Welcome To Day Camp Country

by Esther J. Perne

School ends and the wonderful world of day camp begins, a world of new friendships, new discoveries, new accomplishments. At the very least, it is a world of change and the outdoors is more accessible. At the very most it is an intensive immersion in a specialty or sport or academic endeavor that may become a lifetime pursuit and satisfaction. In between awaits an array of options for learning, liking, laughing....

In an area well known for its historic fishing and youth camps, for its private family vacations and for its day-trip getaway destinations from the surrounding towns, day camps were once the occasional extension of recreational programs. Today there are almost too many to track, and new day camps are constantly emerging. Day camps, courses and classes abound in area communities, at recreation centers, boys and girls clubs, YMCAs, riding stables, libraries, museums, schools, lake and conservation associations and traditional overnight camps which also offer day sessions. Many of them are affordable, most of them offer scholarships, some are free.

For a season, a session or "the best week of the summer" here is a sample of summer day camps.

...Gardiner: Spark Theater Camp for Kids at Johnson Hall teaches the basics in a wide variety of theatrical skills. Session 1, July 6-10, ages 8-11; Session 2, July 13-17, ages 9-12; Session 3, July 20-24, ages 10-13; Session 4, July 27-31, ages 11-14. Space is limited to 2 students per session. Fee is $198; scholarships are available. 582-7144

...Madison/Skowhegan: Lakewood Young Performers Camp offers children the opportunity to grow creatively in a professional theater setting; 3 two-week sessions in July and August with performances on Saturdays at the end of each session. 474-7176

...Waterville: Missoula Children's Theatre at the Waterville Opera House for grades 1 through 8: "The Little Mermaid," July 27-August 1; "Aladdin," August 3-8; "Red Riding Hood," August 17-22. Each week concludes with a fully realized performance, with scenery, costumes, and props. The cost is $200 per session. 873-7000

Civil War Reenactment at Norlands a Family-Friendly Event

The 5th Rally for Norlands, Civil War Reenactment Weekend will take place at the Washburn-Norlands Living History Center, Maine's oldest living history farm and museum, in Livermore on Saturday and Sunday, June 13 and 14. Organized by the 3rd Maine Company A and the 15th Alabama Company G, the reenactment weekend will include living history exhibits and demonstrations, horse-drawn wagon rides, an organ concert and sermon in the 1828 Meeting House, a scavenger hunt, campfire cooking, musket firing, a barbecue and bean supper and a contra dance featuring The Racket Factory.

Close to 200 living historians will be encamped on the 445-acre grounds for the weekend, interpreting Confederate and Union Infantry, scrimmaging with replica weaponry, and staging a battle at 2 pm on Saturday and 1:30 pm on Sunday in the hilly fields. The Norlands historic farmstead includes the Washburn mansion, gothic library, meetinghouse, cape house, sap-house, one-room schoolhouse and the rebuilding-in-progress barn. Tours of the mansion and wagon rides on the grounds will be available.

Highlights of the Rally Weekend will include a visit with Abraham Lincoln at 11 am on Saturday, a 19th-century Fashion Show at 1 pm on Saturday, storytelling at 3:30 pm on Saturday and 12 noon on Sunday and a Ladies' Victorian Tea at 3 pm on Saturday. Children may report for a Recruiting and Drilling at 10:30 am on Saturday and for crafts activities throughout the event. A Dress-up Tent will be open both days from 9 am-12:30 pm and a large Historic Crafters and Exhibitors Fair will be part of the event.

Gates open at 9 am daily. Admission is $10 per adult, $6 for children age 12 and under, and free

WHAT ABOUT THE WEATHER?

The weekend activities will go on, rain or shine. Keep in mind that weather can be variable in these mountain villages: it can be raining 20 miles down the road while the sun shines on Kingfield. For the latest updates on the day of the event, visit www.kingfieldpops.com.

The Kingfield POPS is a non-profit organization that brings live music to the region and supports music enrichment for youth. We seek used musical instruments to donate to schools for local children who cannot afford to buy or rent their own instruments. If you have one to donate, let us know: (207) 265-POPS. ## Healing Workshops in the Garden

The Hospice Memorial Healing Garden at 304 Main Street is an oasis, a refuge, a place for people to remember their loved ones. This summer the Hospice Volunteers of Waterville Area is offering workshops in the garden for those struggling with their memories and/or their lives and wondering how to go forward. All the workshops will take place on Thursdays, 6-7:30 pm, rain or shine, as follows:

- June 22: "Letting go of what you expect life to be..." with Susan Golden, a yoga workshop. This yoga workshop will begin with some breath work, setting an intention, gentle movement for all levels of fitness, and will end with guided meditation and a resting pose.
- June 25: "Healing through Music and Art" with Elaine Malkin and Gail Lipfert (the duo Bien Sur).

This workshop will consist of listening to calming but emotional music played on violin and guitar. A "Turlutte" will be taught - a simple "mouth music" piece to engage the voice and body, and simple art supplies will be offered with guidance to express deep feelings. The music touches the non-verbal, emotional side of the brain, freeing the art to flow from the heart.

- July 9: Meditation. Carmela Thompson: "Practicing Meditation & Gratitude in the Face of Losing a Son" and Jeff Matranga: "Introduction to Meditation."
- July 23: "Connecting with Nature using Art and Poetry" with Sarah Carlson. With the work of Thomas Locker (water colorist and author/poet) as a springboard, we will use crayon resist to paint something from the natural world that resonates within. With our creative brains activated we will then write a short poem using an easy, open and fun writing technique.

- August 6: "Journaling/Writing for Healing" with Phyllis Capanna. Journaling can be a powerful tool for healing. Come spend an hour and a half in the safest place there is: within the covers of your private journal. Please bring a notebook and pen.

- August 20: "Qigong: Gentle Movements and Breathing" with Danielle Tognato. Qigong: gentle movements for all levels, synchronized with breathing techniques. For people who have difficulty standing, slightly modified movements can be done while sitting in a chair.

Sessions are limited to 8 people. Pre-registration is requested. Please call 873-3615.

Invasive Aquatic Plant Workshop in Oakland

The Maine Volunteer Lake Monitoring Program is offering a free two-day training course and certification for scuba divers, hooka divers and surface support providers in the manual control of invasive aquatic plants (IAP) on Wednesday, June 17 and Saturday, June 20 in Oakland.

Part 1 - Introduction to IAP Manual Control with Manual Harvesting and Benthic Barrier In-lake Instruction and Practice will be held on Wednesday, 9 am-5 pm at Memorial Hall on Church Street.

This part of the training course will include an introduction to manual control, plant identification, information on permit and reporting requirements, introduction to the three manual control methods being used in Maine - harvesting, DASH, and benthic barriers, in-lake instruction and practice and an interactive panel discussion with Maine's leading control experts.

Part 2 - Diver Assisted Suction Harvesting (DASH) In-lake Instruction and Practice will be held on Saturday, 10 am-3 pm at the Oakland Boat Landing on Messalonskee Lake followed by a question and answer session.

Both training sessions are free. A take-out lunch option is offered on both days. Participants are welcome to attend one session or both, but full participation in Part 1 is mandatory for those wishing to become certified members of Maine's IAP Manual Control Team and/or to participate in IAP control programs that receive state funding. Participation in Part 2 meets the requirement for enhanced DASH certification.

If invasive plants are not removed, contained and disposed of properly, a removal project may cause more harm than good. At the very least, valuable time and effort may be wasted. The VLMP offers this comprehensive two-part training program to help ensure the success of control efforts.

The 2-day training program is only offered once each year and space in both sessions is limited. Preference will be given to staff and volunteers affiliated with existing control efforts in Maine.

To register contact the Maine Volunteer Lake Monitoring Program at christine@mainevlmp.org or 783-7733.

Second Sundays: Mapping Hallowell

The Harlow Gallery’s Education Committee hosts SECOND SUNDAYS, a monthly series of free community art-making events sponsored by The Bank of Maine. On Sunday, June 14th from 2-4pm memories, dreams, history, path – it’s up to you! All ages welcome. We’ll be using a map of Hallowell designed by Chris Cart and printed by the Hallowell Board of Trade last year. Finished maps will be displayed in one of the gallery windows in July (If you wish, it’s optional!). If you cannot come on Second Sunday, you can still be in the mini-show, stop by for a map and map YOUR Hallowell. Mark your calendars and look forward to activities on the second Sunday of every month at the Harlow Gallery, located at 160 Water Street Hallowell, Maine. These events bring artists and art lovers together to enjoy the process of making art as well as looking at art and discussing it. Most events are perfect for families, and all are welcome. Children under 10 MUST be accompanied by an adult. These sessions

Three Scholarships Available to Children's Summer Camps at L.C.Bates Museum

Boys looking at the sun.

Nasal balloon.

Recently three community members have kindly provided scholarships for three children to attend the L.C.Bates Museum summer camps. Call the museum for more information about this opportunity or the camps. There are still places for other campers too.

Great summer fun and learning best describes the L.C.Bates Museum summer camps for children. Campers explore nature, local history, art and astronomy. Each week long day camp focuses on a different adventure. Campers explore the museum collections and behind the scenes in the museum to discover our local wildlife and plants and / or local history. The Naturalist as Artist Camp will observe nature with brushes, rollers or pastels in hand. During Astronomy Camp children will operate the telescopes, explore our moon, take pictures of the sun and more.

The six museum summer camps include: Nature Camp 1, June 17 to June 19, Naturalist At Artist Camp, June 22 to June 26, Nature Camp 2, June 29 to July 3, Historic Explorers Camp, July 13 to 17, Astronomy Camp, July 27 to July 31, and Artist Explorers Camp, August 3 to August 7. Each camp will investigate our natural world. Campers will use museum collections and the natural area behind the museum to investigate their natural world. Camps run from 9 am until noon, except for Naturalist As Artist Camp that runs 9 AM to 3 PM. Appropriate for ages 6-14. Call the museum at 207-238-4250 to sign your children up for our hands-on, museum day camps.

Nature activities include making a mineral and shell collection, pressing a plant, making pit traps, investigations of pond life and using the telescope to view space. These nature camps will include daily science craft activities. The Artists As Naturalists campers will enjoy a week filled with exciting creative projects in the museum and making a museum exhibition of their art. All campers will explore the amazing museum collections.

Renovated and Expanded Winthrop Library Reopens

By Gregor Smith

Winthrop's Bailey Public Library is once again open to the reading public! A ribbon-cutting ceremony on the morning of Monday, June 1 capped a $1.1 Million renovation and expansion that more than doubled the size of the library, from 3,300 square feet to 8,800.

The Bowdoin Street building first opened 99 years ago, when Winthrop had but 2,000 souls. As the town grew — Winthrop now has a little over 6,000 year-round residents and nearly twice as many in the summer — and the needs of its population changed, the library needed to grow and change with it.

Therefore, last August, the library broke ground for an addition, and in November, on the Monday before Thanksgiving, the library closed for two weeks so that it could be temporarily relocated to the Winthrop Commerce Center in the former Carleton Woolen Mill on Main Street. This displacement was needed to allow the old building to be renovated and integrated into the new structure. Six months later, on Friday, May 8, the temporary library closed so that everything could be moved back to the expanded facility on Bowdoin Street.

North of the original structure and connected to it by a new lobby, the addition is bright and airy, with ample natural light streaming through its oversized windows. The main floor of this annex has the circulation desk and the adult reading room and the daylight basement has a conference room and large, multipurpose room

The circulation desk and the adult reading room on the main level of the addition.

Watching patrons as they enter the lobby, two wooden owls perch on top of two leaning stacks of books. The wooden sculpture was carved by chainsaw in a live demonstration on the library's lawn on Wednesday, May 27 that can seat 135 people. The main floor of the old section now houses the children's room, which was moved up from the basement.

The children's room in the renovated old section of the library has biplanes "flying" around the ceiling.

The new section of the library flows seamlessly into the old. The exterior design of the addition complements that of the original and on the inside, one cannot even tell that the two sections were constructed nearly a century apart. Except to set off the librarian's office, there are no internal walls on the main floor, so that the space can be easily reconfigured as the community and its needs continue to change.

Although the library is now open, library supporters still need to raise about $200,000 to pay off the costs of construction. Donations will be gratefully accepted. For more information, visit www.baileylibrary.org/fundraising/ or call Mary Jane Auns, chairwoman of the library's board of trustees, at 377-6142.

— Take It Outside —

Alphabet Soup of Conservation in the Belgrades

by Pete Kallin

This has been a cold, rainy week, somewhat restricting outdoor activities. Cold rain that is not too intense is actually healthy for our lakes as it adds fresh, cool, oxygen-rich water that helps promote flushing and mixing in the lakes. Cold water holds more oxygen than warm water and the cool nights help mix that water down deeper, weakening (or in some cases eliminating) the thermal stratification that occurs in our lakes in the summertime. The cooler, more oxygenated, water keeps fish like trout and salmon happier and that, in turn, keeps fishermen happier. The secret to enjoying the outdoors when it is cold and wet is basically the same as enjoying our Maine winters: dress appropriately. Dress in layers, avoid cotton, and wear a good rain suit that keeps water out while wicking moisture away. I, along with a few other hardcore fishermen, mostly from Castle Island Camps, spent some time out in the rain and wind last week and were rewarded for our efforts. I caught and released a few more salmon and at least twenty nice bass, almost all caught on flies that looked like alewives 15-20 ft down. One of the bass was a nice (22-in, 4.5 lb+) female that was fattening up in the deep water while her mate was scouting nest sites in the nearby shallows. By the time you read this article in the 2nd week of June, the water should be warmed up into the high-60's and the larger, breeding bass will be on the beds in the shallows, along with the sunfish.

The inclement weather gave me a chance to catch up on some of the work I do with the various nonprofits that work to conserve the lands and water quality of our region and throughout the State. There are a lot of people in our area who dedicate time and money to helping preserve these precious resources for all of us and at times it can be confusing who is doing what. I will attempt to explain the Alphabet Soup of Conservation in the Belgrades. In reality, these groups work together much closer than most people realize. While all the groups share common goals, they focus on different parts of a complex problem.

The Belgrade Lakes Watershed is roughly 180 square miles and comprises portions of 13 municipalities and includes 7 large lakes and numerous smaller ponds. There are six individual lake associations: East Pond Association (EPA), North Pond Association (NPA), McGrath Pond-Salmon Lake Association (MPSLA), Belgrade Lakes Association (BLA) (Great Pond and Long Pond), Friends of Messalonskee (FOM), and the Watson Pond Landowners Association (WPLA). The individual lake associations can be thought of as "the boots on the ground" for the individual lakes and are all volunteer membership organizations with no permanent staff. They are all active in protecting water quality on their individual lakes and all help protect their lakes from invasive plants. All the lake associations are part of the Belgrade Regional Conservation Alliance (BRCA)

Nice Long Pond smallmouth bass that took a streamer fly fished near the bottom Lake Trust.

The BRCA is a regional membership organization dedicated to conserving the lands, water quality, and natural heritage of the Belgrade Lakes Watershed. They are both a Land Trust and a Lake Trust. As a land trust the BRCA has protected nearly 9000 acres throughout the watershed through fee purchase or conservation easement, including the 6500-acre+ Kennebec Highlands spanning Mt Vernon, Vienna, Rome, and New Sharon, and French Mountain, The Mountain, and Mount Phillip. The BRCA Lake Trust coordinates water quality programs on a watershed-wide basis on behalf of the individual lake associations. The BRCA has a year round staff of 4 and expands to about 45 in the summertime to staff the water quality programs, which include the BRCA Youth Conservation Corps (YCC), the Watershed Program that applies for and carries out Nonpoint Source (NPS) pollution remediation programs funded through Section 319 of the Clean Water Act (CWA), and the Milfoil Program, which hires and trains Courtesy Boat Inspectors (CBIs) who staff the 7 public boat launches in the Belgrades, and the Milfoil removal team that does both invasive plant surveys and manual removal using divers and specially configured Diver Assisted Suction Harvesting (DASH) boats. Additionally, the Friends of Messalonskee has recently configured a DASH boat and is running its own removal program in Messalonskee Lake.

In the past 20 years, the YCC has completed over 1000 erosion control projects on all the lakes and BRCA CBIs inspect over 12,000 boats between Memorial Day and Labor Day every year. Funding for these programs comes from the individual lake associations, most of the towns in the watershed, some State and Federal grants, as well as individual and foundation contributions.

The BLA and the BRCA are housed in the Maine Lakes Resource Center (MLRC) in Belgrade Lakes Village, a separate nonprofit formed as a partnership of the BLA, BRCA, and Colby College that owns public docks, two buildings (the MLRC and MLRC Annex next to the Post Office) and serves as a venue for public lectures, community events, and the local farmers' market. The MLRC is a Low Impact Development (LID) demonstration site that incorporates numerous Best Management Practices (BMPs) such as porous pavers, grass pavers, rain gardens, infiltration trenches, and includes a water quality laboratory and weather station. Also housed in the MLRC is the Maine Lakes Society (MLS), formerly known as Maine Congress of Lake Associations (MECoLA). MLS is a state-wide membership organization that includes lake associations, as well as individuals and businesses. MLS works to protect all Maine lakes through science-based education, advocacy, and action. They administer the LakeSmart Program, a program designed to get shorefront property owners to maintain their properties in a more lake friendly manner, and the Lakes Alive Program, a lake education program focused on middle school students that has a specially equipped 30-ft floating classroom. Additionally they work with other state-wide conservation groups such as Maine Audubon and the Natural Resources Council of Maine (NRCM) to develop and advocate for legislation designed to protect Maine lakes.

See, I told you it would be simple. Believe me when I tell you that understanding how all these groups interact is much simpler than understanding all the complex, biological and physical processes interacting to affect water quality in our lakes including how human actions influence those processes. The hardest piece of the puzzle is getting people to actually change their behavior so their individual actions help improve the situation instead of making it worse. You can begin helping by joining some of these organizations and volunteering. You will meet a lot of awesome people who are already working on your behalf even though you may not know it.

While you think about it, take a kid fishing or on a hike, or paddling in a canoe.

Mid-Maine Global Forum

• Wrapping up its nineteenth year, the Mid-Maine Global Forum provides presentations on international topics such as climate change mitigation, cyberwarfare, the International Criminal Court, the civil war in Syria and the impact of the war on the Vietnamese. On Thursday, August 6, the annual dinner guest speaker will be Senator George Mitchell with a talk entitled "The U.S. Role in the World: Challenges of the 21st Century." To learn more visit www.midmaineglobalforum.org

Trek Across Maine

• The American Lung Association presents the 31st Annual Trek Across Maine on June 19-21. Bikers travel from Bethel to Belfast and spend overnights at the University of Maine at Farmington and at Colby

College in Waterville. Multiple volunteer opportunities are available. Volunteers receive a t-shirt as well as food and housing if applicable. LungNE.org, 624-0306

Ski Museum of Maine Turns 20

• Maine is rich in ski history and heritage that is being celebrated and preserved at the Ski Museum of Maine. 2105 marks the 20th Anniversary of this unique organization that maintains exhibits, researches and archives contributions and sponsors oral history recordings and fireside chats. Most recently the museum has produced a short documentary on "21st Century Ski and Snowboard Competition in Maine." The museum is located at 256 Main Street in Kingfield. 265-2023

Write On Golden Pond Workshop

• From the person who best captured summer life on a lake, "On Gold Pond" Academy Award-winning writer Ernest Thompson is offering an exclusive workshop at his home and writing retreat in the lakes region of New Hampshire, June 28-28. Interested in writing film, theatre or prose, experienced or never put pen to paper, writers with dreams or in need of organization will find this distraction-free immersion confidence-building and productive. 603 744-365

Belgrade

• "Friends 'n Neighbors," the free public luncheons sponsored by the Union Church in Belgrade Lakes will be held on the following dates during the summer: June 11, July 9, August 13, September 10 and October 18. The soup or salad and sandwich event is open to the public and welcomes everyone.

Fairfield

• Fairfield Historical Society is celebrating "Food from the Past" on Saturday, July 11, at the History House, 42 High Street. The special event will celebrate how our ancestors held social events around food. At 10 am will be the making and tasting of homemade donuts. At 11 am there will be an old-fashioned taffy pull. At 1 pm homemade ice cream will be made and guests are invited to help with the cranking and eating. Tours of the house and carriage house will be held on the half hour from 9:30 am to 3:30 pm. Antique donut holders will be for sale. Reservations are appreciated but not mandatory. 453-2998

Hallowell

• Auditions for The Gaslight Theater's show "Picasso at the Lapin Agile," by Steve Martin (directed by George Dunn) are on Monday and Tuesday, June 22 and 23 at 6:30 pm at Hallowell City Hall. Steve Martin's first full-length play has Albert Einstein and Pablo Picasso meeting at the Lapin Agile (Agile Rabbit), a bar in Montmartre, Paris in 1904. Both are "on the verge" of amazing ideas: Einstein his theory of relativity and Picasso the pivotal painting Les Femmes d'Alger. A lengthy debate about the value of genius and talent ensues, involving some unique characters. Production dates August 21-23 and 28-30. 626-3698

Livermore/Norlands

• Enjoy a summer weekend at the Norlands, in the company of other artists! Let the 455 acres of woods, fields, reflecting pools and 19th century buildings inspire your art. Artist Retreat: Inward Discovery/Outward Expression will be held at Washburn-Norlands Living History Center August 14-16. Besides ample time to work or relax, the retreat includes six delicious meals, special evening programs, wine and hors d'oeuvres, tours and classes. The cost is $300 per person. Space is very limited. Registration and $100 deposit due by July 10; full payment due by August 1. 897-4366

Manchester

• Over 18 different vendors will be featured at the Longfellow's Greenhouses Summer Farmers' Market, held every Saturday, June 20 through September 26, 9 am-1 pm, 81 Puddledock Road. Fresh produce from local farmers, organic vegetables, bakery products, jellies, honey, pies, meats, yarns, lobster, olive oils and vinegars, flowers and wood fired artisan style pizza will be among the many foods represented. Sandwiches and chowders and other lunch food will be available. 622-5965

Skowhegan

• The Skowhegan History House Museum & Research Center at 66 Elm Street will host "After Hours," featuring early maps archived in the History House collection, tours of interest by museum guides and presentations with the Board of Trustees on the museum's programs and future directions. Refreshments and door prizes will be provided, 5-7 pm. 474-6632

Waterville

• The 18th Summer Solstice in the Garden to benefit Hospice Volunteers of Waterville Area will be held on Saturday, June 13 from 10 am to 3 pm at Fieldstone Gardens, Quaker Lane, where guests of all ages will enjoy gardening workshops and tours, children's activities, building fairy houses, live music, artisan wares, a buffet gourmet luncheon and guest speaker Dr. Nathaniel Petley, naturopathic doctor and clinical herbalist. $5 admission fee per person includes Fairy Feast lunch for children 12 years and under; $10 for gourmet lunch. Pre-register at 873-3615

Wayne

• On Sunday, June 28, at 3 pm, Wayne's Cary Memorial Library will host Maine's Lily King, author of "Euphoria." Inspired by events in the life of revolutionary anthropologist Margaret Mead and set in 1930s New Guinea, "Euphoria" tells the story of three trailblazing anthropologists caught in a passionate love triangle that threatens their bonds, their careers and, ultimately, their lives.

Lily King is also the author of the novels: "The Pleasing Hour," "The English Teacher," and "Father of the Rain." She is the recipient of a Whiting Writers' Award and the Maine Fiction Award (twice). Copies of Ms. King's books will be available for purchase and signing. The program is free and all are cordially invited.

The Cary Memorial Library (685-3612) is located at 17 Old Winthrop Road in downtown Wayne, just off Route 133.

Garden Party Is Perfect Outing For All Ages

The 18th Annual Garden Party to benefit Hospice Volunteers of Waterville Area will be held on Saturday, June 13 from 10 am-3 pm at Fieldstone Gardens in Vassalboro. The Party will include gardening workshops and tours, children's activities, building fairy houses, live music, artisan wares, hourly door prizes and a buffet gourmet luncheon.

The $10 gourmet buffet luncheon, catered by Lori Dumont of Feeding the Multitude, will be served from 12-1 pm. Reservations are recommended; call 873-3615 by June 10.

This year's guest speaker for the workshops is Dr. Nathaniel Petley, naturopathic doctor and clinical herbalist from the Maine Center for Natural Health, who will focus on identifying, harvesting and using safe and easy-to-grow herbs and how to make different types of herbal teas. Fieldstone Gardens will offer plant specials throughout the day. A free Daylily will be given to the first 100 guests 18 years of age and older.

Children are encouraged to dress in Fairy attire. The Children's Garden schedule includes: 10-11:30 am Story Time for Fairies, Fairy House Building; 11:30 am-12:30 pm Fairy Feast; 12:30-2:30 pm Crafts and children's activities.

Live music will be provided by Harry Vayo, dulcimer 1-1:45 pm and David Deas and Friends 2-2:45 pm.

Admission is $5 which includes all gardening workshops, all children's activities and the buffet Fairy Feast for the children. Fieldstone Gardens is located on Quaker Lane in Vassalboro

Expressions

A big change awaits fans of the Blistered Fingers Bluegrass Festival, now celebrating festivals #44 and #45 this summer. Admission for children 16 years and under will be free, a change that the organizers, the Cormiers of Sidney, hope will allow more families to be able to enjoy these unique festivals.

Presented at the Litchfield Fairgrounds, June 17-20, the Blistered Fingers Family Bluegrass Music Festival offers a large tented spectator area, food and music-oriented concessions, a spacious camping area with super clean restroom facilities, and a great line up of bands from around the country, including:

- The Gibson Brothers – NY, Saturday
- Little Roy & Lizzy - GA and TN, Saturday
- Dan Paisley & The Southern Grass - PA, Friday
- The Cleverlys - MO, Wednesday
- The Kevin Prater Band – KY, Thursday, Friday
- Zink & Company - MA, Saturday
- Wilf Clark & Misty Mountaineers - ME, Friday, Sat
- The Baker Family – MO, Friday, Saturday
- Trinity River Band - FL, Thursday
- Phat Burger Deluxe - ME, Wednesday, Thursday, Fri
- Robinson's Bluegrass Gospel Sing & Jam -

Blistered Fingers 2015: Children 16 and Under Free

Sun

-Blistered Fingers – ME, Saturday

Sandy Cormier, who is a member of the host band, Blistered Fingers, and the enthusiastic organizer of the Blistered Fingers festivals, will be the emcee for the June event.

A special feature on Saturday is the free Kids Academy for ages 5-18 that immerses young musicians in a rewarding practice-and-play experience.

For campers who want to get in extra relaxation and pickin' time, the gate will open at 8 am on Sunday morning for Early Bird camping. The stage shows will be Wednesday through Saturday with the gospel sing along on Sunday morning at 10 am.

In addition to day tickets, weekend tickets and camping rates (and pet rates) are available. But remember, this year for the first time, children age 16 and under are free. For more information visit www.blisteredfingers.com or call 873-6539.

Dear Friends,

Welcome to the spectacular Belgrade Lakes Region. We at Belgrade Regional Health Center hope that your visit is memorable and that you enjoy good health during your stay. We look forward to the return of our summer residents as well as visitors to the area.

In case you do have a health concern while visiting, we are available to treat acute problems as well as chronic health conditions. Please call us for an appointment at (207) 495-3323, and we will see you as soon as possible at the health center. Our appointment hours are Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., and Tuesday evening 4:30 to 7:00 p.m.

If you have a major medical emergency such as chest pain, a severe breathing problem, cardiac condition, or major trauma, please call 911 or go to the nearest emergency room.

If you have a minor health condition such as poison ivy, a fish hook or laceration, please try to call before arriving at the health center. We accept patients on a walk-in basis, but you will be asked to wait until our regularly scheduled patients are seen. If you call ahead, we can give you a scheduled appointment and likely reduce your wait.

We are located at 4 Clement Way, just off Route 27, 3 miles north of the intersection of Routes 27 and 135. We look forward to seeing you for any of your healthcare concerns.

Sincerely,

Robert Cianfarano, PA      Lisa LaGrange, FNP      Amy Madden, MD

—Conservation Too—

Beware of the drive to have a “lush lawn”. I suggest going with a “Maine lawn”. If we didn’t have dandelions or other broadleaved weeds, we wouldn’t even have a lawn. While I’m not quite that adamant, we do recommend only managing a lawn and yard that you actually need and use. You’ve guessed it... I want to talk about lawn care again

I’m sure Bernie Sanders would agree that individual competition may NOT generate the most good for the greatest number. The drive of many landowners to create and manage their prize “lawn scape” is a case in point.

Each year, an average family with a one-third-acre lawn will use up to 18 gallons of fossil fuels in their efforts to manage their lawn. That includes gasoline plus the petroleum products used for fertilizer and pesticides.

An attractive lawn can be grown without regular use of pesticides (weed, insect, or disease controls) and little or no added fertilizer. Researchers have been analyzing every facet of lawn production and maintenance to see what works and what doesn’t. New guidelines have been developed. Following these amended guidelines will help us to have truly “green” lawns that can significantly reduce the risks for our children, pets, and our lakes, streams and ground water.

What are the options for people who still want that great, green and lush yard? You need to ask yourself a few questions. –

- How much of your yard needs to be lawn? [I’ve visited LakeSmart sites with none.]

- How much of your yard even needs to be managed? Let some of the property grow back to a more natural state with local varieties of plants and little to no need for maintenance. [Some people only mow trails and have a spot to play croquet.]

- Given the amount of lawn you want or need, what sort of grass would be best? Different varieties that grow better in different conditions and soils. Get a soil test to learn what will be best and what, if any, soil amenities you need i.e. fertilizer.

- Once a lawn area is established, how and when should you mow and maintain it?

The following information may help.

Contrary to common practice, spring is not the best time to fertilize a lawn. At that time, nitrogen will encourage top growth at the expense of roots and will promote germination of weed seeds. If and when fertilizer is applied, ideally it should be done only once or twice a year in late August or September. This approach provides fertilizer when the grass can best utilize it, not when it is likely to run off into waterways (always sweep fertilizer back onto the lawn from sidewalks and driveways). Fertilizer should never be applied to frozen or saturated soils, or in advance of expected heavy rain.

Select grass seed that works in your area and demands less maintenance. Turf-type tall fescues and fine-leaf fescues require less fertilizer and water and are more shade-tolerant. These are the “green” species we want on our lawns. In small amounts, perennial ryegrass, because of its quick growth rate, is perfect for overseeding bare spots but it is not as suitable for covering an entire lawn.

Mow your smaller lawn to maximize its health. It is well established that the higher the cut when mowing the lawn, the deeper and more extensive the root system. Deeper-rooted lawns recover more quickly from drought. Higher mowing heights leave a lawn with more resistance to water movement, therefore reducing runoff. Higher cut grasses can also tolerate a higher population of pests without significant damage. Last, and certainly not least, taller grass shades out weeds and reduces the number of seeds that germinate.

In much of Maine, an appropriate lawn will need little watering. Except for a few weeks in the summer, most lawns rarely need watering. Only if absolutely necessary, deeply soak the lawn once or twice a week with a total of 1" of water. Frequent, shallow watering encourages shallow root growth, thatch buildup, and increases the potential for pesticide and fertilizer runoff.

Try and remember why you like spending the summer here in Maine with its great lakes and streams and greenery. Here is a hint - “IT’S THE WATER”! How you manage and care for your yard, can have a disastrous impact on water quality. DO YOUR PART!

Personally I’ve tried to move my yard care from the socialist to the anarchist philosophy. I seldom water the grass, then only a small patch in front of the house. Much of the original lawn is now garden with various trees, shrubs and other plants mulched with old leaves and stump grindings. These gardens are situated to collect nearly all the water runoff from my yard. And, last but not least, the lawn I still have is only mowed in selective areas. Whole sections just have pathways mowed through or around them and the “wild stuff” is allowed to grow until late fall when I cut and compost the summer’s growth.
