St. George Voters To Act On Town Manager Form Of Government Wednesday

ST. GEORGE—Whether or not to adopt the town manager form of government will be the topic of a special town meeting at St. George, Wednesday evening. The meeting will be held at the Odd Fellows Hall at 7:30. A study committee was appointed at the regular town meeting in June. This group will report on Wednesday. The only other item of business will concern a routine transfer of funds from one account to another.

PROPOSALS TO LIMIT NUMBER OF MEMBERS, GUEST PRIVILEGES ON KNOX FISH, GAME DOCKET

EAST UNION — Proposals to limit membership and to restrict future guest privileges will be considered at the Thursday evening meeting of the Knox County Fish and Game Association at Beaver Lodge. A report from the Coast Guard on the pheasant pen also will be heard.

The speaker of the evening will be Robert Stevens of Kittery, the Maine representative on the New England Council, National Wildlife Federation. He will speak on possible re-organization of the Maine Fish and Game Association by counties. Members of other sportsmen's or archery clubs are invited to attend.

A harvest supper will precede the meeting at 6:30 o'clock. Commander Robert Davis of the Coast Guard cutter Laurel has reported to the Association on the completion of the pheasant pen which the crew of the Laurel took on as a project during the summer.

The pen is 70 by 125 feet and will enclose 533 birds if necessary, with an allowance of 15 square feet per bird. The total cost was $920. The sum of $1,000 was authorized.

Nineteen men from the Laurel participated in the work—Eugene R. Benner, Robert S. Brann, Norman A. Brunelle, Charles T.

Union Extension Group Elects Slate of Officers

UNION — Mrs. Emma Collins was elected president of the Union Extension Group, Thursday evening, at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Pauline Gurney. The meeting was attended by 22 members and guests.

Other officers elected were: Ann Burgess, vice president; Lilian Anderson, secretary; Nancy Sabien, treasurer; Pauline Gurney, clothing leader; Doris Miller, assistant clothing leader; Barbara Moody, home management leader; Janice Linscott, assistant home management leader; Mary Gurney, foods leader; Leatrice Burns, assistant foods leader; Grace Mink, Know Your Neighbor leader; Juanita Hawes, Farm and Home Week Representative.

Announcement was made of the annual meeting of Knox-Lincoln Extension Association, Oct. 20, at Bristol High School. Pauline Gurney, Emma Collins and Juanita Hawes were appointed a committee to arrange an exhibit for Union at the annual meeting.

It was reported four 4-H Clubs have re-organized for the year.

Subject for the evening was Home Safety. As the local home management leaders were unable to attend the training classes, Mrs. James Kinney and Mrs. Louis Pece of Warren were leaders and gave instructive talks on safety measures in the home and first aid help in emergencies.

Reception For New Voters Is Planned By LWV

A new voters reception will be held in the west room at the Rockland Community Building at 8 p. m. Thursday. It is being sponsored by the Rockland League of Women Voters.

More than 80 people, who have registered during the year, are invited to hear City Clerk Gerald Margeson speak on voting procedure and demonstrate the voting machine, which will have a special ballot like that which will be used Nov. 8.

Following the demonstration, refreshments will be served by the League.

You're Invited To Tour The Courier-Gazette At Open House Wednesday

The Courier-Gazette will hold Open House at its plant Wednesday in observance of National Newspaper Week. Visitors will be welcomed and shown about the several departments by the staff from 3 to 5:30 p. m. and from 6:30 until 9:30 p. m.

Wednesday will afford visitors an opportunity to watch the editorial and photographic departments at work as they prepare material which goes to the composing room where it is set in type and made up into pages for printing as Thursday morning's Courier-Gazette. There will be two runs on the big press, one in the late afternoon and the other in mid-evening. Provisions will be made for visitors to watch the press in action as it rolls out the next day's paper.

Also to be viewed will be the commercial printing department from composition through to the finished product as it will be used by the public.

Several changes have been made within the plant the past year and there have been additions of machinery and other facilities which have expanded the services, both in the newspaper and commercial printing, offered the public.

While visitors, both individuals and groups are always welcome in The Courier-Gazette plant, Wednesday will mark the first occasion in which the newspaper has held Open House in its 116 year history.

Guides will be provided to explain the many processes as they conduct visitors about the remodeled plant.

Pair Fined For Assault In Crashing High School Dance At Vinalhaven

Two Vinalhaven men were found guilty of simple assault on a school teacher in Vinalhaven, last Friday night, while another was released in Vinalhaven Municipal Court, Monday morning.

Judge Christy Adams fined Jack Tupper, 24, and Wyman Philbrook, 25, $20 apiece after hearing testimony from Charles Tanous, teacher of grades seven and eight in Vinalhaven. Found not guilty of the charge was Denis Tupper, 20, of Vinalhaven.

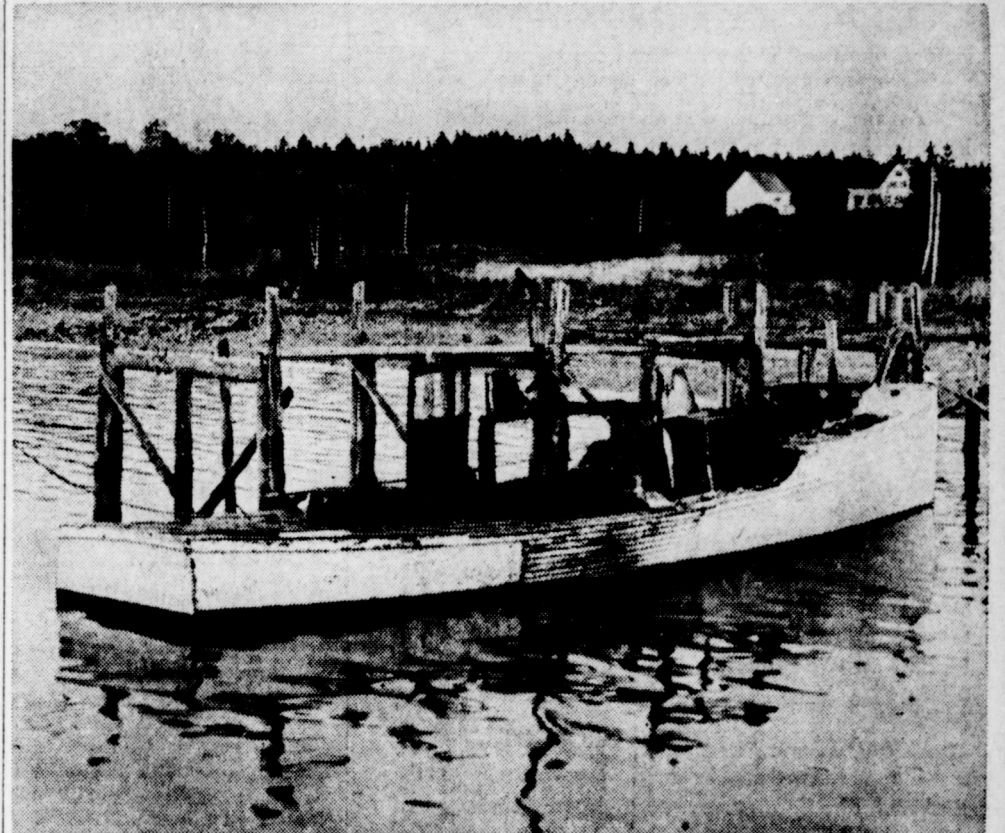

Tanous testified that the three had attacked him during a school dance, which he was chaperoning in the Town Hall. He alleged that Jack Tupper had asked him if he could come in and dance and that he refused when he smelled the odor of liquor on Tupper's breath.

Tanous said that he followed Tupper outside and that he went over to a car in which the trio were sitting to ask them to leave and not to loiter around the hall. He then called Police Chief Lester Pendleton and asked him to come around to have the trio removed from the front of the hall.

Philbrook, accompanied by Denis Tupper, then entered the hall and Tanous thought that he might be able to scare the two back out by having the students walk toward them. A fracas followed in which Tanous said he was knocked down by Philbrook.

When Chief Pendleton arrived a fight had broken out between Jack Tupper and Tanous after Tupper allegedly knocked Tanous off the front step. Pendleton was able to break up the fight and took Tupper back to the station where he was released to go home.

Fire Destroys Owls Head Lobster Boat

OWLS HEAD—The Sea King, 38-foot lobster boat, was gutted by fire early Saturday morning, and its two-man crew was almost trapped in the cabin of the boat which was moored at Owls Head Harbor. The fire started at about 5 o'clock just as the boat's owner, Thomas Watkinson, and Norman Gamage left the cuddy after starting the motor.

The cabin of the boat was suddenly engulfed in flames that he swept from the engine sail Watkinson, whose face was slightly burned as he climbed on deck. Fellow lobstermen were attracted to the scene when the harbor was flooded by a ruddy hue during the height of the blaze.

Owls Head firemen were the first to battle the blaze by rowing 200 feet out to where the boat was moored. However, Rockland lobsterman, Elmer Witham, saw the flames as he passed the Owls Head Light and towed the craft ashore. A Coast Guard craft arrived in time to help fight the blaze but the boat was considered a total loss by its owner. Watkinson said it was insured for $4,000.

Three years ago, Watkinson was injured by an explosion on the same boat but it was not severely damaged at that time. The cause of the fire although not established is believed to have started by the combustion of gases in the bilge.

Girl Hurt In First Hunting Mishap In Area

A 13-year-old Rockland girl, Joy Jean Williams, 27 Glen Street, was the first hunting accident victim of the season in Knox County, Saturday, when a single shot .22 rifle she was using was accidentally discharged while she was climbing over a stone wall. She was struck in the right thigh and taken to Knox County General Hospital where on Monday she was reported resting comfortably.

The girl was hunting in the Bog area with her grandfather, Clarence Raye, for birds at the time of the mishap. She had laid the gun atop the wall and dislodged some stones while climbing over the wall which discharged the gun.

Girl Testifies Most of Day In Bennett Trial

The 13-year-old chief state witness was still on the stand undergoing cross examination by defense attorney Alan Grossman when court adjourned Monday in the trial of 35-year-old Otto Bennett of Hope whom the State alleges committed statutory rape against the girl on three occasions.

With the defense still to put on its case, it seems likely that the trial may go to the end of the week before it gets to the jury. Probable cause was found against Bennett in Rockland Municipal Court two weeks ago.

Testifying Monday was Deputy Paul Ross of the Sheriff's Department who identified pictures taken as evidence of a battery of hen nests alleged by the prosecution to have been the scene of one of Bennett's experiences with the girl.

SAD 5 Directors Set Meeting At Owls Head School

Directors of School Administrative District 5 will hold their regular monthly meeting at the Owls Head Central School on Thursday evening at 7 p. m. The meeting site was designated at the last meeting to make it more convenient for any Owls Head citizens who would like to attend.

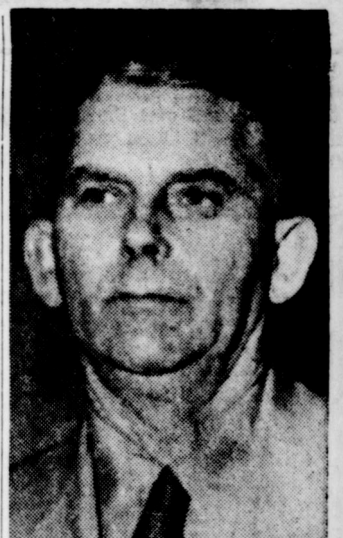

Chief item of business will be setting the tuition rate for Rockland High School for the school year 1960-61. Students from Matineus and some from Rockport attend Rockland High School on a tuition basis. The tuition is paid by the town if no high school exists or if the town high school does not offer a desired course.

THOMASTON MAN SEEKING LEGISLATIVE SEAT WOULD STOP CASUAL LOBSTER SALES

THOMASTON — Ideas ranging from more use of cement in Maine road construction to a commercial and pleasure license plan for lobstermen have been offered by William C. Burge, 52, of West Main Street, Thomaston, who is a Democratic candidate for Legislature from the Thomaston class towns. Burge was named by the Democratic town committees involved after Louis F. Moore of Owls Head withdrew as the opponent of incumbent Ralph Winchenpaw of Friendship.

Burge, who operates Burge Lobster Sales in Tenants Harbor, came to Knox County 12 years ago from White River Junction, Vt., where he had been in the trucking business. Soon after setting up a lobster business, he devised a unique method of transporting live lobsters in tanks of sea water to reach distant markets.

The Thomaston resident says he feels Maine should use more cement in building roads. "We want to see the cement plant run-

William C. Burge, Thomaston resident, is seeking legislative seat. Burge also supports a new license system for lobstermen which would prohibit those who fish for their own tables from selling in competition with commercial fishermen.

New Operational Plan Set Up For Yule Lighting

A new method of operation has been adopted by the Christmas Lighting Committee of the Rockland Chamber of Commerce for this year. Rather than give the job to an electrical contracting firm, the Chamber will handle details of labor and materials for the Christmas lighting itself. The Junior Chamber of Commerce pledged itself last week to help in tying the greenery and decorating the library lawn.

L. E. Jones, who has worked for years on the lighting project for the Chamber, will handle arrangements for workers. A small crew has been engaged to do the actual electrical work involved and the Chamber is seeking volunteers to assist in installation. The last installment payment on equipment was made last year. The Lighting Committee will seek to raise $2,000 for the project. Mrs. Ruth Hoch will serve as fund raising chairman.

Fire losses for the first six months of '60 totaled $573,971,000, an increase of 2.3 per cent over the comparable period of '59 when they amounted to $560,866,000.

Driver Sentenced To Jail Term By Rockland Court

A 90-day jail sentence was given to Danny Berry, 21, of Camden in Rockland Municipal Court, Monday morning after he pleaded guilty to driving after his license had been suspended for driving while intoxicated. Berry also was found guilty of being found intoxicated in a motor vehicle, failing to notify police of an accident, and leaving the scene of an accident.

For leaving the scene of an accident on Payne Avenue in Rockland on Oct. 16, he was fined $75 or 40 days in jail. For failing to report the accident to the police he was given the alternative of paying a $30 fine or serving 15 days in jail.

On the charge of being found intoxicated in a motor vehicle in Rockport on Oct. 16, Berry was given the choice of paying a $30 fine or serving 15 days in the county jail.

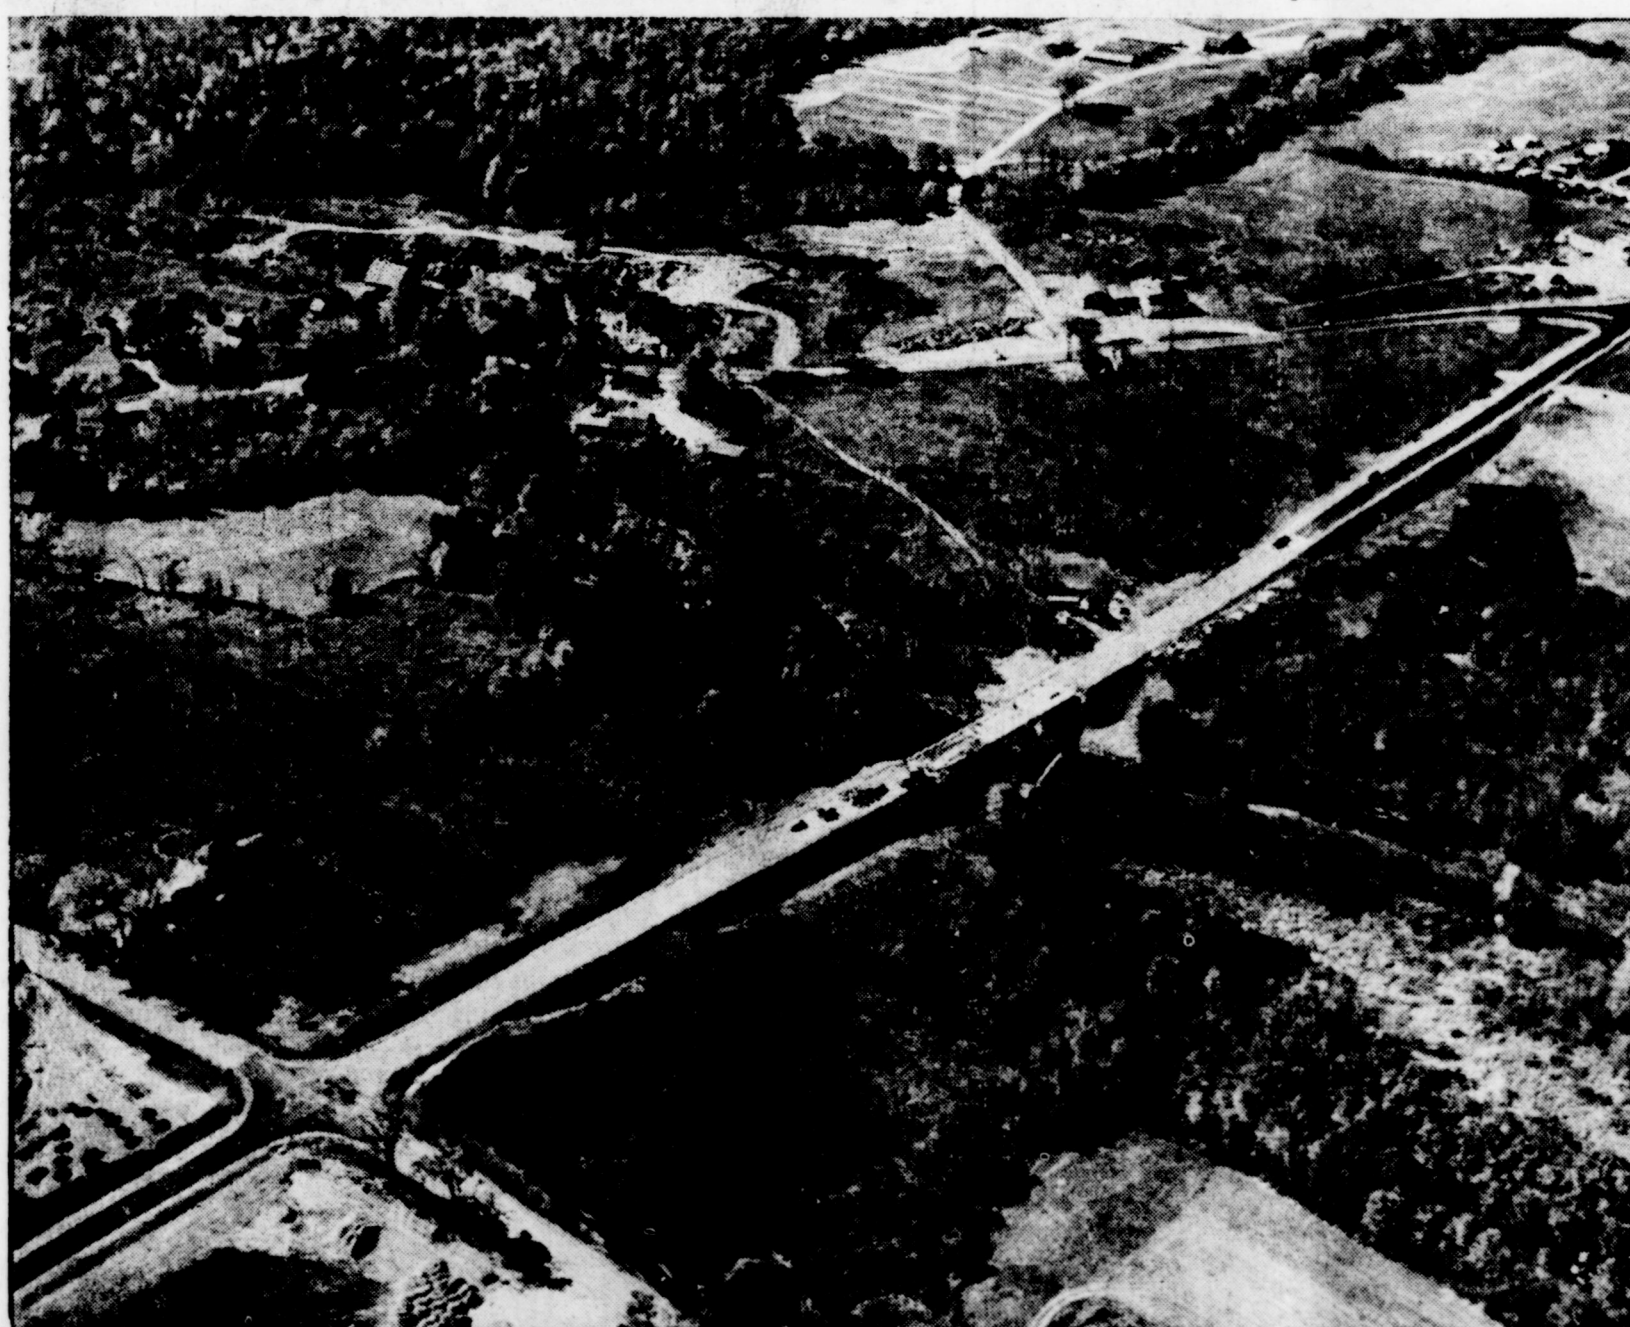

Because old newspapers can provide fuel for a serious fire, local Junior Fire Marshals suggest a "clean sweep" of your home to wipe out this potent fire hazard.

Route 17 By-Pass Of Union Village Nearly Completed

Completion of the bridge shown in the right center and surfacing is all that remains to be done on the Route 17 by-pass of Union Village. This shot was taken on Sunday, Oct. 9. In the left foreground is the intersection of new Route 17 and the East Lake Road leading to Appleton. At extreme right is the western intersection of the old and new roads. In the left foreground is the limestone quarry which has been re-activated by Harold Kaler and in the right background is the E. C. Cutting plant and Union Fair grounds. Out of the picture at extreme right is the section of old Route 17 which will be discussed at a special town meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 25.

UNION—An open meeting of the Union Board of Selectmen will be held, Friday evening, at the Thompson Memorial Building to discuss the by-pass of Union Village and whether or not to discontinue a section of old Route 17 east of Union High School. Citizens of the community are invited to attend. Representatives of the State Highway Commission will be there. The open meeting will be followed by a special town meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 25, on the same topic.

The special town meeting also will take up raising about $500 to repair the Hills Mills Bridge which was damaged, Saturday, when a truck owned by Grevis Payson, Inc., broke through the planking. The truck was not badly damaged.

At the open meeting, Friday night, intersections on the new highway also will be discussed. Selectman Elmer Savage said the board will make no recommendation on closing the section of Route 17 in question but will leave it to the voters. He said sentiment has been expressed on both sides of the question.

The bridge damaged Saturday is on the road from Route 131 to the Appleton Road. It is about 60 feet long and is covered with planking.

NO SMELL, LESS BUSINESS?

As the complaints continue against the odors allegedly originating at Northend fish reduction plants, we ask that serious thought be given to the problem. It could be far reaching industrially for the community if they were forced to close. To be sure, they should be made to follow the best possible sanitary practices in handling the waste, which at the best is a smelly package during unloading. Too harsh steps could lead to a voluntary closing, taking into consideration the current competition in the fish meal field from South America, which leaves the American processor little, if any, profit. A large segment of our economy is based on commercial fisheries. The sardine plants in the summer and fall months and the fillet plants of 40 Fathom Fisheries, Inc., and F. J. O'Hara & Sons the year around must have outlets for their waste materials if they are to operate. To force the fish reduction plants to close, or even to give them encouragement to do so, could result in lessened activity in our fishing industry.

A SOUND PUBLIC PROJECT

The public should show its appreciation to the Rockland Fire Department, not only for its recognized skills in fire fighting, but for its efforts to prevent fire. The past week, Chief Wesley Knight and Firemen Walter Boland and Walter Dyer have done an outstanding job in carrying the creed of fire prevention into the schools. The results of their efforts this year and several years past have been evident. The youngsters know more about fire prevention than many of their elders. Their knowledge has rubbed off at home to the point where it is safe to assume that many homes have less fire hazards now because of the suggestions of the children. The interest in the Fire Prevention Week program in the schools was clearly shown Saturday by the number of youngsters who participated in the parade which brought the week to a close.

WALDOBORO HANDS CAMDEN FIRST CROSS COUNTRY LOSS 22-33 IN K-L COMPETITION

CAMDEN — The Waldoboro High School Blue Jays handed the Camden High School cross country squad its first defeat of the year, Friday afternoon, 22-33 as they sent three of their runners home in front with Dick Howe first in the time of 14:12. He was followed over the line by mates Allan Graffam and Bob Spear in that order.

Other finishers were: 4th, McKeen (C); 5th, Richard McKee (C); 6th, Ralph (W); 7th, Garland (C); 8th, A. Pottle (C); 9th, Flagg (W); 10th, Hanrahan (W); 11th, (tie) Sidelinger (W) and Spirio (C); 13th, Knight (C); 14th, Black (C); 15th, M. Pottle (C); 16th, Maliska (C).

INJURY RIDDLED TIGERS ARE DUMPED 26-0 BY OLD TOWN INDIANS SATURDAY AFTERNOON

OLD TOWN — The Rockland High football Tigers dropped their fifth game in six starts at Old Town Saturday as the Indians scored in every quarter to rack up a 26-0 victory.

A right halfback named Reggie Archer proved hard to stop as he romped to three of the touchdowns on runs varying in length from three to 30 yards. The final touchdown came on a pass in the last quarter.

The Tigers never got a scoring march underway, although they got inside the Old Town 20 three times before the defenses of the home team tightened. Once a fumble was recovered by Old Town on the eight yard line and the other two times Rockland was stopped by the suddenly stubborn Old Town line.

Butch Terrio was the best Rockland runner of the day, while Bobby Walker connected on passes to Billy Barbour and Jimmy Johnston effectively on several occasions but never could connect for the distance. Rockland's injury jinx continued as Wes Nichols hurt the shoulder which has bothered him all year and Billy Jackson limped off with a sprained ankle. Bernie Jackson got away one good punt early in the game but re-injured his ankle again and was not as effective thereafter.

Safety Stressed As Season Opens For Hunting

AUGUSTA — On Oct. 1, Maine's hunting season opened on upland game birds—pheasant, partridge, and woodcock. The archery season on deer in Maine opened the same day. Prospects look bright for a successful season, especially for deer and pheasants. Woodcock hunting should be good, while partridge seem to be plentiful in some areas, scarce in others. The partridge population in Maine is believed to be on the increase, after a period of scarcity.

Last year, there were 51 hunting accidents in Maine, of which nine were fatal. Although most of these occurred during deer season, several were bird hunting accidents. Before going hunting, check your gun to be sure it's clean and in good working order. Don't load until you're actually hunting. Don't take the safety off until you're ready to shoot. Above all, never point at anything you don't intend to kill. Be sure of your target. Over the years, the two most common causes of hunting accidents have been careless handling of firearms and mistaking a person for game. So—have fun but be careful! And good hunting.

Some 400 varieties of wild flowers are native to Iceland, and flourish during the short summer.

The Penobscot 4-H Boys Club met, Friday night, at the home of James Mathieson. Following the business session the boys worked on their projects. Billy Meehan showed the boys how to attach a plug to an extension cord and instructed the boys in the correct way of tying an Underwriters Knot. Refreshments were served following the meeting. The next meeting will be held at the home of George Ross on Oct. 21 after school.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Miller of Stryacuse, N. Y., are guests of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Miller, Crescent Beach.

The regular monthly meeting of the local Extension Day Group will be held on Thursday at 10:30 a. m. at the Grange Hall for an all day meeting. Mrs. Lloyd Painter, home management leader, will demonstrate flower arrangements. Members of the dinner committee are Mrs. Mabel McMahon, Mrs. Christine McMahon, Mrs. Hilda O'Brien, Miss Florence Kaler, Mrs. Ella Rackliff and Mrs. Louise Trafton. Also assisting will be Mrs. Joyce Willette, Mrs. Vera Mathieson and Mrs. Joyce Ross. Members are reminded to bring in their memberships at this time. The nominating committee, Mrs. Norma Philbrook, Mrs. Margaret Knowlton, Mrs. Lenora Beals and Mrs. Vera Mathieson will present a slate of new officers to be voted upon.

Wins New Honors

Deborah Hary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hary, and granddaughter of F. P. Colson, has been announced as one of the upper three percent among over a half million competing high school juniors in more than 15,000 high schools in the United States who took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Tests last March. A record number qualified so high that they might have been semifinalists. For this group in the upper three percent of the country, special certificates of commendation will be sent which will make those students eligible for other scholarships in many colleges to which they may apply. Deborah Hary, (whose mother was a graduate of Oak Grove), who entered Oak Grove School in September, 1959, from Rockland High School is one of two seniors who received these letters of commendation.

Miss Hary has also received one of the highest honors that can be bestowed by her fellow students at Oak Grove. The entire school is under two leaders known as Majors for all of their recreational activities. The Oak Grove colors are azure and rose and students compete under one or the other color in the entire sports program. Miss Hary was enthusiastically elected as leader of the captains of every sport at Oak Grove. Her immediate assignment was the welcome and initiation ceremony for her half of the new girls which was the feature of the weekend of Oct. 8.

Since there are no old fashioned, barbaric initiations at Oak Grove, the first assignment for the old girls of the azure and rose teams is, without being found out, to do some kindness for a new girl within 24 hours after her election, such as writing a friendly mysterious letter in case the girl has not been one of those to find a letter in her mail box for several days. The initiation ceremonies are rather regal with each Major for once in the year sitting on a throne, flanked by the members of her color, entertained with the singing of "Color" songs and a few numbers by "old girls" with special talent. The new girls,

Tiger Harriers Top Rockport In Perfect Win

ROCKPORT — The Rockland High School cross country squad defeated Rockport High by the perfect score of 15-48, Thursday afternoon, in a run here. Alan Post and Bob Hillgrove came over the finish line hand in hand in first place and were clocked at 12:34.

Others figuring in the scoring were: 3rd, Brewer (R); 4th, Raymond (R); 5th, Allen (R); 6th, Pound (Rpt); 7th, Condon (R); 8th, Flaherty (R); 9th, Thurston (Rpt); 10th, Crockett (Rpt).

The win finds Rockland with a 4-3 mark on the year to date.

Buying Power of Factory Workers In Small Drop

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Factory workers' spendable earnings and buying power showed small seasonal declines in July, the U. S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics announced.

Earnings after a deduction of Federal income and social security taxes dropped by 36 cents a week to $81.23 for a worker with three dependents and to $73.67 for a worker without dependents. The declines resulted from a seasonal reduction in the factory workweek, which went down 0.2 hours over the month.

The decline in spendable earnings, together with a slight increase in consumer prices, reduced the buying power of factory workers' earnings by about one-half percent over the month.

Redskins Defeat Thomaston Hill Dalers 23 to 37

THOMASTON — The running Wiscasset High Redskins defeated the Thomaston High School harriers 23-37 Friday afternoon over the local course. Thomaston's Donald Sanborn came in first in the time of 14:05 but the visiting runners were bunched behind him to pick up the win.

Others who finished in the scoring were: 2nd, Hubbard (W); 3rd, Appling (W); 4th, Hall (T); 5th, Morris (W); 6th, Sewall (W); 7th, Peasley (W); 8th, Stockford (W); 9th, Miller (T); 10th, Albert (W); 11th, Robinson (T); 12th, Welmouth (T).

The annual Knox - Lincoln League cross county meet will be held Friday at the Camden Hills State Park.

Waldoboro—Carl Buzen of Waldoboro was elected secretary of the Gideon Association at Houlton Saturday where the group was ending a three day convention.

Waldoboro—A car which State Police said was operated by John Parlin, 19, of Waldoboro skidded off Depot Street shortly after noon Sunday and struck a water hydrant, breaking it off. Parlin, alone in the car was not injured but the rear of his car was damaged in the amount of $400. He told police that he was coming around the sharp curve and lost control when he turned out to avoid a car coming in the opposite direction. The hydrant was broken cleanly off and knocked several feet away.

Obituary

When making out your will remember your church and your hospital.

MRS. MINNIE PAGE

WARREN—Mrs. Minnie Page, 82, of Warren, died in Rockland Sunday. She was the widow of Fred Page. She was born in Lincolnville, Dec. 18, 1877, the daughter of Eben and Julia Young Fernald.

Surviving are two sisters, Miss Mabel Fernald and Miss Gladys Fernald of Thomaston; nieces and nephews.

She was a member of the Warren Baptist Church and had been church clerk.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the Warren Baptist Church with Rev. Sterling Helmer, officiating. Interment will be at Youngs Town Cemetery, Lincolnville.

GEORGE L. ALLEY

SPRUCE HEAD—George L. Alley, 70, died Saturday at a Waldoboro Nursing Home. He was a former fisherman and at one time had been assistant light keeper at White Head.

He was born in Jonesport, June 9, 1890, the son of Arthur and Alberta Faulkingham Alley.

He was a veteran of World War I.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mary S. Alley of Round Pond; one sister, Mrs. Olive Faulkingham of Southwest Harbor; and a brother, Warren Alley of Rockland.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the Flanders Funeral Home, Waldoboro, with Rev. Leroy H. Curtis, pastor of the Waldoboro Methodist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Greenwood Cemetery, Jonesport.

The white House was first wired for electricity in 1890, during term of Benjamin Harrison.

Over one-fourth of the fires that break out in the United States each year are caused by careless use of matches and smoking materials. Mis-use of electricity and faulty electrical equipment are the second most common causes of loss, followed by lightning.

DIED

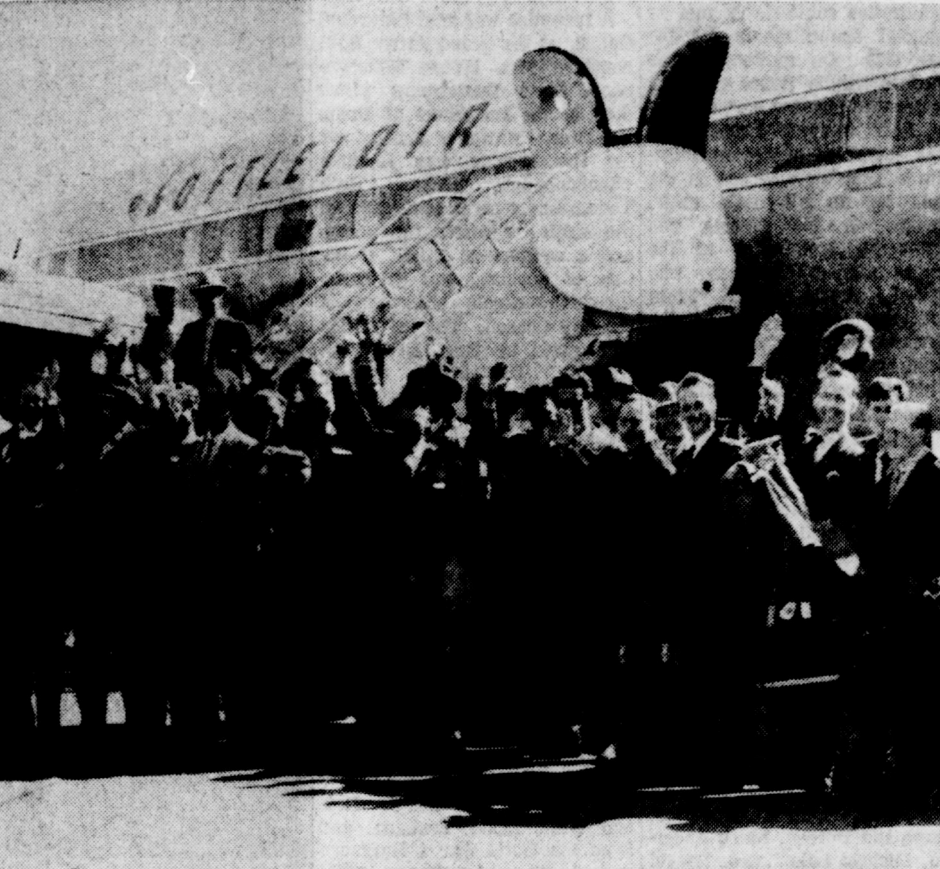

Page—At Rockland, Oct. 16, Mrs. Minnie Page of Warren, age 82 years. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the Warren Baptist Church with Rev. Sterling Helmer officiating. Interment will be in Youngs Town Cemetery, Lincolnville.

Morgan—At Middleboro, Mass., Oct. 11, Walter Morgan of Middleboro, husband of Matilda L. Morgan, formerly of Rockland, age 47 years. Funeral services were held in Middleboro, Mass. Interment was in Middleboro Cemetery.

Alley—At Waldoboro, Oct. 15, George L. Alley, formerly of Spruce Head, age 70 years. Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the Flanders Funeral Home in Waldoboro with Rev. Leroy H. Curtis, pastor of the Waldoboro Methodist Church, officiating. Interment will be held Thursday at 11 a. m. in Greenwood Cemetery, Jonesport.

The Icelandic Singers, a 39-member male chorus from Reykjavik, greet onlookers at New York's Idlewild Airport after arriving on an Icelandic Airlines flight. The group will perform at Rockland Nov. 4.

The Icelandic Singers, 39 member male chorus from Reykjavik, Island, arrived at Idlewild Airport, N. Y., on Oct. 1 at 7 a. m. on Icelandic Airlines Flight 601. The group embarked on its second transatlantic tour of the United States and Canada on Monday, Oct. 3, and will go as far west as the Dakotas and Winnipeg. The chorus first toured here 14 years ago.

The Icelandic Singers is the top chorus in a country which is famous for its abundance of excellent male choruses. The art of choral singing is almost a national pastime of the Republic of Iceland.

Just prior to their repatriation from their first long playing record, called "The Icelandic Singers", for the Monitor label (MP 385), which was released on Sept. 26 and is now available throughout the country.

The Icelandic Singers, called "Karlakór Reykjavíkur" in their native land, have gained international recognition through widespread tours all over the world. Rockland is included in their 40 city tour and they will open the Knox County Community Concert Association season at the Rockland Community Building, the evening of Nov. 4.

Whittemore and Lowe, duopians, will be presented Oct. 19 at the University of Maine's Memorial Gymnasium at 8:15 p. m.

I notice recently that a new faculty member has been appointed to the staff of the College of Arts and Sciences at the University of Maine.

Named was Herald Jones of Friendship. Jones, married and father of two children, is a native of Lebanon, Indiana. He graduated from DePauw University in 1920. Later he received a bachelor's degree in music from the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y., and his master's degree from Columbia University Teachers' College. Mr. and Mrs. Jones moved to Friendship about a year ago.

From New York comes a report of a poll conducted by The Christian Herald to determine the 50 hymns America loves best.

"The Old Rugged Cross" led a list of 1,666 hymns named in the 50 state survey. "What A Friend We Have In Jesus" was second, "In The Garden" was third, "How Great Thou Art" was fourth, and "Sweet Hour of Prayer" was fifth.

Last Friday evening, it was my pleasure to be invited to the Rubinstein Club's opening meeting. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Margaret Ingersoll, Old County Road, and was a beautiful setting for the lovely evening of Chopin presented by the members of the Rubinstein Club.

The program opened with a paper on "The Life of Chopin" presented by Mrs. Jeanne Smith of Thomaston, and she in turn announced the numbers to be presented. Those taking part were: Mrs. Ruth Sanborn, Helen McAuliffe, Mrs. Dana Newman, Nancy Link, Dorothy Lawry, and the Rubinstein Chorus under the direction of Mrs. Esther Rogers. Mrs. Etta Ballands of Winthrop, composer and pianist, was an honored guest.

This week I am taking a vacation and plan to enjoy a week of music. Sunday, I am attending the Whittemore and Lowe concert in Bath, and will be overnight guest of Mr. and Mrs. William U. Niss. He is the president of the Bath Area Community Concert Association. On Monday, I am going on to Worcester, Mass., to attend the Worcester Music Festival, hearing such artists as: Glen Gould, Richard Tucker, Isaac Stern, Roberta Peters, Gina Bachauer; The Detroit Symphony Orchestra, and the Worcester Festival Chorus. I will be in New York for a couple of days, taking in a Broadway show or two, and a meeting with Gerald Devlin, vice president of Community Concerts, Inc.

Another One Will Be Here SOON!

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Christine Mank at Stickneys Corner at a date in November to be announced. Miss Leavitt will conduct a meeting on today's clothing market. It will be an evening meeting.

Turns Post Over To Son

WARREN—Mrs. Chester Wyllie, who has been playing the organ at the Warren Baptist Church for the past 34 years retired July 1st of this year and her son Robert, shown above, took over. Mrs. Wyllie, who teaches at the Warren High School, said she could remember when she used to travel by horse and buggy to church. At that time there was a stall in back of the church where the horse would be tied up during the service. Robert said his mother encouraged him to play the organ and that he took training while studying at Gordon College in Boston.

Outdoors Around Knox County

The Keag River bridge at South Thomaston has been the scene of unusual striped bass action this season. The run has been longer than in many years. Although most of the fish taken have come far from setting records, the size increased as the

"The 1960 Striper Explosion"

PART I

Outdoor writers, sports columnists, coastal fishery personnel, "along the coast" magazine editors, and just about everyone else who is concerned about Maine's natural resources from the sports angle are admitting that the "big news" of the 1960 recreational season just past was the tremendous and quite unexpected migration of striped bass through our coastal waters and far into Canada in the few short weeks since May first, when they were first reported along the coast of Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

The first indication that something unusual in striper activity along the northeastern coastal area might be brewing came in "stringy" reports and vague hints from the Chesapeake (concluded to be striper spawning grounds), early this spring, that what appeared to be countless millions of small sized fish, possibly yearlings or two year olds, were schooling in the big bay preparing to hit the first warming trend of north bound currents for parts unknown, but presumed to be their usual range which dwindles to a token in its northern New England limit.

As the run entered Maine waters at Kittery, it presented no more than usual proportions to fishermen and coastal biologists except that the fish were mostly small and "scrappy", the latter being their greatest appeal to the uninitiated.

Within the next few weeks and with everyone quite unprepared to meet the challenge the onrush of young stripers offered to biologists and sportsmen alike. These fish proceeded to overrun the most "far fetched" predictions, and ranged shore to shore in every bay, tidal inlet, and harbor, from the mainland to the remote islands all the way to the Canadian provinces to surpass any similar event within the memory of presently living generations.

Maine sport fishermen always faithful to the renowned prestige of the State's inland waters were reluctant to share their inborn devotion for trout, salmon and bass, with any salt water migrant who might capriciously decide to head back to Cape Cod about the time they got to fishing. So the 1960 striper run got few inland converts until early July when the more "elite" inland species quit biting and "went down".

If there is one thing a "dyed-in-the-wool" fisherman "chafes" over it's a depression in activity.

Non-purist scouts from behind the "black fly and mosquito curtain" started wending their way towards the coast for a sample of this "linesides fishing" that the Bay State had been "crowing about" for years—nor were they in the least disappointed.

I believe it is safe to assume that in their first experience with these "pint size" stripers, more expensive, light weight, and ornate fishing gear was busted, lost or developed a husky coat of rust during the 1960 season than would ever have resulted from years of inland angling—for "angling" is hardly the proper description to apply to striper fishing when it's fast.

It was at about this juncture of the excitement that our picture began to assume something more than just another striper flurry.

Fully alerted by the fantastic proportions of the run both numerically and by its widespread area of activity, the State Coastal Fisheries Commission, grasping at the theory this might well be "just the beginning"—and bolstered by experienced opinion of "down-the-coast" authorities on striper behavior—put their wardens and biologists on an appraisal operation that (at best) could scarcely do better than "guess at it".

With incoming reports from the most remote coastal and offshore areas sounding like the hallucinations of a "lost weekend", and with the "thundering striper herd" advancing at all points of the compass, everyone concerned was mentally "snowed under" by the stampede.

Stripers were caught in coastal trout brooks, marooned in tidal pools, picked up in lobster traps, seized by herring fishermen, landed from bridges and harbor docks, snagged by flounder fishermen—and one fellow season went along. Pleasant weekend days have found the bridge crowded with fishermen, few of whom went home without a strike.

who tied his empty dinghy to its customary mooring while he tended his traps, came back to find a striper flopping around in the bilge.

Besides presenting themselves liberally at usual "hot spots", these hard feeding fish churned the shallows to a roily foam, beached themselves on mussel beds, got stranded in coastal flatland dikes at ebb tide and ran miles into accessible fresh water streams and rivers.

Fishermen at our most renowned Atlantic salmon rivers were repeatedly fired by what some salmon purists called "those d—d striped bass"—and if you think the passive sport of smelt fishing was immune by its geographic isolation—just remember the fellow at Harrington's Cove who early in October lost pole, line and all to a striper who dared to take a "swipe" at a "dangled smelt worm".

Where will it end? What does the future hold. Will they be back in 1961.—These are the questions you'll be hearing ever so often between now and next May.

The big brass of coastal fisheries researchers from Eastport to the Carolinas say, "Yes, it's only the beginning". But the fishermen, long accustomed to "spurts and flurries" in their inland waters since way back B.S. (before stripers) and only listening with one ear and have their fingers crossed.

Fishing tackle, sporting goods, and hardware store owners are more optimistic however, and are already planning to carry big stocks of the favorite lures and the more durable tackle prescribed for salt water fishing so as not to be displaying the "sold out" sign which so frequently dominated their showcases in 1960.

Another chapter of this series will be presented in some forthcoming issue of The Courier-Gazette.

Flowers arranged by Mrs. Maud Simpson consisted of fall flowers and foliage; and one large Easter lily blossom in memory of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beverage; daughter Mrs. Linda Carver; and Mrs. Anna Beverage. This was the Easter Memorial Lily from the family and has had five blossoms but only one kept for Sunday. The 17th would have been Mrs. Frank Beverage's birthday.

Rev. and Mrs. Merriam are leaving this week on their vacation. Rev. Howard Welch of Rockland will supply the pulpit on the next three Sundays and Rev. Mr. Craig of Bangor on the fourth Sunday.

St. George

The Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church of St. George at Wiley's Corner met for the first time since the summer recess, Oct. 11, at the home of Mrs. Helen Thomas of Wiley's Corner. Assisting Mrs. Thomas for the evening was Mrs. Ena Hawkins. Mrs. Ardele Hazleton, president, handled the business meeting and arranged the program which was presented. Mrs. Dorothy Rackliff was elected secretary. Devotions were led by Miss Leola Robinson in the absence of the Spiritual Life chairman, Mrs. Lorna Lewis.

Miss Jessie Crawford, formerly president of the Baptist Training Missionary School in Chicago, spoke of her work among the American Indians and a film was shown of Mission work in South Dakota with the Indians. Miss Crawford's sister, Miss Winifred, was also a guest. The sisters live in New Jersey but have a summer cottage at Spruce Head. Mrs. Marian Barnes sang a solo with Mrs. Hawkins at the piano. Refreshments were served following the meeting and program.

Other officers for this year are Mrs. Betty Kinney, vice president; Mrs. Winnie Milne, treasurer and Love Gift chairman; Mrs. Louise Irvin and Mrs. Barnes, chairmen of White Cross; and Mrs. Hawkins, chairman of literature.

The newly formed Men's Fellowship of the First Baptist Church of St. George met at the Church at Wiley's Corner for a supper and program Oct. 13. On the supper committee were Almond Hall, chairman, Jim Ray, Rev. Vernon Jordan, pastor of the church, and Kempster Hawkins. These men planned and served the supper which had been prepared by the ladies of the church. Rev. Jordan showed a film about migrant farmers and their difficulties amid poor surroundings and the good that can be done in such communities by persons receiving an education in both school and church. The theme was that of Home Missionary work. Projects were discussed by the men with the making and refinishing of furniture to be done during the winter and painting of the building in the spring. The Fellowship was formed for the purpose of better acquainting the men through the program of fellowship that they may know each other better.

The next supper meeting will be held Nov. 17 at which time officers will be elected. The Fellowship will also meet with the Lincoln County Baptist Men's Group at the Tenants Harbor Baptist Church Oct. 29.

Switzerland and Great Britain each must import about half of their food.

It's just good business to pave your parking lots with low-cost

soil-cement

No potholes and messy puddles. Soil-cement grows stronger with age—all but eliminates maintenance! Whether it's a tax-supported parking lot or one for a private enterprise, it makes good sense to pave with long-lasting soil-cement. Actually it's the strongest pavement other than concrete. Tests prove it grows stronger year after year. It won't pot-hole or soften—won't collect water. It stays level!

Initial expense is low. The main ingredient can even be soil at the site. This is mixed with portland cement and water, rolled solid and topped with a thin bituminous covering. Thousands of miles are used annually on state and county roads, city streets and parking lots. Write for free booklet.
