He spent Sunday in Rockland with his mother, who passed her eighty-sixth birthday on that day.

The double tenement on Church street, known as the Whitling house, was damaged by fire last Thursday afternoon to the extent of $500. The fire started in the attic, near one of the chimneys which had burned out in the morning. The upper part of the house was gutted, and the lower floors were damaged by water. The house is owned by Aldis Hsliam, who occupied one half of it. The other half was unoccupied. The furniture was damaged considerably by water. The loss is covered by insurance.

A petition is being signed by the representative men of Ellsworth asking the government engineer to expend the balance of money appropriated for work on Union river, in removing stickings and sawdust near the wharves. These are old beds of sawdust and stickings, which are carried down by spring freshets and ice, filling the channels cleared by the dredgers. Until these beds are removed, permanent improvement of the river cannot be expected. Senator Hale has been asked to present the claims of the petitioners. He gives little encouragement that the change in plans can be made, as the work is so far advanced.

Preparations for the annual concert and ball of the Senator Hale hose company to-morrow night are completed. There has been a good sale of tickets, and there is every indication that the affair will be a big success. This year the company will devote considerable time and expense to the decoration of the hall with evergreen, electric lights, bunting, fire paraphernalia, etc. The programme of the concert by the Wonder Workers of Portland, assisted by Mrs. W. A. Nelson, contralto, of Bangor, has already been printed in THE AMERICAN.

B. T. Sowle is negotiating with Boothbay boat-builders for a thirty-five foot cabin sloop, with auxiliary power of five-horse gasoline engine. The sloop is planned especially for Mr. Sowle's business among the islands. She will draw five feet, and will have cabin accommodations for ten or twelve persons. The auxiliary power is not intended for speed but merely to make the boat somewhat independent of wind, and to enable Mr. Sowle to bring her up to the Ellsworth wharves at any time without waiting for a favorable breeze. The engine will drive the boat about six miles an hour. Contracts for the boat are not made, but after a few alterations in the model first submitted, Mr. Sowle thinks that the order will be placed and the boat built this summer.

Morey Wiley, of Columbia Falls, who was sent to the State prison two years ago from Ellsworth for burglary at W. L. Wentworth & Co.'s store at Orland, is one of three convicts at the State prison who are dead from drinking wood alcohol. A pint of the alcohol was found by seven of the convicts who were working in the paint shop, and they drank it. Three of the men died a few hours later, and two others are still in a critical condition from its effects. Wiley came to Ellsworth with a companion in February, 1900. They spent one night in the Head-of-the-Lane schoolhouse, and were arrested and brought to Ellsworth. No damage had been done at the schoolhouse, and the boys were allowed to go. They turned up at the house of Alden V. Carter, in West Ellsworth, where they stopped a few days. A few nights later, the store at Orland was entered, and the burglary was fastened upon Wiley and his companion. Some of the stolen goods were found in Carter's possession, and he is now serving sentence for receiving stolen goods.

The eighty-third anniversary of Odd Fellowship was appropriately celebrated by Lejok lodge, Wivurna encampment and Nokomis Rebekah lodge last Friday night. There was a large attendance, and the evening was an enjoyable one throughout. There was a banquet at 7 o'clock—one of the famous dinners for which the society is known. After the banquet there were anniversary exercises, the programme arranged by the grand lodge being followed. W. H. Dresser was acting noble grand; Frank S. Call, acting vice-grand, and Herman E. Hill, acting chaplain. In place of the hymn provided for in the programme, Mrs. Mae Sealander sang a solo, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Harvard Greely. The anniversary exercises were followed by a short entertainment. There were piano solos by Miss May Bonsey, vocal solos by Mrs. Grace Royal, Miss Bertha Joy, Miss Edna Springer and Monroe Dorr; a humorous character dialogue by Hazel Holmes and Mary Campbell, and a character sketch by Walter J. Clark, jr. The evening closed with an old-fashioned Odd Fellows' dance.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For Week Beginning May 4. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.—Prayer a necessity.—Matt. xxvi. 38-46.

In the garden of Gethsemane we see the Lord Jesus Christ in a number of different relations, but the one that here appeals to us is His attitude to God in prayer. He agonized for the sins of the world; He kept His favorite disciples nearest to Him; He warned His disciples against the dangers before them; He showed sublime resignation to the will of God, and with all these He illustrated the importance and necessity of prayer.

The example of Christ illustrates the necessity of prayer. Christ lived in constant communion and fellowship with God. Prayer was the constant attitude of His mind and the practice of His life. He felt the necessity of private prayer amid the cares and perplexities of everyday life. Devotion with Christ was not left to the supreme moments when the necessity of God's help and presence pressed heaviest upon Him.

Our constant need of God proves also the necessity of prayer. If our need of God were only occasional, then prayer would be only an occasional necessity. But we need God every day, every hour, every moment.

I need Thee every hour, Most gracious Lord, No tender voice like Thine Can peace afford. I need Thee, oh, I need Thee; Every hour I need Thee! Oh, bless me now, my Saviour! I come to Thee!

The temptations of life are constant. Our powers of resistance are not great. The spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak. Therefore we need to watch and pray lest we yield to temptation.

BIBLE READINGS. Lev. iv, 1-3; Num. xv, 30; Deut. vi, 6-9; II Sam. vi, 6, 7; II Kings xx, 1-6; Ps. ii, 15, 90, 8; Matt. vi, 5-15; Luke xviii, 1-14; Col. iv, 2-6; II Pet. ii, 9, 10.

"We shall see Him as He is." That is the promise. We have not truly discerned Him yet. Not His disciples, who lived with Him in daily fellowship, who walked and communed with Him by the way, not even they saw Him in very truth. No mortal can behold Him through the veil of flesh. And if even now we thrill with a wondrous and transcendent joy in those hours when our souls most closely approach the throne of God, what will be our rapture when in that bright heaven which may be nearer to us than we think we see Christ "as He is"? Be sure that no conception of Him can do more than dimly shadow forth His glorious reality.

God's Tests. God's ways of testing us are His own. They are tried upon us when we least expect them. They strike us in our least protected part. They are to the unregenerate heart cruelty, but to them which believe they are the chastening which forms our baptism into the fold of God. That would not be chastening which did not hurt us. And whether the discipline be hard or light it is only a fool in intellect and an ingrate in heart who will not submit calmly and nobly to the decree.

Needless Misery. Much of our misery is needless. Even where it cannot be helped we make it worse by our worries. The affliction is embittered and intensified by gloomy thoughts and feelings which we inject into it and by our refusal to accept the tender of compensating grace. Favoring providences are lost sight of in the imaginary ills. Life abounds in cheer, and if we want to we can get more sunshine than cloud out of it. Christian philosophy begets the hopeful and triumphant soul which sings amid the storm.—Presbyterian.

Kindness. You may pulverize ice, but it is ice still, but let a sunbeam fall on it and it is soon dissolved. Abuse, however severe and humiliating, never softens men, but kindness will melt the most obdurate.—Philadelphia Methodist.

On Easter Terms. Persons may taste religion and seem to like it if they could have it upon easier terms than denying themselves and taking up their cross and following Christ.—Central Presbyterian.

Mutual Benefit Column.

EDITED BY "AUNT MADGE". Its Motto: "Helpful and Helpful."

The purposes of this column are succinctly stated in the title and motto—it is for the mutual benefit, and aims to be helpful and helpful. Being for the common good, it is for the common use—a public servant, a purveyor of information and suggestion, a medium for the interchange of ideas. In this capacity it solicits communications, and its success depends largely on the support given it in this respect.

TO-DAY. Gift of Thy love, untried, a golden day, Here in the dawn it lies. What treasure bides within it, who shall say, Of joy of sacrifice?

Perhaps within this breaking dawn draws near Some sweet surprise of good, So that my heart shall mark it, year by year, A day of gratitude.

Perhaps to-day Thy voice will call on me To suffer grief or loss. This opening path may end on Calvary, Beneath the cross.

I know not; yet I say, "Thy will be done," And lift my thanks to Thee, Since all this day from dawn till set of sun Thy love will walk with me.

Dear Aunt Madge and M. B. Helpers: I feel just like sliding down this Monday morning and asking you all if you are not rejoicing this beautiful bright morning after the week of almost constant clouds and rain? I think we can fully appreciate what a heavenly benefactor the sun is after being hidden from our view so long, but we cannot forget that through these dark and stormy days are not as pleasant as the bright ones, yet they are equally as necessary for removing the icy touch of "Jack Frost" and starting grass and vegetation into life.

And so it ever is in our lives; the dark days and days of trial and sorrow should be to us a preparation for a fuller appreciation of the brighter days, and help us to realize that after all the shadows are blessings in disguise. I have tried the Boston baked bean recipe recently given, and find it very nice and all it is recommended.

We are glad to hear from you again, "S. J. Y.", and from so many other of our old-time helpers. "Janet" comes next, and I wouldn't wonder if Aunt Madge would make room in her "corner lot" for her hobbies, because they are always very helpful schemes in which "Janet" takes an interest.

Dear M. B. Friends: It has been neither through idleness nor lack of interest that my pen has kept silent in our cozy circle so long. Each week I have promised myself the privilege of a part in the discussions, but many other duties popping in the way have continued the delay.

Such a profound and prolonged silence in regard to women "new and old" fell upon the column after my last letter appeared, that I have really been almost afraid to show my head again till "Sister B's" letter of April 9 restored my courage. She has expressed my sentiments better than I could. Thank you, "Sister B." I hope "Sister W." won't feel discouraged either if she thinks differently. I fully appreciated her real thought as I understood it, and by all means let us each have convictions and the courage to stand by them, for people without them are of very little use in the world.

But I am not going to discuss any topic this time but common-place "butter gravy". If I hadn't seen women make straight flour paste or starch, add a little dab of butter as a fish and call it butter gravy, and worse still, being expected to eat the tasteless stuff, I shouldn't think it necessary but, sad to say, I have, so here follow directions for the real article, and properly made it is fit for the king. It may be used with salt fish, corned fish, flannan haddie, salmon, fresh and canned.

BUTTER GRAVY.—Take two heaping table-spoons sifted flour, a piece of butter the size of a large egg (the more butter the nicer the gravy), a pinch of salt. Cream these thoroughly till almost a liquid is formed, then add boiling water, beginning with a few drops at a time and carefully stirring each time till perfectly smooth. Gradually add more water till the right consistency—a creamy liquid entirely free from lumps—is obtained. This sounds like a long process but it really takes only a few minutes after one learns how. This gravy may be varied acceptably by heating in a raw egg just before the water is added, and is made particularly nice by slicing into it several hard boiled eggs.

I am sorry this is too late to get into "Aunt Madge's cook book" of which I am the proud possessor of a copy, but I feel sure the hearty reception this useful little book will meet will induce the publishers to get out a larger edition and then it will find room. ESTHER.

Dear Sisters: Mustn't Aunt Madge be "the proud woman" to see her name on a cook book, and don't we all feel proud that "WE" have helped to furnish the materials for it? Now let's be good and not quarrel if more of our recipes are used than those of another.

I want to give a timely hint or two before it is too late for them to be of use. Doubtless somebody has a kitchen floor to paint this spring and the main difficulty is to keep off it long enough to give it two coats, while one will hardly cover it sufficiently. Try this way: get some of the water paint for the first coat, lay it on evenly and when well dry (it takes no longer than it does to dry it after washing) put one coat of floor paint on, and at much less cost of time and money you have the floor well covered.

Here is something that every mother should think of. Teach the children what to do in an emergency. Make them understand that if their clothing takes fire, the thing to do is to seize a rug and roll themselves in it, or if no

KIDNEY TROUBLES.

Mrs. Louise M. Gibson Says That This Fatal Disease is Easily Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I felt very discouraged two years ago, I had suffered so long with kidney troubles and other complications, and had taken so much medicine without relief that I began to think there was no hope for me. Life looked so good to me, but what is life without health? I wanted to be well.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me and made me well, and that is why I gladly write you this, and gladly thank you; six bottles was all I took, together with your Pills. My headache and backache and kidney trouble went, never to return; the burning sensation I had left altogether; my general health was so improved I felt as young and light and happy as at twenty."

If you feel that there is anything at all unusual or puzzling about your case, or if you wish confidential advice of the most experienced, write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., and you will be advised free of charge. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured and is curing thousands of cases of female trouble.

rug is at hand, to lie down and roll on the floor instead of rushing out of doors with the fire rising round them. A young girl was lately burned to death in that way, whose life in all probability might have been saved if she had kept presence of mind enough for this. Let them plan what to do in case the older members of the family were suddenly disabled.

I asked a little boy not long ago what he would do if his grandmother, with whom he lived, were taken ill in the night with only him with her. "Why," said he, "I should go right to the telephone and get Aunt L. to send for the doctor." No one had ever spoken of it, but he said he had thought of it before. Teach the children to "think".

I will add a word to Aunt Madge's description of the "pussy will, O" cards (and I didn't laugh at it either). In making them tie a fine thread round each pussy, about one-third the length from the stem end which makes the head; then carefully pull the "fat" out over the thread on the back; this makes the break for the shoulders. They are really very funny if you imagine the "song" that they are singing on that fence.

Dear Aunt Madge, please accept thanks for your kind personal letter with its souvenir. What should we do if we had no Aunt Madge? Ego.

My Dear Sisters: I am sure your hearts are touched as mine has been at the news that our Flossie has gone from us. It came with suddenness to me, and I realize another personal friend has entered eternal rest.

To her family our hearts go out in sympathy, and I thought of their loss when I selected the poem for this week. Many of you will want to write a few lines or send a brief poem or quotation which will be appropriate to her life, its influence and its memory—and so I only make this brief allusion to her this week, and we will devote a part or all of our column at some later date to keeping Flossie "in remembrance". AUNT MADGE.

NOT A CITIZEN. But Pittsfield Man Held Many Public Offices—Just Naturalized. In the list of men who were made citizens of the United States by naturalization at the April term of the supreme court, in York county, was the name of Frank W. Hovey, of Biddeford. Few of those who read the name gave more than a passing thought to it, and yet there was connected with it one of the most interesting stories that has been brought to light in Maine for a long time.

Frank W. Hovey was born in New Brunswick, but when a very small child his parents moved to Maine, where they and he have since lived. As the boy grew to manhood he began the study of law, and in due course of time was admitted to practice in the bar of Somerset county, and located in the town of Pittsfield, where he practiced for a number of years. After a while he became possessed of the desire to hold public office, and announced himself as a candidate for the position of county attorney of Somerset. Being a progressive young man and one that was well liked, his candidacy was successful and he was elected to the office, holding it for a number of years.

After this he was a member of the State house of representatives from Pittsfield for a number of terms, and of the State Senate from Somerset county for one or two terms. He also held the offices of notary public and trial justice in Pittsfield for a number of years.

Several years ago he removed from Pittsfield to Biddeford in York county, where he has since resided. Some time ago it became known that Mr. Hovey was not a citizen of the country, and so he proceeded to secure the necessary papers to become one.

W. C. T. U. Column.

[The editor invites secretaries of local unions of the W. C. T. U. in Hancock county, and white ribboners generally, to contribute to this column reports of meetings or items that will be of interest to workers in other parts of the county. We would like this to be a live column, but it needs some effort on the part of W. C. T. U. women to make it so. It is a column of their making, not ours, and will be what they make it. Items and communications should be short, and are, of course, subject to approval of the editor.]

The press superintendent was very glad to see letters from white ribboners in the last AMERICAN. Please keep the press ball rolling, sisters.

Our new union at Northeast Harbor has a wide-awake superintendent of this department, and it is to be hoped that she will receive much help along this line of work.

Get your reports ready, sister unions, and let our county have a good convention and a rousing report for the State and national conventions. Each union helps the county and the county report goes to swell that of the State at the national meeting. Let all be "up and at it" with a will.

Who is trying to secure new members? Let the county dues be forwarded at once so that our good county treasurer will not be obliged to send letters of reminder.

Count up your deeds of charity to report to the superintendent of flower missions, Mrs. Laura J. Small, of Stonington. How many have schools savings banks? Mrs. Rose Arey, of Stonington, will have a good report from that place; let others report to her. Then Miss Mary A. Carroll is fairly aching to have a good report of work done in schools in the S. T. I. department; don't disappoint her.

Finally, sisters, all our superintendents ought to be heard from, and the time is short. I hope if any of you read this you will carry the message to your unions.

R. S. WARREN, Corresponding secretary.

SOUTHWEST HARBOR.

The Y's enjoyed a very pleasant evening at Miss Elizabeth Gott's. We took in two more members, and entertained 200 visitors, who think they will join at the next meeting, which will be in the banquet hall at Odd Fellows' block on Friday as usual.

The reports of officers and superintendents were encouraging, although the society so recently started. We hope next month to have still better reports, for we have a beautiful work ahead of us. Let us go at it with a will.

The reading room is very well attended, especially by the young men, which of course is what we want. Strangers are more than welcome.

LITTLE DROPS OF WATER.

Powerful Agent When Applied Without Ceasing. Little drops of water may become very powerful agents for harm when applied unceasingly. Besides wearing away the hardest stone, according to the old adage, they will wear away human cuticle, flesh and bone, if dropped continuously on one spot.

This was proved recently at the New York athletic club. As a result of a discussion on the subject two members made a wager, one betting that the other could not endure the falling, drop by drop, of a pint of water on his hand from a distance of only three feet. The man who agreed to place his hand under the apparently harmless drops of water is a well-known athlete, and has a strong hand, the cuticle being thick and hard.

The water continued to fall, mercilessly and persistently. It seemed to the athlete that each drop weighed a pound, and they followed each other with awful frequency, apparently gaining force with each drop. As the 420th drop fell the athlete drew his hand away and declared that he could endure the pain no longer. Then it was seen that the palm of his hand was swollen and inflamed, and in one spot the skin was broken and the flesh exposed. As a pint of water contains 7,880 drops, it will be seen that less than one sixteenth of the water in the pitcher had been exhausted.

One of the forms of punishment employed during the Middle Ages was known as the ordeal of dropping water. One chronicle tells of a man who was tied to a wall, and a stream of water as large as a man's finger was allowed to fall directly on his head from a distance of twenty feet. Before the twenty gallons of water in the barrel from which the stream trickled were exhausted, the man was dead, a hole having been pounded through his skull. A larger stream falling from a lesser distance will soon render a man unconscious and give him a headache that will linger for days.

A New Salad Dressing. A most delicious dressing for green salads is made by putting one tablespoonful of lime juice in a bowl, adding a teaspoonful of celery salt, a saltspoonful of white pepper and a dash of cayenne. Mix in a little at a time, alternately, three tablespoonfuls of oil and two of lime juice. Stir all the time, or the ingredients will separate. Add a tablespoonful of finely-cut chives, or an equal amount of chervil or fresh tarragon leaves.—Ladies' Home Journal.

ZUNI INDIAN MAGIC.

A PERFORMANCE THAT PUZZLES ALL WHO WITNESS IT.

THIS WONDERFUL FEAT RIVALS THE FAMOUS MANGO GROWING TRICK OF THE HINDOOS.

Nearly everybody has heard of and wondered at the mango growing trick of the Hindoo, by which he makes a seed sprout before the astonished eyes of the European and reach maturity in a very short time.

But few are aware that an equally amazing feat is regularly performed by the Zuni Indians on this continent. Their medicine men at the annual "corn festival" do a stunt of which no satisfactory explanation has ever been advanced. Scientists seeing it have been made, as a cowboy described it, to "look like 30 cents."

Preparation is made for this extraordinary Zuni performance by spreading a large square of clean, yellowish sand on the ground before the southern aperture of the medicine lodge. This sand is carefully smoothed and packed so as to present a firm, level surface.

Around the edges of the sand square are then drawn, by means of a ceremonial arrow, figures representing the Great Spirit, the earth, the sun, the sky and the rain. There are also the symbols for corn and for a bountiful harvest.

The indentations made by the arrow are then filled in with pigments, the clouds and sky with blue, the earth with black and the harvest with chrome yellow. The center of the square is left vacant. When completed, this sand painting is a fine specimen of barbaric art and is far from displeasing to a civilized eye.

When the hour arrives, the officiating medicine man takes his seat in the opening of the lodge facing the sand square. On his right and left, extending out around the square, the chiefs and warriors range themselves according to rank. When all are in position, the medicine man fills the ceremonial pipe with tobacco, lights it and blows one puff of smoke to the east, one to the west, one to the north, one to the south and two to the heavens. He then addresses those assembled, recounting the religious history of the tribe, its wanderings and famine and the benevolence of the Great Spirit in the past.

He closes with a prayer for the continuance of fatherly care. Then he takes a grain of corn from the medicine bag at his waist, thrusts the sacred arrow into the center of the sand square, withdraws it, drops the grain into the opening and carefully smooths down the sand. Resuming his seat, all the assembled chiefs light their pipes and smoke in silence.

If the Great Spirit condescends to answer the prayer of the medicine man, as generally happens, the grain of corn will sprout and send forth a shoot. After an interval of fifteen or twenty minutes the sand seems disturbed at the spot where the corn was buried. Soon slender light green blades of sprouting corn appear above the surface. The plant rises naturally and rapidly during the day.

By the next sunrise the silk and tassels appear. By noon the ear and stalk have reached full maturity. Then ripening begins. Finally the blades and husks turn yellow and rattle when they are shaken by the wind. All this, mind you, has been done in thirty-six hours.

On the morning of the second day the corn growing is complete. The medicine man now addresses the watchers, who in company have "watched" the plant grow, for it is never left alone. With appropriate ceremonies he symbolizes the harvest by stripping the ear of its husks.

The corn he places in the medicine bag for future ceremonies, while the stalk is pulled up by the roots and hung over the door of the lodge. The long vigil of the watchers is now ended, and they seek much needed rest and food in order to be ready for the rain dance on the following day.

Every white man witnessing one of these ceremonies is deeply mystified. Above all, he is filled with admiration for the old medicine man. So natural and mysterious has been the process that the spectator feels at times disposed to believe in the presence of some supernatural power.

Yet every sane person knows that this performance has nothing unnatural about it. No white man, however, has discovered the secret. The absence of stage paraphernalia and the crude mechanical knowledge of the Zunis add to the mystery of the whole thing.

Various theories have been advanced in explanation. One is that some shrewd old medicine man discovered by accident some peculiar natural chemical that has the power of forcing the growth of a grain of corn and that this secret has been handed down from one generation of priests to another.

Another favorite explanation is that by great skill the medicine man is able to hypnotize the entire circle of spectators and so produce the result without apparatus of any kind save a yellow stalk of corn from the last harvest.

Others say the feat is accomplished by elaborate machinery concealed in a pit. But nobody knows exactly.—New York Times.

"In his time," quoted an actor, "a man plays many parts." "Yes," admitted the man who had "backed" a show, "and some of them he plays many times, but there's one he never duplicates. He never plays 'angel' but once, for no fellow has the money to repeat it."—Chicago Post.

"Harken Ye,"

To the Voice of Ellsworth People. If you will but listen to your friends and neighbors, they will tell you how the pains and aches of a bad back, the annoyance of urinary troubles, the nervousness, the restlessness that comes from kidney ills, can be relieved and cured. Read what one Ellsworth citizen says:

Mrs. Phillis Moon, residing on the Surrey road a short distance on this side of East Surry, in the new white cottage overlooking the bay, says: "I read several accounts in the newspapers about mothers recommending Doan's Kidney Pills for children in cases of kidney and urinary diseases. This induced me to give them to my 14-year-old daughter, who suffered from kidney and urinary weakness ever since she was 4 years of age, complaining of her back hurting her, headaches and stomach trouble. She had very severe attacks offit on an average of once a month, and was confined to her bed often for a number of days. When I was in Ellsworth one day, I went to Wiggin's drug store and got Doan's Kidney Pills. By the time she had taken two boxes she was very much improved. They did her a great amount of good, more than anything she ever used."

A SHARPER'S DEVICE

Baron von Rachtitz was a member of the Baccarat club in the Rue Raymond of the Toulouse of Paris.

At the certain aptitude for cards, he had evinced a certain aptitude for cards, he had evinced a certain aptitude for cards.

Now, as he said to his wife, he was in Paris on business, and pleasure and convenience must give way to that.

But this was by no means Von Rachtitz's idea. A comfortable competency did not appear to tempt him to him.

So palpable to many members of the club had been the cheating of M. Fleischer that a disposition was at once manifested by a number of those present to throw him into the street without further ceremony.

It was at this point that the generosity of the baron asserted itself in refusing to accede to the wishes of several of his friends, who desired that the impostor should be turned over to the police.

When the door had closed upon the disappointed Fleischer and those who had witnessed the episode had returned to the cardroom, the baron begged to be allowed to say a word publicly.

"Gentlemen," said he, "I am about to act out an impulse. Whether I am wise in doing so will perhaps be a source of dispute in the minds of my friends, but so irresistibly am I impelled to the course I am about to take I cannot, I do not dare, delay announcing my decision.

"I don't see what is to prevent you if you wish. It's simply tempting Providence to trust to your luck any longer."

"You are perfectly right in what you say, but you must remember that the majority of the members of the Baccarat club don't look on gaming as a business, and if it was for a moment imagined that I played only for the money I make we should have ground terribly in society."

"I don't see why."

which, if his luck, which was by this time proverbial in the club, held good, M. Raoul Fleischer might be taught a lesson.

"Well, baron," said the latter one night, addressing Von Rachtitz with a vulgar assumption of familiarity, "lucky, as usual, I suppose?"

"I don't know so much about luck, M. Fleischer. I'm prepared to back my skill even against you. I'll play you a few games of cards, if you wish, though perhaps that's hardly your game, judging from the way you lose the big pool last night."

"Ecarte not my game," replied Fleischer indignantly. "I lost the pool last night, it is true, but the cards were against me; that was why. I made no mistake. I will, meinher, play you, when you will, for what you will, a hundred games of cards, and we will see who is the better man, I or you."

"Very well," replied Von Rachtitz, "as you will. Tomorrow I will play you 100 games of cards for 1,000 francs apiece."

The following night the club was crowded. News of the match had spread abroad among the members, and men who had not been seen in the rooms for months were present. It was evident that the sympathies of the onlookers were with the baron, who, although displaying admirable coolness and all his accustomed skill, lost steadily.

Von Rachtitz's face became a study. He lifted his eyebrows from time to time in a surprised way, and clearly indicated in his features that he was puzzled. Absolutely irrational as was his opponent's play, the cards were invariably against the baron.

To many of the most expert players of the club who had crowded about the table it soon became evident that Fleischer must have some peculiar knowledge of the cards still left in the pack.

The tenth game was now in progress. Fleischer was "four up" and "marked" the king for the third time in succession. At that moment Von Rachtitz arose from the chair and in a voice of assumed calmness said: "These cards are marked. I demand an investigation."

The next instant he lifted a pack which lay at his side on the table and flung them into his opponent's face, exclaiming: "You are a scoundrel and a swindler!"

So palpable to many members of the club had been the cheating of M. Fleischer that a disposition was at once manifested by a number of those present to throw him into the street without further ceremony.

It was at this point that the generosity of the baron asserted itself in refusing to accede to the wishes of several of his friends, who desired that the impostor should be turned over to the police.

Better Day a-Comin'. [Selected by M. J. Drummond, of Ellsworth.] When the cares of life distress you and misfortune seems to press you to the dark brink of the chasm of despair,

When the world seems cold and cheerless and your eyes are seldom tearless as you write to with a load of caring care, Far beyond your cares and troubles, some of which are dimly bubbles, let your glances wander to the reddening sky,

Where the light is upward creeping, where the sun will soon be peeping, there's a better day a-comin' by and by.

Darkness scatters fore the light, Sunshine puts the shades to flight, In the nooks of peace the pleasant waters lie, Every pain will find a balm, Every storm fade into calm - There's a better day a-comin' by and by.

Never bow to tribulation nor give way to lamentation, never let the wayside shedding tears; Let not weakness overcome you, drive despondency far from you, though the threatening thunders crash about your ears, In the fight be wise and wary, cope with every adversary with the resolution there to do or die, And, though hope seems but an ember bearing scarce a spark, remember there's a better day a-comin' by and by.

Thomas G. Stickney, for many years a prominent Bangor business man, died Wednesday. He leaves a wife and son, Charles Stickney, of Pueblo, Col. The deceased was born in Vassalboro, coming to Bangor when a young man to engage in the carpet business. After remaining here for several years he went to Portsmouth, N. H., to enter the dry goods trade, returning later to Bangor to engage in the coal business. For many years he carried on an extensive business under his own name, and in 1897 consolidated his business with that of A. H. Babcock, under the name of the Stickney & Babcock Coal Co. He was president of the company at the time of his death.

Addison M. Bragg, who for twelve years has been a deputy sheriff of Penobscot county, died suddenly of heart disease Saturday at his home in East Corinth. He had been in excellent health, and attended to work about his farm and to official duties on Saturday. Mr. Bragg was born in Vassalboro, and was in the seventy-ninth year of his age. He had lived in East Corinth since 1862, and was one of the most respected men of the place. He was a member of the G. A. R., having served in the Civil war in Co. G, 1st Maine heavy artillery, as a musician. He was also a member of the masonic fraternity, and a past grand in the I. O. O. F. Besides his long service as deputy sheriff he had held various town offices.

James Crosby, of Bangor, and his daughter Caroline, aged seven, were drowned in the river at Hampden, Thursday, by the overturning of a canoe. Mr. Crosby, with his wife and child, left Bangor early in the afternoon, for the canoe club house at Hampden. Within a half mile of the house, the canoe was capsized by a sudden gust of wind. Mr. Crosby placed his wife on the bottom of the canoe, telling her to hold on while he swam ashore with the child. When within a few yards of the shore, Mr. Crosby sank, probably on account of cramp, and was drowned, with the little girl. Mrs. Crosby floated down the river some distance, and was taken off the canoe by members of the canoe club who saw her from the club house. Mr. Crosby was eastern agent for the banking house of Farnon, Leach & Co., of New York, and a son of Hon. John L. Crosby, treasurer of the Bangor savings bank. His age was forty years.

Removing Ink Stains from Cloth. The removal of ink stains is always a problem, because inks are made by so many processes. Soap and water will remove some inks, while strong chemicals make little impression on others. The sooner the stain is treated the more easily it is removed. Washing and soaking in cold water or in sweet or sour milk will remove the greater part of the ink and frequently the stain.

Spots on washable articles should be soaked in milk or water. Rub the spot and change the liquid frequently. After two or three days, if the stain remains, wet it with a strong solution of oxalic acid and place in the sun. After this rinse very thoroughly. Ladies' Home Journal.

The Bucksport correspondent of the Bangor Commercial tells of a well-known and decidedly popular young lady of that town who on Sunday morning, when she went to her wardrobe to don her new spring hat, was startled to discover that the family cat had appropriated that thing of beauty and a joy forever as a cradle for two cunning coon kittens, over which she was standing guard.

The normal school town and the seminary town over on the Penobscot side of the county are having some warm arguments on the baseball diamond. When the out-of-the-county teams meet either of the Hancock county nines, they are quickly disposed of, but when the normals and sems. meet it is a case of "Greek meet Greek".

POLITICAL NOTES.

CONVENTIONS. DISTRICT—At Waterville, June 10. STATE—At Portland, June 11.

The third congressional district convention will be held at Waterville Tuesday, June 10, at 11 a. m.

The county convention has not yet been called, but will probably take place the last week in June. Two years ago it was held July 3.

For the first time in history Bar Harbor, or, more strictly speaking, Eden, is this year to choose on its own hook a representative to the legislature.

The democrats of Eden will nominate a candidate for representative to the legislature. Blon Whitney seems to be slated for the nomination. Mr. Whitney carried Eden two years ago, but was defeated by the other class towns.

Eden republicans held their caucus Saturday evening for the nomination of a candidate for representative to the legislature. Dr. Charles C. Morrison was nominated. Two names were presented to the caucus—Benjamin L. Hadley and Charles C. Morrison. The vote was: Morrison, 248; Hadley, 174. The vote was then made unanimous, on motion of Mr. Hadley.

The Bar Harbor republican club perfected its organization last Saturday by the election of the following officers and committees: President, Ansel B. Leland; vice-presidents, Joseph Wood, 2nd, L. A. Leach and S. J. Clement; secretary, H. M. Conners; treasurer, Oliver L. Anderson; executive committee, John Burr, A. E. Lawrence, Lawrence Emery, H. S. McFarland, C. E. Conners, Frank Walls, Harold Carter, W. L. Pierce, W. B. Higgins, George Dooliver, Oscar K. Stevens, H. E. Wakefield, Milton S. Arey, C. B. Pineo, E. B. Mears, Frank Whitmore, Ernest Graham, Isaac Tripp. Membership committee, G. Raymond Coy, Elwell S. Hamor, Roy Hamor, Maynard Peine, Willard O. Fogg, B. C. Reynolds, George Austin.

In their choice of Dr. C. C. Morrison as Eden's first representative to legislature, the republican voters showed good judgment. Few towns in Maine could send a man to mingle with the State's legislators of such distinguished appearance, such polished manners, such diplomatic ability as he. A self-made man in every sense of the word, Dr. Morrison knows the lives and the needs of his constituents in every class. Though Eden is his adopted town, he realizes that to her, and to himself, he owes all that he is and all that he has, and it is needless to say that he will make her interests his own if his party is successful in the September election.

FIFTY YEARS MARRIED.

Sullivan Veteran of Fighting First Maine Celebrates Golden Wedding. SULLIVAN, April 26 (special)—A picturesque old couple are Mr. and Mrs. Moses Baker, of Sullivan, who on Thursday passed the fiftieth milestone of their wedded life.

Mr. Baker was born in Franklin, Sept. 30, 1813. Mrs. Baker is only two months younger than her husband. She was born in Hancock, the daughter of William Moon. Mr. and Mrs. Baker were married at Hancock April 24, 1852, by Traftant Butler.

Mr. Baker is a veteran of the Civil war, and one who saw more than his share of fighting. He enlisted in Co. H of the 18th Maine infantry, afterward the 1st Maine heavy artillery, the "fighting first," which has the record of the greatest total loss of any regiment during the war.

Mr. Baker was in all the thickest of the fights—in the "battle of the heavens" at Spotsylvania, the day after arriving at the front, when the 1st Maine received a bloody christening of over 500 killed and wounded; through the smaller engagements at Millfort stations, Hanover town, Totopotomoy and Cold Harbor, until that final fatal charge at Petersburg, when of the 800 men of the 1st Maine heavy who charged across that lead-swept field, less than 300 came back, and the bloody record of a single regiment's loss in one engagement was made.

Mrs. Baker is one of the good mothers of the community, whose services as nurse were in frequent demand for many years.

"Aunt Madge's Cook Book." FLORIS, FAIRFAX CO., VA., April 18, 1902. To the Editor of The American: Reading THE AMERICAN just received this morning of date April 9, is the pleasant announcement of "Aunt Madge's Cook Book."

I am always proud of the author. Long time ago, she was named rightly the "Harriet Beecher Stowe of Maine", whom she would have equalled if she could have had the same chance that Mrs. Stowe had.

Enclosed find stamps for five copies of "Aunt Madge's Cook Book". I wish to give away the pamphlets to friends here. I am boarding with a charming family on a farm in the Old Dominion, where air, foods, water and climate all contribute to restoration of health of semi-invalids.

In a very old cemetery near here, this quaint epitaph is cut in marble; it is seen in other states: "Remember, man, as you pass by, As you are now, so once was I; As I am now, so you must be; Prepare for death and follow me."

Ellsworth People in Boston. Boston, April 24 (special)—At the home of Elmer F. March, 26 Cordis street, Charlestown, on Wednesday evening last, a party of Ellsworth and Belfast young people met to pass a pleasant evening, and incidentally to strengthen the old-homelies.

Among those present from Ellsworth were Miss Winnie Davis, Miss Marlon Bartlett, C. E. Bellamy, Mr. Whitaker and Howard and Martin Adams. Those from Belfast were Miss Julia Cook, Miss Helen Dutton, Miss June and Alice Hills, Miss Bernice Rogers and Emery White.

It was evident from the way time passed that these people had not forgotten Maine hospitality, as all assisted in entertaining. A musical programme occupied part of the evening. Misses Bartlett, Dutton and Hills showed their proficiency at the piano. Mr. White delighted, as usual, with his sweet tenor voice, while Mr. March—reluctantly—sang in his inimitable way several "coon" songs, to suit the popular taste, accompanied by Miss Cook on the banjo.

Time was not sufficient to exhaust the talent present, for the "Pine Tree State" has been liberal with gifts to its sons and daughters. After games were played refreshments were served, leaving a margin of time barely sufficient in which to catch the last cars home. Later reports showed that these cars ran but one way, consequently the young men who did escort duty were obliged, in their return home, to use natural means of locomotion.

For Larceny at Bluehill. Albert Gray, of Penobscot, was brought to Ellsworth Monday, and committed to the county jail to await the October grand jury, on a charge of larceny. Gray was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Osgood, of Bluehill, on complaint of Max Abram, of Bluehill, who charged him with breaking and entering his store and stealing a suit of clothes. The store had been entered by breaking a glass in the rear door and lifting the bar by which the door was fastened.

Golden Wedding. OTTIS, April 28 (special)—Mr. and Mrs. Jason R. Grant, of this place, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at the home of their son Warren, in Gilton, on Friday, May 2.

Mr. Bok on the American Father. Is it right to the child that he sees and knows so little of his father? Is all this commercial strife worth the price of a child being almost a stranger to his father? Men are sometimes surprised that their children go instinctively to their mother and so little to them. But aside from the natural instinct which draws every child to his mother, why should the fact cause any wonder?

A child attaches himself to those who give him the most attention, to the one who joins him in his play. And if, as so many fathers do, a man places business first in his life all during the week, and buries himself in those modern curses, the Sunday newspapers, on the day when he is at home, what can he expect from his child? It is a case of the child not seeing the father during the week and the father not seeing the child on Sunday.

Our days are comparatively few, and we live through each day only once. Therefore, it behooves us to make each day worth while.—Ladies' Home Journal.

No matter how much money you may have, if you are poor in character, that means poverty forever.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Letter to C. D. Wiggins, Ellsworth. Dear Sir: Paint is one of the things that Railroad Companies know all about. Do you know what "all about" means? It means, in paint, where to get it.

We sell the paint for two thirds of the cost and stations and bridges and everything else, that railroad men want to keep good-looking and sound, all over the country.

A man who wants a gallon or two of paint knows nothing about it; buys whatever is handy, or gets some painter to "make" it. A Railroad Company asks its chemist: "Which is the best?"

ELLSWORTH VESSELS.

Union River Fleet has a Little More than Had Its Own. Though Union river's fleet of vessels has been greatly reduced in the past few years, in the last year it has a little more than held its own.

The list of vessels printed in THE AMERICAN last spring showed a decrease of eleven vessels—nine by sale, one lost, one condemned, reducing the total number to twenty-six.

In the past year only one vessel of the Ellsworth fleet has been sold—the "Agricola", which has not sailed from this port for several years. One-quarter of the schooner "Catherine" has also been sold out of Ellsworth.

Three new vessels have been added to the Ellsworth fleet—the "Lejok", Capt. Charles L. Smith; the "Willie L. Maxwell", Capt. J. A. Bowden, and the "Game Cook", Capt. William Pratt. Following is a list of the Ellsworth vessels and captains who are in them this spring:

- Vessels: Allandale, Ann C Stuart, Catherine, Caressa, David Faust, Francoista, Forester, Game Cook, Giendy Burke, Henrietta A Whitney, Harry W Haynes, Husar, J M Kennedy, Julia Frances, Lavoita, Lejok, Leonora, Lulu W Eppes, Lone Star, Myronus, Minnola, Nellie Grant, Oronto, Storm Petrel, Samuel Lewis, Wesley Abbott, Willie L Maxwell, Yreka.

TREWOROY'S TRIAL.

It will Begin Tuesday, July 15—Jurors Notified. The trial of William T. Treworoy, on indictment for murder of Sarah Ware, will begin on Tuesday, July 15. As THE AMERICAN was first to announce, O. F. Fellows, counsel for Treworoy, was unable to prepare his case for trial in the short time allotted to him, and according to agreement made when court suspended last month, the case goes over to July.

As court adjourned to Tuesday, May 6 it will be necessary for court to convene on that day for purpose of further adjournment to July. It will not be necessary for Justice Savage to come to Ellsworth, as one of the resident justices of the supreme court, Chief Justice Wiswell or Justice Emery can adjourn the court.

Plantation 21 to Reorganize. Plantation No. 21, which has lost its organization by failing to hold elections and make returns to the secretary of State, now wants to reorganize. A petition to the county commissioners resulted in the issuing of a warrant by the commissioners, calling for a special plantation meeting to be held at the schoolhouse, Saturday, May 31, at 1 o'clock, for the purpose of electing plantation officers.

Rev. F. L. Hayward, of Old Town, was appointed presiding elder for the Bucksport district, and D. H. Tribou, chaplain U. S. navy, member of Ellsworth quarterly conference. Presiding Elder Hayward, it is understood, will reside in Bucksport.

FINE TRAIN SERVICE.

Through Trains from Bar Harbor to New York this Summer. The passenger train service to and from Maine, and in the State this summer will be the finest it has ever been, and every indication points to one of the largest, if not the largest, seasons Maine has ever known.

The summer schedule will go in effect on the Maine Central and Boston and Maine railroads June 16, a week earlier than usual.

The New York through train will come over the Worcester, Nashua & Portland division of the Boston & Maine to Cumberland Mills, where it will transfer to the Mountain division of the Maine Central, and come into Union station over that line. This train will arrive in Portland daily, except Monday, at 6:35 o'clock in the morning. It will have through Pullman sleeping cars for Mt. Desert Ferry, leaving Portland at 7 o'clock over the Maine Central, arriving at Bangor at 11:30, and at Bar Harbor at 1:30 o'clock.

There is to be a new Bar Harbor train this summer, leaving there during the afternoon and run to connect with the New York train leaving Portland at night. This train will leave Bar Harbor at 2:30 o'clock, arriving at Union station at 7:40 o'clock in the evening. The through New York train will leave Portland at 8:15 p. m. daily, except Saturday, arriving at New York at 7:15 o'clock the following morning.

The new Bar Harbor train will come in by the way of Winthrop and Lewiston, so as to take care of the Poland Spring travel. On the Boston & Maine, the train which has always left Portland at 6:05 o'clock in the evening, for Boston, over the western division, will be held until 8 o'clock so as to connect with the new Bar Harbor express. It will arrive in Boston at 11 p. m.

There will be connections with Rockland on the Maine Central, arriving in Portland at 1:20 p. m., and leaving for Boston on the 1:40 train, the fastest between Portland and the Hub. This new connection is made in view of the fact that travel to Penobscot bay has increased greatly in the past few seasons. It is also done partly to divide the travel from the east a little better.

The Rockland connection will also have steam connection from Islesboro and Castine. The arrangements for the Maine Central service going east will be about the same as last year, except the 7 a. m. train from Portland, which last year ran only as far as Waterville, will this summer be continued on to Bangor, with connections for Bar Harbor.

East Maine Methodists. The East Maine Methodist conference at Caribou closed Monday, after an interesting session. The last business of the closing meeting was the reading of appointments. Following are the appointments in Hancock county: *Bar Harbor—S. L. Hansoncom. *Bucksport—Robert Sutcliffe. *Bucksport Center and East Bucksport—M. S. Preble. *Castine—J. H. Irvin. *Ellsworth—J. Eruptions. Dry, moist, scaly tetter, all forms of eczema or salt rheum, pimples and other cutaneous eruptions proceed from humors, either inherited, or acquired through defective digestion and assimilation. To treat these eruptions with drying medicines is dangerous. The thing to do is to help the system discharge the humors, and strengthen it against their return.

Hood's Sarsaparilla permanently cured J. G. Hines, Franks, Ill., of eczema, from which he had suffered for some time; and Miss Alvina Walter, Box 212, Algona, Wis., of pimples on her face and back and chafed skin on her body, by which she had been greatly troubled. THE AMERICAN has subscribers at 100 of the 115 post-offices in Hancock county; all the other papers in the county combined do not reach so many. THE AMERICAN is not the only paper printed in Hancock county, and has never claimed to be, but it is the only paper that can properly be called a COUNTY paper; all the rest are merely local papers. The circulation of THE AMERICAN, barring the Bar Harbor Record's summer list, is larger than that of all the other papers printed in Hancock county.

A FRIEND IN NEED

How a Great Merchant Was Won Over to Mercy.

It was close to 3 o'clock in the afternoon when Amos Garner returned from luncheon. He was a busy man and had been caught in the favorable moment. The cares of a great mercantile establishment weighed heavily on his shoulders. He showed the burden in his slumped and knotted face. He was not reckoned a kindly or a sympathetic man, and his appearance, his sharp features, his hooked nose and his aggressive chin bore out the popular opinion.

"I have never seen her," he said. "But why should you stick by the boy?" "Because he needs a friend," said the young man simply and stretched his arm back and laid his hand on the hand of the boy.

HOW HE RECEIVES THE NEWS.

Pretense of Indifference Evincing by a Winning Candidate.

It was my good fortune to be visiting at the house of a man when he received news of his election to the Presidency, says a writer in the Fortnightly Review. To my young mind the mere thought of such honor was bewildering. I could not picture how I would act in such circumstances, but did have a vague notion that a man at such a time would act in "dramatic fashion"—call to the gods for aid—ask high heaven to witness his gratitude; register his vow of loyalty to duty and Deity. Here, then, was an opportunity to test my theory, and I awaited results with keen anxiety.

We were at breakfast when the telegram arrived. His wife tore it open and, her voice all in a tremble, read: "You are elected beyond the shadow of a doubt." I looked closely at the lucky man. Not a muscle moved, not the slightest change in his expression was visible. He was silent for a few seconds, and then, as he broke open an egg, he quietly observed: "Mother, that egg would suffer no injury if kept another year." Really, I was tempted to throw my cup of coffee at him, his levity seemed so sacrilegious. I hated him because he was so lacking in human nature.

Half an hour later I was passing the stables. Looking in, I saw the "cold-blooded" President-elect standing by the side of his favorite horse. One arm was thrown over its neck, his face was buried in the mane, and his whole frame was convulsed. That very human side of his nature which he kept out of sight even when surrounded by his own family, he had revealed to his dear old horse. As I passed on I realized that my boyhood idol was again on its old pedestal, and knew that the making of a President had not, in this case, been the unmaking of a man.

Let me close with this one page from Garfield's life. He had won the great prize. Three months of bitter strife with politicians over spoils of office followed his inauguration and exhausted the little store of nervous energy which remained after a long and exciting electoral campaign. Rest was an absolute necessity, and he started on a brief holiday—a visit to his alma-mater at the New England hills. Smiling as he walked into the railway station at a witty speech of his friend Blaine, he fell mortally wounded at the hands of a half-crazed assassin.

They carried him to the White House—and for weeks his suffering was beyond description. I had a friend who was with him from the first to the last, and he gave me this little picture of the closing days of Garfield's life. Suffering bred fever, and fever revived his old love of the sea. He begged to be carried to the Atlantic, and his wish was law. One morning my friend, at Garfield's request, lifted him so that his dying eyes might take in a wider sweep of the old Atlantic.

And while my friend held in his arms the wasted figure of his old friend, he told the President how the whole nation was looking toward the sea. Yes, and praying that God would help and bless their chief magistrate. Garfield pressed the hand of his friend and whispered, "He has blessed me; could man ask more than such love and sympathy from such a people?" A few hours later the President had put aside forever place and power—paid with his life the awful price of success.

Bucksport.

The seminary nine won two games of ball last week. They beat Coburn classical on Thursday in an exciting eleven-inning game; score 9-8. Friday's game at Bangor with their rivals from Kent's Hill was expected to be the game of the season, but proved easy for Bucksport. The score was 17-1. The Bangor News in its report of the game said: "The young men from Bucksport played like leaguers while the Kent's Hill aggregation could neither bat, field nor run bases, and put up a game which consisted mostly of a succession of rank fielding errors."

Seagwick.

Mr. Dority's many friends will be pleased to learn that he is now on the high road to recovery, and will soon be about again.—Bangor Commercial.

Are your Kidneys Healthy?

Remember—the Kidneys are the most wonderful organs. Your very life depends upon them. Nineteenth of all sickness is caused by diseased and neglected kidneys. If healthy they filter all the impurities out of the blood. Rheumatism, dyspepsia, constipation, liver disease, bladder troubles, biliousness, headache, blood disease and female weakness are all the result of diseased kidneys.

Do you know Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy is the greatest specific known to medical science for the cure of these diseases or any form of kidney trouble? It has been used for nearly 40 years with unflinching success by physicians in hospitals and sanitariums. If you will send your address to Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, Rondout, N. Y., they will send you—absolutely free—a trial bottle. Its sale is so large that it can be found at any drug store in the United States.

"I doubt if Peruna has a rival in all the remedies recommended to-day for catarrh of the system. A remedy that will cure catarrh of the stomach will cure the same condition of the mucous membrane anywhere. I have found it the best remedy I have ever tried for catarrh, and believing it worthy my endorsement I gladly accord it."—Mattie L. Guild.

A Congressman's Letter.

Hon. W. P. Brownlow, Congressman from Tennessee, writes from Washington, D. C., the following:

"I have suffered from catarrh of the stomach for several years, and for the past twelve months was in an exceedingly critical condition. My attention was called to your Peruna, and I began to use it, and my improvement was noticeable after the first three days. I have taken three bottles of the medicine and I feel satisfied that I am now almost, if not permanently, cured. In connection with the Peruna, I have used your Manalin for biliousness and torpid liver. I regard it as the best medicine for this purpose that I have ever used. Having been benefited so much myself, I give you this statement, that others may be likewise benefited."—W. P. Brownlow, M. C., Jonesboro, Tenn.

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, orator of Reservoir Council No. 168, Northwestern Legion of Honor, of Minneapolis, Minn., writes from 2535 Polk street, N. E.:

"I have been troubled all my life with catarrh in my head. I took Peruna for about three months, and now think I am permanently cured. I believe that for catarrh in all its forms Peruna is the medicine of the age. It cures when all other remedies fail. I can heartily recommend Peruna as a catarrh remedy."—Mrs. Elmer Fleming.

Mrs. Elmer Fleming, Minneapolis, Minn.

Treat Catarrh in Spring.

The spring is the time to treat catarrh. Cold, wet winter weather often retards a cure of catarrh. If a course of Peruna is taken during the early spring months the cure will be prompt and permanent. There can be no failures if Peruna is taken intelligently during the favorable weather of spring.

As a systemic catarrh remedy Peruna eradicates catarrh from the system wherever it may be located. It cures catarrh of the stomach or bowels with the same certainty as catarrh of the head.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, Ohio.
