Washington Withdraws From North Knox School District Study As Financial Report Due To Be Made

UNION — A decision by Washington representatives to withdraw to await any changes, the 100th Legislature may make in the Sinclair Act made it necessary for the North Knox School Study Committee to completely revise its planning. The group had met since early fall and was about ready to release figures on the costs of a four town school administrative district. The decision of the Washington group was made known Wednesday night at a meeting at Union High School.

Members from Washington submitted a letter which pointed out that the group from that town felt it should delay any participation in the planning until the Legislature has considered several bills which would make changes in the act. Representatives from Union, Warren and Appleton decided to go ahead with planning but on a three town basis. The proposed four town district would barely meet the minimum requirements of the Sinclair Act. The group expressed a fear that the three town proposal might require special legislation.

Ready for the Wednesday meeting was a tabulation of all financial data needed including each town's share of capital outlay costs and present debt retirement. It was ready for presentation to the State School District Commission. Supt. Earle Spear was requested to revise the figures on a three town basis. The committee left the door open for Washington by expressing the hope that Washington members will change their minds so a four town proposal may be drawn up and submitted to the residents of the communities for a vote. The group said that four town proposal seemed to fit the needs of the North Knox County area.

If special legislation is needed, the committee is running out of time because private bills must be in the legislative hopper by Jan. 20. Such legislation would come under the heading of private laws rather than public laws.

Wind Direction Misguides New Fog Signal

Several calls were received at the Rockland Police and Fire Stations during the Thursday evening storm from persons who thought they heard the Rockland fire alarm. However, investigation established the fact that the sound was from the Owl's Head fog horn in which a new type fog signal had been placed by the Coast Guard.

The horn is directional and ordinarily is not especially noticeable on shore. Light snow and wind conditions Thursday evening apparently caused the sound to be carried inland an unusual distance.

Warrant Officer William Brock, Coast Guard Commander, said that the old horn was replaced as "routine maintenance" some time ago.

The new Rockland district high school's gymnasium and auditorium will present this view to Broadway from the site on Broadway at Cedar Street. Classrooms will run roughly parallel to Cedar Street. The building will be located some distance from Broadway so traffic noise will be no problem. The lot will have entrances on both streets. A bid was awarded to a Gardiner firm Thursday night by the Directors of SAD 5. Ground is due to be broken in April.

Gardiner Contractor To Break Ground For New District High School Early In Spring

A Gardiner contractor was awarded the bid to construct a new district high school for Rockland, Owls Head and South Thomaston by directors of School Administrative District 5 at a meeting Thursday night. Arthur C. McKee, Sr., of McKee Construction Company told the board his firm probably would break ground in April and would have the building ready to move in equipment by July 1, 1962. The base bid was $976,583 plus approximately $2,500 for certain fire doors in place of a sprinkler system.

The building plus the estimated cost of fire safety changes and the architects fee of approximately $48,954 brings the project to $1,025,537. On top of that, equipment is estimated to cost about $141,000 and the district will bear the cost of fire insurance on the building during construction, heating it when closed in, and the salary of a clerk of the works.

The board said the whole project can be completed within the $1,250,000 authorized for a bond issue last June. After making decisions on the general contractor and sub-contractors, the board voted to proceed with details leading to the sale of the bonds by the First National Bank of Boston. Chairman A. Alan Grossman explained the bond market is very favorable but it could change at any time. The board decided to authorize preparations and bids on bonds with the understanding it would not sell the bonds if the market was not favorable. The bonds do not need to be sold until after construction is started.

The board was told that Bar Harbor school bonds recently at 3.5 percent interest and at a premium.

McKee, who operates the business with his son Arthur, Jr., told the board he was pleased with their selection of sub-contractors. All but one was listed in McKee's bid. The other was for curtain wall construction which McKee did not specify; leaving the decision to the board.

McKee's base bid was $931,971, to which was added $52,464 for

State Insurance Department that the building was of such construction that it is fire safe. The savings on insurance premiums would be so little that it was estimated it would take 40 years to amortize the $16,000 cost of sprinklers. The State Insurance Department outlined what it wants for fire doors on shops

Utility Veteran Retires

Alma "Al" Eaton retired Friday afternoon after 43 years with the Camden and Rockland Water Company during which time he worked up from ditch digger to meter department foreman. He was for many years a meter reader.

He plans to take it easy for the rest of the winter, but will be busy in his flower and vegetable gardens come spring, just as he has for many years. He resides with his wife at 455 Old County Road and is described as "always busy doing something around the house". His most recent project has been the building of sail boats for the children of several nieces and nephews.

During the 43 years Al spent with the Water Company he has worked under four superintendents — Fred Leach, Jonathan Crocker, Allan McAlary, and Robert Varney.

Generous Gift From H. H. Crie Company Puts Band Uniform Fund Within Sight Of Goal

The generosity of Harold Green, owner of the H. H. Crie Hardware Company, has brought the goal of a hard working group of students and parents within their grasp. Directors of School Administrative District 5, with the sanction of Green, directed Thursday night that $1,000 of a $2,500 gift by the firm be given to District 5 Band Boosters uniform fund. It brings the fund to $2,112.89, only $485.91 short of the goal.

Green made the gift with directions to apply it to buying books in the library of the new district high school. Chairman A. Alan Grossman explained to Green that the Band Boosters have worked hard in seeking to buy new uniforms for the band in time for the Maine Music Festival in May. Green gave his permission to put $1,000 of it toward the band uniforms if the board approved, and it did.

In making the gift, Green said it was in appreciation for the patronage and the warm relations of the H. H. Crie Company has with the people in the Rockland, Owls Head, South and Thomaston area. John Rapose of Owls Head is manager of the large store.

Mrs. Margaret Lord, Band Boosters chairman, explained to the board how the Band Boosters have run dances, food sales, candy sales, a tag day, and have received a total of $400 from the High School PTA.

The uniform, without a cross belt, plume for the hat, shoulder cord, tie and white gloves, will cost $64.16. This times 36, the number of bandmen, makes $2,309.76. Uniforms for the majorities will cost $289.04 more. If the Band Boosters can exceed their goal by $254, they can buy the complete uniform. Mrs. Lord pointed out the extras could be purchased another year.

She pointed out of 100 firms solicited by letter, only 10 responded. She hopes others will respond so the uniforms may be ordered in plenty of time for the big festival at Waterville.

The news of the H. H. Crie Company's generous gift came at a particularly appropriate time. The father of Russell Jack, Jr., Rockland instrumental music director, was present at the meeting of the District 5 directors. He is a band director of many years experience at Weymouth, Mass.

Mrs. Lord told the board her group will really dig in to give the drive a final boost to seek its goal. Contributions may be sent to Mrs. Lawrence Lord, 23 Jefferson Street, Rockland.

Report Of Serious Poultry Disease In County Prompts Raisers To Plan Meeting

Plans are being formulated for a general Knox-Lincoln poultry meeting in the near future to discuss several major problems. The spread of laryngotracheitis in the Union - Warren area is viewed with alarm as this is one of the most dreaded poultry diseases.

After being practically free of this disease for many years, Maine poultrymen have a serious fight ahead as mortality often runs high.

The laryngo vaccine is actually a strain of the disease itself and can be procured only with the permission of the Department of Agriculture.

Newcastle disease which was brought under control after serious outbreaks through the use of vaccination programs is again spreading and breaking through in some inoculated flocks.

The meeting will be sponsored by the Independent Egg Producers' Association of Maine.

State Aid Loss Explained To Legislators

Losses sustained by the Knox County General Hospital on State aid and charity cases was the main topic brought before area Legislators by hospital officials Wednesday night in the hospital's cafeteria. Robert Hudson, a trustee of the hospital, read figures for the Knox County General Hospital which showed a loss of $43,611 for the 1958-1959 period. It cost the hospital a total of $72,462 for 2,468 State aid patient days of which the State paid only $28,851. Geoffrey Torney, hospital administrator, then cited specific cases handled by the hospital.

Knox Hospital trustee, Seth Low, then spoke on pending State and Federal legislation which may make additional funds available to hospitals. A general discussion and question period with Kennedy Crane, Jr., President of the Board of Trustees, presiding concluded the meeting.

Those attending the meeting from the State Legislature were: Senator Carl Stillehen, Rockland; and Representatives John Knight of Rockland, William Hardy of Hope, Edwin L. Madox of Vinalhaven, George Finley of Washington, Stanley Waltz of Waldoboro, and Robert Heald of Union.

Five Divorces Are Granted In Superior Court

Five divorces were granted through the Knox County Superior Court on Thursday and Friday, all on the grounds of cruel and abusive treatment.

Phillip L. Willey from Bessie K. Willey, both of Rockland, married at Rockland February 27, 1957. Custody of Joanne Nancy, age 3, and Phillip Leslie, age 1 year, granted to the father. Anna M. Manseau from William A. Manseau, both of Rockland, married at Las Vegas, Nevada, Sept. 17, 1953.

Harry S. Wardwell of Warren from Annie L. Wardwell of Rockland, married at Belton, Texas, Nov. 16, 1943.

Friendship School Board Sits In On Session Of Waldoboro Study Panel

WALDOBORO — The following is the second in a series of reports written by Superintendent Earle Spear on work of the Waldoboro School Investigating Committee.

A joint meeting of the school committees of Waldoboro and Friendship was held Tuesday evening. The purpose of the meeting was to discover whether or not the two towns have any desire to plan jointly for the education of the high school pupils of the two towns. Friendship now conveys its high school students to Waldoboro and they attend Waldoboro High School on a tuition basis.

The possible solutions, if the two towns should wish to plan co-operatively, appear to be:

1. Friendship to contract with Waldoboro for the education of the Friendship High School pupils.
2. Waldoboro and Friendship to join in operating an Area

High School.

3. The two towns to form a School Administrative District.

Two Rockland men received terms in the Maine State Prison when they pleaded information on breaking and larceny in the night time charges before Judge Abraham M. Rudman of Bangor in Knox County Superior Court Friday.

Frank L. Feyler received a one to two year sentence for the theft of $101.75 from the Union Street Esso station on Nov. 6.

Clarence Peters received one and a half to three years sentence for the theft of $12 from the store of Everett L. Spear on Dec. 2. A second charge of stealing fish valued at $3.70 from Murray Seafoods on Dec. 3 was filed.

Boy Who Shot Up Dairy Herd To Undergo An Examination Before Court Decides Course

The 10-year-old South Thomaston boy charged with maliciously killing and wounding nine cows valued at $3,000 belonging to Lawrence (Mike) Philbrook of Butternut Lane appeared on a juvenile warrant in Rockland Municipal Court Friday morning. He could give the court no reason for his actions and Judge Christy Adams continued the case for decision until Jan. 17 so that the boy can be examined by a doctor.

When asked what his feelings were towards animals the boy said that sometimes he liked them and sometimes not. His father said that he had allowed the boy to shoot at wild game before but that he had never shot any domestic animals to his knowledge.

One of the purebred Guernsey cows died after the shooting spree on Dec. 26 and another was sold for slaughter. Philbrook said that only three of his herd are now giving milk because the others are suffering from udder wounds making it impossible to milk them. One of the wounded cows had a fever of 105 degrees Friday morning and it was not known whether it would live or not. It will be at least a week before it can be determined what permanent damage was done, said Philbrook.

In the meantime the boy was placed on probation in the custody of his parents and under the supervision of probation officer Harold Webb. A condition of the probation is that the boy is not to be allowed to have firearms or go on the Philbrook property.

WESSAWESKEAG GRANGE

The regular meeting of Wessaweskeag Grange was held Wednesday Dec. 28, with a small number present due to cold weather, illness, and other personal problems, but an unusually good time was had by those who attended.

It was voted to have Maurice McKusik head up an auction for a later date, and members are asked to bring in articles to be kept at the Grange Hall until the date of the auction. Annie Dennison was appointed to head a game party soon.

State Gets Time To Answer Boat Charge Demurrer

A brief was submitted by Attorney Christopher S. Roberts on the case which might determine whether or not the City of Rockland has the right to regulate speeds of boats in its off-shore waters. The issue arose when Mary Fraughton was charged with going 15 to 20 knots within 100 yards of the Maine Deck Marina on Aug. 14. Roberts filed a demurrer challenging the City's ordinances when the case was heard Aug. 15.

Judge Christy Adams continued the case until Jan. 4 to give County Attorney-elect Peter Sullides time to submit a brief on behalf of the State.

Friendship School

No attempt was made to decide on any specific plan that might be explored further, as both committees wished additional time to consider the possible solutions.

The previous article on the activities of the Waldoboro High School Investigating Committee described the problems of enrollment and special courses.

Following the discussion of these problems with local officials, the Investigating Committee met with Kermit Nickerson, deputy commissioner of Education. Nickerson expressed the opinion that the town should take such steps as will guarantee the continuation of Waldoboro High School. The trend of secondary education in Maine is such that a town the size of Waldoboro operating a high school only for its resident students might eventually be eliminated.

The possible solutions appear to be:

1. Joining with two or more other towns to form a School Administrative District.
2. Contracting with neighboring towns for the education of their high school students.
3. Temporary arrangements for the present with the expectation that a more permanent solution could be arrived at in the future when the reorganization of Secondary Education has made greater progress.

These solutions will be explored before the committee arrives at any specific recommendations.

SPEEDY BEAVERS RACK UP WIN OVER NEW SHARON HIGH 63-47

WHERE ARE MY BUDDIES? — William Thompson of New Sharon High School seems surrounded by Rockport players in this floor scramble for the ball in Thursday night's game in Rockport. Rushing in on him are Keith May (3), Keith Crockett (14), and Lawrence Frye (22). Rockport had too much power for the visitors and although their lead was cut to seven points in the third quarter, Rockport pulled away to win 63 to 47. Despite his predicament Thompson potted 12 points for the second highest on his team.

ROCKPORT — The Rockport Beavers defeated New Sharon 63-47, Thursday night, to bring their season mark to 5-2. Rockport had a big second quarter after leading by only a point at the end of the first session, and outscored the Franklin County team by a 23-7 margin to take a 35-18 lead into the halftime intermission.

New Sharon scored better in the second half, but the Rockport bulge was too much to overcome and the Beavers won easily. The home team had good scoring balance with four players in double figures. Keith Crockett and Keith May shared top scoring honors with 15, while Dave Farley posted 13 and Jim Annis 10.

Bob Carson of the losers was the game's highest scorer as he dunked in 18.

The Rockport Junior Varsity made it a clean sweep with a 50-35 win in the opener.

House Goes For A Truck Ride In Tenants Harbor

ST. GEORGE—When motorists on Route 131 through Tenants Harbor said they saw a house going down the road, Tuesday afternoon, they meant exactly that. A five room cottage was taken from the beach end of the Martinsville Road through the village of Tenants Harbor and deposited safely at Barter's Point.

The house was moved by George Hall on a large flat bed truck after a "dry run" earlier when a pole was held in the air up the route to see if it would clear all the trees and wires.

The cottage was sold by Roscoe Hupper to Cecil Polky who arranged the moving of it. Total time for this project was five hours and the distance a little more than three miles.

THE PUBLIC IS BEING WELL SERVED

The Board of Directors of School Administrative District 5 have apparently struck a good buy in the District's new high school. It is now evident that they will be able to construct and equip the new building for the $1,250,000 originally estimated. This situation did not come about by accident. It was the result of long hard work by the group which gave close attention to the pennies all along the way in planning and came up with savings in thousands of dollars. Contractors' and sub-contractors' bids were studied and the best in each field of construction selected. Now, if the same careful attention is given in supervision of the actual construction and equipping of the new school the three communities of the District will have been well served by the directors. Considering past performances, we believe this will be the case.

Awards Bid

and two more classroom outside exits in place of the sprinkler. Architect Elwin Tabutt of Bunker and Savage of Augusta will draw up specifications and will discuss a cost with McKee before the contract is signed. It is expected these details can be completed in about 10 days.

The contractor told the board he felt it would be useless to try to break ground until the frost begins to leave. He said he will employ George Hall, Inc., of Rockland for the earth work and will obtain certain materials from Sutton Supply, Inc., of Camden and Rockland. He also said he will call the attention of sub-contractors to the contract clause which requires use of local labor and materials where possible.

McKee has been in the contracting business since 1944. In that time he has built 15 schools including the St. George Elementary School. At present the firm is building a school in Searsport.

Chairman Grossman expressed the thanks of the board for the time and devotion of the building committee. Irving (Mike) McConchie is chairman assisted by Dr. Russell Abbott and William Karl of Rockland, Melton Sturges of South Thomaston and Lloyd Painter of Owls Head.

The building committee explained to the board that McConchie deserves the lion's share of the credit because he has traveled across the state inspecting work designed by Bunker and Savage, buildings using curtain wall construction, and the work of McKee Construction.

Grossman concluded by stating he is certain the people of the district will have the best high school building that authorized funds will buy.

The board had decided earlier what equipment will be needed but manufacturers will not be on delayed delivery, because possible price increases. It will be some months before such bids can be advertised.

The board expressed pleasure that the final figures on the building will be a little more than $10,000 higher than the estimates of Tabutt. On a project of this size, the difference is very small; about one percent.

McKee's bid was about $30,000 lower than the next highest bid submitted by the Cote Construction Company.

Part of the agreement with the architect is to pay a portion of his fee when the bid is awarded. The board authorized borrowing $35,000 from the First National Bank of Boston in anticipation of the sale of bonds. The remaining $13,000 will be paid when the job is completed.

William Panton performed the double ring ceremony and the traditional wedding march was played by Mrs. Earl Grindle, grandmother of the bridegroom.

The bride wore a wedding gown of white Chantilly lace and a jacket fashioned with fingertip sleeves and a stand-up collar. Her shoulder length veil fell from a crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible topped with a corsage of white carnations centered by red roses.

Yesterday is gone. We tear its page from our calendar, for we live in the present.

But often we look back with nostalgia to the many yesterdays which make up the past. In a different mood we plan for the uncertain days ahead, sometimes filling them with happy expectations, sometimes with anxious forebodings.

Where is God in this time pattern of our lives?

Is He in the past alone, incarnate two thousand years ago in the great Teacher of Nazareth? Or does He walk with us through the present, our Companion each day? Does He remove all fear from the future with His promise, the promise of the living Christ, "And lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world?"

Come to Church and learn to know this Christ who is "the same yesterday, today, and forever."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
