combined to pull down the number of motor vehicle-train crashes," he said.

Coming up to the crossing too fast to stop, being too familiar with a railroad crossing, speeding at night, starting up too soon after a train has passed, ignoring warning signs and signals, and driving after drinking.

Trimble urged motorists to learn the six basic traffic signs to prevent traffic accidents of all kinds:

Round — yellow with black "X" or "RR" means highway-railroad intersection ahead.

Crossbuck — the traditional symbol at highway-rail intersections, is white with black lettering.

Octagon—red with white lettering. Means come to a full stop and be sure the way is clear before proceeding. Replaces older yellow sign with black lettering.

Triangle — yellow with black letters reading "Yield Right of Way". Means what is says—slow down at intersections. Stop if necessary.

Hikes Are Fun If Precautions Are Observed

If you're a typical father of lively youngsters the odds are that sometime before the first snow falls you'll hear cries of "Let's go on a hike!"

Or—"Why can't WE camp out overnight?"

Chances are very good you'll find out doing one or the other. Maybe you know all the ins and outs of hiking and camping.

If you don't, these hints from the National Safety Council can mean the difference between an unpleasant outing and an accident-free time of fun.

Because hiking and camping are largely unorganized activities, few national accident statistics are available. But reports filtering in from across the nation indicate that two major hazards are poisonous plants, and poisonous reptiles.

Most persons are immune to the effects of the majority of the 60 kinds of U. S. plants that can cause skin irritation. But nearly everyone who touches poison ivy, poison oak or poison sumac is affected somewhat.

Poison ivy is either a low shrub or a climbing or creeping vine. Plant leaves, which may be notched or smooth, are arranged in groups of three on short stalks of unequal length. The leaves are shiny, dark green in summer, brilliant orange or scarlet in fall. In May and June you may notice tiny white flowers clustered at the base of the leaves.

Found in woods or in the open, in dry or moist locations, along fence rows, paths, roadways or in places where birds roost, and in every state except California and Nevada.

Poison Oak, similar to poison ivy, is usually a shrub but sometimes a vine. The leaflets (which resemble small oak leaves) occur in groups of three, are deeply lobed and somewhat hairy.

Poison sumac (aliases: poison ash, poison dogwood, poison elder and thunderwood), a shrub, may be found as a tree 20-30 feet tall. Its leaflets are sharply pointed, smooth and oily. Has smooth, cream-colored "berries" growing in loose clusters along the side of the branch or stem.

The best way to avoid getting ivy poisoning, is to stay away from the poisonous plant.

Musical Notes

Hugh M. Benner

Miss Ethel Smith

"You're Devastating," "Yes-terdays," "Touch Of Your Hand," and "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes," these and others are songs patrons were humming Monday evening as they left the Brunswick Summer Playhouse. "Roberta" is the attraction this week, and Ethel Smith and Jack Lee handle the comedy end of this lovely play to perfection. The romantic leads were well handled by Lisa DiJulio and Alfred Toigo. The costumes by J. Courtney Hill are something to see.

"Birds of a feather flock together" . . . and so do musicians. Jerome Kern, composer of the musical score of "Roberta," and Miss Ethel Smith are long time friends. He is fascinated by the organ and on his not infrequent visits to her home, he will join her at the organ and they will improvise.

At one of the meetings of the Society of the Classic Guitar, of which Miss Smith is a member, Otto Harbach, the lyricist for "Roberta" was a guest . . . not because he is a guitarist but because he has such a lively interest in the instrument. Otto told Miss Smith that the song for which he had received the most royalties is "Smoke Gets

In Your Eyes" from the score of "Roberta." It has been arranged for every known instrument, including the saw.

The guitar played by Miss Smith in the cafe scene is a Flamenco guitar purchased in Madrid, Spain. Andre Segovia, a personal friend, arranged the purchase and gave her the first lesson. Miss Smith has studied with Olga Coehle, the celebrated Brazilian soprano and guitarist. Patrons of the Brunswick Summer Playhouse are most fortunate to have the pleasure and privilege of seeing and listening to this talented artist.

Command Performance

We have all been reading about the recent visit of the King and Queen of Thailand with President Eisenhower. I learn that a Rockland musician had a part in one of the social functions during their visit. It was a "command" performance at the White House, on June 28. Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians presented a concert for the King and Queen. The Rockland member of this orchestra is "Dud" Harvey, son of Mrs. Emma Harvey of Rockland. Mrs. Harvey has shared a portion of a recent letter from her son telling of this engagement. After the concert the orchestra was served a buffet lunch at the White House, and during the lunch President Eisenhower came down and talked with the members of the orchestra. "Dud" said he was very regular, and told them that the King enjoyed the music very much.

YMCA Concert

The annual "Y" concert in Camden is to be presented the evening of Aug. 15, at Camden Opera House. The two artists to be presented this year are Miss Helen Rosengren, soprano, winner of last year's Met Auditions for Northern New England, and William Harms, Rockport, pianist. This should add up to a most enjoyable evening for our local music lovers. Tickets will be on sale at Camden Village Shop, and in Rockland at Huston-Tuttle's.

Tickets are now on sale for the Mid-Summer Concert at Rockland Community Building, featuring "The Medleys"—about RECEIVES GOLD HEADED CANE — Mrs. Hattie Welt, Orff's Corner, Waldoboro, who celebrated her 95th birthday, July 9, was presented the Boston Post Cane on Saturday, July 16, by Harold Levensaler of Waldoboro. Mrs. Welt, a remarkably alert little lady, enjoys reading, takes care of herself and she keeps her room picked up. She has been making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Borneman for the past year.

She was born in Waldoboro and lived there until her marriage in 1885. At that time, she moved to Rockland, where she and her late husband, Sanford Welt, lived until his death in 1948. They had five children who have all died. The Wels owned and operated a music store in Rockland for many years. Mr. Welt was a well known violin maker and Mrs. Welt still has a valuable collection of the violins. Mrs. Welt has one living cousin, Ansel Ludwig of Waldoboro.

Safety Rules For Highway Are Listed

AUGUSTA — The Maine Highway Safety Committee lists the following important rules for safe driving and safe walking:

- FOR DRIVERS
1. Drive on your own side of the road.
 2. Come to a complete stop at stop signs and at flashing red lights.
 3. Allow plenty of room between your car and the one ahead — at least 18-20 feet for every ten miles per hour of speed and considerably more if visibility is poor or if the road is slippery.
 4. Don't attempt to drive after drinking.
 5. Yield right of way to pedestrians in crosswalks.

6. Don't daydream or wrestle with business or domestic problems while you are behind the wheel. Keep your mind on the job of guiding your car safely. It's a job which demands 100% of your attention.
 7. Dim lights when you should. Don't try to "get even" with another driver who fails to dim. Two blinded drivers are more dangerous than one.
 8. A flashing yellow light means "caution". Be prepared for an emergency in such area.
- FOR PEDESTRIANS
1. Be self-reliant. Don't place all the responsibility for your safety in the hands of the driver. Remember, he has other problems.
 2. Cross at intersections. That is where drivers expect to see you.

3. Don't duck your head into your collar and walk blindly through traffic. Don't carry packages which obscure your view.
4. Don't pop into traffic stream from behind parked cars.
5. If sidewalks are not provided, and you must walk in road, walk on left facing oncoming traffic.
6. Obey all traffic signs and signals.
7. If it is necessary to walk in the road, wear something white or something reflectorized.
8. Wait for the "walk" signal while you are on the sidewalk — not after you have stepped into the street.
9. Don't walk in traffic after drinking.

Other people's faults are always more glaring than our own.

T. Edward Karlsson has returned to his home at New York

City after a two weeks' visit with his wife and family at their summer home at Tenants Harbor. Mrs. Karlsson is the daughter of Mrs. Mildred Pierson of Martinsville.

Mrs. Meta Holley, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Mokate and family at Schererville, Indiana, has flown to Knoxville, Tenn., for a brief visit with relatives of her husband John. She will return to Schererville for several weeks before returning to her home at Martinsville in August. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar R. Lyle of Hamden, Conn., are spending a week at the Marshall cottage at Martinsville. Mr. and Mrs. John Scott of Union, N. J., are at the Hamilton cottage at Martinsville for a visit.

What a man has in his heart is far more important to his family than what he has in his head or in his bank account. He who hesitates is last, also.

Wisdom consists of knowing, and virtue in doing, the right thing at all times. Love seems to quicken all senses except common.

Many a gal changes doctors 'til she finds one who agrees with her. Marriage is a great thing—no family should be without it.

It was Mr. and Mrs. Douglass Stone who recently had the new son, Milton Irven. Our apologies to the grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Beverage, who have been guests at the home of his sister Jennie Beverage for the past week, returned on Tuesday to their home in Plainville, Conn.

Mrs. Alexander Witherspoon and three girls from Washington State, are guests of Alex's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leigh F. Witherspoon of Pulpit Harbor. He is reported to be coming a bit later.

Mrs. Kenneth Gillis of Washington, D. C., is guest at the home of her sister-in-law and husband, Capt. and Mrs. Elmer Carver at the Little Thorfare. Francis Frye of Camden and Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Frye, Jr., and daughter were also Saturday night guests of Elmer and Jessie. On Sunday Francis Jr., and family pitched their tent at Mullins Head and are presumed to be there yet.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton A. Philbrook and daughter of Matinicus, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Emmons and son Ronald of Augusta, and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Philbrook and daughters Verna and Wilma of Matinicus were in town on Monday calling on old friends. In 1909, Milton boarded at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beverage and family, and went to the school of which the late Mrs. Julia Miller Beverage was teacher. Although Milton was back on the island in 1924 to the best knowledge of Jennie, Etta and Arthur they have not seen him since 1909, but each quickly recognized him and were much pleased to see him again. Mutual friends have relayed messages to both parties, but it has been a long time since seeing each other.

With proper care, the human body should last a lifetime.

Thomaston Scrapbook Makes History Live

By F. L. S. Morse

The William J. Robbins home on Beechwoods Street now owned by Mrs. Fannie Howard.

Beechwoods Street West Side

The neat white house next above the home of Arthur Upham was built by the late Martin Scanlin in the year 1877 and, has ever since been the home of his family, the surviving members of which spend the greater part of the year in Massachusetts but summer in the good Beechwoods home.

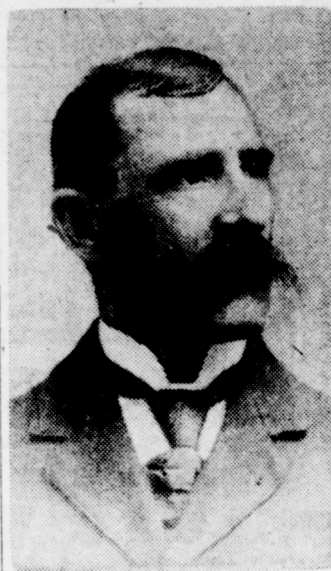

Martin Scanlin was born in Ireland, the son of Bartholomew and Molly Armstrong Scanlin and was brought to Thomaston as a small child. He married Sophia Bennett, a native of Prince Edward Island, and for the greater part of his life was a resident of Beechwoods Street where he reared a family of two sons and four daughters. A daughter, Alice, died at 14 years of age.

Of his children, William, a fine handsome man and a blacksmith, died in the 1890's at the age of 25; Mary Adele died of influenza in 1918; Miss Helena M. and Mrs. Anna E. Sullivan live in North Attleboro, Mass.; Mrs. Emily J. Calahan resides in Dorchester, Mass.; and Joseph, who married Alfreda Stungris Martin, died in 1953. He was survived by two children, Joseph II, of Wollaston, and Miss Marie Scanlin, who has taught English in the North Attleboro High School for 10 years and who visits town with her aunts each summer.

Alfreda Martin Scanlin died in 1918. Anna's husband, Jerry Sullivan, now deceased, visited many times and had many friends here.

Bartholomew, the older Scanlin, was born in Sligo, Ireland. After arriving in Thomaston, he lived in the Caleb Levensaler house on Knox Street for a time.

His two older children, Mary married George Lord of Bangor and Anna married Michael Foley of Rockland. The whole family has always been highly esteemed here. Martin was a quarryman and worked at the Meadows many years. I saw him every day riding to the quarry and late in the afternoon driving back. He was a good upright man and reared a splendid family. Martin died in Martin Scanlin who died in 1921.

1921 and Sophia in 1923, two years later.

The next house, now owned by Mrs. Fannie Howard was built by William J. Robbins, a native of Hope, but related to all of our older families of the name, those of the St. George Road and the West Meadows and even more closely with the Union branch of the family. He married Mary E. Nash of Waldoboro. He was a joiner by trade and in all probability built the fine large residence where he and his son Seth spent their lives and which still stands firm and strong.

His son Ellison, who lived down nearer the river, left three sons: Guy, a retired rock teamster of Rockland, father of Guy, our town constable; and Redington and William, both deceased.

Seth, who lived in the home place, married Annie Wallace. At one time he was chief of police. He owned the block where the meat market is at present and had a lunch room but learned the cooper's trade and worked at it when he was young.

William J. Robbins died in 1893, his wife Mary in 1894. Seth Robbins died in 1918 and Annie Wallace Robbins lived until 1954. Fanny Howard, who lived with Mrs. Robbins for some years, is the present owner and occupant. She was the daughter of the late William Oscar and Mary Tilson Butler of the Meadow Road. She married Fred Howard of Rockland who died in 1937.

She is very fond of local history and has contributed articles for the papers, which were well written and interesting. For some years she worked in the J. B. Pearson Clothing Factory. The Seth Robbins family had no children but Mrs. Robbins made a home for Wendall Thomas now of Erin Street and his present home stood in the Robbins yard during his early married life.

The next house, built for a stable or garage but so far as I know never used as such, was built over into a home now owned and occupied by Nathaniel Stone. A retired mason, he was a son of the late Gilman and Ida Woodcock Stone. He married Miss Stella Miller of Rockland, now deceased, and had the following children: Dana Stone of Thomaston, who married Rita Willis; Mrs. Sarah, wife of Ralph Thorndike of Knox Street; Robert of Cushing, who married Lucille Dooliver and has a daughter Laurel who was graduated from Thomaston High School in 1960; and Mrs. Margaret Clukey, wife of Ted.

Nat Stone, as a boy both in school and around town, was daring and resourceful and his escapades were many. None of them merited arrest or prosecution. Unless my memory plays tricks he was once escorted from the hall of the Jackson Club while in his teens, but perhaps that was an honor. It was certainly so considered by boys of his age.

The next lot was bought by one John Conlon. He didn't build there but returned to Ireland. Later his wife and child came back to Beechwoods and he soon followed. Eben Scott Young, to whom the lot had been sold, built the house and lived in it. He was a partner in the firm of Young and Fales that kept the livery stable where Weymouth Grange Hall now stands. Eben sold to Andrew Jackson Young, a veteran of the Civil War, who after a few years sold and moved up state to Pittsfield or Unity. Then in his last years he moved back to this town.

Jack Young, as he was called, sold to Joshua Linekin in 1887. For some years, Joshua Linekin had a store at Mill River in partnership with Merritt Austin and after selling to John Dec Morse, ran a store in the Singer Block. He had lived in Appleton and had learned the cooper's trade. He married Marietta Richardson and left two sons, Alvah J., who kept Linekin's Market for years, and Guy, who once had a candy store and made his own candy and later for many years was an employee of the old R. T. & C. Street Railway. Guy played the violin beautifully as does his daughter Myra who survives him. He married Miss Nora Oliver of Beechwoods Street, who died in 1930 while Guy lived until 1954.

Joshua Linekin had twins, a boy and a girl, who died while young. The daughter Jennie lived much longer than the little boy. He also had a daughter Sadie who is now Mrs. Arthur Gupill of West Brookfield, Mass.

She is a graduate of Thomaston High School where she was a rather brilliant student if my memory errs not.

Joshua Linekin's first wife died when the children were young and he married Clara Watts. The Linekins sold to James H. and Abbie Rice Feyler and Wilbert and Mary Rice.

James Feyler was at first a teamster and later kept a livery stable. Abbie, a daughter of Charles Augustus and Jane Merriam Rice, with her brother and sister had sold the Rice farm at Morse's Corner and bought this place. I believe they all died there. Abbie was a very skillful and artistic dressmaker. Without disparaging in any way the other members of this good family, it could and should be said that Wilbert was a man of exceptional qualities, sincere, generous and kind; respected and beloved by the writer who remembers favors and kindness that can never be repaid.

Cornelius and Elvie Hyler Morse came here, took care of Abbie Feyler and acquired the place, which they sold to Nat Stone and his wife before moving to Port Clyde.

He was the son of Cornelius the older, and Elvie was the daughter of the late Silas Hyler of Cushing. The Morses have two beautiful daughters, Nancy and Betty. One of these is, and possibly both are graduates of St. George High.

The house is now owned and occupied by the Ranquist family, comparatively newcomers. The parents are Charles S. and Gwendolyn Robinson Ranquist. The children are Donald, Beverly, Diane, Donna, Sharon, Rosalie, and Charles, Jr. Mr. Ranquist is a fisherman who goes on a trawler.

The next house was built by John S. Young, who lived here for some years. Here was born Katie, afterward Mrs. Charles Webster, mother of Mrs. Herbert Lewis who with her husband now own the place and have lived there for years. John Young later moved to Green Street and he and his family were described in a former number of the Scrap Book.

For many years the place was owned by a Mrs. Luce who rented

East Waldoboro

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Barnett of Sutton, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones of Winsted, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mank of Auburn, Mrs. Stacie Lawry, Mrs. Susie Smith and Mrs. Grace Wall of Thomaston have been recent guests of Mrs. Annie Mank.

Mrs. Florence Calderwood and Mrs. Barbara Moody of Union, Leroy Jameson of Washington, it. Among those who lived here were Ed Rollins, a blacksmith, with his wife, three sons and two daughters; Frank L. (Knightsy) Lermond and others.

From Mrs. Luce it was conveyed to Charles and Katie Webster who lived here with their daughter Margaret. Charles was a native of New Brunswick, who was something of a genius with all the impulsive temperament that almost always accompanies genius. He was industrious, reverent and honest. His wife was kind, genial, intelligent and exceedingly likeable, just as good and fine as they come.

Margaret, the daughter, like her mother is a splendid person. She is a prominent official of the Pythian Sisterhood and is very popular. Her husband, a native of Ash Point, is a plumber and is rather decent as a citizen and a plumber. He is a good friend of the writer and they josh each other so much every time they meet that it is hard to write about him seriously. This good couple have had a good family of children.

The oldest, James Herbert, Jr., was an electrician and was electrocuted while working at his trade in Chicopee, Mass. He left a son, Robert.

Vernon is married and has two children. He lives in Mystic, Conn., as does his sister, Mrs. Beatrice Creamer, with her husband and two boys.

Mrs. Katherine Stevens is at an Air Base in Germany with her husband.

Ernest is employed by H. H. Crie in Rockland. He married Judith, daughter of Herbert Spear of South Warren.

The next house was built by John Conlon. A later owner was Martin Scanlin and some of his daughters were born there.

Austin Kaler, who was a native of Waldoboro, bought the place and his daughter Ida now owns it and lives there. Austin married first Mary Wincecap of South Waldoboro and later Ellen Jackson of Warren. Ida has a sister, Mrs. Elvie, wife of Frank Sidelinger of Wadsworth Street.

Austin Kaler was a good man, upright, honest and industrious. He was long the janitor of the Methodist Church.

The Old Cemetery

Mrs. Fanny Butler Howard lived near the old Catholic cemetery in her girlhood and remembers stones commemorating the Fitzgeralds, the Starretts, one to little Sarah, and one to the Murphys. She believed the latter to be the parents of the late Denny Murphy, a former Rockland postmaster, and Jerry Murphy, the hackman. She remembers that a little boy of the neighborhood proposed to dig up little Sarah that she might play with him. At that time he had no conception of death and thought of Sarah as a child like other children whom he had known. As we know of no bodies having been removed in the last 65 years it is probable that the bodies of those memorialized by these old stones are still there.

Famous Early Americans favored Beer

Perhaps the most famous of all brewers in early American history was Samuel Adams, "Father of the Revolution." Other distinguished Americans — Thomas Jefferson, James Madison and Alexander Hamilton — fostered laws to protect the infant industry.

Patrick Henry, who worked in his father's tavern, called American taverns "The cradle of liberty," for the revolutionists often gathered there to make plans.

George Washington's personal recipe for beer is among the prizes in the rare manuscript section of the New York Public Library.

Yes, beer belonged in early America and Beer belongs in Maine, today.

This light, bright beverage of moderation adds a touch of elegance at the dining table and an air of festiveness when you entertain.

Keel To Star In "Sunrise At Campobello"

Howard Keel

LAKEWOOD — Hollywood and Broadway star, Howard Keel, will portray Franklin D. Roosevelt in the upcoming Lakewood Theatre production of "Sunrise At Campobello" which opens Monday and plays through Saturday evening, July 30.

Currently playing at the nation's oldest and most famous theatre is "Two For The Seesaw", which stars another Hollywood star, Dana Andrews, with Broadway stage star, Gerry Jedd. "Two For The Seesaw" plays through Saturday evening, July 23.

Howard Keel is one of Hollywood's most prominent musical comedy stars, having appeared in "Annie Get Your Gun", "Show Boat", "Kiss Me, Kate", "Kismet" and "Seven Brides For Seven Brothers", and was recently seen in a non-singing role, "The Big Fisherman". As a Broadway star, Mr. Keel played the leading roles of Billy Bigelow in "Carousel" and Curly in "Oklahoma", and during the past year scored a great personal success in "Saratoga".

Ironically, the six foot, four inch, handsome, Howard Keel was the initial choice of author Dore Schary for the role of FDR in "Sunrise At Campobello" but previous commitments prevented his accepting the role.

Mr. Keel is surrounded by an outstanding cast, which includes Michael Myers and Russell Collins. Miss Myers will portray Eleanor Roosevelt, a part which she played in the nation-wide tour of "Sunrise at Campobello". Russell Collins is one of Broadway's and Hollywood's favorite performers. His Hollywood credits include "Sadie Thompson", "Destination Gold", "Rain-Tree County", "Niagara", and "Soldiers of Fortune".

Also in the cast are Nancy Cushman, John Cecil Holm and Vera Lockwood. Jean Barrere will stage the Dore Schary play, and the sets will be created by Lakewood's Tom Jewett.

Several Events Planned For Gen. Knox Birthday Anniversary On Monday

THOMASTON—The 210th anniversary of the birth of Major General Henry Knox will be observed Monday with a series of events centered around an open house at Montpelier, mansion memorial to General Knox. U. S. Senator Margaret Chase Smith will be the afternoon speaker at the mansion.

At 10 a. m. Rev. E. O. Kenyon of Rockland will conduct a short service at General Knox's grave, during which the bell, cast by his friend Paul Revere, will ring from the belfry in the Old Church on the hill, and taps will be sounded by Miss Hadlock. The annual meeting of directors, trustees and members of the Knox Memorial Association will be held in the Knox Mansion at 10:30.

Members and friends will adjourn to the Federated Church at 12 o'clock for the annual luncheon served by the ladies of that church. Senator Margaret Chase Smith has accepted the Association's invitation to luncheon, and will be one of the guest speakers in the afternoon where she will be warmly welcomed by her friends in this area.

Afternoon exercises will take place under the elms at "Montpelier", the beautiful mansion museum memorial to Henry Knox. John Ruggles Egerton, president, will preside. The program will start at 1:45 with patriotic marches played by the Camden-By-The-Sea Junior Drum and Bugle Corps, and a demonstration by their color guard.

The National Anthem will be sung by Miss Helen Rosengren, accompanied by Mrs. Blanche Lermond. Miss Rosengren is a graduate of the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia, and will make grand opera her career. She has given recitals in Philadelphia and New York and this summer is singing with the choir at St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, Camden.

Mrs. Ernest Bailey of Coral Gables, Fla., president of the National Society Women Descendants of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, will present a century old painting of Knox Mansion bearing an engraved presentation plate of her organization.

Services on the birthday anniversary of General Knox have been held every year for over half a century; first in the Old Church nearby, and for the last 30 years in the mansion. Since its organization in 1898, the General Knox Chapter of the DAR has given a great deal of time and hard work in sponsoring "Montpelier". In 1923 the Knox Memorial Association was organized and incorporated to assume the responsibilities of the mansion. Since that time there have been strong ties of interest between these two organizations. This year the present State Regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. Harry Grover, will be one of the speakers.

Following the addresses, refreshments will be served in the Oval Room by members of the Gen. Knox Chapter. Flower arrangements will be contributed by members of the Camden, Rockport and Rockland Garden Clubs.

Since the publication of North Calahan's Biography, "HENRY KNOX, GENERAL WASHINGTON'S GENERAL", there has been increased interest in "Montpelier", which is most gratifying to the Board. Because there are three other Memorials to Knox in the East, and because the original "Montpelier" was destroyed in 1871, it is impossible to place it in the National Park System despite the fact that the present building was re-constructed from Knox's original plans. Its maintenance, therefore, rests upon all people who are sincerely interested in preserving such an authentic, historical museum. Membership fees are: one year, $2; 5 years, $10; life, $50. It is hoped that many who visit "Montpelier" during the season will be interested and become members of the Knox Memorial Association.

Visitors will find hostesses from the Knox County area, under the direction of Mrs. J. Edward Marks, in lovely old-time dresses and bonnets to greet them from 10 a. m. until 5 p. m. They will point out the many Knox family possessions, letters and documents in the Mansion. The Birthday admission will be fifty cents.

Donovan Points To Youth In Kennedy Camp

CAMDEN—John C. Donovan of Lewiston, Democratic candidate for Congress in the Second Congressional District, Tuesday, told the Camden Rotary Club: "A new generation is transforming American Political Parties". Citing Sen. Kennedy's triumph in Los Angeles, Donovan said, "It is ridiculous to assume that this new Political Generation will conduct the 1960 campaign on the basis of issues which were current in the 1930's and 1940's."

Donovan, who served as Sen. Edmund Muskie's assistant in Washington, said that he knows the men in Kennedy's organization and pointed out that almost without exception they are young men whose political experience began following the close of the Second World War.

Donovan also asserted that American political experience in this earlier period has very little relevance to the major problems our country will face in the 1960's.
