Princess Count Reaches 21 With Others Expected Before Deadline Late Friday Night

With the closing time for entries only hours away, late Friday afternoon, Festival entertainment vice president Mrs. Ruth Hoch announced that two more Sea Princesses have entered the race for the title of Sea Goddess of the Seafoods Festival to be held in Rockland Aug. 5, 6 and 7. At press time, 21 entries were in.

Miss Gloria Staples

New entries are Miss Susan Goodridge, Russell Avenue, Rockport, and Miss Gloria Staples, 11 Pleasant Street, Rockland. Mrs. Hoch expects others to enter before the contest closes Friday evening.

Sea Princess Susan, 18, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Goodridge of Rockport, is five feet one inch in height with light brown hair and blue eyes.

She graduated from Rockport High School in June and plans to attend Virginia Interim College in September to study physical education. She enjoys horseback riding and skin diving. Round Top Dairy, Inc., of Damariscotta and Rockland is her sponsor.

Named To Post At Fryeburg

Former superintendent of schools of Union 72 Norman Moulton of Summer Street, Rockland, has accepted the post of superintendent of Union 19 at Fryeburg.

The Sanford native came to Knox County in 1958 when Union 72 included Owls Head, South Thomaston, St. George, Friendship and Cushing. Owls Head and South Thomaston have since joined School Administrative District 5.

Moulton came to Rockland from Mechanic Falls where he had been elementary principal. Because all of the Fryeburg secondary students attended private Fryeburg Academy on a tuition basis, the union has no high school.

The appointment is effective Aug. 1, Moulton will move his wife and three children soon thereafter. Mrs. Moulton is the former Barbara Carney of Thomaston.

New Chaplain At Prison Due On August 15

THOMASTON — Rev. Robert G. McKinney, 37, former pastor of the First Baptist Church of Rumford, officially will take over duties as a full time Protestant chaplain in the State Prison on Aug. 15. Warden Allan Robbins announced the appointment Wednesday.

There has only been a part-time chaplain at the prison to date and when Rev. McKinney moves in he will have a new chapel with an adjacent office. Mr. McKinney also is a substitute teacher and is expected to take part in the educational plan now in operation in the prison.

The new chaplain is married, has four children and will live and do part-time ministry in Port Clyde. He obtained his theological training at Gordon Theological School in Boston.

Coffin Urges Democrats At Camden Party Supper To Use Platform In Campaign

CAMDEN — In a speech prepared for delivery at a Democratic Party dinner at the Camden Snow Bowl, Friday, Congressman Frank M. Coffin of Lewiston called on Democratic candidates to use the Democratic platform and inform the voters of its contents. At the same meeting, John C. Donovan, candidate for Congress evaluated the recent National Democratic Convention and asserted that the Party has the strongest ticket in decades.

Coffin, who is a candidate for governor, implored his audience to "shake off the first flicks of dust and make the platforms useful rather than ornamental objects." In attacking the Republican platform, Coffin said, "I have looked over both the Democratic and Republican documents carefully and I confess that I don't know which one will help us more, ours or our opponent's."

He went down the GOP platform, item by item, and asserted that either nothing constructive was advocated or it simply stated past history.

Two directly conflicting items are GOP planks in favor of retaining the Governor's Council and continuing biennial sessions.

The supper was preceded by a round of coffees and visits in Knox County by Coffin and Donovan, with party workers.

AGENCY HONORED — The Elliot and Strout Insurance Agency of Thomaston was honored Thursday night by the presentation of a plaque for 65 years representation of the Great American Insurance Company. The agency was officially appointed a representative of the company on July 7, 1895. Shown above presenting the plaque to Albert B. Elliot, treasurer of the company, is Nelson Gamage, State Agent for the Great American Insurance Company. Also shown are Alfred M. Strout, president, and G. Morris Haag, vice president and office manager of the agency.

Special Treat In Store For Press Preview

New England Press Radio and Television people will learn about the Maine sardine as well as eating lobster and fried fish at the annual preview of the Maine Seafoods Festival in Rockland Sunday.

Kermit St. Peter of the Holmes Packing Company, one of whose carriers along with a big McLean Company lobster smack and a Port Clyde Packing Company carrier will take the newspeople on a Penobscot Bay journey, announced a "pleasant surprise" was in store.

The newsmen will be taken through the "Thoroughfare" between North Haven and Vinalhaven Islands to a big weir operation at which Clarence Howard has a great school of sardine herring penned up in front of the Ambassador Morrow estate of Lindbergh fame.

The news people will be able to get pictures of the herring catching operation which supplies the fish for packing as sardines, as well as seeing the wonderful island scenery along the route.

On return from the trip—which starts at 10:30 a. m. Sunday, they will be fed a "Festival dinner" of hot boiled lobster from the World's Largest Cooking Kettle and a new type of Rockland packed breaded fish sticks; will each receive a special packed can of Maine sardines; meet 20 odd Sea Princesses who are vying for the Aug. 5-6 title of Maine Sea Goddess; and participate in three contests.

The men will have the aid of Sea Princesses in a lobster trap hauling contest to win the gold-plated lobster buoy. The women will make millinery from seafoods shells. Both men and women can enter a sardine eating contest.

Newsman from the farthest point will receive a copy of the Rockland produced "Maine Coastal Portrait" photographic picture book.

Oldest Resident Of Washington Was 95 Monday

WASHINGTON—Minot Lenfest, Washington's oldest resident observed his 95th birthday Monday and was entertained at Med-O-Lark Girls Camp, Medomak Lake, at a dinner party. A special birthday cake with his name on it was made in his honor and he received over 40 cards from friends.

The son of George and Bertha Turner Lenfest, he was born in Washington, July 18, 1865 on the place settled by his grandfather and has always lived there except that the last two winters were spent with relatives in Massachusetts. This summer he is boarding with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Turner, but goes back to his home place each weekend when his son George comes home from his work in South Boston.

Mr. Lenfest has had possession of the Boston Post gold-headed cane over three years as it was presented to him in 1957 after

Democratic Candidates Are Feted

A coffee was held at the home of Mrs. Nancy Allen of Pen Bay Acres on Wednesday noon in honor of Frank M. Coffin, Democratic Representative and candidate for governor. A tea was later held at the home of Mrs. Domenic Cuccinello as a forerunner to the lobster stew supper held at the Snow Bowl in Camden.

Authentic Costumes Of 19th Century To Be Highlight Of Anniversary At Montpelier

THOMASTON — The following ladies will be hostesses throughout the day, Monday, at Montpelier during the 210th birthday anniversary of Maj. Gen. Henry Knox. They will wear authentic old costumes mostly of the nineteenth century.

Mrs. Scott Kittredge's gown is of particular interest as it belonged to President McKinley's wife. From Thomaston are Mrs. Geraldine Marks, senior hostess, and Mrs. Ida Mae Harding, Miss Melinda Mills, Mrs. Marie Stevenson, Mrs. Violet Adams and Mrs. Margaret Cuccinello.

From Rockland are Mrs. Maizie Newcomb, Mrs. Gertrude Jordan, Mrs. Barbara Harris, Mrs. Iva Ware, from Port Clyde, Mrs. Harland R. Gribbel, Mrs. Richard Krentz, Miss Gertrude Eastman, Mrs. Donald D. Dodge, Mrs. Andrew Sides, Miss Harriet Pattison and Miss Dorothy Kent.

Rockport Biologist To Lead Party Of Scientists To Study The Frozen Wastelands Of Northern Canada

MONTREAL — A young Rockport biologist, Spencer Apollonio, 26, will lead a party of American, Canadian and British scientists on a research mission. The party will depart from Montreal Saturday for Devon Island in the Canadian Arctic on the first lap of a long and arduous research mission that could hasten economic development of Canada's frozen northlands.

The scientists, under the leadership of Apollonio also will search for evidence of Eskimo migrations, conduct studies of the island's geological structure, and observe ice movements in Jones Sound, off the island's north coast.

Apollonio, a marine biologist studying for a Ph.D. at Yale University, said the party's first task is to erect camps and field laboratories at Cape Sparbo and on the ice cap for the long-term research scheduled to begin in 1961. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Howard L. Apollonio.

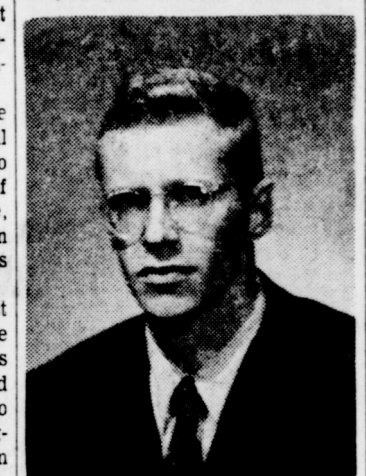

The scientists, joined by a retired U. S. Marine, Major Vernon (Buck) Boyd of Steamboat, Nev., a veteran explorer who toured the Antarctic with the late Admiral Richard E. Byrd, represent the vanguard of an expedition sponsored by the Arctic Institute of North America, a private research organization supported by U. S. and Canadian industries, foundations and colleges.

Dr. C. S. Lord, chairman of the Arctic Institute's board of governors, said the party will study the Arctic environment with special attention to the relationship between the ice-laden ocean and Devon Island's ice cap, climate, and marine plant and animal life.

Interest in the Arctic's economic potential rose recently with the Canadian Government's announcement that a number of Canadian, American and British companies have been granted 12-year permits to explore 44 million acres in the Arctic islands and offshore waters for petroleum deposits.

Companies that retain their exploration rights for the full 12 years must spend at least $3 per acre, the Government declared. That adds up to a possible outlay of $132 million in a widespread search for oil.

Apollonio's research team is taking nearly 50 tons of equipment and supplies, including four tractors and a small boat outfitted for the hazardous waters off Devon Island. Another 200 tons of equipment will be shipped to the island next spring.

Two diesel tractors were donated to the expedition by Massey-Ferguson Limited, of Toronto, large manufacturers of agricultural machinery. Apollonio said comparable but somewhat smaller tractors supplied by the company proved invaluable to Sir Edmund Hillary and Dr. Vivian Fuchs on their historic expeditions to the South Pole in 1958.

The U. S. Quartermaster's Research and Engineering Command, at Natick, Mass., with the approval of the Army Research Office, provided scientific apparatus and portable shelters, sleds, sleeping bags, skis and snowshoes, and 220 cases of field rations.

The party, traveling aboard the Canadian icebreaker and supply vessel d'Iberville, expects to reach Cape Sparbo on Devon Island's north shore by Aug. 20. The island, 21,000 square miles of ice and rugged terrain, is uninhabited. Temperatures sink as low as 60° in winter. The eastern half of the island is covered by an ice cap that rises to 6,000 feet above sea level.

Ratten To Leave Appleton High After 18 Years For Post In School District 3

APPLETON—Ernest Ratten of Searsmont, principal of Appleton High School for the past 18 years, submitted his resignation to the Appleton School Board, Thursday night, to accept a post in School Administrative District 3 at Liberty.

The board accepted the resignation with regret and pointed to an outstanding record of accomplishments in the small school during Ratten's tenure.

In addition to serving as administrator of the school, Ratten coached baseball and basketball. He also brought to Appleton debating.

In 1950, the peak year of debating at Appleton, the team defeated Bucksport, John Baptist, Sanford and South Portland in the Bates College Debating League competition.

Ratten also introduced consumer education to Appleton High School.

He graduated from Bates College, magna cum laude.

WELCH TO LEAVE ROCKLAND FOR LARGE SEARS STORE AT BURLINGTON, VT., VERY SOON

Appointment of Alvah M. Welch of Rockland as manager of Sears, Roebuck and Company's operations in Burlington, Vt., was announced today by H. S. Sedgwick, New England Zone manager. In addition to serving as Rockland store manager, Welch has been active in Chamber of Commerce projects.

The 41-year-old store manager succeeds W. A. Collins.

A native of Bangor, Welch joined Sears in that city as a warehouse helper in 1937 shortly after he graduated from high school. His work won recognition and he was assigned to the sales force.

His service in the Bangor store was broken by World War II. He served in the Air Force from 1942 to 1945. He returned to sales following his discharge and in 1950, he was named specialty sales manager in the Bangor store.

A year later, Welch was assigned as a field man to Sears New England Zone operations in Boston and in 1953, he was named specialty sales manager for the zone.

In 1955, he accepted the manager's post in the Rockland store. His work in Rockland brought the opportunity to take direction of the larger Burlington store.

Welch played an active role in Rockland's civic affairs and held memberships in a number of civic and social groups. His hobbies are hunting, fishing and golf.

He is married to the former Virginia Moran of Brewer. They have two sons, six and 11 years of age, and a daughter, 13.

They expect to move to the Burlington area in the near future.

Warden Robbins To Represent U. S. At United Nations Congress On Crime Prevention and Treatment At London

THOMASTON — State Prison Warden Allan Robbins has added another feather to his cap by being the first Maine warden invited to attend the United Nations Congress for the prevention of crime and treatment of offenders to be held in London, England from Aug. 8 to 20. His being chosen was a result of his being president of the Warden's Association of America. He will leave Thomaston on July 28 to tour several North European countries as a prelude to attending the conference in London.

His official capacity will be in a consultative status of economic and social council for the United Nations. He will meet daily with members appointed by governments for their knowledge of treatment of prison offenders. Warden Robbins expects to gain invaluable knowledge from this conference as it is believed that most European institutions are 50 years in advance of the penal system used on this continent. His first stop will be at Copenhagen, Denmark, and he will go on from there to visit Holland, Belgium, France and finally England. His wife, Dr. Verla Wouthagen (Robbins) will go along on the trip to give several medical lectures on anaesthesia. She also will visit prison hospitals along the route.

On the agenda at the UN conference will be such subjects as the origin, prevention and treatment of juvenile delinquency, types of criminality due to social changes, short and long term imprisonment, after care treatment, assistance to dependents of prisoners and integration of prison labor in national economy. Robbins has been warden of the Maine State Prison for 10 years, joining the force in 1949 as deputy warden. He was a special agent with the F. B. I. from 1948 to 1949. He did more than three years of liaison work in criminal investigation in Europe before joining the F. B. I.

In addition to being president of the Wardens Association, which is for a one year term, he has held offices as secretary and vice president of the organization.

Warden Allan Robbins

COACH'S LETTER TO PLAYERS OUTLINES PROGRAM AND GOALS OF FOOTBALL AT ROCKLAND

Rockland High School football coach Bob Morrill has sent form letters to parents of football players and would be players who are coming out for the first time outlining the objectives of the sport and its benefits as well as assuring the parent that the boy will be well cared for and given the best of equipment. Also included in the letter are suggested exercises that the boy might indulge in to get himself in shape for the drills ahead which start sometime in mid-August.

The letter follows:
To Parents and Players
of Rockland's
1960 Football Squad:

The purpose of this letter is to let parents as well as players know how you can aid yourselves to know how your boy can become a better football player this fall. If the players will begin their routine, things will be easier when they report to me this fall. First of all, make no mistake, we want to win ball games, for that is the ultimate objective. Along with winning games, however, we wish to accomplish these objectives:

1. Above all he must keep his grades up;
2. Build a strong body (physically and mentally);
3. Provide a competitive spirit and;

4. Instill in him a desire to win;
5. Instill in him a sense of fair play;
6. Teach him teamwork;
7. Teach him to budget time;
8. Allow him to assume responsibility;
9. Teach him respect for authority;
10. Teach him many other objectives which follow by being a member of a team.

Secondly, once your boy reports for football he has a rugged assignment ahead. He has to have courage and determination to stick it out. He has to abide by certain rules and regulations or be dropped from the team. He must keep training rules. Our practice sessions are long, and many nights, mothers will have to hold supper for him, he will come home tired, bruised and discouraged.

This is when he will need your encouragement, help and understanding the most. I as a coach can give him all the technical help he needs, the rest is up to himself. He must want to be the best, and whether he is a regular or reserve he will have the satisfaction of knowing he has done his best.

If he is playing football, rest assured he will be given the best equipment made and the best medical attention possible.

CLIPPERS CONTINUE DRIVE IN TWILIGHT LOOP WITH WIN OVER REDLEGS ON THURSDAY

The Thomaston Clippers continued their mid-season drive in the Twilight League with a 13-2 shellacking of Damariscotta's Redlegs at Damariscotta Thursday night. It was their fourth straight and boosted them into third place ahead of St. George which lost to Waldoboro 11-5 Thursday.

Thomaston used the long ball in their win, paced by a bases loaded circuit clout off the bat of Floyd Johnson which highlighted the seven run fifth inning; George Alex hit a four bagger with one on in the eighth; and Gary Seavey drove in three runs with a long double in the second which gave the Clippers the lead for good.

Damariscotta's Freddy Burnham had started the homer parade in the first with a blast with one on for the only runs the home team was able to garner off Bob Tweedie who held them to six hits.

At Waldoboro, the St. George ace, Lefty Dave Lowell, was far off form. He gave up five walks, plus a double by Billy Chase and a single by Dana Verge in the very first inning which accounted for six runs.

The only homer of the game was a bases empty blow by Tink Powell in the seventh inning. Verge had three hits for the winners and Bud Hodgkins two for St. George.

Scores:
Thomaston 030 073-13-2-1
Damariscotta 200 000-2-6-0

JC Golfers To Leave Sunday For Portland

ROCKLAND — Robert Fowler of Rockland and Keith May of Rockport will leave Sunday to attend a three day golf tournament in Portland sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Portland. They will play 36 holes of golf at the Riverside Country Club with the four winners to go to Iowa to participate in the national finals held in August.

Keith May was fourth in the State in last year's tournament and participated in the finals.

More Than 300 Watch Antics of Donkey Game

A crowd unofficially estimated at 350 viewed the donkey baseball game Wednesday evening at South Field between the Jaycees and the Lions which was won by the Jaycees 3-2 as far as baseball was concerned but the donkeys were the real winners with their crowd pleasing antics which did nothing to aid their respective teams in scoring.

The project was something less than a financial success however, as the sum taken in by the sale of hot dogs and drinks by the Jaycees was more than their cut of the gate.

THEY PASSED THE AMMUNITION

In announcing Wednesday evening that he had reprimanded the four members of the Executive Council who were arrested and fined for taking over the legal limit of trout at Desolation Pond, Governor Reed pointed out that he had no control over his advisors. Thunderation, that has been pointed out graphically many, many times over the years as the Council has hamstringed a competent governor because of political differences. It didn't take a profound announcement from Augusta to get that across to the people of Maine. What will stay with the Republicans from now until November will be the facts of the case. Democrats have long advocated abolition of the Executive Council and now they have the ammunition with which to wage a real battle with four of the seven councilors serving as ammunition passers.

Mrs. Hill Wins Ladies' Tourney At Rockland

Mrs. Alfred Hill was the low gross winner in the Class A division of the regular weekly women's tourney Thursday at the Rockland Golf Club. Her score was 92 and that of second place finisher, Miss Priscilla Staples was 97.

Low net in Class A went to Mrs. Charlotte Staples, 102-76 and second net was won by Mrs. George Staples, 102-77. Mrs. Arnold McConchie, Miss Priscilla Anderson and Mrs. Dave Hodgkins tied for low score on number 8, all with sixes. Mrs. Virginia Huntley and Mrs. Mary Duff tied for lowest number of putts, 18.

Mrs. Harlan Wadleigh was low gross winner in Class B with 58, followed by the 63 of Mrs. Bea Cross.

A Scotch foursome is on tap at the club on Sunday afternoon and on next Thursday, July 28, qualifying rounds for the Women's club championship will start. Mrs. Meredith Dondis is the defending champion.

CAMDEN NEARS CLINCHING BABE RUTH FLAG WITH WIN OVER ROCKLAND WEDNESDAY

CAMDEN — The Camden Babe Ruth team shutout Rockland 4-0 Wednesday night and on Thursday the second place Waldoboro team defeated Thomaston in a re-scheduled game 9-2. Waldoboro, now a game and a half out, has one more game to play, while Camden has three. Rockland, by their loss Wednesday, fell out of title contention.

The state Babe Ruth tourney starts at Gardiner on Thursday, July 28 which leaves less than a week for a number of makeup games, the Linnox all-star team to be decided on, and for practice sessions of the stars. Linnox is scheduled to face Bucksport in Game 2 of the tourney at 1 o'clock on the 28th.

Once again Bob Whitely was the whole show at Camden as he held the Rockland team to only three hits. Camden had only six off Carleton Willis but five Rockland errors made it easy for the home team.

In other Wednesday night Babe Ruth action Waldoboro took over second place with an 18-11 win over tailend St. George.

CAMDEN YMCA

Change In Classes

Boys and girls of grade school age, beginning with third grade and up, are requested to pick up a new schedule of afternoon classes at main desk of "Y". This schedule becomes effective Monday. Evening classes remain the same.

A family swim was scheduled for this Friday evening. The regularly scheduled family swims are held every Tuesday evening from 6:30 to 8 p. m.

Under the new schedule announced all "Y" members should note that periods have been planned for aquatic lessons for boys and girls who enter the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades in the fall.

JOHN E. MONTESANTO

CLEARWATER, FLA. — John E. Montesanto, summer resident of Tenants Harbor, died in Clearwater, Fla., Thursday, after a brief illness.

Mr. Montesanto was approximately 64 years of age. He was a retired government employee, and spent the past five summers in Tenants Harbor. His winter home was in Clearwater.

An Army veteran of World War I, Mr. Montesanto was a graduate of the University of Massachusetts, a member of the Episcopal Church, and a member of the Tenants Harbor Lodge of Masons. He was born in Turkey, the son of a consular officer and lived there 17 years.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary Bryden Montesanto, formerly of Woonsocket, R. I.; a daughter by a previous marriage, Mrs. E. Burnett Van Fossen of Frostburg, Md., a sister in Washington, D. C., and a grandson.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. from the Moss Funeral Home in Clearwater, Fla., with interment Tuesday at the Arlington National Cemetery.

MRS. ELINA MAKINEN

SOUTH THOMASTON — Mrs. Elina Makinen, 83, of Spruce Head Road, South Thomaston, died Thursday afternoon, at her home.

The widow of Elias Makinen, Mrs. Makinen was born in Finland, April 5, 1877, the daughter of Erik and Lovisa Erickson. She was a member of the Holy Trinity Church in Thomaston.

Among survivors are three sons, Amos Makinen, William Makinen and Arthur Makinen, all of South Thomaston; three daughters, Mrs. Arlene Hopkins and Miss Lempi Makinen, both also of South Thomaston, and Mrs. Tekla Farrel of Pittsfield; two brothers, Elias Erickson of South Carver, Mass., and Victor Erickson of Middleboro, Mass.; three grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Private funeral services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Russell Funeral Home in Rockland with Rev. William J. Robbins officiating.

Interment will be at the Village Cemetery, South Thomaston.

MRS. GLADYS V. CARVER

UNION—Mrs. Gladys V. Carver, 62, died suddenly at her home here, Thursday. She was born in Stowe, Mass., Dec. 24, 1897, the daughter of Ulysses and Florence Ford Davidson. She was a member of the Nazarene Church in Union.

Surviving besides her husband, Harold D. Carver, are six daughters, Mrs. Thelma Howard and Mrs. Henry McAvoy, both of Bath, Mrs. Clyde Rhodes of Waterville, Mrs. Elwood Estes of Bangor, Mrs. John Rapa of Taylor, Mich., and Mrs. Glenn Estes of Union; two sons, Harold D. Carver, Jr., of Augusta, and Gerald Carver of Union; one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Alexander of Houlton; 19 grandchildren; one great grandchild and several nieces, nephews and cousins.

Funeral services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. from the Planders Funeral Home in Waldoboro with Rev. Stanley L. Ross of the Nazarene Church in Union officiating. Interment will be in Lakeview Cemetery, Union.

There may have been some merit to forcing auto owners to use the reflecting merchandise several years ago. Now autos have so many lights, both front and back, that only a blind person would fail to be duly warned of traffic ahead, behind or anywhere else.

July 28—South Thomaston Community Service Club Fair at 2 p. m. Supper from 5 to 7 p. m.

July 26—Rockland Garden Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Edwin Rollins, Mechanic Street, at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. Edmund Socec of Augusta, State Federation president, as guest speaker.

July 30—Rockland High School Class of 1950 reunion at the Thorndike Hotel at 7 p. m.

Aug. 24—Limerock Valley Pomona choral group will sing at the New England Conference Night at the University of Maine, Orono.

Washington—William J. Sperl, Washington insurance man, ranked fifth among Mutual of New York's Eastern underwriters in number of policies sold during June.

Rockland—Horatio C. Cowan, chairman of Knox County Chapter of American Red Cross, announces that $599.73 has been received for Chilean relief by the local Chapter and has been sent to National Red Cross Headquarters. In addition, the Chapter's quota of five children's woolen sweaters was sent. As of June 15, Americans have given over $800,000 in cash and supplies through the Red Cross.

Waldoboro—Kowa Bowmen will hold their second state archery shoot on the new course at Waldoboro on Route 235, Sunday. This will be a 28 field target shoot. Registration will be from 9 to 11 a. m. Refreshments will be available. The new club house is about completed.

Rockland—Adolph Fortin of St. George received emergency treatment at Knox Hospital Thursday night. He had received severe lacerations on his left arm when he was hit by a binder chain while working in the woods. Charles Boggs, 2, of Warren was treated for scalp lacerations received from a fall in his home Friday morning. Francis Landry, 3, of Rockland who fell downstairs at home required treatment for lacerations to the scalp.

Rockland—Damages estimated at $275 were caused Thursday night, when a 1955 sedan driven by Mrs. Pearl Seeks of Rockland went out of control, struck a street sign and plowed into a parked car on Weeks Street. The other car, a 1950 Plymouth, had Pennsylvania license plates and police have not as yet identified the owner. Police said Mrs. Seeks apparently stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake. Neither the driver or an eight month old baby riding in the car with her were injured.

Around the County—It is reported by the usual reliable source that people of Knox County and vicinity will find "What's My Line" on CBS TV, Sunday night, particularly interesting.

Rockland—Dharamshi Gopani, agricultural officer of Bombay State in India, will be a special guest at the Rockland Extension Group Leaders and Association meeting Monday, July 25. The session will be held at the home of Mrs. George Huntley, Lime-rock Street. Another guest will be Mrs. Sylvia Keene of Nobleboro, acting home demonstrating agent for the summer.

Municipal Court

FRIDAY
There were two cases in Rockland Municipal Court, Friday morning. Louis Folland, 31, of Rockport passed a check for $15 on the First National Bank in Rockland with insufficient funds on May 11. After Folland made restitution, the case was filed.

Robert Paul Johnson, 32, of Port Kent was charged with failing to stop at the intersection of Elm and School Streets in Camden, July 17. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $20.

Belfast
In Belfast Municipal Court, Friday, Joseph Sutton of Camden pleaded guilty to a charge of illegally hauling a lobster trap. The complaint was made by Fred B. Kimball of Rockport who told the court he saw Sutton pull a trap near Ensign Island off Islesboro, July 17. Kimball sped to Sutton's boat, attracting the attention of Islesboro constable Lloyd A. Dyer. Kimball testified he and Dyer found one of Dyer's traps aboard Sutton's boat. Coastal Warden Norman Woodward of Belfast was called in and made the arrest. Sutton was fined $100.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to express my sincere thanks and appreciation for the cards from friends and relatives and gifts from neighbors. Special thanks to Dr. Dennison, Dr. Root and Dr. Onat and the nurses for their wonderful care while I was a patient at Knox Hospital. Newell McLain, Thomaston, Maine. 88-11

Young Biologist

The group plans to return to Montreal late in September aboard a U. S. Navy icebreaker. A larger party of scientists, including most members of the current expedition, will return to Devon Island next spring and remain until 1962 or possibly 1963, depending on the progress of their research.

Members of the party, besides Apollonio and Major Boyd, are: C. R. Dick, Harington, 27, of Calgary, Alberta, a zoologist completing graduate studies at McGill University, Montreal. Harington directed a scientific station on Ellesmere Island in the Arctic during Canada's observance of the International Geophysical Year in 1957-58.

Gordon W. Lowther, 33, of Montreal, curator at McGill University's McCord archaeological museum. Lowther explored the western Arctic with earlier expeditions.

Storrs McCall, 29, of Montreal, a philosophy instructor at McGill who will assist Lowther in archaeological research.

Dr. Brian Maxwell, 38, of Edmonton, Alberta, zoology instructor at McGill.

D. R. (Don) Oliver, 29, of Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, a zoologist completing work for a Ph.D. at McGill. Oliver has made several trips to Labrador and Baffin Island, largest island in the Canadian archipelago.

Bruce D. Clarke, 20, of Waterloo, Ontario, student at Waterloo University. Clarke is studying the economics of the Canadian Arctic.

Geoffrey E. Stewart, 21, of (40 Burton Road), Ashby-de-la-Zouch, Leicestershire, England, student majoring in zoology at McGill.

Major Boyd, who retired from the Marines in 1958, is the only member of the party who has set foot on Devon Island before. In 1946 he led a U. S.-Canadian reconnaissance team which landed at Dundas harbor, on the island's south coast, and traveled partway across the ice cap to test motorized equipment specially adapted for service in the Arctic environment.

As the seasoned explorer in the group, Major Boyd is counted on to "keep us out of trouble", Apollonio said. The former Marine is now a rancher and consulting engineer in Nevada.

Dr. Lord said plans for the expedition grew out of the Arctic Institute's experience during the International Geophysical Year, when the Institute conducted special research projects in the North and South Polar regions.

One of the Institute's primary objectives, Dr. Lord observed, is to encourage scientific study of Polar regions, particularly among young scientists and students. The Institute was organized in 1945 by U. S. and Canadian scientists and educators hopeful of continuing the research launched during World War II.

One of the Institute's biggest continuing projects is a bibliography of Arctic studies. This work is now going into its ninth volume, with scientific papers having been translated from 27 languages. In 1959 alone the Institute translated and summarized 1,200 Russian studies on the Arctic.

Since 1945 the Institute has sent 600 small research parties into the Arctic.

"Our purpose now is to establish facilities for extended research in a key area", Dr. Lord explained. "Devon Island is particularly suitable for this mission because it provides ice-covered and ice-free environments, on land and in the sea, within convenient distances, and a variety of coordinated studies can be conducted from one base."

Stones Honored At Anniversary

ROCKPORT — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur K. Stone, Sr., were guests dish 20 minutes. Serve hot. Makes 40 Deviled Egg halves. Many people do not like liver as is but almost everyone goes for it fixed this way with potatoes. As it is a wonderful source of iron, fixing it like this may be a way to get the family to eat it.

Liverburgers

1 pound liver
2 cups diced raw potatoes
1 cup chopped onions
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons fat

Gravy

3 tablespoons tomato paste
1 tablespoon flour
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cream
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Put liver, potatoes and onions through meat grinder twice. Add seasoning.

Drop liver mixture by spoonful onto hot fat in skillet. Fry quickly. Remove burgers from pan.

For gravy, blend tomato paste and flour into drippings in pan. Add milk, cream and seasonings. Bring to boil, stirring constantly. Add liverburgers; simmer, covered 15 minutes. Makes eight servings.

of honor Sunday at a 25th wedding anniversary party given them at their home on Spruce Street, Rockport, by their daughter, Mrs. Vernard Wadsworth, and their son, Arthur, Jr.

Mrs. Stone is the former Thelma Brown, daughter of Mrs. Maude Brown and the late James F. Brown of Springfield, Mass. Mr. Stone is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stone of Springfield, Mass.

The couple were married July 15, 1935, at the Trinity Methodist Church at Springfield, Mass., by Rev. F. Marion Smith. Their attendants were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Root of Southwick, Mass., who were also present at this party.

They have three children, Mrs. Charlotte Wadsworth, Arthur Stone, Jr., and Miss Pamela Stone, and one grandchild.

Miss Pamela Stone circulated the guest book while Mrs. Edna Gardner of Springfield, Mass., and Mrs. Labele Root of Southwick, Mass., dipped punch. Mrs. Helen McKenney of Waterville finished cutting the wedding cake.

The couple was presented a money tree by friends and relatives with about 50 attending.

Those attending from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gardner and Robert Cormier of Springfield, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Richard Root and son Charles of Southwick, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Grey of Norwalk, Conn., Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McKenney of Waterville, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Holbrook of Union, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Polk of Rockland, Mr. and Mrs. James Leland, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Sawyer and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Grey and daughter Marie of Camden.

Women Take Part In Traffic Safety

Women are stepping into the traffic safety picture with a vengeance! One women's organization, the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, has just completed a national survey of traffic signs that has long been overdue and will provide information of value to all traffic safety groups.

As far back as 1925, safety experts were concerned about the confusion created by differences in traffic signs, signals and pavement markings in various states. Drivers found entirely different signs in use when they drove in other states than their own. They meant exactly the opposite from what they meant at home.

A national Conference on Street and Highway Safety in 1925 drafted uniform motor vehicle rules intended for adoption throughout the country. Included in this code were standards for traffic signs, signals and markings throughout the country.

But the average motorist traveling from state to state doesn't need a safety expert to tell him that uniformity has not been achieved. However, until the Business and Professional Women began a national survey in 1958, nobody knew just how far various

Auxiliary Party Waitresses Named

Mrs. Walter Gay, chairman of the hostess committee of the Knox Hospital Auxiliary card party to be held at the Samoset Hotel, Thursday, July 28, called a meeting Friday, at the home of Mrs. Ernest Keywood on upper Summer Street. Present were Miss Carol Aho, Miss Judy French, Miss Rosalyn Gay, Miss Julie Moffitt, Miss June Ranta, Miss Linda Studley and Miss Ann Walker. After the card playing is over these attractive young ladies will serve punch and sweets to the guests.

Co-chairmen Mrs. Frederic Bird and Miss Madeline Philbrick have announced that Mrs. Lendon Jackson and Mrs. Harold Mitchell are in charge of soliciting sweets from the county-wide Knox County General Hospital Auxiliary. The Samoset Hotel will furnish the punch in addition to opening the lovely ball room for the several hundred who attend this annual event. Prizes to be awarded to the winners at all tables are being selected by Mrs. Gilmore Soule.

All card playing, whether it be Bolivia, Contract Bridge, Canasta or Hearts, will start at 2 p. m. Summer visitors, as well as local residents, are cordially invited to participate. This event offers a pleasant and easy way to entertain friends and visitors.

Geoffrey Torney, administrator of Knox County General Hospital, has drawn up a formidable list of equipment necessary for better patient care. With the proceeds from this party, he hopes to purchase as many of these as possible. At the top of the list, is a portable suction machine to be used at the patient's bedside.

Mrs. Frank Carsley of Rockland, ticket chairman, has added to her list, Mrs. Ernest Keywood.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

Keep Your Iron Guard Up

By Marjorie Mayo

In hot humid weather, iron is lost through the pores. When the summer days are steaming hot, the need for iron may jump. When hot weather "takes the starch out of you", it may be because of the iron that you have lost when you perspire. During the summer season, it is well to guard against this loss by eating each day foods high in rich sources of iron: liver, red meat, enriched or whole grain bread and cereal, egg yolks, deep green leafy vegetables and dried fruit.

A new taste sensation which fills the iron requirement is hot deviled eggs. They may be enjoyed as a main dish for the family or are glamorous enough to be served at a neighborly patio session or for a more elaborate buffet luncheon or reception. Party effects may be achieved by spoon filling the shells just level then adding decorative swirls by putting remainder of filling through pastry tube. Or, the filling can be piled high in the shells and finished with a fancy fork-time trim. The protein-rich egg served in this new way will make a hit at any summer party.

For this recipe, allow at least three egg halves per person in planning food for a summer affair. Medium eggs are best size to serve deviled. These are nice served with mugs of hot tomato juice with celery stick stirrers and a bowl of corn crisps.

Hot Deviled Eggs

20 hard-cooked eggs
3 teaspoons salad mustard
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tablespoon minced onion (optional)
1 1/2 tablespoons vinegar
1 pimiento, cut in 1/4-inch pieces
1/2 to 1 cup broth or water
Cut eggs in half. If cut crosswise, cut a thin slice of white off ends. Remove yolks and sieve—putting white trimmings through sieve also. Add mustard, pepper, mayonnaise and vinegar. Beat until smooth. Taste for seasoning, but keep mild since heating intensifies flavor. Refill whites. Garnish with pimiento bits. Arrange on heat-proof serving platter, on electric grill or frypan, or in chafing dish. Pour enough broth or water to just cover bottom of utensil. Cover and heat thoroughly in oven (350° F.) 15 minutes, in electric grill or frypan (300° F.) 20 minutes, or in chafing

Sixty-Seven Children Complete Summer Reading Program

On the steps of the Rockland Public Library Thursday afternoon 67 children, members of the Summer Reading Club, received diplomas for completing the club project "Take Time For Reading". This was a six week course of which the first two weeks were devoted to having the children read and report to the Story Lady, books in four categories. The next four weeks were spent in general reading and the telling of the story. Each child had their own clock on which stars of different colors were placed at the completion of each book. The program was under the direction of Mrs. Cleveland Sleeper, Children's Librarian.

Between the second and third rows at right are James Brannan, Linda McAuliffe, Susan Brannan, and Jacqueline Cuthbertson.

Third row: Sandra Chadbourne, Mary Jane Vanorse, Julia Duff, Carol Coffin, Hiram Brown and James York.

In the back row: Dick Allen, Cynthia Demitri, Rebecca Harvey, Gail Wooster, Elizabeth Duff, Howard Smith, Bruce Fales, Ronald Epstein and Mike Doran.

Outdoors Around Knox County

by Ralph Waldo Tyler

As I write of the family affairs of the pair of warblers who will soon become the proud parents of four babies (if all goes well) I hope readers will not picture me sitting among a swarm of hungry mosquitos with a pair of binoculars glued to my eyes for hours while I study the fine points of wild family life.

Short and frequent observations at such a time achieve just as much, does not cause the parents to become nervous if they discover your hiding place, and at the same time partly thwarts the intentions of flies and mosquitos who would puncture your hide.

Wild romance follows a pattern as realistic with emotions as any such occasion in the lives of humans. There is pathos and comedy, tragedy and fulfillment, disagreements and forgiveness and rarely unfaithfulness and (I expect) heartache.

With most of the song birds, once that thrilling love song reaches the right ears and sets a little female heart flame, there is little infidelity and the period we would liken to courtship usually goes quite smoothly from which the male emerges with a lightly regarded pact made with the female, "that she will be the boss" from nest building time on. But little does he realize this love inspired agreement made hastily in exchange for her devotion, is to "stick" as a demand strictly insisted upon (and often violently enforced) by his now gentle and charming mate.

From years of observation refreshed by occasional new developments while watching this season's pair of warblers, I give you the following details which are mere fragments of the interesting and often tedious moments in the lives of the nature that surrounds us always.

If our gaudy and songful little male has looked forward to a summer of idly preening his splendid coat and giving with his resonant song days without end, he's got a surprise coming. At the termination of the "courtship", the search for a nest building site begins and at its very outset the female, who only yesterday was like a "clinging vine" at the least murmur of his song, today bustles about chipping faintly to herself among the saplings, with a preoccupation that confounds his vocal cords.

As long as she remains in sight or he can hear her "sputterings" he perches alone in befuddled wonder at her sudden change of heart.

Presently she is gone and he flies in circles to look and listen as he springs a fragment of his song hoping for her faint reply. But it does not come, and he nervously flits among the taller tree-tops pretending to be chasing insects. Then, as if emerging from a hidden leaf she sits beside him and they chat a moment, silently. (I expect she is whispering to him the treasured secret where the nest will be and just when the work will start.)

Well calculated to be hidden from sharper eyes than mine, I found the nest a couple of days later; its foundation of wispy curls of birch bark, fragments of moss and dried grass clinging shoulder high to a slender three way crotch in an aspen sapling. There was no one at home at the moment, but waiting was a pleasure for what was soon to be revealed.

They came together, each bearing a shred of some flimsy material and she settled herself on the foundation and began to weave with her bill while he stood by. (Most nests are built from the inside - the lining of horse hair, cattail fluff, or soft grass being put in place as a finishing touch before the eggs are laid.) It was evident from her movements that she was starting the sides, which at first would be roughly shaped to her body as she turned and turned to be sure the nest is round and fits closely the shape of her tiny body.

Soon he would "run himself ragged" carrying material while she attended strictly to the construction.

If patience is a virtue of those first glorious days of new found love, it soon wears threadbare in the urgency and tensions of monotonous labor such as this.

The hardworking male, who only a week or so ago thought love was but a song and life with his gentle mate was but a dream, now brings bills full of material only to find her pernickety to the point of discarding much of it to tussle with a stubborn length of gold thread root that refuses to "stay put". And should he anywhere along the way, chase an insect or dally with his vestments so that she would have to wait for him, she might attack him with fury when he does return.

But all-in-all things go fairly well each day and at dusk he is likely to venture a faltering song or two in appreciation of her company, as they hunt insects together in the tree tops.

Man is that irrational creature who is always looking for a home atmosphere and hotel service around the house.

Women Take Part

states had gone in adopting the suggestions of the Uniform Vehicle Code.

The BPW carefully surveyed traffic signs, signals and markings in all 50 states and Puerto Rico, comparing actual practices with the recommended ones. The survey took more than a year; results were co-ordinated and announced in March.

And impressive results they are. The women found that, after 35 years, there wasn't one state that had adopted all the recommendations of the Uniform Vehicle Code. The highest degree of conformity with the code, 76 per cent, was found in only three states. Twenty states had achieved uniformity above 65 per cent, but the remaining 27 states were below 65 per cent.

The women's survey not only showed where the most work was needed to stimulate conformity in geographical areas, but also pinpointed specific types of sign that could be improved. Participants in this survey indicated great concern over signs that warn of railroad crossings ahead. In many areas there were no signs at all; and where signs were present, their visibility at night often was almost non-existent.

When you consider that most accidents involving automobiles and trains occur when a driver runs his car into the side of a train that he failed to see, you can readily appreciate the value of just this one aspect of the Business and Professional Women's survey.

If, following the lead given by the survey, railroad advance warning signs made of reflective materials that can be seen at night are installed before all railroad crossings, a significant reduction can be made in the number of auto-train collisions and many lives can be saved.

ANTIQUES AUCTION

WEDNESDAY, JULY 27, 10:30 A. M.

In the Bristol High School Auditorium. Route 130.

(Follow auction arrows from the Route 1 - Route 130 intersection in Damariscotta)

Some years ago, George W. Sawyer presented over 20 auction sales of antiques. He is again active, and through recent N. Eng. purchases offers for your pleasure a quantity of good, honest, varied antiques. A portion of this sale, for example, comes from the life-long collection of the late Hazen I. Stebbins of E. Ryegate, Vt., which Mr. Sawyer purchased in its entirety. The historical flasks, bottles, salt and ironwells selected from this collection for this sale, deserve the attention of all. From other estates will be offered a rare pine corner cupboard originally in an old Colonial Tavern. With its plastered bow-back, its candle stand shelves, its fan carving, glass doors and dentil molding, this cupboard constitutes a true collector's item. A mahogany serpentine slant-top desk with ball and claw feet and good step-down interior, constitutes another major sale offering. Other interesting items will be a lovely tall clock, various tilt-top tables, several chests of drawers in pine, maple and mahogany (1 bow-front). Also drop-leaf tables in early pine, inlaid mahogany and maple; a cherry dining room table, blanket chest, small mahogany secretary, early pine wall cupboard, large gold leaf mirror (shell decor). A pierced brass firescreen, early primitive settle, set of 4 Eng. sporting print, unusual watch maker's sign, historical surveyor's brass compass complete with tripod in original maker's case with label. Among a variety of chairs will be a Windsor step-down, rare comb-back rocker, 4 mahogany slip-seats, fiddle-backs and high chairs. Among smaller items will be interesting dolls, pewter, early lamps, pattern glass, ironstone, Staffordshire, etc. This listing is partial, and the auction will contain much else. Every article in this sale belongs to Mr. Sawyer. For sale convenience, these goods have been assembled at the above spot because it offers a rain or shine auction, comfortable hall and seating, ample orderly parking space. The auctioneers are certain that all will find this a truly worthwhile, interesting auction. Lobster and crabmeat for lunch.

Order of Geo. W. Sawyer, S. Portland, Me.
 Auctioneers Geo. W. Dietz, Thomaston and Robert L. Foster, Round Pond Harbor. 88-11

DRESSMAKING - Alterations Coats and Suits. MRS. JEAN VALLÉ, 16 Summer Street, 8-17

One of our old teachers used to say, "I can lead you to knowledge, but only God can give you wisdom."

And how right he was. A string of diplomas and degrees does not make a man wise. Many of the wisest never had a formal education.

For knowledge is the accumulation of facts. But wisdom is the ability to apply a few facts - perhaps only one - to a life-situation.

We know a distinguished scholar who has written volumes on ecclesiastical architecture. And we know an elderly widow who told her grandchildren, "Churches ain't made to look at!"

And the scholar - earnest Christian that he is - humbly bows to the wisdom of the widow!

For whether it be a cathedral or chapel, the Church cannot enrich our lives until reverently we enter its portals to worship and serve God. The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom.

Mowing Seedling Areas Poses Problem to Growers

Lewis Bissell, Extension forester, plows along with a cutter to mow grass between rows of young forest trees on the Extension Service Christmas tree demonstration area at the Glenn Sukeforth farm in Waldoboro. Young trees can be seen in the foreground and in the background. The problem the Extension Service is seeking to solve is how to effectively mow seedling areas without disturbing the trees.

By Gil Jaeger, County Agent
One of the problems to consider in planting forest trees is the necessity for mowing the grass in the areas so that the trees will not be smothered. This is especially true of the problems caused by vetch in the Extension Service Christmas Tree Plantation Demonstration Area at Glenn Sukeforth's farm in Waldoboro.

The vetch grew higher than the grass, fell over with the grass on top of the trees set out this spring. Last year, we mowed the area with a mowing machine attachment on a garden tractor. This was fine on the grass, but tended to mow too many trees on rough ground and was hard to handle. This year, we used a garden tractor with a rotary mower attachment. The mower was geared down to run slowly so it did not kick rocks around. This was quite satisfactory but we would not desire to mow too many areas of land with it, especially on a hot day. We will be looking for machines to use. One which we are trying to obtain for trial use is a rotary mower mounted on bicycle wheels. This should be easier to handle than the one we had.

I believe that the decision of roosts or no roosts is primarily one of pen arrangement. If roosts can be provided without causing pen arrangement problems I believe they should be used.

The main reason being sanitation. Roosts reduce the amount of droppings exposed to the birds. The trend will be away from roosts or toward providing roosts or slats are approximately half of the pen area. The main reason being the problem of roosts location when nests are arranged in an alley-type set up.

Sincerely,
Harry C. Welden

Twenty-Four Cows Make DHIA Honor Roll

Twenty-four of the 31 herds on Knox-Lincoln DHIA testing were reported on the Honor Roll as having produced 30 pounds of butterfat per cow during the June testing period. Actually, this is the number out of 28 herds reporting.

High herd of the month was that of Willis Moody, Jr., Warren, whose 23 cows averaged 1508 pounds of milk and 59 pounds of fat per cow. Other herds over 50 pounds of fat were Keith Mink, Appleton; Frank Calderwood, Union; Eben Haggitt, Damariscotta Mills and Ernest Smith, Jefferson.

Two cows finished a 305 day lactation with over 6000 pounds of butterfat. One of Eben Haggitt's cows produced 18,000 pounds of milk and 617 pounds of fat.

Cow 280 at the Maine State Prison Farm produced 1860 pounds of milk and 67 pounds of fat. She has now been on the first calf heifer honor roll for three months. Frank Calderwood's Debbie produced 1910 pounds of milk and 65 pounds of fat on this honor roll.
