This heavy dump truck carried an Augusta father of five to his death on Route 235 in Union Wednesday afternoon. The impact against the tree completely emptied three yards of gravel from the body. The engine was moved back into the cab and the transmission was knocked from under the truck. Rescue workers were still trying to extricate the body of John B. Gagnon, 30, when this picture was taken.

Construction Worker Killed In Union Crash

UNION—An Augusta father of five was killed instantly about 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, when a heavily loaded dump truck he was driving smashed into a tree and caught fire on Route 235 about one and one half miles from Union Village. State Police said John B. Gagnon, 30, of RFD 2, Augusta, probably was dead before the truck burst into flame. Gagnon's body was pinned in the wreckage.

Gagnon, a former Augusta police officer, was driving a load estimated at three yards of gravel from a pit in North Warren owned by Chester Wallace to a highway construction job in Union. The truck was owned by the Ross Construction Company, the firm building the Route 17 by-pass at Union.

Trooper Arthur Wood said Gagnon was rounding a left-hand curve near the Alex Tavi farm when the truck went out of control and smashed into a tree on the right of the road. It burst into flames and Union firemen were called.

After the blaze was extinguished, the body was found.

Vinalhaven First School District In Maine To Float Bonds Out Of State

School Administrative District 8, which consists of Vinalhaven alone, becomes the third of the 16 school districts in the state to have a bond issue floated following the Maine Supreme Court decision in June which opened the way for financing by the districts.

Vinalhaven is also the first district to obtain backing from an out of state source as the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company underwrote the $70,000 bond issue which comprised 70 bonds at $1,000 each. Mrs. Olga Carleton, chairman of the Vinalhaven district board, said that the agreement with the Boston institution was entered into about two weeks ago. She said the bonds were due to go up for sale next Tuesday, Sept. 20.

The only other school districts to obtain financing thus far have been Presque Isle, Farmington, both of whom obtained their backing through Maine sources, according to Superintendent Bruce Kinney of School District 5. District 5, which includes Rockland, Owls Head, and South Thomaston, may well be the fourth to float bonds as it is understood that preliminaries preparatory to seeking a bond issue are about completed.

Information Regarding Odors In Northend To Be Presented To October Knox Grand Jury

Information in a report from a team of sanitary engineers will be submitted to the October Knox County Grand Jury for its consideration of a complaint that a fish processing plant in the Northend of Rockland is creating a nuisance from odors, County Attorney Curtis Payson revealed, Tuesday. Payson received a criminal complaint signed by 300 persons who live or work in the Northend who asserted the odors were nauseous and made people ill.

The county attorney said he would not necessarily press for an indictment but said he would present the report and all the facts in his possession for consideration of the panel.

Contents of the report returned by Health and Welfare Commissioner Dean Fisher were not revealed. The team came to Rockland about two weeks after Payson received the complaint Aug. 5. The report was received this week.

The complaint did not name a specific firm. It simply alleged that odors given off by a fish processing plant near the Lime Company plant was to blame. There are two processing plants and a fish wholesale plant in that area.

Camden Police Led On 90 MPH Chase In Storm

CAMDEN — At the height of Hurricane Donna, Monday night, Camden police were led on a 90 mile an hour chase up leaf and limb littered High Street in pursuit of a speeder. Apprehended on the outskirts of Camden were Perry W. Barnard, 20, of Rockland, the driver, and Richard H. Dearborn, 19, of Rockland, a passenger.

In Rockland Municipal Court, Tuesday, Barnard was charged with reckless driving and illegal possession of alcohol and Dearborn also was charged with illegal possession.

Barnard's attorney filed a motion that the reckless driving charge against his client be changed to speeding, and the motion was accepted by Judge Christy Adams. Barnard was found guilty and paid a fine of $30 for speeding and a fine of $20 for the illegal possession of alcohol. The charge of illegal possession against Dearborn was dropped at the request of County Attorney Curtis Payson.

Officers Clifford Stinson and Wendell Payson told the court they first noticed the car at the intersection of Central and High Streets and although they chased it at more than 90 miles an hour they seemed to be losing ground and radioed headquarters to have a roadblock set up. However, the car slowed down when it reached the city limits and the patrol car was able to overtake it.

Six bottles of beer were found in the car.

Drive For $30,000 To Cover Deficit Opened By KCGH

The annual drive for deficit funds for the support of Knox County General Hospital got underway Wednesday evening, Sept. 14. Some 40 volunteers met for dinner in the hospital dining room to complete plans and to accept assignments for raising the $30,000 that will enable the hospital to continue its operation.

"This loss," says Seth Low, president of the Board of Trustees, "is caused largely by the failure of the State of Maine to pay the full cost for the care of State Aid patients. The State reimburses the hospital for only one third the cost for daily patient care."

Chesapeake is the largest bay in the United States, covering 3,237 square miles.

Hurricane Donna's Damage In Coastal Area Widespread But Light Due To Well Planned Precautionary Measures

Peter K. Reed, Jr., works unconcerned about the lack of a roof over his head. Wind took half the roof from the 100-year-old building at P. K. Reed and Sons wharf, Owls Head.

Cold Cash Is Break Loot

Thieves absconded with $72, part of which was cold cash, from the Log Cabin Lunch on Main Street Tuesday night. Some of the loot was lifted from a refrigerator in which money was kept. The cash register was also rifled and Rockland police are carrying out the investigation.

Roy Estes, proprietor-partner of the Log Cabin Lunch reported the loss to the police department early Wednesday morning.

Damage from a much lighter than expected hurricane Donna Monday night was mostly confined to fallen trees and branches which fell across power lines causing widespread temporary electrical failures in Knox County. The most seriously hit building was that of P. K. Reed and Son at Owls Head where the roof was torn off by the high wind. County and municipal officials were crediting the preparatory actions taken throughout the county in keeping losses down to a bare minimum. The eye of the hurricane passed several miles north of Knox County shortly after nine o'clock. Fortunately, high tides had subsided three hours before the storm struck and there was no report of flooding in the area.

Pete Reed's fish wharf in Owls Head Village sustained the heaviest loss from the Monday night storm of any building in the area. The roof of the entire southern side of the wharf building was stripped off by the wind about 10 p. m. and blown 200 yards away to near the Watkinson lobster pound. The building measures 60 by 40 feet.

Two youths, Peter Ross and Charles Roberts saw the wind strip the roof from the building during an unusually heavy gust of wind. They reported the incident to Peter Reed, Jr., Owls Head's assistant fire chief who is in the wholesale and retail fish and lobster business with his father.

Tuesday morning, the Reeds were making provisions for replacing the roof and were carrying on business as usual with his father.

more than half the building open to the skies. Loss was estimated at $3,000.

The wharf building is 100 years old, having been constructed as a stone cutters tool shed on Dix Island in 1860 when the granite industry was booming in Penobscot Bay. In 1904, it was dismantled and moved to Owls Head by M. T. Jameson and set up in its present location as a fish wharf. Reed bought it in 1933.

Wind Whipped Fire Razes Former Dance Hall

Raging flames driven by the tail end of Hurricane Donna consume the remains of the former Breezeemere Dance Hall in Lincolnville Center. The long building was flattened in a matter of minutes early Tuesday morning while firemen could only stand by and prevent spread to other buildings.

LINCOLNVILLE—Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the Breezeemere Dance Hall at Lincolnville early Tuesday morning. Loss was estimated at $6,000 by owner Fred Grey who had in recent years used the structure for a wood working shop, office, and storage place for lumber. He lost everything including power saws and other wood working tools and a substantial stock of lumber. He said it was partially covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Bertram Eugley, wife of Lincolnville's Fire Chief, who lives across Route 137 from the dance hall, at about 2:30. However the still strong winds of Hurricane Donna quickly fanned the flames out of control and the Lincolnville and Camden fire departments confined themselves to preventing wind-blown sparks from igniting roofs of the houses across the road.

The fire was discovered about 2:30 a. m. and within 15 minutes the roof had caved in. By 3 o'clock only two studs remained standing. The hardwood dance floor supported the flaming remains and firemen stood by for hours.

The 150 by 50 foot structure was built on the shore of Norton's Pond in 1935 and for many years was a popular dance hall. It was later used for roller skating also and was last used for dances about 10 years ago. Fire Chief Eugley said that he went past the building at 1 o'clock that morning and saw nothing wrong. He was at a loss to explain the cause of the fire.

Grey, who employs five men, had a radial saw, arbor saw, band saw, planer, and molding machine in the building along with hand tools.

A Lincolnville fire truck was stationed at each of the houses across the street, directly in the path of showering sparks. Chief target of the sparks was the home of Albert Horton but no blaze broke out. Surprisingly, the ground had dried out considerably from the earlier rain. The Camden truck with a crew stood by at the highway in case a wind shift should threaten buildings on the same side of the road as the dance hall.

By the time the fire broke out, the sky was clear and a bright moon bathed the scene.

AREA SCHOOLS AND PEOPLE SELL SUBSCRIPTIONS TOO

They may be legitimate but at least one story cropping up this week in a "heart rending" plea for a subscription to a magazine was as phony as a three dollar bill. A young female appeared at a home and had the lady of the house believing her story until she talked herself into a corner from which no amount of continued stories could free her. She was the daughter of an impoverished professor at the University of Maine. The family was an unusually large one and she was trying to earn enough money with subscription sales to pay her expenses at the University which she was to enter this fall. Oh yes, she was a graduate of Rockland High School last June. Between the lady who was being subjected to the super sales pitch and her sister who graduated from Rockland High in June they tripped the sales girl completely. She couldn't name the chemistry teacher at the high school and when two names of other teachers were suggested she picked one who teaches another subject. She didn't know what town the University was in and even asked how to spell Orono when told the University was located there.

Take the yarn for what it is worth. However, may we remind people of the area that several high schools in the Coastal Area depend on their magazine subscription drives to finance a good part of the school's extra-curricular activities. They have long been satisfactory and have served the schools well. Also, there are several individuals who reside in the area who conduct magazine subscription businesses for a living. Either can serve you, minus the phony sales pitch, and you will be assured of getting what you order.

Rockland Knuckles Down To Serious Practice For Skowhegan Indians Game

The Rockland Tigers got down to serious business Tuesday in preparation for the Skowhegan game here at South Field Saturday. They went through a long, hard hitting scrimmage session in which blocking was emphasized. The Monday hurricane kept the squad indoors and Coach Bob Morrill intends hard scrimmages through Thursday to correct mistakes of the opener against Madison.

The only injury of any seriousness suffered by the team in the Madison game was a bruised chest suffered by Wes Nichols who showed well last week. He will be kept out of contact this week but will be ready to go again against the Indians, who will be playing their first game of the year.

The previous plan to shift last year's center, tri-captain Bill Barbour, to an end spot has ended as it became evident against Madison that he is more useful in his old center spot. Probably going to end will be Sandy Ames who looked good at the position in the second half against Madison. It is also possible that the aggressive Charlie Finley will also be shifted to one of the flanks in an attempt to beef up the line which was badly manhandled by Madison Saturday, at least in the first half.

The entire Skowhegan team watched the Rockland-Madison game with interest as they play both later. The Indians are expected to be as good as Madison, but it is hoped that the Tigers counter this with a much improved showing, hints of which they gave in the second half last Saturday after getting rid of opening game jitters.

BRIEF COUNCIL SESSION GIVES APPROVAL TO ZONE CHANGE FOR PROPOSED NEW BOWLING ALLEY

ROCKLAND — The City Council unanimously passed a rezoning ordinance changing the Elizabeth Fales property on Maverick Street from Residential B to Commercial C at its monthly meeting held in the city hall Monday night. The rezoning will permit William H. MacNeill, contractor from Littleton, N.H., to go ahead with the building of the new Bowl-O-Drome and supermarket. MacNeill, who was present at the meeting, said he did not think that work would start until next spring. He has six or seven grocery chains bidding on the operation of the supermarket which when completed will have more than 15,000 square feet of floor space.

The City Planning Board, which met last Thursday, objected to spot zoning for the MacNeill project and recommended that a much larger area be changed to commercial zoning on Maverick Street. However, the city council passed the spot zoning to permit MacNeill to go ahead and will follow the planning board's recommendations by an amendment which is reportedly "in the works".

The city council also passed another rezoning ordinance changing the Copper Kettle - Grand Army Hall property to Commercial C zone to make way for the new branch of the First National Bank of Portland. The properties cover some 15,000 square feet of land and were purchased by the bank for a reported $70,000 earlier in the summer.

A third amendment governing the establishment of bus stops and taxi stands was passed by a majority vote of four to one. The new ordinance will permit taxis to use the bus stops for loading and unloading, but they will have to give way to buses approaching the stop. Regulation will be by the city council without the necessity of an ordinance change every time there is a taxi stand or bus stop change.

Two applications for perpetual care of Achorn Cemetery lots were accepted by the council. The meeting was adjourned by Chairman Charles E. Bicknell, II, in less than one hour and members hurried home before Hurricane Donna struck its full force in the Rockland area.

guished firemen and the Union rescue squad had to cut the dump body from the truck, haul away the dump body, and cut away the back of the truck back to remove Gagnon's body. Jack Graf, Miles Cramer and Eugene Springer removed the truck body.

First on the scene was Don Adams of Monmouth driving another truck owned by Ross, right behind the one operated by Gagnon. Adams went about 200 yards up the road to the Herbert Hawes farm. Hawes called Cramer's Garage in Union then went to the scene with a fire extinguisher.

The Medical Examiner, Dr. Hugo Hochschild of Thomaston was called to the scene. Gagnon's body was removed to the Davis Funeral Home in Thomaston by the Union rescue unit. Remains were taken to the Knowlton and Hewins Funeral Home in Augusta.

Obsolete Autos To Hold Rendezvous At Rockland's Public Landing Sunday

The Lothrop Tour of the Maine Obsolete Auto League will settle in Rockland Saturday afternoon and through Sunday. The Tour will bring to the city some 20 or more restored autos of past years. Many will be of makes which haven't been on the markets in a generation or more.

The tour will start in the Portland area and will arrive in Rockland in the late afternoon Saturday, with drivers and passengers staying at a local motel overnight.

David Eaton of Glen Cove heads the committee which has arranged for contests and demonstrations at the Public Landing from 1 to 3 p. m. Sunday. Included will be such events as obstacle course runs, tire changing and blind man's bluff.

Included in the tour cars will be a 1909 EMF which was once owned by Eaton and now is the property of Walter Wood of Swanville. The completely restored vehicle is painted blue with yellow undercarriage and has the full equipment, all in working order, carried when it came out of the shops of the firm which later became Studebaker 51 years ago.

Plans Laid For Fifth Annual Harvest Sale Event By Camden Merchants Soon

CAMDEN—Merchants of Camden will be marking an anniversary at the end of the month when the Merchants Committee of the Camden-Rockport Chamber of Commerce sponsors its Harvest Sale Days, Sept. 29 and 30 and Oct. 1. It will be the fifth year of the fall shopping event.

Some shopper, in addition to good values in the stores, will go home with a six-piece living room suite and another will receive a stereophonic console record player.

The anniversary also will mark the start of Camden's effort to take its place as a county shopping center. Although individual merchants had been aggressive previously, Harvest Dollar Days is recognized as the concerted effort of the business district to boost the town's retail potential.

In addition to aggressive retailing, Camden merchants have successfully worked toward off street parking so the town now offers plenty of parking within a few hundred feet of the shopping district.

WORK STARTS ON ADDITION OF TWO CLASSROOMS AND LAB AT VINALHAVEN HIGH SCHOOL

VINALHAVEN — Construction will start this week on a one story 60 by 84 foot addition to the Lincoln School which will house two classrooms, a laboratory, teachers' room, and toilet facilities. In addition a furnace room of 20 by 12 feet will be built onto the new addition.

The addition will be of structural steel with walls of insulated steel sheets and interior walls of cement blocks. It is being constructed by the Sheriton Corporation and should be completed so that it may be used following the Thanksgiving holidays, according to Mrs. Olga Carleton, chairman of the Vinalhaven school board.

The sum of $70,000 was authorized to be raised by a bond issue at a special town meeting for the new structure but the controversy over the legality of raising money for school districts has delayed action until this time. Vinalhaven is now School Administrative District 8.

Large Crowd Hears Lecture By Jules Cern

Unlimited progress is the natural result of spiritually understanding the allness of God and the nothingness of matter, Jules Cern of New York City told a large audience in Rockland on Tuesday evening.

"There can be no smallness in allness," Cern declared, emphasizing the boundless ever-presence of infinite good.

Proof of God's infinite goodness lies in the healing and harmonizing through prayer, he said, of what appear to be the ills and discords of mankind.

A well-known Christian Scientist, Cern is an extended tour as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. He spoke under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist in the church edifice at the corner of Cedar and Brewster Streets, on the subject "Christian Science: Its Divine Revelation and Human Application." Mrs. Stella Hemlow, First Reader, introduced him.

"Throughout human history," the lecturer said, "mankind has been trying to progress in the understanding of existence, with a neutral attitude toward God and matter."

He observed that when an automobile is in neutral gear, the only thing it can do is stand still or run downhill.

"Human thought," he went on, "may reverently affirm that God is infinite, and that God is all. Nevertheless, if it continues to believe that there is something besides God, called matter or mortality, then it is still mentally 'in neutral,' either standing still, or rolling downhill."

Mr. Cern declared that "Christian Science enables us to shift thought out of this neutral, mental miasma, into the spiritual understanding of God's allness and matter's nothingness, and the unlimited progress which accompanies it."

Denying that God's exclusive allness leaves man out of existence, he said: "It leaves matter, physicality, and mortal mind out of existence. It leaves man where he always has been and is now, in the omnipresence of divine Life and Love... completely spiritual, the perfect idea of infinite Mind, the all-harmonious reflection of perfect Life."

The real man is patterned after God, Spirit, not matter," the lecturer emphasized. "Man's spiritual identity," he said, "can neither be confined in physicality, nor defined by physicality. Man, the image of infinite Spirit, can no more be physically described than he can be physically circumscribed."

He added that this "true identity is not what we will be, but what we really are, at this very moment. Spiritual identity is not being held in reserve for man until he extricates himself from physicality. Spiritual identity is man, instead of physicality."

In discussing the healing effect of understanding God's allness, the lecturer drew an analogy between the practice of Christian Science and the progress of a ship at sea.

Healing and harmony accompany the wake of a ship that is moving forward, he asserted.

"The natural consequence of the thought that goes forward with the allness and perfection of infinite Spirit, and the spiritual, perfect identity of man, is to leave a wake of healing and harmony," he declared.

"However, the thought that constantly seeks the healing, instead of the spiritual understanding which effects the healing, may find that it is like the ship that stands still. The thought that stands still, that remains neutral towards the allness of Spirit and the belief of matter, delays the wake of harmony and healing."

In fact, he added, "the healing and harmonizing of what appear to be matter and physicality, are not the goal of Christian Science, they are but the inseparable effects."

Three hundred and twenty-five teachers from 53 countries are visiting our country this year to observe our schools, customs, and people.

The Maine State Ferry Service has released the fall and winter schedules of the North Haven, Vinalhaven, Islesboro and Swans Island ferries. The new schedules are to become effective on Sept. 16, next Friday, and continue through March 30. All are subject to change without notice.

George Prentiss, 23, of Rockland was charged with driving without an operator's license on Front Street in Rockland, Sept. 13. He pleaded guilty and the case was continued for sentencing on Sept. 16.

Richard Dearborn, 19, of Rockland was apprehended for driving 40 miles per hour in a 25 mile speed zone on Union Street, Sept. 13. Judge Christy Adams found Dearborn guilty following the testimonies of Rockland police officers who clocked the Dearborn car as it proceeded along Union from the intersection of Limerock and Union Streets. Dearborn paid a fine of $25.

Robert M. Ballard, 19, of Manchester, Conn., paid a fine of $25 on the same offense as Dearborn's. He was riding behind the Dearborn vehicle and also was clocked as going 40 miles per hour in a 25 mile speed zone on Union Street.

In a small claim civil action heard, a settlement was reached between the plaintiff William Daggett and the defendant Arthur Pease, both of Thomaston. The claim arose when Mrs. Daggett drove her car into the driveway of Mrs. Ida Weymouth of Thomaston and a truck belonging to Arthur Pease backed up causing $30 damage to her car. The incident happened in August 1959 and Daggett brought action against Pease when he was unable to arrive at an equitable settlement with the defendant. The matter was satisfactorily settled between the two parties during a recess in the hearing.

Leaders Group Of Girl Scouts Discuss Plans

The first meeting of Girl Scout leaders and guests was held Tuesday evening at the Rockland Congregational Church. It was announced that more leaders are very much needed and members of the Girl Scout Board explained their duties and the ways in which they assisted leaders.

A discussion was held as to a possible workshop training session for all leaders. It was also announced that Ann Cole, Evelyn Morse, and Dorothy French would attend the annual Maine State Safety Conference at the Samoset Hotel starting Thursday.

Preliminary plans were made for a celebration of the 100th birthday of Juliette Lowe, Girl Scout founder, on Oct. 31. A Girl Scout window will be decorated in Senter Crane's during that week and anyone having old uniforms, pictures, or interesting posters is asked to get in touch with Gloria Gifford, Beech Street.

A social hour followed the meeting. Refreshments were served by Leona Pierpont, Ann Cole, Neloise Hastings and Dorothy French.

HURRICANE DONNA'S DAMAGE

(Continued from Page One) night between the hours of 9 p. m. and 2 a. m. Wednesday, the height of the storm Monday. Seven of the eight calls were for wires short circuiting on Union, Walnut, Camden, Grace, Thomaston and Center Streets. In all cases the firemen stood by until the arrival of CMP's trouble crew. The most hazardous wire trouble developed on Union Street near Beech where a section of a tree on the library grounds came down across wires across the street. It took more than two hours for the crews to bring the huge limb down safely. The fire department rushed an auxiliary generator unit to the Knox County General Hospital at 9:45 when the hospital was blacked out due to a power failure. Both lines servicing the hospital blew out and power was restored shortly after the fire department's unit was put into operation.

A float in front of the Samoset Hotel was nearly torn loose when one of the two tie bars which secure it broke and left it floundering in the choppy sea. A tree which measured 30 inches at the butt blew down on the front lawn of the hotel and caused some damage to a golf green. One or two windows also were broken in the upper floors of the building according to hotel officials.

Harbormaster Bertrom Snow reported that there was no serious flooding although a lobster boat did break loose and was grounded near Seapro Industries. The boat, the owner of which is unknown, was a complete loss. The Maine Deck Marina's canopy came loose in the high wind and men were kept busy trying to save it. One of the stays of the Marina's float also snapped off and posed a problem until the storm subsided.

The Coast Guard reported wind velocity to be between 65 and 70 miles an hour at the moorings. A dispatch was received from District Commander C. L. Harding Wednesday morning commending all hands on precautionary actions taken which prevented any serious distress in the area. The cutter Laurel rode the storm out about a half mile out in the harbor on command orders from headquarters and was not damaged.

Central Maine Power Company reported trouble all over the coastal area, so much so that to accurate count could be had of the number of lines down or shorted out by branches laying across them. Line crews were out from 6 o'clock Monday night until late Tuesday night, at which time everything in the area was back in operation. All available personnel was used including some of the executives in keeping up with damage reports from all over the area.

The New England Telephone and Telegraph Company did not have as much trouble as only two cables in the Belfast area and four poles in Lincolnville were out of commission. Some 100 individual phones from Walloboro to Belfast were out at various times. The company reports that only 3% of the total number of phones in the entire state were knocked out by Donna.

Oddly enough, it is the second time that a new local manager of the Telephone Company has come on the job here just before a hurricane struck. The present manager, Robert C. Hoar, has been here about a month. In 1954, two weeks before the first of the two hurricanes, Stanley Taylor took over as local manager.

Camden
Downed branches kept the Town of Camden highway crews busy most of the night but Town Manager Sterling Morris, concluding his duties for the town, said no major damage occurred. Fifteen men slept in at the

A view of the 100 year old former tool shed on Dix Island from the beach shows how one side of the roof was cleaned away leaving the other side intact. Camden Fire Station and half of them were sent to Lincolnville for the Breezemer fire while the others stood by.

A careful watch prevented damage at Camden Harbor. Two boats dragged their moorings but were caught in time to prevent harm to them or other boats. The large schooner Mabel, former salt water home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kelley, started to drag about 3 a. m. but it was snubbed and rode out the rest of the storm easily. The same thing happened to a sloop owned by V. B. Crockett of Camden. Another sloop pitching at its mooring swung close to a cruiser owned by Elwin Cox and the sloop's bowsprit broke a small window on the cruiser but did no other damage.

Rockport
When the wind shifted to the south early Monday evening it brought the full force of the gale into Rockport Harbor.

A float owned by the Rockport Boat Club was smashed by the seas but it wasn't very seaworthy when the storm started. One of its four pontoons leaked badly so the float lacked buoyancy. First the seas swept away the pontoons then the deck went to pieces so the ramp was left pounding on bottom.

A 30-foot double ended cabin cruiser owned by Rupert Neilly of Boothbay Harbor dragged its mooring and the craft banged against two other boats before it finally came to rest stern first on the rocks. Several volunteers tied a line to the stern and hauled the boat off the rocks before it was badly damaged.

A large floating crate in which Harry Goodridge kept his seals was damaged and two of three escaped. Goodridge patched a hole at low tide and kept the other seal a captive.

Firemen were kept on duty and spent some time tending hot power lines dropped by branches at Route 1A and Russell Avenue. The town crew spent the night cleaning up broken branches and leaves.

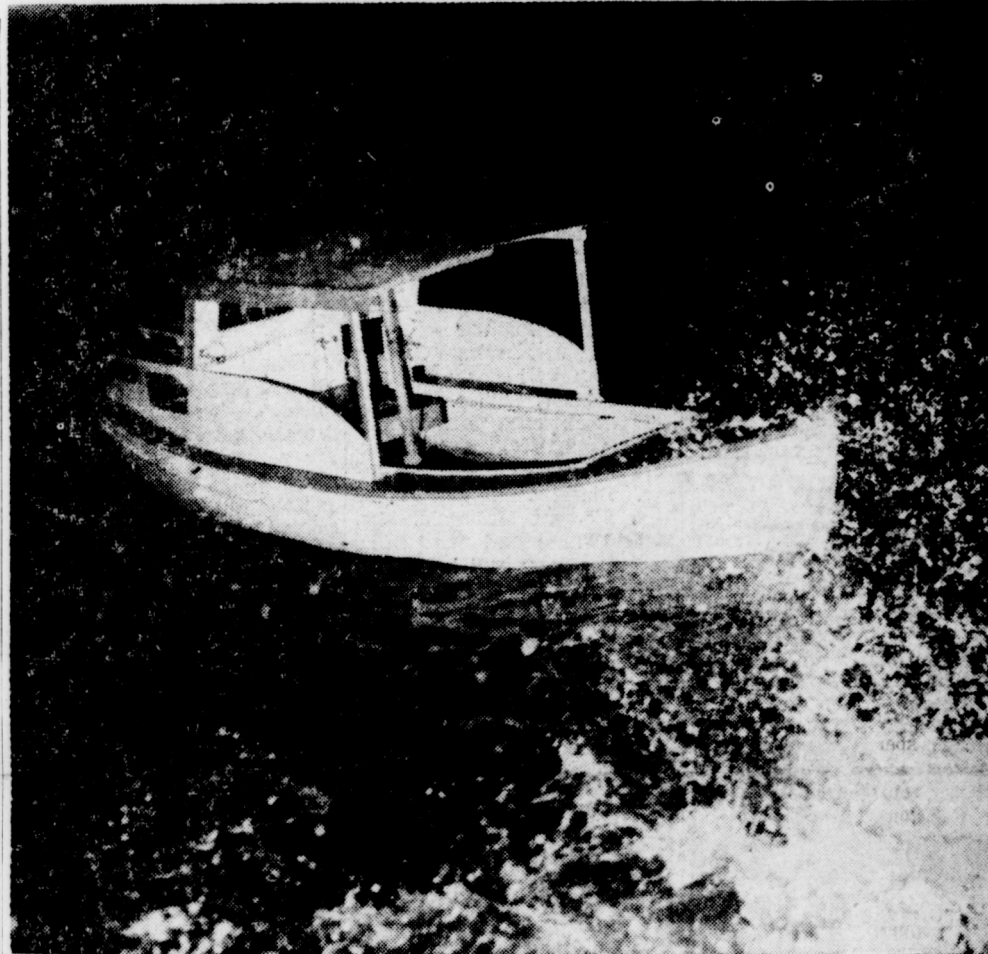

Thomaston
Cleanup has been the order of the day since Monday at Thomaston. "Our biggest job is cleaning up the leaves and little limbs," Town Manager Archer Scribner said. Fifteen men have been busy at that task.

A tree was felled on Gleason Street and narrowly missed the porch of the John Curry home. Large limbs fell in many places and power lines were down on Knox Street, Beechwoods Street, and Gilchrist Street.

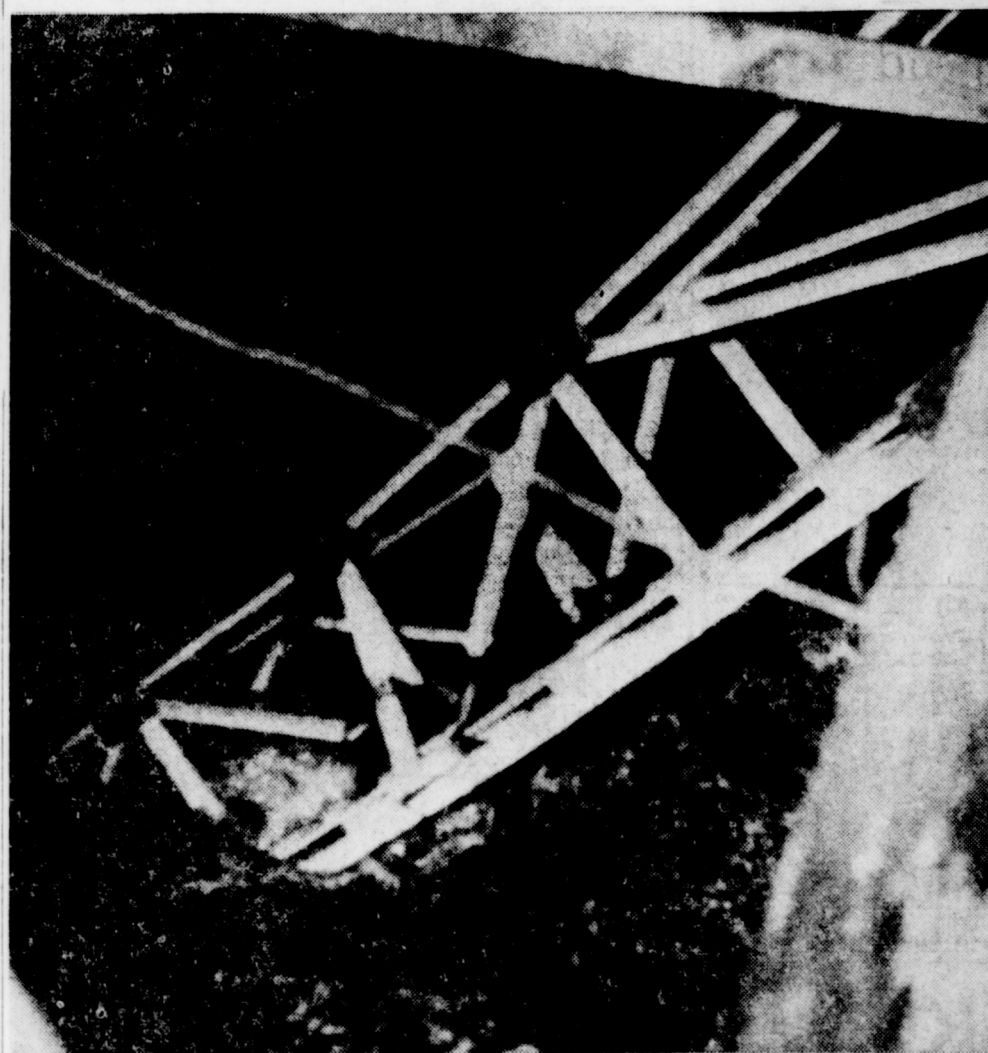

A large branch fell on wires opposite the Prison. The wires carried a main telephone trunk cable but it and its supporting cable took the limb's weight and did not break.

most of the night.

About 5 p. m., Donna really let loose on the Point, with thunder, rain and heavy gusts of wind about 60 miles per hour. At 6:45 the electricity and telephone went out so here I sit and write by candlelight, while Donna roars.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Robinson left their home on Gay Island and came to the mainland where they spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. James Seavey. Miss Elisabeth Ogilvie and Dorothy Simpson stayed at Tides Way on the island.

Tuesday morning there was still a stiff breeze here, and things look battered, but so far no damage has been reported, it is 11:30 a. m. and the "Point" is still without light power or telephone.

Vinalhaven
Strong winds and rough seas were encountered in and around Vinalhaven during Monday's storm which was caused by Hurricane Donna. After listening to radio and TV warnings during the day several boats were hauled into dry dock and moorings made safe. No damage has been reported, so far.

A constant watch was kept along the waterfront and on Main Street by fishermen and firemen.

The "Everett Libby" failed to make her afternoon run due to rough seas.

Warren
Limbs went down in Warren as town crews and the fire department stood by.

Power was out five hours and telephone service was not all back until Tuesday afternoon.

Large limbs were down at the home of David White and Fred L. Perkins, Jr., and the largest tree in town at the top of village hill split.

Two Dreams Are Realized

Bert Vanorse of 11 Bay View Street, Rockland, has had two ambitions for much of his life and has now realized them both. He has wanted to obtain a high school diploma ever since he was forced to leave school after the sixth grade to help his mother and he wanted his own machine shop.

He obtained his high school diploma last July, at the age of 37, after taking a correspondence course from the American School in Chicago after slightly more than a year of study and has run his own shop beside his house for a year. Previously he had worked for himself only nights and weekends while being employed by the Green Island Packing Company for many years and later for the Bicknell Manufacturing Company.

He bought machinery for himself out of his earnings while raising a family of seven children. He married the former Pearl Smith of Rockland in 1941. Their oldest son, Bert, Jr., graduated from Rockland High School last year where he was an outstanding distance runner. Other children are Milton, Robert, Nancy, Harold and Wayne.

While at Green Island he designed the fish carts which are still in use there and at several other fish plants. They save time and labor as the fish are placed in cans on the carts and go through the whole cooking process without being moved again.

Bert, Jr., is following in his father's footsteps by taking a correspondence course in draftsmanship from a Chicago school. He is a natural artist and finds no difficulty with drawings. He is 19 years ahead of his father in obtaining a high school diploma and, if he inherited the older man's desire and perseverance, should do well.

separated from Carr for some time.

The warrants charge Carr with disorderly conduct and with disturbing a school. The child's teacher, Mrs. Minnie Weaver, told the sheriff that Carr used rough and abusive language at the school.

An alarm for a Norwood, Mass., man who took his daughter from a Washington school by force on Monday has been spread to Massachusetts. Sheriff Willard Pease said warrants against Clarence J. Carr have been sent to Norwood, Mass., where Carr is believed to have been living.

Pease said Carr entered the Prescott Memorial School Monday morning forcibly removed Colleen, 7. The child's mother lives in Washington and has been

THE DRIVER'S SEAT

Road signs at curves and intersections in this country are so confusing that a foreign visitor commented recently, "When I see a sign that says 'left turn for airport only', all I know is that I may be killed."

This statement by Japanese magazine writer, Soicho Kato, may well be echoed by many American motorists who find it difficult to keep to a planned route because direction and warning signs are difficult to interpret.

A driver who lives in an area may call on his knowledge of streets and highways to help him interpret local signs, but a stranger without this additional knowledge can be confused hopelessly.

Ellis Armstrong, U. S. Commissioner of Public Roads, may have put his finger on the reason for this confusion when he said recently, "Signs and signals are most important to the stranger, yet they are put up by people who live in the neighborhood."

The situation is further complicated at night, when many signs that are difficult to comprehend in the daytime become almost invisible.

Perhaps Commissioner Armstrong's comment offers a clue to the solution of the confusing sign problem. If traffic en-

John Mitchell and John Corrao have returned to MCI for the school year.

Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Wallace went to the mainland Saturday. Mr. Wallace had been ill for several days and it was decided they better make the move before the hurricane came any nearer.

Brad and Pat Lewis have been in Vinalhaven over the weekend to attend a wedding.

Carrie Ripley, Marian Young and Carrie Ames were Thursday dinner guests of Mary Arnold.

On Friday, Carrie Ames, Mary Arnold and Carrie Ripley enjoyed a picnic lunch at "The Landing". Helen Spear, Carrie and Stanley Ripley were Saturday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Owen.

Orris and Everett Philbrook went to Rockland Sunday afternoon to take Phil, Gracie and children, who left for Rhode Island, but due to the hurricane, they were obliged to stop in Braintree with Julia Young on Monday night, and on to Rhode Island Tuesday.

Ralph Josselyn of Hull, Mass., is visiting Clifford Young. Mr. Josselyn has been coming to Matinicus for many years.

Jennie Philbrook gave a party at her home Saturday evening, honoring the birthday of Aunt Flora Philbrook. Those present were: Everett's family; Grace and Wilma-Jean; Phil and Gracie; Aunt Flora and George.

Hurricane Donna visited us Monday evening with high winds and heavy rain. Many shrubs were left with blackened leaves and broken limbs, some of the antennae were blown down or broken, although from radio reports, we were fortunate not to receive the damage they did in other states.

Miss Leach, who has been spending a few days in her brother's summer place on the North End, has returned to her home in Massachusetts.

Health For All

Watch Out For This One!

Public health officials are worried. In the first five months of this year, there were 50 per cent more cases of hepatitis than during the same period last year. And the Public Health Service knows very well that its figures don't tell the complete story. There's no reason to expect a real epidemic, perhaps, but good reason for everyone to learn something about this illness.

Hepatitis, a disease which attacks the liver, is baffling to medical science and miserable for the victim. A virus causes hepatitis, but nobody's been able to grow it in the laboratory, which means no vaccine can be developed for the present.

Hepatitis is highly contagious, spreading through infected food, milk, and water, and by touch. It can take anywhere from 10 days to almost two months from the time you pick up the bug until the first symptoms appear. When they do, they include fever and chills, headache, tiredness, aching muscles, loss of appetite, nausea, vomiting and abdominal pain. After about a week of this, the skin and the whites of the eyes may turn yellow with jaundice.

Jaundice lasts about a week or 10 days. But hepatitis isn't through its victim yet. The patient is still thoroughly ill, and so infectious that he must remain in isolation for at least two weeks more—about a month altogether. After that he is still likely to be ill for another two weeks. Then a slow convalescence begins. It is not at all unusual for hepatitis to knock its victims out for three or four months. However, the disease rarely kills its victims.

There's no drug cure for hepatitis. Bedrest and diet is all medicine has to offer right now. Partial protection against hepatitis is possible with a shot of gamma globulin. Since this is better than nothing, if hepatitis appears in your house, next door, or among your friends, go to your doctor promptly for his advice.

gineers and others responsible for putting up signs were to first drive through an area with a stranger under all kinds of driving condition — rain, heavy traffic, darkness — they might be better able to understand the stranger's problem and design signs which do a good job of communicating their meanings both day and night.

Studies have proven that drivers need not feel tired to show dangerous effects from fatigue. It was found that the average driver's efficiency improves during the first three or four hours at the wheel, then declines steadily regardless of how alert the driver professes to feel.

A parked car by the side of the road can become a car in motion in the next ten seconds. Look for smoke coming from the exhaust. Look to see if a driver is at the wheel. Watch the front wheels for turning motion. These are cues for you to slow down or stop.

'61 PLYMOUTH CHECKS OUT DRY

WATER, WATER, EVERYWHERE—But it's all on the outside of this 1961 Plymouth, as a quality control supervisor checks the near-hurricane force of high velocity jet nozzles in a water test spray booth at the factory. To assure that the body is completely weather-proof, high pressure sprays are directed at the most vulnerable points of all cars built in Plymouth's Detroit assembly plant before they are released for shipment to the dealers. The 1961 Plymouth cars now being assembled are scheduled for introduction in dealer showrooms throughout the United States the end of September.

Tree Talk

Grow Own Dogwood Trees From Fall Ripened Berries

Try growing dogwood trees from seed. Now, as the crimson berries begin to ripen, is the time to start. Don't wait until hungry squirrels and birds have stripped the trees of choice seeds.

Edward J. Duda of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories suggests plucking berries from dogwood trees that grow relatively close to each other. Isolated trees often produce seeds that do not germinate.

Natural germination is easiest for the home owner. Plant the seeds in layers an inch or two thick in seed beds of moist well-drained rich loam. Cover with a wire mesh to protect the seeds from squirrels and other rodents that might sniff them out and dig them up.

Most dogwood berries will germinate next spring. Some may be tardy and not sprout until the second spring. There is evidence that dogwood berries plucked somewhat green usually sprout the following spring.

For the more scientific-minded, there is the forced germination process: Keep the seeds in a moist dark place for 60 days, alternating the daily temperature from 70° F. to 85° F. Then place them in a dark place where the temperature is 41° F. from 100 to 130 days.

You can by-pass this 60 day so-called stratification period by immersing the seeds for 10 minutes in a concentrated solution of sulphuric acid. But a cool period must follow to overcome dormancy.

Trees Seed Best In Middle Age Most trees produce their best seeds during middle age. Youth or the first decades in a tree's life is the time for greatest vegetative growth, to attain height and girth.

Tree seeds of highest quality, according to Dr. Philip L. Rusden of the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories, are usually produced during years of heavy seed crop. And in many areas of the country this is such a year.

Autumn is the time to collect seed from ash, beech, birch, box elder, catalpa, firs, hickory, walnut, larch, magnolia, pecan, pines, spruce, sycamore, black gum and sugar maple. Trees growing in soil of high fertility usually produce seeds in profusion, although ailing trees will put forth heavy seed crops also.

Home Talent Show Set At Watts Hall In Thomaston By Firemen's Auxiliary

THOMASTON — Members of the Thomaston Firemen's Auxiliary will be "running wild" Friday and Saturday night at Watts Hall when a comedy show is presented for the benefit of the auxiliary.

The home talent show, "Running Wild", is a political comedy about a little town electing a woman for mayor in order to combat the gangster element. Before the woman can leave a tropical island to come home and campaign, she and her French maid are quarantined. In order to go ahead with rallies, the town banker blackmails a disc jockey and doctor into pretending they are Geraldine Van Dyne and her French maid Matilda. Of course to make the show complete there are the small children in Snow White scene and gangster chorus girls and marching mothers.

A professional producer, Miss Lois Sharpe of Kansas City, has been in town two weeks whipping the show into production shape.

The cast will include: John Ludwig, Wayne Hall, Tommy Littlefield, Donald Sturks, Mrs. Minnie Vasso, Mrs. Blanche Slader, Mrs. Martha Anderson, Mrs. Laurie Mitchell, Mrs. Nancy Anderson, Mrs. Maxine Mahoney,

Miss Lois Sharpe

Mrs. Virginia Robinson, Mrs. Betty Libby, Mrs. Vinnie Benner, Mrs. Lorraine Libby, Randy Hocking, Susan Henry, Rosalie Ranquist, Stephen Mahoney, Jeffrey Mitchell, Debra Anderson, Susan Tabbutt, Susan Stackpole, Vicki Verge, and pupils of the Mrs. Mary Ann Carey's dancing class of Rockland and Miss Jacqueline Harjula. Mrs. Leola Kallio will be pianist.

ARCANA LODGE HONORED BY PART IN PYTHIAN JUBILEE AT CALAIS-ST. STEPHEN, N. B.

CALAIS — Arcana Lodge, Knights of Pythias, of Thomaston has been awarded the honor of exemplifying the Page Rank at the Eighth Pythian Jubilee to be held at Calais - Saint Stephen, N. B., on Saturday, Sept. 24, according to an announcement by the committee in charge of the big fraternal event. The members of the Arcana staff who will take part include: Alden Watts, as chancellor commander; Lester Gray, vice chancellor; Laurence Wingate, prelate; Benjamin Smalley, master-at-arms; Ralph Crawford, master of work; Harry Dailey, inner guard; Raymond Upham, outer guard; Roland Starrett, Pythagoras; Llewellyn Baines, Van Russell, Harlan Linscott, and William Shields, bearers; Charles Rogers and John Olson, attendants. Selection for this assignment is regarded in Pythian Circles as a coveted distinction, since only top-flight degree teams are entrusted with the beautiful and impressive initiation ceremonial at the International Jubilee.

The meeting at which the degree will be worked will be held at 2 p. m. Eastern Daylight Time at the Canadian Legion Hall at Saint Stephen, N. B., and at the same hour the Pythian Sisters will see their re-obligation ceremonial performed by Eastern Star Temple of Springhill, Nova Scotia, at the Masonic Hall.

The program will open at 1 p. m. Eastern Daylight Time, with the customary meeting of the Grand Chancellors and Grand Chiefs of Maine and the Maritime Provinces at the center of the International Bridge to exchange greetings across the border; and it will continue, after the ritualistic meetings, with a parade to Calais, in which there will be marching units, many decorated cars and floats, and two bands — the International Band and the Bugle and Drum Corps of Anchor Lodge of Eastport. As the parade nears the end of its route an exhibition will be given by the drill team of the four Pythian lodges of Saint John, N. B.

Special suppers will then be served in two church vestries and a union meeting, open to the public, starts at the Calais High School gymnasium at 7 o'clock E.D.T. This will be conducted by George Harris, grand prelate for Maine, and chairman of the jubilee committee. Following brief talks by the two Grand Chancellors and Grand Chiefs, an address will be delivered by Melvin M. Ewen, Supreme Secretary of the order. There will then be an hour of entertainment and a contest for the honor of Pythian beauty queen, with entries from all over Maine and the Maritime Provinces. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock and continue to midnight.

An attendance of more than 800 is expected, including about 40 from Arcana Lodge and its area.

Red Cross Nurses Aide Course To Open Sept. 29

The eighth class in Red Cross Nurse's Aide training will be given at Knox County General Hospital starting Thursday, Sept. 29, at 1 p. m. All meetings will be held at the Medical Arts Building on Mondays and Thursdays.

This is a streamlined 40 hour course for volunteers who are interested in assisting registered nurses with routine care of patients at the hospital. It is being sponsored by the hospital and will be given and supervised by Mrs. Theodore Gutoske, R.N., hospital director of education. Classes will include two hour orientation, 18 hours of classroom work and 20 hours of supervised hospital training.

Women in any town in Knox County will be welcomed to take the course if they can meet the health and educational requirements, required by the Red Cross, and if they will agree to volunteer their services for a minimum number of hours each week.

This training and experience is valuable in home emergencies and in the care of the sick in one's family. Mrs. Rita Holden reports that many women who would have chosen a nursing career and didn't, find great satisfaction in the service to the hospital and people, through this Nurse's Aide training.

For information call the Red Cross office at LYric 4-4576, or Mrs. Charles Carver, chairman of Nurse's Aide, at LYric 4-8153.

Back To School Means End To Safety Vacation

"School Zone" signs, disregarded during the summer vacation-from-school period, once more become signposts on the road to child safety as millions of pupils prepare to return to classrooms throughout the nation.
"This period of readjustment for boys and girls also becomes a period of readjustment for all who drive," says Alan F. Strongs, Safety Director of Automobile Legal Association.
"Motorists and truck drivers must begin taking more than the usual precautions in areas where children are walking or playing. They must sharpen their own sense of responsibility to compensate for the irresponsibility of childhood, allowing extra margins of safety for their own peace of mind as well as the safety of the children."
"Parents have their responsibilities in helping keep their children safe, too, of course. They should set good examples and offer the right advice. They should not expect the schools and teachers to carry the entire burden of training their youngsters in safety fundamentals."
The ALA safety director concluded with this appeal made directly to the children:
"Always Alert... Never Hurt!" should be your daily rule for walking to and from school and while playing after classes. Won't you adopt it and follow it for a safer and happier school year."

Medomak Valley Loop, At Four Schools, Sets Its Schedule For Fall Sports

The Medomak Valley League, now down to five members with Union gone, met Tuesday evening at Warren High School for the annual fall meeting and election of officers. Named as president was the new Appleton High School principal, Walter Hasenfus. Kenneth Orcutt, also new at Appleton High, was named secretary-treasurer of the circuit.
Schedules were made out for fall sports, including cross country, which will start Sept. 28, and girls' volleyball, scheduled to bow in on the 29th. The annual basketball round robin will be held at Rockport on Nov. 18.
Only four of the five schools will participate in cross country as St. George did not choose to enter a team of runners, and has never played basketball. No fall baseball will be played and the circuit will instead play an eight game apiece schedule next spring. At the last meeting the group had voted for a 10 game split season, five games in the fall and five in the spring but it was voted down Tuesday.
The annual league track meet will be held on Oct. 15, probably at Union Fair grounds.

Such an address is no longer listed in the city directory. It jumps from 362-364 for J. J. Newberry's to 374 for Depositors Trust Company. No doubt, some veteran resident of Rockland will recall the block and its numbering system.

A poem completed page one: "Said one old crow unto his mate, 'The F.W.A. is simply great'; And they cried in a chorus as they flew away.

"The BEST cigar is the F.W.A." On the second page, Rose Brothers, merchant tailors, 399 Main Street; J. H. Larkin, tailoring, cleaning and repairing, 321 Main Street; and Cockett, Photographer, 320 Main Street, carried simple messages.

However, Alfred Murray employed a gimmick. He said, "How About The Bell - Come in and see it and find out how it works; you may be the lucky one to get fifty cents." Murray, at 446 Main Street, sold men's and boys' clothing.

Smith's Photo Studio, 368 Main Street, offered for sale views of the Camden ruins!

Jona Crockett was dealing in hardware at 333 Main Street, a section now occupied by First National Stores. Maine Music Company offered pianos and organs, picture frames and pictures and stationery by box or pound, at the corner of Main and Limerock Streets.

Finally, Mrs. Perkins, Dining Rooms at 301 Main Street advertised: "If you want to get a square meal served in first class order go to Mrs. Perkins' Dining Rooms.

new Princess phone

There are so many reasons why this lovely new extension phone fits gracefully wherever you put it in your home.
One is that it's small—to take less room on table or desk or kitchen counter.
Another, it's modern—styled for the modern taste that likes beauty with simplicity.

And the dial lights up. It glows in the dark so you can find it quickly and, when you lift the receiver, lights up brightly to make dialing easy.
Your choice of attractive colors helps you decorate, too: white, beige, pink, blue or turquoise. Just call or visit your telephone business office. Or ask a telephone serviceman to show it to you.

NEW ENGLAND TELEPHONE

The Princess phone with dial and night lights built in costs only pennies a day after a one-time charge. Your choice of five colors.

Today, the game that our forefathers took for granted has become the gourmet's choice for special and festive occasions.

Since game is more plentiful in the fall, carry out this theme with your table decorations. Use brightly colored leaves, gourds, apples, pears and cranberries in appropriate containers or artistically arranged on the table cloth.

Whether it be venison, rabbit, game birds or water fowl, tall sparkling glasses of beer and ale will add a special touch.

Yes, beer belongs with good food. Beer belongs in Maine, too.

This light, bright beverage of moderation is a pleasant reward after a hard day's work. Yet beer is equally "at home" on the finest dinner table.

Today, the game that our forefathers took for granted has become the gourmet's choice for special and festive occasions.

Since game is more plentiful in the fall, carry out this theme with your table decorations. Use brightly colored leaves, gourds, apples, pears and cranberries in appropriate containers or artistically arranged on the table cloth.

Whether it be venison, rabbit, game birds or water fowl, tall sparkling glasses of beer and ale will add a special touch.

Yes, beer belongs with good food. Beer belongs in Maine, too.

This light, bright beverage of moderation is a pleasant reward after a hard day's work. Yet beer is equally "at home" on the finest dinner table.

I'm making two guesses about what may have happened to the photo of the lovely marsh grass which was supposed to accompany the Saturday installment of this column.

The photo was so realistic some "gal" in the office tried to make a "hula" skirt of the grass or else Ray Gross fed it to his cow.

I'm asking Ray to give us a two column cut of this feathery grass the first time he has room, hoping some reader will identify it for us.

Sorry, there will be no photo of the Marsh Rosemary blooming in its natural habitat this season. The plants are now going to seed, which has been hastened by slack tides and very little rain over the last two weeks leaving the top soil very dry.

Glasswort, the edible tree-shaped green of late spring and early summer which takes on various autumn colors at maturity is already starting to turn and by mid-September should be radiant.

Never have seen so many woodchucks. Each field and pasture in the 'Weskeag' area seems to have its one or more 'chucks and open dens are on the slopes in lightly wooded areas, even on the islands of the Mussel Ridge.

Woodchucks frequently raid gardens for corn and greens but have a preference for clover. They do little but eat and sleep over the last several weeks before hibernating for the winter, and Ethan Rowell once told me that a clover fattened woodchuck when properly prepared makes a delicious barbecue, the custom of an annual woodchuck barbecue being the highlight of a successful summer among the Indians which came down the Penobscot each spring to camp on Rowell's Point and dig clams.

Woodchucks do climb trees, for I have often seen them — and Indian Joe Domino of the Koob Eton era declared "up-and-down" they do it as a measure of their fitness for the winter hibernation period.

Old Joe, (like a great many others) called the woodchuck, "whistle pig", and his analysis of the tree climbing exercises went like this:—

"Wissel pig stuff hisself on clover all summer, then climb tree four, five, six limbs high — no puff. He not fat 'nuff."

"Hurry back to field, eat more clover. Cum back to tree, maybe climb one limb — puff puff! Maybe climb two limbs — puff puff more! He most fat 'nuff."

"Wissel pig no go back again"
