HOULTON, MAINE, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 26

CLOCKS AHEAD ON
HOUR MARCH 30Next Sunday the Daylight Saving Law Goes Into Effect
--Worth Millions

Do not forget to turn your clock one hour ahead when you go to bed next Saturday night, for the daylight saving law goes into effect Sunday. The National War Garden Commission is getting inquiries from all over the country as to whether this law continues, so to set your mind at rest here is the law:

"That at 2 o'clock ante-meridian of the last Sunday in March of each year the standard time of each zone shall be advanced one hour, and at 2 o'clock ante-meridian of the last Sunday in October in each year the standard time of each zone shall, by the retarding of one, be returned to the mean astronomical time of the degree of longitude governing each zone, respectively."

Never mind about the October part of it. The thing to remember is the March end of the program and thus get started right. Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the National War Gardens Commission, gives a great deal of credit for the daylight saving law. According to the estimates by the commission, the war garden crop was worth $535,000,000. This was an increase of 51 per cent. over that of 1917.

The commission's survey showed that 5,285,000 home food producing plots were planted. With 26 working days in each of the seven months you have 182 extra hours of time. If only one gardener worked this extra hour of time in each plot, it will be seen that 961,870 hours of extra time were added to the country's wealth. Since there are 8,760 hours in a year you find the staggering total of 109,803 years of 24-hour days.

In an eight-hour working day the real advantage is found by multiplying 109,803 by 3, giving 329,409 working, or eight-hour day years. Importance of this extra time cannot be overestimated in the opinion of Mr. Pack.

"We must help feed the people of Europe," says Mr. Pack. "Will you have a part in the great work at hand? Next to the gun the extra hour of daylight is the best friend the victory gardener has. Will you meet the sun half way? Will you be up to take advantage of the health-giving garden work in the cool of the morning? Have the spade and the hoe handy and turn the clock ahead one hour on the last Saturday night in March and be ready for the greatest crop the country ever saw."

AND THE HEYWOOD

What You Should Know About
"Stella Marie"

The photoplay is dramatized from the famous novel by William J. Locke, who is recognized as one of the greatest living authors. Mary Pickford, the idol of America, is the star for Thursday.

For the first time in her career Miss Pickford undertakes a dual role, playing the part of Stella Marie, a sweet, gentle girl, and Unity Blake, the ugly and deformed orphan. In the latter role scenes of great pathos and sensationalism are shown.

Through remarkable trick photography, both characters are shown on the screen at the same time, and effects are obtained which have never heretofore been successfully attempted.

"Stella Marie" is an extraordinary production, replete with stirring incidents, and deeply charged with pathos. Settings and backgrounds have been provided in keeping with the bigness of the story, and exquisite camera work completes one of the best Artcraft pictures yet released.

ERNEST L. BREWER

It was with regret that the parents and friends of Private Ernest L. Brewer, Medical Corps, received the sad news on March 11th, of his death, overseas, of pneumonia, on March 2.

He enlisted May 28th, 1918, going to Camp Devens, from there he went overseas on July 4th, and was transferred to the 90th Division. The last letter received from him by his mother, dated March 1st, stated that he was in the best of health, and very anxious to return home.

Much sympathy is extended to his grief-stricken wife and parents, two brothers, Burpee A. and Harry B. Brewer of this town, and one sister, Mrs. Ernest Dodge of Bangor.

RADIO MEN TO GIVE DANCING PARTY

The enlisted men connected with the U. S. Radio station, will give a dancing party in Sincoc Hall, on Apr. 5--admission to which will be by card.

Music will be furnished by a part of Bryson's orchestra and a pleasant evening is assured those who are fortunate in holding an invitation card.

ELSON ART EXHIBIT

The public will be glad to learn that an Elson Art Exhibit is to be held at the High School Auditorium on the afternoons and evenings of April 2, 3 and 4th, under the auspices of the Education Committee of the Woman's Club, Mrs. W. S. Blake, chairman. There will be entertainments every evening furnished mostly by talent from the public schools. The first evening, Wednesday, April 2, there will be a Living Pictures entertainment in charge of Mrs. S. H. Brockway, School Art Director, interspersed with music in charge of Miss Doris Pride, supervisor of music. This cannot fail to be most interesting.

Admission only 10 cents each afternoon, and evening except the first evening of the Living Pictures when the admission will be 25 cents to all, except those connected with the schools, to whom the admission will be 10 cents the same as at other times. The money obtained from these admissions will go to purchase pictures, selected from the Exhibit, for the schools, one large fine picture for the Auditorium being the especial aim.

Everyone in town will be interested in the latter as the Auditorium is in such general use by the public.

LIBERTY LOAN

The work of reorganizing the management of the War Savings division of the Treasury Department, which handles the War Savings and Thrift Stamps is progressing steadily. Mrs. Herbert J. Brown of Portland, is the State Director and Mrs. Grace A. Wing of Auburn is the State Manager, with an office in Portland. Mrs. Wing who has been and is the State Executive Chairman of the Women's Liberty Loan committee has retained all her former county chairman, but one, for the Fifth Liberty Loan and the new War Savings Stamp work. Every chairman and sales agent of the W. S. S. who worked last year was automatically relieved of duty. December 31st, and the work from now on will be principally in the hands of women instead of being conducted by men as was done last year.

In this district, Mrs. S. L. White, county chairman of the Women's Liberty Loan Com. during the third and fourth campaigns will again assume the district chairmanship for the Victory Loan and also for the W. S. S. which is now incorporated in with the Loan work and will go on indefinitely after the loans have ceased, this Fifth loan being the last one.

To many protests came in to Washington from the people who still want a chance to make investments of savings in Government stock that the United States Treasury decided to continue year after year the sale of War Savings and Thrift Stamps to meet this need. The plan will be very different however from that of last year. There will be no set sums to raise, no drives or campaigns, the stamps will be sold at postoffices, banks and certain other places where sales agents may be appointed.

In Houlton they will be found at the post office and all four of the banks. After the next Loan the Government will put out a small bond, and the slogan will be "Buy Thrift Stamps to turn into War Stamps to buy a Bond to get coupons to buy more Thrift Stamps to turn into more War Stamps and so on," so that this country in twenty years from now may be what it has never been a really thrifty country.

ROBERTSON-BOUTILLER

A very pretty and interesting wedding took place last Saturday at 45 River St., the home of the bride, when Miss Helen Robertson was united in marriage to Mr. Vern Charles Boutiller a member of the 26th Division who has lately returned from France where he was severely wounded. He has also the distinction of being cited for bravery. He was attended as best man by Mr. Ralph Albert, a wounded comrade of the 26th.

Miss Clara Robertson, a sister of the bride was attendant bridesmaid. Both she and the bride were very prettily attired. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. Scott Smith Rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd.

After the ceremony a delightful wedding breakfast was served, the young couple afterwards leaving for Oakfield where they will make their future home. Besides the immediate family the guests included Mrs. Harry Burleigh, Mrs. Elsie Powers, Master Frederick Dunn and Miss Kathleen Jackson.

CHARLOTTE M. MERRILL

The many Houlton friends of Miss Lottie Merrill were pained to learn of her sudden death in Nashua, N. H., late Saturday, where for the past two years she has made her home with her stepmother, Mrs. O. W. Brunnel. Miss Merrill lived in Houlton for a number of years, with her sister, Mrs. F. H. Daggett, and during her residence here made many friends by her pleasant disposition and charming manner.

She was a graduate of Caribou High School, and Miss Beal's School and held a number of positions of responsibility and trust.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the sorrowing relatives and her sister, Mrs. F. H. Daggett.

COMMERCEEnjoy an Interesting Evening
Addressed by Joe
Mitchell Chapple

The members of the Houlton Chamber of Commerce with their ladies, had a most enjoyable evening on Friday, when Joe Mitchell Chapple, the noted traveler, writer and lecturer, spoke to the large audience and held their attention for two hours, and received a hearty greeting from them.

Mr. Chapple made two trips to Europe during the war, one in the spring of 1918 and the other after the armistice was signed, and having that peculiar faculty of being able to tell what he has seen, in a most attractive way, was most entertaining in giving his experiences.

Soon after the United States entered the war Mr. Chapple went to Washington and offered his services to the government, and at this time he was offered a commission as major on defaced service, but realizing that this would be a handicap rather than a benefit, he did not accept it. As a private citizen he could approach a Colonel or a General and slap him on the shoulder if he wished, and could the next minute approach a "dough boy" and clasp him by the hand, something he could not have done with a uniform on.

Under these conditions and on account of his acquaintance with Foch, Pershing, Clemenceau, Orlando, and other notable people he was able to get passes to any place that he wished, and his experiences as a citizen of the United States, traveling through the front line trenches were many, being well received and having an experience which few citizens were privileged to have.

During his visit to the different divisions he called on Col. Hume, of the 103rd and was received cordially by Houlton's honored military leader.

One of the many anecdotes which every one could benefit from occurred in Washington. Mr. Chapple asked one of the Cabinet at one time, what was the best asset to become an Ambassador, and the answer was "Just be yourself" and the remark may be applied to any person in every day life.

President F. A. Peabody presided and introduced the speaker, and the High School orchestra furnished delightful music during the evening.

This is the first entertainment of this nature that the Houlton Chamber of Commerce has given the members and the success of it, as well as the general idea of giving the members who have the current membership cards, an evening of pleasure, without any charge, was so marked that already steps have been taken to provide something next year, which will be fully as pleasing yet altogether of a different nature, and by arranging for it early, they are in hopes to have this entertainment the date of the annual meeting Feb. 13, 1920.

MOONLIGHT DANCE

The management of the Dream Theatre have completed arrangements for their first moonlight dance which will take place in the Heywood Theatre, Thursday evening, Mar. 27th.

These dances have been very popular throughout New England and are sure to meet with instant favor here. Besides the dancing there will be tables for whist, and Motion pictures the same program that is shown at the Dream--music will be furnished by a 6 piece orchestra and the dance floor will be under the direction of J. Dal Luther.

Special decorations for the hall and novelty electrical effects will go to add brilliancy to the affair.

Everything will be in readiness on Thursday for a real carnival of pleasure, where the best of order will prevail.

DAINTYLILA LEE IS FINELY SUP-
PORTED IN HER NEW PICTURECapable Screen Players Seen in Film
"Such a Little Pirate"

There are few photoplay stars who are so ably supported by talented screen players as is Lila Lee in "Such a Little Pirate," her second Paramount starring vehicle which will be shown at the Dream theatre next Wednesday. The play was directed by George Melford, and the scenario was prepared by Monte M. Katterjohn from the story by James Oliver Curwood, "Peggy, the Pirate."

Adirondacks Is Scene of Bille Burke's
New Film

Beautiful Lake Placid, in the Adirondacks Mountains in New York, was the background for many of the most charming scenes pictured in "The Make Believe Wife," Bille Burke's new Paramount photoplay, which will be shown at the Dream theatre next Friday. This is a rollicking photocomedy in which Miss Burke displays her talents as a comedienne to the best possible advantage.

Miss Burke is splendidly supported in this production, her leading man being David Powell, a favorite screen player. The picture was adapted for the screen by Adrian Gibbons and directed by John Stuart Robertson.

William S. Hart's New Picture "Set fish Yates"

"Setfish Yates," the new Arterati photoplay featuring William S. Hart, the famous Thomas H. Ince star in western productions, is said to be one of the most remarkable pictures in which that sterling portrayer of western roles has yet been seen. Imagining Mr. Hart as a confirmed egotist whose motto is "myself first and to the devil with all others." That is "Setfish" Yates, the supreme master of the sordid clique in Thirsty Center over which he presides.

This is a great theme treated in a big broad way. "Setfish Yates" will be presented at the Dream theatre next Tuesday and all who see it will agree that Mr. Hart never has done a better thing than this.

FEDERAL EMPLOYMENT OF-FICE WILL BE CONTINUED

Geo. J. Chamberlain, local examiner in charge of the Federal Employment bureau in Houlton, was notified Friday by a telephone message from Augusta of the action of the legislature in voting to appropriate money to maintain the employment service of the state. Up to this time the work has been carried on by the government. It would be discontinued now on account of the lack of provision of Congress if the state had not taken this action.

Mr. Chamberlain was notified by the Federal government recently that no more funds would be forthcoming from the government for keeping the employment office open for the benefit of soldiers and sailors. Mr. Chamberlain will continue as examiner in charge of the local office at the same stand on Bangor street.

ROYAL ARCH CHAPTER

At the annual meeting of the R. A. C. held at Masonic Hall, on Tuesday last, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:
High Priest, Bernard Archibald
King, F. W. Mitchell
Scribe, I. H. Davis
Secretary, C. A. McCanna
Treas., W. F. Braden

Thos. Monahan, baggage master at the B. & A. R. R. has been compelled to give up his position temporarily on account of sickness, and his many friends hope that a good rest will restore his health.

Sergt. Bert Chadwick Co. L. 103rd Inf. spent several days in town last week, returning Monday to Camp Devens for further medical treatment. Sergt. Chadwick was returned from France in February on account of illness and expects to re-join his company when they arrive in the U. S.

ROCKABEMA LODGE,
NO. 78, I. O. O. F.Observes Past Grand's Night
--Visitation by Grand Master of Maine

The observance by Rockabema Lodge No. 78, I. O. O. F., of Past Grand night, on the evening of Mar. 26, 1919, will long be remembered as the date of one of the most interesting and enjoyable meetings in the history of the Lodge. Years have gone and years have gone and in each of them many of the best young men of this community and those nearby, have joined the ever increasing band of pilgrims, who are striving despite the frailties of human nature, to give to those around them an exemplification of the trio of virtues on which Odd Fellowship is founded: Friendship, Love and Truth; but the present year, although begun has exceeded all past records, and is making one for itself which succeeding years may well strive to emulate, for on the date before mentioned, twenty-five of the own's best, ended the first epoch in their careers as Odd Fellows by being admitted to full membership after the conferring of the third degree upon them, by a degree team composed of the Past Grand of the Lodge, the work being witnessed by nearly one hundred members of Rockabema Lodge, as well as by many visiting brothers from other lodges.

The impressive degree work conferred in a very creditable manner and the scene presented, and impressions made as the large band of young men took upon themselves the vows and obligations of the fraternity will not soon be forgotten.

The event was graced by the presence of the Grand Master of the Odd Fellows of the State of Maine, Dr. Frederic E. Peabody, who was making an official visitation to Rockabema Lodge.

After the degree work and the closing of the Lodge, the members led by Grand Master, Peabody and District Deputy Grand Master, Lewin, and accompanied by the visiting brothers, repaired to the banquet hall there to do justice to the feast of good things that had been prepared by the sisters of Portia Rebekah Lodge.

Following the banquet and after the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, Noble Grand, Guy C. Porter, as toastmaster, called upon Past Grand, Frank Dunn, who responded with remarks which were heartily received. Several of the visiting brothers brought the greeting of their respective lodges, and Dr. Fred W. Mitchell then convulsed all present by the reading of one of his original and inimitable papers, in which among other things was portrayed what the author claimed to be a history of the origin of the Rebekah Lodge, many of the brothers coming for their share of the personal hits made by the shafts of the Doctor's wit.

District Deputy, W. S. Lewin spoke briefly concerning the Encampment branch of the order, and then introduced Grand Master Peabody, who cheered the heart of all by the message he brought of the strides being made by the Order during the present year, and of the bright outlook for the future. He especially congratulated Rockabema Lodge because of the fact that they had just conferred the degrees upon the largest class of candidates, that had been received by any Lodge in the State of Maine; and also the veterans who comprised the degree team for the evening. The entire address which was spiced with flashes of wit, was full of fraternal, good cheer, and was greatly enjoyed by all.

Following the Grand Masters address, "America" was sung and the events of the evening passed into history.

Yours truly,
W. T. HAY,
Station Agent.

Dear Sir:

In your issue of "Houlton Times" dated March 19, I notice that you print a few remarks made by Dr. D. C. Woods, Director of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station. Mr. Woods offers the statement to a gathering of farmers that they should have a good reasonable profit on any staples sold to station agents, as the station agents were drawing wages ranging from $10 to $70 a week. It is true that station agents were generously increased in salaries the past year, but it is not true that they are as a general rule paid, from $40 to $70 per week. Out of 100 stations on the Bangor & Aroostook Railroad, at least 70 per cent of the station agents are paid the standard minimum of $2.84 per day, $23.94 per week, so you can see that Mr. Woods has exaggerated.

Up till about a year ago these 70 per cent of station men were working for $2.00 to $2.25 per day, and in many instances paying the farmer $16.00 per cord for wood, and from $4 to $8 per barrel for potatoes. It seems that Mr. Woods made no statements at that time, and we would have been glad to have had so able a champion, to see that we got justice. I trust that in the interests of fair play you will be able to give these few words the same publicity that were given Mr. Woods remarks. If Mr. Woods did not know for sure what he was talking about, in commenting on railway conditions, then he should have made himself familiar with our schedules before making any assertions before a gathering of farmers from all points of the state.

Yours truly,
W. T. HAY,
Station Agent.

HOME WITH ENGLISH BRIDE

George E. Bubar, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Bubar, who has been overseas for 4 years, returned to his home here last Thursday accompanied by his English bride.

Pvt. Bubar enlisted with the 28th Dragons at Woodstock, in 1914, and has spent nearly four years in service. He was through much of the heaviest fighting and was wounded several times.

During his confinement in one of the English Hospitals he met Miss Maude Buckthorpe of Castleham, St. Leonard's on-the-sea Eng., who was acting as a nurse, the friendship ripening into a love match which culminated in a wedding last January.

Pvt. Bubar has been discharged from further service and with his bride will reside in Houlton where he has many friends who will be pleased to welcome him home.

There is an increasing interest in the meetings which The First Baptist Church is conducting each Friday evening in the different homes. This week they will be held with Daniel Davis, Franklin street; E. L. Seamons, High street; Mrs. A. P. McCormick, River street; Wesley Jackson, West street; and T. C. S. Berry, Weeks St. wheat.

CHAPMAN CONCERT

Music lovers in this section enjoyed a treat in the Chapman concert given in this town on Wednesday evening, March 19. Mr. Chapman has always been successful in providing good artists for his annual concert, and this year was no exception.

Nicholas Garagusi, the talented young violinist, whose playing captivated his hearers on his first appearance in Houlton in 1918, showed marked improvement over his performance at that time, and he again gave music lovers of Houlton many beautiful selections.

Miss Ruth Pearey, contralto and Miss Virginia Rea, soprano, captivated the audience with their rich voices, and although heard in Houlton for the first time, they were warmly received, and made many friends by their charming manner and sweet voice.

Prof. Chapman presided at the piano in his usual artistic manner which added much to the evenings entertainment.

Tickets for the Vaudeville and Musical Comedy to be given for the benefit of the Frederickton G. W. V. A. Memorial home, this Tuesday evening, are on sale at Leighton and Feeley's Drug store.

Dear Sir:

Miss Marjorie Graftie of Moose River and Miss Doris Cochran of Houlton, students at Smith college, have been chosen as leading lady and leading man in senior dramatics which will occur during commencement week in June.

The play "The Yellow Jacket," will be presented to the public for three consecutive nights in the regular city theatre and will require a cast of twenty-six characters.

Miss Graftie and Miss Cochran are both on the honor list at college, as no student will be given permission to enter as a contestant for the leading parts in dramatics, unless they hold at least a B rank in their studies.

DRIVE FOR OLD CLOTHING

A call for used clothing is now on. Pass your half worn garments to the Red Cross Committee who will pack and send them to the countries in such immediate and dire need. Do not allow your closets and attics to become clogged with that which will be a benefit to others who have no means of helping themselves.

Remember they are unable to secure clothing unless you co-operate with the Red Cross to help them.

There will be conveyance for all contributions on Saturday, March 29. Have your parcels ready for the Junior Red Cross to collect.

The committee is: Mrs. A. T. Smith chairman; Mrs. George Q. Nickerson, Mrs. George E. Dunn, and Mrs. Frances Newbegin.

Farmers who intend to purchase any grass seed or clover seed this time are reminded that there is less than 40 per cent of the normal amount available this season and Davis, Franklin street; E. L. Seamons, High street; Mrs. A. P. McCormick, River street; Wesley Jackson, West street; and T. C. S. Berry, Weeks St. wheat.

A PLACE CALLED HOME

You long to live in Paris;
Jack wants to visit Rome.
But I shall hit the highroad
For a place called Home.

I used to hate the farming
When I was just a boy.
And wanted to go forever
From the State of Illinois.

But I have been in Flanders
Where land was plowed instead
With shells, and in the furrows
Shone a little pool of red.

I used to feel that father
Was pretty hard on me;
That mother might have understood
The longing to be free.

But when you've been through fighting,
And gas, and bomb, and shot,
You know a fellow's people
Mean a devil of a lot.

So you stay in Paris,
And Jack can visit Rome.
But I shall hit the highroad
For a place called—Home.

CHICAGO MANBUYS FAMOUS CALIFORNIA ISLAND

Los Angeles, Cal., March 15.—One of the biggest real estate deals ever put over in California is now an assured fact that details can be furnished by the interested parties.

Mr. William Wrigley, Jr., manufacturer of the famous "Wrigley's Spearmint," one of the chief stockholders in the Chicago "Cubs" ball team and an officer and director in a total of fifteen enterprises in various parts of the U. S. is the head and controlling interest in a company which has taken over Santa Catalina Island. The purchase price is close to $4,000,000 and several millions more will be spent to make the island the great show place of the Pacific Coast.

Included in the transfer are practically all of the 48,000 acres of the island, the new $400,000 Ste. Catherine Hotel and its appurtenances, ten thousand head of sheep, two large steamers which ply between San Pedro and the island, a fleet of glass bottom power boats and other property of the Santa Catalina Island Company.

This news is of interest to every past, present and prospective visitor to California; in fact, it is of particular interest to the country at large, for it presages an era of expansion and development in our home resorts in keeping with the tendency to cultivate domestic tourist travel which the war has so strongly intensified.

The officers and directors in the new Santa Catalina Island Company are some of the most enterprising business men in Los Angeles county. The general manager is Everett H. Seaver who directed the Fulton Shipyard at San Pedro during the war and who last year built successful wooden ships at astonishing speed for the government. Mr. Seaver's record as a builder of ships is equalled by his fame as an employer of labor, for in all his period of service at San Pedro there was no rumor of labor trouble.

David Bankenhorn, a well known Los Angeles business man is president of the new company. He recently received his honorable discharge from the U. S. Army where he ranked as captain.

"We intend to make Santa Catalina Island the greatest summer and winter resort in America," said Mr. Wrigley. "Development will progress as rapidly as possible and when business warrants we will put on more steamers. There is room for a half million new cottages on the island and a second new hotel is projected for early completion. It is my plan to make this gem of the Pacific a resort of such attractiveness that it will be the mecca for visitors from all parts of the country."

There are many unique features found at "Catalina," as the island is called locally. In one vast expanse are the frames of 650 tent cottages which in summer are covered with canvas, furnished completely and rented by the day or week just as hotel rooms are rented. This is the famous Island Villa. Another summer settlement is made up of hundreds of tents completely furnished for house keeping.

The glass-bottomed boats, already mentioned make daily trips over the Marine Gardens—through these boats the visitor gets such sights of a great ocean world of vegetation and fish as can be had nowhere else. Here is a realm peopled with brilliantly colored inhabitants swimming through forests of feathery verdure. Huge tree-like ferns wave and bend with the motion of the water. Great stalks of kelp touch the bottom of the boat. From the strange "sea-cucumber" that clings to the ocean floor and is said to be one of the lowest forms of animal life, to giant tuna fish and sea bass, which are the delight of sportsmen, the range of species, size and appearance of these creatures of the deep is utterly astounding.

Above water are seen seals, some of them weighing a ton, sunning themselves and their young on the rocks. The bald-headed eagle perches himself on a crag and haughtily surveys the scene while a flock of stormy petrels scurry away before the boat's advance. Yonder on a cliff some mountain goats enjoy the scenery and herbage. Over and above all are the bluest of skies reflected in the depths of the deep blue sea.

Mr. Wrigley, as the world's greatest chewing gum manufacturer, has been said to be one of the largest contributors to men's lasting enjoyment among all who make for creature comfort.

His plans for the development of Santa Catalina Island for the tourists and pleasure seekers who flock to California's sun-kissed shores will entitle Mr. Wrigley in double measure to all the credit he has thus far attained as the most extensive purveyor of America's own famous confection—the stick with the flavor that lasts.

"Just as we have looked to advertising to build up our business," said Mr. Wrigley, "so shall we make known the fame of Catalina Island. The power of the press is one of the world's greatest agents of advancement. Without advertising it might take twenty years to accomplish what advertising makes possible in one."

RHINELAND TO BE REAL BUFFER

A new map of Europe is rapidly taking form, and soon the frontiers of the old states will largely be defined as they are to appear in the peace treaty and the successive documents fixing territorial limits.

First in importance is Germany's western frontier bordering on France which assumes international significance as a barrier against renewal of the present war. Owing to the issues involved, the final determination of this question is left to the council of the great powers, but in the mean time the tentative plans have been well advanced by the commission which co-ordinates reports of all frontier questions.

As it now stands, the western frontier comes under three main heads—first, Alsace-Lorraine; second, the great iron and coal regions of Briey and the Saar valley, and, third, the extensive strip of German territory lying on the west bank of the Rhine from the Palatinate northward.

With respect to Alsace-Lorraine the present tendency is to make recession of this section of France without any condition of a plebiscite or otherwise. It is now occupied by military forces under the armistice, and there is every indication that the occupation will become permanent.

The Briey and Saar valley sections are chiefly important as furnishing steel and iron, on which Germany's military power was based, and it is believed that the new line will definitely put an end to any further use of these sources of German power. Part of the Briey and Saar sections will become French by the return of Lorraine.

The main difficulty has been over a large section of the Saar coal fields lying beyond Lorraine and within German territory. The present idea seems to be somewhat between annexation of that section and leaving it to Germany. According to this plan, the northern Saar region would be neither French nor German, but would occupy a position somewhat similar to the District of Columbia.

TOWN TALK FLOUR

among the states. Its productive capacity would doubtless go to France, but politically its 300,000 inhabitants would not be subject to conscription or military service either to France or Germany and would not elect delegates to either country.

Would Sterilize Region

This and other measures are being considered with the object of sterilizing the region, so that Germany could not by a sudden rush again turn it into war uses.

Concerning the region along the west bank of the Rhine, the present tendency is toward the form of "sterilization" which would render this important for German military uses, without giving it a definite political status toward either side. This probably would be accomplished by the same means as in the Saar region by making the inhabitants independent of conscription or military service to either side and without legislative representation except some local form of self-administration.

This, on broad lines, is the present plan, which, however, is only tentative pending final action by the council of the great powers.

The plans relative to other frontiers, including those of the new Czechoslovakia, Roumania, Serbia and Greece, and to the expected acquisition in Thrace and Asia Minor are also nearing completion, so that the new Europe will begin to take quite a definite form within a week.

WIRELESS TO AIDMAIL PLANE PLAN

The war airplane and war wireless of France are to be combined in a new peace-time mail service.

Five air mail routes have been laid out and will be in operation soon. They will connect Paris with Brussels, Lille, London, Marseilles and Nice, and will join Bordeaux with Lyons. A sixth line, to be established later, will connect Paris with cities in Alsace and Lorraine.

The airplanes will travel fast with the mail, but the person to whom a letter is being sent need not wait for the arrival of the airplane to learn what is in the letter. Airplane letters are to be written in the usual way, but the writer will have the privilege of writing also a separate missive which is to be a tabloid summary of his letter. In this condensation the correspondent will write only the leading facts contained in his letter, in as few words as possible.

For airplane mail, a special double envelope, arranged in a manner somewhat similar to the American return postcard, will be used.

In one envelope the correspondent will place his letter. In the other will be the short summary. When the airplane is ready to start the summary envelope, detached from the other, will be sent to the wireless station, and there wireless ahead to the addressee. The regular letter will follow as a sort of confirmation and amplification of the brief wireless message.

Thus, Jeanne, in Lille, might receive a wireless saying, "I still love you," from her Jean in Paris, and a few hours later receive his letter, saying the same thing in 2000 words.

When weather conditions do not permit the airplanes to fly, the wireless adjunct will be especially appreciated, as the letters then will have to go by train, the wireless summary, however, being delivered without delay.

For the immediate future, mail planes will not fly at night. But mail traveling by train at night will be picked up by planes in the morning and carried on to its destination.

When the Alsace-Lorraine service is running, mail starting from Paris by plane at 10 A. M. will be delivered in Metz, Strassbourg and Colmar the same evening.

Meat: Russia and the Allies

Russia crumbled away and failed the Allies largely through lack of food, according to an American eyewitness.

With plentiful reserves and resources virtually untouched, her people starved at home and at the front because there was no adequate organization to place food where it was needed.

Animals on the hoof were shipped thousands of miles to the various fronts, wasting transportation facilities required for other purposes. They arrived shrunken and emaciated, to be killed and dressed amidst filth and confusion behind the lines. Half of those brought from Siberia, it is said, perished on the way; many more were unfit for food.

On the other hand, the American packers turned live stock into meat in large sanitary plants located in the producing sections, and shipped the product under refrigeration so that it reached the trenches in France in perfect condition, without waste.

Says Our Authority:

"Had such facilities for cold storage transportation been available to the Russian supply committee, as were placed at the disposal of the quartermaster of the United States by Swift & Company, there might have been a different story concerning Russia's part in the final drama of the war."

A large-scale packing industry would be an asset to Russia, in war or in peace, as it has proved to be to the United States.

The cost of this large scale industry in the form of profits is only a fraction of a cent per pound of meat.

Put On The Left Shoe First

They all said it—Dough-boy, Poilu, and Tommy—and clinging to that bit of trench superstition, they believed it brought good luck for the day—and longer life in the shell-racked stretch about them.

But in these fairer, happier days, when peace whirls the wheels of motordom again, we say,

"Put on the right shoe first."

And, of course, the right shoe, is the Goodrich Shoe, because it means good luck day and night, and longer life in your tires.

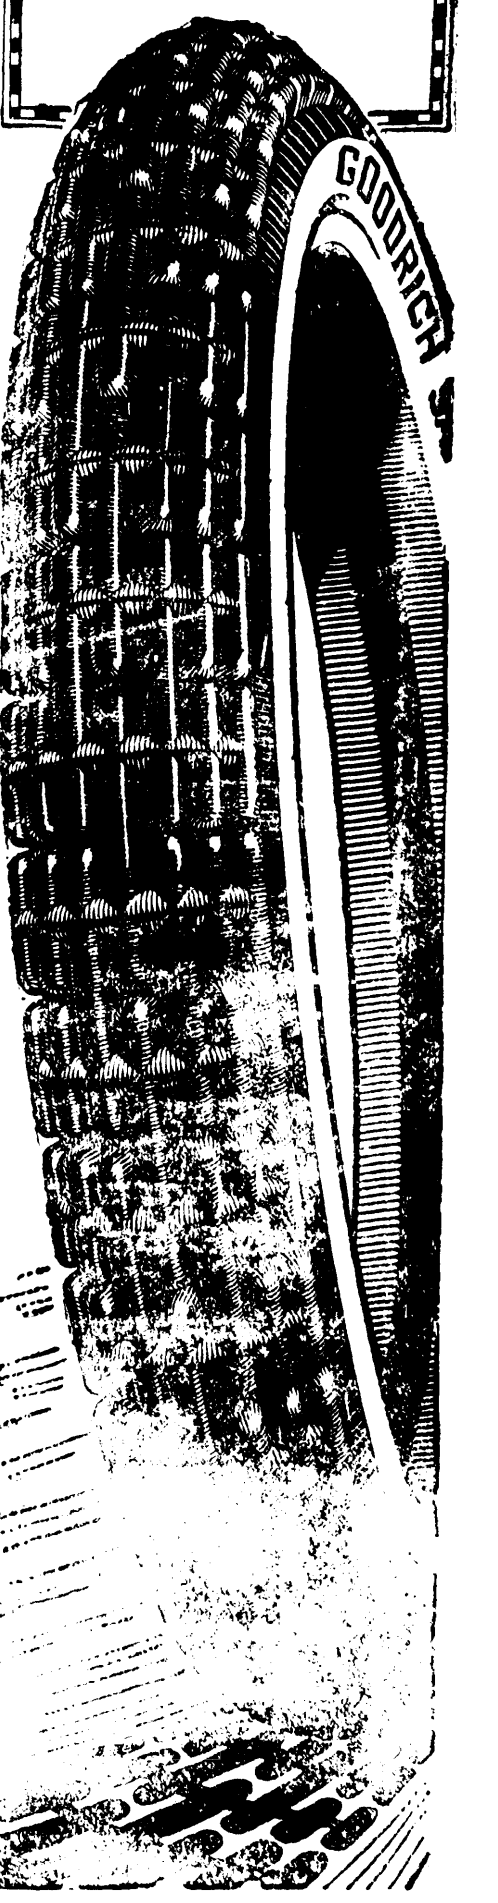

But there's no superstition about it; only the big, husky body, and the wide, thick BLACK SAFETY TREAD, Goodrich builds into tires that—

When the Great Sale starts

This will be the most tremendous sale in the town's history. High grade Ladies' Misses' and Children's Coats, Suits and Fancy Goods will go for whatever they will bring. The entire stock must be turned into cash regardless of COST, LOSS or VALUE. In many instances you can buy 2 or 3 garments for the price of one. It will be a sale long to be remembered. Let nothing keep you away. It will pay you to come even if you live 50 miles away.

These prices will stir the country from end to end. Pass the good word along to your friends and neighbors, they will thank you for it. Nothing will be held back, all must go. Bear in mind our space is too limited to mention all the prices, but this will give you an idea of the wonderful values that await your coming. You must and will be here. This sale will be a rush and continue a rush until every dollar's worth of the big stock is carried away by thousands of happy buyers—happy in the thought that a dollar saved is a dollar earned. AROOSTOOK FEDERATION OF FARMERS

That the Aroostook Federation of Farmers will, when fully organized, with Aroostook County solidly behind it, be able to achieve great results is indicated by the fact the Government has already seen fit to send two men to Aroostook County to investigate agricultural conditions and report to the Government what ought to be done to relieve the situation in Aroostook County.

Prof. Stewart of the Bureau of Plant Industry, and Mr. Alloway of the Bureau of Markets, arrived in Caribou, Wednesday night, and spent Thursday discussing the situation in Aroostook County with the Directors of the Aroostook Federation of Farmers.

Several local men were called into the meeting and Mr. Stewart stated before he left that everything would be done that could be done by their Bureaus to get a duty on potatoes to keep out Canadian potatoes from our markets, also that fertilizer companies ought to sell fertilizers at a considerable reduction from present prices.

Nothing can be done in the way of getting a duty at present, but every effort must be made to have the farmers of Aroostook represented when the time comes for a revision of the Tariff.

Mr. Alloway stated that the Western States and New York had marketed heavily and that their stocks on hand are considerably smaller than is usual at this time of the year, also that they are sprouting early and going to pieces rapidly.

Mr. Alloway stated that were it not for the Canadian potatoes, that are coming across the line at the rate of over 2000 lbs. per day, we would receive a better price and a rising market from now on, but owing to the uncertainty of the amount to be marketed by Canada no safe prediction could be made as to what might happen.

Both Gentlemen left the impression that they would do what they could to help better conditions, but that there was really not much that could be done. Prof. Stewart did say that he thought Aroostook farmers ought to plant only their best seed, use all the manure they could, use as little commercial fertilizer as would be consistent with good farming, and raise potatoes as economically as possible. Which is precisely what the average farmer will do.

He also stated that the farmers by direct marketing of seed potatoes together with careful selection of seed potatoes and their proper packing would be able to get back the seed trade that we had lost through careless methods of handling.

Although it may be that nothing will come of this visit on the part of officials from Washington, much good may come of it, and it shows above everything else that when the farmers get together and begin to talk business that even the Government at Washington sits up and takes notice.

NEXT LOAN PROBABLY FOR SIX BILLIONS

With the announcement that collections from the first 25 per cent. installment payment of income and profits taxes last Saturday amounted to $1,001,000,000, and might go higher with later reports, the Victory Lib-ty Loan had been passed, and it seems probable that the loan will be for approximately $6,000,000,000.

Governors of Federal Reserve banks attending a conference were told that although official statements of the amount of the loan heretofore have referred to "five or six billions," higher figure was nearer correct. Treasury officials emphasized, however, that the amount of the loan had not actually been determined.

Tax collections of a little more than a billion dollars indicated that the total tax yield this year from income and profits levies would be more than four billions and might reach the $4,700,000,000 estimate of congress at the time of enacting the revenue bill. The aggregate of first installment payment will bring into the treasury only about $500,000,000 net at this time, however, since $800,000,000 is required to pay certificates of indebtedness coincidentally with the tax payments.

In support of the belief that the treasury would make six billions the goal of the Victory Loan campaign officials pointed out that $4,855,000,000 certificates of indebtedness were outstanding to be redeemed out of proceeds from the loan and they said that probably another billion must be issued before the loan receipts begin to pour in. Proceeds from the certificates will be required to pay ordinary government expenses for two months, now running at the rate of $1,200,000,000 a month, and to redeem a little more than $600,000,000 of certificates falling due before May 6.

The treasury has available to meet current cash requirements about $1,700,000,000, a rather high net balance, not including all the tax receipts from last week's collection. Officials, however, do not desire to let the cash working balance get below a billion dollars, for this is less than a month's expenses.

Indications now are that unless the Victory Loan is largely oversubscribed the treasury will have to begin within a few months after the campaign to market new securities, selling them mainly to banks, as a means of meeting future government expenses. These would be in addition to possible issues of tax certificates in anticipation of the last two installments of tax payments September 15 and December 15. In preparation for

Required For Health and Beauty.

It is surprising that it is necessary to repeat again and again that the health and beauty of the skin require that the blood shall be pure. If the arteries of the skin receive impure blood, pimples and blotches appear, and the individual suffers from humors. Powders and other external applications are sometimes used for these affections, but will never have the desired effect while the causes of impure blood remain.

The indications are very clear that Hood's Sarsaparilla is the most successful medicine for purifying the blood, removing pimples and blotches, and giving health and beauty to the skin. It gives tone to all the organs and builds up the whole system. Insist on having Hood's Sarsaparilla when you ask for it. Don't take anything else.

SEWALL TO HELP
SELECT MEMORIAL
FOR COL. ROOSEVELT

William Wingate Sewall, of Maine, guide for the late Colonel Theodore Roosevelt when he hunted in the Maine woods and for two years foreman of his ranch at Medora, N. D., visited the colonel's grave and the Roosevelt home at Sagamore Hill yesterday. Today he conferred with the Roosevelt Permanent National Memorial Committee to assist them from his intimate knowledge of the colonel in selecting a memorial such as he himself would have liked.

As to the particular type of memorial to be selected by the Roosevelt Memorial Committee, at whose invitation he has come to New York, Mr. Sewall is much concerned and he has decided opinions as to what would have pleased the colonel.

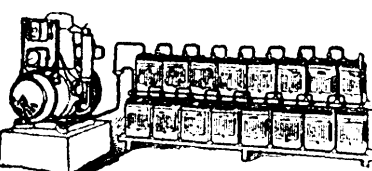

"He would have like something," he said, "in the way of an institution that would teach Americanism that would put into men a sense of justice and truth. I know that no statue or monument would have pleased him. He would have wanted nothing that had no practical use."

"The kind of an institution I mean would be a school to teach boys along the lines that his own boys were taught, because there could be no better kind. Of course there would be woodcraft and out-of-door sports, and all that sort of thing. The boy would be taught to take care of himself and to use other men as he ought to."

Bill Sewall was born in a little clearing in the heart of the Maine woods 76 years ago. He says he was the first white child born in that settlement, and that the next nearest clearing was 20 miles away. His father's only neighbor was an Indian, and, he adds, he was a good neighbor. At present the guide is the proprietor of the Hook Point Camps, on Mattawamkeag Lake, at Island Falls, Maine. He used to stand six feet four when he was in his prime, but his shoulders are a bit bent now. From above a snowy white beard peer two keen blue eyes, as alert as those of a youth. And he is proud of his profession, for, as he said yesterday, when his daughter gently reproved him for coming to New York wearing a blue flannel shirt, he is a woodsman, and he wants people to know it.

INCOME TAX TIPS

(All replies to questions in this column given free of tax.)

PUZZLED—Don't be bluffed. Simply put all extra leaves in dining room table, grasp tax return firmly with both hands, and throw it flat on its back. When you have it down brand it on the first page with hot ink.

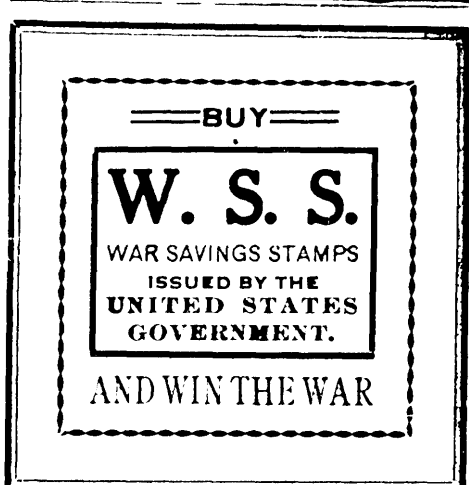

C. H.—Yes, algebra may be used in figuring your return. Personally we employ trigonometry, although many prefer calculus and a couple of law,yers.

TAXPAYER—Your problem is as simple as a Chinese laundry ticket. Simply deduct the net profit of losses (plus inventories at the end of the year) and add income from salaries, wages, bonuses, directors' fees, and pensions. Nothing to it.

J. J. C.—Refer to Table 113 on Page 11, Section 28, Part IV of return. Then if Item 86, Schedule V, line 7, exceeds the sum stated under Item 21, Page 9, Schedule Z, get another blank form.

CONFUSED—No, you should have figured the amounts in Items 34, 60 and 69 as net losses from Wear and Tear. Obsolescence and Depreciation Charged Off (see K (2) on Page 8 of Instructions, before entering total in Item 94, Schedule O. It's perfectly simple.

L. F.—Don't worry about your 1919 tax. You may have no income.

AN ENTOMOLOGICAL

HOUSE CLEANING

The Entomologist of the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station thinks that perhaps never in the at all recent history of our country have we had so good an opportunity to start in fresh with the grain situation, entomologically considered.

This type of food for man, beast, or fowl, having been at a premium for the several years of the war, we have scraped the old flour barrels, and purchased sparingly both for patriotic and economic reasons. The storehouses of the wholesale dealer have been emptied, the grocer's supply has been brought low and the grain products of the country have been used to a narrower margin than ever occurs in normal times.

This all means, of course, that when we buy our fresh supply we will be getting grain products that have not been long on the market; and consequently that the opportunity for their being infested with all the insects that grain is heir to is much less than usual.

The moral is easy to read. The miller who takes proper precautions, the farmer who cleans out his grain bins, the wholesaler who looks well to his store-rooms, the grocer who prepares a fresh setting for his cereals, and the housewife who digs out the cracks under the flour barrel, in brief all who take the trouble to get rid of any left over cereal pests while the supplies are still low should be rewarded by being comparatively free from larger insects for a long time to come. And the economic losses from these pests totals large and to reduce their ravages is well worth while from every point of view.

The simple, though in some circumstances laborious, process of house cleaning is a measure directed against a large number of insects at once. The yellow meal-worm, the darker meal-worm, hard shiny cylindrical larval inhabitants of the grain bin and the dark beetles they transform into; the little "caddie" that will devour various grains and then mine through the bin boards themselves; the wee saw-toothed grain beetle that through commerce is said to have spread over the whole earth; the granary weevil and its long snouted relatives; four especially bad grain moths and their greedy caterpillars; and a multitude of others—all of them are suggestive of the advantage to be gained by getting ready to meet the new cereal supply with the idea that it is to be used for food by humans and their live stock rather than as a nesting place for insect pests.

GERMAN FARMERS HAVE BIG PROBLEM

The civil affairs administration of the American army of occupation has a problem to adjust which arises out of the hostility of the farmers in Coblenz, to ward the "city loafers," while we have several thousand farmers in our territory unable to get labor to attend to the spring planting.

The "city loafers" who are paid 10 marks a day by the German authorities while idle, refuse to go to the farms to work, where their pay probably would be less. In return the farmers say they will decrease their acreage unless they get help from the city, refusing to work long hours to feed those who will not work.

Not only this, but the farmers in our sector are very much at odds with the disturbers in the industrial centers. They regard the disturbances as largely responsible for many of Germany's troubles today.

An official American statement on this point says: "The farmers complain of the inadequacy of labor for spring planting. Individual farmers are considering a primarily their own needs in regard to planting, and so far as information is obtainable are quite deaf to the national needs in regard to the wheat and rye crops. The opinion is freely expressed, 'We do not propose to feed the town and city loafers.' This is a reference to the industrial cities which have been guilty of various forms of excesses."

Another complication has arisen in that the grain bureau in Berlin refuses permission to the local grain bureaus in the occupied territory to buy seed grain in the interior of Germany. The farmers hereabouts say that is the usual source of the seed grain supply, and if it is closed thousands of acres along the Rhine will be unplanted this spring.

FEDERAL HIGHWAY

COMMISSION

"That a preponderant majority of the six million passenger car and motor truck owners of the country will support the Townsend bill in the Sixty-sixth Congress is practically assured," asserts President David Jameson of the American Automobile Association, which represents motorists generally in national organized form.

"Ever since the A. A. A., in January 1912, called the first Federal Aid in Roads convention in the Capital city there has been a steady and logical progress toward comprehensive participation in highways betterment by the National Government," according to Mr. Jameson, who then goes on to say:

"The explanation of this development is exceedingly simple and consists mainly in the fact that we now utilize for passengers and freight road vehicles which disregard county subdivisions and state lines. There must be a distribution of highways authority among the several subdivisions in our own councils we have repeatedly discussed the proposition that there should be no smaller unit than the county which would mean county roads, then state roads, and, finally, Federal roads.

"On the way to a Federal system, we are following out a partnership with the several states, by which Federal and state money are spent in the creation of state roads. This was preceded by a 50-50 arrangement between the state and Federal funds, finally the state and Federal money has been over the main market roads. Exactly the same thing is certain to result from the present Federal and state cooperation and this is incidentally set forth in the bill just introduced by Senator Charles E. Townsend of Michigan, the probable chairman of the Senate Committee on Post Offices and Post Roads in the next Congress. The measure introduced by him calls for a Federal highway system which will provide not less than two main trunk lines in each state and joining the Federal highway system in the adjacent states and countries. The commission is to consist of five members geographically distributed, and no more than three of the same political affiliation. The terms of office will expire in such manner that only one commissioner would be appointed at a time, after the commission had been created. The appointments are to be made by the President and confirmed by the Senate, with the term in office seven years. This commission would take over all existing Federal road activities, engage a chief engineer and other engineers, and the commissions would give their entire time to their duties.

"These provisions will give an idea of the scope of the measure, which, in my opinion, will not only have the support of the motor road users, but will obtain the endorsement of all organizations which have to do with highways progress."

GERMANY CAN'T

HOG THE POTASH

Potash, the base of fertilizers used throughout the United States, will cease to be one of Germany's greatest quasi-monopolies after peace is signed, and France, through development of rich veins discovered in Alsace, may not only have her own harvests doubled, but be able to export some of the stuff to America and other countries.

Before the war the Stassfurt potash deposits in northern Germany were among the richest in the world. Because of them the much poorer soil of Germany produced over 1000 pounds of grain per acre, or about 6000 pounds of potatoes, as against 650 pounds of grain or 1000 pounds of potatoes on the naturally rich fields of France. The German farmer could afford to scatter 25 pounds of potash per acre while the French man, because of the higher price, could use only a scanty 10 pounds.

Thus, Germany at one time practically controlled the potash market of the world. The United States was her biggest customer. Farmers in America consumed a third of Germany's total production. But other mines developed in Germany, and Americans, tired of being held up by the Germans in the matter of price, quietly gained control of some of the best of the lot. Thus the farmers of the United States to some extent escaped the Stassfurt trap.

About this time, the Prussian potash crowd received another blow. An American, Victor di covered in the Stassfurt mines in the Westphalia region of the empire, a potash deposit in the world. This was the first time in the world that a non-German had discovered a potash deposit in Germany. The discovery was made in 1914, then war broke out and the mines were closed. The American mines were producing.

This was done by Prussian law. Recognizing the value of the potash deposits, the government controlled not only the quantity which might be exported and the price, but the amount which might be taken out of the mines. In taking over most of the Alsacian mines the German government meant to shut off to a large extent, their output, so that the price of potash would be kept up.

The peace conference will leave Alsace and Lorraine to France. To France, then, will belong the right of controlling these immensely rich potash fields, producing a potash

BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE

In the matter of Frank L. Wright Bankruptcy

RAILROAD OFFICIAL WARNS FARMERS TO ORDER FERTILIZER EARLY

The following statement has been issued to the press by the United States Regional Director of Railways about fertilizer movement:

"Please let me say a word to our farm patrons.

"The normal yearly movement of fertilizers in this region runs from three million to five million tons. This means, in round figures, 160,000 carsloads to be handled.

"Ordinarily most of this very large item of traffic is thrown on the railroads in the months of January, February and March. Great activity on their part is necessary to handle the same well.

"By February 10th at least 40 per cent of the whole fertilizer tonnage has annually been shipped but this year less than 15 per cent has moved so far; that is to say, the movement up to date is about 50,000 cars short of what it should have been.

"It is easy for you to see what I fear.

"A flood of business at the last moment cannot be moved to the satisfaction of all patrons and complaints will surely follow. We are anxious to avoid complaints, but it is obvious that we cannot move all of this tonnage at one time. In order to do the job right it is necessary that it be well distributed throughout the whole three months.

During the past three or four weeks car conditions and whether immediate activity is now necessary have not moved freely and have been favorable, but the fertil to avoid a condition which will be serious alike to the farmers and the railroads. ad

Many Aroostook Farmers ordered Fertilizers last year containing Potash. Because of the scarcity of Potash the Fertilizers were not delivered. Don't take any chance on this season's supply but buy Lowell Potash Fertilizers NOW.

We are selling Animal Fertilizers containing 4% water-soluble Potash and we guarantee them to be water-soluble and high grade.

Lowell Animal Fertilizers are manufactured from BONE, BLOOD AND MEAT, which in themselves contain a small percentage of Potash. Add 4% water-soluble Potash and you have an ideal Potato Fertilizer for Aroostook Farms.

The free use of our Potash Fertilizers increases the Potato yield 50 to 90 barrels to the acre. An increase of ten barrels will pay the extra cost of the Potash in the fertilizers.

AROOSTOOK FEDERATION OF FARMERS

One of the objects which the Aroostook Federation of Farmers will endeavor to accomplish, is one of the objects which every business man in the County should help them to obtain, is better freight service.

We have the most rotten system, or lack of system, that could possibly be devised for the handling of perishable products.

First the shipper has to build a car or at least to add over the back of the car to adapt it to the produce he wishes to ship. Then he has to furnish a stove and wood and man to keep it warm. After he has gone to the expenses of lining a car, he has no guarantee that he will ever see it again. It is used as a store house at its destination, sent on to other lines to be used as common freight cars, left on sidings for weeks, and the shipper has no idea whether it will be gone two weeks or two months.

If the car is returned, although it may have been a month after it was billed out, and must have been used for other purposes, or has laid idle on some siding, the shipper must immediately load or take the lining out, and if not loaded in forty-eight hours must pay an exorbitant demurrage rate.

No where else in the United States is the shipper of a perishable product obliged to line and equip a car for his product and then keep it warm while on the road.

Not only is the shipper obliged to line and equip his car and send a care-taker with it, and supply it with fuel, but he is obliged to bear that heavy expense for two or three times as long as he should be asked to do, or than he would be obliged to do if a little business ability was displayed in the management of the freight traffic of our railroads.

We are from five to eight days away from Boston market with our present service when we should be from two to three days at the most. We should have through freight trains on all perishable products running from the larger freight centers of Aroostook County through to Boston, or other big distributing centers. Instead of through trains, all potatoes are sent by local freights that are sidetracked or laid off for every conceivable reason. Is there any reason why potatoes should be sidetracked for the Millinocket paper train? Or for any other train except the passenger?

At Northern Maine Junction, the cars are inspected, always being delayed from eight to forty-eight hours or even longer. If one car in a fireman's string is in need of some slight repair the whole string is laid up, of ten, two or three days for some minor repair that can be made on the track in an hours time. And all the time these cars are a bill of expense to the shipper.

Every day that the car is in transit costs the shipper at least three dollars for fireman and wood. Cars are frequently from eight to ten days on the road to Massachusetts points and over two weeks to New York City. We believe that a very conservative estimate of the difference between the time now consumed in transit and the time that we have a right to demand is four days, averaging all line car shipments for the season. This means at least twelve dollars unnecessary expense per car. Besides the unnecessary expense to the shipper of being obliged to line a far greater number of cars than he would be obliged to do if he had decent freight service.

Now in the absence of exact figures estimating from the amount of potatoes shipped out of the County, we believe that there are over 100,000 car loads of potatoes shipped yearly in the County. If this is true and we figure on expense of lining and equipping the cars of three dollars a day for four days, we have 1,200,000 dollars as the expense which is borne by the Aroostook County farmer, and which is the inadequate compensation being given us.

Not only is the actual expense to be considered, but a shipper may ship at a certain price and when the potatoes arrive in Boston, six to ten days after shipment the market may have fallen to such an extent that the buyer turns it down and the shipper is obliged to pocket a considerable loss, all because of poor freight service.

Not only does Aroostook Co. pay higher freight rates than any other part of the East but because of inadequate train service is obliged to stand a loss of millions of dollars annually.

The people of Aroostook have paid for the B. & A. railroad several times over in freight, now we believe that it is time for us to demand better service, and we are going to have it too. We want the backing of the business men of the County in this campaign for better service and we know we are going to get it; we cannot have prosperity in the County as long as we have to put up with this slow, expensive and inefficient train service.

If we are able to get better freight service, and never did another thing we believe that the Aroostook Federation would save for Aroostook County millions of dollars, which alone would justify its existence and benefit every farmer who joined the association a hundred times more than what it cost him to join.

Bro. Farmers are you with us in our demand for better freight service. If you are join the Aroostook Federation of Farmers, either through some of the Locals already formed or when we come to your town to form a Local or communicate direct with the Secretary.

MAKING BORDEAUX MIXTURE

Proper and Improper Methods Compared

In its publications on potato spraying the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station has always laid special stress upon the use of freshly and properly prepared Bordeaux mixture. Perhaps the most concise statement of the Station's definition of a properly prepared Bordeaux mixture is that it is one that contains approximately equal amounts of lime and copper sulphate (blue vitriol) and made by quickly and thoroughly mixing DILUTE solutions of each. For example, the 5-5-50 Bordeaux mixture commonly recommended is made by mixing two solutions, or equal multiples of each, one consisting of 5 pounds of copper sulphate dissolved in 25 gallons of water, and the other of 5 pounds of stone lime slacked and made up to 25 gallons with water.

At the recent Farmers' Week meetings at the University of Maine College of Agriculture the question was raised as to whether figures were available showing, as the result of field trials, the relative efficiency of Bordeaux mixtures made in different ways for the control of late blight. Much of the fundamental work in the field on the use of Bordeaux mixture was done by Dr. L. R. Jones and his assistants (among which latter was the present pathologist of the Maine Station) at the Vermont Station in the 15 years following 1889. Dr. Jones summarized some of the important conclusions in a bulletin in 1899 basing them on experiments that had been previously described in the annual reports of that Station. Which not all possible ways of making the mixture were tested in the field trial, an examination of the official data seems to show that the essential points were covered in those experiments. The following are quotations from the bulletin.

"The basis for these conclusions lies to a considerable degree in observations made upon the condition of the foliage during the various seasons when they were undergoing trial. It is partly a matter of the yields of tubers obtained from the trial plots."

"A large number of experiments with Bordeaux mixture of varying strengths and prepared by diverse methods have been made during those years. These have included comparative trials of the mixture in varying degrees of concentration and made with different proportions of lime; the freshly made mixture has been compared with that which has been allowed to stand some time after preparation; trials have been made of mixtures in which the two chemicals were brought into combination in varying degrees of concentration; a prominent place has also been given to commercial Bordeaux mixtures and in the form of dry powders. Without entering into wearisome details, the more important conclusions may be summarized as follows:

"An excess of lime beyond that necessary to neutralize the copper sulphate does not appreciably increase the value of the mixture. For practical purposes, however, we recommend the use of a certain excess of lime.

"The more concentrated the mixture the more complete has been the protection afforded by it, but a medium strength has proved best suited to practical field operations. This is best made by quickly uniting the diluted solutions of the two ingredients (copper sulphate and lime) and it deteriorates upon long standing. Mixtures made by using concentrated solutions of either or both ingredients, mixtures which have stood for some time so that the precipitate has settled, and concentrated commercial mixtures, are all inferior in mechanical properties, tend to settle more quickly, are impossible of uniform application and do not adhere to the foliage as well as do freshly and properly prepared mixtures.

"Bordeaux powders, either applied dry or as carried in water have given decidedly inferior protection to foliage as compared with the usual wet forms of the mixture."

Different investigators, including Dr. Butler of the New Hampshire Station, have given considerable attention to laboratory studies on Bordeaux mixture made in different ways. These show that a moderate excess of lime is contained in a 5-5-50 Bordeaux makes a more adhesive mixture than where only lime enough is added to neutralize the copper sulphate. Also a more adhesive mixture is obtained where two dilute solutions are poured together simultaneously than where two strong ones are mixed or to some extent even where a strong solution of one is poured into a weak solution of the other ingredients of Bordeaux mixture.

According to Butler's experiments, however, pouring a strong solution into a weak one, such as strong lime solution and copper sulphate, are also possible as a mixture of approximately the same mechanical and chemical properties may be made by mixing two dilute solutions together, and therefore the experimental evidence definitely that it is not equally efficient in controlling late blight. On the other hand there is evidence in the field, that a less efficient mixture for controlling late blight is obtained when strong solutions of lime and copper sulphate are mixed together and then diluted.

The elevated spray mixing platform soon pays for itself in saving time and energy, and is rapidly being adopted by progressive Maine growers. By its aid the making of Bordeaux mixture by simultaneously and thoroughly mixing dilute solutions of lime and copper sulphate is most easily accomplished. The man who has not seen his way clear to adopt the elevated spray mixing platform is cautioned not to mix two strong solutions together and then dilute. If he first places the copper sulphate solution in the spray tank, fills nearly full of water, and then adds the strong lime solution and at once thoroughly agitates the mixture a very efficient Bordeaux is obtained. While various other forms of dilution, methods of mixing, and variations and combinations of the same might be devised, the writer cannot see how local conditions, expediency or necessity should require a choice to be made between methods other than the described above.

Director.

A PRAYER

Teach me that sixty seconds make an hour, sixteen ounces make a pound, and one hundred cents a dollar.

Help me to so live so that I may lie down at night without a gun under my pillow.

Help me to earn my meal ticket on the square in conformity with the Golden Rule.

Deafen me to the jingle of tainted coin, to the rustle of unholy spirits. May I be blind to the faults of my fellows and see my own clearly.

Guide me so that I may look across the dinner table at my wife and have nothing to conceal.

Keep me young; that I may laugh with the children, make me sympathetic that I may be considerate of the old.

When comes the day of drawn shades and fragrant flowers, of quiet footsteps and hushed voices, when the wheels crunch on the gravel walk and the neighbors whisper, how natural he looks, make the ceremony short and the epitaph: "Here lies a man."

CAMOUFLAGE

Huge mortars, standing on concrete emplacement and abundantly supplied with half-ton projectiles, were erected during the war among the lower and arid hills of private gardens in New York and elsewhere. The same mechanical and chemical process made by mixing two dilute solutions together, and therefore the experimental evidence definitely that it is not equally efficient in controlling late blight. On the other hand there is evidence in the field, that a less efficient mixture for controlling late blight is obtained when strong solutions of lime and copper sulphate are mixed together and then diluted.

Mr. Toch, who has seen several of the navy's important camouflage projects, spoke with the consent of Secretary Daniels. He described how camouflage, Morning-Glory and Ivy, as well as paints, had been employed to conceal or lower the visibility of coastal fortifications. Ambrose channel, the mouth of New York harbor, was protected, in addition to the guns in the regular army forts, by mortars having a range of 12 miles, said Mr. Toch. Some of those auxiliary cannons, he declared, were placed two and a half miles inland on private estates and so concealed by arrangement of trees, shrubbery and flowers that property owners were ignorant of their erection and even aviators found little or no evidence of their location. They were manned by army gun crews ready for instant action.

The camouflage described also his work in disguising navy yards and docks along the Atlantic coast, notably the Pensacola and Key West bases, which were exposed to attacks by German raiders and submarines operating in the South Atlantic.

PRINCE ALBERT

the national joy smoke

NEVER was such right-handed-two-fisted smokejoy as you puff out of a jummy pipe packed with Prince Albert! That's because P. A. has the quality!

You can't fool your taste apparatus any more than you can get five aces out of a family deck! So, when you hit Prince Albert, coming and going, and get up half an hour earlier just to start stoking your pipe or rolling cigarettes, you know you've got the big prize on the end of your line!

Prince Albert's quality alone puts it in a class of its own, but when you figure that P. A. is made by our exclusive patented process that cuts out bite and parch—well—you feel like getting a flock of dictionaries to find enough words to express your happy days sentiments!

Toppy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors—and that classy, practical pound crystal glass humidior with sponge moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such perfect condition.

FEDERAL AID

Practically $1,000,000 more than was expected will be available for highway work in Maine during the year 1919. This is the result of a liberal road fund of 50,000,000 established by the federal government in the annual postoffice appropriation bill. This is to be divided among the states and Maine's share will be $482,000. In order to receive this amount the state must appropriate an equal sum, and a bill to make such an appropriation is now before the legislature, having been introduced last week in the House by Representative Miller of Auburn.

The federal appropriation comes as a part of the national government's programme of adding good roads for the purpose of bettering the postal service of the country and having the rural free delivery, as well as the auto truck transportation of mail, particularly in view. Better roads are an essential to a better rural free delivery service, for the reason that a poor highway retards deliveries and shortens the distances which carries on such routes can cover. As a result of this the government will impose, as it has in the past, restrictions as to how the money it gives in aid to the states is understood, insist that all of it be paid out for the construction of trunk line ways. This was the case connection with the federal road between Portland, Brunswick and Bath.

While the time in which Maine may take advantage of this liberal offer of the United States does not expire until the summer of 1920, there has been a general desire to make this money available for use in 1919. It has not always been thought that this would be possible. The fact that all of the state's highway money was provided for and that it was not supposed constitutional to make a temporary loan in excess of $300,000 made many doubt if it would be possible to finance the matching of this proposed general aid.

It was to meet this condition and make it possible for the state to get this money that Gov. Milliken recommended the constitutional amendment which would provide a $10,000,000 bond issue for road work. This however would not have made it possible to match the federal $482,000 in sufficient season to make it available the present year, as the special election to pass on the amendment will not take place before the second Monday in September. This, providing the people approve it, which it is not doubted they will, would have been too late in the season to have used the money before 1920.

The discovery last week by Judge Harry Manser of the Auburn municipal court of a provision of the constitution made in the highway fund amendment approved by the voters in 1912, which gives the state authority to raise any sum it desires for highway purposes by means of notes, has changed this situation and will, it is believed, make it possible for Maine to get hold of this $482,000 from the federal government in time to use it the coming summer. This, with the sum which the state must put up to match it will make practically $1,000,000 extra for trunk line highway work in 1919. To be exact, the amount of money so useable will be $964,000.

While, until this money is actually available, it is impossible to say where and how it is to be expended, it is understood and expected that one of the first jobs undertaken with it will be the construction of a trunk line highway between Portland and Auburn, via Poland Spring. This will make the trunk line between Portland, N. H., and Augusta practically complete; actually, it will complete the trunk line between Boston and Augusta, via Poland Spring, Auburn and Lewiston, and assure motorists a first class highway through from Boston to those cities, Bangor and Bar Harbor.

The entire million dollars will not be required for this purpose. It is estimated that the federal money would make possible the construction of two other trunk line sections besides the Portland-Auburn road.

MAINE BOYS TO PARADE WITH 26TH

Among the chattering statements made to the 101st Trench Mortar Battery, composed of Maine men at Camps Devens, by General Edwards on the occasion of his inspection of the organization was one that the expenses of the unit, incidental to its participation in the Boston celebration of the home coming of the Twenty-Sixth Division, would probably be provided for by an appropriation by the Maine Legislature.

The men are to be discharged and sent to their homes early this week and the question of their joining their former comrades in the Boston parade had up to this time been a matter of uncertainty. They were unanimous in their expression of a desire to take part and were virtually promised that they would be given the opportunity. General Edwards is to pass the first week in April in a tour of Maine and intimated that he will make arrangements for the transportation of the battery at that time.

In address to the men, their former commander said that their record in the American Expeditionary Force was unequalled by that of any similar organization in either the French or British armies. He gave them wholesome advice as to their conduct upon returning to civilian life and ended by a personal greeting to each of the men. General Edwards was accompanied on his trip by Colonel George Harvey.

PEPTIRON IS GOOD

This Real Iron Tonic Combines Merit Economy and "Pep."

Made from a formula that uses iron in most digestible form, pepsin and guaranine, great stomach tonics, nux and celery, the best vegetable remedies for the nerves, and also manganese and other valuable nutrients—there's no question of the value of Pepton as a blood builder and strengthener.

The larger size of Pepton contains enough for a full month's treatment, while other so-called iron preparations contain only one-half or less.

The "pep" or promptness with which Pepton does its work is noted by everyone who takes it. From the first dose the system responds to the treatment, and you realize you are at last using a medicine that begins right, continues and ends right. Better get a bottle of Pepton today. Take two Peptons

LETTER FROM OVER THERE

Camp De Souze

Bordeaux, France.

March 2nd, 1919.

Dear Aunt:

Your letter received and of course pleased to hear from you. I always get the most news from you. The rest of the letters are short like mine. I wish I had known Gladys was in France I might have been able to have seen her as I have traveled quite a lot since I came over and maybe I have been where she is. Now I can't seem to find out where she is located. But I have written her a letter tonight, and probably will get an answer soon. I will try and see her if I possibly can. It has been pretty nice here this winter, no cold weather, it is just about like October in Maine. I think the winter is over now, it was a lot colder up at the front than it has been here.

We are about 15 miles from the city of Bordeaux. We have been here since Jan. 11th waiting for the boat I guess we are not in the Army of occupation. The 301st artillery is home and mustered out, I see by the paper. But we are still here with the 302nd. The 301st did not see any fighting but they were in our Brigade. We were reviewed by General Pershing Friday. I don't see how I have made this letter so long. I suppose I will have to write you a few lines I am so full of news tonight. I got a job in the arm protection against pneumonia. We lost three of the boys with the flu last week. But I don't think there is any in the hospital now, so I think the job in the arm is doing some good. It was from my way, and I am going to take every thing to my discharge, don't have any idea when I will be home. Might be home wearing 2 gold stripes the way it looks now don't put this stuff in the paper. I will try and write again soon.

Best wishes to all the family.

As ever,
