HERMIT'S CAVE — Only a few boards show on the roof of the top photo to indicate that the home of Arthur Pierson in Tenants Harbor is a hut and not a cave. To insulate and chink the sides, he has heaped earth to the low caves. In the left front is the entrance. A path leads between two four-foot piles of "treasures" from the Tenants Harbor dump. The square white spot on the left center is a shelter over the doorway. Fenced signs cover the door warning trespassers away. "THE READING ROOM" — Below, an old chair is the principal item in Pierson's "reading room", as he calls it. Sundry articles, paper, junk, boards and earth form the three sides of the open-air affair. Loose material on top of an old beach umbrella forms the roof. Pierson spends much of his time here, when the weather permits. Photos by Gross

Tenants Harbor Folks To Build Town Hermit New Home For Christmas Gift

TENANTS HARBOR—A community Christmas present is in store for Arthur (Bun) Pierson, if he will accept it. The people of Tenants Harbor have begun to be concerned about the welfare of Pierson, a 71-year-old recluse often described as the town hermit, so they have raised more than $100 to buy lumber to build him a one-room home on town land near the Odd Fellows Hall.

Pierson lives about half a mile from the St. George Elementary School on the edge of the marsh. His domain almost defies description. He sleeps in what was a log cabin which has fallen down and its sides have been heaped with earth to give it the appearance of a sod hut. The wooden roof is all but collapsed.

Because Pierson obtains almost everything to sustain himself from the town dump, the area is covered with piles of "treasures" he has claimed. His "reading room" is a chair around which is piled boards, earth and articles from the dump with an old beach umbrella over the top. The roof of the three-sided affair is made up of parts of the old umbrella, boards, cardboard, rags and branches.

The "reading room", as he calls it, faces the marsh and is open on the front except for a three-burner oil stove on which he cooks his meals.

Pierson would not come out of his hut when visited by The Courier-Gazette, Friday morning, but it is said the hut or "cave" as people in the area call it, holds a bed and a large lantern for heat.

The hut was once a log cabin built by Archie MacLaughlin as a boy. He recently retired after spending 20 years in the Coast Guard. Pierson was burned out of at least two other camps in the same general area so took up residence in the hut. Pierson walks the three-quarters of a mile into the village almost every day, towing a child's cart behind him. He visits Farmer's Variety Store, picks up a discarded newspaper and any food anyone will give him, then obtains oil for his lantern before returning to his hut at sundown.

Mrs. Harriet MacLaughlin went to school with Pierson and was able to shed some factual light on his background.

His mother died soon after he was born and he was raised by his grandparents. While Pierson was still a boy, his grandmother died and soon afterwards his grandfather died.

Pierson had finished Mrs. Maude Stewart's eighth grade and was sent to the Goodwill School. Mrs. MacLaughlin recalls that Pierson was a good student in school. She says he continued his interest in books and reads a great deal.

"He never did anyone any harm", Mrs. MacLaughlin explained, "and I'm glad that the townsfolk are going to do something for him."

Mrs. MacLaughlin, who knows Pierson as well as anyone in town, wasn't sure if he would accept a new home. "Maybe he won't leave all the things he has collected from the dump," she observed.

Mrs. Irene Farmer started the idea of a new home for Pierson and she placed a jar in her store in the village. Men of the town will volunteer their time to build it and they hope to have it ready near Christmas.

Mrs. Farmer feels Pierson will accept the gift. She said folks donated $65 last year and at Christmas time he was over-

OLD IDEAS OF HUSBANDRY STILL APPLY TO POULTRY BUSINESS TODAY, SPECIALIST ASSERTS

UNION — "The old fundamentals of good husbandry are still important if one is to continue as an egg farmer," declared John C. Taylor, Extension specialist in poultry husbandry of Rutgers University, speaking Wednesday night at Union to an audience of over 70 egg producers.

He expressed the opinion that sanitation coupled with high level antibiotics are two of the most important ways of keeping a flock healthy. He felt that antibiotics at a low level were of little or no value.

Taylor came to Maine at the invitation of Elmer Wheeler, manager of the United Co-operative Farmers, Inc., store in Rockland. Kenneth Gricus, assistant manager, helped organize the meeting. Gilbert Jaeger, county agent, was chairman and introduced the speaker.

An interesting statement made by Taylor concerned a comparison of the laying qualities of Leghorns versus heavy birds. He said that a rate of lay of 240 eggs per hen per year was not unusual for Leghorns on a hen-housed basis, but that the heavies could not match that production and probably would not often average much over 200.

He averred that there was no type of housing that could beat the 30 foot wide shed type open front house. He brought the house down with his description of some automated and slat floor houses he had visited. His remarks were hardly complimentary.

Taylor said that poultrymen today must have plenty of courage, confidence and experience.

Dedication Of Universalist Church To Feature Sermon By Director Of Extension

GRAMPA ROGERS, 90, RECALLS FIRST USING HERRING FOR LOBSTER BAIT AT VINALHAVEN

Capt. Frank W. Rogers chats with his daughter Mrs. Leslie Dyer on days of long ago. Grampa Frank, as he is well known on Vinalhaven, celebrated his 90th birthday, Wednesday, with Mr. and Mrs. Dyer at their winter home in Rockland. Photo by Gross

The older fishermen thought when the first opportunity presented itself, he salted a barrel of herring. "Those things will come off the spindle before the trap hits bottom", the older fishermen chided the then 16-year-old. He had failed to tell them he planned to make bags out of old herring seine to hold his bait.

In those days lobstermen skewered flounders on spindles in the bottoms of lobster traps for bait and no one ever thought of using herring.

Directors Of SAD 5 Name Judge Grossman Chairman

Judge A. Alan Grossman was re-elected chairman of the board of directors of School Administrative District 5 at the board's annual organizational meeting in Rockland. Also re-elected was vice chairman Elisabeth Walker of Owls Head.

Grossman and Dr. Russell N. into office following their elections to a second term on the board, Dec. 5. The contract of Bruce J. Kinney was also extended for another year by the directors who granted an annual raise of $150.

Four committees in the process of securing bids on the proposed $1,250,000 high school were disbanded in favor of appointing one committee to handle the arrangements. The four that were discontinued — building requirements, three year versus four year, high school site selection, and land negotiation — all dealt with the early stages of building preparation and their tasks have been completed.

The new committee — consisting of Mrs. Walker as chairman, Irving McConchie of Rockland, Margaret Knowlton and Lloyd Painter of Owls Head and Marion Colby of South Thomaston — will deal with legislative action.

At Thursday's meeting, the directors also voted to borrow money from the First National Bank of Boston to pay bills already incurred in preparing to build the new high school. The necessary funds, estimated at more than $500, will be borrowed in anticipation of bonds the bank will float when a construction contract has been signed.

Several minor structural changes in plans for the school were also approved to meet recommendations of various state agencies.

Island Family Finds Mainland Has Its Pitfalls

VINALHAVEN—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lauder and children Kenneth and Connie Jo are glad to be back to the peace and quiet of their home on Vinalhaven. They have decided that the hustle and bustle of city life is too much for folks used to the tranquility of his life as keeper of Brown's Head Light Station.

When they came to the mainland for a two day Christmas shopping trip, Old Man Trouble dogged their steps. This can be taken literally, as while they were here, their dog broke loose and killed a lamb, for which he will have to be destroyed. Their hi-fi set developed some trouble and would not work and their cat killed their canary. As if this wasn't enough, on their way back from Brunswick, they had a flat tire and also got a ticket for overtime parking in Rockland. Before the family could take the ferry the next morning he got a second ticket for leaving his car on the street at night.

Voters Approve Bill For Water Downgrading

THOMASTON—A bill restoring Thomaston tidewaters to their former purity classification will be introduced in the 100th Legislature it was decided by a meeting of town voters Wednesday night in the town hall. The action was suggested by the Board of Selectmen and Town Manager Archer Scribner to avoid the necessity of Thomaston building a new expensive sewage treatment plant.

The town must attain a grade A, the highest level of purity, by 1963 as ordered by the State Water Improvement Commission. The classification of the St. George river before upgrading is grade C or D.

Selectmen also were authorized to spend up to $1,000 to secure legal counsel for the reclassification procedures in the legislature.

Two new street lights were also approved at the meeting. One will be placed on West Meadow Road with the other to go on Old County Road. Alfred M. Strout acted as moderator during the meeting.

Damage Estimated At $3,000 In Rockland Tenement Fire

A Rockland fireman plays a stream of water into a second floor window of a two tenement building on Maverick Street badly damaged by fire Friday morning. The blaze quickly spread up through the chimney casing when a tenant of the building tried to thaw out frozen water pipes with a blow torch igniting oil leaking from a kitchen stove.

A fire which spread rapidly up a chimney casing in a two tenement building at 26 Maverick Street causing damages estimated at $3,000 started a hectic day for the Rockland Fire Department Friday. When firemen arrived the fire was well under way in the two and a half story wooden framed building owned by John Anderson of Thomaston.

It was the first and most serious of three calls received by the department in a space of three hours.

Fire Chief Wesley Knight said that the fire started when Ralph Miller, a second story tenant, tried to thaw out a frozen water pipe with a blow torch in the basement. Oil leaking from the kitchen stove of Mrs. Winnie Larrabee on the first floor was ignited by the blow torch and the flames quickly spread upwards.

Chief Knight said that the occupants delayed calling the fire department trying to put the fire out themselves and by the time firemen arrived smoke was pouring out of all windows in the building. The all out was not sounded until 10:30 after firemen had managed to hack away at the chimney casing and roof of the building to get at the heart of the fire. Anderson said that the building was covered by insurance.

The second call came in at 8:52 when a bleeder valve in the kitchen radiator of Lewis Edwards of 77 Broadway broke and flooded the kitchen floor. No serious damage was caused as firemen quickly shut off the switch and mopped up the water.

At 10:54, a fire was reported in the R. L. Winchenbach Store at 5 Payne Avenue. Chief Knight said a new furnace had not been installed properly in the basement of the building and set fire to floor boards underneath it. It took firemen two hours to remove the furnace and put out the smouldering fire. Damage consisted of charred boards and was estimated at $50.

Concert Group Re-elects Hugh Benner

Hugh M. Benner of Rockland was re-elected president of the Knox County Community Concert Association, Wednesday evening, at the annual meeting held at the Farnsworth Museum. One change was made in vice presidents otherwise the entire slate was named to serve another year. It was reported the current season is the most successful ever with about 1,000 members in Knox County.

One new director was elected, Herald Jones of Friendship. It was decided that community should be represented on the board of directors because Friendship nearly doubled its membership in the campaign last summer.

John R. Egerton of Thomaston asked to be relieved of the post of second vice president which carries with it directorship of the membership campaign. He pointed out his time is being consumed by work for the Knox County Red Cross Chapter. Capen Abbott of Camden was elected second vice president and will handle the campaign next summer.

Other officers elected were:

Israel Snow, Jr., first vice president; Miss Katherine Veazie, third vice president; Miss Mary K. Wasgatt, treasurer; Mrs. Lyford Ames, secretary; and Miss Eithel Payson, assistant secretary.

Girls Tie For Top In Sophomore Speaking

PRIZE WINNERS — Instructor, Mrs. Pauline Traflet, is shown with the winners of the Rockland High School Sophomore Class prize speaking contest held in the school's auditorium, Wednesday night. From the left are Wayne Raymond, second among the boys; Donald Johnson, first; Mrs. Traflet; Karen Seavey, first place tie among the girls; and Ann Barter, the other first place winner. Ten contestants took part in the affair and were so good that the judges deliberated for half an hour before deciding on the winners.

Winners of Rockland High School's Sophomore Class prize speaking contest held Wednesday night in the school's auditorium were announced after judges deliberated for half an hour. Tying for first place among the girls were Ann Barter and Karen Seavey. First place for boys went to Donald Johnson with Wayne Raymond second.

Five girls and five boys participated in the contest and made the judging difficult with near perfect delivery. The title of Ann Barter's narration was "Forever—Now or Never", a clever story telling of the wrath of the gods and the entrusting of the discovery of the atom to mankind. Karen Seavey earned her first place tie with her story titled "To Say Good-bye". It told of a girl, who was brought to face the fact that her mother was a woman who appeared to be a tramp.

Donald Johnson won first place with a story titled, "Dust of the Road". It told of a man's change of heart on Christmas Day when he planned to cheat a close friend's son out of money that was coming to him. Wayne Raymond won second spot with his dramatization of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde". His story told of Dr. Jekyll's terrifying experience on discovering the serum that would change him into the monster "Mr. Hyde".

The other contestants and their topics were: Roger Moon, "Four Men of God"; Timothy Flaherty, "Barefoot Boy With Cheek"; Janice Blithen, "The Wingless Victory"; Edward Small, "The Dentist and the Gas"; Louise Stiphen, "Yellow"; and Marilyn Russell, "T.V. and Me".

During intermission the audience was treated to songs from the boys' chorus consisting of David Cooper, James McNeil, Robert Johnson, Edward Small, Mark Lawrence and James Widdecomb. Soloist Penelope Stevens also entertained the guests by rendering several selections.

Judges for the contest were Mrs. Grace Walker, Mrs. Bernice Robbins and William Rochon, principal of Union High School. Principal A. Hamilton Boothby praised the work of Mrs. Pauline Traflet on coaching the contestants as he made the awards. First place prize money was $5 and $3 for second place.

THIS IS WHAT WE HAVE IN KNOX COUNTY

So you think you live in the backwash of progress? There is nothing doing along the coast and the fields of employment and business look greener elsewhere. If these are your thoughts, or you have believed what you have heard others say in griping sessions, you have never been so wrong.

The past weeks we have been engaged in producing a brochure for distribution to our local advertisers and national and state advertising agencies. The research necessary for the publication of such a brochure took some time and a lot of digging for facts generally. What we came up with, all supported figures from authoritative sources, both surprised us who are continually boosting the area, and pleased us. We pass them along to the general public, hoping that they will serve to quiet the belly-achers, or at least turn some away from believing every adverse comment they hear about the area.

There are more than 30 varied industries in the area. They range from deep sea fisheries to lobstering, sardine packing, broiler raising, market egg production, clothing manufacture, woodworking, limestone and granite quarrying, printing, boat building and repairing, furniture manufacture, electronics, woolen mills, metal fabrication, cement manufacture, food canning, dairying, marine colloids, lace manufacturing, leather tanning, extraction of fish oils, manufacture of fish meal and fish flour, truck body manufacturing and frozen fish processing and packing.

To be sure, some of the employment is seasonal and we do have a surplus of labor at some times of the year. However, before you downgrade your home area, take a look at like surveys in other sections of the state. You will find that even though some exceed us in certain fields, our position is far ahead of many.

The area stands high in retail trade. Rockland with its population of 8,577 has a business center which one would expect to find in a city of 30,000 people. Knox County has a population of 27,997 and the area draws business from the adjoining counties of Waldo and Lincoln continually. Rockland's retail trade amounted to $17,252,000 in 1958, the last year for which a federal business report is available. Camden's sales were $7,396,000 and the remainder of the county, $8,000,000. Total payrolls for persons engaged in retail sales amounted to $2,936,000.

The hotel and motel industries, coupled with business and personal services amounted to $2,943,000. Payrolls in the same fields countywide for the year were $2,599,000.

Wholesale trade amounted to $26,303,000 and the payrolls in wholesale trades $2,258,000.

Knox County manufactured goods and products to the value of $35,161,861. This was divided with Rockland's figure being $17,773,534; Camden, $5,343,005 and Thomaston, $6,787,019.

Gross wages in manufacturing paid in these three communities were Rockland, $3,822,732; Camden $1,889,729 and Thomaston, $1,200,812.

Over 89 million pounds of fish were landed and marketed through the Port of Rockland for a dollar value of $2,492,318.00. Shellfish total was 6,473,845 pounds with a value of $3,029,774.00. Total fisheries value was $5,522,093.00.

The poultry industry produced 5,666,827 pounds of table chicken in 1959 with a value of $1,002,028.86 at the farm. Knox County, considered the Egg Basket of the Northeastern states, produced 5,981,679 dozens of table and hatching eggs in 1959 having a value at the farm of $2,990,840.00.

Knox County harvested 3,500,000 pounds of blueberries in 1960 having a value of $420,000.00 in the field. The apple crop totaled 22,192 bushels with a value of $55,480.00.

There are the facts. It is your county and a darned good one at that. There are people in thousands of counties over the nation who would be more than pleased with what we have.

PAIR OF TOP BASKETBALL GAMES SLATED FOR TONIGHT AT CAMDEN AND THOMASTON

Two games in the area are slated for Saturday night, both of which should be interesting. The Maine Central Institute Undergraduate team will play the Camden Mustangs, undefeated in four starts to date. This is not the MCI prep school team on which Rockland's Bob Huntley is the center, but the team composed of high school age students at the Pittsfield institution.

The other game is at Thomaston and brings the strong Class S Rockport Beavers in for a clash with the improving Clippers who were 2-1 going into the Friday game at Waldoboro. Rockport already has defeated two Class M squads, and going into Friday's Union game, were 3-0 on the year. They are a virtually all senior group and are expected to cause a stir in Class S circles, come tourney time. Thomaston has shown strong scoring punch in the early going, led by tall Steve Melgard and Johnny Miller. They are always dangerous on their tiny home surface and Rockport will be in for a busy evening.

Rockland—An accident on Union Street Thursday morning at 10:55 caused an estimated damage of $300. Jean Y. Lindsey, 30, of Rockland told police that she had just crossed the intersection of Limerock and Union Street and did not notice a car stopped immediately in front of her. The driver of the other car was Charles H. Payne, 58, of Belfast. His car sustained damages estimated at $50 while the Lindsey car received front end damage estimated at $250. Both cars were '53 sedans. There were no injuries.

Rockland—Two hundred dollars damage was caused to the car of Thelma E. Russell, 58, of Rockland when she collided with another car at the intersection of Broadway and Talbot Avenue Friday morning at 8:15. She told police that she had stopped for the stop sign on Talbot Avenue and did not see the other car, driven by Donna L. Ward, 17, of Rockland, when she started up. Rockland—The Rockland Fire Department was called to the scene of a grass fire on the Park Street side of pasture land owned by Samuel Small of Rockland Thursday morning. Despite a light covering of snow the fire burned briskly and it took firemen about half an hour to gain control of it. Assistant Chief James York said that the fire was caused by debris blowing over from the city dump.

South Thomaston—The South Thomaston Fire Department was called to the farm of Carl Ross on Buttermilk Lane to extinguish a grass fire which started shortly after 11 o'clock Friday morning. About a 100 square feet of grass was scorched by the fire which was contained by the quick work of firemen. The fire started near the edge of the road and was believed to have been caused by a cigarette discarded by a passing motorist.

In one night, the mackerel seiners of Casco Bay caught 16,000 bushels of squid—which they didn't want.

Nowdays, the feller who claims it can't be done is likely to be run over by somebody doing it.

BILL GOES TO LEGISLATURE TO MOVE ROCKLAND ELECTION DATE BACK INTO NOVEMBER

A bill to change the Rockland city election day from the first Monday in December to the first Tuesday following the first Monday in November has been dropped in the hopper for consideration by the 100th Legislature. The bill, drawn at the request of the Rockland City Council, is sponsored by Rep. John L. Knight of Rockland.

It would come effective in 1962, the next State election year, and would fall on a State or national election day every other year. If the bill passes the Legislature it will go to the voters of Rockland for approval.

The move has been discussed for some time. Since the city changed its fiscal year to coincide with the calendar year, the budget is drawn and approved by a council which contains at least one, and in two years out of three, two members whose terms run out before the budget becomes effective.

In asking Knight to introduce the bill, the council mentioned the saving in cost of an election every other year.

Knight presented a rough draft of the bill to directors of School Administrative District 5 Wednesday night. Rockland members of that board would come under any change in election date.

Mrs. Farmer, who sees Pierson almost every day in the store, says, "I guess he's just a natural born hermit." "His age is slipping up on him and it's time we got him a better place to live. It has been years since he slept in a real bed," she added.

He is described as a social person in the village but seldom will see anyone at his hut. Over the years, he has been pestered by youngsters. It is believed at least one home was burned by vandals. Through reading, Pierson holds his own on almost any subject in conversations at the store.

Despite his different outlook on life the people of Tenants Harbor welcome him to the village and are giving their full support to the building fund.

Grampa Frank

Grampa Frank first went fishing with his father in a brand new sloop that cost about $450. He notes that the mainsail alone would cost that much today. In the 1880s a brand new Friendship sloop only cost about $550.

He continued to fish for some 67 years. He has owned a number of boats and bought the third gasoline engine ever to be used in a boat at Vinalhaven. Seven years ago, when he was 83, his daughter convinced him it was time to come ashore for good.

His first engine was a four and one half horsepower Knox, built in Camden. Later he had a 10 horsepower engine and thought it the finest thing ever made. When he wasn't lobstering he ran a tub trawl.

He was born at Georgetown, Dec. 8, 1870, the son of Joseph and Caroline Heath Rogers. The family moved to Vinalhaven when Grampa Frank was nine years old.

When he turned 16, his father was helping to build a boat Grampa Frank had saved $300 and wanted that new boat with all his heart. "I was some happy, when my father told me he would go shares with me so I could have her", he recalls with a twinkle in his eye.

In 1896, he married Ada Smith. She died 10 years ago and Grampa Frank went to live with the Dyers. Mrs. Dyer is the sole surviving child. A boy died when he was 10.

Grampa Frank enjoys his eight grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

His appearance would never indicate his years. Grampa Frank walks down to the Rockland waterfront every day in the winter and spends much time with the fishermen on Vinalhaven in the summer. He has a keen sense of humor and likes to chat.

LIFT A CHILD

...and hold him above you.

You don't expect a child to stand toe to toe with a man. You lift a child . . . and hold him above you.

You don't expect a child to understand fully what is right and wrong.

You don't expect a child to comprehend every spiritual ideal.

You don't expect a child to sense instinctively the constant concern of God in his life.

You lift a child . . . you give him the opportunity in his Church and in his Christian home to gain moral and religious insights.

And you hold him above you . . . dedicating your own time and strength to your Church so that you and your child can find together the spiritual foundation on which men should build their lives.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

OCEAN VIEW GRANGE

By Nancy Link

Ronald Dolloff, Limerock Valley district deputy, was installing officer at semi-public installation ceremonies held at Ocean View Grange of Martinsville, Dec. 5. Assisting Deputy Dolloff were Lillian Dolloff, marshal; Helen Carpenter, second marshal; Ida Bennett, pianist; Judith Smith, chaplain; Wilbur Vannah, master and soloist; Doris Sukeforth, emblem bearer; and Pamela DiNapoli, regalia bearer.

New Ocean View officers are: Brian Routledge, master; Nancy Link, overseer; Shirley Bicknell, lecturer; Richard Wall, steward; Jim Chadwick, assistant steward; Montford Hupper, chaplain; Ethel Coffin, treasurer; Rachel Routledge, secretary; Arthur Carter, gatekeeper; Phyllis Chadwick, Ceres; Virginia Fay, Flora; Meta Holley, lady assistant steward; and Everett Watts, member of the executive committee.

Louise Wilson, Pomona, will be installed at a later date.

No program was planned for the evening but group singing was enjoyed with Mrs. Bennett at the piano before adjourning to the dining room for refreshments. The tables, decorated by Mrs. Chadwick, had individual small Christmas trees and Christmas napkins were used. Mrs. Chadwick was assisted in serving by Mrs. Fay, Mrs. Routledge and Mrs. Wilson. Sixty-four were present, representing seven Granges, St. George, Rockbound, Megunticook, Meenahga, Cushnoc, Progressive and the host grange.

The third and fourth degrees will be conferred on candidates at the next meeting, Monday, Dec. 12. The officers of Ocean View will conduct this degree work.

The Earnest Grangers of the Martinsville Grange are sponsoring a Christmas fair at 4:50 the afternoon of Dec. 12 and there will be a supper served from 5:30 to 7 at the Grange Hall, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Chadwick and Mrs. Routledge.

MEDOMAK VALLEY GRANGE

We held our regular session Monday night with a small attendance.

The master and overseer of our grange and master and Ceres of Pomona Grange and Ruby Hannan and Brenda Freeman attended Pomona at Good Will Grange in Warren Saturday. We all enjoyed the day and a beautiful dinner.

Several of our members attended the Traveling Grange at Evening Star Grange in Washington Monday night.

We are all sorry to hear of the serious illness of Sister Ida Goss. She had been a faithful member and was always a great help on the program. We extend our sympathy to Brother Goss at this time.

The senior class of Appleton High School had the use of the hall Wednesday night and served a supper for the school from 5 to 8 p. m. A very good supper and attendance. The sum of $38 was realized.

Our hall has been a very busy place this summer and fall. Different kinds of parties, wedding receptions and stork showers and they all seemed to be well attended and enjoyed by all.

SEVEN TREE GRANGE

By Aubrey Hawes

Owing to Thanksgiving, we did not hold a meeting Nov. 23. The juveniles met in the afternoon.

The Grange Circle met at the home of Alice Danforth Tuesday evening, Nov. 15, with six members present. Final count of the Grange Fair was given and $210 was turned over to the Grange treasury. There are numerous items left from the sale and if anyone is interested in buying a Christmas gift they may contact Florence Calderwood.

All officers were re-elected for another year: President, Florence Calderwood; vice president, Bessie Carroll; and secretary and treasurer, Clara Day.

Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served by the hostess.

The annual Christmas party was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Alida Fossett.

The next regular meeting of the grange will be held Wednesday evening, Dec. 14. The lecturer has prepared a Christmas program and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

KNOX POMONA GRANGE

By Nancy Link

Knox Pomona met with Good Will Grange, North Warren, Dec. 3 with Lorenzo Linscott, master, presiding at the business meeting and during the conferring of the Pomona degree on Miss Bona Smith and Miss Judy Williams of Warren Grange. He was assisted by Past Master George Layr in the degree work and by the Pomona officers, all of whom were present. A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Rachel Raatikainen, Mrs. Josephine Miller, Mrs. Bernice Jamison and Mrs. Marion Wood of Good Will Grange.

The lecturer's program opened with the address of welcome by Irving Sawyer of Good Will Grange with the response by Mrs. Greta Clark, former Pomona lecturer. After a song by all, Sally Wentworth and Leona Anderson of Pioneer Grange played a piano duet. Miss Anderson was at the piano for the singing of Christmas carols by five young Pomona members, Miss Wentworth, Brenda Freeman, Bona Smith, Judy Williams, and Sheila Parreault.

A silent auction with Allen Young as auctioneer was held by the home economics committee to raise funds for a donation to the "Red Stocking" of the New England Home for Little Wanderers. This was won by Mrs. Bernice Young. Piano solo numbers were played by Miss Wentworth and Miss Anderson who also played the lecturer's march, won by Allen Young. Christmas gifts were exchanged. The closing thought was given by Mrs. Luella Crockett of Warren Grange.

Camden Dairy Herd In DHI-IBM Test Program

CAMDEN—The 31 cow purebred Ayrshire herd of C. L. Cripps, Camden, has recently been signed up for the combined DHI-IBM and official breed herd test program of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association, Brandon, Vt.

The Cripps herd is one of the first purebred breeding establishments in the nation to enroll its sows on the streamlined, electronically processed system of testing. This new method of recording the production of the nation's dairy cows is designed to serve a greater number of dairymen by providing a more economical testing program through the cooperation of existing state, federal and breed testing agencies. It utilizes the facilities of state and regional processing laboratories and the federal government's USDA research center, with results being made available to members of the National Ayrshire Association in their breed improvement programs.

Anderson will attend the lecturers' meeting at Augusta, Dec. 10. Knox Pomona meets next with White Oak Grange of North Warren on Jan. 7.

GOOD WILL GRANGE

Good Will Grange will hold its annual Christmas party at the Dec. 15 meeting. Members are reminded to bring a gift for the tree.

PIONEER GRANGE

By Bernice Young

Windsor Grange will be guest of Pioneer Grange Dec. 13. The members will furnish the program and officers of Windsor Grange will fill the chairs.

Patty's Potpourri

Mrs. Patricia Stearns H. D. A.

Program scheduling meetings have come to a close and the past week and next week many community groups are planning next year's schedule of meetings. Four scheduling meetings were held and a total of 128 people representing 28 community groups attended.

Seventeen members attended the weight control meeting on Dec. 1 and the records show 33 pounds have been lost so far — by the group! Not, of course, by any one individual.

Dried honey may be available soon. When reconstituted with water it will have about the same flavor as fresh liquid honey. Drying the product would provide convenience and economy in handling. How will you benefit? Chances are that it will be used in packaged baking mixes. You may like the added flavor, color, texture, and aroma of the product plus its increased keeping quality due to the addition of honey. According to the USDA this drying process takes only a few seconds.

Around 1912 nutrition scientists were discovering that some substance lacking in the diets of experimental animals caused infectious eye disease. This substance was named Vitamin A. It seems that this fat soluble vitamin keeps the cells soft and moist or if lacking causes them to become hard and dry like scales. Vitamin A is necessary for vision since the pigment of the eye is composed of Vitamin A and Protein. Also Vitamin A influences development of teeth as it builds the enamel forming cells. Hence children need vitamin A especially when their teeth are developing. If you have night blindness or want to build up your resistance to infection strive to get your due allowance of Vitamin A during the next few months. You'll find it in yellow and green leafy vegetables and yellow fruits. For example, spinach, carrots, pumpkin, and peaches. Also whole milk, butter and eggs. Since it is insoluble in water it is not lost during cooking but it is lost when exposed to air.

Here's a recipe for an attractive Christmas centerpiece: 1 large potato (flat) Several fir branches 1-2 candles or wax figures 1 tray Small Christmas balls, glitter 1 nail or ice pick Make holes in potato with ice pick and put 5-6 inch lengths of greens into these holes which are around the potato leaving the flat side free of greens to lie on a tray. Have greens close enough together to give a pretty, full appearance. On the top of potato place tin foil or paper doily to cover the part not covered with greens and put candle or candle figures in center. Glitter or Christmas balls can be added at random. The potato keeps the greens moist as well as holding them in place.

Members are to bring a casserole, salad or sweets and their own dishes. Articles for a silent auction are also requested. The work of the pupils of Mrs. Margaret Carr's first and second grade room was on display.
