Commander Robert Davis of the Coast Guard cutter Laurel presents Carl L. Dilmars, damage controlman second class, of Imogene, Ohio, a medal for good conduct in his three years service in the Coast Guard. Barney Tims, engineman first class, of Port O'Connor, Texas, next to Dilmars, received a good conduct medal for the second time since joining the service four years ago which entitles him to wear the bronze star. Gerard R. Dumont, storekeeper second class, of Salmon River, N. H., on the extreme left, also received a good conduct medal. Behind Commander Davis is Lieutenant Walter Folger who also took part in the ceremonies at the Coast Guard Mooring Friday morning. The ship's company was mustered for the presentation ceremony.

Maine Sardines Gain Step In Battle For Recognition By FOA Of United Nations

AUGUSTA—A proposal by the Maine Sardine Council for an International Conference on Fish in Nutrition has been accepted by the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations and the U. S. Government.

The meeting is scheduled to be held in Washington in September of 1961 with more than 400 scientists and representatives of 80 nations participating.

The Council's executive secretary, Richard E. Reed, and Research Director Joseph P. Puncocchar have been appointed to a regional committee for organization of the affair, while Reed will represent that body on a national basis at a meeting in the Capitol next week.

The conference will deal with the nutritional qualities of fishery products both for human food and animal feeding and top scientists and nutritionists from all parts of the world will discuss the latest findings and developments.

Reed said that the sessions were designed to assemble and present all fishery nutritional information which had been gathered over the years by scientists on a world wide basis.

Several papers on Maine sardines are expected to be included on the agenda, he stated.

The conference was originally

Two Million On N. E. Highways Over Labor Day

BOSTON, MASS.—Drivers can become a statistic this Labor Day weekend, by being one of the millions of Americans who will return home safely after their long weekend. The Automobile Legal Association announced today that an estimated 24 million automobiles and their passengers will return home after jamming vacation spots for their one last fling at warm weather enjoyment.

In New England, almost two million vacationers' cars are expected to pack the highways. Of these, non New England visitors should account for nearly one-third of the Labor Day weekend travelers. Three major vacation areas will share a large percentage of the expected multitude, those being: Cape Cod, the Coast of Maine, and the Lakes Region of New Hampshire.

Totalling trucks, buses, and the usual weekend traffic, as many as 70 million motor vehicles could be on the highways at certain times during the weekend.

With this increase in highway travelers, ALA suggests that drivers practice co-operation, concentration and courtesy — the "3 C's" of highway safety. Drivers not heeding ALA's suggestion may become traffic statistics also — their numbers, unfortunately, being in the hundreds, not the millions.

Druggist Goes To Assistance Of Stricken Man

The quick work of a local pharmacist was credited with the temporary saving of the life of a 71-year-old Rockland man who collapsed at the corner of Park and Main Streets at 4:30 Thursday afternoon. Edward Sullivan, who lived with his brother, Frank, on Bog Road, told rescue firemen that he had a dizzy spell just before he fell.

Fred Goodnow, proprietor of Goodnow's pharmacy, grabbed a portable inhalator from his store and administered oxygen to the unconscious victim until the arrival of the fire department's rescue truck. Firemen James York and Donald Robshaw took over from Goodnow and used an inhalator and resuscitator to force oxygen into Sullivan's lungs as he was rushed to Knox Hospital in an ambulance.

Sullivan, who was a known diabetic succumbed at the hospital late Thursday night.

First National Bank Retires Vice Presidents Chauncey M.D. Keene And Joseph Emery

Two veteran members of the staff of the First National Bank entered into retirement Thursday. They were Vice President Joseph Emery and Assistant Vice President Chauncey M. D. Keene.

Joe Emery had been with the bank since May of 1912, a span of 48 years. Chauncey's term of service started in June of 1921. Both were well known to bank patrons and had a host of friends.

Republican Headquarters To Open On Main Street In Next Two Weeks

The Knox County Republican Committee will open their campaign headquarters in two weeks time as decided at a meeting held in the Knox County Court House Wednesday night. The new site will be in the premises previously occupied by Gifford's Music Store at 371 Main Street next to the Cross Drug Store.

James McCamant of Thomaston spoke to the assembled members about a workshop refresher course which is being put into operation to school any interested persons in the operation of the up-coming campaign. The course emphasizes techniques in "getting out the vote" and explains the goals and platform of the Republican Party.

NEW HANDBOOK TO GUIDE ROCKLAND HIGH STUDENTS AS FALL TERM OPENS WEDNESDAY

A 32 page Rockland High School Handbook will be issued to each pupil with the start of school. It is the first time that such a book, containing official rules and regulations of the school, has been made up for Rockland High, and students are urged to keep it handy throughout the year for ready reference, as well as taking it home so that parents may become familiar with it.

The book was planned by students, teachers, the principal, and the directors of School Administrative District 5. It contains 10 sections covering all phases of school life and sets forth clearly the standards to which pupils are expected to conform.

Section one has to do with attendance, tardiness, make-up, passes, and the like and other sections take up such things as academic requirements, report cards to parents, the honor roll, the National Honor Society, discipline, boy-girl relationships, and personal conduct in general.

Sections are also devoted to descriptions of the various programs of study, guidance services, and information on college board exams. Still others take up procedures and policies regarding use of the school library, fire drill, school insurance, work permits, and the use of the telephone.

Special sections are devoted to sports and to the 16 clubs and organizations active in the school under the head of outside activities. Such handbooks have been issued before in other schools and are coming into wide use in the larger high schools of the state.

Week Of Beefing Up Faces Tigers

Three tough Tigers indulge in some rugged line play at the Thursday practice session at South Field. The player with his shoulder in the mid-section of the would-be blocker on the right slipped through in spite of the efforts of the player on the ground who hit him too low, and the one on the right who hit too high and was himself blocked out by the hard drive of his opponent.

The Rockland football Tigers will practice Saturday, but will have Monday off, Coach Bob Morrill said Friday. The squad, faced with the opening game against Madison a week from today, has been working hard this week on fundamentals since the scrimmage on Wednesday against Boothbay Region revealed the fact that much work needed to be done on blocking and tackling.

An addition to the squad this week has been Billy Stinson who is a backfield candidate with considerable speed and, what is more important, desire. His chances of at least a part time job in the Tiger offensive unit are considered good.

Coach Morrill, trying to patch up the Rockland frontier, riddled by graduation, has decided on using last year's regular center, Billy Barbour, at an end spot. He has been trying out Bob Fowler on the opposite flank and these two may well be starting against Madison. At tackles, Morrill has been trying virtually all the line candidates in an effort to get the best blocking possible. Billy Karl has been working out at center since Charles Wade suffered the shoulder injury which is apt to sideline him for some time. The squad has been given simple plays thus far with only fundamentals stressed but have in prospect a rugged week after Labor Day when the offensive pattern to be used against the Bulldogs will have to be learned.

"Home Sweet Home" was originally part of an opera, first sung at a performance in London in 1883.

City Resurfacing White Street

The public works department of the City of Rockland is busy tearing up White Street and will resurface the 425 foot stretch of road that runs alongside the Knox Hospital by the end of next week. They will use the new soil cement method in completing the job by mixing the surface material with cement and topping it off with a three inch hard surface. The existing grades are being improved and subterranean drainage installed in the project.

Three Warren Crash Victims Are Improving

All three people injured in the fatal accident in Warren on Wednesday were reported as much improved Friday afternoon. William T. Fairclough, 76, Reading, Mass., whose wife Mabel was killed in the accident seemed better. State Police, as yet, have not been able to obtain his version of the accident, but feel that he must have blacked out when he veered into the wrong lane and collided head on with the Maryland car.

Mrs. Lucille Cross, 48, and Miss Irene Walker, 56, both of Takoma Park, Md., were reported much better and not suffering from any internal injuries.

Mrs. Fairclough who was riding beside her husband when the accident happened was reported as having died instantly from a massive skull fracture by Dr. Hugo Hochschild, medical examiner.

School Bus Regulations Listed By Kinney Who Asks Parents To Urge Observance

Superintendent Bruce Kinney of School District 5 in Rockland, South Thomaston and Owls Head lists the following regulations which will govern the conduct of students using school buses this year.

Kinney asks that parents convey the meaning of these rules, and the importance of following them, to their children prior to the start of the bus schedules next week.

1. All pupils shall be ready in the morning at the usual time for the bus to arrive at their homes or at the "School Bus Stop". The bus cannot wait for those who are tardy.

2. The driver is in full charge of the bus and the pupils. Pupils will obey the driver promptly and cheerfully.

3. Do not stand in the roadway while waiting for the bus.

4. If the driver wishes he may assign seats in the bus and pupils will take the seats assigned.

5. When the bus is in motion, do not stand, extend your arms out of windows, move about, or leave or enter the bus.

6. Damage done to seats or other equipment must be paid for by the pupil.

7. See that your conversation is clean, and never loud or boisterous.

8. Always treat your fellow pupils with courtesy.

9. In leaving the bus remain seated until it stops. If you cross the road, do so in front of the bus after making sure the highway is clear.

10. No pupils will leave the bus without the driver's consent except at home and at school.

11. Please refrain from unnecessary conversation with the driver.

12. Throwing or snatching of hats, caps, books, dinner pails, etc., will not be permitted on the bus.

13. Pupils shall help in keeping the bus clean. Do not throw paper or other refuse on the floor.

14. The right of pupils to ride in the bus is conditioned on their behavior and observance of these rules. Drivers are authorized to enforce these rules and to make other suggestions in line with good citizenship.

15. Always address your bus driver courteously. It is well to speak to him in the morning and bid him good evening when going home at night.

Parents are cautioned not to send pupils to the bus stops too early in the morning because of lack of supervision. Schools cannot accept responsibility for pupils until they are on the bus.

Rockland Pair Held In Norfolk For Vagrancy

The Knox County Sheriff's Department said Friday afternoon that two Rocklanders, a girl of 16, or possibly 17, and a 19 year old boy are being held by police in Norfolk, Va. They were arrested in the Southern city Friday on charges of vagrancy after police determined they had no funds and no visible means of support.

The sheriff's office identified the boy as Arthur Howard Thomas, 19, of Suffolk Street, Rockland. He is on parole from the Men's Reformatory at South Windham. A warrant charging him with failure to report to his probation officer, Harold Webb of Union, was issued before the arrest in Norfolk.

The girl, who comes under the protection of the state's juvenile laws, is understood to have been on parole from the State School for Girls. A missing persons bulletin was issued on her on Aug. 24.

Court action will not occur until Tuesday due to the Saturday closing of local courts and Labor Day on Monday.

Steam Line Break At Green Island Plant Friday

The Fire Department was called to the Green Island Packing Company plant at about 8:30 Friday morning where a nipple on a four inch steam line had let go, filling the packing section with steam. Someone on the outside mistook the steam for smoke and rang an alarm. Clayton Witham, a plant official, said that no one was injured in spite of the fact that the steam was under 125 pounds of pressure. He felt that all concerned were fortunate to escape injury and said the noise of the pipe breaking was "like a bomb". Workers in the building scattered out quickly.

EDITORIAL

LOOK WHAT LOOK DID

The editors of Look by now must feel a little silly over their dropping the State of Maine out of a magnificent, 60 page spread in the national magazine featuring New England. Editors have belabored them in their columns and one, perhaps more, political figures have called their attention to their error.

Much of the history and beauty of New England is here in Maine. All that showed up in the color display was a cartoon on Maine tides. This did mention Maine. However the other spot granted us, a fine winter scene on Dodge Mountain in color by Kosti Ruohomaa showing Alan Bird's cottage next to the Ruohomaa farm in a blizzard wasn't even identified.

Every publisher has days when nothing goes right and everyone seems to have two left hands and thoughts are elsewhere. It seems that the big fellows in the publishing field have extended periods of such things.

Now that that is over with, may we suggest to the editors of Look that Maine is due for a spread and recognition as a part of the United States.

IF YOU DRIVE THIS WEEKEND —
TAKE IT EASY

Officials concerned with such things note that some two million cars will be rolling over New England highways Labor Day weekend. The roads will be crowded. People will be hurrying to get home while others will be in a rush to get to their weekend vacation spot. Somewhere along the line there are going to be tight jams in traffic. Cars will come together and people will die, or at least suffer injuries. All we can offer in the way of advice is — stay off the roads if at all possible. If you must drive, be ready to duck at any time. Outguessing the other fellow, while observing safety rules closely, may let you and your passengers get home in shape to go to work Tuesday. Good luck.

POPULATION GROWTH IS BASIC FORCE IN POLITICAL AND ECONOMIC FUTURE OF WORLD

Population growth is a powerful basic force both here and in the world at large, says The First National Bank of Boston in the September issue of its New England Letter. Continuing, the Bank says, The challenges and problems associated with the number of people, their location changes, age, and occupational shifts offer a topic refreshingly free from political considerations of the moment. A present population of some 180 million represents an increase during the 1950's of 28 million, or nearly three million per year. This largest 10-year gain in our history results from the post-war boom in marriages and births, and continued progress in extending life expectancy. The average annual population increases of the past decade of 1.8 percent has moved close to the 2.1 percent of the 1890's and early 1900's, and compares with 1.4 percent in the 1940's and 7/10th of 1 percent in the 1930's. The addition during the 1950's is equivalent roughly to the 1960 population of the 26 smallest states in the Union—all those having 2.5 million to as much as 40 million based upon varying birthrate assumptions used by the Bureau of the Census in its population projections.

Whereas the net additions to population in the Fifties were primarily in the ages under 15, increases in the Sixties will be heavily concentrated in the young adult group (ages 20-34). Those who will reach these important working, marrying, and independent-buying ages, are already born and their impact upon our colleges, the labor force, housing, and consumer markets can furnish some fairly definite statistics to "conjure with". It goes without saying that mere numbers are no guarantee of economic growth.

All Stars Take
Softball Series
From Legion

ROCKPORT—The Knox Softball League All-Stars trampled the Thomaston Legion 20-1 in the final game of their three game series Thursday night to take the series two games to one. All proceeds of the final two games were donated to the Jimmy Fund.

Roger Barter led the hitters with five for five and both Al Walker and Ken Jacobson belted bases loaded triples for the winners.

The Legion team won the league pennant in the first year of the circuit's operation.

prosperity, and rising living standards but, on the contrary, offer assurance that business, labor, and government will be challenged with many acute problems.

The number reaching the age of 18—the working age for many—in the 1960-65 period will average 2.8 million per year. This will rise by about one third in the second half of the decade to 3.7 million per year. With allowance for a marked increase in the number entering college—where enrollments may increase as much as 92 percent by 1970—and remaining for longer periods to attain advanced degrees, for increased participation of women in the labor force, and for a tendency to earlier retirements, it is estimated that the number in the labor force—ages 14 and over—will increase in the Sixties by 13.5 million of 50 percent more than the gain of the Fifties. This would be equivalent to an average of more than 25,000 new workers each week, with the number somewhat lower in the nearby years, and dramatically higher in 1965 and after. The huge capital requirements implied by such labor force growth are evident, with an estimated average investment now probably upwards of $15,000 to provide one job.

Another facet of this age shift is the changing ratio between the dependent population (under 20 and over 64) and the economically active group (ages 20 to 64). This dependency ratio declined steadily from 1820, when there were 153 dependents to every 100 workers, to 1940 when there were but 70 dependents. The figure has risen to around 90 at present, and could well increase further in the Sixties. This trend poses an additional burden upon our productivity if we are to maintain our level of living.

The Mayan Indians of Yucatan, Honduras and Guatemala have been called the 'Greeks of the New World'. They built stone cities, huge temples and monuments often covering many acres, studied astronomy and mathematics, and developed a calendar more accurate than ours—all before Columbus crossed the Atlantic.

Ray Cross New Golf Champ

NEW CHAMPION AND RUNNER-UP — Ray Cross, right, defeated Doug Heald, left, in the final match Thursday afternoon for the Rockland Golf Club Championship. Cross, who won the match 6 and 5, replaces perennial champion Al Emery who was defeated in an early round this year.

Ray Cross became the Rockland Golf Club's 1960 champion Thursday as he defeated Doug Heald 6 and 5 in the final match. He replaces Al Emery as club champ as the latter lost out in an early round of this year's tourney.

Thursday morning the usual women's tourney was held and the low gross winner in Class

A was Miss Priscilla Staples who had a 91; Mrs. Athleen McRae had the most pars, eight; Mrs. Emery Howard led in the number of birdies with two; and Mrs. Charlotte Staples the least number of putts, 31.

In Class B, Mrs. Barbara Coffin had the best poker hand with Mrs. Virginia Bird, second. Mrs. Betty Axtell finished with the least putts, 16.

PORTABLE BLEACHERS FOR 100 BOUGHT WITH FUNDS DONATED
BY CLASSES OF '55 AND '53

A set of portable bleachers has been purchased by the Rockland High School Athletic Council from a Berwick firm and will be placed at South Field for use during the football season and later placed on the stage at the Community Building to increase seating capacity there. The bleachers, which consist of five tiers 24 feet long, will seat nearly 100. Funds for their purchase were left for use of the school by the classes of 1953 and 1955. They are made by a firm which specializes in the construction of portable bleachers and are of iron and wood construction. They will be in place in time for the Madison game a week from Saturday.

Torpedoes And Redlegs
Start Three Game Playoff
Series Sunday Afternoon

ST. GEORGE — The first game of the final play-off series between the champion St. George Torpedoes and runner-up Damariscotta will be played here Sunday starting at 2 o'clock. The second game is slated for Monday at Damariscotta, at the same hour. The third game, if necessary, will be played at St. George also, probably a week from this Sunday.

A large crowd is expected to view the Sunday affair as St. George has had good attendance all year. In addition, a band concert of an hour's duration has been scheduled, starting at 1 o'clock with the Camden Legion Band performing.

Expected to start on the mound are a pair of left handers, Dave Lowell of St. George and big Red Lazarus of Damariscotta. Lowell, who twice this year has fanned 17 batters in a game, has been erratic on occasion during the latter part of the season but is virtually unbeatable when right. Lazarus has pitched strongly in the late stages and saved the Redlegs in the preliminary play-off against Waldoboro as he came on in relief to throttle the Townies the rest of the way. St. George won the pennant in the closest league race in many years with three of the four teams having a chance up to the final week. Only Thomaston faded in the stretch, while St. George, playing tight baseball, managed to stave off the threats of both Waldoboro and Damariscotta.

Railroads Fight
Airlift Of First Class Mail

Since 1953, the Post Office Department has been transporting four cent letter mail between certain areas of the country on an experimental basis. The air lines have been carrying this mail when and to the extent that space is available.

This has meant that an ever-growing volume of ordinary first-class mail has been delivered to its destination up to 48 hours earlier than would otherwise have been the case. Since business mail comprises about 80 percent of all first-class mail the boon to businessmen is readily apparent. About five million regular first-class letters are now being "airlifted" each day.

This is progress toward the Post Office Department's announced goal of next-day delivery of first-class mail anywhere within the Continental United States.

Realization of this goal will be prevented if a bill, which passed the House of Representatives last July should achieve passage in the Senate and should escape or overcome the Presidential veto. The Cunningham Bill, H. R. 12595 would specifically forbid the transportation of regular first-class mail by air. The basis for this action was alleged loss of revenue to the railroads, a specious argument as the Post Office Department pays the railroads 340 million dollars annually in transportation costs and less than 3 1/2 million dollars annually to the air lines for this service.

Airlifting of first-class mail in New England began in mid-June 1960 giving service for Boston mailers to Cleveland and Chicago. It can be expected that this service will be expanded to include other larger cities in New England if the Department is allowed to continue and expand this service.

The relative shallowness of the Grand Banks is thought to be due, in part, at least, to the earthy material dropped here when the Greenland and Labrador currents meet the warmer waters of the Gulf Stream, melting many icebergs.

Over 60% of the total electric generating capacity of the United States has been installed in the last 10 years.

Pre-Mother's Day sales in department stores are now second in volume only to the Christmas selling season.

Air cargo traffic in the U.S. in 1958 amounted to about 800 million ton-miles 3 1/2 times greater than in 1947.

To those whose hearts are set
On higher things than this life
Doth afford;
How shall their passing leave one
Least regret,
Who go to join their Lord?

New Electronic Fishing Line May Give Deep Sea Fishermen Considerable Aid In Work

Fish everywhere are taking a dim view of a new "electronic fishing line" developed by U. S. Steel's American Steel and Wire Division, which holds promise of bigger catches for commercial fishermen.

The new line, produced at the Wire Division's Electrical Cable Works, at Worcester, Mass., actually is a steel cable carrying electrical conductors which could make it possible for commercial fishermen to use a wide range of electrical and electronic devices to indicate the exact depth of their nets, when the nets are on the bottom, the ground speed of their trawl and the size of their catch.

The cable, designed to make commercial fishing more scientific, is being tested by the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries' exploratory fishing vessel, John N. Cobb, off the Pacific Coast.

Specifically, the new cable, or "warp" as it is known in trawling jargon, can be used with a number of devices to improve yield. A depth telemeter attached to the warp indicates how deep the trawl is fishing, thus permitting crews to lower or raise the nets with pin-point accuracy to snare a catch located beforehand by echo sounding.

Another instrument which can feed information through the new cable is an on-bottom indicator. This signal device is triggered by a spring-loaded switch on the bottom of the trawl door. When the door is closed, because of the pressure of the sea bottom against it, a light burns in the pilot house. If trawling speed is too fast or underwater currents are encountered which affect the functioning of the trawl gear, causing it to rise from the bottom, the trawl door opens. This throws the spring-loaded switch on the door and the light in the pilot house goes out.

Once a concentration of fish has been plotted by echo sounding, it is important to keep the trawl on course and moving at a closely regulated speed. A ground indicator, similar to a speedometer, helps the crew determine progress of the trawl along the sea bottom without reference to wind, current or propeller speed. Impulses from this contact device, transmitted along the cable from sea depths to the crew above, also aid in maneuvering the trawl close to on-bottom contours.

Another advantage in using the cable is that thermometers installed on the warp indicate the temperatures where the nets are fishing. Since fish concentrations may be governed by slight changes in temperature, knowledge of these variations aid crewmen in keeping their trawls in the more heavily fish populated waters.

By means of a device attached near the trawl door, the warp will relay changes in the strain between the net and the door, indicating whether the catch is heavy or light.

And in what may prove to be one of its most important uses, the cable can be equipped with lights, fathoms deep, to attract the fish into the trawl's path. All of this, of course, spells bad news for the fish and good news for the commercial fishing industry and fish enthusiasts.

ROUTE 1 ROAD PROJECT AT BRUNSWICK START OF FOUR LANE ROAD THROUGH TO BATH

The State Highway Commission will open bids Sept. 21 for a highway construction project in Brunswick, another step in the relocation of U. S. Route 1 in that area.

The two projects, to be let under a single contract, call for the construction of a traffic facility at the junction of Maine and Mill (U. S. 1) Streets to allow through traffic on the busy coastal route to cross Maine Street and Water Street without interruption. Structures will be built to carry Maine Street and Water Street over relocated U. S. 1 and ramps will provide full traffic movement between Maine Street, U. S. 1 and adjacent city streets. The project begins at a point just west of Bow Street on Mill (U. S. 1) and extends easterly just under a half mile to the beginning of the project now underway near Stone Street. Plans show that the section of U. S. 1, a four-lane divided highway, will go under Maine Street so that Maine Street will remain at about its present level. A steel and concrete structure with a span of seventy-five feet will carry Maine Street; it will have a roadway width of 76 feet, an 8-foot sidewalk on the west side and a 6-foot sidewalk on the east side. The structure that will carry Water Street consists of two spans for an overall length of 123 feet; it will have a 30-foot roadway and a 5-foot sidewalk on the east side. The contract also includes the paving of Maine Street from the Brunswick-Topsham Bridge southerly to the Maine Central railroad tracks and the rebuilding of city streets adjacent to the overpasses at Maine Street and Water Street.

These projects are the second step of presently programmed construction to build from a point near Bow Street on Mill Street easterly to connect with existing U. S. 1 just east of Cook's Corner.

The ultimate objective is to build a four-lane divided highway from the junction of Pleasant and Mill Streets in Brunswick to a point near the new elevated approach to the Carlton Bridge in Bath.

Big Christmas Tree: In 1948, the Jaycees of Bellingham, Washington, set up a 134 foot community tree—and in 1949, a 153 foot one. The record, however, for tall community trees, seems to go to a Seattle suburb, Northgate, with a 221 footer in 1950. It weighed 25 tons, carried 3,500 colored bulbs, and had a helicopter complete the top decorations.

Fifty-four per cent of the nations 15 million urban families will have incomes over $7,500 this year.

Municipal Court

THURSDAY

There were two cases for traffic violations heard in Rockland Municipal Court Thursday morning. Clifton Loon, 65, of Monmouth pleaded guilty to failing to stop at a stop sign on Elm Street at School Street in Camden, Aug. 28. He paid a fine of $20.

Joel Dwyer, 19, of Camden was charged with driving 45 miles per hour in a 35 mile zone on Elm Street in Camden, Aug. 29. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $15.

FRIDAY

Otis Puchard, 40, of Rockland pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to yield the right of way to a car on U. S. Route 1 near Warren on Aug. 23. He was entering the thoroughfare from the private road of the Northeast Ice Co. and became involved in an accident with Douglas Bowley of Owls Head. Judge Christy Adams levied a fine of $25.

Cecil Cunningham, 20, of Waldoboro was apprehended for driving 40 miles per hour in a 25 mile speed zone on Main Street in Rockland on Sept. 1. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $30.

William Lowe, 15, of Rockland was charged with operating in danger on Route 131 in Mar-tinsville, Aug. 31. He struck a car belonging to Virgil Morse, Jr., of Tenants Harbor and pushed the car from the rear some 62 feet off the road. He pleaded guilty and Judge Adams suspended a fine of $40, taking possession of Lowe's license for 10 days. He also recommended that the state suspend his operator's license for 60 days.

Thomas C. Littlefield, 18, of Thomaston defaulted a charge of imprudent driving on Main Street in Thomaston, Aug. 30. Judge Adams imposed a fine of $10 with an automatic suspension of his license.

A charge of driving a truck without consent of the owner was dismissed against Elmore Allen of Rockland. The prosecution was dropped by the defendant's brother, Wilbert Allen, arising out of an incident in Rockland on July 29.

Rain is a warning signal to a good driver. He realizes that he should cut his speed considerably on wet pavement. He realizes also that rain can play tricks with his vision. The State Police urge us to be especially careful driving during a rainstorm or directly after a storm when pavements are wet and slippery. Then—more than ever—we should SLOW DOWN AND LIVE.

Only one out of four Canadians traveled outside the province in which they resided in 1958.

Works In Many Art Fields

Mrs. Celia Crie Perry stands beside some samples of her work in different fields of art. Next to her is an oil painting and above that a wood print, while she holds a bowl which she made. At the right are samples of her silk screen work, and above these is a water color she did.

Versatile is the word for Celia Crie Perry. She block prints, paints in both oils and watercolors, does ceramics, silk screen designs, and is presently engaged in commercial art.

The youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crie, 11 James Street, she has always shown talent and as early as her freshman year at Rockland High School won a contest for the best drawing in a girl's magazine. Following her graduation in 1955 she went to Westbrook Junior College and the Portland School of Fine Arts. She graduated from Westbrook after two years, attended the art school for three and then graduated from the University of Florida with the degree of Bachelor of Fine Arts in 1959.

However, before all this happened she had married Clifford Perry in 1957 and they have attended the University of Florida in Gainesville. He served four years in the Navy, which explains the fact that he is presently a junior while she has graduated. He is studying electrical engineering and Celia will return to the University for graduate work towards a master's degree. She has been awarded an assistantship in art.

The Opportunity Class of the First Baptist Church met at the home of Mrs. Helen Gregory on Thursday evening. Mrs. Bernice Snow, Mrs. Elizabeth Davis and Miss Alice McIntosh were appointed as a committee to elect officers for the coming year. They will give their report at the October meeting. Mrs. Ada Payson, chairman of the program committee, presented Mrs. Katherine Collins, Miss McIntosh and Mrs. Anna Brazier, who gave readings. During the business meeting, plans were made to hold a covered dish supper at the home of Miss McIntosh, Holiday Beach, Ash Point, Thursday, Sept. 15, at 6 p. m. Members are asked to bring their own dishes and those not solicited are asked to contact Mrs. Brazier or Mrs. Chloe Mills. Following the business session, refreshments were served by hostesses, Mrs. Rose Shaw, Mrs. Pauline Saunders and Mrs. Hattie Richards. The next meeting will be held Thursday, Oct. 6, at the home of Mrs. Angie Kimball at Ingraham's Hill. Hostesses will be Mrs. Marion Lindsey and Mrs. Brazier.

The Catholic Women's Club will hold their first fall meeting in the St. Bernard's Church Hall on Monday, Sept. 4.

Canton Lafayette Auxiliary will hold Guest Officers' Night at the Rockland Odd Fellows Hall, Wednesday evening. Guests will be present from Augusta, Portland, Waterville, Bangor, and Camden. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Weymouth have had as guests at their Norton Pond cottage, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Savage of Chulivota, Fla., and Mrs. Savage's nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Reed Dickinson, of Massachusetts.

and education and will do art and display work as well as study.

All the blockprints she does are originals with her. She first sketches the subject and then traces the design on the block of wood on which she will work. After that she uses various knives and gouging tools to cut the design, after which printer's ink is applied and the wood block is imprinted on paper. She prefers wood as quite often the grain can be worked into the design, thus heightening the effect of the work. She started studying blockprints and making them under James Eliot, a teacher at Portland Art School.

Most of her prints have been of Maine scenes, both around Rockland and Portland and most have something to do with the sea. At Gainesville, which is inland in Florida the absence of the ocean is what she minds the most. "You don't realize how beautiful the Maine coast is until you have been away from it," she says. Her prints have been bought and printed in the Saturday Review of Literature, and she has a steady sale of them to the Massachusetts House Workshop in Maine and to a Gainesville interior decorating store.

Gregorys Feted Wednesday On 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William W. Gregory were guests of honor at a 25th wedding anniversary luncheon held at their home on Center Street Wednesday, Aug. 31. Hostesses for the affair were the Gregory's three daughters, Mrs. Helen Perry and Mrs. Ruth Blethen, both of Rockland, and Mrs. Edna Rollins of Camden. They were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Oxtom of Milton, Mass.

The luncheon, which was served by Miss Joyce Farmer, Miss Becky Bickmore, Miss Janice Blethen, Mrs. Warren Perry and Miss Johanna Blethen, was attended by 70 relatives and neighbors. Mrs. Oxtom finished cutting the anniversary cake. The guest book was circulated by Miss Glenna Rollins, and Miss Nancy Gregory was in charge of the gift table.

Mrs. Gregory's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mignault and family of Essex Junction, Vt., were unable to be present to participate in the celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Gregory were married in Milton, Mass., Aug. 31, 1935.

Today, women in the United States outnumber men 1,000 to 981. In 1910 there were 1,060 males for every 1,000 females.

St. George Engagement

Mrs. Evelyn Wheeler of Danvers, Conn., announces the engagement of her daughter, Miss Jean Evelyn Wheeler, to Earle Lynwood Cushman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynwood Cushman of Port Clyde.

Miss Wheeler attended Killingly High School in Brooklyn, Conn., and Zion Bible Institute in East Providence, R. I.

Mr. Cushman graduated from St. George High School and will graduate from Zion Bible Institute next spring.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Musical Notes

Hugh M. Benner

The Wednesday evening concert at the Camden High School auditorium was a most fitting program to close the summer concert series. It is a pity that more weren't able to share a "once in a lifetime" experience. The concert presented Jeffrey and Ronald Marlowe, duo-pianists. These young, enthusiastic pianists made a fine impression on the patrons.

I'm sure no one expected to find polished musicians, this will come with years of practice and experience—but what they lack in "polish" was made up by their sincerity, and undaunted will power.

Included in the audience were five very proud persons. Namely Mr. and Mrs. George Marlowe, their parents; and their three instructors, Mrs. Eleanor Sokoloff, and Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Luboshutz. These three have through 17 years brought out the best of these two fine musicians.

A new system locally was tried out at this concert, the pianists being in the center of the hall, and the audience seated "in the round". It gave the audience a wonderful close-up of the pianists but it certainly be realized that a lot was lost by having the pianos with no back-drop or stage to help the acoustical effect.

The twins have already acquired a stage presence that many seasoned musicians never acquire. I'm sure that most everyone present will agree that these two have what it takes to become top-notch artists, and not too many years hence many of us will look back on this evening with pride, that in Camden, these two made their debut into the professional musical world.

They presented a very colorful program, opening with Handel's Passacaglia—then presenting Mozart's Sonata in F Major. This was followed by Saint Saens "Scherzo" which to this writer was perhaps the highlight of the evening—it was a flawless presentation.

Following intermission they opened with Debussy's "En blanc et noir", and closed with the eminent American composer-pianist, Abram Chasin's arrangement of Strauss' familiar waltz for two pianos, "The Blue Danube."

Once again proving what youth can do, after presenting this outstanding program, they returned for five encores, two outstanding ones being Arthur Benjamin's "Jamaican Rumba" and "Yankee Doodle" played in the Gershwin fashion.

In talking with Mr. Marlowe after the concert, he told me that in the three summers the twins have been coming to Camden, they feel Camden is their second home. I'm sure that Camden and Knox County will always welcome the Marlowe twins, and we all hope to again hear them in concert a few years hence.

Libbey Family Band To Play At Thomaston

THOMASTON — The Libbey Family Band of El Monte, Calif., will present an Evangelistic Band Concert at the Thomaston Assembly of God Church Tuesday, Sept. 6, at 7:30 p. m. The Libbey family consists of nine members of one family, each playing a different instrument.

A special attraction will be two trumpets with two distinct parts played by one member at one time. Other features will include numbers by a brass band, a stringed instrumental group, a male quartet and ladies, trio.

There will be a Bible message. Everyone is welcome to attend.

The Maine Highway Safety Committee reminds us that "following too closely" is a leading cause of traffic accidents. They advise us to "keep our distance"—to avoid bumper-riding.

How mankind today can set about fulfilling the divine demand for perfection will be explained at Christian Science Services Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Man" is the Golden Text from Matthew (5:48): "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect."

These comforting words of encouragement from James will be included in the Bible readings (1:2-4): "My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations; Knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience. But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing."

Among correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy this will be read: "The divine demand, 'Be ye therefore perfect', is scientific, and the human footsteps leading to perfection are indispensable (253:32-2). God requires perfection, but not until the battle between Spirit and flesh is fought and the victory won" (254:6-8).

Sunday services and Sunday School are both at 10:30 a. m. and the Wednesday evening service is at 7:30.

Plain Courtesy May Be Answer To Road Problems

"An aggressively independent attitude on the part of a driver is almost certain to lead him into an accident eventually," the State Police observed today.

The enforcement group pointed out that each driver must share the road with other drivers, bike riders, and pedestrians and that, if he is too insistent upon his rights or if he drives with a chip on his shoulder most of the time, he is inviting serious trouble.

"Make courtesy your code of the road," they urged. "You'll discover that you will be much more relaxed when your trip is over, and you'll have a much better time en route. It may surprise you, also, to discover," they added, "that other drivers will return your courtesy almost every time."

"The application of common courtesy to traffic situations," they concluded, "will make driving much more pleasant and will prevent many accidents."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Genesis	28	15
Monday	Psalms	139	7-10
Tuesday	Philippians	2	3-8
Wednesday	Matthew	7	7-8
Thursday	Romans	8	27-29
Friday	Psalms	5	7-8
Saturday	John	14	1-4

A familiar sight . . . men with briefcases daily throng airports all over the nation, winging their way from one place to another. But where, really, are they going?

In this busy age of appointments, rush hours, and summit meetings, we search for success, for more money, for a better future, for a variety of things. Yet, like so many mid-twentieth century Americans, the harder we seek the less we find.

We need a job, a purpose, a home, a family. But also, we need a church. We need to go into that church to reaffirm our faith both in God and in our fellow beings. Only then does our quest — and our ultimate destination — begin to make sense.

By R. WALDO TYLER

Replies to the "Marsh Mary" article continue to arrive and I had no idea this salty little plant was such a favorite.

Mrs. Hattie Jackson of Rockland (better known in this locality as "Gram") sends word by her granddaughter Mrs. William Robinson of South Thomaston, that the stem or root of the plant (when chewed) is a sure cure for canker.

I had been told earlier that Marsh Rosemary (as we may as well conclude is one of its several correct names) was a highly medicinal and widely used remedy for various human ills dating from New England's earliest settlers and very likely discovered helpful by the Indians even before that.

None of my flower books seemed to list it, leading me to believe it was possibly not a widely known plant or was native only to seashore localities where its true identity was obscured in a confusion of nicknames cognate with its usefulness and along comes a card from Mrs. Paul Hennessey of Martinsville, stating that Mathew's Field Guide of New England Wildflowers lists our controversial "little Mary" as both Marsh Rosemary and Sea Lavender—that it spreads by seed only (and really more important) that New England Wildflower Preservation Inc., lists it among its rare native flowers that should not be picked. (Which is a big surprise to me considering its bountiful distribution in Knox County.)

I have particularly noticed that several of the smaller and more verdant islands along Knox County's coast are literally ringed with a circle of Rosemarys around average hightide mark—and I have selected a few unusually robust plants (presently going to seed) from which to obtain new seed to replace several dying out patches I know of.

This week I am pleased to present another very interesting and lovely inhabitant of the Weskeag Marsh (and likely other such salty places around the county).

This is a feathery grass which is not too abundant and seems to flourish best along the banks of dikes and pot-holes where tide water frequently over-runs its roots—although this is not a rule.

Its patches are scattered widely over the vast marsh area of several hundred acres. Scattered is a single stand of this grass larger than an average kitchen floor, and when uncumbered by other less supple growing plants, the seed heads of this grass (somewhat resembling oats, only smaller) respond like waves of the sea to the varying breezes across the marsh.

The photo accompanying this article was a small isolated patch on the Carl Ross bank of the river which best shows the plant stems and feathered, always nodding seed heads, that at full maturity are straw colored, glossy and rarely ever over 15 inches tall.

Can anyone give me the correct name of this lovely grass?

Some "waggish" reader who knows the Mussel Ridge writes: "Anyone with both eyes open couldn't go around Little Green Island without seeing the boat the lad and his mother must have landed with."

This snide remark refers to an incident of a bath taken under trying conditions on a recent August day. Strange as it may seem, I did have both eyes open and there was no boat on the island except mine all the while I was there—yet there were the "lad and his mother" there all the while.

The sequel, (since verified) goes like this: The "lad and his mother" were the family of a lobsterman from the mainland, and on that delightful August morning it had been decided he would take them to Little Green, where they would prepare a "hot-dog and roast corn" lunch, while he tended his traps—returning later to eat lunch with them and finally take them ashore.

It is obvious both "mother and son" saw me when I landed, or soon thereafter.

"Did I understand you have seen dogfish this summer nearly four feet long?" asks a skeptical friend recently. Yes, frequently. The western bay has, at times, swarmed with these notorious predators often termed "sand sharks" (actually the "spiny dogfish.")

I once caught 125 of these "sand-papery" critters and placed them in Jack Mitchell's bait-barrel—he never forgave me for it either, for they are useless as bait for anything else I know of.

Wise Fishermen's Encyclopedia, explains the female "spiny" (which bear young like a mammal) sometimes attain a weight of 20 pounds (estimated length five feet).

Why are they called "spiny?" Next week I'll show you a picture that will solve that question.

Hostesses were Mrs. Muriel Welt, Mrs. Carolyn Sims and Mrs. Richards. The next meeting will be Sept. 14 at the home of Mrs. Alice Welt in Camden. Hostesses will be Mrs. Dorothy McPeters, Mrs. Ethel Peers and Mrs. Dorothy Sprague. The flower committee for the Sunday services at the Methodist Church will be Mrs. Dorothy Crockett, Mrs. Fay Doucette and Miss Elizabeth Doucette.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Richards and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carroll have returned home from a trip to Gaspe, Quebec.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Grey have been Mr. and Mrs. George Coughlin of Waltham, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Anderson and children, Mary Ann and Dennis, of Kansas, and Carl Anderson of Nebraska.

Twin Town Cadets Junior Drum and Bugle Corps of Camden and Rockport will give an exhibition at Blue Hill Fair, Sunday.

Johnson Society met Wednesday for an all day meeting at the home of Miss Marion Weidman. Picnic lunch was held at noon. Members tackled a quilt.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kaler entertained the Crockett family at a cocktail Wednesday evening at their home at Pen-Bay Acres, Rockland. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Vere B. Crockett of Camden, Mrs. Clarence Carr, Mrs. Ruby Hoffes, Clinton Kaler and Nancy, Dickie and Teddy Kaler of Rockland, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Crockett, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Crockett, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crockett and daughter Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Crockett, all of Rockport. After the cocktail colored slides were shown by Harold Kaler.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Howe of Camden were guests Wednesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carver.

A Town Meeting That Never Ends

The New England Council:
Stimulant of A Region

"We are on the threshold of more effective law enforcement practices in the New England states through further interstate co-operation on the part of all six state police commissioners," says William H. Baumann, Vermont Commissioner of Public Safety and chairman of the N.E. State Police Administrators Conference.

A determined stand has been taken in Washington in the interest of New England because of the government's policy on residual oil restrictions which, if continued, will cost oil users in the region an additional $10,000,000 a year in operating expenses.

A new vacation center has been opened in New York's Rockefeller Plaza where every month thousands of Americans inquire about and plan trips to New England.

These are just some results of New England Council effort in the last few months.

But what, precisely, is The New England Council?

Good question. While there are few who haven't heard of it, there are many unimpressed of its functions. The question cannot be answered in one sentence. Had the United States been settled from West to East, New England — which could fit inside several other states — would probably have been settled as one state.

We can be thankful this didn't happen — but — of course — six states in such a small geographic area present certain economic problems which require united action on a regional scale.

Formed by Governors

The New England Council was established by the six New England governors 35 years ago. This completely regional organization has three main objectives: to represent New England in Washington on matters that are of particular significance to the region; to encourage continued and expanded co-operation among all departments of government within our six states and to promote, both within and without the region, every facet of the New England economy.

Interstate Operations

A striking example of the Council's role as a co-ordinating agency was its promotion this year of a conference of top State Police officials of the six-state area. It resulted in establishment of the New England State Police Administrators Conference which has initiated a four-way study into the problems of training, an effective exchange of intelligence information, improved methods of arson investigation and study of uniform speed limits and traffic laws for all six states. Another outstanding example is the Council's role in the opening of the New England Vacation Center in New York's Rockefeller Plaza. Like the Boston headquarters, it is truly a New England embassy. Thousands of Americans and tourists of all nations write, call or visit the New England Vacation Center every month.

Departmental Activity

The Council carries out its aims through a number of departments, the heads of which are specialists in their fields. The NEC activities include transportation, industrial development, manufacturing, fuel, energy, tax and fiscal matters, natural resources, interstate relations, industry aids to education and vacation travel.

News Bureau

The Council also maintains its own news bureau and public relations department which deals with all media on a nationwide basis and is constantly receiving and fulfilling assignments for New England stories used by the news services, regional and national press, radio and television and for the Voice of America as well as the nation's magazines and network outlets.

The Council publishes its own magazine, The New Englander, which is a readable mirror of business happenings in the six-state area. Widely quoted, it goes to more than 13,000 subscribers.

Works with 40 Congressmen

The New England Council, with general offices in Boston, is composed of six individual state councils. It is under the guidance of a 108-member board of directors, 18 from each of the six states.

In Washington, experienced staff members work constantly against discriminatory regional legislation and taxation. They fight the New Englanders' battle for passage of beneficial legislation. They work very closely with all 40 New England congressmen.

Non Political

Untrammelled by political alliances, the Council, with the knowledge and complete co-operation of the six New England governors, crosses state borders to seek, study, recommend and promote areas in which individual state activities may be consolidated on a regional basis.

The focal point for action on the region's problems and ambitions, the Council is the spokesman, stimulant, salesman and publicist of the six-state area.

The need for promotion is clearly apparent in a glance at New England's billion-dollar vacation-travel industry, now facing the fiercest kind of competition. Other areas — Europe, Florida, the West Coast, for example — frankly covet it and are determined to siphon off as much tourist trade as possible.

Over 3000 Members

The non-partisan, non-political and privately supported NEC representing industry, labor, finance, and services is doing its best to see that New England is not out-promoted, out-developed, or out-manuevered by other states, regions and interests.

The Council, financed solely by more than 3000 members, serves every New Englander because it serves the region. Never was there a greater need for The New England Council than there is today — as we face the challenging Sixties.

NOTES OF A POULTRYMAN

By Henry Teague

At long last the prices on eggs to farmers have improved enough so that for a temporary period at least there are few if any loss operations. But there is little confidence among the producers themselves that this profit period will last even for a year.

Lots of cheery words are written and spoken by those connected with the industry who enjoy regular pay checks, but there is very little evidence of any sound and lasting programs being developed.

In the first place the housewives of this country have been accustomed to low prices on eggs for so long, that it is going to be very difficult to educate them differently. Naturally they are not interested in the technical aspects of the situation. They do not realize that for most of the last two years, farmers have been selling at a loss and only now have eggs reached price levels that give the farmer a reasonable profit.

In the past 10 to 12 years, egg prices have gone much higher than they are now as early fall approaches. In relation to the prices on most other commodities, eggs should certainly be selling at close to $1 a dozen in the stores right now. That would be at least a pound and a half of eggs for a dollar. Certainly that would be a reasonable price for a pound and a half of one of the best foods known to man.

But the housewives are not to blame for the low prices on eggs. Any product that stays in surplus over a long period of time has to be disposed of if it is perishable.

The poultrymen themselves could make the adjustment, theoretically at least. But the vast number of poultrymen in this country seem to make it impossible to create a successful organized effort to institute a program of controls on production. Eggs roll into the markets of every state by the billions from the three million or more flocks. Low prices for a long period force and scare out many flock owners, but the minute it is clear that a period of good prices is ahead, many of these farmers fill up their pens and away we go down the drain again.

As far as I know there is no active effort on the part of the poultrymen at the present time to work out some sort of a plan to help avoid these depression periods. It has long since become quite evident that no one has a satisfactory answer.

Today, the farmer who has made a definite decision to go out of the hen business is probably a lot happier than those who are trying to stick it out. Quite a number of Maine farmers have made that decision, but in many instances, other farmers, feed companies and other enterprisers have come along to fill up the vacant buildings. It looks now as though egg prices would stay up pretty well this fall, but one still has to watch out for a late September slump such as we have had the past three years.

At the present time it is reported that the Boston egg market is nervous which indicates that egg buyers are watching the situation very closely and keeping their inventories down.

The only thing we can hope for is that eggs will stay scarce enough for the next few months so that prices will not be pushed down.

State Master Maynard Dolloff presents the keys to Meenahga Grange Hall to Mrs. Josephine Geele, acting master, as Master Frank Sheffield looks on.

Meenahga Grange Mortgage Paid Off

WALDOBORO — State Master Maynard Dolloff conducted an impressive ceremony for the dedication of Meenahga Grange Hall at a public meeting Monday evening at Waldoboro. He was assisted by the regular officers of the Grange with Past Master Josephine Geele as dedication master.

The 30 by 60 building was constructed in 1955 and was first occupied by the Meenahga Grange on Sept. 19, 1955. Within the five year period, the $10,000 mortgage has been paid.

The modern building has a dining room and kitchen located on the ground floor with the second floor used for meetings and entertainments. The walls are done in pastel green with natural finish floors.

Frank Sheffield was master of the Grange in 1955, as he is at this time.

At the close of the ceremony, Lecturer Minnie Vannah presented a program consisting of songs, readings and introduction of state officers and recognition of state deputies and past deputies by State Master Dolloff; remarks by State Master Dolloff and benediction by State Chaplain Royal Brown.

More than 100 persons attended representing the following Granges; Gray, Cobboscontee, Owls Head, Albion, Capitol, Cape Elizabeth, Manchester, Sheepscot Valley, Woolwich, Progressive, Maple, Hunkton Hill, Nobleboro, Sidney, Pleasant River, Westcustogo, Willow, Benton, Somerset, East Blue Hill, Bunker Hill, Capital and Windsor.

A double tiered cake, especially decorated for the occasion, was cut and served by Mrs. Marguerite Hilton and Mrs. Viola Kuhn, Home Economics Committee, at the close of the meeting. Cookies, cake, sandwiches, punch and coffee were also served.

Clothing Care Circular Now Available Free

ORONO — Extension Service Circular 354 gives Maine homemakers tips on clothing care. It's available to Maine residents without charge.

Circular 354 is entitled "For Clues to Clothing Care — Read Your Fiber Label". The circular may be obtained from home demonstration agents at local offices of the Extension Service. Copies are also available by writing the Bulletin Office, Cooperative Extension Service, University of Maine, Orono.

The new Extension circular gives the family and trades names of various fibers in clothing. It then lists suggestions for general care and specific needs.

For instance, for silk and wool the circular suggests that cool temperatures in washing and pressing prevent yellowing. Under specific needs, the circular suggests that to prevent matting of wool, one should use low agitation in the washing machine and avoid rubbing when wet.

Circular 354 was compiled for use in Maine by Jean M. Spearin, clothing specialist, Cooperative Extension Service, University of Maine.

Planting Trees And Shrubs Too Deep Is Costly

Planting Trees And Shrubs Too Deep A Costly Error

A scientist offers this tip to home owners who plant or transplant trees and shrubs this fall: Don't plant them too deep.

Dr. Philip L. Rusden, pathologist of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories, says over-deep planting accounts for a very high percentage of loss of transplants. Such loss, he estimates, runs into thousands of dollars especially in new communities.

"This tendency to sink shrubs below their crowns or to plant trees below the soil-line mark on the trunk is becoming increasingly evident every year," according to Dr. Rusden.

The transplants may appear well for a week or two. Then gradually there's a loss of foliage. Twigs and branches die back. In a few months the trees and shrubs are in grave trouble. Many die.

Suffocation and drowning of roots often result from "burial" during transplanting.

Best guide when planting is to observe the soil-line mark left on a tree or shrub when it was in its old location. Make allowances for the soil to settle when the tree is established in its new location.

Evergreen Pruning An Important Fall Chore

It's still not too late to prune back evergreens that have flung up wayward branches and put on heavy growth this season. Autumn pruning, says Roy C. Beckwith of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories, will restore symmetry, keep evergreens within bounds and permit these plantings to develop sufficient buds for good growth next year.

Arbutus, yew, juniper, some of the hollies, chamaecyparis, even hemlock have ability to produce new buds along their branches. On the other hand, pine, spruce and fir, once cut back, must produce new growth from existing buds at the ends of twigs. Excess pine and spruce branches can be removed at any time.

Some of the smaller evergreens, such as Japanese yew and pfitzer juniper, are vigorous growers and require regular pruning to keep within limits. Yews need unusually severe pruning to develop compact bushy plants.

There are several references to migrations of birds in the Bible—Job 2:36 says: "Doth the hawk fly by thy wisdom and stretch her wings toward the south? Also, Jeremiah 8:7 and the flight of quail that saved the Israelites from starvation in the desert.

THE GRANGE CORNER

OCEAN VIEW GRANGE

By Nancy Link

Ocean View Grange of Martinsville held its first meeting after the summer recess on Aug. 29 with 22 member present. Brian Routledge, master, presided. Substituting for absent officers were Miss Marilyn Wiley, Richard Wall and John Morse. Lecturer Virginia Fay gave a report of her recent trip to Orono where she attended the New England Lecturers' Conference, accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Irma Anderson, lecturer at Owls Head Grange. They enjoyed a side trip to Dow Air Force Base during the Conference. The Nickel March was played by Mrs. Barbara Hupper and won by Ted Stimpson.

During the business meeting letters of thanks were read from the Port Clyde Library for the use of the hall during the summer; from Mrs. Joyce Patterson for a rose when she was a patient at Knox Hospital; from Bertha Jones for birthday cards sent to her at Brunswick; and from Rev. Thurber Weller of the Ridge Baptist Church who has been ill.

A rising vote of thanks was given to the redecorating committee who has worked very hard this summer under the chairmanship of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Watts. A card will be sent to Rev. John Sawyer of Martinsville who is hospitalized. A check was received from Ethel Pierce of Liverpool, England, a member of the Earnest Grangers Club, for the Furnace Fund. The next regular meeting will be held Monday, Sept. 12.

WARREN JUVENILE GRANGE

By Luella Crockett

Warren Juvenile Grange will resume meetings, Sept. 6, after the summer recess. Mrs. June Starrett will be the new matron, succeeding Miss Gerry Griffin. Juvenile members who are entering the baking contest, must have their products at the Grange Hall Tuesday evening for judging in conjunction with the Subordinate Contest.

MT. PLEASANT GRANGE

The Knox Pomona Grange will meet with Mt. Pleasant Grange at West Rockport at 8 p. m. Wednesday, Sept. 7.

Mt. Pleasant Grange members, who have not already been solicited kindly bring sandwiches for smoke and rang an alarm.

WARREN GRANGE

By Nancy Benner

The Warren Juvenile Grange graduation was held during the program hour of the Grange Tuesday evening. In the graduating class were Miss Ingrid Griffin, Miss Judy Williams, Miss Sheila Parreault, Barrie and Larry Jenkins and Charles Stimpson, III.

Other numbers on the program: Piano solos, Raymond Jenkins; group singing by the young people; short quizzes, Lewis Gordon; reading, "House By The Tracks", Lucy Stimpson; song, "That Good Grange Spirit", Juveniles.

Two additional applications for membership were received during the business meeting.

Mrs. June Starrett was appointed Juvenile Matron to succeed Miss Geraldine Griffin who will be attending school in Massachusetts this fall. Mrs. Starrett has selected as her assistants, Mrs. Doris Jenkins and Miss Ingrid Griffin and Miss Judy Williams.

Entries in the annual baking contest will be judged at the hall next Tuesday evening.

There will be initiation of two candidates at our next meeting.

Togus Veterans Guests of Red Cross Thursday

HOPE — The Knox County Chapter, American Red Cross, sponsored an off station picnic for a group of 30 veterans from the Veterans Hospital at Togus, Thursday, Aug. 20, at Beaver Lodge, Alford Lake, through the courtesy of the Knox County Fish and Game Association.

The men arrived by bus at 10 a. m. and were served coffee and doughnuts by the Red Cross Gray Ladies and Gray Men and members of the Beaverettes. Food for the dinner at noon was donated by friends of the Red Cross and served by the same group.

A program was put on by the Swinging Beavers and the Veterans participated in group singing. The men enjoyed the lovely location of the lodge and the opportunity of sitting on the porch and walking around the grounds. After being served ice cream at 3 p. m. they returned to Togus.

Fully Disabled Vets Get Extra Help From V. A.

TOGUS — Severely disabled veterans may be eligible for an increased rate of compensation as the result of a recent action of Congress.

Dr. Joseph Weltman, manager of the Veterans Administration Center, Togus, explains that the new law provides a special rate of monthly compensation amounting to $265 for veterans with service-connected total disabilities who also have service-connected disabilities independently ratable at 60 percent or more or who are permanently house-bound because of their service-connected disabilities.

The law also provides a special monthly compensation rate of $212 in cases where the total service-connected disability was incurred in peacetime service. Neither age nor employability are considered in determining eligibility for the new special rates of compensation.

A veteran is considered to be "permanently house-bound" if he is confined for the most part to his house or immediate premises due to his service-connected disability and if the disablement is reasonably certain to remain throughout the veteran's life.
