Many Ideas On Education Emerge At Area Session

OWLS HEAD — A myriad of ideas, thoughts, comments, criticisms of the State's educational system and its components was aired, Tuesday night, at the Owls Head Central School as a panel of laymen presented a program under the sponsorship of the Knox County Committee of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Education. Although the topic of the evening was curriculum, discussions ranged into finance, teacher qualifications, and even expanded use of plants and facilities.

Participating on the panel were Kennedy Crane, Jr., of Rockland, State Prison Warden Allan Robbins of Thomaston, Mrs. Margaret Gutoske, R.N., of Thomaston, Arthur N. Thurston, Jr., of Rockland, David Hoch of Rockland and David Brown of Hope.

More than 100 persons from all sections of Knox County attended by invitation. William Sperl of Washington, a member of the committee, introduced moderator Fred L. Perkins, Jr., of Warren.

"The recurring theme of the speakers was that the schools are not adequately preparing young people for every day living. This was aimed particularly at the group which does not have a formal education beyond high school. There was some comment relative to standardized science teaching.

In an open question and answer session, such ideas as a school tax, increased participation by the state in the cost of education, Federal aid to education, a longer school year, educational TV and many others were offered.

David Brown of Hope summed up the open discussion with the observation that no matter how high the standards are set, the whole program is geared to the availability of the money to carry it out.

In the five-minute presentations by the panelists the following thoughts were given:

Crane, owner-manager of a department store, pointed up the need for more student guidance. He also suggested school curricula should relate more closely to local situations, and employment opportunities.

Robbins urged that "fringe courses" not be taught during basic school hours but should be relegated instead to extra-curricular status.

He also suggested that teachers and school officials should stress practical aspects of everyday life, such as good manners and the social amenities, in an attempt to create attitudes that would help students when they leave school and enter the competitive life outside.

Belfast Man Is Fined On Hit And Run Count

A charge of leaving the scene of an accident was brought against Donald Moirs, 25, of Belfast in Rockland Municipal Court, Wednesday morning. Camden police picked up Moirs Tuesday night after his car and two others were damaged on Belmont Avenue in Camden around 10 o'clock.

The two cars were parked and received estimated damages totaling $500. One belonged to John Norman of South Portland while the other is owned by an out of state woman said Camden police. A warrant was issued against Moirs after he had been questioned about the incident by police officers.

Judge Christy Adams found Moirs guilty and levied a fine of $40. The defendant who pleaded not guilty appealed the decision to the February term of Superior Court on personal bail of $100.

City Report Earns Top Honors In MMA Ratings

The Rockland city report has won the rating of "supreme" among cities with population between 5,000 and 10,000, according to a release from the Maine Municipal Association Wednesday.

The town report of Camden was rated "superior" among towns of 2,500 to 5,000. Thomaston's report won the rating of excellent, as did the reports of Rockport, Vinalhaven and Warren.

Judging was based on contents, cover and information in the report.

The Rockland report was published in its entirety in The Courier-Gazette at the time of issue, and the booklet on which judging was done was printed in the commercial printing department of The Courier-Gazette.

Increased Sales Permit Dragon To Call Off Production Cut Back Set To Start Monday

THOMASTON — A pleasant Thanksgiving present was handed to the employees of the Dragon Cement Company, Wednesday, when it was announced that a curtailment of production, which had been set to start on Monday, will not be necessary.

"The sales department put on a concerted effort and thus we are able to continue with normal production", plant superintendent James McCamant told his employees.

He explained that the firm has experienced good construction sales as a result of the effort. Sales were not as much as the company would like to see, McCamant said, but sufficient to warrant continued production.

Dragon's business is pegged directly to the New England construction picture which is down substantially from last year.

Good fall weather has played a part in an increase in sales, McCamant stated. It has permitted construction work to continue later in the season than usual.

The outlook for the rest of the winter cannot be determined definitely at this time, McCamant said. "On the present basis, all I can say is that the situation looks promising and we are very hopeful of continuing production through the winter", was his statement.

If the anticipated curtailment had occurred it would have been the second within a matter of weeks. The October cut back did not last as long as was anticipated and many workers did not feel a financial pinch because they were able to draw vacation pay. This would not have been true had a second cut back occurred.

Missing A Music Lesson Key To Rescue Of Piano Teacher Stricken At Home

Because a little girl was unable to take her piano lesson, Wednesday morning, an elderly Rockland music teacher was rescued after lying prostrate on the floor of her home for nearly 24 hours. Mrs. Nettie Averill, in her 70s, of 63 Crescent Street was placed on the danger list at Knox Hospital suffering from an undisclosed malady which made it impossible for her to summon help.

Although her physician would not say what was wrong, her nephew, Penobscot County Sheriff Arthur Chandler said Mrs. Averill had been suffering from diabetes.

Alvin Small, a neighboring storekeeper, became concerned when he learned that two girls who took music lessons from Mrs. Averill had been unable to gain entrance to the house. The first girl visited the house Tuesday afternoon, and the second Wednesday morning. When the second girl reported she was unable to get in, Small sent a customer to the house to check on Mrs. Averill's whereabouts. The customer was able to enter by a rear door and discovered the victim. Small notified the police when he learned of Mrs. Averill's condition and the fire department's emergency truck was dispatched to the scene.

Mrs. Averill was conscious when firemen arrived and said that she had been lying on the floor since Tuesday afternoon. Oxygen was used until an ambulance and an attending physician arrived and took her to the hospital.

TRAVELING DIRT — In a unique "ground sprinkling" ceremony inaugurating construction of a new 140-bed South Pavilion at Grant Hospital, Chicago, student nurse Susan Niemi (right) of Berwyn, Ill., sprinkles soil from the Knox County General Hospital in Rockland, Me., into a beaker held by Grant graduate Zivile Zemulys, Chicago. Grant Executive Director Norman D. Bailey waits for the beaker to be filled with earth gathered from 99 American hospitals to sprinkle on the site of the new construction.

CHICAGO—Several ounces of soil from the Knox County General Hospital in Rockland were sprinkled at the site of a new addition to Grant Hospital, Chicago, during Groundbreaking Day ceremonies, Nov. 11. The "ground sprinkling" ceremony symbolized the extraordinary development in medical care fostered by American hospitals in the Twentieth Century, and pointed up Grant's desire to incorporate the spirit of all hospitals into its new addition. Soil samples from 99 hospitals were used. Represented were outstanding hospitals from every state of the Union, including Alaska, Hawaii and Washington, D. C.

Administrator of the Knox County General Hospital is Geoffrey Torney.

During the ceremonies, Norman D. Bailey, executive director of Grant Hospital, extended his thanks to the administrators of the hospitals, who contributed not only a packet of soil, but messages of congratulations for Grant's expansion program.

The groundbreaking festivities herald the start of construction of a $2,386,000, six-story, 140-bed addition.

Rockland Trawlers Tangle On Banquereau Bank; Warren Crewman Sustains Broken Leg

Two 40 Fathom Fisheries trawlers, the Tide and Squall tangled trawls Sunday while fishing close together on Banquereau Bank off Cape Breton Island. Incidents following the underwater tangle of nets, trawl doors and cables led to the injury of Leonard Higgins, about 40 years of age, of Warren, a crewman on the Squall.

Arthur Thurston, Jr., of 40 Fathom said Wednesday evening that Higgins sustained a broken leg above the knee when a cross-tree on a stanchion let go and struck him as efforts were made to free the entangled trawlers. As soon as the trawlers were freed, he was taken to a hospital in Louisburg, Cape Breton Island.

As near as can be determined from radiophone conversations between the trawler captains and the Rockland office, the two craft were fishing close together Sunday. While no detailed explanation of the accident will be forthcoming until the Squall docks here today and the Tide Friday, it is understood that the Tide fouled her net and that of the Squall in her propeller. Whether they were paying out the nets and taking them in is not known.

The nets were freed from the Tide's wheel the same day to let the Squall proceed to Louisburg to land the injured crewman. The scene of the accident was about 500 miles from Rockland.

Master of the Tide is Captain Adin Bishop while Ronald Whiffen captains the Squall.

City Election Polling Times Set By Council

With the dust hardly settled from the Nov. 8 election, the Rockland City Council took the necessary steps for the Dec. 5 Rockland city election. The polls will open at 8 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

The council accepted the resignation of Mrs. Bernice Staples, Democratic ballot clerk in Ward 1, and appointed Mrs. (Continued on Page Eight)

Second Window Break At Central Maine Power Office Nets Television Set

For the second time in a month the Central Maine Power office premises were broken into. This time an eight by ten foot window was broken and a G. E. portable television set valued at around $200 made off with. Russell Richardson, one of Central Maine's employees, points to the spot where the TV set had been. Rockland police first discovered the break around midnight Monday and were working on clues that might lead to identification, Wednesday. Photo by Campbell

Increased Parking Vital To Life Of Rockland's Main Street, City Council Told By Merchants Group

A spokesman for the Merchants Committee of the Rockland Chamber of Commerce pictured Rockland's three million dollar Main Street as being in a perilous position which can be eased by improving and increasing off-street parking facilities. Keith Goldsmith told the Rockland City Council, Monday night, $25,000 is needed for parking facilities next year.

In requesting that $25,000 be included in the 1961 budget for parking, Goldsmith outlined six projects the Merchants Committee would like to see carried out. Without making a specific promise, Council Chairman Charles E. Bicknell, II said: "We will do all within budget spent about $1,000 a year over the past three years for parking facility improvements. He also asserted that several years ago $7,000 was earmarked for parking and only $2,000 was used. He asked the council to see that all earmarked money in 1961 be used.

Goldsmith also asserted that there is not one public, hot topped, marked parking lot in the city. In placing an estimated price tag on the projects the following figures emerged: Lindsey Street, $9,000 plus hot top; Community Building, $2,000; Tillson Avenue, $2,200; and Universalist Church lot from $2,500 to $5,000 depending on the cost of razing (Continued on Page Eight)

COMMITTEES IN FULL STUDY OF POSSIBILITIES IN AREA SCHOOL IN NORTH COUNTY

UNION — The committees studying the various phases of Area School formation spent a busy evening Monday at Union High School. The four towns involved in the study, Union, Washington, Appleton and Warren were well represented. Acting Chairman William Rochon asked the several committees to sit at separate tables. Supt. Earle Spear advised the finance committee; Supt. Harold Wiggin, the transportation group; Herbert Hawes, the building committee; Mrs. Faith Farrow, the population study; and Rochon discussed curriculum with members of that committee.

There are LOTS of important things in life beside money—but, it seems that we need it to get them.

Young Hunter Gets Assist With First Buck

WARREN — A Rockland hunter, Sidney Kaler, got a deer the easy way here Tuesday afternoon when he came upon a five point buck entangled in a wire fence not far from the Sandy Shores road and near the Maine Central Railroad tracks. Even so, it took three shots to dispatch the wildly thrashing animal which dressed out at about 150 pounds.

Kaler was hunting with Bryce Smallwood and Herbert Staples, both of Rockland, and the only hunting knife in the group was dull, so Kaler was forced to use a razor blade during part of the dressing process.

It was the first deer he had ever shot.

Many Ideas

Mrs. Gutoske, educational director of Knox Hospital, outlined a student aid program in effect at the hospital, in which school girls are trained to perform many duties formerly assigned to nurses.

Thurston, plant manager of Forty-Pathom, speaking on the degree of success of elementary schools in preparing pupils for high school, decried what he called social promotion, or the automatic progression of students from one grade to another regardless of how well they had accomplished the year's requirements.

Thurston also echoed Warden Robbins in suggesting schools should do more in the field of character development.

Hoch, vice president of the Rockland-Rockport Lime Company, who tackled the field of science programs, said the programs of various schools should be standardized wherever possible to insure all students the opportunity of receiving a rounded education in the sciences.

He proposed centralized schools as the first step of a program to better prepare students for college science training.

Brown, manager of the Maine Blueberry Growers Association, substituting for Grevis Payson, of Union who was unable to attend, urged small communities to share facilities where possible to increase the opportunities available for their students.

He also suggested that out-of-state teachers retiring in Maine be utilized on a part-time basis. This, he said, would let the towns benefit by their experience and training and also provide a supplementary income for them.

Another of Brown's suggestions was that students be given the opportunity to participate in a work-study program in which they would go to formal classes part of the day and work at jobs part time to gain occupational knowledge and skills.

Mrs. Flora Kollock and Mrs. Nida Copeland, both of Warren; several cousins and a nephew.

Funeral services will be held at the Simmons Funeral Home in Warren, Thursday at 2 p. m. with Rev. Sterling Helmer officiating.

Among survivors are her parents; two daughters, Mrs. Harry True of Kezar Falls and Mrs. Harold W. Chapman of Waldoboro; a brother, Alton Hitchcock of Damariscotta; four grandchildren; an uncle, and several nieces, nephews and cousins.

THE RESULTS OF GOOD PREPARATION AND CRAFTSMANSHIP

We are pleased that the annual city report of the City of Rockland has been rated "Supreme" and first in the annual competition of the Maine Municipal Association for communities between 5,000 and 10,000 in population. The book was a product of the commercial printing department of The Courier-Gazette and proved a prize winner as have several others over the years, all manufactured by the same skilled craftsmen of whom we are more than proud. The report was prepared by City Manager Charles Haynes. Photography for the cover design, which showed a view of the new city hall, was by the Police Department photographer, Patrolman John Low. Congratulations are in order also to the communities of Vinalhaven, Camden, Rockport, Thomaston and Warren, all of whom received ratings of "Excellent" in their respective population categories.

WHAT WILL BE THE COAST'S POSITION IN CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT CHANGES?

The Second Maine Congressional District will pass into history after 1962, according to an edict of the federal government. The notification to the State Tuesday was the result of the 1960 census and the required reapportionment of congressional districts to meet the demands of population shifts. While Maine gained in population, other states gained considerably more and are entitled to added representation. In all, 16 states will lose 21 congressional seats while nine will gain 19 seats. The remaining two go to Hawaii and Alaska. The task of carving up Maine into two congressional districts is the chore of the Maine House of Representatives the coming winter. Should that body fail to carry out the job, two congressmen will be elected from the state at large and congressional districts as such will disappear from the state.

The First and Third Districts would presumably divide the Second District. The First District now covers the counties of Sagadahoc, Cumberland, York and Oxford. Third District counties include Penobscot, Aroostook, Hancock, Piscataquis and Washington. The Second District counties are Knox, Lincoln, Kennebec, Somerset, Androscoggin, Franklin, and Waldo.

At the moment, we do not agree at all with the idea of electing congressmen at large from the state. The only possibility of real attention from a congressman for this section is when we are in a district he represents and to which he has got to return for votes in seeking reelection.

Washington

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Calkin of Portland were guests of his mother, Mrs. Pitt Calkin, at the village last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stickney came Friday from Providence, R. I., to spend the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Coralyn Stickney.

Mrs. Frances Schroyer was the first lucky hunter in this vicinity to shoot a deer. A few days later her husband, Charlie Schroyer, shot one.

The Washington PTA is having a game party at the Prescott Memorial School, Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. The proceeds will benefit the library fund and the co-chairmen are Mrs. Frank Mank and Mrs. George Jones.

Father Who Took Child From Washington School Is Placed On Probation

Clarence J. Carr, 41, of Norwood, Mass., was found guilty and placed on probation in Rockland Municipal Court, Tuesday, on a charge of disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace when he removed his seven year old daughter from a classroom in Prescott Memorial School in Washington, Sept. 12. Carr pleaded innocent to both charges saying that he wanted to take his child out of an "unfit environment" and gain custody of her.

Mrs. Minnie Weaver, teacher of grades one and two in the school brought the charges against Carr and testified that the defendant disrupted her class and several others by pushing her aside, and carrying his daughter out of the school breaking a window on the way.

Judge Christy Adams advised Carr, who is estranged from his wife, to try to gain legal custody of the child and not to take the matter into his own hands. He fined Carr $25 for disturbing the school and suspended a $25 fine with three months in jail on the disorderly conduct charge putting him on probation for one year.

Dr. Hochschild stated that the drive is in no way concerned with fund raising and is being conducted locally by the Maine Medical Association, in co-operation with the nationwide effort of the American Diabetes Association.

The Detection Drive, which is highlighted during Diabetes Week, is an annual education and detection effort; it is in no way involved with fund raising. Nationally, the drive is sponsored by the American Diabetes Association. Locally, it is conducted by 45 affiliate Diabetes Associations and more than 900 County and State Medical Societies.

Camden Town Office Is Busy Place

CAMDEN—In addition to preparations for and the follow up of elections, Camden's Town Office has been a busy place. Town Clerk Orman Goodwin reports issuing 367 resident hunting licenses, 167 combination licenses, 354 fishing licenses, 32 non-resident licenses plus a few 15-day, three-day and junior fishing licenses and a few non-resident hunting licenses in the past few weeks.

Municipal Association at Portland. The Camden Public Works Department has been stock piling sand and putting out snow fence in preparation for winter.

In 1835, 1836 and 1837, the Federal Government was out of debt entirely, and had more money than it knew what to do with. The problem was solved by doing the cash out to the various states.

the building. No figures were available on leasing land from Rhama Philbrick at Union and Park Streets and on Main at Park Street.

In summation, Goldsmith claimed that not only are local merchants concerned about the possibilities of the sharp decline on Main Street and the possibilities of a shopping center, but at least one large chain store is "afraid" of the situation. Goldsmith said one large store has renewed its lease on only a short term basis awaiting to see "what we do and how much initiative we show."

Bicknell reported that an agreement with the County Commission has been received by the city. He noted that only two of the three commissioners signed it, agreeing to join the city in the project. Commissioner George Boynton of Camden did not sign. The two signatures were sufficient to bind the agreement.

IT'S THE LAW: No sign or poster or other non-transparent material shall be placed on the windshield side or rear windows which shall obstruct the driver's view of the highway or intersecting highway. Nothing may be hung as to prevent the driver from having a clear view of the highway in front and to the rear of the vehicles.—Rockland Safety Council.

City Election

Charlotte Staples to replace her. The appointed was recommended by the Democratic City Committee.

Defeated was an ordinance revision which would have banned parking on sections of Walker Place, Beech Street, Grace Street, Rankin Street, Lincoln Street and Summer Street. It was pointed out an ordinance will be introduced at the next meeting to set up two-hour parking zones during school hours on the streets in the vicinity of Rockland High School. A separate ordinance will be set up for those sections of Grace and Rankin Streets for which parking should be banned.

Tabled was a zoning revision recommended by the Planning Board for an area along Maverick Street from Haven's Bottling Works eastward to Camden Street and along Camden Street to include King's Lunch. The council tabled the ordinance to determine why two pieces of residential property within the area were not included. It would create a uniform "C" zone including that area already re-zoned for a bowling alley and super market.

An application for a Beano license requested by the North School PTA was approved. Informally, the council heard a request from Walter Dow, commander of Rockland Memorial Post, VFW, to lease or buy the old school house at Hart's Corner on Old County Road.

Rockport High Chatter

By Richie Sims

Greetings once again from the top of Diamond Hill. The High School is really buzzing, with basketball, cheering, plays, senior pictures and rank cards keeping nearly everyone busy. The juniors, of course, are still hauling in money hand over fist on their "Tatler" advertisements. They must have enough cash now to print their book in solid gold. Oh, well, if they have as good a time in Washington as the seniors did, it's well worth all the work. Good luck, juniors!

There are a few happy faces around the school as a result of the recent election. But most of the students were Nixon-Lodge fans. The school went largely Republican in a mock election held last week. In fact, the only Democrat to win an office was Priscilla M. Costa of Glen Cove, who took the students' vote for Register of Probate.

Anyone passing by the High School at noontime will probably hear the RHS cheerleaders practicing their cheers for Friday's opening of the basketball season. Marie Cavanaugh is head cheerer, and her associates are Kathy Hawkins, Ruth Pierce, Judy Johnson and Bonny Thurston. Substitutes are Carol Goodridge, Kristin Larsen, Linda Whitney and Beverly Curit.

Now we come to the sad part — exams. Wednesday and Thursday of last week were devoted to these "little exercises", and rank cards will be out sometime this week. Everyone is looking forward anxiously to carrying these joyful little epistles home to their parents.

Well, I guess that just about does it. More next week.

Thomaston High Newsletter

By Ronnie Cousins

Strictly from the books: That certainly doesn't apply to the American Government class at Thomaston High School with Frank Leary the teacher.

Live Project
Our group is launching another live project, this one is for the Knox County Regional Planning Commission.

The purposes of this survey is to find out the economic resources of industries that Knox County is best suited for, and whether or not we have the labor supply. The survey will show Knox County's strong points and weak points.

Some of the questions which will be asked on this survey are: How many occupants in a particular dwelling? How many persons are available for employment? Where do you do your shopping? What is your occupation? Do you live here year round or seasonally? Those are just a few of the questions that people will be confronted with.

Our class will cover the whole Town of Thomaston in one day there won't be one house left out.

Each student will be assigned a certain number of streets to cover. Our class would be very grateful to everyone in town if they would cooperate with us.

The Washington Club is starting record hops every Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 10:30, beginning Nov. 15. Various members of the senior class will help at these dances, and we are hoping to get something going that will have a good turnout.

The girls basketball team will start off the 1960 season on Wednesday, Nov. 23, when they will be guests at Union.

Camden High School Tidbits

By Karen Armstrong

Hurrah! That is the cry of most high school students, because Thursday, Nov. 10, marked the end of quarterly exams. However, the anathema is not over, for this Thursday we, the students of good ol' C. H. S., must face rank cards.

Clubs Elect

The Automotive Club has recently elected officers as follows: President, Jim Monroe; vice president, Terry Lamont; secretary, Penny Donaldson; and treasurer, Brian Powers. As the objective of the club is to promote safety on the highways, the group has a great task to accomplish. Good luck to them!

The Science Club has several projects underway. The officers elected for the present school year are: Jerry Littlefield, president; David Garland, vice president; Cecelia Engstrom, secretary; and Elinor Hardy, treasurer. The club is working on the botanical garden which was purchased by the club some years ago and is located behind the high school building. This garden contains various types of trees and plants. During the year the club will sponsor dances and science movies to raise money to enhance the garden. An educational trip is also planned for the spring.

Well, basketball games will be commencing very soon. This year, Camden High School seniors will sponsor dances in the gym directly following home games. We hope they will all be "victory dances."

We have an electronically inclined student in our midst! Kenneth Wadsworth, a sophomore at C. H. S., has established his own radio station. It is in the experimental stages at the present time, but the outlook is promising.

Grade 2—Mrs. Webb

We now have 24 members in the second grade class. Paul Belcher moved out of town during October.

We have had many activities this month.

On Oct. 15, we were invited to attend the Hobby Show in the sixth grade room. We found many items of interest to discuss.

We had our physical examinations on Oct. 21.

Jerome Howard gave a very interesting report about an old coin he had found. It was a penny dated 1846. Kathy Carver also brought a collection of interesting coins.

We have received the Savings Stamp Honor Award twice this month. The children who have purchased these are: Donald Risch, Jerome Howard, Deborah Nelson, Althea Savage, Julie Fuller, Deborah Collins, Sharon Heath, Nancy Anderson, Lawrence Rich, Richard Wellington, Gerald Estes, Kathy Ulmer, Debra Demuth and Kathy Carver.

The decorations for our room were contributed by every member of the class. We had gay jack-o-lanterns which were cut from orange construction paper and decorated with bits of yellow paper. Each child cut and decorated his own. We were very pleased with the individual expressions.

There were more perfect spellers this month. They are: Jerome Howard, Debra Demuth, Deborah Collins, Julie Fuller, Diana Bryant, Sharon Heath and Lawrence Rich. We hope the list will be longer next month.

On Oct. 28, we had our Halloween party. The party committee included Pamela Gleason, Kathy Carver, Julie Fuller, Deborah Collins and Sharon Heath for refreshments, and Deborah Nelson, Richard Wellington and Nancy Anderson for paper cups and paper napkins.

We also received treats from Donald Risch, Gerald Estes and Althea Savage. We were all grateful to the mothers who supplied these.

Jeffrey Gibson has been out for more than a week because of illness. We were glad to have him back again. Richard Wellington stayed out several days because of a bad cut on his leg. We were glad when he returned, also.

Grade 3—Mrs. Teachout

Albion Upham observed his ninth birthday on Oct. 5.

Miss Elizabeth Leavens, the director of the Junior Red Cross of Knox County Chapter of the Red Cross, spoke to each grade in the Central School recently, at which time she told about the planned program for the year ahead. During the first week in November, the members of the six rooms of our school were all enrolled as members of the Junior Red Cross. We have been notified by Miss Leavens that our school was the first one in Knox County to send in its enrollment fee for the current year. At present, our classes are making place mats, nut cups and favors for Togsus for Thanksgiving Day.

The schools of Union were closed on Oct. 6 and 7 so that the teachers might attend the State Teachers' Convention in Portland. They were re-opened on Monday, Oct. 10.

Chester Burns observed his ninth birthday on Oct. 10.

Fire Prevention Week was observed the week of Oct. 10-15 by having practice fire drills at which time our new fire alarm system was used. Howard Hawes, the fire chief of Union, spoke at an assembly of the Union Central School on the subject of "Fire Safety" on Oct. 12. Following the assembly, our grade wrote a story about ways to prevent fire, and they also made posters on Fire Prevention.

In observance of Columbus Day, our class presented a Columbus Day program which included a story about Christopher Columbus, suitable poems and songs.

James Anderson and Donald Rochon have joined the Church Choir of the Methodist Church. Our class was much pleased to have an invitation to visit the Hobby Show, which the sixth grade held recently. They enjoyed the show very much.

The annual Halloween party was held on Friday afternoon, Oct. 28. A Halloween parade through the rooms and on the playground was enjoyed in the morning. Those serving on the refreshment committee for the party were Donald Rochon, Scott Brown, James Beverage, David Carver, James Anderson and Lynn Athearn.

Arithmetic and spelling charts have been started to try to stimulate further interest among the class members in these two lessons.

Our class is busy decorating the third grade room for the month of November.

The pupils of grade three are gradually showing more interest in the Savings Stamp program, and the number of pupils buying stamps regularly is increasing slowly. To further stimulate interest in buying stamps each Thursday, a contest has been started. The members of one team are: Albion Upham, captain; Ralph Noyes, Charles Burgess, John Gibson, Keith Hill, Donald Rochon, Scott Brown, Chester Burns, Cynthia Stewart and Leslie Stewart. The opposing team's members are: Ronald Salo, captain; David Carver, Linda Athearn, James Anderson, Lynn Athearn, James Beverage, Harvey Davis, Edward Blake and David Pease.

American Education Week was observed in our school last week. Book Week is being observed this week, Nov. 13-19, and a suitable program is being planned to try to interest our pupils in more and better reading.

Lynn Athearn, Albion Upham, Edward Blake, Ralph Noyes and James Beverage were the recent winners of Reading Quiz games.

Grade 4—Mrs. Ludwig
Robin Collins and Michael McAllister have been promoted to Group I in Reading. We are glad to welcome them.

We had a Halloween party and parade on Oct. 28. We wish to thank the following pupils who brought refreshments, paper napkins and paper cups: Kerry Collins, Robin Collins, Hartley Beverage, Marlis Merrifield, Paul Payson, Gregory Demuth, Donna Smith, Howard Bennett and Louise Beote.

Gilbert Dare, Marlis Merrifield and Crystal Upham celebrated birthdays in October.

We have won the Honor Award for the most pupils buying Savings Stamps for the past two weeks. Our Stamp Captains in October were Naomi Grotton, Donna Smith, Suzanne Taylor and Cynthia Burns.

We had an unexpected long weekend starting Oct. 6, because of Teachers' Convention and furnace failure on Oct. 10. Robin Collins tells us that he has a new baby sister, whose name is Almina.

Gerard Roy has completed his Savings Stamp book and plans to buy a bond soon.

Paul Payson brought a game to our Halloween party and we had fun playing it.

We wish to thank Paul Payson and Linda Heath for two new yardsticks which they brought us to use in arithmetic.

Paul Payson won the highest rank in a Weekly Reader reading test recently.

Fire Prevention Week was observed in our school by a fire drill on Oct. 12, and an assembly in the gymnasium that afternoon with Fire Chief Hawes as guest speaker. After the assembly, we wrote stories as part of our language work. Especially good ones were written by Marc Burgess and Kerry Collins. Alton Wyman made a poster and brought pictures of fires and their cost, which he had taken from newspapers.

We are making up an order of Arrow Book Club books to send in. Marc Burgess, Linda Heath, Kerry Collins, Brenda Miller, Marlis Merrifield, Ronald Aho, Nancy Blake, Cynthia Burns, Naomi Grotton, Gerard Roy, Michael McAllister, Suzanne Taylor and Edward Bean have all bought books.

Donna Lisa Smith has joined the Weekly Reader Book Club, and Paul Payson, Marlis Merrifield and Gregory Demuth have joined the First Book Club.

Grade 5—Mrs. Moody
Fire Prevention Week, Howard Hawes, Union's Fire Chief, spoke on fires and ways of prevention, at an assembly in the gymnasium. The pupils afterward wrote a story on "Fire Prevention". Wanda Drinkwater, Joan Carroll, Mary Ellen Anderson and Sara Walker's stories were judged the best.

We all were invited to the sixth grade Hobby Show one day in Mrs. Heath's room. We all enjoyed it very much. There were many beautiful and interesting displays.

We received new song books this month for our music class. The books have some pretty songs which Mr. Garrison will teach to us during the year.

We made Halloween posters for the bulletin board and Halloween place mats for the patients at Togsus. Mary Ellen Anderson, Sara Walker, Deborah Clark and Joan Carroll's place mats were judged as some of the prettiest.

The teachers all attended the State Convention at Portland and the County Convention at Camden in October.

We have sold many defense stamps this month. One week, the sales totaled $38.15. The girls and boys in our class who bought stamps are: Sara Walker, son, Deborah Clark, Irene Burns, Rebecca Shaw, Richard Gleason, Wanda Drinkwater and Wanda Drinkwater.

Sara Walker, Mary Ellen Anderson, Walter Richardson, Richard Gleason, Janet Stewart, Irene Burns, Rebecca Shaw, Wanda Drinkwater, Sharon Gibson, David Hall, Roseanna Gleason and Deborah Clark had Sodium Fluoride Applications while Miss Young, the dental nurse, was at school.

Deborah Clark, Sharon Gleason, David Hall, Richard Gleason, Wanda Drinkwater, Irene Burns and Roseanna Gleason all bought books from the Arrow Book Club.

We all enjoyed a Halloween party in our room. The pupils in grades one, two and three paraded through our room in the forenoon; some in costumes and a few without. In the afternoon, the pupils in grade six came into our room to help and to share our program.

We all sang Happy Birthday to Rebecca Shaw on her birthday.

Walter Richardson, Louis Leach, Loren Athearn, Richard Gleason, Irvine Leach, Sara Walker, Roseanna Gleason, Mary Ellen Anderson, Rebecca Shaw, Wanda Drinkwater, Sharon Gibson, Joan Carroll and Deborah Clark made a very pretty blackboard border for November.

Grade 6—Mrs. Heath
Maurice Miller made signs for each grade to be placed on the door of each room. These signs will enable visitors to locate the different grades and the teachers.

Recess milk and lunch slips have been taken care of by Joel Wentworth, Stephen Gleason and Kenneth Beverage.

Sodium Fluoride Applications are being given in some of the grades. However, we are not having them in grade six.

We would like to thank Lottie and Grace Brown of South Union, formerly of Camden, for their gift of Geographic Magazines. These books will be available to all grades and will be especially useful in our Social Studies. We would like to add that the Brown sisters are Dennis Taylor's great aunts.

This seems to be a very busy time as everyone is studying for nine-week's tests.

Mrs. Heath brought specimen ballots to school and put them on the board. The majority of the sixth grade seems to be Republican.

Children who have already brought in their orders for Arrow Books are Sharon Lovejoy, Larry Goderre, Sylvia Doughty and Mary Collins.

Nancy Spear, Marlene Hill, Sandra Savage and Mary Collins have been on Hall Duty this month.

We enjoyed a Halloween party on Friday afternoon. After joining Mrs. Moody's fifth grade for a short program, we returned to our room for the rest of the party. The following costumes were judged the best: Bobby Campbell, beatnik; Maurice Miller, devil; Sharon Lovejoy, Fairy Princess. Refreshments of sweet cider and doughnuts were enjoyed.

We held our Hobby Show on Oct. 14, with Kate Clark as chairman. An account of this activity has already been published in The Courier-Gazette. Stephen Gleason, whose name was omitted, had a very fine exhibit of flags and gave a very interesting talk on flags and their origins. There were 14 guests to sign the guest book.

Larry Goderre brought cards and folders of some of the interesting places and things he saw on his recent trip to Quebec.

Linda Taylor is back at school after being ill.

Everyone in our room has joined the Junior Red Cross and have received their pins. We made place mats and nut cups for Halloween to be sent to the Veterans' Hospital at Togsus.

Gregory Grotton and Gary Kirkpatrick made us a new bookcase for our room. Thank you, boys.

Stephen Gleason brought us a poster which he had made with the states, state flower, capital, and the statehood of each state.

John Upham is the "big hunter" in our room. He shot a 160 pound doe last Saturday.

American Education Week hostesses and hosts, elected by popular vote, were: Debra Hanley, Rebecca Duff, Charles McAuliffe and Leland Miller. Visitors during the week were the mothers of Paul Montgomery, Danny Stone, Jacqueline Cuthbertson, Rhoda Fields, Lynette Bean and an aunt of Keith Rose.

Grade IV — Mrs. Brooks

The fourth grade held a candy sale this month. The class made $12.41. The children are planning to buy map skill booklets with some of the money. Many thanks are extended to the parents for making this possible.

A very attractive mural relating to the life of the Pilgrims has been made by the class.

One essay on Veterans' Day has been submitted to Mr. Parker. This was written by Nelson Crockett.

The class is planning a trip to the library during Book Week.

Mary Powell from Owls Head Central School has joined our class.

Birthdays have been observed during the past month by June Smith and Hiram Brown.

Many interesting items have been brought to school this month. Books have been brought by June Smith, Judy LeGage, Charles Novicka, Gloria Watson, Joanne Lindsey, Conrad Rowling and Steven Cook.

A science laboratory was brought by Hiram Brown. A scallop shell and lobster claw were brought by Clifford Curtis. A bee hive was brought by Mary Powell. Petrified wood and shark's teeth were brought by Nelson Crockett. A bird's nest was brought by Collette Kavanagh. Clay was brought by Richard Goss and pictures have been brought by Judith Smith and Leroy Pirth.

Grade IV — Mrs. Phinney

Earl Drown is the only pupil in our room who has a November birthday.

Angel Kaler has moved and is no longer in our group.

Our reading contest is progressing. Goldie McAuliffe has read the most books and given the book reports. Other children who have read a number of books are Timmy Duff, Janet Gardner, Eileen Easler, Patricia Orne, and Robert Widdecombe.

To enrich our social studies discussions, James Brannan brought a landlocked salmon to our room and gave a report about it. All the children drew a picture of a salmon and wrote a short report about the salmon and its customs. Kendall Rogers brought a moose's antler found in the woods. This led to research work and a discussion about how and when a moose sheds its horns.

Joseph Sofayer brought articles to help us visualize some of the surroundings of Pemive who lives near the Amazon River. Joseph also brought us a pretty plant in a harmonizing planter.

For science lessons the children have made scrapbooks of Living Things. They found pictures and wrote short articles about each class of living things. Robert Widdecombe brought a very good written report on fish and their structure. He answered many questions which we didn't find answered in our text.

Our room helpers on this month are James Brannan, Joseph Sofayer, Goldie McAuliffe, Carol Nash, James Barnes, Rebecca Harvey, Eileen Easler, Eugene Proctor and Earl Drown.

By the vote of the class, Cheryl Simmons and Joseph Sofayer were chosen hostess and host during American Education Week. Eleven parents visited our room during school hours. We were pleased to have these parents visit us and we hope they will come again soon. You should have seen the children's faces beam when their parents came into the room. We hope other parents will be able to visit our class. You are welcome to come whenever it is convenient.

Grade V — Mrs. Laaka

Fayleen Turner is the only one in this room celebrating a November birthday.

The first reading contest closed October 28. It was a close race. Brenda Johnson's "Pumpkins" had read 50 books and Iris Pease's "Butterflies" read 48. John Robinson and Thomas Philbrook will be the next captains as they read the most books.

Cheryl Curtis showed the class a scallop in the shell which her father had brought home from a fishing trip.

The class has been reading about "Westward Expansion" in the "Days and Deeds" book. During the discussion of desert life, Thomas Philbrook brought in an unusual cactus plant which he is leaving in the room for all to enjoy. Beverly Yattaw played records of songs which the cowboys of those days sang around the campfires.

The children enjoyed Miss Riley's last art lesson which was modeling with clay.

In science class a number of films have been seen. Among these are "Junior Raindrop", "White Pine Heritage", "Marsh Adventure", "Erosion", and "To Conserve Our Heritage".

In social studies they have seen many films which help them to understand how people in other parts of our country live. Some of these "Canyon Country", "Pueblo Boy", "The Big Kitchen", "American Cowboy" and "Southern Highlanders". During and after the election of our new President, a study was made of Congress and the City of Washington. Mrs. Laaka showed slides of Washington, Arlington Cemetery and George Washington's home at Mount Vernon.

Grade V — Miss Packard

November has been a busy month. The November calendar was made by Danny Gray and Linda Lufkin. Two November mysteries were presented by Sumner Philbrook and Linda Sprowl.

In recognition of Book Week, November 13-19, the class is having a reading contest. Sumner Philbrook, Glenna Harrington and Linda Lufkin have brought some wonderful books to share with the class. The class is also studying Folklore of America at this time and there is a very busy committee putting together a "Tall Tales Book". These "Tall Tales" have been written by each pupil in the class. The people working on the various jobs, including the cover, editing and compiling are Sumner Philbrook, William Falkenmeyer, Vicky Ross, Brenda Aho, James Gardner, Edward Nare, Linda Lufkin, Phyllis Moon, Judy Robinson, Jeanette Hillgrove, Randy Shout, Rosemary Bridges and Linda Sprowl. Every week we have a story hour. The first committee in charge of the Story Hour consisted of Arthur Garey, William Falkenmeyer, Vick Ross, Brenda Aho and Linda Baudanza. They chose James Gardner, Rosemary Bridges, Dana Berry, Linda Sprowl, Randy Shout, and Glenna Harrington to be the first story tellers.

For our study of force and energy, Linda Lufkin brought a water wheel which the class experimented with.

Interesting articles for the class to look at have been brought by Jeanette Hillgrove, Rosemary Bridges and Rae Sullivan.

The class is very sorry that Bradley Dodge has moved and will now be attending North School.

Those who have been very helpful in keeping our room neat are Gloria Curtis, Gary Davis, Lillian Gardner, Sadie Larrabee, Crystal Metcalf, Bruce Staples, Cynthia Widdecombe and Gail Winslow.

During American Education Week the class was pleased to have the following parents visit the room: Mrs. Blanche Gardner, Mrs. Joyce Ross, Mrs. Ruth Harrington, Mrs. Mae Philbrook and Charles C. Gray.

Grade VI — Miss Arrington

We were pleased that Bruce Lindsey's essay "A Day With the Fire Department" won first place. Bruce was Fire Chief for one day.

Mary Brannan and Frederick Bartlett have been chosen to represent our room at the Student Council meetings.

We wish to thank Mrs. Kenneth Conway for making the sunshine basket for the gifts for our teacher who was absent due to illness.

Gerald Liukkonen will celebrate his birthday this month.

Mary Brannan, president of our Activity Club, appointed the following committees: dusting, Cheryl Dugan; lunch money, Donna Curtis; room helpers, Ronald Rector and Howell Smith; bulletin boards, John Kirk; passing books and papers, Cheryl Chambers and June Proctor; display tables, Wilbur Roman; and morning exercises, Patricia LeBlanc.

Written invitations were sent by the girls and boys to their parents for American Education Week.

In Miss Riley's art class we made masks in keeping with Halloween. Our last lesson was working with clay. We have many interesting clay objects on our display table waiting to be painted.

A big bulletin board display of magazine articles, pictures, etc., of the Republican and Democratic candidates was arranged by Patricia Dudley and Patricia LeBlanc. Our Weekly Readers and different articles that we bring in help keep us informed.

Cheryl Chambers and Frances Staples have charge of our Weather Chart for this month.

Donna Curtis brought in a plant for our room. David Hillgrove brought in a hornet's nest. Patricia LeBlanc and Cheryl Dugan are making a large state chart in connection with reading. Small individual charts are being made. Cheryl Chambers and Brenda Conway are preparing reports on Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson.

Grade VII — Mrs. Stubbs

One of our classmates, Christine Smith, has moved to Southington, Connecticut, and is attending school there.

The following contributed generously to the success of a candy sale: Elaine Zafriou, Susan Cook, Ruby Hooper, Charles Barstow, Michael Lindsey, Ann Brackett, Peggy Mayberry, Linda Dudley, Bruce Gilbert, Nancy Doak, Larry Winslow and Brenda Achor.

Miss Steele has given the audiometer test to the class. Pupils have received the results of a written music test given by Mrs. Cooper.

Miss Knowles presented the class with the orange banner. This is given to the room having the most people taking out four books over a required period.

Nancy Doak, Clifton Yattaw, Ann Brackett, Charles Barstow, Peggy Mayberry, Elaine Zafriou, David Easler and Susan Cook are acquiring the habit of being thrifty by purchasing the United States Savings Stamps.

The class wrote invitations to their parents urging them to visit classes during American Education Week.

Peggy Mayberry and David Easler have become members of the South School Student Council for a nine week period.

Elwyn Davis took a brief motor trip to relatives in Springfield, Massachusetts.

It is regrettable that Wayne Davis is still a patient at Knox Hospital. A box containing a variety of fruit was sent to him by his classmates and teacher.

Charles Barstow brought a newspaper written in Hebrew. Essays have been written on the significance of Veterans' Day.

Bruce Gilbert brought the shell of a wrench that had accidentally been left where there was acid. An Election Map and 1960 Presidential fact sheet was brought by Winifred Falkenmeyer. Other valuable maps were given to the class by Elaine Zafriou, Ruby Hooper and Linda Dudley.

Grade VII — Mr. Harjula

In the recent fire essay contest, Ruth Duff won second prize and Sharon McDougal received honorable mention.

Those on the honor roll in spelling last week were Linda Achor, Donald Andrus, Paul Barton, Evelyn Daniello, Ruth Duff, Bernice Gamage, Judith Harvey, George Knight, Catherine Ma-

RHS Washington Club Reorganizes

The Senior Washington Club of Rockland High School has been reorganized. The first meeting was held in Mrs. Viik's room, who will be club advisor until the class elects the chaperones for the Washington trip.

At the first meeting new officers were elected and a rummage sale was planned for Nov. 19. The new officers are: Barbara Butman, president; Albert Gardner, vice president; Jeanne Call, secretary; and Arnold McConchie, treasurer.

At a second meeting, Nov. 1 the club elected six faculty members of whom two will act as chaperones on the Washington Trip.

loney, Henry Nare, Gail Nickerson and Linda Smith.

The class has decided to form a room library. Those named to the library committee are Gregory Monahan, Beatrice Brackett and Bernice Gamage.

Carol Staples has been ill but is back with us now.

At our last social held with the other seventh grade, those on the committees were Gregory Monahan, Peggy Achor, Judy Harvey, George Knight, Donald Cayton and Michael McNeil.

Grade VII — Mrs. Harjula

We had a very successful Halloween social on October 28th. The committees were as follows: decorating, Linda Demetri, Patty Tolman, Marion Gardner and Sharon Young; refreshments, Tommy Cowland, Donald Rogers and John Young; advertising, Linda Demetri, Patty Tolman, and Bruce Gamage; records, Sharon Gamage, Donna Allen and Jean Barnes; and cleanup, Richard Staples, Maurice Benner, Jr., Eugene Goss, Peter Zafriou and Neil Philbrook.

Prizes for the best costumes were won by Sharon Young and Tommy Cowland. Our chaperones, mothers from this room, were Mrs. Eleanor Barnes, Mrs. Beverly Mazzeo and Mrs. Ruth Benner. Principal and Mrs. Parker made us a visit also. We received a thank you note from Mr. and Mrs. Parker.

Donna Allen and Jan Harris have been out sick with the mumps. Both are now back with us.

Cheryl Leonard from Benton Station has joined our class. The girls defeated the boys in a very close arithmetic contest. The lead changed several times during the last two weeks.

David Emery brought us a sample of asbestos in its natural form.

School Library Is Busy Place

BUSY HELPERS — The school library at North School is a mighty busy place, as are all the school libraries in the area. Mrs. Lillian Keller, remedial reading teacher, says none of them would be able to function without student aid. Around the table are some of the North School student librarians. Clockwise, starting at the left front, they are Gail Wooster, Lillian Frost, Andrea Heald and Angela Doak. Other student librarians at North School are Debbie Huber, Elizabeth Duff, Debbie Kaler, Gloria Lord and Sue Dow. The library has more than 100 books out at all times and has about 900 catalogued. The school department, PTA, and friends add to the library regularly. Photo by Gross

Conferences On Guidance Are Urged At RHS

Rockland High School guidance counselors, Philip Cameron and Michael DiRenzo, wish to inform parents of high school students that they are available afternoons and evenings for parent conferences.

These parent conferences may deal with any problem that high school students encounter. It is felt that if the school and parents work hand in hand along with the student that the boy or girl may better adapt themselves to school and to life after school is completed.

These conferences may best be arranged by appointment through either Cameron or DiRenzo by calling LYric 4-4560.

Less Work Credit Needed For Social Security Benefits

There is good news for many retired persons, and for the widows and children of working people who have died. Because of 1960 amendments to the Social Security Act, less work under social security is now required for benefits to be payable to a worker, or to his surviving family. According to George Field, manager of the Augusta Social Security Office, approximately one-third less credit for work under social security is now needed. Under the old law, for instance, a person reaching retirement age, or dying in 1960, would have needed credit for 18 or 19 calendar quarters of work under social security. Because of the amendments, however, credit for only 12 such quarters (about three years) is now needed.

Field suggests that anyone whose application for old-age or survivors insurance benefits has been denied because of insufficient work under social security should recontact the Social Security office. It will then be possible to check the worker's social security account to see if benefits are payable under the new law.

A leaflet may also be obtained from the Augusta office explaining this and other changes in the law. The leaflet, which is free for the asking, has a chart showing how much credit is now required for benefits to be payable. If you are near the office, stop by and pick one up. If this is not possible, write or call, and a copy will be sent to you in the mail.

PLANS JELL FOR CIVIL WAR CENTENNIAL OBSERVANCES WITH OPENING DUE ON JAN. 8

WASHINGTON, D. C.—With the formal opening only two months away, plans for the five-year series of observances marking the Civil War Centennial are developing according to schedule, Karl S. Betts, executive director of the National Centennial Commission, has reported.

Forty-three states now have their own Centennial Commissions. Each of these is working out its own program, in line with a Commission policy of having the planning originate at the grass-roots' level.

But although only 36 states were in existence at the time of the Civil War, all 50 are expected to take part. Through migration, it is pointed out, descendants of those who participated in the great conflict to decide America's political pattern now are to be found in every state, and they will be called on to take part in the commemoration.

The plans have been quietly building up over the last two and a half years, during the period since Congress created the Centennial Commission in 1957 and directed that it continue to function through 1965.

"We have conscientiously tried to avoid any premature, pre-Centennial observances," Betts explained. "This we have done because we have set for ourselves a rigid pattern of following exactly what happened 100 years ago. We want the Centennial to be as accurate and authentic as possible. Everything we do fits into a chronology."

The executive director also said the Commission has tried conscientiously not to be spectacular in its efforts to arouse interest in the Centennial.

"We have nothing to sell," he assured. "We just want Americans to read their history books and to take note and understand better some of the important events connected with the Civil War. We want as dignified and as reverential an observance of this era of our past as possible. We frown on the term celebration; to us it is a commemoration."

The Centennial will formally open next Jan. 8, with a proclamation from the White House calling on all Americans to participate. On that day, a Sunday, clergymen of every faith and church in the nation, it is hoped, will give due recognition to the solemnity and great importance of the occasion, basing their services on material furnished by the National Commission in a little religious booklet entitled "The Role of Religion in the Civil War Centennial."

On Jan. 8, it will have been 100 years lacking one day since the little unarmed steamer Star of the West attempted to steal into Charleston harbor down in South Carolina and re-provision Fort Sumter, thereby drawing the first fire of the war.

Charleston, S. C., will mark the occasion with a three-day series of observances that will include both religious and historical programs.

Also on this occasion the military academies of the nation will participate with special programs. As a part of their observances, special recognition will be given to the memory of their alumni who participated in the war. Included among these will be some of the top leaders of both the Northern and the Southern Armies.

Interest in programs planned for the next five years will not be allowed to wane, the executive director said. People interested in events that occurred in 1865 are just as entitled to their share of the observance as those whose attention is focused on earlier events, he added.

Emphasis will be placed during the Centennial on the preservation and restoration of historic sites.

"We want people to come and see living history," Betts said. "We think it important that they visit and become thoroughly familiar with the scenes and localities where their ancestors fought and died."

The trek toward battle sites during the Centennial is expected to result in the greatest tourist movement in American history. The National Park Service, reporting 7,000,000 visitors at its battlefield parks, is now expanding its roads and facilities in line with an estimate that this number will be trebled during each of the Centennial years.

Seizing upon this estimate of tourist movement, the American Automobile Association and several of the largest oil companies and other corporations now are preparing special Centennial maps for wide distribution throughout America.

Business in general also has sensed the tremendous importance of the Centennial years and is preparing for its participation. In a recent bulletin, the National Retail Merchants Association advised its members that "the Civil War offers a magnificent opportunity to make a genuine contribution to the culture and historical education of our citizens," but it cautioned that what they do concerning the war "must be done in good taste and with proper respect for the emotion" which it arouses.

Further evidence of the widespread interest in the Centennial is shown in the manufacture of souvenir items with a Civil War theme. The commission itself is participating in this respect, planning a souvenir medal and working with the Post Office Department in the preparation of commemorative stamps to be issued on significant dates.

As now projected, at least three battle re-enactments will be staged during the Centennial. These will be Fort Sumter, Manassas and Antietam. But a number of lesser engagements will be commemorated in pageants and other colorful ceremonies.

Care Key To Hunting Safety

Two hundred hunters are killed every year in hunting accidents, and every fatality can be avoided by observance of simple safety measures. Each time the culprit is carelessness. Uppermost in the safety code of the hunter should be a constant respect for every hunting weapon.

Every year at this time the hunting season is open. Preparations are made, guns oiled for the kill and camping equipment dug out of storage. All this, and talk of the big one that got away last year. With all the excitement it is wise to take pause, and think of all the ways that can make this a safe and satisfactory hunting season.

- Remember the following rules:
1. Treat every gun as if it were loaded, until you inspect it carefully to make sure it is not.
 2. Always point the muzzle in a safe direction.
 3. Be sure of your target before you squeeze the trigger.
 4. "Alcohol and gunpowder do not mix."

Once afield, remember there are several ways to carry a gun so that it's pointed safely yet ready for instant use. One of the best positions is to grip the small of the stock by the trigger hand and cradle the barrel in the crook of the other arm. Some hunters hold the rifle with the right forearm under the balance point of the gun and the butt beneath the right armpit. Still another safe way is to hold the fore-end with the left hand, the small of the stock in the right hand. The familiar shoulder carry is also used. Each position is acceptable, but the important things to keep in mind are "watch the muzzle" and have the gun under your constant control. Your trigger finger should be out of the trigger guard and the safety "on" until time to shoot.

When the hunt is over and you're preparing to place your gun in the car, make sure the gun is unloaded. Actually, whenever a hunter takes a breather, for lunch, a cigarette, or just to rest, he should unload and open his gun. When crossing a fence, open the action and place the gun under or over the fence. Then climb the fence and reload on the other side. Never use a loaded gun to flush game, and don't run with a loaded gun.

Parties hunting together should agree in advance on the area of fire each hunter will cover. This is especially true for groups hunting birds, rabbits or other small game. No hunter should ever let his muzzle point in the direction of one of his companions even when he is following game. It is far better to pass up a shot than to be forever sorry it was fired. Make sure that it isn't human game you're about to bag. As a hunter cautiously moves through the forest, all his senses are focused on locating and bagging his game. Unless he is in full control of himself, he is likely to blast away at the slightest movement or sound. Self-control doesn't come easily—but it's basic to safe hunting.

Your hunting trip has ended successfully and safely. You're ready to start for home. Check the magazine and chamber to be sure they are empty, and hope that the 16,000,000 Americans who take to the woods this season will also follow these rules for safe—and happy hunting.

THEY LOOK GOOD TO STRIPERS - This assortment of hardware and feathers was collected by Waldo Tyler to illustrate some of the lure which snagged striped bass near South Thomaston this season. Jigs, artificial worms, spoons, and a matter of fact almost anything bright with action, did the trick. Strippers were so thick at times that flocks of sea gulls would settle on the Keag River to pick up the weak or small ones in a 'cho'. Photo by Tyler
